Subject: Friday meeting postponed

Dear all,

I suggest we postpone our meeting this Friday.

I am suggesting this so we can meet instead to consider any representations submitted to us within the stipulated 7 working days. I'd rather meet specifically to consider representations as soon as these are received and will of course call a meeting specifically for this and we should all attend given the circumstances.

By way of summary: at the moment, as you know, I informed CoP of the loss of confidence in him as expressed directly by the Governor and CM and invited him to retire given that his position, from their perspective, has become untenable. I explained the grounds expressed by Governor and the CM. I also informed him that that present, GPA had no choice but to act on the information provided by the Governor and the CM.

I also informed him that once we consider any representations he may care to make, we would then take a firm and final position on this but also reiterated that this was 'an invitation to retire' and nothing else and reminded him that he could be removed from office without having recourse to representations - this way, at least, he has an opportunity to explain matters from his perspective and we would be in a position to either support his position or not, as the case may be, and would, of course, communicate our position to Governor and CM.

The Chief Minister has written to CoP separately also expressing his and the Governor's loss of confidence in relation to the maritime incident.

There is nothing else to report at this moment in time.

Kind regards,

Joey

Ernest and I had a meeting yesterday with James Neish QC (copied) to explain the situation.

There is nothing else to report at this juncture but will update you and call a meeting as soon as we have an opinion.

I am also copying in Elka as well in case she needs to arrange a meeting at short notice etc.

So sorry to hear about your wife passing. I did not know. So yes, you have been through worse times but I have a sense, indeed no doubt, that you are a forward looking, confident character who overcomes. I look forward to working with you during the rest of my time here.

Nick,

Thank you ever so much, that is ever so kind of you. I am truly gutted and disappointed, but grateful to the board for my opportunity to apply for the position. I have certainly been through worse times in life, particularly with the passing of my wife seven years ago, so this won't prevail me in any way. I shall do what is best for Gibraltar, and that is to serve it as I have done for the past 30 years.

Thanks again and best wishes

Richard

Thanks.

Can I just add, on a purely personal basis, that I can imagine the disappointment you may be feeling over the CoP position. For what it is worth, I thought your application, presentation and interview were all very good.

Best regards

Dear Nick,

I tried populating the spreadsheet for you with Ian and Paul's costings, but it wouldn't allow me to do so. I guess it is protected from access. The final costs for that item is £2483.96. I'll forward again the email with the attachment of the receipts. Everything else looks fine.

With best wishes

Richard

Thanks for this and previous emails with copies of receipts. I've pulled together a list of all the training we've agree to fund and what Richard M has said will slip to next FY. Could you just run your eye over it before I send it to London for the Board meeting. Could you also fill in the actual spend for the second item, your and Ian's visit to the UK 9-13 October, and email me copies of receipts at some stage. I can then arrange through Charlene and Maureen repayment to the RGP of all expenditure for the first 6 items (up to end of November).

Regards

Dear Nick,

Please find attached copies of receipts for Item 5 on your list for Project Servator to the tune of £1392.00. You will see that this differs somewhat from the original quote of £4696.00 and this is simply because CPNI have met some of the costs at their end.

Subject: Update on AAP report and Commissioners Message

Dear All,

PSB, extract from this week's Force Orders providing an update on the AAP report and corresponding message from the Commissioner.

1. AAP FINAL REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Subsequent to the commissioning of a review at the Commissioner's behest, conducted by AAP on a number of underlying issues within the RGP, we now have sight of this report and have shared the contents with the Chairman of the Federation. It is now the Command's intention to continue to address these pertinent issues and the new recommendations together with the Federation, through the initial work streams. This will be a phased process, but it is our aim to ensure that we give it the time and commitment it deserves. Updates of progress will be shared through Force Orders.

There are 11 recommendations, with 2 of these being a combination of work in progress . The Work streams and Command Composition as task owners to address the 11 recommendations are the following:

Bullying / Harassment Allegations	AC / Supt Yeats / CI Romero
Low Morale	Supt Yeats / CI Perez / Insp Enriles
Estates / IT / Health and Safety	Supt Lopez / SEO Ramos
HR	AC / Supt Yeats / SEO Ramos
Health and Wellbeing	Supt Tunbridge / CI Field / SEO Ramos

To support the work that has already started and to ensure that the organisation continues to deliver in the different policing business areas, the Commissioner of Police has provided a statement. This has been done in order to set the scene, but to also encourage, engage and equip officers with the expectation of an organisation that has very high standards, supported with structures and a Code of Ethics.

COMMISSIONER'S MESSAGE

The RGP is a trustworthy entity, a responsible employer which takes its duty of care toward staff, both our uniformed complement and civilian employees very seriously, hence for the avoidance of any lingering reservation that may somehow seek to cast doubt or cynicism on this general premise, I wish to categorically reiterate that as Commissioner of Police I will not entertain any improper practices which impact negatively on the physical or mental well-being of our staff, any procedures that in any way seek to diminish or undermine the highest standards of fairness, even handedness and equality of opportunity that are deeply rooted in the work ethic and culture of this organisation at every level.

The Command Team and I are deeply committed to scrupulously equitable working practices, to maintaining a firm and vigorous stand against any conduct that may be rationally perceived as unjust, biased, discriminatory, unreasonable or prejudiced. Under my leadership, all can rest assured that no effort will be spared to weed out and unreservedly banish any inkling of intimidation, in other words, any culture of harassment that may rear its ugly head in our ranks. We are in the process of reviewing our policy and mechanisms to address issues of this kind.

"Intimidation, harassment, mistreatment or victimisation of any sort will not be tolerated under any circumstances."

Having said this, the RGP as a principled organisation, which derives its strength from long-standing policing traditions and values, must reaffirm a profound and unrelenting sense of duty to the society we serve and of which we are an integral part. As a uniformed and disciplined body we must take pride in the valuable trust that the general public places upon each and every one of us, to spare no effort, leave no stone unturned to achieve and deliver the maximum standards of safety; to protect our community from all forms of crime, from the multiple menaces of terrorism in an increasingly complex and challenging world which does not spare us from its overarching dangers and negative influences.

We should not be detracted by tendencies expressed in other public sector departments that would negatively exert a pernicious influence in our midst when referring to claims of bullying, mobbing or peer abuse. Our overriding undertaking of service is something that cannot be interrupted or derailed. At no point can this paramount concern be jeopardised.

This is a critical part of a police officer´s job and the public whom we serve, expect us to be made of sterner stuff and not to succumb to the prevalent traits where we see disheartened individuals blighted by low morale and disgruntlement not being able to discharge their duties to the necessary standard and not meeting the accepted criterion of performance. Criteria that may be applicable in the contexts of civilian workplaces where there is much emphasis on the 'imbalance of physical or social power' in the relations between employees and management, but which do not objectively arise in the case of a police organisation with a clearly defined hierarchical and command structure. We cannot afford to be seen to be weak, weakened or despondent.

"I will not entertain any improper practices which impact negatively on the physical or mental well-being of our staff"

We are a unit, a family with a code of ethics that we must strive to sustain and encourage. The public looks up to us to provide what no other organisation in Gibraltar can provide. We cannot drift with the tide.

Again, I must stress that legitimate wrongs and complaints will be fully taken heed of and we remain sensitive and available to discuss these, my door and that of my senior management team is always open to receive officers who may wish to discuss any issue of concern in the strictest confidence. Indeed, issues of mental health are very close to my own preoccupations as the leader of this organisation, something that we take very seriously indeed. We will very shortly be launching our health and well-being strategy, and in line with this, incorporating the professional services of GHA clinical psychologist Gustavo Camino who will be delivering a series of talks on mental health, distress and coping with work stress related issues during Training Days at New Mole House.

"We will very shortly be launching our health and well-being strategy."

We are society's last line of defence against all forms of delinquency and lawbreaking, from petty theft to serious organized crime and the terrorism of political and religious extremists who wish to destroy our democratic way of life. It is our obligation to remain strong, our standards and values must prevail and for this we must be tough and determined, tougher and more resolute than the ordinary citizen who looks up to us to act as their protective shield. As a uniformed body, our sense of discipline, our exercise of lawful authority, provides the blueprint, the bond of trustworthiness, the purposefulness and dedication, the ethos that is instilled into every recruit that walks into New Mole House before he is ready to go out again to accomplish his calling. We cannot afford a lessening of standards, a weakening of our commitment ingrained in our oath of service, a shrinking of our courage to confront the threats, to bring peace of mind to the public that looks upon us to act decisively and effectively to tackle wrongdoing and uphold the law.

We strive each day to become better, to learn from our errors and successes. When we make mistakes, we must be able to exercise the necessary self-criticism to improve in efficiency and determination, in other words to become stronger. Wilting under pressure or pointing fingers at superiors/peers is not the answer, it is not RGP way. Only in unity and partnership, in acknowledging the importance of teamwork can we look forward to the future with measured confidence. Undermining morale by systematically challenging the basic premise of authority in our organisation through a variety of means, including unreasonable and excessive expectation and a shirking of individual responsibilities can potentially have devastating effects and destabilize the foundations of our organisation. We will strive to prevent this from occurring with your help.

"We are a unit, a family with a code of ethics that we must strive to sustain and encourage. The public looks up to us to provide what no other organisation in Gibraltar can provide. We cannot drift with the tide."

Intimidation, harassment, mistreatment or victimisation of any sort will not be tolerated under any circumstances. However, the expectation that every officer has to comply with their duty to the best of their ability can in no way be interpreted as any of the above, and cannot be seen to encroach on that individual's right to dignified treatment and wellbeing in the workplace, or in any way be deemed as anything other than the correct and appropriate course of action. It follows from this, that when an officer makes a mistake or under performs it is the genuine and rightful duty of his or her superiors to ensure that this is pointed out to them in commensurate terms to certify that they understand their error so that they avoid repeating it, to examine the reasons for this slipup, and to expect a proper explanation and an honest assumption and acceptance of responsibility.

This is not intended as a punitive, vindictive or chastising action but as a corrective tool designed to improve future performance. As we recognise their innumerable feats of service, unwavering commitment and courage against formidable odds, so too must officers be able to gain valuable insights from their lapses. It is vital that all officers can recognise their errors as a learning curve and progression to becoming better officers as a result. Management has an important role to play in the supervision and control of all operational and logistical procedures. As a modern law enforcement agency, we are subjected to rigorous legally binding methods of assessment, scrutiny and accountability on a daily basis, which all of us have to comply with from the Commissioner and senior management down to the rawest recruit. To challenge this, to seek to short-circuit this vital organic structure that is the core element at the heart of a successful and effective policing body is not the path we wish to go down.

ROYAL GIBRALTAR POLICE

Executive Summary

The suggestion that there is bullying and harassment in the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) is not new. It has been a matter for occasional debate both internally and publicly in the local media for many years. Various attempts have been made to understand the issues and act; but the suggestion has persisted.

A staff survey prepared and circulated by the new Royal Gibraltar Police Federation (RGPF) was conducted by them for the first time in late 2018 and once again brought the issue to the fore; leading to some differing views between the RGPF and the Commissioner. The findings of that survey, if true, were concerning and led to a number of working groups being established by the Commissioner. The RGPF were invited to these groups.

AAP Associates (AAP) were asked to provide consultancy support to the Commissioner to better understand these issues and to examine the effectiveness of the current approach to dealing with them.

We interviewed about 150 staff members from all RGP departments. These interviews took place individually and in focus groups. In addition, we were also pleased to interview the Commissioner, Assistant Commissioner and all members of the senior management team as well as the former and current chair of the RGPF and members of the RGPF board. During two on site phases we also visited much of the police estate and examined vehicles and personal equipment. In addition, all grievance files, ten personal files and ten evidence files were examined.

We concluded that there was not systematic bullying in the organisation but that there was some evidence of bullying and harassment by a minority of managers, supervisors and peers that was not being reported and consequently not being addressed.

We examined the use of the force grievance procedure and concluded the system was not trusted and hardly used. We have suggested ways in which confidence in the procedure could be improved by a tailored RGP approach with lead supervisors, oversight, independent monitoring and mediation. We emphasise the importance of senior managers being consistent in acknowledging there is some bullying and harassment, as there is in many other organisations.

We also examined concerns expressed by staff about the poor quality of the police estate, some vehicles and information technology but found there to be a sense of pragmatism amongst staff about how quickly improvements could be achieved notwithstanding the negative impact this has on their working lives and their efficiency.

At the core of many staff concerns was not the buildings or equipment but people issues; particularly being treated fairly and having consistent decision-making. We have made suggestions in this report as to how fairness and consistency might be improved in key areas that particularly concerned staff. We recognise that addressing many of these issues is already underway within the seven joint working groups established by the Commissioner, but, for understandable reasons progress in some of these groups has been slower than everybody expected.

We concur with the current rationale for each of these working groups but believe some of these groups will need to merge and be aligned over the next few months as the work picks up pace. The RGPF are members of all the working groups and now that they have newly elected board members, will also be better placed to make an effective and positive contribution. It will also be important to ensure that regular updates are communicated to staff. The Commissioner is monitoring progress of these groups and is keen to ensure positive results.

The RGPF survey proved to be a significant area of debate. We found that although the approach and questions could be improved that nevertheless many staff believed it offered another opportunity to express their views to help improve the service. We found that many of the issues raised in the survey were also raised in our staff interviews, but we were able to gain more detail. In this report we examine the RGPF and the RGP surveys and make suggestions for their further improvement. We have been pleased with the positive view taken by the RGPF in our discussions with them about developing the survey and of the RGP in taking a constructive approach to dealing with many of the issues through the working groups.

The RGP survey also offers a rich source of information about the force but could be further enhanced. We consider that although the time may not currently be right to undertake a joint survey that at the least the RGP and RGPF should work together to coordinate and plan their respective surveys.

The new RGPF Board know it has a significant role to fulfil on behalf of their members in working with the Commissioner and senior managers. To assist their progress, we set out our advice that will help establish the new RGPF board with a structured and evidence approach offering the prospect of effective representation.

We are pleased that the new RGPF board and the Commissioner have expressed a clear intent to work together while recognising their distinctly different roles and responsibilities. We are confident that our findings will contribute towards the future success of that working relationship. We conclude by expressing our thanks for the way in which staff have engaged with this process and to offer our continued support.

1.1 Our commission

On the 4 January 2019 AAP was invited by the RGP to provide independent consultancy support to the Commissioner in order to contextualise the findings of recent surveys, assist RGP and the RGPF to better understand the problems, and to examine the effectiveness of the current approach. The RGPF survey in particular had highlighted a range of important issues including allegations of bullying and harassment and health and safety concerns that would benefit from independent, expert evaluation.

The evaluation was conducted in two phases; the first between the 15 April 2019 and the 18 April 2019 and the second between the 29 May 2019 and the 31 May 2019. The evaluation was undertaken by two AAP Directors with extensive policing experience as senior police officers in England and Wales and as former senior members of Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire and Rescue Services. In addition, the evaluation was supported by an AAP Associate who was a former senior police officer and long-standing Chair of the Police Federation of England and Wales. This report represents our independent views based on our strategic, operational, police federation and inspection experience.

1.2 Terms of Reference

The terms of reference were agreed as follows: -

"To provide independent support to the RGP Commissioner in order to contextualise the findings of recent surveys, assist RGP and the RGPF to better understand the problems, and to examine the effectiveness of the current approach to dealing with the issues".

1.3 Methodology

We first met with the Assistant Commissioner and RGPF officers in London to detail the requirement and time scales[1]. A comprehensive review of all the documentation provided was undertaken following submission of a document request. This included, but was not limited to, the RGP staff survey, the RGPF survey, related project plans, action plans and proposals, grievance procedures, bullying and harassment policies and information and data about current reporting levels.

We examined the procedures that RGP has in place to prevent workforce bullying and harassment and the procedure to investigate them. This included the RGP policies, procedures, training and ethos against good practice. The effectiveness of the RGP grievance and procedures was also considered and included a review against good practice.

[1] An outline proposal by AAP Associates for Independent support to the Royal Gibraltar Police Commissioner and the Royal Gibraltar Police Federation.

Recent grievance investigations were also examined to assess their effectiveness and fairness. Staff knowledge of the procedures and level of reporting was tested, and an examination undertaken of the awareness and experience of supervisors and the capability of professional standards.

We also conducted a review as to whether there was evidence of systematic bullying and harassment. This involved examining current reporting levels, interviewing staff at all levels, offering opportunities for confidential disclosure and identifying any common themes.

An evaluation of the concerns raised in the RGPF survey about health and safety issues was undertaken. This included interviewing staff, examining personal safety equipment, the records of use, the effectiveness of vehicles and related equipment and assessing relevant policy.

We also undertook a review of the RGP and RGPF surveys in order to offer guidance about the preparation and use of surveys.

During this work programme we interviewed about 150 staff members from all RGP departments. These interviews took place individually and in focus groups. We also listened to staff members who approached us confidentially outside the interview process. In addition, we were also pleased to interview the Commissioner, Assistant Commissioner and all members of the senior management team as well as the former and current chair of the RGPF and members of the RGPF Board. We triangulated evidence with managers, supervisors and peers and where feasible with documentary examination. During the two on site phases we also visited much of the police estate and examined vehicles and personal equipment. In addition, all grievance files, ten personal files and ten evidence files were examined.

The AAP team recognise the inconvenience that any such process can cause and are grateful for the full co-operation and support that were given to us by so many people. We were particularly impressed by the number of staff members that had the courage to discuss personal matters with us and take us into their confidence in order for the organisation to learn and improve. We respect that confidence and focus in this report on the organisational issues those disclosures revealed.

1.4 Overview

Gibraltar is a British Overseas Territory and is home to over 30,000 people, with thousands more commuting daily across the land border with Spain. Located on the southern end of the Iberian Peninsula at the entrance to the Mediterranean Sea, Gibraltar is a major tourism and leisure destination, which receives approximately 10.5 million visitors a year, many of whom arrive on cruise ships. The economy is growing fast with general trade, the provision of financial services, communications, e-gaming, tourism and maritime activities.

The RGP has a unique policing challenge and is responsible for the preservation of the peace; the maintenance of law and order; the prevention and detection of crime; the apprehension and guarding of offenders; and the protection of property. Community expectations of the service are high, with the RGP striving hard to be equal to those expectations.

To enable the RGP to deal with these responsibilities, the force has a budget of 16.167m in 2018/19. This provides for 240 officers and 44 members of support staff. RGP is led by a Commissioner of Police and is overseen by the Gibraltar Police Authority (GPA), an independent body.

Until 2018 police officers were represented by a Police Association but in 2018 the RGPF was established in law[2] in order to represent members of the Force in all matters affecting their welfare and efficiency[3]. It was established as being entirely independent of and unassociated with any body or person outside the Force[4].

On the 22 May 2019 a new Police Federation Board was elected by members; this included a new chair and secretary. Both the new Board and the Commissioner have expressed a clear intent to work together while recognising their distinctly different roles and responsibilities.

1.5 Report Structure

The report is structured around the terms of reference and following this introduction in Chapter One we start with an assessment of the measures in place to prevent workforce bullying and harassment and its procedures to investigate allegations in Chapter Two. The chapter is set out under headings of grievance procedures, professional standards policy and the code of ethics for ease of reference. An examination as to whether there is evidence of systematic bullying and harassment is the subject of Chapter Three. We were also asked to focus upon concerns raised about health and safety issues and the evidence we found forms the content of Chapter Four. Key areas are set out under the respective headings of staffing, workloads and sickness. In Chapter Five we consider the RGPF survey and the RGP survey. The RGPF survey had already proved to be a significant area of debate and we have sought in this chapter to provide a view that moves that debate away from the process and focuses upon the findings. The new Federation Board knows it has a significant role on behalf of their members in working with the Commissioner and to assist this to happen we include our views that might assist the new Police Federation Board. This forms Chapter Six.

Chapter Two

Assess the measures RGP has in place to prevent workforce bullying and harassment and its procedure to investigate allegations of bullying and harassment.

2.1 The purpose of a grievance policy

A grievance policy is designed to maintain good employee relations by providing a means of dealing with and preventing further grievances in the workplace effectively and expediently. The policy should aim to address grievances that cannot be resolved informally at the appropriate level of management. The procedure should provide the framework by which views can be expressed freely and without prejudice and to have those issues resolved in a fair and equitable manner. It is always best to try to address workplace grievances informally and at as early a stage as possible. However, if a grievance cannot be resolved in this way, then having a formal procedure in place can help avoid later legal action. The effective handling of staff grievances has a positive and productive impact on staff wellbeing. It enhances staff loyalty and reduces absenteeism, undisciplined behaviour and poor work.

2.2 RGP Grievance procedure

RGP introduced a grievance procedure in 2007 which was reviewed and relaunched in 2017. A further review took place in May 2018. The introduction to that procedure states that "This shows the RGP's commitment to equal opportunities for all police officers, support staff, trainees and temporary employees". The policy is that bullying, and harassment should be reported through the grievance procedure.

While the grievance procedure sets out the broad scope, there could be more detail, especially when compared to the grievance procedures used by other forces[5]. It does however set out a four-stage process; an informal stage, a first stage for resolution by a departmental inspector, a second stage for resolution by a divisional chief inspector and a third stage for resolution by the divisional superintendent.

We found that this grievance procedure is not working effectively and that senior managers were seeking to improve the process. There was a slight improvement in 2018 when three grievances were recorded but there were none in 2017. It is clear from the interviews that some staff considered they had a grievance but would not report it. In the absence of a trusted system we found their grievances were often discussed openly and critically with peers, reinforcing perceptions about unfairness and consistency.

[5] Dorset Police grievance procedure is one such example. The Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) code of practice on disciplinary and grievance procedures provides detailed guidance on the process.

2.3 Staff confidence in the RGP grievance procedure

During interviews we explored the reasons for the lack of confidence in the system. A commonly held view by staff members was that the process was akin to a complaint investigation. Many of them referred to the fact that RGP is a relatively small police force where everybody generally knows everybody else and that people have long memories. The consequent starting position for them was that the current system could never be fair. This must be overcome by taking positive action to ensure fairness to gain their confidence. We suggest a way forward in this report.

While there had been briefings when the procedure was introduced, we found that staff and supervisors had limited understanding how it worked in practice although most knew of its existence. A few interviewed knew that if the staff member does not want to discuss their grievance informally with their line manager, they could go direct to the first stage departmental inspector. Even then staff did not consistently consider this to be an action they could legitimately take as they believed it would be viewed negatively by that supervisor. Consequently, the perception was that it would not lead to a resolution but recrimination.

It was also clear from supervisors and managers that they were not consistently clear about how to handle a grievance. We did see an example of a minor matter that should have been dealt with by a first line supervisor being unnecessarily escalated by them rather than dealing with it themselves.

2.4 Building trust in the RGP grievance procedure

The current RGP grievance procedure is modelled on the procedures commonly seen in England and Wales. All England and Wales forces have a greater number of staff and supervisors and have a greater number of options to resolve grievances, such as staff moving departments, areas or police stations where it assists resolution. Due to RGP having one main police station, fewer departments and fewer staff less resolution options are available.

Grievances are best dealt with informally at an early stage, with the immediate line manager. This gives everyone involved a chance to resolve matters effectively before they escalate.

However, where there is a reluctance to report matters to supervisors informally, it becomes important to have a formal procedure for handling grievances. We take the view that the force would benefit from a tailored RGP grievance procedure.

There is a critical need to build trust in the system. An important way in which RGP could consider building that trust is by reviewing who deals with each of the formal grievance stages. Currently all supervisors might have to deal with a grievance. The current policy also directs staff to their own line manager.

2.5 Grievance champions

RGP could consider appointing just a few supervisors as grievance handlers to whom staff from any department or unit could refer their grievances. Supervisors could be selected for their skills and experience and the staff could refer to those in whom they had the most confidence. Managers for stage two grievances could also be selected for their skills and experience. Selection for these posts would be a management decision.

These grievance 'champions' could also have a proactive role in briefing staff on the grievance process. Such a role is intended to enhance, not compromise, supervision and management. In time, when reporting grievances becomes a trusted process, RGP can then decide if more grievance handlers were appropriate, leading to a point where the procedure is the norm and all supervisors have a direct role. Such a process should not stop a member of staff just talking to their supervisor to informally resolve problems. However, if they do not wish to do so or it becomes a grievance then the new process would ensure the matter is dealt with by an experienced grievance handler.

2.6 Oversight

In addition, independent oversight of the grievance process would help to build trust and confidence in the process and to ensure that it remains consistent.

The GPA have the responsibility, among other responsibilities, to secure the maintenance of an efficient and effective police force within the financial resources available to it and on a value for money basis, to ensure high standards of integrity, probity and independence of policing and to establish, operate and supervise the process for investigating complaints against police officers. The GPA has a role in providing that independent oversight and should have anonymised information submitted to them for scrutiny and be provided with relevant statistics alongside other force data.

2.7 Independence

In order to build staff confidence in the grievance procedure It would be helpful if there was an individual who had specific oversight and who could scrutinize the overall progress of cases. The person would not make decisions about the case but have access to the information to ensure that matters were being dealt with expeditiously. There is some logic in an individual member of the police authority having that responsibility – but if not, importantly an individual that is conversant with how grievance procedures should operate and be security vetted. This would be a positive step in gaining staff confidence.

2.8 Mediation

An independent third party or mediator can also be an option to help resolve disciplinary or grievance issues[6]. Individuals could usefully be identified by the force to fulfil this responsibility. Mediation is a voluntary process conducted by an independent third party where the mediator helps two or more people in dispute to attempt to reach an agreement. Any agreement comes from those in dispute, not from the mediator.

The mediator is not there to judge, to say one person is right and the other wrong, or to tell those involved in the mediation what they should do. The mediator oversees the process of seeking to resolve the problem but not the outcome. To be effective both parties need to be committed to reaching a solution. Mediators may be employees trained and accredited by an external mediation service who act as internal mediators in addition to their day jobs. They can be from an external mediation organisation. The RGP could usefully seek potential mediators to be available for appropriate grievance resolutions.

2.9 Learning from experience

Those invoking the grievance procedure could usefully be invited to participate in evaluation to assess its ease of use, overall effectiveness and to identify any potential areas for improvement. Any feedback received would then be considered and if appropriate, incorporated at an annual review. A point to where all feedback goes, either in writing or by e-mail, should be identified for that purpose.

2.10 Managerial ownership

For many staff that we interviewed grievances and complaints are the same in all but name. It is not surprising in a small organisation that this is the case as many of the supervisors and managers involved in the creation and dissemination of the policy have a professional standards background. To build staff confidence there needs to be a separation of managerial ownership of the grievance procedure and those matters investigated by the professional standards department. This extends to having different policy leads.

2.11 A relaunch of the grievance procedure

Once all the developmental points in this report have been considered there should be a relaunch of the new grievance procedure. Even then a new procedure alone will not make it work. The senior management need to ensure they are all in agreement with the importance of addressing bullying and harassment, acknowledging its presence in the workplace and take steps to act. RGPF should positively engage in this process in order to help resolve members grievances.

[6] The Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) Working for everyone guidance on bullying and harassment.

Leadership and setting good examples are critical to success in tackling bullying and harassment in any workplace.

RECOMMENDATION 1

RGP should introduce a grievance procedure that reflects the local needs as outlined in this report. This work should be prioritised, and it is suggested could be the core work for the bullying and harassment working group. It is also suggested that this should be completed in three months.

2.12 Professional Standards Policy

The RGP Professional Standards policy was approved in 2008 and last reviewed in February 2017. It is an overview of some professional standards issues and provides some guidance on how investigations should be conducted. Separately the team did see copies of information and guidance to managers in other documents. The policy aims to set out the organisational vision on professional standards and the mechanisms it will work with to ensure high professional and integrity standards are maintained.

2.13 The investigations

During interviews it was clear that some staff perceived there was a lack of openness and transparency with professional standards investigations and that this caused them anxiety. To an extent some anxiety is to be expected. We frequently heard claims that those investigated are not kept up to date with the progress of investigations and some cases investigations were underway without staff being aware. There will be circumstances when professional standards investigators cannot be as open and transparent about progress as staff would like them to be. However, we were advised senior managers do strive to keep people informed. To bridge this gap and to deal with staff concerns it would assist if senior managers were to place renewed emphasis on continuing to both record and check that staff are being appropriately updated.

2.14 Who deals with investigations?

The professional standards department consists of one chief inspector with direct support from one inspector. Most of the work is reactive with limited time for proactive work such as the monitoring or analysis of corruption triggers. These staff members are committed and deal with a wide spectrum of investigations. Early positive action by a first line supervisor is important in avoiding matters escalating but this is not happening consistently, adding pressure to an already busy department.

During interviews with sergeants and inspectors there was a frequent concern expressed about their not making a mistake. This is not unexpected given that RGP has many new supervisors. Clearly, these supervisors have responsibilities by virtue of the rank but in fulfilling those responsibilities It could usefully be reiterated to them that making a mistake with honest endeavour and intent can be a learning process and not a fault.

2.15 Standards

It was also apparent that staff were not consistently clear about the standards expected of them. Coupled with supervisors having an uncertainty about how to deal with transgressions this leads to inconsistent decision making. it is vital that supervisors set standards and ensure intrusive supervision. The RGP should consider briefings and discussions with staff about standards of behaviour addressing such issues, for example, as the use of social media. This could be reinforced in publications such as the 'Bobby', the official magazine of the RGP.

2.16 Legal requirements

The professional standards department of course have clear legal requirements and policies that guide their investigations.[7] However where interdiction is a consideration there is no option of retaining an officer on duty with a non-public facing role. In addition, there is no effective process for informal resolutions to provide a pathway for early finalisation. Equally there is no effective route for confidential reporting or policy in place to protect whistle blowers.

We found staff generally unaware of the reasons why professional standards investigations must take a particular course and this gave rise to them being regarded by them as heavy handed and unfair. This is notwithstanding that during interviews with the senior managers they confirmed this was never their intent. This is also not reflected in the overall results as we were informed that of 61 complaints in the last 18 months only four cases proceeded to a discipline panel. Information about how the professional standards system works could usefully allay the concerns expressed by staff.

2.17 Awareness

There is a real opportunity now for RGP to deal with these issues by considering an in-Force awareness package that includes standards, the grievance procedure and the professional standards system. By exploring boundaries and providing examples of effective decision making it can only serve to reduce the sense of uncertainty expressed by interviewees.

[7] Police Act 2006, Police Complaints Regulation 2008 and the Code of Professional Standards for Police Officers 2007

RGP should introduce an in-force awareness package that includes standards, grievances and the professional standards system. Particular focus should be on exploring boundaries and providing examples of effective decision making. It is suggested that this could be the core work of the 'Low Morale' working group. It is suggested that the awareness package should be completed in six months.

2.18 Welfare

The force does have a police officer appointed as the welfare officer who has recourse to support from a qualified government welfare officer. She also networks with welfare officers from other departments. However, she is not professionally trained and has other important responsibilities. We raise this point later in discussing staff wellbeing but having continued support available to officers under investigation, particularly those interdicted, would demonstrate that apart from a supervisor maintaining contact, that those officers are still valued and appropriately assisted. In time RGP should consider civilianising this role but in the meantime, they should continue to support this important post.

2.19 Investigation results

When an investigation is concluded other members of staff will learn about the result, but those interviewed say this is usually through word of mouth and other informal channels. Through personal contact they often hear about the circumstances and draw informal conclusions about inconsistency of results and unfairness. The commissioner has taken the initiative and recently posted disciplinary results and further to that it is suggested that RGP could usefully ensure increased efforts are made to circulate relevant learning points to all staff.

2.20 Code of Ethics

The Code of Ethics should underpin every policy, procedure, decision and action in policing today and be an everyday business consideration.

The RGP Code of Ethics was approved in 2015 and is due for review. There are significant variations from the College of Policing code. This includes there being no reference to relationships for sexual gain, responsibilities in relation to business interests' associations and political activity, fitness for work, or a requirement to report action taken for criminal offences in any location against a person.

The College of Policing code sets out the importance of challenging and reporting improper conduct – including protection of whistle-blowers. The RGP code is less specific.

Officers were in the main generally aware about the RGP Code of Ethics but only a handful could highlight specifics, and this included supervisors. We are aware that the RGP Code of Ethics is to be reviewed this year. Such a review could usefully seek the views of staff and the RGPF, as by participating in a discussion about the Code makes it more likely that staff consider they are part of it and consequently adherence to it is more likely.

RGP should bring forward their review of the Code of Ethics and values to ensure that it reflects local circumstances. Action should be taken to ensure there is renewed emphasis on the code through, briefings, publications, news items and other similar methods. It is suggested that this could be the core work of the 'Low Morale' working group. It is suggested that this should be completed in three months.

2.21 Annual Policing Plan

The current Annual Policing Plan makes only brief mention of the Code of Ethics at the outset. Delivery plan number 1 for goal 4 says that the RGP will strictly adhere to its values and Code of Ethics. It also refers to continuing to pursue equality, diversity and inclusivity in the workplace in delivery plan number 14. The RGP could usefully ensure that the Code of Ethics is given a much higher profile in the plan.

2.22 Working Groups

RGP has seven working groups recently established by the Commissioner. These were formed as a positive response to the RGPF survey. It is through these groups that many of the issues identified in this report will be addressed. The working groups are human resources, allegations of bullying, real estate, information technology infrastructure, wellbeing, low morale and health and safety. It is important that these groups are fully utilised to take the initiative to ensure improvement. However, the need for the working groups continued existence should be reviewed to eventually bring the resultant work into the day to day RGP business meetings. This will ensure the momentum is maintained and becomes part of day to day business including formal consultative meetings between the RGPF and the Commissioner.

RECOMMENDATION 4

RGP should review the seven workstreams in order to bring their work into the day to day force business meetings. It is suggested that this should occur not later than 12 months.

Chapter Three

Review whether there is evidence of systematic bullying and harassment.

3.1 Bullying and Harassment

There is some evidence of bullying and harassment in the organisation, but staff consider there is an improving position from the past. During focus groups, individual interviews and informal disclosures staff discussed examples with us. Some of these examples were of what they had seen or heard themselves and others what they had experienced personally. It was evident that there were some cases where bullying and harassment had occurred within the last two years.

We also heard of cases that, if true, amounted to blatant bullying and harassment, but most of these occurred many years ago. Some of these were cases over 10 years old that had been informally dealt with, but the negative experience had stayed with the individuals concerned and still had an impact on them many years later.

Other officers expressed the view that they had no personal experience of bullying or harassment.

It was however common to learn from interview that where bullying and harassment did occur it often involved perceived unfairness and inconsistency. For example, those interviewed say staff in specialised units are sometimes told minor infringements might result in their moving to a shift role. This can only reinforce a perceived view that a response officer shift or posting is not always valued. Equally some staff seeking promotion were told that the same minor infringement would affect their chances.

Equally some staff interviewed considered that some managers and supervisors were just providing strong leadership and that there was a gap between the longer service supervisors and newer recruits with differing expectations about how supervisory orders and instructions should be delivered.

We heard a variety of explanations from about 150 staff. There was a marked lack of clarity and hence understanding as to what amounted to bullying and harassment. The legal position regarding police officers being excluded from bullying at work in Gibraltar means there is an even higher responsibility on the Force to ensure working practices do not exploit staff or allow them to be treated unfairly in the workplace.

We take the view that bullying, and harassment is any unwanted behaviour that makes someone feel intimidated, degraded, humiliated or offended. A strong person shows good interpersonal skills, empathy for others and motivates. A bully lacks empathy for others, ridicules and demotivates others. It is not something that is necessarily always obvious or apparent to others and may happen in the workplace without an employer's awareness. Bullying or harassment can be between two individuals or it may involve groups of people.

It might be obvious, or it might be insidious. It may be persistent or an isolated incident. It can also occur in written communications, by phone or through email, not just face-to-face.[8]

For practical purposes though staff usually define what they mean by bullying or harassment. Something has happened to them that is unwelcome, unwarranted and causes a detrimental effect. If staff are concerned, they are being bullied or harassed, then they have a grievance which must be dealt with regardless of whether or not their complaint accords with a standard definition. There are often grey areas as to what is or is not bullying and harassment. We consider it to be good practise to provide examples to staff of what is considered unacceptable behaviour.

RGP should continue to use a variety of methods to ensure staff are made aware of this but importantly the senior management team should be unequivocal that it has no place in the RGP of today.

We concluded that there was not systematic bullying in the organisation but that there was some evidence of bullying and harassment by a minority of managers, supervisors and peers that was not being reported and consequently not being addressed.

In the United Kingdom surveys of workplaces, employees and health and safety representatives all indicate that there are problems with workplace bullying and ill treatment[9]. It is best prevented by strategies that focus proactively on ensuring worker wellbeing and fostering good relations, giving employees and managers the confidence to engage in early and informal resolution.

We saw no evidence of a separate bullying and harassment policy. The RGP could usefully consider framing such a workplace policy on bullying and harassment and this could be the vehicle that sets out the commitment of senior management[10]. This helps recognise the importance of the issue.

RECOMMENDATION 5

RGP should introduce a clear bullying and harassment policy that sets out the RGP acknowledgement, commitment and expectations. It is suggested that this should be developed in the bullying and harassment working group. It is also suggested that this should be completed in three months.

RGP should not underestimate the importance of including reference to tackling bullying and harassment in public reports and the policing plan. It is important in that it demonstrates an [8] This ACAS description of bullying and harassment is widely used in the United Kingdom and is pertinent to Gibraltar.

[10] ACAS Bullying and Harassment a guide for managers and employers sets out useful information as to what such a policy should contain.

acknowledgement that bullying, and harassment occurs and could set out an intent and willingness to act.

3.2 The acceptability of banter

During interviews the level of what was termed 'acceptable banter' was referred to regularly and the subject of debate. It was apparent that banter was not usually challenged by supervisors. Banter can easily become bullying or harassment. Clearly there is a difference between that and banter that encourages a good inclusive team dynamic. What was apparent though was the degree of acceptable banter we heard about appeared far removed from that we have experienced in England and Wales. Many of those interviewed endeavoured to describe it as cultural but this cannot be the case when it becomes focused upon or against an individual. This cannot be acceptable and will come to the fore with an effective grievance procedure but also in other circumstances given that RGP officers do attend UK courses.

3.3 Joint Learning

It was clear from our interviews that there was a lack of understanding of what is and is not unacceptable behaviour. Some joint learning through the bullying working group around promoting and rewarding the right behaviours could prove helpful.

RECOMMENDATION 6

RGP should adopt good practice and ensure that staff are provided with examples of what is and is not unacceptable behaviour in RGP. It is suggested that examples could be developed in the bullying and harassment working group. It is also suggested that this should be completed in three months.

Chapter Four

Evaluate the concerns raised in the RGPF survey about health and safety issues

4.1 The police estate, vehicles and equipment

During our visit we familiarised ourselves with the police estate, examined personal equipment, checked vehicles and learnt about the information technology available. It was clear that the police estate is in generally poor condition and that investment is badly needed to provide premises fit for a modern police force. We heard about the action being taken and the plans to improve the police estate, information technology and maintain the vehicle fleet.

We also examined the personal equipment issued to police officers and sought their views. Most staff were generally satisfied with their personal equipment. Some staff raised concerns about not having personal radios for major events and senior management explained their approach. However, most staff were pragmatic and understood that the police estate, vehicles and information technology involved long term planning and investment but considered they could be better informed about how this was progressing. This is a key area as many staff just did not know what was happening and in the absence of reliable up to date information considered that there was some inaction or that their concerns were not being heard. We are advised that drop in clinics, force orders and training days are already used to keep staff informed.

It was frequently expressed during staff interviews that other agencies in Gibraltar receive preferential treatment. We did not have the remit to investigate this and therefore cannot validate these comments, but the concerns of staff are genuinely felt. They suggest this makes them feel less valued. RGP and the RGPF clearly have a role in helping to understand these concerns. In some key areas such as police estate and information technology it should be possible for the RGP and RGPF to work together by having a common research goal and evidence-based approach and in doing so helping to either allay these concerns or provide further evidence for business cases.

The RGP currently has separate workstreams for Real Estate, Information Technology and Health and Safety in the workplace. There is a logic in these issues being separated but there is also a need for a clear strategy and approach to resolve the problems. The RGPF are members of each of these working groups and could usefully continue to work closely with the RGP in developing that approach.

RGP and RGPF should work together on the obvious improvements needed to the police estate, information technology and vehicles while recognising their different responsibilities through the relevant workstreams. This is a key area where a joint enterprise is beneficial to success but importantly staff need to be kept apprised with progress. It is suggested that staff should be fully apprised within three months and then ongoing with appropriate information.

4.2 Staffing issues

The working environment and equipment make a positive contribution to helping staff feel valued and enabling them to do their job effectively, but the predominant issue staff expressed concern about was the need for them and others to be treated fairly and consistently. This extended to the way duties were allocated, staff were selected for posts, how discipline cases were dealt with and how some supervisors operated.

We explored the reason as to why there might be the level of perceived inconsistency referred to by staff.

4.3 Duty planning

We interviewed resource management staff about how they allocate duties including long term event planning. These staff members strive to limit duty changes and for the most part appear to do a good job, but it is clear some departmental line managers do change officers shifts on a regular basis. This should be monitored holistically as for some officers the claim that their shifts are regularly changed is a fact. We are not suggesting single changes are inappropriate or indeed any specific number of changes are inappropriate but senior managers need to know the extent to which some individuals are being affected. By monitoring this centrally and being armed with this information senior managers can ensure some staff are not being unduly affected. It was noted however that where resource management changed staff shifts overtime was paid where it was appropriate to do so.

4.4 Staff Appraisals

An immediate observation is that staff have not had an appraisal in most cases for several years. In the absence of such a system decisions about staff development can be inconsistent even with the best of intent by supervisors. Senior Management recognise this is the case and have been working towards appraisals being included in wider improvements of human resource management. For good reason there have been significant delays in the introduction of a new system amid concerns about bureaucracy.

We would advocate that a staff appraisal system is so important these concerns must be cast aside with the introduction of a straightforward meaningful assessment process at the earliest opportunity. This should not be stand-alone but be central to decision making.

RECOMMENDATION 8

RGP should introduce a new appraisal system for staff. This work should be prioritised, and it is suggested should be the core work of the Human Resources workstream. It is also suggested that this should be completed in six months.

We asked managers and supervisors where they might source information and evidence currently when making decisions. The officer's own application, their personal knowledge, personal files and evidence files were all referred to.

4.5 Personal files and evidence files

RGP has a system where the force centrally retains a personal file for the officer and an evidence file is usually retained by the line supervisor. We examined ten random personal files and evidence files asking the staff member involved if they wished to be present. Two police officers took up that opportunity.

We were told that evidence included in the file should have previously been seen by the officer and noted. We found this did not always take place. Some information was incorrectly filed, in one case information should have been removed and in another case was not appropriate.

The perception of officers was that evidence files were about negative misdemeanours. We did see evidence of this but importantly there was no consistency as to the documents and information included in a personal file or an evidence file. In addition, we could find no evidence of any weeding policy. RGP should consider working towards one file and importantly ensure in the meantime that evidence files retained by supervisors are used for all relevant evidence, be it positive or negative and that is subject to a clear weeding policy.

4.6 Personal development plans

These plans are intended to be used to help a staff member enhance their skills and experiences in their current role or for the next role. Staff perceive that development plans have a negative connotation. It was consistently believed that they were a professional standards improvement plan and not a plan to enhance their career prospects. An effective appraisal system would identify staff development needs, including upskilling for officers who have spent some time in one department. This would lead toward a change in perception. Clarity could usefully be given as to the purpose of these plans, with managers and supervisors leading by example with their own personal use of developmental plans.

4.7 Promotions and transfers

The staff perceived there was unfairness in the promotion and transfer system. We did not examine all selection and promotion processes but when we made enquiries about particular cases found that for the most part managers and supervisors work hard to ensure they are fair and that the selection rationale was honestly made with the best intent. However, many staff believe that the requirements for the posts and closing dates are not consistently applied. We found this led to the perception of unfairness in the system. Dealing with this perception is important. During any process there might be variations but if this is the case additional effort needs to be given to ensuring all candidates are aware of the rationale.

Clearly, the selection processes can only be enhanced by effective staff appraisals and improving the available information.

4.8 Staff Workloads

We do not have the remit to scrutinise shift patterns or allocation of resources, but concerns were raised in staff interviews about the demands placed upon them, the impact of sickness on workloads and the link these additional pressures have on some cases of bullying and harassment.

We asked senior managers about the plans that might improve the demand upon officers. We learnt that the RGP has taken positive steps supported by the GPA in striving to improve their understanding of demand in the organisation by using integrated information in the CYCLOPS system. This is a computer database that includes management of calls, crime, cases, intelligence and incidents with other databases being added for full integration. This remains work in progress and although integration of systems is proceeding at the time of our visit the full benefits had yet to be realised.

We also asked senior managers for examples of where action was being taken on specific issues It is evident that RGP have taken some action to reduce the demand on officers. One such example is the Commissioners policy decision to remove the need for police involvement in minor traffic incidents that could more appropriately be dealt with by insurance companies.

There have also been some positive steps to maximize resources with an RGP business case being accepted by the Gibraltar Government for the appointment of civilian custody detention officers rather than sworn police officers. Given the Commissioner has also seen recent success in the bid for additional police officers it bodes well that that there will be an increase of 25 police officers in addition to those released by civilianising police posts.

Staff interviewed suggested several other areas where workloads could be reduced. One point featuring regularly that we checked was that there is a high level of unnecessary paperwork caused by the requirement for a prosecution file to provide all the evidence, whether for a minor case or a serious crime. Others pointed to supervisors sending them to deal with minor matters such as non-crime problems with cats and placement of plant pots. Staff perceived there was an inconsistency between supervisors' requirements about incident attendance, notwithstanding there was a policy in place. Supervisors could usefully be reminded of that policy. All these matters were readily disclosed by staff but there will be others and their ideas should continue to be openly sought.

It was also clear from the interviews that many supervisors did not have a grip on the workload of their staff. It is important that supervisors know this and act appropriately to ensure the fair allocation of work. In the absence of this happening an inherent sense of unfairness can develop.

We have read the report commissioned by the Gibraltar Police Authority in 2016[11] and agree with the strategic findings in relation to demand and resources. At the next level there is more that can be done to communicate with staff about what the Force is doing, what is expected of them and how they can help. This can only enhance their wider understanding of the action the Force is taking and help reduce their concerns about unfairness and inconsistency.

RECOMMENDATION 9

RGP should ensure they continue to focus upon initiatives to understand workloads and reduce demand. These initiatives should be grouped as an RGP approach and communicated to staff. Identifying new initiatives could usefully be identified as the core work of the 'Wellbeing workstream' and it is suggested a first tranche identified in three months.

4.9 Sickness and wellbeing

An effective sickness management policy aims to provide a framework to support staff who are unable to work due to illness, assist them back to work as quickly as possible and to reduce the impact on other staff who are covering for them. It is best considered as part of a broader staff wellbeing programme.

We found there was a need for improvement as although the RGP monitored sickness it was less able to manage it. It was pleasing to note from our interviews however that when a staff member or a direct family member is seriously sick or injured, they felt fully supported by managers, supervisors and peers.

However overall sickness and the impact on the remaining staff was a regular point raised by staff during our interviews. Staff who had to provide cover were encouraging more action to appropriately manage sick leave. There have been recent attempts to analyse sickness but at present force managers concur that sickness management could be improved. Return to work forms exist but are usually marked no further action, if completed, and make no contribution to the understanding of the problem. There is also no link between performance appraisal and sickness. Most staff regarded the ten days uncertified sick leave as a benefit. This is understood to be a common cultural view in Gibraltar.

We heard about work that was ongoing within the resource management team to develop an effective sickness management policy. This has been set back while the departmental Inspector is temporarily assigned to an external investigation but is a policy that warrants early development. The force does have a welfare officer post as previously discussed. An effective sickness management policy should be supported by the force welfare officer and have a strong focus on officer wellbeing.

RECOMMENDATION 10

RGP should introduce a new sickness management policy. This should be supported by a welfare officer that is afforded the time and training to fulfil the responsibilities effectively. It is suggested that the sickness management policy should be prioritised and taken forward by the 'Wellbeing' workstream. It is suggested this policy should be prepared in three months.

4.10 Civilian Staff

We noted that civilian staff feel valued, have annual assessments and those interviewed have been working for the force for many years. They are very positive about the organisation. These staff have an extensive and detailed knowledge of the force and how it works. Their value should not be underestimated in adding a useful perspective in the RGP work-streams.

Chapter Five

Review RGP and RGPF surveys and provide advice with guidance about the preparation and use of surveys

5.1 RGPF Survey

In 2018 the then newly established RGPF decided to undertake a survey of all federated staff members. The survey results were released internally and to the media and a response published by the Commissioner about the findings. We have not sought to analyse the events leading up to publication but instead have concentrated on providing our views about the use of such a survey. However, we do make comment that as the RGPF establish their new responsibilities it is important that they have a plan as to how they seek to use and publish the survey results. We would encourage the RGPF to do so in a way that also helps build trust with management. In that way the survey can make an effective contribution to force improvement.

5.2 Staff view

We found staff considered that the RGPF survey added a perspective to the discussion. One staff member, not directly involved in the planning for the survey, explained that he saw it "as another way of us having a voice to improve the force by saying what needs to be done and what is going well" That was a consistent view expressed by staff members.

However, the survey was not without some criticism. Staff expressed concerns about ensuring anonymity, the survey not being refined and some officers viewing it as not being entirely fair by asking a broad question that they sought to expand upon but with no avenue to do so.

5.3 Our view

We take the view that conducting such a survey is a positive step in an open and learning organisation. The attempt to gain a clear picture of the matters affecting RGPF members is helpful. It is only by identifying both areas of strength and weakness than improvements to policing can be assisted through the consultative mechanisms. However, the first survey can be improved upon and we consider it important RGPF now pause to review the next survey so as to enhance its future evidential value.

The information obtained from an effective survey can be used to assist an evidence-based approach to inform the RGPF in future discussions and negotiation with management. With a sound evidence base there is a stronger likelihood that the RGPF will be able to be successful in meeting their responsibilities.

5.4 Avoiding problems and pitfalls.

That said, it is important to recognise that there are some inherent problems and potential pitfalls from solely relying on the results gained from any survey. Survey results potentially offer an important view at a given time but if the survey results are to be used in business cases RGPF should take care to support the findings with other evidence.

In conducting research work it is of critical importance to ensure the correct methodological approach and some essential precautions are taken to be certain that the conclusions reached are the correct ones. The RGPF has elected to use what is termed a 'self-completion questionnaire' (SCQ) to gather the views of its membership. The use of the SCQ approach clearly has several advantages for the type of research being conducted by the RGPF. But with these advantages come a few caveats regarding its use.

People filling them in must understand exactly what is being asked of them. Instructions must be clear, and questions must be unambiguous to ensure different people do not interpret the questions in different ways. This is particularly the case when carrying out attitudinal surveys where feelings or beliefs are being tested.

There are specific precautions well documented in research literature, aimed at minimising the difficulties that badly worded questions or imprecise terms can cause. These include consistent trialling and re-editing of questionnaires in the light of field-testing. RGPF would find it adds validity to the process by taking such steps.

Any survey should aim to minimise the factors that might interfere with the validity of the information gathered from its user. These can be sources of either conscious or unconscious bias on the part of respondents when completing them. Often a trained interviewer can respond to potential bias as it emerges but a SCQ relies on identification of such potential bias and constructing questions to avoid them emerging.

5.5 Memory

One of the most common causes of bias in questionnaires about people's experiences are those caused by memory. One source is what is termed 'telescoping'. With this phenomenon, the respondent may genuinely believe that a very vivid or emotional event was a lot more recent than it actually is. In policing terms, victims of assault, sometimes believe that the assault happened far more recently than it actually did.

Researchers have recognised the value of what are termed 'anchor points'' to help people properly judge when an experience actually happened as opposed to when they may imagine them to have occurred. Sign-postings such as "since last Christmas" or "since last summer" have been found to significantly help the ordering of remembered events.

It is important to have these anchor points in time otherwise the respondents may include information from outside the period envisaged. For example, we spoke to a staff member who had 20 years police service and who had initial doubts about joining the police service who was now content with their role. We also spoke to a staff member who had recently thought about leaving the RGP. The current RGPF survey in asking "Are you or have you contemplated leaving the RGP" could place them both in the same category. RGPF could usefully review their survey to ensure there are relevant anchor points.

5.6 Social desirability

Another consideration when completing any survey is about how 'social desirability' might influence the results – the person completing the questionnaire being inadvertently drawn into providing the answers or comments that they believe are being looked for or will better conform to the social expectations around them. In the context of this survey, officers completing many of the questions posed were very familiar with what their colleagues or federation representatives might say if asked these questions publicly. Examples of this are "do you feel overworked" or "with the current minimum manning levels set by management, how safe do you feel carrying out your operational duties"?

As with many police forces it came as no surprise to us to find significant numbers within the survey were answering that these were current issues for them. However, RGPF care should take care when using such responses as evidence given the way the bias of 'social desirability' might work.

In any survey questions should be drawn up, tested and modified rigorously to ensure the truest possible answer is achieved and that there is no influencing of the respondent in any way. Without this care, a biased or distorted set of responses could be obtained. We advise RGPF to ensure that such tests are undertaken in order to enhance future surveys.

5.7 Types of questions

There is considerable guidance on question construction in the research about questionnaires, such as about leading questions or vague questions. A leading question is one that suggests an answer to the respondent. Its use in a questionnaire can make it less reliable. We would suggest that with the experience gained this year RGPF should review the leading questions in the survey.

A vague question is obviously one that includes vague words or phrases, whose meaning is not clear or commonly understood. Morale is an example. The issue with such a question is perhaps best summarised by one of the individuals who commented within the questionnaire itself, when they pointed out' "As per perception of morale, depending who you are and who you know reflects on the morale of the individual."

Similarly, the survey refers to bullying and victimisation in three separate questions and sets out the legal definition. These questions rely on staff members having a collective understanding and common interpretation of what constitutes bullying and harassment. Interestingly we found during our interviews that there is a lack of such clarity amongst staff about what these terms mean. By RGPF leaving it open to the respondent to make the judgement, there is the risk, for example, that episodes of robust management are interpreted and included as acts of bullying and harassment.

5.8 Survey comments

We have read the comments made by staff members in the survey and had the opportunity to hear some similar points from a few people during interview. The written survey responses expressed concerns about a wide range of issues. We studied this further. When the comments in the survey are clustered according to the numbered identifier of the respondent it became immediately noticeable that a relatively small cohort of individuals make the majority of these negative remarks. These individuals appear to contribute on almost every supplementary question posed in the questionnaire. This is in contrast to the majority of respondents. Most people, who make comments at all, are moved into adding the occasional comment on what could be termed "big ticket items." In this case it could be that a small group of RGP officers feel particularly badly affected by the operation of the force and they voice their concerns in a consistent and cohesive way. There may of course be other explanations, but the comments are not common to all staff. They are an indication of how some staff feel but may not necessarily be representative.

5.9 Survey opportunities

On the strength of the material available, the survey used by the RGPF has produced some interesting insights into the views of their members, but the results need to be taken in perspective. These areas are now the subjects of further research in the working groups established by the Commissioner aimed at organisational improvements.

The RGPF survey offers an opportunity to source valuable information from staff. It was pleasing to note that some of the responses in the survey reflect a desire for positive organisational change which we also found during our interviews. This could be the subject of further exploration as by engaging in new initiatives staff could make an effective contribution and gain a sense of ownership.

In addition, by continuing to review and improve this survey, the overall level of confidence will be enhanced and consequently the responses will help provide a rich source of evidence to assist organisational improvement. As discussed previously there must be clarity in advance about how this and other information is to be shared, particularly with members, senior management and the commissioner. In our last chapter, focused upon assisting the RGPF, we make suggestions about formal meetings and suggest this is one important matter that would be included on the agenda.

5.10 RGP (Management) Staff Survey

The RGP staff survey is not online and has limitations in that staff members doubt the level of anonymity afforded to them. The findings of the survey are shared on force orders, but senior managers could also consider using them by way of "you said – we did" circulations. The results do reflect that staff consider they are not always treated fairly and are reluctant to speak up. The RGP survey has proved to be a useful and positive tool and another source of information to support management action. The RGP will be aware of the importance of question setting in much the same way as in the RGPF survey.

The survey is very short when compared to surveys of England and Wales forces or to Guernsey or Jersey. It is particularly notable that there are no questions about bullying and harassment in it, although it does include some graded questions that help the SMT understand staff perceptions of fairness and respect. These are:

- I enjoy working within my organisation
- I feel everyone is treated fairly and consistently with regard to opportunities
- The organisation provides good support to help me balance work and home responsibilities
- I feel everyone is treated equally with regard to their domestic commitments

It also includes questions to elicit whether the workforce feel involved in decision making and empowered to challenge how things are done.

- If I want to put forward new ideas or suggestions for improvement,
- I am confident my ideas or suggestions will be listened to
- I am confident I would get feedback on my ideas and suggestions
- I think it is safe to speak up and comment on the way things are done in this organisation

The RGP Survey covers similar areas to the RGPF survey and there would be a strengthening of both and of the overall evidence base were the surveys to be more in tune.

While it may not be the time to jointly undertake a survey with RGPF it should be possible to ensure the respective surveys are coordinated with questions that can be worked together and the timing of them in order to explore key issues. The way in which the new RGPF could work on this and other issues is considered in the next section.

RECOMMENDATION 11

RGP and the RGPF should work together to ensure that their respective surveys are coordinated and where achievable the questions worked together. It is suggested that how these links occur should be considered in the 'Low Morale' work stream. It is also suggested this takes place prior to the intended publication date of both the next RGPF survey and the RGP survey.

Chapter Six

Police Federation

Until 2018 RGP police officers were represented by a Police Association but in 2018 the RGPF was established in law[12] as having the object of representing members of the Force in all matters affecting their welfare and efficiency[13]. It was established as being entirely independent of and unassociated with anybody or person outside the Force[14].

6.1 The new RGPF board

A new chairman, secretary and board were elected on the 22 May 2019 for a period of four years[15]. These two posts have been given full-time status in order to represent the members effectively. Together with the new board they recognize they now have an opportunity to make a positive difference to the welfare and efficiency of officers in RGP and of the importance of how they first set out on this important responsibility.

They are also keen that they all continue to build their knowledge and skills as federation representatives. They are developing the networks and relationships established previously by the Royal Gibraltar Police Staff Association with police federations and associations throughout the United Kingdom and across Europe. Sharing experiences and identifying good practice will assist in the early days of RGPF. There is an advantage in ensuring that this is a structured approach rather than just having ad hoc contacts. In this way the RGPF can target contacts to assist with specific issues.

Some of the board have also benefitted from training such as for discipline, health and safety, and equality. The officers particularly should continue to hone their representative skills, understanding different negotiating styles and as to how and when to deploy them. They would also benefit from shadowing a branch board chair and secretary or by seeking a mentor.

6.2 Federation membership

Not all eligible officers below the rank of superintendent are subscribing members of the RGPF. Members receive a number of benefits including legal support. We heard from a minority of staff that they have joined the RGPF to just have the insurance cover. Equally some staff had not joined who were eligible to do so. The RGPF understands this is the case and are keen to gain the confidence of these members and all eligible staff.

Many officers expressed a desire for the RGPF to establish effective lines of communications with all its members to ensure they are updated on issues affecting members welfare and efficiency. This can only assist staff confidence in the RGPF. The need to improve communications was not confined to the RGPF as a few staff members expressed some concern about communications by senior management. Both parties should strive to enhance their internal communications to keep staff apprised of developments. There will be opportunities to ensure the information flow is coordinated. For example, in each of the working groups[16] the agenda should include an item at the end of each meeting to discuss and agree how to communicate what they have done internally to staff. In that way there will be clarity about the outcome of these important groups.

Where there is a vacancy the board may nominate a member of the federation of the appropriate rank to fill that vacancy until the next election.[17]. Given the close-knit culture of RGP we take the view that although there is a legal entitlement to do so were there to be a vacancy such an appointment at this stage could be problematic. The electorate is small, and we would suggest that the board could consider holding a by-election under those circumstances in order to continue to build staff confidence.

6.3 Federation structure, position and policy statements

A significant minority held strong views about the need for the RGPF to have a clear structure and to develop position and policy statements in addition to representing individual officers. There is some evidence from staff that representation previously had been focused in an ad-hoc way upon individual cases. No matter how effective that was there is an acknowledgement by the new RGPF that they now have an opportunity to be better organised. We agree. Clear position and policy statements and good organisation will go some way to building staff confidence.

6.4 RGPF survey

One of the first steps the RGPF undertook was to conduct a survey aimed at providing an opportunity to evidence, benchmark and prioritise the issues facing members. As indicated in the previous chapter we consider this to be a positive step. We were pleased with the open discussions to improve the structure and content of the survey in order to continue to improve the accuracy of any future survey.

6.5 Relationships with management

During our interviews officers of all ranks spoke about the benefit of, and need for, the RGPF and RGP senior management team to develop a constructive working relationship. In our meetings with both the RGPF and SMT we found more issues that united than divided them; they are both striving to improve policing for the benefit of the community in Gibraltar.

The new status of RGPF provides the senior management team and RGPF with an opportunity to develop a proactive two-way consultative process for all matters affecting officer's welfare and efficiency. Working with the RGPF is new to the senior management team as well. We would encourage both parties to set aside time to explore ways of working effectively together, identifying common goals and developing structures and arrangements. By positively engaging in such meetings it will enable the RGPF to fulfil their statutory responsibilities.

Although it may take time and commitment to establish these working relationships and build trust, the initiative to form working groups with RGPF representation is positive and provides a good vehicle to address many of the issues identified within the force and RGPF surveys. Reports indicate some working groups are more productive than others; it will be important to set and agree action plans for all and communicate progress across the force.

RGPF must recognise the Commissioner has responsibility for the direction and control of the Force, delivering value for money and an efficient administration. Effective communication and pro-active consultation do not remove the right of management to manage but can provide a broader perspective and the potential for better decision making. Custom, practice and research indicates a positive impact on staff well-being where arrangements exist to constructively involve and communicate with staff.[18]

6.6 RGPF and senior management meeting

Arrangements for meetings between the SMT and RGPF are not currently formalised. While there will be informal meetings between the RGPF officers and the Commissioner there is a benefit in there also being regular meetings between them. These should have an agenda and minutes which are published in force. The agenda should focus on matters related to welfare and efficiency, such as, health and safety, uniform and equipment, grievance handling, resource management, duty planning, sickness, welfare, career development and fairness. We suggest both parties identify issues for discussion.

In England and Wales forces Joint Negotiating and Consultative Committees (JNCC) provide chief officers and staff associations, (police federation, superintendents association, support staff) with a regular forum to discuss matters concerning staff welfare and efficiency. We realise that the superintending ranks and support staff are in a different position to their counterparts in England and Wales. However, a locally tailored JNCC has merit. At present much of this business will be discussed in the working groups and the need for a JNCC option increases in importance as the working groups become business as usual.

Such a meeting would be to secure acceptable outcomes and to establish and promote agreements on matters including health and safety, discipline, fairness, selection procedures, welfare, sickness, duty planning, leave, uniform and equipment. The process can assist with problem solving and provide for escalation where there is disagreement and conciliation for resolution of any disputes. Were the RGP to adopt a similar model membership might include Commissioner, Assistant Commissioner, a superintendent, Chairman and, Secretary of RGPF and a civilian staff representative. This would be a new way of working and given there is no precedent initially RGPF might find it useful in being supported on their responses, evidence and business cases for presentation in such a forum.

6.7 Major event planning

In the United Kingdom it has become recognised good practice to include police federation representation at the planning, briefing and debriefing stages of major events. Involvement at the planning stage has provided operational commanders with an additional perspective which focuses on officer welfare and their efficiency. This currently does not happen in RGP and instead sometimes results in the issues only being discussed after the event. We suggest RGPF representation should take place at planning meetings and would be professionally beneficial if the specific member attending is consistent. Key to this working is the RGPF having a clear focus upon their specific responsibilities.

6.8 RGPF and RGP – a final point

RGPF officers and the board will no doubt have significant challenges to deal with as they become established in the new role. We have set out many of those challenges but importantly it is people that make relationships work. We are pleased that the RGPF have expressed positive intentions, as has the Commissioner and senior management team, to work together while respecting the differing responsibilities.

This will be a learning exercise as to how to work together and from time to time each will be challenged. However, we have confidence in the ability of all concerned to be equal to that challenge.

SUMMARY OF RECOMMENDATIONS

1. RGP should introduce a grievance procedure that reflects the local needs as outlined in this report. This work should be prioritised, and it is suggested could be the core work for the bullying and harassment working group. It is also suggested that this should be completed in three months.
2. RGP should introduce an in-force awareness package that includes standards, grievances and the professional standards system. Particular focus should be on exploring boundaries and providing examples of effective decision making, say, between supervisory action, misconduct and complaints. It is suggested that this could be the core work of the 'Low Morale' working group. It is suggested that the awareness package should be completed in six months.
3. RGP should bring forward their review of the Code of Ethics and values to ensure that it reflects local circumstances. Action should be taken to ensure there is renewed emphasis on the code through, briefings, publications, news items and other similar methods. It is suggested that this could be the core work of the 'Low Morale' working group. It is suggested that this should be completed in three months.
4. RGP should review the seven workstreams in order to bring their work into the day to day force business meetings. It is suggested that this should occur not later than 12 months.
5. RGP should introduce a clear bullying and harassment policy that sets out the RGP acknowledgement, commitment and expectations. It is suggested that this should be developed in the bullying and harassment working group. It is also suggested that this should be completed in three months.
6. RGP should adopt good practice and ensure that staff are provided with examples of what is and is not unacceptable behaviour in RGP. It is suggested that examples could be developed in the bullying and harassment working group. It is also suggested that this should be completed in three months.
7. RGP and RGPF should work together on the obvious improvements needed to the police estate, information technology and vehicles while recognising their different responsibilities through the relevant workstreams. This is a key area where a joint enterprise is beneficial to success but importantly staff need to be kept apprised with progress. It is suggested that staff should be fully apprised within three months and then ongoing with appropriate information.
8. RGP should introduce a new appraisal system for staff. This work should be prioritised, and it is suggested should be the core work of the Human Resources workstream. It is also suggested that this should be completed in six months.

9. RGP should ensure they continue to focus upon initiatives to understand workloads and reduce demand. These initiatives should be grouped as an RGP approach and communicated to staff. Identifying new initiatives could usefully be identified as the core work of the 'Wellbeing workstream' and it is suggested a first tranche identified in three months.
10. RGP should introduce a new sickness management policy. This should be supported by a welfare officer that is afforded the time and training to fulfil the responsibilities effectively. It is suggested that the sickness management policy should be prioritised and taken forward by the 'Wellbeing' workstream. It is suggested this policy should be prepared in three months.

Subject: RE: AAP Recommendations Workstreams

Dear Mr Chairman,

Thank you for your email which I duly note. Firstly, let me express to you my disgust at the tone of your reply to me and one which I will be raising with the Command. Your message to me is filled with little cooperation and signs of confrontation.

I shall answer all the points you raise.

You Say: I note that two of the recommendations are at an advanced stage with no prior consultation or input from ourselves, especially on two topics which have been the subject of debate over the last few years. This is simply unacceptable

Recommendation 3 of the AAP report was to adopt the College of Policing Code of Ethics. This has simply been a copy and paste of what they have and adopting both the Principles and Behaviours. There is no discussion to be had over this, as it is a tried and tested Code. We have since included it in Force Orders, but the management and monitoring of it has to continue in the Work Streams. With regards to recommendation 5, we asked the secretary to provide us with what the Federation in the UK adhere to [Bullying and Harassment / Grievance Policy] and his answer was that he was going to ask Che Donald [Deputy Chair], but unfortunately this was never forthcoming. In this regard, we have again taken on the AAP recommendations by researching in to the Dorset Police Policy and ACAS Best Practice. We are at and advance stage of drafting the document, but this has not been shared with anyone yet, not even the Command.

You Say: For sake of clarity if a bullying policy or document is simply presented to the GPF, without having any input it will not have our seal of approval. Be advised that on the subject of bullying I personally will not be accepting any document that does not mirror that of the Bullying at Work Act with minor tweeks here and there.

As already stated above, the policies are still being written up and will be debated once this happens in the work stream. Your personal opinion of course will be taken into consideration, but your opinion only will not dictate how we proceed. Please remember, that it is the Commissioner under Section 33[1] of the Police Act that has command, superintendence, direction and control of the Force, and shall be responsible for the efficient administration and government of the Force...and certainly not the Chair of the Federation.

You Say: Again with the grievance procedure the same applies. The unfairness of the process has been talked about by officers for years and we are now in a position to draft up a document acceptable to all and get it right.
To finish off Command and GPF do not have to be "seen" to be working together we simply have to work together and that I am afraid is not happening.

In the last comment you have made, it is clear that you have cemented your position in the relationship between the Command and Federation and I fear that your intention is not to work with the command, but to attempt to destroy everything we try to do, and this we will not accept. It saddens me to know that all the energy we have put into having AAP undertake a review and to start working on the recommendations at the back of the Federation's survey has been futile in your eyes.

Dear Richard

Thank you for the update on the work streams.

I note that two of the recommendations are at an advanced stage with no prior consultation or input from ourselves, especially on two topics which have been the subject of debate over the last few years. This is simply unacceptable.

For sake of clarity if a bullying policy or document is simply presented to the GPF, without having any input it will not have our seal of approval. Subject: FW: AAP Recommendations Workstreams

Dear All,

There are 11 recommendations, with 2 of these being a combination of work in progress, for which I have allocated a yearly review. These are to Review the 7 work streams [this has been done by reducing the work streams from 7 to 5 and changing the task owners] and a review of progress in relationship between the RGP/RGPF and the survey.

I have today allocated the following command officers with tasks for the subject areas and they will be reporting back on the progress of the particular work streams. Invited to the work streams are RGPF members, who will be key to ensuring that we are seen to be working together, thus seeking for solutions. Some of the work has happened already, particularly Recommendation 3 in adopting the College of Policing Code of Ethics, and the new Grievance Process [Recommendation 1] with the Bullying and Harassment Policy [Recommendation 5] is at an advanced stage.

I am cognisant that some of the RGPF officers will not be able to attend meetings because of duties, so the Chair and Secretary have agreed to sit in all of the work streams.

Bullying / Harassment Allegations	AC / Supt Yeats / CI Romero / PC Pozo
Low Morale	Supt Lopez / CI Perez / Insp Enriles / Inspector Fernandez
Estates / IT / Health and Safety	Supt Yeats / SEO Ramos / PC Garcia
HR	AC / Supt Yeats / SEO Ramos / PS Fortuna
Health and Wellbeing	Supt Tunbridge / CI Field / SEO Ramos / PC Gaul

I look forward to hearing from the respective work streams in due course.

With best wishes

Subject: RE: Operational Policing

Mr Ullger,

Thank you for your email. Our presence at the football match yesterday was not meant to disrupt or interfere with the command structure, neither was it to meant to distract officers on points which I believe was not the case. Our presence there was to gauge at first hand the welfare and conditions of the officers policing the event. Having been involved in these events for the past twenty years I can say that the organisation is quite bad at looking after our own in these types of events. Quite frankly on this occasion the setup of the hangar for the PSU officers was pretty good, with food included. I also observed that there were rotations between the officers on static points. We identified an issue of a shortage of radios, again and this needs to be addressed asap.

I agree that maybe our presence in the hangar, and it's a maybe, was not the most appropriate but I assure you that the officers there were receptive to our brief visit, which was not at all disruptive. Whether you accept it or not this short visit and chat with the officers raises morale.

An issue which was raised by officers [after the match and in writing] was the fact that officers were being told off for arriving to work at 1340 hours when they were due to start at 1400 the reason being that they wanted these officers [PSU] deployed at 1400 hours. This might sound petty but when everyone is under stress these little things are magnified.

Let me inform you that we will both again be attending the football match on Thursday, in fact we will be watching the game and have already purchased tickets. I take on board your comments in relation to the hangar. We will be engaging with officers before entry to the match because at the end of the day they are our colleagues and we will not walk past or ignore them. To keep your mind at ease I can assure you that we will not be disrupting, unsettling or disturbing officers and if we see that they are busy and if so we will keep conversation to a minimum.

Dear Both,

I write to you with regards to our conversation yesterday at Victoria Stadium, during the Operational Policing of the Football Game of St. Joseph's and Rangers FC.

Although we understand that your presence at the game was well intended, you need to understand that this was an operational policing event that contained command structures. Any concerns that the officers may have had, or any operational matter that needed attention should be first addressed at a supervisory level and not with the Federation. These conversations are best had after the event where the officers can allay with you any positive/negative feedback in another environment, but not operationally. Furthermore, entering into the confines of the operational plan has implications, simply because you are not warranted to be there. Any policing deployment or logistical support would have been addressed by us and this includes the welfare of our people.

Again, we understand that your presence was well intended, but I ask you to refrain from doing it again.

With best wishes.

Sir,
I have had several officers approach me regarding the final AAP report and whether Command are going to share this document with the officers.
Will you be sharing this document with them?
On another note I have read your latest email where you make reference to several remarks made on a WhatsApp chat. Whilst I am not privy to what has been said here [and I am not defending their actions or comments] this has all been brought upon by the fact that the winding up of the fund had not been properly explained to officers.
In fact, if the closing of this fund would have been explained properly from the start as I have just done with facts and figures I assure you that most officers would have accepted this explanation.
We were informed that the fund was closing down as this was now untenable. Officers were then informed that they would receive much less than they had contributed. What do you think people thought? I am not trying to justify anyone's comments but simply putting forward that the communication between Command and officers in this matter has been poor and as a result has given rise to certain comments.
You highlight the fact "the administrator of which is the GPF Secretary" of the group as if he was responsible for the comments. This is simply not acceptable. But you then thank him for dealing with the matter people privately.
It appears that at every possible opportunity you try and discredit the Federation or its convenors. You may not think so but the Federation is here to help, and I find myself in the enviable position of getting the best deal for our members whilst making others accountable for their actions.
Enjoy your weekend.

It is alleged that on a date unknown between the 30th of September and the 9th of October 2019, as a serving member of the Royal Gibraltar Police, you acted in a manner which would reasonably likely bring discredit upon the reputation of the Royal Gibraltar Police, namely by encouraging Leo Olivero, a writer for the Panorama (Gibraltar) newspaper, to publish negative press regarding the Command Team of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

This notice has been issued to inform you, at the earliest possible stage that an allegation has been made and an investigation commenced.

You are not obliged to say anything concerning the above matter but you may, if you so wish, make an oral or written statement to the investigating officer. This statement may be used in any subsequent disciplinary proceedings.

Whatever the outcome of the investigation, you will be informed of the result and you should also be informed if there is likely to be any undue delay in completing the procedure.

@1040 Meeting at No 6 with CM re Op Delhi to clarify statement requirements.
CI Wyan and P Canessa also present.

CM articulated his recollection of events around July and on to October 2018, clear that authority had not been given by him for Cornelius to continue accessing the system post the period agreed between Blands and TL.

① Expressed his discontent at the manner in which the search for devices (TL) took place. Made clear that he has known TL for a long time and is a close personal friend.
Was told at the time that DPP had advised CoP (TM) to obtain a search warrant rather than a production order, given the presence of legally privileged material. DPP had since told him the opposite was the case.

② CoP (TM) approached CM in May 2019? to brief on CS. CM agreed that if there was evidence of corruption then the Government would be a complainant.
CM agreed that the political government was not apprised of the facts, was now being asked to make a complaint. ∴ Unable to. Accepted proper for the Crown to pursue the matter on the evidence it had. Chief Secretary not making the complaint on behalf of the political government.

③ CM made the point that he should not be, and preferred not to be, advised of any impending arrest in advance. Otherwise he may be placed in a comprising position.

Re: INCIDENT IN SPANISH TERRITORIAL WATERS – 8th March 2020

We are instructed by Don Nordin Dris Lahsen to pursue on his behalf a claim for damages consequent upon injuries sustained in a collision in Spanish territorial waters between RGP vessel Sir John Chapple and a RHIB in which our Client was a member of the crew in the early hours of 8th March 2020.

You will appreciate it is important that we establish at the outset whether or not the penetration of an RGP vessel into Spanish waters was authorized or requested by any of your Spanish counterparts. Whilst we are aware that operational matters and policy are within your domain there is the clearest evidence in the hands of the Guardia Civil that the incident took place some 4 miles east of Sotogrande.

Commissioner Ian McGrail

14th May 2020

We will be writing separately to the Coroner notwithstanding Section 4(1) of the Coroners Act to inform him that two dead bodies of Spanish Nationals were towed into BGTW by a RGP vessel.

Your early response would be very much appreciated

Dear Sir

Collision at Sea On 8th March 2020

You will be aware of our letter to the Commissioner dated the 14th May and his response of the following day in which he advised that you had been designated as the Officer dealing with the matter on behalf of the RGP.

We understand that although the team from the Metropolitan Police, Directorate of Professional standards called in by the Commissioner may have issued an interim report, the final report has not yet been received.

The seminal question in our letter was directed, not at the location of the collision which has been established beyond doubt, but as to whether or not there had been a request from the Guardia Civil to pursue the RHIB the subject of the collision or whether there had been permission granted for the Sir John Chapple or any other official vessel belonging to the authorities in Gibraltar, to enter Spanish waters. That question remains unanswered.

Superintendent Cathal Yeats

19th May 2020

We note you are to instruct Counsel from whom we expect to hear in short order.

In the interim and in order to give the individual Officers an opportunity to obtain independent legal advice we should be obliged if you would let us have the full names of the crew of the Sir John Chapple on the night of the collision identifying, in particular, the coxswain. The reason for this is that we are required to issue a letter before action before we issue proceedings claiming damages for personal injury and loss sustained by our Client Don Nordin Dris Lahsen.

In addition would you please be good enough to supply us with a full schedule of all items seized from our Client and the deceased and second survivor from whom we anticipate receiving written instructions during the course of the next few days.

Please note that we anticipate being instructed by the families of the deceased as well as the fourth person aboard the RHIB.

Re: Collision at Sea on the 8th March 2020

I refer to your letter of the 19th of May. I should start by pointing out that the Commissioner is not in receipt of an interim report prepared by the Directorate of Professional Standards of the Metropolitan Police.

I will advise you as soon as we have instructed counsel and provided instructions.

Subject: OFFICIAL: Letter before action - damages claim

Dear Attorney General,

The Commissioner of Police is in receipt of correspondence with regard to a claim for damages following a collision at sea on the 8th of March this year. I understand that the Director of Public Prosecutions has raised the issue of who should represent the RGP to defend the claim. The DPP and I met yesterday to discuss whether it would be appropriate for the Office of Criminal Prosecution and Litigation to do so. We concluded it would not for the following reasons which potentially apply:

1) Prosecuting European Arrest Warrants issued by Spain to extradite the officers crewing the vessel.
2) Prosecuting criminal charges against the officers crewing the vessel.
3) Prosecuting disciplinary charges against the officers crewing the vessel.
4) Defending civil actions against the organisation or the individual officers in Spain.

Should you agree with our views I would be grateful for your authority to appoint counsel and your advice on who would be best placed to represent the RGP. Finally our experience is that claims made against the RGP have been generally handled by Government. Do you wish this to be the case in this instance or should we manage it ourselves together with appointed counsel?

Best regards,

Cathal

Executive Summary

This report details the investigation into a collision at sea on 8th March 2020 between a Royal Gibraltar Police marine vessel and a Rigid Hulled Inflatable Boat (RHIB) a result of which two of the RHIB crew died. Following a criminal investigation and consultation with the DPP, it was determined that the criminal jurisdiction of this matter lies with the Spanish authorities as the chase and the collision took place in Spanish territorial waters. Consequently no criminal charges were brought against the RGP officers. This report recommends that charges be brought against the two trained mariners aboard the RGP vessel at the time of the collision under the Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991.

Background Information

Gibraltar is a British Overseas Territory separated by a border at the southern part of the Spanish mainland. It lies approximately nine miles north of the coast of Morocco. The area is a well-established route for the smuggling of drugs from North Africa to Europe. Gibraltar was established as a British Territory in 1713 under the Utrecht Treaty but that treaty failed to mention the waters surrounding Gibraltar. Usual international laws of the sea enable sovereign states to claim the seas up to 12 miles from land to be their waters. This is not possible in Gibraltar. Gibraltar claims that British Gibraltar Territorial Waters (BGTW) extend three miles to the east, three miles to the south and two miles to the west. As the treaty failed to mention the sea, Spain refuses to acknowledge the boundaries of BGTW.

Unused Evidence and Information

The scope of the criminal investigation was such that a vast amount of evidence was acquired with the intention of enabling the investigative team to make a determination on criminal liability. Much of this evidence is not relevant to the suggested charges under the Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991 and has therefore not been included in this summary. A full schedule of material is available for examination if required. All statements and evidence referenced in this report is supplied to the Determining Officer with this report for ease.

Vessel Details

Sir John Chapple – an 11.8 metre long full cabin marked RGP patrol vessel with blue lights, sirens and lights. [redacted]

[redacted] (with AIS installed)

ii. [redacted]

The vessel was built by Safe Boats International in January 2007, acquired second-hand by RGP and registered in Gibraltar on 19th October 2016 as a Government vessel. On the front of the vessel is log defender; a strip of serrated metal attached to the bow. Rob Goley, the Director of Business, development and Strategy of Safe Boats (who fitted the log defender) stated that "log defenders are installed on vessels to aid in pushing logs and debris. The 'teeth' on the log defender bite into the log and prevent it from sliding under the hull and into the vessel's propellers." On the night of the collision the vessel had the call sign 'Bravo 4'.

RHIB – a 14-metre long unregistered vessel and unknown date of build. Powered by four Yamaha 300hp outboard engines. The navigation equipment consisted of a Garmin GPS map combined GPS chart plotter and radar display. There were seats for four people in a line behind one another. Shiny or reflective parts of the vessel had been covered up with tape. This type of vessel is illegal in both Gibraltar and Spain as they are typically used for drug smuggling.

Photographs of both vessels are available.

Evidence of RGP Crew

The three officers who formed the crew of the Sir John Chapple provided statements under the Post Incident Procedure (PIP) and were referred to as Officers One, Two and Three. Later in the investigation it became apparent that Officers One and Two may be liable for criminal conduct and in addition to their statements they were interviewed under criminal caution. Officer Three was not considered for criminal proceedings and therefore retained his protected identity status. Officer Three was not considered for criminal proceedings because he was not a trained mariner; he had no previous experience in the Marine Section and no relevant qualifications that would enable him to form any opinions regarding the use of the vessel or the equipment. He accounted for his actions on the night and the investigative team were satisfied with his response. Essentially, he was on board to make up the numbers required for the vessel to deploy.

Evidence of Officer 1 – PC [redacted]

Officer 1 (later identified as PC [redacted] made PIP Stage 3 and 4 statements[S1,S2] in which he said the following: He joined RGP in [redacted]. In [redacted] he became part of the Marine Section. In [redacted] he became a fully qualified coxswain. The training involved attending RYA to carry out a week of STCW-95, a radar and VHF course, skipper theory with exams followed by examiners coming aboard the two vessels to observe boat handling and theory. The fast RHIB examination consisted of two weeks of berthing and unberthing, high speed navigation, search and rescue patterns and pacing, which is when two vessels come alongside one another in order to transfer persons or items between them. He has never received any training regarding pursuits. Since [redacted] he has been involved in many police pursuits at sea. He has been a helmsman on numerous pursuits involving different vessels; none have ever resulted in injury or fatality.

On Sunday 8th March 2020 at 2200 hours, he reported for duty at New Mole House as the senior coxswain for RGP Marine Section. The crew consisted of three officers in total. At 0200 hours on 9th March (date are incorrect, this should read 8th March), they took over from the other marine crew. A telephone call was received on the marine section mobile from Windmill Hill Signal Station (WHSS) stating they had an unknown vessel without navigational lights on the eastern side heading west towards land. He contacted Guardia Civil via the marine section mobile phone informing them of the report WHSS had made, they confirmed it to be a large suspect RHIB heading at speed towards land. He confirmed with the Guardia Civil that they were heading to the eastern side and he called WHSS to confirm to them what they were seeing was a large suspect RHIB and that he would be deploying to the area of the eastern side of Gibraltar.

The crew deployed aboard Police Interceptor Sir John Chapple – Call sign 'Bravo 4', which is an interceptor fitted with a radar and chart plotter. The radar was on carrying sweeps at a distance of [redacted], the GPS chart plotter was left off due to the bright backlight, which is safer not to have on in order to be able to see more safely at night. All checks completed, VHF functioning, both OPS and Interop radios had sufficient battery and torches available.

Officer Two (later identified as PC [redacted] was positioned left from PC [redacted] covering the port side of the vessel. Officer Three was sitting directly behind PC [redacted] covering the starboard of the vessel. The Guardia Civil called PC [redacted] stating that the suspect RHIB was by La Atunara breakwater carrying out what they believed to be a crew change and food supply and informed them that Bravo 4 would head east. Another call was received on the marine section mobile from Guardia Civil informing PC [redacted] to remain where he was as the suspect RHIB was heading towards them.

PC [redacted] made contact on the radar, which was still conducting sweeps at a 0.75 nautical mile radius. The contact closed in on Bravo 4 at a distance of 0.25 nautical miles, PC [redacted] initiated the blue beacons in case the navigator of the vessel had not seen Bravo 4. The RHIB crossed the front of Bravo 4's bow at a distance of approximately 5-10 metres. The RHIB was approximately fourteen meters in length with four persons aboard.

PC [redacted] commenced following the suspect RHIB with the intention of confirming the identities of the suspects and to identify whether it had any illicit cargo. The RHIB appeared to be a prohibited import with no navigational lights. PC [redacted] had a Dragon torch pointing out of the left hand side door and Officer Three had his arm out of the right hand side window. The RHIB continued in a south easterly direction in an attempt to head into the Strait and towards Morocco, the RHIB was on the starboard side and lit up with the blue lights of the beacons and with Officer Three's Dragon torch. PC [redacted] positioned Bravo 4 alongside the RHIB in order to shout to the coxswain to stop, confirm suspects' identities and any illicit load on the deck. PC [redacted] saw one of the men picking up items and start to throwing them at the police vessel. The RHIB sharply turned left to right to throw sea spray at the police vessel in order to obscure their view.

The RHIB carried out several erratic manoeuvres, turning sharply right or left without any indicators. PC [redacted] trimmed down and reduced the speed in order to gain more control. The RHIB sharply turned left and the trims were still up causing a large white wave in front of the vessel limiting all vision. In order to avoid injury and a collision PC [redacted] engaged the vessel into neutral and attempted to turn right to avoid the RHIB, which is when he felt the impact between his vessel and the RHIB. The vessel began to list to the right which resulted in water ingress through the windows and doors. PC [redacted] believed the vessel would capsize and they might drown. Their vessel appeared to slip off the pivoting point. PC [redacted] believed this was due to buoyancy offered by the foam collar causing the vessel to re-float.

The vessel was positioned to the left hand side of the RHIB. PC [redacted] jumped onto the suspect vessel via its bow. PC [redacted] removed the kill cord, Officer Three was at the rear of the police vessel holding both vessels together. PC [redacted] boarded the suspect vessel to assist PC [redacted] and his attention was drawn to one individual standing at the bow and another just behind him crouching down. PC [redacted] saw two more people on the deck next to the steering console lying down side by side with their feet directed at the bow.

PC [redacted] approached the men and could see the male to the right closest to the steering console had a severe head injury (visible brain matter and skull fragments), no signs of life present. The male to the left had an open wound to his right shoulder with bone and fat tissue visible. PC [redacted] attempted to move him upright however, he was too heavy and he reassured the male and informed him that he would be calling for an ambulance and medical assistance.

PC [redacted] moved to the front of the vessel together with PC [redacted] who was with the other individuals. PC [redacted] informed them that the vessel would be towed and returned to the marine base as quickly as possible where an ambulance would be waiting.

PC's [redacted] and [redacted] re-boarded Bravo 4, Officer Three stood at the stern with a Dragon torch to make sure the individuals remained on the vessel and visible. The radar was reduced to carry out sweeps of a quarter nautical mile to see the RHIB clearer behind them. The RHIB was placed on a long tow by use of a bowline to its front d-ring. PC [redacted] cannot recall the precise order of communications; he believes the first contact was with WHSS to inform them that they were towing a RHIB. PC [redacted] informed WHSS that there was one fatality and possibly a second, that they were heading back to base to get them medical assistance. PC [redacted] contacted his sergeant and explained the need for medical assistance. Guardia Civil contacted PC [redacted] on the duty phone although he cannot remember the conversation. A further call came through from the Port Boarding office; he cannot remember the conversation.

Bravo 4's starboard outer engine was not functioning. PC [redacted] contacted the duty sergeant again via the marine section mobile in order to request a customs vessel rendezvous with them at sea to take crew from the RHIB to shore for medical assistance. PC [redacted] contacted HM Customs marine base via the marine section mobile and updated them with the incident.

As Bravo 4 arrived off Sandy Bay, the HM Customs vessel arrived and the vessels were positioned in order to re-board the RHIB to assist the individuals. One male came forward and shouted, "Officer it was our fault as our engines stopped, we didn't give you enough time to stop, please help my uncle, I know you guys didn't want to kill anyone."

The RGP officers instructed customs officers to take on board as many persons as possible to convey back to the base. PC [redacted] and Officer Three jumped aboard the RHIB to assist customs officers. Customs cast off with three persons on board from the RHIB while Bravo 4 resumed the tow back to base. On arrival to South Mole, a Gibraltar Defence Police (GDP) RHIB could be seen to exit the harbour and assisted with the escort to base.

Upon entering the base, PC [redacted] went to the stern to remove the tow and handed it to the GDP RHIB. PC [redacted] could see paramedics were providing CPR to someone on the ground. PC [redacted] berthed the vessel with PC [redacted] assistance.

On 11th August 2020, PC [redacted] was interviewed under Section 47 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 for the offences of manslaughter and Section 27 of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Health and Safety etc.) Act. Also present were his legal advisor and Police Federation Representative. DC Emma Johnson and Civilian Investigator Trevor Morgan from the Metropolitan Police Service (London) were the interviewing officers. PC [redacted] exercised his right to silence and did not answer the questions put to him. A copy of the interview plan has been included in this case submission.

PC [redacted] legal advisor indicated that he may answer questions in a misconduct interview once the criminal matter had concluded. Therefore a misconduct interview was conducted on 3rd June 2021. Disclosure was provided to his legal advisor in advance of this interview. PC [redacted] declined to make any comment to all questions put to him.

Officer 2 (PC [redacted] provided PIP stage 3 and 4 statements[S3,S4] in which he explained the following: He confirmed his status and that the statement was regarding a collision between a police vessel "Bravo 4" and a suspect RHIB. Description given of B4 including engines, vision and approximate maximum speed of 50-52 knots in good conditions. He stated that visibility is very poor during chases. He provided details of his qualifications – RGP Coxswain – and previous experience regarding chases of different vehicles.

At approximately 0320 on 08/03/2020, PC [redacted] received a report on the duty mobile phone. PC [redacted] told PC [redacted] that there was a suspect RHIB on the east side of Gibraltar. He in turn told Officer Three, who was sat in the station control room. They boarded the police vessel and deployed at high speed from the base. PC [redacted] was coxswain. PC [redacted] was sat in front passenger seat to the left of PC [redacted] Officer Three was sat in behind PC [redacted] PC [redacted] and Officer Three had search torches. As they reached the area near Eastern Beach the vessel slowed and then stopped in approximate area of A8. PC [redacted] indicated a vessel on the radar heading towards them at high speed from the Spanish coast. Blue lights were activated and a RHIB crossed their bow at high speed at a distance of approximately 10 metres. The RHIB was not displaying any navigation lights and a chased ensued. The occupants of the RHIB threw missiles at the police vessel which he heard impact on their boat. They closed the gap between the vessels and PC [redacted] positioned Bravo 4 to the RHIB's starboard side.

He used a torch to illuminate the RHIB that was approximately 20 metres away. He provided description of the RHIB and saw four people sitting in tandem on it. The RHIB began evasive manoeuvres – sharp turns at speed. Bravo 4 moved to the RHIB's port side so Officer Three used his torch to illuminate the RHIB, which continued to do sudden sharp turns across the bow of Bravo 4. This sprayed water over Bravo 4, reducing visibility and forcing them to slow down each time.

"During one of these manoeuvers the suspect RHIB crossed the bow of Bravo 4 as such a close distance that a large wave like splash was produced ahead of Bravo 4. This hit the front of our vessel and covered window screens removing all visibility. I then felt an extremely large and sudden impact that caused our vessel to stop abruptly and noticed that we immediately began to tilt heavily to the starboard side. I had to hold myself tightly to my side handrail to stop me falling over as my side of out (this appears to be a typing error and should read "our") vessel was now raised high up. I could also hear a lot of water rushing into the cabin but could not see where it was coming in from. I was still not aware at this stage of what had happened and my immediate thought was that Bravo 4 was going to capsize. At this time I feared for my life and that of my crew mates, I was not sure of what was happening. I did not know how long the chase had gone on for but it felt like if time had slowed down. As I tried to work out what had happened our vessel began to return to its normal upright position. At this time I was in a state of shock and had completely lost sight of the suspect RHIB. During this time Office One manoeuvred and went alongside the suspect RHIB's starboard side with our stern ending up alongside the suspect RHIB's bow. I could see it was stopped in the water and realised there had been a collision."

He went on to state that he left cabin and boarded the RHIB. He described the scene – there was an extremely agitated male near bow of RHIB; second male crouched down in bow area; two males on deck starboard side of seats. He was severely shocked and could not move. He believed they were dead but could not push forward to check. He found the situation overwhelming. He was alone on the RHIB with suspected drug smugglers who can be violent and carry weapons. PC [redacted] then joined him and told him that he believed one of the males was dead. They decided to tow the RHIB to the RGP marine base to get help. PC [redacted] was concerned for his own crew and the RHIB crew.

They hitched up the RHIB and started towing at about 30 metres with Officer Three watching. PC [redacted] had done all communications via the duty mobile phone. A call was made to Customs to help but he was not sure which method of communication was used. He stated that one of the RHIB crew shouted in Spanish "It wasn't your fault, the engines stopped, I know you guys wouldn't kill anyone, please help my uncle." The HM Customs boat then arrived (HMC Seeker). There was a discussion with Customs officers about the transfer of the RHIB crew and this was done. The RHIB was towed in at speed and he then returned to the police station and completed his stage 3 account.

On 12th August 2020, PC [redacted] was interviewed under S.47 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 for the offences of manslaughter as S.27 Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (H&S etc.) Act. Also present were his legal advisor and Police Federation Representative. DC Emma Johnson and Civilian Investigator Trevor Morgan were the interviewing officers. PC [redacted] exercised his right to silence and did not answer the questions put to him. A copy of the interview plan has been included in this case submission.

PC [redacted] legal advisor indicated that he may answer questions in a misconduct interview once the criminal matter had concluded. Therefore a misconduct interview was conducted on 4th June 2021. Disclosure was provided to his legal advisor in advance of this interview. PC [redacted] declined to make any comment to all questions put to him.

Evidence of Officer 3

Officer 3 provided PIP stage 3 and stage 4 statements (three statements in total[S5,S6,S63]) and said the following: On Saturday 7th March 2020 at 2200 hours, he reported for duty at New Mole House Police Station and deployed as a crewmember with Officers One and Two on the Sir John Chapple (call sign Bravo 4). This duty was only his second deployment with the Police Marine Base (PMB). He has not received any specific training as a police marine officer but does hold an Emergency First Aid at Work qualification.

At approximately 0250 hours officer three was informed by PC's [redacted] and [redacted] that they were heading out, and he believed a job had come in by the urgency in their voices. They headed back to Bravo 4 where Officer Three had the responsibility for the rope. He took hold of the Dragon lamp and sat in the front port side adjacent to PC [redacted] PC [redacted] operated and sailed out of the harbour to the western side of the BGTW and made a turning to the left to travel in a southerly direction. PC [redacted] was informed that the Guardia Civil had observed a RHIB suspected to have left Spain and was travelling in the direction of Gibraltar into the eastern side of BGTW.

PC [redacted] navigated Bravo 4 around Europa Point and headed in an easterly and then northerly eastern direction. Officer Three observed glowing orange lights in the far distance which he believed to be the Spanish coastline at a 12 o'clock position from the bow of Bravo 4 and the north eastern rock face of Gibraltar was on the port side at around an 8 o'clock position. PC [redacted] answered a phone call in Spanish.

Officer Three observed from the bow of Bravo 4, at a 10 o'clock positon, a fast moving RHIB heading in a southerly direction. PC [redacted] activated the blue beacon lights on Bravo 4 and operated the controls to turn left in the direction the RHIB was travelling. The RHIB was about 10 metres from Bravo 4 on the port side. Officer Three opened the window next to him on the starboard side and flicked the switch of the Dragon lamp, fixing the beam on the RHIB, which was at a 2 o'clock position from the bow.

Officer Three observed four people on the RHIB, two were throwing shiny items towards Bravo 4 and he heard several bangs. He turned the Dragon lamp on and off to disorientate the occupants of the RHIB as directed by PC [redacted] The RHIB began to perform sharp S bends and sharp U-turn manoeuvres in front of the bow. The RHIB was moving through the water at a high speed producing a wake causing Bravo 4 to move from side to side as they went over the wake. Water intermittently went through the window as Officer Three focused the Dragon lamp at the RHIB.

The RHIB remained on the starboard position to Bravo 4 and a large wave came up engulfing the front windscreen. PC [redacted] turned the wheel to the right, the boat leaned and there was a sudden impact. The starboard side window slammed into the water, water flushed through into the cabin, Officer Three thought they would die.

Bravo 4 rolled to the left and came to an upright position; the RHIB stopped about 10 metres away when Bravo 4 moved alongside the port side of the RHIB. A man described as white, stocky build, wearing marine clothing came towards the starboard side of the RHIB and Officer Three shouted for him to "Get down, get down".

Officer Three remained on Bravo 4 and lent over to unzip the jacket of the male at his request, the male moved to the right and lent over the starboard of the RHIB to vomit. Officer Three then noticed a smaller and slimmer built male crouching down at the front of the RHIB. Officer Three could see the hair and the top of a head near to where he was holding onto the RHIB and mumbling.

PC [redacted] attended to the man mumbling, Officer Three wanted to get onto the RHIB and help but he was holding onto Bravo 4 and the RHIB in order to stop them from drifting. PC [redacted] stated, "One, code black" which Officer Three knew was a sudden death. PC's [redacted] and [redacted] climbed back onto Bravo 4 tying the rope onto the RHIB to connect them. Officer Three observed Officer One taking deep breaths and speaking in Spanish. Officer Three observed the RHIB whilst Bravo 4 towed it, the officer felt shock.

Officer Three noticed another RHIB with people waving; PC [redacted] confirmed it was customs officers who then boarded the suspect RHIB to assist. Bravo 4 entered the harbour where medical assistance was provided. They were then informed a PIP had commenced.

On 10th August 2020 the PIP was reconvened for Officer Three so that questions that had not previously been answered, could be addressed. This statement is included in the case submission.

Evidence of RHIB Crew

There were four men aboard the RHIB:

[redacted]

[redacted] and [redacted] were arrested and interviewed by RGP officers on the day for the following offences:

- Importing a Prohibited Import, contrary to Section 14 (1) (f) and (2) of the Imports and Exports Act 1986.
- Dangerous Navigation, contrary to Section 10 of the Seaside Pleasure Boat Rules 1989.
- Obstructing Police, Contrary to Section 177 (2) and (4) of the Crimes Act.

However, no charges were brought against them.

Suspect Account of [redacted]

[redacted] gave a "no comment" interview following his arrest.

Suspect Account of [redacted]

He said that he was at sea and his coxswain manoeuvred to one side and the police went the same way and rolled over them. He was in the fourth seat on the RHIB (the back of the row of four seats). There had been a crew change (at La Atunara). Four people got off and he and three others got on. He did not know where they were going and this was about 0230 hours. He stated that they could stay at sea for 2-3 days as they were holding the boat. He had been on a boat four days ago, had three days off and was then back on board. They did not collect anything and were not carrying anything (presumably referring to contraband such as drugs). He confirmed that the police vessel had its blue lights activated. The RHIB was turning and went "this way and that." After the collision the police got on. One man was dead and one was half-dead. Another boat arrived and took off the half-dead man. He confirmed possession of two mobile phones.

[redacted] and [redacted] were due to travel to Gibraltar to provide significant witness statements to the investigative team in August 2020. However, this did not take place due to a legal issue and instead they travelled in October 2020 and the following witness accounts were obtained.

Witness Account of [redacted]

[redacted] explained that on 8th March 2020, he and three others boarded a four-engine RHIB (semi rigid). The vessel was either grey or black, approximately 14 metres long with four Yamaha 300 engines and a radar. On the radar screen, half is a GPS but this is the only equipment on board – they carry an extra GPS and satellite with them in case anything breaks down. They did not have AIS. The three men he boarded with were known to him as [redacted]. [redacted] was his uncle. As they boarded, the crew who were disembarking informed them that one of the engines was faulty. He and his crew boarded in order to test the motor, they were not going anywhere, just testing it. He described that the vessel had four seats one behind the other and the control panel was at the front. [redacted] was in the pilot's seat, [redacted] was behind him, then himself and at the rear was [redacted]

[redacted] explained that all four of them had mobile phones and there were navigation lights but they did not put them on "otherwise they can see us". He stated they went out on the vessel around 3 or 4 in the morning, he explained that it was dark because it was night time but you can still see out at sea. [redacted] described that the sea was fine, there was a slight westerly wind and there were other RHIBs working that night. He did not know what the moon was like but you could see. [redacted] stated they had been in the area of the mussel farm, about half a mile from the shore and they went on board to see if one of the engines was malfunctioning. He explained "if not they never would have caught up with us", he did not know which one of the engines was faulty as he was sat in the third seat. It would have been the pilot who knew. They were only carrying a petrol canister and some food.

He said they went out of La Atunara and in the direction of Alcaidesa and this is "where they hit us". After five minutes of starting out, they were warned by the tobacco RHIBs that the Gibraltar patrol boat was coming out. When they left La Atunara, the radar showed that the patrol boat was about a mile away. He described that the patrol boat did a turn and went into Spanish waters, when it came up in front of them he saw it. He said the patrol boat came toward them head on and they tried to avoid it but it turned around again onto their rear. He knew it was the police because the 55 which belonged to the Guardia Civil was tied up in Sotogrande and the observation posts were keeping them informed. He described "the patrol boat came straight for us, and we tried to avoid it once and twice but on the third occasions when it came for us we realised that our engine had stopped". He said if they had wanted, they could have just hit their motors and explained the evasive action they had taken in the RHIB was trying to avoid the patrol boat hitting them again. He described that the patrol boat did not switch on the blue light, nor was it displaying any navigational lights. When they tried to turn again the motors were not responding, the pilot remained looking at the radar because they thought the patrol boat was going to stop but it didn't and it hit them. [redacted]described the wake of the waves to be very strong, so much so that they almost fell into the water. He was signalling with his arms to indicate they didn't have anything on board and the pilot tilted the vessel sideways to show there was nothing there. They were surprised that the patrol boat continued toward them; by their speed the patrol boat could tell they had broken down and they were totally stopped. As he looked behind he could see it was going to hit them and he jumped from his seat. [redacted] jumped as well but the pilot and [redacted] stayed in their seats. He said "this was not a collision they were coming for us" and said when the patrol boat hit them it landed on top of them, on the bow.

The patrol boat then started revving to reverse. Everything was silent and [redacted] saw the pilot's face was split in two.[redacted]o tried to sit [redacted] up, his skull was broken and his hand slid inside. The patrol boat came nearer and [redacted]was telling them "you have killed them and insulted them", when the police saw what was inside the vessel they withdrew. He and Bruno were both asking for help but the police did nothing and were "arguing amongst themselves". He said he was recording all the time and showing the police, telling them to get out of Spanish waters. At the same time he was calling Guardia Civil on 112. [redacted] checked his phone (when offered to him during the witness interview, having been retained by police since the incident) and found the video of the chase was not on it anymore, only some photographs he took of [redacted] and the pilot while they were coming into Gibraltar, and a short video of the aftermath on the RHIB deck. He said he had sent the video to his friend and would try to retrieve this for the English police (this was never provided despite requests). He explained the police threw a hook and towed them to the Iron Port. He said none of the police officers came aboard and when they were just in Gibraltar he insulted them and told them one of them was still alive. He called them murderers. He explained "the police knew that my uncle was still alive, I was telling them all the time, they should have come on board".

He described the customs officers as being very kind to them and they took his uncle onto their vessel and to hospital immediately. Speaking of the police, he stated they had brought them into Gibraltar waters so that "no one would see that they had murdered someone in Spanish waters". He said it took about 45 minutes to get to the Iron Port and it was only there that the police reported there had been an accident and it was only then that they switched on the lights and GPS.

When they arrived in the port of Gibraltar, the four policemen disappeared and only customs remained trying to revive his uncle. When they arrived, [redacted] was in pain and aggressive, he was given something to calm him down and he recalls there being an ambulance and they were separated. He referred to the "saw they have on the keel" which is always there and they use it to run people over (referring to the log defender on B4's bow). He described his injuries as a blood clot to his head, knee ligament injuries and three broken ribs. With regard to the mental impact on him, he said he cannot get into the shower without crying and he cannot sleep because he can see the two deceased. In his last line he stated "every time we took evasive action they would come back for us, they would have had time to avoid a collision". S49,S50

Bruno explained that on 8th March 2020 he had been in the port of La Atunara with [redacted] and [redacted]. He described that the sea was calm, the weather was good, there was a half moon and one could see clearly. He explained their vessel was dark grey in colour, a RHIB with four motors and a GPS on board which included radar. They had been carrying GPS and a portable satellite also. They went on board and sat in order of [redacted] first, [redacted]'s uncle was second, then [redacted] and [redacted] was at the rear. When they had boarded, they had been told an engine was faulty so they started trying to revive it.

However, they were told by the tobacco boat that the Gibraltar Police boat was coming in their direction. They checked the radar and saw that it was about a mile or half a mile away. Although it was a clear night, they first saw it on the radar and then at about 100 metres. The RHIB did have navigational lights but these were not switched on. They were opposite La Alcaidesa, more or less in the area known as the mussel farm and veered to the right. The RHIB only had some petrol canisters and food on board. They knew it was the Gibraltar police boat because it has a cabin and is about 13 or 14 metres long, this was despite the police boat not displaying navigational or blue lights. He described that they all panicked, because "nobody wants to get caught". When they saw the police boat it veered and placed itself behind them. He said if they had not taken evasive action it would have hit them the first time. They tried to avoid the police boat hitting them but it was much faster than their RHIB. On three occasions they took evasive action but on the fourth occasions it "came right on top of us". He said while this was happening they could do nothing, only say "left, right". The police boat did not have blue lights on during the chase and only said "stop stop", despite the RHIB passengers telling them they didn't have anything. He said he knew from other people that this RHIB had gone on top of others so it was a fight for freedom and their lives (it is believed he refers to the police vessel going on top of others as his original suspect interview he describes it as the police RHIB). He described that this vessel was frightening "because of the saw and the sledge hammer it has". He said they were all telling the pilot to "stop, carry on" and that you would have to be in that situation to understand and they were not throwing anything out to sea.

Bruno explained that at the time of the impact the patrol boat had come in via the two centre motors, he got hit on the head but had been wearing a helmet and he fell on top of [redacted] He said he did not notice the engine losing power but at that moment they were stopped, one of the motors had failed. He said the patrol boat could have avoided this since they were stopped, but they did not. At the time of the collision, the patrol boat was on top of himself and [redacted] it had its motors out of the water and he could hear the propellers. He said the police did not aid them and when the patrol boat had reversed, he and [redacted] got up. As they could not see anyone, they thought [redacted] and [redacted] were in the water, but when he shone his light he saw "[redacted] had his head back, his teeth sticking out and his head was split in two". [redacted] said when the police saw there was one dead, another dying and two alive, they threw over a rope. He said he and [redacted] asked for help but they did nothing and were talking among themselves. He could not understand what they were saying because they were speaking English. He explained that [redacted] the pilot did not have a pulse, but [redacted] was asking for help. [redacted] put his hand behind his head and felt a cavity, in his hand was a gelatinous substance. He tried to make him more comfortable and sat behind him so that he could rest on his chest. He described "the four of them looked in and could see us and then they started towing us".

[redacted] did not speak to the police officers at any time, but [redacted] was shouting, calling them murderers and asking why they would not help. He said they asked them to go aboard their boat, but they said they could not leave the others. [redacted] stayed in the same position until they reached the dividing fence between Gibraltar waters, when the customs vessel arrived [redacted] was not talking, he was unconscious but still breathing. There had been no communication while they were being towed, he cannot remember saying anything that the police are saying he said. [redacted] called the Guardia Civil and rescue boat while they were being towed.

[redacted] stated that it was not until they were past the lighthouse that the patrol boat put its blue lights on and two minutes later the customs vessel arrived. He said he cannot remember well, but they were the only ones who helped them. They took [redacted] and [redacted] on board and also took the injured man because he still had a pulse. He said from the point of impact to the arrival of the customs vessel it was about 30 odd minutes and it took about five or ten minutes to get arrive at the Port. When they got into Port, the police asked them to remove their clothing and gave them blankets. He said this injured male had a pulse when they were in the port, he heard the doctor say this.

[redacted] described the injuries he sustained to his shoulder and his back. He said he has the images of what happened in his head daily and he has to smoke a lot before he can sleep. He confirmed that he did not have any photographs or videos of what took place on his phone. S47,S48

[redacted]'s Mobile Phone Video Footage

[redacted] claimed to have video footage of the chase on his mobile phone that had been in possession of RGP since his arrest. He refused to reveal the PIN to the police prior to his arrival to provide a statement. His phone was unlocked by him during the interview with the MPS officers and the contents examined but no such video was located, only a short video of the aftermath of the collision, showing some of the RHIB deck. He accused the RGP of erasing the chase video but stated that he sent it to someone whilst he was on the RHIB being towed into port and may be able to recover it from them (but had deleted the sent video message). To date, no such video has been provided to the investigation team despite a number of requests.

Previous Convictions of RHIB Crew

It is relevant to mention the previous convictions of the RHIB crew to provide information relating to their activities. The following information was correct in 2020 but it is not possible to get updated information from the Spanish authorities.

[redacted] has two previous convictions in Spain. One is for drug trafficking and one for driving a motor vehicle while disqualified. He was on bail in Spain in September 2020 but Chris Finch was unable to divulge the offence for which he was on bail as he is not dealing with that matter.

[redacted] has three previous convictions in Spain. Two are for driving while disqualified and one was insulting or resisting a representative of a public authority.

[redacted] had previous convictions in Spain for drug trafficking, tobacco smuggling and offences against public health.

Evidence of HM Customs Crew

A customs vessel provided assistance to the Sir John Chapple after the collision. Members of the crew of the vessel HMC Seeker were included in the PIP process and provided statements within that process. They are referred to as Officers 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, having been granted protected identity status during the PIP:

Witness Accounts of HM Customs Officer 4

Officer 4 is an HM Customs officer posted to the Customs Marine Section. He reported for duty at 1930 hours on 8th March 2020 at North Mole Customs Marine Base. At approximately 0420 hours he received a telephone call from RGP launch Bravo 4 reporting a collision with a large RHIB, requesting assistance to pick up three persons to return to shore. He was informed that there was one fatality and their location was "eastern side by the tankers". Officer 4 deployed as coxswain on HMC Seeker with Officers 5, 6, 7 and 8. He recorded that the sea state was flat calm as he headed south at full speed toward Europa Point. As he rounded the point he identified blue lights due east to the point and headed to the location which was about 1 mile off Europa Point. On his approach he noticed that Bravo 4 had a tow line attached to the front of a RHIB and there were three officers on the deck of Bravo 4. He could also see one person at the front of RHIB waving and shouting for help. Officer 4 came alongside the RHIB, and Officers 5, 6 and 8 boarded. He remained on HMC Seeker with Officer 7 and noticed a second person sat on the floor at the front of the RHIB. Officer 4 positioned himself at the portside stern to hold Seeker steady while Officer 6 jumped back on to assist 5, 8 and 7 transfer two people, who looked to be injured and in pain, onto HMC Seeker. Officers 5 and 8 remained on the RHIB and moved to the rear where two casualties were laying on the deck at the rear starboard side, one on top of the other. Officer 4 stated "I could see the casualty underneath had severe head injuries with part of the brain spilling out". He observed Officer 8 test the casualty laying on top for signs of life, who said he thought he could feel a slight pulse but was unsure. Officer 5 also checked, as a second opinion, and came to the same conclusion. A decision was made to transfer the casualty onto Seeker and PC [redacted] was asked to assist. Once he had been placed on board, Officer 4 headed to the RGP Marine Base. Officers 6 and 7 were at the front of Seeker, working with the first two casualties, while Officers 5 and 8 were at the rear tending to the third casualty "who seemed to be unresponsive". On approaching Bravo Base, he was ushered into a berth where ambulance crew took over the casualty at the rear and the two casualties at the front were escorted to a waiting ambulance.[S7,S8]

Witness Account of HM Customs Officer 5

Officer 5 was deployed on HMC Seeker with Officers 4, 6, 7 and 8 at approximately 0425 hours. He explained that as they came around Europa Point he saw the blue light beacons of Bravo 4 approximately 1 mile east of Europa Point. As they approached, he saw PC [redacted] holding a piece of rope attached to a RHIB. Seeker pulled alongside the RHIB and a male he now knows to be 'El [redacted]', and another, were asking for help. Officer 5 boarded the RHIB and asked both males to calm down and sit down. While doing this he noticed PC [redacted] PC [redacted] and officer 3 at the stern of Bravo 4 in shock. El [redacted] told him he had an injury to his side, suspected to be his rib, while the other male seemed to be in shock and was barely talking but in good condition. El N[redacted] also told him that it had been an accident they had just changed crew in Alcaidesa. No one informed him that the engines were failing and consequently the police rammed into them. El [redacted] said that it was not intentional and no one wanted to kill anyone. He asked for help for his uncle who he had been speaking to but went unresponsive about ten minutes prior. He assisted El [redacted] and the other male onto HMC Seeker and made his way to the stern where he found Officer 8 with two unresponsive males on top of each other. He believed the male underneath was dead as he could see part of his brain. He observed Officer 8 check the other male for a pulse, who told him he thought he could feel a pulse but he was not sure and his chest was warm. He asked Officer 5 to double check, "I then did so and confirmed the same and made me and Officer 8 unsure, so we decided to bring him on board HMC Seeker". PC [redacted] was asked to assist and the three of them transferred the unresponsive male onto Seeker and Officer 4 made his way back to RGP marine base. On the journey, he saw Officer 8 carry out CPR on the unresponsive male. After several compressions, Officer 4 saw "fluid coming out of his ears and excessive loss of blood", his body became cold and this made him and Officer 8 believe the male had died due to the severity of the injuries he had sustained. S9,S10

Officer 6 was deployed on HMC Seeker at 0425 hours to assist Bravo 4. When arriving around Europa Point he saw blue lights approximately one mile East off Europa Point. On arrival, he saw Bravo 4 had a rope tied from the bow of a RHIB. HMC Seeker came alongside the RHIB and two individuals were at the bow of the RHIB shouting for help. Officer 6, along with Officers 5 and 8 jumped on board the RHIB and he heard one of the individuals say "I am El [redacted]". He went to the bow toward the two individuals and helped them back onto Seeker where Officer 7 was. He heard Officer 7 tell them to sit at the bow and ask them if they had any injuries. El [redacted] stated that his ribs hurt and the other male stated that his shoulder hurt. El [redacted] then said that his uncle was talking 10 minutes ago prior. Together with Officer 7, Officer 6 was trying to calm him down as he wanted to go and see his uncle. While making their way back to the marine base, El N[redacted] said that he works for someone big in Spain, that the incident happened in Spain and he had recorded everything and sent it to his boss. El [redacted] stated that they had only been on board for 10 minutes and had engine problems. The other crew did not say anything. They arrived at the marine base at approximately 0445 hours. S11,S12

Witness Account of HM Customs Officer 7

Officer 7 deployed on HMC Seeker to assist Bravo 4. He sat on the port side behind Officer 5, who was co-pilot. On arrival, he saw and heard one individual at the bow of the RHIB shouting for help and saw three officers standing at the stern of Bravo 4. He described them as looking shocked. Officer 7 explained they arrived at about 0430 hours, approximately 1 mile east of Europa Point. From where he was on Seeker, he could see the stern of the RHIB, including the four outboard engines with significant damage. Officers 5, 6 and 8 boarded the RHIB and he heard the individual on the bow state that he was[redacted]. Officer 7 assisted with helping two individuals from the RHIB onto Seeker. He instructed them both to sit at the bow and asked if they had any injuries. El [redacted] said that his ribs hurt and the other male said that his shoulder hurt. El [redacted] then asked for them to help his uncle as had been speaking with him 10 minute prior. Officer 7 informed Officers 5 and 8 and overheard Officer 8 say he could feel a light pulse but wasn't sure and that his chest was warm. PC [redacted] assisted with transporting the injured male onto Seeker and they headed back to the marine base. Officer 7 recorded in his statement the same conversation as Officer 6 regarding El [redacted] working for someone big in Spain and that there had been engine problems. While on the way back, the other individual vomited over the side of Seeker and he held onto him to ensure he did not fall overboard. After vomiting, he told Officer 7 that he was fine but his shoulder hurt. S13,S14

Witness Account of HM Customs Officer 8

Officer 8 was deployed on HMC Seeker, having been told "we are attending a collision with Bravo 4". Whilst rounding Europa Point, he could see blue lights approximately one nautical mile east of their position. On approach, he saw a rope tied from the bow of Bravo 4 to the RHIB. At the bow of the RHIB he saw an individual who identified himself as [redacted] and asked for help. Officer 8 observed that he was "demonstrating signs of stress/shock, he spoke incoherently and was very repetitive". Officer 8 boarded the RHIB and went to the stern where he noticed damage to the radar post, the seats, and the four engines. On the starboard near the seats, he saw two individuals, one laying atop the other. He referred to the male on the top as Individual 1 and the one beneath as Individual 2. He described that Individual 2 had significant wounds to the head, "he was notably pale and was lying lifeless on the floor" with what he could make out to be a portion of his brain protruding from the left side of his skull. Officer 8 explained that Individual 1 was on top, but wedged between Individual 2 and the RHIB's collar, he could not see any visible wounds. He described "he too appeared very pale, with his eyes open and was lifeless in motion" and noticed a considerable amount of blood beneath the two individuals. He was asked by Officer 5 to assist with transferring Nordin and the other individual – who told him his shoulder hurt. Having assisted, he went back to check Individual 1 and Officer 7 told him "[redacted] said he was speaking to his uncle 10 minutes ago". He checked for vitals before saying that he thought he could feel a very faint pulse. He asked Officer 5 to check as well, and he confirmed the same. Assisted by Officer 5 and PC [redacted] he carried Individual 1 onto Seeker and they made their way back to the marine base. Officer 8 recorded "I pinched the individuals cheeks and repeatedly asked him 'Me oyes?' 'Can you hear me?' He gave no reaction". He noticed a clear discharge coming from his right ear and on lowering his head, could not feel or hear any breath, nor see any movement on his chest indicative of breathing. His chest still felt warm, so Officer 8 began chest compressions. However, on doing so he noticed a considerable amount of blood spreading beneath him and the lifeless expression on his face. Officer 8 stopped at 25 compressions and did not continue with rescue breaths, he said "it appeared to me that he was dead". S15,S16

Evidence of Medical Personnel

Fabian Ferro

Fabian is a paramedic with Gibraltar Ambulance Service who attended. He was informed three patients were on board HMC Seeker, one of which needed immediate attention – he was described as having "a shoulder injury with bones sticking out". He was tasked with dealing with the unresponsive patient on the vessel. Fabian conducted an initial assessment of the patient, noting that he was a middle aged male with a laceration on the back of his head and a shoulder injury. He said the shoulder appeared to be deformed but he could not judge the extent of the injury due to clothing. Assisted by Stuart Ryan and a HMC officer they lifted the male onto the pier to give them more space and a stable area to work. CPR was started and Fabian administered one dose of adrenaline to his left knee. Paul Watson and Leslie Bruzon joined them and assisted with compressions. He explained the patient remained unresponsive and a joint decision was made to stop CPR once the extent of his injuries became apparent: "I can only describe what I saw on his back as a mess of muscle and bone. The extent of the injury was not compatible with life and so all attempts to resuscitate were stopped". S26,S82

John Paul Llanelo

John Paul is an EMT. He attended the marine base and on arrival he saw paramedics on the pier gathered around what he assumed was a body. He dealt with two males in the office. He approached the males and asked if they had any injuries, [redacted] told him he had a pain to his left shoulder, and [redacted] complained of pain to his ribs, shoulder and right knee. Bruno walked to John Paul's ambulance and [redacted] was transferred in a chair, both their vital signs were in normal range. He remained in the rear of the ambulance with a police officer while Wilson and a plain clothes officer drove to the hospital. While in the ambulance, [redacted] asked several times about the welfare of his uncle. S34

Leslie Bruzon

Leslie is an EMT and attended the marine base. On arrival, they found two casualties being attended by Tanya Noguera. They were then informed there was a third casualty on one of the pontoons. She made her way down and Fabien requested her assistance with the oxygen cylinder. At this point, Paul had started chest compressions and Leslie took over but the patient still was not responsive. At one point, Sigurd Haveland arrived and took over the airway of the patient, but after a while it was decided to convey him to hospital. He was then placed on a scoop, with chest compressions continuing but when the extent of the injuries was re-examined after his clothing was cut, it was determined that they were not compatible with life. CPR was therefore stopped and all three paramedics agreed that advanced life support should not continue. She was aware that a fourth person had been lifeless on arrival. S32

Paul Watson

Paul is a paramedic who attended the marine base. On arrival he saw numerous police officers and Fabien run towards the pontoon. He then met with Tanya who had two patients full conscious and talking, he was informed there had been a collision at sea with possible fatalities. Stuart then requested his assistance at the pontoon, and at that point he saw Fabien run down to the pontoon with an airway bag. When he arrived, he saw a male laying on his back, this male being [redacted]. He confirmed [redacted] wasn't breathing and was told by Stuart that he had been talking on the boat, "therefore this meant he has recently gone into cardiac arrest". They decided to commence CPR and Mustafa's trousers were cut so that Fabien could administer adrenaline. A defibrillator was attached to his chest "and he was in a rhythm we call ASYSTOLE which means there is no electricity in the heart with a poor prognosis". At this point, Sigurd arrived and attended to the airway, which is when they started advanced life procedures – this entailed an insert through the airway and the drug administration. Paul checked Mustafa's head for injuries but the skull felt intact. Sigurd then prompted him to look at the left upper arm and mentioned the possibility of a tourniquet. Paul took some scissors and began to cut the clothing away where he noticed "extensive trauma (muscular skeletal trauma)", although the arm was still attached it was near to amputation. On exposing more clothing he noticed a large laceration to his neck which extended down his back. At this point he rolled Mustafa over as part of a secondary survey and noticed the extensive trauma on his back "which was basically incompatible with life". All paramedics made the decision to stop CPR and Fabien verified death. Following this, Paul and Fabien waited to the RHIB to be brought in and they confirmed life extinct.[S29]

Sigurd Haveland

Sigurd is a Chief Ambulance Officer. When he attended the marine base two paramedics and two technicians had started CPR on [redacted]. He immediately took over the airway and on the secondary survey while cutting the clothing, he noticed "a mangled upper left arm". On seeing this he requested a tourniquet, while waiting for it they continued to cut the wet suit and Paul noticed "the extent of the trauma suffered and decided to terminate the CPR". He explained this was a collective decision between himself, Fabian and Paul due to the extent of injuries and time suffered since the accident were incompatible with life. [S30,S31]

Stuart Ryan

Stuart received the initial phone call from the fire brigade control room informing him there had been an incident at sea and someone had been injured in the right arm. He decided to despatch to the incident with Tanya Noguera. When they arrived there was no one else there. Between 0400 and 0430 hours, he received a further call from the fire brigade informing him there was one deceased and the customs vessel was picking up a casualty that had significant trauma in his shoulder. The customs vessel arrived between 0430 and 0500 hours and Stuart "received a report from one of the officers on board the vessel, to the effect that there were two walking talking casualties at the front of the vessel and one moribund looking person at the back of the vessel". He was also informed there was a fourth deceased body being brought in by the police vessel. Further units were requested and he and Fabian attended to the patient in the customs vessel. The two walking patients were taken to ambulances. Paul and Sigurd also attended to assist with the moribund casualty and they moved him to the wooden pontoon. It became apparent that his injuries were not compatible with life and he was therefore ROLED (Recognition of Life Extinct).[S27]

Tanya Noguera

Tanya was on duty with Stuart when he took a call and informed her they were to go to the police marine section as they were bringing someone in with injuries. They were given very little information and initially told it was only one person injured. On arrival of the Police and Customs, they walked down to the pontoon and saw what appeared to be a deceased body at the front of the vessel and two other males laying down at the rear. She could see they were in pain from the expressions on their faces. She went to these two males and asked what kind of pain they were in, one said he had pain to his shoulder and the other had pain in his ribs. She walked back toward her ambulance with the two males and requested they remove some of their clothing so that she could assess their injuries. Their blood pressure, pulse and oxygen saturation were within clinical parameters. She felt a slight indentation on one of the males ribs, possibly cracked, but he was breathing and talking fine. She then assisted with taking equipment down to the pontoon for her colleagues who were attending to the other male. At one point she was asked to help with suction, which she carried out before returning to the two males. Wilson and John Paul then arrived and took the two males to hospital, Tanya then went back down to the pontoon, "at this point the severity of the injuries to the male was greater them the possibility of resuscitating him and there was nothing else we could do for him". She noted that she observed "all his arm, shoulder and back was completely mangled".[S28]

Wilson Oliveira

Wilson is an Ambulance Care Assistant. He was posted with John Paul and received a call from Stuart Ryan to attend the police marine base. On arrival he saw some of his colleagues gathered around what he assumed to be two bodies. Stuart signalled for them to go back toward the main building where they found a police officer guarding two males inside an ambulance. One of them identified himself as [redacted] who was complaining of an injury to his left shoulder. The other male identified himself as [redacted] and complained of pain to his ribs, shoulder and right knee. They were placed in Wilson's ambulance and he drove them to the hospital. While driving, he overhead [redacted] asking several times about the welfare of his uncle, he assumed the uncle was one of the males he had seen his colleagues gathered around, but as he did not know his condition, he did not comment.[S33]

Other Witness Evidence

A number of other statements were taken from a variety of people but not all are relevant to misconduct proceedings. Of note are the following:

Sergeant Stewart Stone

Stewart was on duty as the Crown Sergeant on night duty on 7th March 2020. He was aware that the MPU had been notified by the Spanish Guardia Civil that there was a smuggling RHIB heading towards BGTW. At approximately 0400 on 8th March 2020 he spoke with PC [redacted] who sounded distraught and shocked as they had been involved in a collision. There was one fatality and one seriously injured and PC [redacted] asked about the federation. PS Stone told him to forget about the Federation and make his way in. PS Stone informed a number of other police personnel and made contact again with PC [redacted] He asked who was giving medical assistance to the injured party and was informed that he would not leave someone on board as there were two other RHIB crew members who could turn on the officer. PC [redacted] also stated that he could not perform CPR on a boat. PC [redacted] then requested HM Customs to assist in getting the casualty back to shore faster than he could.[S18]

Damian Chipolina

Damian supplies ships at anchor at sea with resources such as food and water. At about 0330 hours on 8th March 2020, he was waiting in a vessel off the east coast of Gibraltar. His colleague, Jose Ruiz (RUZ), pointed out a blue light about two miles away in the sea. He believed it to be a police boat. It did not appear to be moving to him. A few minutes later, they were called to their tanker and did not see the blue light again.[S25]

Jose Ruz

Jose was with Damian and stated that he saw lights between 0430 and 0500 on 8th March. At first he thought there was a chase because the lights were moving but then they were still for about 10 minutes. He estimated the distance as 3-4 miles from his location. He then went to the tanker to perform his role.[S24]

Ian Phillips

Ian Phillips was a serving RGP officer (PC) for ten years. He retired in 2018 having spent the last six years of his career as a qualified Coxswain on the Marine Unit. He explained that in his personal experience, there was no reason to switch off a safety system – the AIS, chart plotter or radar, describing them as "vital pieces of safety equipment". At the start of his duties he would always check the equipment to ensure it was in full working order as this was paramount to the safety of the crew. He described how he had read the instruction manual for the equipment and as a result, learned how to manipulate the chart plotter screen and change the colour palettes for day/night use, there is also a dimmer to control the brightness. Ian explained that the instruction manual was long winded and he did not expect that many officers would have read it. They generally would learn from each other, observing and taking guidance from what they had seen. He did state that Bravo 4 could get a 'light wash' reflecting on the glass and that to officers of a certain height, this could be debilitating to their vision. He knew that some officers would cover the console and other light sources with a piece of fabric to prevent the glare. The systems however, would not be switched off they were simply covered and he again reiterated that he did not see any reason why a chart plotter and radar would be switched off.

Ian explained that he did not receive any training in relation to pursuits while serving with the RGP; they generally learned by watching other senior coxswains. He described that no two pursuits are the same and a number of variables can affect this. However, as a general rule a pursuit would take place at approximately 50+ knots, if the vessel you are pursuing is swerving in front of you, you would keep a greater distance between yourself and that vessel. Training after qualifying as coxswain was minimal and still did not cover pursuits. Ian explained that he has a keen enthusiasm for the water and as a result he would assist for training colleagues with less experience. This was completed between themselves, one of the officers he trained being PC [redacted] though the training was not official. He personally would not consider attempting to damage the engines of a vessel he was pursuing as this is incredibly dangerous. He is aware of a log defender being fitted to Bravo 4, but this was after he had retired. He has not heard anyone refer to using this as a 'weapon'.

During the earlier years of his service, Ian experienced a very good working relationship with his Spanish counterparts and it was common practice that a pursuit would often leave BGTW and enter Spanish waters. Communication was established early during the pursuits and the Guardia Civil would provide radar and IR camera data for them to use. Often they would join each other's pursuits which were described as a "joint operation". However, this changed following an incident involving the Guardia Civil and a HM Customs vessel in Spanish waters. He cannot remember exactly when this was but believes it to have been around 2017. At this point, they were told they were not to leave BGTW except for exceptional circumstances, which had to be authorised.[S91]

Herbert Warwick

Herbert Warwick is a retired RGP officer. He has been a trained Coxswain since 1994. He explained that previously there had been a good relationship with their Spanish counterparts and they would often travel into Spanish waters during a pursuit. He is aware of the instructions that they are now not permitted to leave BGTW, however there have been occasions where senior officers have been on board vessels and authorised a pursuit to continue in Spanish waters. He explained that the AIS was introduced about 5-6 years ago, the AIS sends out a signal so that other vessels know they are there. He is aware of the instructions that it must always be switched on, however it would not be possible to get results if the vessels could see them coming. There are therefore occasions where it has been considered appropriate to switch the AIS off so that the police vehicle could not be spotted. He said there is a switch on Bravo 4 for the AIS. Herbert finds Bravo 4 to be his least favourite vessel of the RGP fleet because he feels the visibility is poor. He does not cover the radar console but he does not pay attention to it whilst engaged in a pursuit. He finds all lights to be derogatory to his vision and will not allow a search light to be used while he is in pursuit. He prefers as few lights as possible.[S92]

Lief Simpson

PC Leif Simpson provided a statement on 4th June 2021 in order to give some insight into the workings of the Marine Unit relevant to this investigation. The officer explained that a police boat should be crewed by three competent and qualified police officers. On the 8th March 2020, this was not the case as PC Bartram was on board as the 3rd person and he had no training or operational experience at sea. This hindered the operational ability of the crew and the vessel. PC Simpson explained that his understanding of the AIS is that it is a feature that is permanently on and cannot be turned off. The officer did not use the chart plotter except for routine patrols. It was difficult to use and his preference was to use the radar for position fixing.[S93]

Training Records

PC [redacted] It is evident from the training record of PC [redacted] that he has been fully trained to perform the role of Coxswain, this being achieved on [redacted], some three years before this incident took place. He was issued with a certificate of competency on [redacted]th [redacted] – 'Government of Gibraltar Competency Certificate' which specified he was competent in the capacity of a Boatmaster, with limitations "For Royal Gibraltar Police

This specified he was competent in the capacity of a Boatmaster, with limitations "For Royal Gibraltar Police operated launches in Gibraltar Territorial Waters Only. The expiry date of [redacted] would suggest he obtained this in [redacted] – this predication has been made on the basis that PC [redacted] certificate of competency had a five year expiry date. Evidence of Marine Policing Unit Instructors

Statements were taken from all five Marine Section instructors to obtain an understanding of what training is provided to RGP officers with regards to pursuing vessels at sea.

PC Robert McKnight stated that RGP do not have a tactic for stopping a vessel at sea other than presence and persuasion. As a result, there is no module or content in the training course for "pursuit training." Instead, he teaches safe manoeuvring of vessels at speed and in proximity to other vessels; maintaining safe distances; and never placing their vessels directly behind suspect vessels. [redacted] He stated that they do teach "pacing" which involves safe handling to transfer personnel or equipment between vessels. This is not performed at high speeds and he instructs trainees not to come alongside suspect RHIBs. Instead, they should maintain a safe distance depending on the circumstances.[S53]

PC Glen Ballantine also stated that "pacing" was used to transfer staff between craft and is not intended for pursuits of vessels. He stated that safety at sea was of paramount importance.[S54]

PC Keith Bonfiglio corroborates the evidence regarding training and [redacted]. He stated that police vessels should follow suspects at an angle to shadow them.[S55]

PC Lee Pozo confirmed that there is little or no training for pursuits at sea due to the hazardous conditions and narrow margin of error. He stated that "pacing" is not relevant to pursuits.[S56]

PC Herbert Warwick corroborates the evidence regarding training. He stated that the primary focus is safety.[S57]

Metropolitan Police Service Marine Policing Unit Report

The Metropolitan Police MPU (Marine Policing Unit) was asked to review the SOLIS report and statements provided by PC [redacted] PC [redacted] and Officer Three and comment on the provision of ELS (Emergency Life Support) by the officers post collision. PC Steve Morgan from the MPU provided an observation report on 13th May 2021 and this document is exhibited as SM/1.[S90]

In summary, PC Morgan explained that there was a balance of risk between rendering first aid to potentially armed, hostile evasive suspects and the immediate danger of two vessels sinking at sea, thus placing seven people's lives at risk with an outcome of drowning. All three officers were capable of rendering first aid, given their training; however individual safety and the dynamic risk based on previous knowledge and experience of dangerous offenders had overriding factors. The water depth was around 500 metres and this increased the threat of sinking and/or drowning. First aid training encourages the first aider to consider the dangers to themselves as a priority before moving onto any phase of life saving. PC Morgan commented that in this incident the dangers were apparent and may have influenced the next stage of the process. A call for help would have incurred a time delay for a rescue boat to deploy and intercept the vessels. As such any attempt to return to port and/or shallower waters would have been a priority for the officers. Requesting assistance would also be a priority due to the unknown damage to the vessels. The collision occurred approximately 6.5 nautical miles from land. PC Morgan explained that at a speed of 10 knots it would take a boat approximately 40 minutes to reach shore. The officer stated that it would take 10 minutes for a boat travelling from land at 40 knots to reach the scene. PC Morgan commented that in a diminished state of mind, protocols are missed or forgotten and this can occur due to tunnel vision, fight or flight, diminished response etc. A priority to return to land would be overwhelming, and irrational thoughts in a stressed 'untrained' scenario may be difficult to judge / comprehend. In concluding, PC Morgan stated that with so many varying safety factors, and a situation that almost never happens in a police marine environment, the officers concerned are the only ones to fully understand their own rationale and decision making on the night.

Post Mortems

Completed by Dr David Rouse on 11th March 2020.

Dr Rouse noted significant head injuries as well as injuries to other parts of the body. Dr Rouse is of the opinion that the death was the result of extensive head injuries (as well as shoulder) consistent with forceful impact. The injuries were not survivable. He awaited the results of toxicology before finalising the report. On 6th May 2020, he produced a report confirming the cause of death as above.[S51]

Completed by Dr David Rouse on 11th and 12th March 2020.

Dr Rouse noted external injuries to the head, torso and limbs. There were significant rib fractures and a partially collapsed lung. Cause of death was forceful impact to the back. He stated that the injuries were not survivable and that any delays in resuscitation were unlikely to have affected the outcome. He awaited the results of toxicology before finalising the report. On 6th May 2020, he produced a report confirming the cause of death as above.[S52]

It was later alleged that the identification of the bodies had been mixed up. The lawyer representing the families stated that the injuries are correct but the names were the wrong way round on the reports. This is disputed by RGP who compared photo identification (and possession of ID documentation) with the deceased. This does not have any bearing on the conduct of the officers, however.

Windmill Hill Signal Station

Daniel Ferro works for the Gibraltar Defence Police as a communications assistant at WHSS. He operates cameras that are focussed on BGTW. At approximately 0200 hours on 8th March 2020, he observed a suspect vessel 3-4 miles outside BGTW. He contacted PC [redacted] via mobile phone and informed him of his observations. At approximately 0250 hours, the vessel made its way towards Spanish land. PC [redacted] called to say he was in touch with the Guardia Civil who confirmed it was a suspect RHIB and that he was heading to grid reference A8 as stated on the grip map of BGTW. He saw a smaller vessel meet with the RHIB. At approximately 0330 hours, the smaller vessel went towards the land and the RHIB headed out to sea. Approximately two minutes later, the RGP vessel activated its blue lights and the chase ensued. He saw the RHIB performing erratic manoeuvres at high speed. The chase lasted approximately 10 minutes and he could not see why it stopped. He saw the RGP vessel circle the RHIB after it had stopped and was then contacted by PC [redacted] who informed him that there had been a collision with one and possibly, two fatalities. PC [redacted] confirmed that he had requested assistance. He confirmed that WHSS had not traced the RGP vessel's radar/AIS.[S58,S59,S60]

Expert Evidence of Maritime Collision Investigator Richard Meikle

Richard Meikle, the author of the report, is a Master Mariner and partner of Solis Marine Consultants. Having been instructed by RGP to investigate the collision between the Sir John Chapple and the RHIB, the report provides his opinions on: the events leading to the collision; territorial waters where the incident occurred; the role of RGP officers in the collision and other factors that may have contributed to the cause of the collision, including tactics used by drug smugglers to evade law enforcement.

It is not the intention of this summary to repeat evidence, which is provided with the case submission.

At paragraph 3.18.1, Richard stated: "Due to the lack of digital data, witness accounts of video recordings it has not been possible to say with certainty how the two vessels collided and provide an insight into the events during the collision which led to the fatal injuries of two of the crew of the 'SUSPECT RHIB'."

What he was able to do however, was review all material and reach a number of conclusions with regard to the events leading up to the collision and what impact these had to the causation of the collision.

Primarily, Richard was required to rely on statements of officers and the survivors of the RHIB, physical examination of both vessels, [redacted] CCTV and southern CCTV from WHSS. In doing so, he identified a number of failings with regard to the actions of RGP officers PC [redacted] and PC [redacted][S86]

Territorial Waters:

It is evident that this collision took place in Spanish waters. On 17th February 2016, RGP Marine Sections' Inspector Buhagiar sent an email to the Marine Section stating: "I would like to remind ALL of the current and existing instructions that under no circumstances are you allowed to police/patrol outside the limits of BGTW". This email is a clear instruction that RGP officers should not enter Spanish waters during their duties, with the exception of engaging in Search and Rescue operations or a vessel/person in distress – but in any case, authority would need to be sought before deploying to such an incident.

The report stated that it would have been clear to the officers on board SJC, even when navigating by eye, that they were well outside of BGTW. While the limits of BGTW were not visible on the chart plotter, the northern limit of BGTW is generally indicated by reference to the lights of Gibraltar airport. As SJC was significantly north of the airport and off the Spanish port, it would have been clear to the officers that they were well to the north of BGTW.

Position Data:

All navigation systems on the SJC were checked, however no relevant data was available due to the AIS and GPS systems being turned off until approximately one hour after the collision. This was contrary to clear instructions that AIS should be switched on at all times (paragraph 2.10.2 of his report).
The RHIB was fitted with a Garmin NAVnet 3D radar/chart plotter, which saved only its position data.

Infrared CCTV and Rapid Replay:

The review of infrared CCTV has assisted greatly (due to the lack of positional data from the SJC) with the time of interception, collision and return to BGTW. The infrared CCTV, at Figure 17 in the report, shows the time of interception as 16 minutes 59 seconds into the recording. This was 2 minutes 59 seconds after the departure of the RHIB from Puerto de La Atunara at 03:26:16. Hours. Therefore, the time of interception was approximately 03:29:15 hours.

A "Rapid Replay" reconstruction was produced using GPS data recovered from the RHIB radar/chart plotter and in conjunction with the CCTV, provided an overview of the pursuit.

The Rapid Replay demonstrated that the RHIB used tactics to evade officers with three sharp turns to the starboard, which caused sea water to spray toward the SJC and reduce visibility, forcing it to slow down. In addition to these tactics, objects were also thrown at the SJC and the RHIB was alleged to have been operating with the outboard engines 'trim up' which would also produce a wash spray that might disorientate a pursuing vehicle by reducing its visibility.

The collision was recorded by the southern CCTV operated by WHSS, the point of collision being at approximately 03:38:56 hours. Figure 19 at Paragraph 3.2.1 of the report illustrates the location with latitude and longitude markers, which correspond to Spanish waters. The Rapid Replay shows that this immediately followed a very sharp turn to port by the RHIB. PC [redacted] on seeing this, stated he placed the propulsion into neutral and attempted to turn starboard to avoid the RHIB by slowing down and turning away, but PC [redacted] explained the spray from this manoeuvre caused spray on the windows which removed all visibility and then there was impact.

Following the impact, the SJC heeled heavily to the starboard and a significant ingress of sea water through the open windows on the starboard side before it righted itself.

During the collision, the RHIB radar was heavily damaged and displayed a 'loss of radar' signal as an alarm. The alarm recorded the time as 03:39 on 8th March 2020 and its position, this being the time and position of collision. This is consistent with the southern CCTV from WHSS.

The positional data indicates that at approximately 04:14 hours, the SJC crossed into BGTW and at 04:31 hours it stopped approximately one nautical mile northeast of Europa Point, where it was met by HMC Seeker. This can be seen at Figure 7, Paragraph 1.9.28 in the report.

RHIB Engine Failure:

At Paragraph 3.9.5 the report refers to statements of RGP and Customs officers who stated the crew of the RHIB reported engine failure prior to the collision. The report explains that an engine failure would have caused the RHIB to reduce speed "suddenly and unexpectedly and would have prevented the coxswain of 'SUSPECT RHIB' from taking action to avoid the collision with 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE'."

However, analysis of the engine data does not support the suggestion that the RHIB engines failed prior to the collision. Further analysis of the data from the RHIB Yamaha engines was requested of the manufacturer's technicians to assist with identifying the status of the engines at the time of the collision as this could add to the understanding of what caused the collision. The data recovered from the Yamaha engines, and analysed by Yamaha UK, stated that there was no engine failure in the minutes before the collision, with all engines operating at maximum power for a period during that time.

Failures:

It was noted at paragraph 3.10.1 of the report that PC [redacted] turned on the radar but not the chart plotter or the GPS that supplied the radar unit with position data. He stated he did not do this due to the impact it had on his night vision. However, the report stated: "the dimming facility on the chart plotter was tested and found to dim the display as would be expected for use in night-time navigation and would, if set correctly, have not interfered with the coxswain's night vision". As previously stated, a clear instruction that the vessel's AIS system should always be turned on was not complied with by PC [redacted] nor PC [redacted] This clear breach of instructions and, in essence, blind navigation via sight only, demonstrated a poor standard of navigation being practised.

Instructions sent out to the RGP Marine Unit in 2016 state: "they will pursue suspect vessels in a determined though safe manner within our territorial waters and liaise with our Spanish counterparts". They also stated that the safety of the crew was priority (Paragraph 3.12.2). However, the crew of SJC placed themselves so close to the RHIB, which was carrying out dangerous manoeuvres, that they placed themselves and the crew of the RHIB in "considerable danger". Additional evidence that they could be considered too close to the RHIB comes from the fact that the RHIB crew were able to throw items at the SJC, which were connecting with it, requiring officers to close the windows on their vessel. The evasive manoeuvres used by the RHIB also sprayed seawater onto the SJC, which reduced the visibility and caused it to slow down – had the SJC not been too close to the RHIB, this would not have made contact with the windows and reduced visibility.

As previously mentioned, the officers would have known they were no longer in BGTW when the RHIB was intercepted.

Pursuit Training:

Despite PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] being qualified marine crew with training in professional skills and for pacing at speed, neither had been given training in carrying out pursuits of suspect vessels who would be taking evasive action to avoid apprehension. While numerous pursuits have been carried out (59 were recorded between 1st April 2017 and 1st June 2020, 2 of which had continued outside BGTW) coxswains' experience in pursuits comes as a result of observing more experienced coxswains as they trained.

The contact, chase and collision are known to have been carried out in Spanish waters. A review of AIS date covering a period of months provided insight into the RGP Marine Vessels movements and frequency with which they operate outside of BGTW. This can be seen at Figure 44 – Paragraph 3.17.1.

The range of the Radar was set at 0.75NM according to PC [redacted] The report explained that this was too short for assessing whether a risk of collision existed. The Officers were therefore solely reliant on visual navigation. The report did note that "there were apparently no guidance/instruction/orders as to what navigation equipment was to be used when on patrol, either in daylight or at night".

Conclusions:

The failures documented by Richard Meikle's report could be considered to contribute to a breach of a duty of care, not only to the crew of the SJC themselves, but the crew of the RHIB. The failure to follow instructions and activate the AIS and use all available navigation equipment contributed to the poor navigation. The use of the available equipment could have assisted with a safer pursuit and more transparency regarding the actions and movement of the SJC and its crew. The training and instructions also dictated that safety of the crew was a priority. By continuing to pursue at very close range, with limited visibility, demonstrated a failure to comply with these instructions. The failure to administer any first aid to [redacted], or broadcast a Mayday call to vessels in the area, who was believed to be seriously injured following the collision and subsequently died from his injuries could also be considered to contribute to a breach of their officers' duty of care. However, this should be considered in conjunction with the pathologist's report, which stated [redacted]'s injuries were not survivable and "any delays in resuscitation are unlikely to have affected the outcome."

It is clear that while there is no independent evidence to suggest that PC [redacted] intended to collide with the RHIB and that the collision was an accident, the SJC was positioned too close to the RHIB, with reduced visibility by the spray, to take effective evasive action to avoid the collision.

Previous Pursuits

A review was conducted on the number of chases at sea, which took place involving RGP marine vessels between 1st April 2017 and 1st April 2020. This identified 192 OB entries. Of these, 59 entries involved a chase at sea.

With regard to BGTW, 57 of the chases were terminated due to arriving at the limit of territorial waters. PC [redacted] was known to be involved in 18 of the chases, though it should be noted that these are only reports that were made by him, or in which he was mentioned. It is possible that colleagues have recorded chases he was involved in but not named. Based on these records it can be asserted that PC [redacted] was aware of his obligation to remain inside BGTW as many of the chases he was involved in were terminated prior to leaving territorial waters.

A review was conducted of the same data for PC [redacted] The only report in which his name featured was the one for this incident.

RGP Instructions and Orders

The Marine Section Standard Operating Procedures state that marine crews will conduct systematic periodic patrols of Gibraltar's coastline and territorial waters throughout their tour of duty. They will pursue suspect vessels in a determined though safe manner within their territorial waters and liaise with their Spanish counterparts. They go on to say that they will only operate outside BGTW when they are called upon to attend to a lifesaving situation.

On 17th February 2016, Inspector Albert Buhagia sent an e-mail to the RGP Marine Section to remind all staff that under no circumstances should the Marine Unit patrol outside the limits of BGTW. The only exception would be for search and rescue and only then if prior authority was granted. The e-mail then went on to state that AIS should be switched on at all times.

On 8th July 2016 a set of Marine Section Instructions were created that explicitly prohibit RGP vessels leaving BGTW and entering Spanish waters unless at the invitation of the Spanish for the sole purpose of search and rescue. The investigation team secured an e-mail chain showing that on 16th September 2016 these instructions were sent to the Marine Section by PS Stuart Stone.

Evidence from the RGP technical team (Nicola Asquez) shows that both PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] were part of the e-mail group who received these instructions.[S88]

On 19th April 2017, there is a record of a Daily Taskings Group Meeting, which states “Marine section – only use vessels with AIS”

Outstanding Evidence

There is evidence in the possession of the Spanish authorities that has yet to be seen by the investigative team. This evidence is likely to include the following:

- Video footage of the pursuit from Spanish coastal cameras
- Audio recordings of transmissions – unknown what actually exists
- Evidence from Guardia Civil personnel
- Incident logs
- Record of emergency call [redacted] claims to have made to the Guardia Civil whilst in the RHIB post-collision.

A European Investigative Order (EIO) was submitted from Gibraltar to Spain in 2020 but at this time, there has been no response from the Spanish authorities, although it is known to have been received. Material provided in response to an EIO can only be used for the purpose(s) stipulated on the EIO, in this case for the criminal investigation into suspected manslaughter offences. Since that investigation has concluded, the EIO is effectively invalidated and is likely to be withdrawn. At the time of writing this consideration rests with the Gibraltar DPP's office.

As previously stated, [redacted] claimed to have recorded some of the pursuit on his mobile phone. Mr Finch (legal advisor to [redacted]) agreed to supply it to the MPS investigators once [redacted] had obtained it from the friend he said he sent it to. This was followed up several times with Mr Finch, most recently April, May and June 2021 and to date, it has still not been provided.

International Rules for Prevention of Collisions at Sea

International Rules for Prevention of Collision at Sea (IRPCS, ColRegs or Rules of the Road) apply in these circumstances. These rules are included in the training received by PC's [redacted] and [redacted] The rules relevant to this investigation are:

Rule 2 - Responsibility

Nothing in these Rules shall exonerate any vessel, or the owner, master or crew thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to comply with these Rules or of the neglect of any precaution, which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Rule 5 - Look-out

Every vessel shall at all times maintain a proper look-out by sight and hearing as well as by all available means appropriate in the prevailing circumstances and conditions so as to make a full appraisal of the situation and of the risk of collision.

Rule 6 - Safe Speed

Every vessel shall at all times proceed at a safe speed so that she can take proper and effective action to avoid collision and be stopped within a distance appropriate to the prevailing circumstances and conditions. In determining a safe speed the following factors shall be among those taken into account:

(iii) the manoeuvrability of the vessel with special reference to stopping distance and turning ability in the prevailing conditions;

Rule 7 - Risk of Collision

Every vessel shall use all available means appropriate to the prevailing circumstances and conditions to determine if risk of collision exists. If there is any doubt such risk shall be deemed to exist.

Rule 8 - Action to Avoid Collision

Any action taken to avoid collision shall be taken in accordance with the Rules of this Part and shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, be positive, made in ample time and with due regard to the observance of good seamanship.

Rule 15 - Crossing Situation

When two power-driven vessels are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard (right) side shall keep out of the way and shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, avoid crossing ahead of the other vessel.

Rule 16 - Action by Give-way Vessel

Every vessel which is directed to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, so far as possible, take early and substantial action to keep well clear.

Rule 17 - Action by Stand-on Vessel

(a) (i) Where one of two vessels is to keep out of the way the other shall keep her course and speed.

Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991 came into force on 19th February 1990 and apply to all members of the police force with the exception of the Commissioner. PCs [redacted] and [redacted] are therefore subject to these Regulations.

There is no mention in the Regulations of where offences against the discipline code could be committed. Crown Counsel's advice was taken on this point and it is submitted that there are no physical (geographical) boundaries to the regulations; officers are subject to the Regulations regardless of where they are physically located. Equally they apply both on and off duty. Therefore, the Regulations applied to PCs [redacted] and [redacted] (and Officer 3) whilst in both Gibraltarian and Spanish territories/waters.

Conclusions

The case for each officer will be considered separately but before that, it is prudent to establish other facts that are pertinent to the overall picture.

There is evidence that suggests the crew of the RHIB were involved in some form of illegal smuggling. This evidence comes from a number of different sources:

- Their vessel is illegal in Spain and Gibraltar as such vessels are purpose built for the operation of smuggling contraband (usually cannabis from Morocco) into Europe.
- The RHIB was not registered.
- [redacted] has a previous conviction for drug trafficking.
- [redacted] has a previous conviction for drug trafficking.
- There was a crew change in the early hours of the morning which indicates a clandestine operation.
- The crew were intending to be at sea for a number of days in a holding pattern. This is not the behaviour of innocent people enjoying a boat trip.
- Crew members were in possession of balaclavas.
- The RHIB actively tried to evade police officers.
- The RHIB was adapted to avoid being sighted by covering up reflective surfaces (e.g. instrument consoles) with tape.
- The two throttle levers were taped together to allow all four engines to be operated simultaneously, suggesting an intent to ensure maximum thrust and speed, for the purposes of rapid trafficking and evasion.
- Evidence of [redacted] in his witness interview that there were spotters watching the law enforcement vessels of both Gibraltar and Spain and reporting their positions to the RHIB.

The sea is a hostile operating environment.

While there are no formal arrangements between the Governments of Spain and Gibraltar, it is clear that the Law Enforcement Agencies (LEAs) in the area have a degree of professional co-operation, primarily regarding tackling Organised Criminal Networks (OCNs). This is evidenced by the fact that the Guardia Civil communicate directly with the RGP Marine Section, and vice versa.

The start of the pursuit and the collision occurred in Spanish territorial waters. However, the deployment of the police vessel following the notification of the RHIB and failure to follow orders and instructions commenced in Gibraltar.

RGP instructions regarding BGTW are very clear – RGP vessels must only enter Spanish territorial waters at the invitation of the Spanish authorities and only for the intention of search and rescue.

RGP instructions regarding the navigational equipment are clear – RGP must operate radar and AIS at all times when at sea.

The cause of death of both [redacted] and [redacted] were multiple injuries consistent with being struck by the Sir John Chapple.

The Marine Section do not provide training specific on pursuits at sea.

It has not been possible to determine unequivocally whether the blue lights on the SJC were illuminated during the pursuit. In [redacted]'s original suspect interview conducted shortly after the event, he said that the police vessel had its blue lights on during the pursuit for a short time, 5 or 10 seconds (which is one of the reasons he knew it was the police). However, in his and Bruno's later witness accounts they said the blue lights were not on. The RGP crew state that the blue lights were illuminated. There is supporting evidence of the use of the blue lights from two independent witnesses but the point in the event that they were activated cannot be determined from that evidence.

No Mayday call was transmitted by the crew of the SJC after the collision.

No first aid was provided by the RGP crew. Some limited explanation of this was provided in the initial witness statements of PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] [S2,S4]

PC [redacted]

PC [redacted] is a fully qualified RGP mariner. He was the coxswain of the Sir John Chapple on the night of the collision and therefore in charge of the vessel at the time of the collision. There is evidence that he disobeyed orders to ensure the correct navigation equipment was in use when deployed and left BGTW for an unauthorised purpose and without authority. He was directly responsible for navigating the RGP vessel during the pursuit at night with nothing but a spotlight and the coastal lights/the Rock to aid his navigation.

Having reviewed the apparent decision to disobey orders and instructions it is clear that there is evidence to show that his actions were negligent. One must also consider the pursuit and the manner in which was conducted. Evidence from various sources show that the manoeuvres of the RHIB were dangerous. PC [redacted] himself provided evidence to demonstrate how he altered the speed and direction of his vessel to try to avoid a collision and that objects thrown from the RHIB hit the police vessel and the sea water spray obscured his vision. In spite of the obvious dangers present, PC [redacted] continued to pursue the RHIB, following which there was a collision between the vessels and two men lost their lives. It is submitted that his actions are likely to have brought discredit on the reputation of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

Recommended Misconduct Charges – PC [redacted]

It is recommended that PC [redacted] is charged with the following misconduct offences:

1) Disobedience to orders (s3 Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991)
On 8th March 2020 PC [redacted] disobeyed a standing order not to leave British Gibraltar Territorial Waters without authority.

2) Disobedience to orders (s3 Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991)
On 8th March 2020 PC [redacted] failed to use the Automated Identification System (AIS) on his vessel (SJC) contrary to orders and instructions.

3) Neglect of duty (s4a Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991)
On 8th March 2020 PC [redacted] neglected to take appropriate safety measures to ensure the safety of his crew and members of the public resulting in a collision at sea between his vessel and a RHIB.

4) Discreditable Conduct (s1 Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991)
On 8th March 2020 PC [redacted] combined actions were such that they are reasonably likely to have brought discredit on the reputation of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

Recommended Misconduct Charges – PC [redacted]

PC [redacted] is a fully qualified RGP mariner. He was not the coxswain on the night of the collision but he is still bound to display the same duty of care to others.

[redacted]

1) Disobedience to Orders (s3 Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991)
On 8th March 2020 PC [redacted] failed to use the Automated Identification System (AIS) on his vessel (SJC) contrary to orders and instructions.

2) Neglect of Duty (s4a Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991)
On 8th March 2020 PC [redacted] neglected to take appropriate safety measures to ensure the safety of the crew and members of the public resulting in a collision at sea between the SJC vessel and a RHIB, by failing to request a termination of the pursuit.

3) Discreditable Conduct (s1 Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991)
On 8th March 2020 PC [redacted] combined actions were such that they are reasonably likely to have brought discredit on the reputation of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

First Aid & Mayday Call Charge Consideration

The Regulation 9 notices provided to PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] in March 2021 included the misconduct offence of neglect of duty (section 4a) for failing to provide first aid to those on the RHIB and failing to register a mayday call post-collision. However,

This investigation has carefully considered if PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] neglected their duty by failing to register a mayday call and by failing to provide adequate first aid to the RHIB crewmember, whom they had identified was severely injured. The decision has been taken by the investigators not to recommend a charge to reflect this allegation, a decision explained below.

PC [redacted] stated that he boarded the RHIB and saw two males lying close together on the deck. They were surrounded by blood and water. There was a strong smell of petrol. The officer explained that he was shocked and could not move forwards. He felt a cold shiver and could not comprehend what had happened. The officer could not react. PC [redacted] explained that he identified that one RHIB crewmember was deceased and another casualty had a right shoulder injury with bone visible. This casualty spoke to the officer and PC [redacted] told the casualty that he could not move him due to his weight and for fear of causing further injuries. The casualty was reassured that the officer would get him medical assistance as soon as possible. The decision was made by PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] to keep the RHIB crew, including the deceased male and the injured casualty on board the RHIB and to tow them back to shore where an ambulance would be waiting. The officers explained that they did not leave anyone on board the RHIB due to officer safety concerns and that the crew of the RHIB had not and could not be searched for weapons. Everyone was in a state of shock including the officers. PC [redacted] explained that judgements or decisions made were not done so with a right frame of mind. Whilst towing the RHIB, PC [redacted] ensured that an ambulance would meet them back at the base. The officer realised that an engine had failed and feared that all four engines could cut out and delay their return to base. As such the officer contacted the MPU and requested customs assistance. A Customs vessel liaised with the police boat and transferred the injured person to their vessel. Customs officers then provided first aid. Despite asking PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] questions relating to their decision making in this regard during recorded interviews under caution, the officers made no further comment. Training records for PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] evidenced that both officers were up to date with their first aid training at the time of the incident. Richard Meikle in his report concluded that upon realising an immediate risk to life, PC [redacted] as the senior coxswain should have broadcast a mayday call to all vessels in the area. The crew did report the accident and then decided to tow the RHIB back to base. There was no attempt by the crew to provide first aid to the seriously injured crew member. PC Steve Morgan from the Metropolitan Police Marine Policing Unit provided some observations in relation to the situation experienced by PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] and their subsequent actions. The officer expressed his opinion that this was not just a straight forward matter of boarding a RHIB and providing first aid. There was a balance of risk between rendering First aid to potentially armed, hostile evasive suspects and the immediate danger of two vessels sinking at sea, thus placing seven people's lives at risk with an outcome of drowning. PC Morgan stated that in a diminished state of mind, protocols are missed or forgotten. A priority to return to land would be overwhelming for the crew and irrational thoughts in a stressed 'untrained' scenario may be difficult to judge and/or understand.

Conclusion: The available evidence documented that PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] did conduct an assessment of the injured RHIB crew members. One was identified as being deceased with another seriously injured but breathing and conscious. The officers made the decision to seek medical assistance on land and to tow the RHIB back to shore. The officers communicated their situation and intention to others. At no point were the crew advised to remain where they were and to seek assistance to their location.

From a police point of view, saving life is a natural instinct and a policing priority. All three officers were more than capable of rendering first aid, given their training; however individual safety and the potential risk based on previous knowledge and experience of dangerous offenders had overriding factors. Police officers are trained to assess the risk to themselves before attempting to provide first aid. This is so that they do not become a casualty themselves. A call for help to their location would incur a time delay for a rescue boat to deploy and reach them. PC Steve Morgan explained that a coxswain would want to return to shore and to reach shallower waters as a priority in case either vessel took on water.

Richard Meikle concluded that the crew should have made a mayday call. This is not the same as saying that they must make a mayday call. The officers made the decision that medical attention could be better given on land. At the time PC [redacted] assessed the casualty he was still conscious, breathing and talking.

An objective view needs to be taken and a thorough consideration and understanding of the situation that faced the officers on 8th March 2020. The available evidence showed that an assessment and triage of the casualties had taken place. The officers determined that their best course of action was to return to land and to tow the RHIB. PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] were both in a state of shock and needed each other to safely pilot the police vessel. In their opinion, leaving Officer Three on board the RHIB was not an option for officer safety reasons.

Other officers faced with the same situation might make different decisions and this could be for a number of reasons. That does not mean that the decisions made by Officer Three and PC [redacted] were wrong. Ultimately, they took action to try and get medical assistance for the injured crew member and communicated this. It is unfortunate that the officers themselves did not want to answer questions to clarify and confirm their decision making process on the night. Having reviewed all of the available evidence, I submit that there is insufficient evidence to prove that the officers failed to issue a mayday call and failed to provide first aid. They have acted in good faith and made decisions in difficult circumstances whilst suffering from shock. The decisions they made were communicated to others, including PS Stone. When PC [redacted] realised that an engine had failed he requested assistance to his location. As such it is submitted that this charge should not be proceeded with, although it is acknowledged this is the prerogative of the Determining Officer.

Respectfully submitted to the Determining Officer for consideration.

Our Ref:- IM/121 4th November 2019

Mr Frank Carreras OBE
Police Complaints Board
25B Casemates Square
Gibraltar

Dear Mr Carreras,

RE:- Complaint made by Mr Scott O'Malley and Ms Claire Bell

I have been requested by yourself to provide information in response to a complaint received by the Police Complaints Board from the two above mentioned persons.

I understand that your request is pursuant to Regulation 9(1) of the Police Complaints Regulations 2006 and the information I am imparting will then be considered by you to determine whether a formal investigation is required under Regulation 12(1).

I further understand that the complainants have named Supt Tunbridge and myself in their respective submissions as the officers responsible for the alleged breaches of professional standards. In this report and accompanying appendices I will endeavor to provide you with as much assistance possible to aid your decision making process.

CONTEXT
The submissions by Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley are borne out from the infamous incident of the 8th February 2017 when the RGP made a key intervention to prevent a military aircraft from departing RAF Gibraltar with a suspected offender and evidence on board. I feel it is important to make this the starting point in my response to the complaints as it provides context to all the events that unfolded post to the said intervention and this includes the contact RGP officers had with the complainants. In this regard I append my report (Appendix – A) of the incident dated 10th February 2017 addressed to the Commissioner of Police and a covering report by the then Commissioner Mr Edward Yome. Both these reports were shared by Mr Yome with His Excellency the Governor and Chief Minister.

At the time of this incident I held the rank of Detective Superintendent and was the Divisional Commander of the Crime and Protective Services Division which is basically the detective division. Supt Wayne Tunbridge was my deputy and held the rank of Detective Chief Inspector.

It is also important at this stage to highlight that I have not had any personal dealings or contact with Ms Bell on this matter other than her being present at a meeting in the Attorney General's office on 22nd February 2017 which was attended by the Provost Marshall (Navy) Cmndr Jack Hawkins and his deputy. She offered no input at this meeting and there was no need for me to engage with her either – she merely sat in.

As far as Mr O'Malley is concerned, the only contact I have had with him was on the 8th February 2017 as described in my report (Appendix- A page 10, 4th paragraph down and page 11, 3rd paragraph down). This contact was very brief, courteous and professional. My understanding is that Mr O'Malley has made absolutely no reference to this encounter and therefore it is not subject of his complaint.

EVENTS OF THE 1ST March 2017

Several meetings were held to discuss the behaviours and potential criminal liabilities between 4th and 8th February 2017 of Colonel Frank Green the Chief-of-Staff for British Forces Gibraltar, Squadron Leader Chris Collins RAF Police and head of Gibraltar Joint Provost Security Unit and Wing Commander Liz Hutchinson Station Commander for RAF Gibraltar. An executive decision was taken that the three had to face due process for possible criminal offences. Consequently, plans were initiated to (i) secure evidence to support our suspicions that they had attempted and conspired to pervert the course of justice and had also obstructed police in the execution of our duty and (ii) to arrest the said three military officials and pursue a criminal investigation under the code name Operation 'Apache'. Supt Tunbridge was appointed Senior Investigating Officer (SIO) for this operation.

In brief, a plan was devised which entailed searching the offices of Colonel Green at The Tower, the premises of the Joint Provost Security Unit (JPSU) under the control of Squadron leader Collins at Gun Wharf and the offices of Wing Commander Hutchinson at RAF Gibraltar as indeed the western hangar. The arrest of these officials was also factored in to the plan. Members of the Crime and Protective Services Division were split up in to three groups each headed by a senior ranking police officer. Ch Insp Perez (then an inspector) and his team were assigned to deal with Wing Commander Hutchinson and RAF Gibraltar, Supt Tunbridge and his team were detailed to the JPSU and I led a team that was to tackle The Tower.

Given the high profile exposure the matter had previously attracted and was likely to attract once we carried out further executive action, I took it upon myself to lay the information before the stipendiary magistrate and apply for search warrants for the premises referred to above. That I obtained all four warrants under my name did not mean that personally I had to be present at the searches or execute the warrants myself. Once signed by the relevant authority, a search warrant can be executed by any constable even if they are not the one named on the warrant.

The strike was planned to occur simultaneously on 1st March once we had established that Squadron Leader Collins was airborne on a return flight from the UK to Gibraltar. A simultaneous strike is a recognized police tactic when tackling more than one location which are subject of the same operation. The purpose of this is obvious; to try and ensure the rounding up of suspects and evidence and mitigate risk of the disposal or attempted disposal of evidence or indeed the absconding of suspects or the warning of each other of the police action.

There is no requirement for me to offer explanations on the actions carried out by Ch Insp Perez's team at RAF Gibraltar as these are not subject of any complaint. I will therefore focus on the actions that both Supt Tunbridge and I carried out.

You will straight away realize that I had no dealings with the complainants as alluded to earlier in this report. However, I will be explaining my actions on the day which will disclose a very similar situation to the one my colleague Supt Tunbridge faced at JPSU Gunwharf. Unlike the latter, my actions have not given cause for a complaint from the persons I dealt with at The Tower.

At 1325Hrs on 1st March 2019, whilst maintaining open communications with the two other strike teams I gave the go-ahead to proceed to enter the premises covered by the search warrants. In my case, once inside The Tower courtyard I detailed some officers to cover the offices of the Chief-of-Staff Colonel Green (the office subject of the warrant) whilst I made my presence known at the office of the Commander British Forces (CBF), Commodore Mike Walliker. With him in the office at the time was the Command Secretary Mr Richard Johnson. Though both these gentlemen knew who I was I nonetheless identified myself with my warrant card and explained that I was acting in the execution of my duty as a police officer within The Tower. I proceeded to explain the reasons why I was there with a team of RGP officers. I also explained to them what my intentions were and showed CBF the search warrant for Colonel Green's office.

Together with CBF we walked over to Colonel Green's office where upon entry and explaining to the Colonel the reasons for the RGP's presence there, I arrested Colonel Green on suspicion of (i) attempting to pervert the course of justice, (ii) conspiracy to pervert the course of justice and (iii) obstructing police. I showed him the search warrant for his office which was then executed by my team.

During the course of the search I was made aware of certain documentation which had been circulated by the Command Secretary to the persons subject of the investigation. In essence, the Command Secretary was requesting 'duty reports' from these military officials to explain their respective accounts of the events of the 8th February. Clearly, this information was of relevance to the investigation and therefore it prompted me to speak to the Command Secretary and ask him whether he was willing to share with me the responses these senior military officials had provided to him. His response was that he would need to consult with London (MoD) before considering my request. Anticipating a negative response to my request I duly acknowledged his response but told him that I would be seeking another search warrant from the stipendiary magistrate for his office to seize the information sought. I stepped out of CBF's office and detailed an officer to remain outside the Command Secretary's office to control and restrict access to this office whilst I made a call to the courts. I was encountering difficulties in reaching the stipendiary magistrate and during the course of my attempts, I was approached by the Command Secretary who informed me that he had consulted with London and was happy to volunteer the information I was seeking. Consequently, a member of my team accompanied the Command Secretary to his office where he proceeded to hand over the data requested.

I draw significance to this procedure because of the similarity of the actions carried out with Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley which are now subject of a complaint. My actions at The Tower were legitimate; I only had a search warrant for Colonel Green's office – a need arose where I required data from another office not covered by the warrant – had the Command Secretary not volunteered the data. I would have required a search warrant for his office to seize the data – the fact that he agreed to voluntarily hand over the data precluded the need to obtain a warrant. It was not deemed to be a search by my team but rather a voluntary handing over of the data by the Command Secretary. You will no doubt appreciate the correlation to the circumstances of the complaint by Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley. Incidentally, the Command Secretary has not raised any issues whatsoever concerning the procedure I have explained.

Turning to the intervention by Supt Tunbridge and his team at JPSU Gun Wharf, I would ask you to refer to Mr Tunbridge's report which is filed in this bundle as Appendix – B. I do not intend rehearsing the contents of his report save to say that the allegations contained are refuted. Supt Tunbridge further explains how his team acted within the law.

Moreover, I would ask that in making your determination on whether RGP officers breached professional standards and code of ethics as alleged by Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley, you consider that both these persons are fully trained up [services] police officers who held supervisory/managerial positions in JPSU. As police officers they very well know what powers we possess and the rights of those we deal with in investigations. I find it incomprehensible that two seasoned police officers would not challenge on the spot any activity which was illegitimate and an abuse of police powers.

Our interest in both Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley as with the other members of the JPSU was to understand their involvement in the circumstances surrounding Sgt Watterson's detention. Until that point we had not found anything to suggest either were suspects in the investigation but we still needed to delve further and we relied on their co-operation. It is my submission to you that this co-operation was forthcoming and that the RGP officers acted in very much the same way that I did with the Command Secretary at The Tower. It was no doubt a very uncomfortable experience for Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley as indeed it was for the RGP. In her complaint Ms Bell vents her annoyance expressing disbelief that we were serving a warrant on another policing agency. It could be safely inferred that she was suggesting our actions were improper. What she fails to understand is that the warrant was signed by a judge and therefore any suggestion that there was improper practice is actually undermining of the authority of the issuing judge – I reckon she needs to realize this. However, my officers acted with a lot of tact and respect. These two persons could have very simply exercised their right to question/challenge our actions, refuse to co-operate and decline to hand over their personal mobile phones. This would have been a very prudent and proper response by a police officer who felt he/she were being treated unlawfully as they allege. Had they presented a challenge it would have been respected and it would have obliged us to obtain a search warrant. There was no expression of a challenge and neither was there any indications that they felt as they described in their submission to the PCB. The officers attending to them report that they were co-operative.

AFTERMATH

It is very regrettable that they feel so hard done by the actions carried out by the RGP officers acting in the execution of their duty. I also query the motives of why they are now airing these grievances. I say so because apologies were in fact received from the MoD's Rear Admiral Radakin, then Chief of Joint Forces Command in UK, now promoted to Admiral and First Sea Lord of the Royal Navy. This apology indeed accepted the MOD's (JPSU) ill-informed jurisdictional posture. There was an acceptance that all the activity conducted by JPSU staff (which includes the complainants) was ultra vires given that the UK Armed Forces Act 2006 which they claimed gave them jurisdiction to operate did not actually extend to Gibraltar. Further apologies were received from Colonel Green, Squadron Leader Collins (Ms Bell's and Mr O'Malley's boss) and Wing Commander Hutchinson. I attach all these apologies as Appendix –C. In none of these apologies is there the slightest of suggestions or inclinations of any abuse of position from the RGP. One would have thought that Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley would have raised their complaints to their superiors who, in turn, being the responsible organization that the MOD is, would have made the necessary representations to the Commissioner of Police, Government of Gibraltar or

HE the Governor – no such representations have been made or are expected to made simply because all the RGP activity was vindicated as lawful and correct.

I would now like to comment on the penultimate paragraphs contained in both written complaints: That the complainants have been informed (source unknown) that I am supposed to have stated that the investigation could be re-opened at any time I wished. I categorically do not associate myself with any commentary of this sort and I would ask you to query from where this originates from as I would personally want to challenge it as a mistake at best or lie at worst.

Finally, I also attach a letter dated 5th September 2017 (Appendix – D) from the previous Chairman of the Gibraltar Police Authority, Mr John Goncalvez to the Chief Minister of the Government of Gibraltar following an [independent] assessment of the actions carried out by the RGP in what was termed as the Watterson enquiry. One can argue that the 3rd paragraph of this letter when read together with the four letters of apology earlier referred to wraps up what in essence was a correct and justified operation undertaken by the RGP.

I trust that the information contained in this report and accompanying appendices will assist you in making a determination on whether the matter warrants a formal investigation or not. Please do not hesitate to revert if you require any further information.

Yours,

Ian McGrail
Commissioner of Police

RE: RAF Sergeant WATTERSON

13th February 2017

Dear Sirs

Please see attached report submitted by Superintendent McGrail in relation to RAF Sergeant WATTERSON.

This clearly was a sad disappointing day for Law Enforcement in Gibraltar and more so for relations between Gibraltar Forces Command and the RGP.

I do not wish to repeat what is already contained in this report which is quite detailed, but just to echo some of the points which I personally dealt with.

From the outset I wanted a pragmatic and sensible approach notwithstanding I had firm footing on jurisdiction and Gibraltar law. I even went as far as involving the AGs chambers at an early stage to provide legal advice by asking Ricky Rhoda to personally speak to GFC but again to no avail.

To me this was a complete disregard and lack of respect to our Attorney General.

Add insult to injury the matter deteriorated very rapidly when clearly senior MOD officers were being deceitful and evasive to the point that we had no alternative but to obtain a Chief Justice's warrant to make these officials see the gravity of the situation and see sense.

Armed with this warrant I informed the Chief of Staff and later Commander British Forces that I was being pushed against the wall to a place that I would not rather be, and as the last resort, we would now be in a position to execute this warrant on another Law Enforcement body (RNPM) something which I was very reluctant to do. I believe I showed great restraint in holding back from doing this.

A conversation with Commander Jack Hawkins (Chief of RNP- UK) then revealed and confirmed that the evidence was on the aircraft and I then instructed for this aircraft to be held back from departing. CBF then saw sense in de-escalating everything and I believe instructed for the aircraft to return to the stand and for Watterson and the evidence to be disembarked. I was then given his reassurance that the computer devices would be handed over to the RGP. After this was done I allowed for the aircraft to depart.

Even then I proposed that we should join up in taking this forward and for the RNPM officers to assist in the retrieval of evidence and to assist with the Forensics. Finally they acceded and we are now working together.

INVESTORS IN PEOPLE

As I said it was a disappointing day and not one to gloat about but clearly we must not find ourselves in such circumstances ever again why I have proposed a meeting on the 22nd February of all stakeholders. The Attorney General has welcomed such a meeting which he will chair at his offices at No.6.

I strongly believe that MOD senior officials did not behave appropriately and had they used some practical common sense. we could have averted this situation. More worryingly they showed lack of respect by challenging the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Police both Constitutional posts.

I am willing to discuss this further should you so wish.

Kind regards

Eddie

OFFICIAL SENSITIVE

10th February 2017

Commissioner of Police:

Sir,

RE:- Investigation in to RAF Sgt WATTERSON

This report provides GDP with the chronological sequence of events as I have them and with as much a detailed account as I know it to be regarding the above captioned matter. Enquiries are continuing to elicit further information with regards to both the investigation in to Sgt WATTERSON and to the issues that arose once the RGP took an interest in the matter. I would therefore ask you to understand that this paper may not contain all the answers to questions you may have after absorbing the contents herein. On occasions during this report I have also commented on my prima facie observations on matters arising, obviously from a professional local application.

In the early hours of 4th February 2017, an email was received at RGP Command & Despatch from colleagues in the GDP advising that the JPSU had the previous day (3rd Feb 2017) effected the arrest of a serviceman, Sgt WATTERSON, in Gibraltar, on suspicion that this man was in possession of indecent imagery of children. His residence at 21 East Walk, Europa, had been searched by JPSU and computers and data storage devices had been seized. That Sgt WATTERSON had since been released from his arrest and had undergone a psychiatric assessment which determined that he was at high risk of self harm. At that point no further details were available to the GDP.[1]

This information was forwarded by CAD to our Public Protection Unit for their information. Coincidentally, Det/Insp Enriles, o.i.c of the PPU, happened to be the RGP duty officer that morning and on reading the communication sought further details from GDP Sgt Hosken who unfortunately was unable to help any further as they [the GDP] had no additional information to share.

Consequently, Det/Insp Enriles contacted the JPSU Master-at-Arms Claire BELL who informed of the following: that Timothy WATTERSON moved to Gibraltar on the 7th January 2017 for a two year posting. He moved to Gibraltar with his wife and [redacted] That they had received information from their Force Intel Bureau in UK via the National Crime Agency/Leicestershire Police that an IP address in the UK had uploaded an indecent Cat B image of a prepubescent female exposing herself. This image had been uploaded during the course of June 2016 to an IP address allocated to WATTERSON at his previous posting address in Leicestershire, UK. MA BELL further informed that as a result of this information they had arrested him on suspicion of possession of indecent images and seized various data storage devices in the residence.[2] The authority to arrest was provided to Det/Insp Enriles as Sec 42 & 67 of the Armed Forces Offences Act 2006 UK that she claimed extended them jurisdiction in Gibraltar. No reference to Gibraltar law was made. I also understand that the authority to search WATTERSON's residence was Sections 79 & 80 Chapter 4 of JSP 830 (I believe these to be their version of our codes of practice). WATTERSON was detained by JPSU at their premises.[3]

[1] It is believed GDP only communicated the matter to RGP in the context of the WATTERSON's risk of self harm.

JPSU procedures are actually based on the UK's Police and Criminal Evidence Act (PACE) so when he was processed by the services police he elected the right to free and independent legal advice – there being no such duty solicitor scheme in Gibraltar the MA explained they would have to fly out one from the UK! Due to this untidy situation the JPSU were compelled to release WATTERSON from his arrest and he was informed that he may be seen at a later date. The devices seized from the search of the residence were retained with the intention of subjecting them to forensic analysis.[4]

MA BELL further explained that post to his release from arrest WATTERSON had also been also psychiatrically assessed by MOD (Gibraltar) medical personnel and this revealed that he might be a risk to himself. Because of this development JPSU appointed him a 24/7 'chaperone' for his own safety and instructed that he was not to return to the matrimonial home.[5] In the meantime, MOD social services SSAFA would be conducting assessment of WATTERSON's [redacted] who attend: [redacted] No reference was made of any intended actions with Mrs WATTERSON.

Det/Insp ENRILES expressed his concerns to MA BELL that these type of investigations required the sharing of information at far an earlier stage given the potential local implications. Neither did we have any photograph of the subject to assist us in the identification and generating awareness of him. Although provisionally housed at Devil's Tower Camp, he was still free to roam about Gibraltar as long as the chaperone remained with him. To this Det/Insp Enriles highlighted that notwithstanding the measures in place these could be deemed insufficient and may not necessarily prevent an act of self harm or an attempt on his life, or even prevent him from committing further offences. Det/Insp ENRILES added that even though WATTERSON had not been in our jurisdiction for long he had still had opportunities to interact with members of the public/children and therefore there was a need to properly risk assess him. MA BELL agreed with the Det/Insp and arranged to share WATTERSON's photograph for the purpose of creating awareness for RGP personnel.

[2] On the facts available, the action taken by JPSU in pre-emptively arresting Watterson at such an early stage is not regarded in the RGP, or indeed by UK civilian police, as best practice and procedure.

[3] JPSU premises are not regarded in Gibraltar law as a designated police station for the detention of persons under arrest. Neither can the JPSU grant and or impose bail conditions post to an arrest.

[4] This begs the question of whether in effect the search and seizure of the devices from the residence and their continued detention retains any legitimacy. I say so because no search warrants were issued for this process & therefore it could potentially be regarded as a tactical short circuit of proper procedures which in turn could be calculated to be an abuse of powers. I.e. Police cannot go about arresting individuals and search their properties without a warrant, then release the person from arrest and retain the exhibits found for further investigation. I may be wrong but it certainly looks a very odd and I dare say unprofessional, unethical practice, if not an illegal one.

[5] I am presuming that the power to impose these control measures is provided by military law.

As is common and proper practice in these types of cases, on Monday 6th February, Det/Insp ENRILES, began to make arrangements to hold a strategy meeting under recognised child protection procedures with Gibraltar Social Services and SSAFA to discuss Master WATTERSON and for the purpose of information sharing. Equally, considerations were given to convene a Multi-Agency Public Protection Arrangement (MAPPA) strategy meeting to discuss Sgt WATTERSON as a person of interest in the context of sex offender management.[5] Very surprisingly, at 1730Hrs on 6/2/17 the position of SSAFA was that no strategy meeting would take place involving Gibraltar authorities and more worryingly still, that Gibraltar Social Services should not have been in the know of the matter.

On Tuesday 7th February 2017, I contacted Provost Marshall (PM) Chris COLLINS and very briefly expressed my concerns on how the matter was being handled. I arranged for him to meet with Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE and Det/Insp ENRILES @1100Hrs at Bleak House.[6] This meeting was attended by PM COLLINS and MA BELL. They provided a brief along the lines of what MA BELL had provided to Det/INSP ENRILES at the weekend.

Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE then raised the following question; why had the RGP not been notified by JPSU of this on-going investigation? PM COLLINS stated that the suspect was a serving member of the military stationed in Gibraltar and residing in MOD property. That the offence being investigated occurred in the UK and under the Armed Forces Act 2006 they had the legal powers to assert jurisdiction in the manner they had whereas the RGP did not have any locus. Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE accepted that the RGP had no authority over a UK investigation. However, he explained that it was erroneous to suggest that the RGP had no jurisdiction on crimes that may have occurred or were occurring anywhere in Gibraltar including within the MOD estate. It was precisely this that we were concerned about. If the JPSU suspected the computer devices seized from WATTERSON's house were believed to contain indecent imagery of children, then even if these may have been uploaded in the UK, they were now in the jurisdiction of Gibraltar and in breach of Gibraltar Law. We further expressed concern that WATTERSON (or anyone else in the household) may have accessed or been involved with other child sexual exploitation data or activity whilst here in Gibraltar in addition to whatever he was suspected to have accessed in the UK. PM COLLINS did not accept this position and maintained that the JPSU had full jurisdiction of the case.

Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE respectfully asked PM COLLINS to hand over the exhibits seized from the residence to the RGP but the latter re-asserted his position that he would retain them under the authority vested by the Armed Forces Act 2006 UK which he claimed extended to Gibraltar. PM COLLINS further revealed that if when examined in the UK, the devices contained any incriminating evidence, they would fly WATTERSON back to the UK to answer to any potential charges.[7] This meeting ended at 1200Hrs and Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE advised PM COLLINS that he would be referring the matter up to RGP senior management and that further contact would be made with him later.

[5] Deemed to be best practice in these types of criminal investigations.

[6] Ironically DCI Tunbridge and DI ENRILES were attending a training session arranged by Social Services on child protection and safeguarding which was also being attended by SSAFA. The main theme running through this training session being that of multi agency partnership work and information sharing.

[7] This was the first occasion the RGP requested to take over the [local] angle of the investigation from JPSU on the back of there being reasonable suspicions that offences may have been committed in Gibraltar.

I was then briefed by Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE on JPSU's entrenched posture. Whilst I was 100% absolutely certain of the RGP's position on this[9], I asked Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE to consult with the Office of Criminal Prosecutions and Litigation to seek their views on what the position was when two authorities were claiming jurisdiction over a matter. Consequently, senior counsel Ricky RHODA CBE QC confirmed the RGP's position also expressing concern that if the RGP were claiming jurisdiction on the basis of there possibly being offences disclosed locally, that a [coerced] repatriation[10] of WATTERSON by the MOD to potentially face charges in the UK could be deemed to be unlawful - that the proper way to do this was via established judicial processes i.e. European Arrest Warrant.

At 1254Hrs Det Ch/Insp Tunbridge and Det/Insp ENRILES again held a telecon with PM COLLINS explaining that our legal services had confirmed the RGP's position regarding primacy and the fact that local legislation would be applicable over the Armed Forces Act 2006.[11] PM COLLINS reiterated his position vis the UK's Armed Forces Act 2006 adding his legal advisors had confirmed otherwise and therefore he would not be relinquishing conduct of the investigation, basically disregarding local legislation and our standpoint.[12] It was also disclosed by PM COLLINS that arrangements were already made to despatch the exhibits to the UK on Wednesday 8th February 2017 to submit them to forensic analysis. Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE told PM COLLINS that he would contact him soonest.

Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE reverted to me with this and we discussed what in my view was a very reasonable proposal which would satisfy the RGP and JPSU needs. In essence this was that in recognising there was a UK investigation taking place and in order not to affect this, we could conduct a parallel examination of the devices seized. This could be achieved by the RGP Hi-Tech Crime Unit officer mirroring the devices seized so that he could examine these 'working copies' to determine if there was evidence to support the reasonable grounds we had that there were offences disclosed in Gibraltar. That the JPSU could also have these devices examined in the UK in furtherance of their own investigation of offences taking place there. We run this proposal past Mr RHODA with a view of de-conflicting the matter in the most pragmatic way, though it must be said that there was no obligation on our part to be as flexible as we were being with the suggested proposal – in other words, we could assert full jurisdiction on the basis that we suspected an offence had been committed in our jurisdiction. However, the proposal recognised and respected the JPSU's interest with regards to the UK investigation. It was being done in the spirit of good relations and mutual respect between agencies.

At 1508Hrs Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE and Det/Insp ENRILES held yet another telecon with PM COLLINS and discussed the said proposal explaining how we acknowledged his investigation and how our suggestion would not hinder it. The reasons why we reasonably suspected that offences had been committed in Gibraltar were re-stated. Unfortunately, PM COLLINS refused this course of action stating it could damage the integrity of the exhibits and would be detrimental to the investigation.[13] PM COLLINS' alternative was for the forensic analysis to be conducted in the UK and if anything relating to Gibraltar were uncovered he would take legal advice on whether to release this evidence to the RGP.[14] Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE further attempted to make PM COLLINS comprehend that the question of jurisdiction was very clear and technically, if need be, the RGP could retrieve the said devices from JPSU's possession, something which we did not want to do hence our continued discussions. PM COLLINS' position did not change[15].

I was kept briefed by Det Ch/Insp Tunbridge of the lack of progress and in turn I briefed COP where we agreed that the position of the RGP was as we were articulating it from the outset. We agreed that I would seek a meeting with Chief of Staff Col GREEN to pursue the matter with a view of arriving at the most pragmatic solution to the status quo.

Consequently, at 1630Hrs I attended The Tower at HM Naval Base and met with Col Green. PM COLLINS was also present. I projected the RGP's desire to de-conflict the matter in the most conventional of ways to be expected from both MOD and us. There were valuable lessons to be learnt from the whole experience and no doubt we should, as senior personnel, provide the clarity necessary so that our respective practitioners were able to work in the best possible [technical] environment. I referred to the need for better understanding of each other's roles and responsibilities and how establishing a set protocols or memorandum of understanding would perhaps address the dilemmas we were facing. We were nonetheless still left with un-doing the issues on this particular case. I highlighted how in investigations of sex offences and particularly where there were children involved the best practice dictated sharing of information.[16] In this case it was seemingly lacking as many of the key stake holders who could bring information to be shared were not even aware of JPSU's investigation.

I went over all the circumstances already related to earlier in the report. I then explained that the situation was seemingly escalating to the extent where the MOD's entrenched position did not fare well for relations with the RGP and by default the wider community in Gibraltar. I was taken quite aback when PM COLLINS stated that his mandate was very clear; that he had to look after the interests of the troops and the UK investigation. I acknowledged what he was saying but I explained that actually my mandate extended further than his – that when it came to criminal investigations, I had to look after the interests of Gibraltar PLC and that included everyone in the territory inclusive of MOD personnel.

[13] Clearly an expression of mistrust towards the RGP displayed by PM COLLINS who also constantly stated that he had to ensure the investigation abided to UK standards implying the RGP's standards were not sufficient. The Home Office standards were constantly repeated by him in this context.

[14] This suggestion basically undermines the RGP's ability to conduct enquiries of potential offences occurring in the jurisdiction. Having the appropriate resources to conduct the examinations locally, it would be wholly unethical that we would have to rely on another agency to search for the evidence and then live in the hope that it could be released back to the RGP.

[15] The third occasion JPSU were refusing to oblige to our requests.

[16] The Bichard Inquiry report into the Soham murders identified one of the main shortfalls to be failure to share information effectively. This inquiry revolutionized processes for the UK police and social services and which the RGP have stringently put in place. Similarly, the Rotherham Child Sexual Exploitation scandal - an independent inquiry by Prof Alexis Jay published in Aug 2014 condemned the failure of the authorities in Rotherham to act effectively against the abuse or even, in some cases, to acknowledge that it was taking place.

I expressed dissatisfaction on how the JPSU were handling the matter and how the overall risks attached to this case were not being properly addressed. I described how the RGP operate to best practice and procedures on these type of investigations – that we had a forensic computer expert, dedicated risk managers and all the supporting infrastructure for such an investigation which evidently the MOD did not have in Gibraltar as had been proven with the inability to proceed with the interviewing of WATTERSON and provide free/independent legal advice, their inability to impose grant/impose bail conditions or even custody facilities[17]. Whilst I was assured that WATTERSON was being 'properly managed', I was not reassured that he may have already committed further offences whilst in Gibraltar. I also enquired as to why the other members of the family, i.e. the wife and 14 year son were not being regarded as potential suspects too. The focus was solely on WATTERSON and it was mentioned that they already had evidence against him of having committed an offence in the UK. This caused me to suspect that there was probably more to the case than what met the eye. PM COLLINS' response was that he was under no obligation to discuss his investigation strategies with me. In turn, this further enhanced suspicions that offences had been committed in Gibraltar as otherwise why would the JPSU seize computers and other devices if they did not believe them to contain incriminating material. All these concerns I shared with Col Green and PM COLLINS adding that I was duty bound to investigate WATTERSON locally – I could simply not leave such a serious matter walk under my nose in the jurisdiction of Gibraltar. I explained how in the past the RGP had assumed the lead and conduct of serious criminal investigations within the MOD estate ranging from serious assaults on MOD [children] dependants where the assailant was a serviceman to the sudden death of senior MOD official as only two examples. I referred to these matters simply to highlight our argument from the outset that the RGP had primacy in the jurisdiction.[18]

I conveyed my concerns to the two gentlemen that there were too many factors in terms of possible local victims, possible crimes committed here, public perception of the RGP and the legal position on jurisdiction amongst others that compelled the RGP to have a say on the matter. I did, however, state that there was still room to work the matter together to oblige to both agency's needs. Col GREEN asked me what actions the RGP would take if indeed incriminating material were found in any of the devices seized to which I explained that there would certainly be an intervention on our part to probe in to the matter further. This was totally mis-construed by Col GREEN who argued that going in "guns blazing" would compromise the UK investigation. This argument faced me as Col GREEN was being critical of a potential action the RGP could consider, but not necessarily carry out, when in fact the JPSU's intervention had already precisely done what he was advocating should not be done.

The proposal to run a parallel investigation was flatly discarded by PM COLLINS who said he had top cover from his superiors in the UK that he was on solid footing to retain conduct of the investigation. He argued that my proposal would put in jeopardy the integrity of the exhibits seized as the examinations he would subject them to comply with Home Office Standards and as the RGP was not a Home Office force there would be a conflict. He added that there was nothing in military protocols that obliged him to consider what I was proposing. In what was a clear moment of forceful assertion of his stance, PM COLLINS told Col GREEN that the solution to the matter was to put WATTERSON on a plane to the UK at the earliest opportunity. I interjected stating that if he was contemplating this course of action it would certainly bring about a considerable and detrimental strain to MOD/RGP/GOG relations. I equally mentioned that the RGP could actually be driven to impose executive action over the JPSU but that I stressed my intentions were not to go down that route but rather to resolve the issues by discussion amongst us senior law enforcement officials in order to prevent any further escalation which could jeopardise relations. I informed them both that I would be reporting up COP on this meeting.

[17] These are issues that should have been given the important consideration they merit before effecting the arrest.
[18] Fourth occasion that the RGP requested to take over the conduct of the investigation.

Sir, I can assure you I tried every possible influencing and negotiating tactic I could think of to resolve the impasse but unfortunately they did not shift from their stance. Before concluding the meeting at 1800Hrs I asked PM COLLINS to refer the arguments I had posed on behalf of the RGP to his superiors in UK so that at least they could have a balanced and more objective understanding of the whole matter. I asked PM COLLINS to do this as a matter of urgency and before any decision was taken to fly out the exhibits and/or WATTERSON. He assured me he would do so. We agreed that he would revert to me once his superiors had taken a view.

I then returned to NMH where I briefed COP on the unfortunate non-progress and on the concerns I had that PM COLLINS and Col GREEN were contemplating actions which would totally bypass the RGP's position on the matter. That evening/night I am aware COP tried unsuccessfully on numerous times to contact CBF who was out of the jurisdiction.

Not having heard from PM COLLINS on what his superiors in UK had to say, at 2130Hrs I phoned him but there was no response. At 2134Hrs I phoned him again and I received no response. Whilst waiting hopefully for a return call from him I conducted some research on the applicability of the UK's Armed Forces Act 2006 in Gibraltar and to my understanding found that it was not applicable.[18] I also looked up service police protocols and what they had to say on the matter and I was not surprised to read that there were provisions stating that local legislation might impose similar jurisdictional arrangements to those PM COLLINS was claiming.[19] Then again, irrespective of whether the Armed Forces Act 2006 is not applicable to Gibraltar and whether service police protocols have seemingly not been abided by, I would like to restate the fact that the RGP has primacy over the matter as enshrined in Gibraltar law.

The matter was now becoming time critical as the plans by MOD (Gibraltar) to fly out the exhibits and possibly WATTERSON were proceeding. I was encountering problems in contacting PM COLLINS and so was COP in reaching CBF. We agreed to a number of actions as follows;

- RGP SB to check passenger manifests to see if WATTERSON was booked on a flight departing Gibraltar Airport.
- Cover crucial areas to prevent WATTERSON from being whisked away.
- Make the necessary arrangements to retrieve exhibits seized from the residence if the JPSU did not change their position. This would be done by applying for a search warrant at the courts.

At 2212Hrs PM COLLINGS returned my call and I shared with him my understanding and interpretation of both the Armed Forces Act 2006/2016 and the service police protocols. Unfortunately again my discussions and arguments as referred to in the preceding paragraph practically fell in deaf ears.[20] He reaffirmed that his position had not changed and that his plans to fly out the exhibits the next day were still on track. I asked him whether it was also intended to fly WATTERSON out and he replied by saying he was not at liberty to discuss his investigation strategies with me. I told him that CoP was trying to contact CBF and had left numerous messages for his calls to be returned but that he had not been successful in reaching him. I further told him that it would only be proper that he stalled his plans until CoP and CBF spoke. In response to this PM COLLINS told me that CoP should call Col GREEN, but that in any case he was not answerable to the Command in Gibraltar but rather to the Provost Marshall (Navy) in the UK. I asked him whether he had received any response from his superiors on what had agreed at the meeting in The Tower. He said that his superiors would probably get back to him the following morning but that at present his intentions remained unchanged.

Still concerned that JPSU would continue to entirely disregard our claims we discussed our tactical options and COP sanctioned that we should proceed to retrieve the exhibits. The intention was to meet up with PM COLLINS once again and ask for the exhibits to be handed over and to only resort to executing the warrant if there was non-compliance on his part. COP also sanctioned any other action falling out from any non-compliance after the warrant had been executed.[22] Consequently, Det/Insp ENRILES and Det/Con HOWARD left NMH to apply for a warrant from the Stipendiary Magistrate to search the JPSU premises at Gun Wharf.

At 2245Hrs I again contacted PM COLLINS asking him to meet with me. The plan was to offer the opportunity once again for the exhibits to be handed over and then, if this was not forthcoming, to proceed and execute the warrant. However, he said that he would not meet at such late hour. We arranged that I would go down to his offices early the next day.

At 2330Hrs, I was informed by Det/Insp ENRILES that the Stipendiary Magistrate had not granted the warrant on the basis that he felt there was insufficient suspicion to believe that the computer devices seized from WATTERSON contained incriminating data of offences committed in Gibraltar.[23] This clearly caused for a re-think of our options which included making a fresh application for the warrant in the morning. I then stood down the team for the night.

At 0845Hrs on Wednesday 8th February 2017, I attended the Office of Prosecutions and Criminal Litigation to seek legal support to make the MOD accept that the RGP had primacy in the matter. Mr RHODA's view was that we should try and avoid taking executive action against the JPSU and pursue discussions to reach a pragmatic solution, however, if these failed he agreed and accepted that we were then left with no option other than to either succumb to the JPSU's posture or indeed proceed with a fresh application for a search warrant and seize the property in question. Understandably so, Mr RHODA was puzzled as to why the situation had reached the levels it had within the MOD. During the course of the morning Senior Counsel RHODA spoke with (i) the Acting Governor, Mr Nick PYLE and (ii) Col GREEN in yet a further attempt to convince them to accede to the RGP's requests. He also tried contacting the Command Secretary but he was not contactable.

I am aware that both Mr PYLE and Col GREEN asked Mr RHODA to request the RGP to defer any intended action as both were seeking legal advice from the FCO and UK military respectively as to [22] Possible offences of obstructing police to be considered and executive action followed through in this regard.

[23] Though respecting the Magistrates views for the non-granting of the search warrant, we believed he may have erred in his decision.

whether the RGP had primacy in the matter. When Mr RHODA relayed this to me I expressed resentment as essentially we were being asked to be subservient to UK legal advice when the local position was already well affirmed. I then returned to NMH and reported these latest discussions to COP who then gave me instructions to re-apply for another search warrant to the Chief Justice. I proceeded to do this and having spoken to the Registrar of the Supreme the matter was listed for 1500Hrs that same day.

Throughout the day I sought updates on possible intelligence relating to WATTERSON flying out and SB confirmed that he was not booked on any commercial flight departing from Gibraltar Airport. I still asked SB to remain vigilant at the airport in the event that JPSU staff were spotted attempting to take out the exhibits on a commercial flight.

At around 1400Hrs, it was brought to my notice that a military aircraft had just landed at RAF Gibraltar on an approximate 1-hour stop over. This straight away caused me to suspect that the exhibits and/or WATTERSON could be put on this RAF plane taken out of Gibraltar. I relayed this to COP who asked for contingencies to be put in place to prevent the aircraft from departing if our suspicions were confirmed.[5] You can appreciate how time critical the situation was getting with on the one hand the application for the warrant being heard at 1500Hrs which coincided with the possible departure of the military flight.

I also learnt that the Acting Governor would see both CoP and Col GREEN at The Convent after a separate [firearms capability] meeting which was being attended by both. The matter would again be discussed. It was COP's intentions at this meeting to seek assurances from Col GREEN that the aircraft would be carrying the exhibits. As it happened Col GREEN did not attend the said meeting.

At approximately 1430Hrs Insp PERERA was instructed to position himself in a marked police car by the south barrier opposite GDP post and await instructions. His position was by the very start of the pedestrian and bicycle lane next to the police post. At about 1514Hrs and unable to discuss the matter with Col GREEN and Acting Governor you directed that we contact PM COLLINS to seek the assurances. Det Ch/Insp Tunbridge tried contacting him to no avail as his mobile phone was switched off. We contacted the JPSU offices requesting to speak to PM COLLINS and RAF Sgt O'Malley stated that he was at a meeting with Col GREEN and was unavailable. We explained how imperative it was that we spoke to PM COLLINS as this was in relation to the on-going WATTERSON matter. Sgt O'Malley undertook to contact PM COLLINS for us.

At approximately 1520Hrs, at the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice, heard my application for the warrant to search for the property seized from WATTERSON's residence by the JPSU. Det/Insp ENRILES, Senior Counsel RHODA and Crown Counsel ZAMMIT supported my application. I took to the witness stand and under oath relayed my information and reasonable suspicions and how time critical the situation was, explaining that we also suspected the property we were looking for could well be on board a military aircraft that was about to depart. Det/Insp ENRILES also had to take the stand as the CJ wanted to know on what basis the Stipendiary had declined the granting of the warrant the previous day. At the end of the application, the CJ granted me the warrant but not before underscoring that it was not a good day for law enforcement when one agency had to take executive action against another law enforcement agency in this fashion. I had to concur with the CJ on this.

As I left the Supreme Court at 1540Hrs, I learnt that the military aircraft was starting it engines but was still at its stand - the barriers to the stop traffic across the airfield were down. I also learnt that the GDP officer at the south barrier had been instructed to request Inspector PERERA to move away from his position as his presence interfered with air movements. The GDP officer was informed that we had an operation on-going and we were exercising our duties in the said operation. Insp PERERA referred the GDP officer to contact his superiors. Supt ULLGER also received information from Air Traffic Control that all flights would be diverted because of our presence, including commercial flights.

Throughout this time Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE was continuously trying to raise PM COLLINS to no avail. Sgt O'Malley also confirmed that he had not been able to contact PM COLLINS either. Sgt O'Malley was asked whether he could confirm if the exhibits in question had been transported on to the military aircraft that was shortly scheduled to depart to which he stated that he was not in a position to respond to that question but acknowledged the importance of the request. Our suspicions that the exhibits were on board the aircraft were growing by the second.

At the airfield, GDP were being instructed by ATC to insist that Insp PERERA moved from his position or alternatively, if he was not going to move, to hand over the keys to the patrol car as otherwise the military aircraft would not be able to take off. They were informed again that there was a police operation in place and he would not move from his position or indeed hand over the keys to the patrol car. Insp PERERA noted the arrival at the location of Stn Cmdr Lt HUTCHINSON.

At approximately 1545Hrs I arrived at JPSU HQ in Gun Wharf together with other officers. I identified myself to staff and asked for PM COLLINS. Sgt O'Malley informed us that PM COLLINS was not there but that he would call him and tell him we were at his office. A few minutes later, Sgt O'Malley told me that PM COLLINS was on his way to the office to meet us.

At about 1551Hrs, the military aircraft was seen to slowly move from its stand towards the boundary of the RAF apron. Simultaneous to this Insp PERERA noted a MOD sweeper vehicle yellow in colour driven by a civilian driver known to be either Jacqueline BARBAN or Alicia MUSCAT, drive towards the RGP patrol car and manoeuvre to block the patrol car which at the time was static. This caused Insp PERERA to circumvent the MOD vehicle so that the RGP vehicle was not blocked in. Insp PERERA then slowly moved up the cycle lane northbound to the middle of the runway. The RGP had it blue lights on. Seconds later Inspector PERERA moved further northwards and stopped the patrol car by the north barrier.

At approximately 1555Hrs a GDP dog section patrol car driven by GDP PC Diani with RAF Stn Cmdr Lt HUTCHINSON in the front passenger seat drove up to Insp PERERA's position. Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON told Insp PERERA that she knew what the RGP was doing and that she was "fed up of these silly games", adding that we were preventing a military aircraft from taking off and also endangering the said aircraft. Insp PERERA retorted that if the military aircraft remained by the apron where it currently was, no one would be endangered adding that if she knew what the police operation was about she should understand that we were exercising our duties in respect of this operation. Insp PERERA who at the time was on speaker phone with Ch Insp FINLAYSON and

Supt ULLGER informed Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON that there was an on going police investigation whereby it was strongly suspected that there were items on the aircraft which were linked to the investigation and that we wanted to retrieve them. She was also told that we were desperately trying to contact Col GREEN but had been unable to locate him. Supt ULLGER asked her to please check the manifest to establish whether such items (computers and mobile phones) were on board. She agreed to revert to Supt ULLGER once she had checked the manifest.

At 1559Hrs Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON called Supt ULLGER and stated that she had the manifest before her and that there was no computer equipment or phones logged in it. She was told that it was suspected that also on-board the aircraft was the serviceman subject of the investigation together with the exhibits appertaining to the case. She was informed that we had a warrant issued by the Chief Justice to retrieve these items which were in the possession of JPSU and that if she had any information she should be disclosing this to him. She was warned of the possible consequences of not co-operating with the requests. To this she stated that she would get back to Supt ULLGER. By responding as she did she was clearly revealing that she was withholding information. However, her word was taken at face value given the responsible post she holds and so the RGP patrol car with Insp PERERA was stood down and moved away from the airfield. Shortly after the aircraft returned to its stand within the apron.

At around 1515Hrs. whilst awaiting the arrival of PM COLLINS at the JPSU HQ at Gun Wharf I was asked by Sgt O'MALLEY to speak to Cmdr Jack Hawkins, PM COLLIN's line manager in the UK. The whole issue of whose jurisdiction over the matter was discussed with each of us arguing our respective positions. Cmdr Hawkins could not understand why we were taking such an interest in this case when the original offence had been disclosed in the UK. I repeated the RGP's position in the same way as it had been promulgated to PM COLLINS and Col GREEN. I also explained that in the absence of the JPSU co-operating with the RGP we had had to resort to securing a warrant from the Supreme Court of Gibraltar to retrieve the exhibits. Unsatisfied with what I saying Cmdr HAWKINS said he wanted to speak to the Chief Justice or a more senior police officer than me. PM COLLINS arrived at JPSU HQ at approximately 1625Hrs (40 minutes after I had arrived at the JPSU premises) whilst I was on the phone to his line manager.

PM COLLINS did not make himself available to me and I exercised great restraint in not asserting my authority under the circumstances and execute the warrant. Believe it or not I was still hopeful that PM COLLINS or his superiors would see sense and appreciate the levels this had reached. It was not to be and when I eventually was able to speak to PM COLLINS I expressed how unprofessional he had been in shunning me in the way he had. I accepted that this was an awkward for situation both of us but we had to be professional and resolve it without further conflict. I informed him that I would rather not execute the warrant and that we could still work the matter out favourably for both. PM COLLINS continued in his rigid way that he was at no liberty to discuss the matter with me. He kept receiving phone calls which he took in private. During one of these breaks in our conversation, I received reliable information that it was very likely that both the exhibits and WATTERSON were in fact on board the aircraft. This I relayed to my colleagues dealing with the airport side of the operation.

At 1629Hrs Supt ULLGER again called up Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON asking for any update to their last conversation. She insisted that she could not see anything in the manifest to suggest computers were on board. Supt ULLGER told her to stop being selective with words as she perfectly knew what he was on about i.e. that we were seeking out property/exhibits relating to the WATTERSON investigation. She was warned yet again to which she nervously replied that she would call Supt ULLGER back.

At 1650Hrs Supt ULLGER again called Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON and this time told her we had information that someone had disembarked from the aircraft with items. She was asked to confirm this and she replied that no-one or any cargo had been come off the aircraft. Supt ULLGER expressed his deep dissatisfaction at the misleading responses she was providing, informing her that RGP officers with eyeball on the aircraft had seen this happen. She again stated that she would revert to the Supt. She was reminded about the existence of the warrant and the fact that she could potentially be obstructing police in the execution of our duties. By this stage and by the tone of her voice Supt ULLGER made out that Stn Cmdr was clearly nervous and somewhat confused.

At 1659Hrs, Supt ULLGER called Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON and told her that the traffic barriers had been down for an inordinate amount of time causing major disruption on all our roads. There was also a potential for public disorder amongst thousands of disgruntled pedestrians and motorists who had been held up for over two and a half hours. He requested that traffic was allowed to circulate forthwith. She stated that pedestrians would be released immediately but when pressed to release vehicular traffic too she said she was working on it.

A RGP patrol car was again despatched to the airfield. Insp PAYAS who was in this patrol car positioned it in the same spot as Insp PERERA had initially positioned himself. He was again approached by a GDP officer who asked him to move the patrol car out of from the airfield or hand over the keys. This was denied on the same basis as earlier. The yellow MOD road sweeper again drove towards the RGP patrol car to block its position and causing Insp PAYAS to evade this manoeuvre. The driver of the sweeper vehicle, Ms MUSCAT was spoken to and advised to desist in her actions as she was rendering herself liable to arrest for obstructing police. She obliged and moved her works vehicle to the area of the western hangar.

At this juncture COP informed me that on conversations with Cmdr Hawkins the latter had pleaded to COP to allow the aircraft to depart as the evidence was required in the UK to pursue the investigation against WATTERSON. This then uncovered the truth which confirmed that the evidence and WATTERSON were on the flight although the three senior MOD officials were saying different, clearly to deceive us.

Around this time, I enquired from PM COLLINS whether the exhibits we wanted to seize were in the building and he replied in the negative. I went to on to inform him that I practically knewthat both WATTERSON and the exhibits were on board the aircraft and that we would proceed to retrieve them. He made no remark to this but I noted he suddenly became very pale and uneasy. I became concerned that he had become unwell but he reassured me he was ok. He took one further private call and after that call his behaviour completely changed. He mellowed to suggest that we should explore the running of a parallel investigation and that he would be making available the exhibits for the RGP to examine. I informed him that this course of action was the one I had suggested initially but had not met with his approval. I added that all the conflict and tensions experienced during the past few days could have been well averted.

The warrant issued by the Chief Justice was not executed in the end. At approximately 1745Hrs I was notified by COP that he had received assurances from the CBF that the exhibits would be handed over to the RGP in due course. Consequently, I returned to NMH where we held a de-brief and I arranged for an investigation team to liaise with JPSU to proceed with the investigation. The RGP vehicle positioned by the south barrier had also been recalled to NMH at 1745Hrs.

Final observations

You will no doubt have grasped how the escalation of tension was not down to lack of will or desire on our part to resolve the issues in a 'grown up' manner. In fact, as alluded to throughout the chronology of events, we made numerous requests for the handing over of the conduct of the [local] investigation. Sadly, we were taken to the limits only to finally achieve what we are perfectly entitled to. I take the following most salient moments as key to how the matter escalated to the levels they did with I dare say a clear devious intent on the part of the senior military officials we were dealing with;

- The poor judgement by JPSU of not sharing with the Gibraltar authorities the fact that they had a potential sex offender(s) in the jurisdiction and where it was reasonably suspected that offences may have been committed locally.
- The lack of supporting legal/tactical/logistical infrastructure for the JPSU to conduct enquiries in a territory where they claim to have jurisdiction and which in essence can lead to abuses of process.
- The lack of clarity on the part MOD's part as to who has primacy in Gibraltar.
- The local interpretation that the Armed Forces Act 2006 & 2016 are not applicable in Gibraltar: meaning the actions carried out JPSU could be construed as ultra vires.
- The intent by Col GREEN and PM COLLINS to disregard the authority of the RGP to assert jurisdiction over the local aspect of the investigation and undermine this authority further by making arrangements to sneak out the exhibits and WATTERSON when it was perfectly clear that the RGP had a [big] claim on the matter.
- The seemingly devious conspiracy employed by Col GREEN, PM COLLINS and Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON to ensure the RGP could not discharge their lawful duty and create a situation to exert pressure on the RGP to relent in our efforts. This includes (i) the instructions issued to civilian MOD drivers to block the path of two RGP patrol cars who were legitimately engaged in a police operation, (ii) the misleading and obstructive attitude displayed by the Stn Cmdr regarding the exhibits and person on board the aircraft (iii) the unhelpful attitudes and stances displayed by Col GREEN and PM COLLINS throughout. (iv) the traffic chaos and potential public order situation created due to the very long time the traffic barriers were closed when there was no need for this.

Finally, you may have a different view to me on this but, Sir, I submit to you that there has certainly been a serious breach of trust and confidence by, in my view, the three senior military officials referred to in this report. It will be awkward to say the least to re-establish this trust and confidence wherever and whenever our respective roles coincide in the future.

COP has requested a meeting between the under mentioned parties to be held at the office of Her Majesty's Attorney General for Gibraltar Michael LLAMAS QC at 1130Hrs on Wednesday 22nd February 2017 to discuss issues to prevent a repetition on of events described in this report.

To: Commissioner of Police

Attn: Frank Carreras OBE - PCB

Subject: OP APACHE – Complaint made to the PCB by Scott O'Malley and Claire Bell

Background to the matter in question:

In February 2017, I held the position of Detective Chief Inspector of the Crime & Protective Services Division. Detective Superintendent McGrail (now COP) was my direct line manager. In respect of Op Apache, I was the designated Senior Investigating Officer (SIO).

The events leading up to the commencement of Operation Apache & the incidents of the 8th February 2017 are described in full in the Commissioner's report submitted on this matter and I would respectfully ask you to refer to his report.

On receiving the initial information reference Watterson on the 4th February 2017, over the subsequent days, I had (together with Insp Enriles) a number of meetings and telephone conversations with the JPSU to attempt to deal with the matter appropriately, but to no avail. Consequently, on the 8th February 2017, the incident at the runway and South Dispersal transpired, whereby Watterson was attempted to be flown out of Gibraltar to the UK, together with exhibits that the JPSU had seized.

On the 8th February 2017, on receiving information that Watterson was to be removed from Gibraltar, together with the arrival of a military aircraft at the South Dispersal, prior to the incident at the runway, I spoke with Sergeant O'Malley over the telephone. The calls were as follows:

1. At 1519hrs - I telephoned the JPSU on call mobile and requested to speak with Provost Marshall Collins (as his mobile was switched off). JPSU Sergeant O'Malley stated that Collins was in a meeting with the Chief of Staff and was unavailable. I explained to him that it was imperative that contact was made, as this was in relation to the ongoing Watterson matter, to which the Sergeant took my contact number and confirmed he would call back ASAP.

2. At 1531hrs – As I had not received a call back, I again telephoned the JPSU on call mobile and again requested to speak with Collins. Sergeant O'Malley confirmed that he had had no luck. I asked him if he could confirm if the exhibits in question were still in Gibraltar and if they had been transported to the Military aircraft, which had just landed at North Front, to which he answered that he was unable to answer that, but understood the importance of my request. Again, he stated that he would attempt to contact Collins.

It was very clear that we were making no headway with the JPSU; we believed that this was all a ploy to enable the JPSU to continue with their planned manoeuvre to gain the advantage and be able to remove Watterson from Gibraltar. What must not be forgotten is that the JPSU were using these tactics, at the same time as senior Military personnel in Gibraltar informed the RGP that neither Watterson nor the exhibits were on the military aircraft. Therefore, with a search warrant (though not executed) together with other officers I entered the JPSU building and awaited the arrival of Collins.

In reality, both Watterson and the exhibits were in fact on the said aircraft, whereby they were subsequently removed and handed over to the RGP.

As per my Policy File Entry No.8 (pages 2689-2691), dated the 24th February 2017, in respect of the incident at RAF Gibraltar on the 8th February 2017 and to further our investigation the decision was made to (after consultation with the OCPL) apply for Search Warrants, under Section 19 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 for the following offences:

1. Attempting to pervert the cause of Justice, contrary to Common Law
2. Conspiracy to pervert the cause of Justice, contrary to Common Law

There would be four Search Warrants applied for, in respect of the following premises and named persons:

1. Room 26, The Tower, HM Naval Base, in the name of Col Frank Green
2. Joint Provost Security Unit (JPSU), Gun Wharf, in the name of Provost Marshall Chris Collins
3. RAF Station HQ, Mouchotte Building, Spitfire Way, RAF Gibraltar, in the name of Wing Commander Liz Hutchinson
4. Air Movements Office, Western Hanger, RAF Gibraltar, in the name of Wing Commander Liz Hutchinson

In relation to the Search Warrant at the JPSU, the aim of the search was to seize, "mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson and any other documentation or other items in relation to this mentioned investigation".

As per my Policy File entry No.8, page 2690, I state that, "the reason for obtaining these said search warrants is that we have during the course of the investigation (Op Apache) suspected that the subjects named in the warrants conspired with others to pervert / obstruct RGP investigating officers (namely their actions of the 8/2/17) from accessing material pertinent to the enquiry, in the full knowledge that the RGP were exercising their lawful duties and the material in question was required to pursue the investigation. The course of public justice could thus not be fulfilled, with the extent of their actions culminating with a concerted attempt by all 3 named persons to take the exhibits in question out of Gibraltar, by flying them on a military plane back to the UK".

In order to ascertain / investigate the extent of the believed conspiracy within the JPSU, we required "mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU". This meant that we required these items from all the staff members within the JPSU and not just the Provost Marshall. The JPSU is a very small department, with limited personnel, so it was correct to believe that all its members would have been heavily involved in an investigation of this type and the transfer of Watterson and the exhibits to RAF Gibraltar and onwards to the UK.

The Stipendiary Magistrate, Mr Pitto authorized the said warrants on the 27th February 2017.

On Wednesday the 1st March 2017, the decision was made to execute the said search warrants. The four search warrants would be executed simultaneously and I would lead the team to the JPSU building. Prior to 1350hrs, same date, I telephoned JPSU's Master of Arms Claire Bell and requested that she and her JPSU officers attend their office immediately, as I was in possession of a search warrant for their offices. At about 1353hrs, together with other RGP Detectives in plain clothes and a uniformed SOCO officer under my command entered the JPSU building for the purpose of executing the said search warrant. Sergeant Scott O'Malley of the JPSU allowed the RGP access into the said building, where I identified myself (though he already knew who I was from previous meetings) and my officers and the reasons for our presence was explained to him, he was shown the search warrant and explained the items that we would be seizing. In addition, present within the said building were other JPSU staff members, namely:

1. Allan MacDonald
2. Matthew Hempstead

Shortly after, and because of my request, Claire Bell arrived at the JPSU building, as so did Leanne Buehling. As I had already done so with Sergeant O'Malley, I explained to her the reasons for our presence, showed her the said search warrant and highlighted the items we would be seizing. As can be seen on the said search warrant / Search Register on Page 1, section 1, Claire Bell signs as

"Yes" the relevant section stating, "Was the owner/occupier handed a copy of Warrant/Authority AND of his Rights/Entitlements". Claire BELL had all the facts and reasons handed to her and explained. At the time, Provost Marshal Collins, the head of the JPSU was not in the building, as he was travelling at the time back from the UK and would be landing at the Gibraltar Airport later that afternoon. Meaning that Claire Bell, as Master at Arms was the senior officer of the JPSU present at that time.

At this time, Bell and O'Malley did raise concerns over the validity of the said search warrant and the seizing of pocket books, mobiles from all JPSU staff and referring to the fact that they were also Police. I explained that the reasoning behind this was covered in the search warrant and was all part of the suspected conspiracy.

During the course of the search, Sergeant O'Malley stated that he had his pocket book and mobiles at his residence. He was not under arrest, so we had no power to seize the said items. We were also not in possession of a search warrant for his residence. However, I asked him if he would voluntarily hand them over to Police, to which he answered in the affirmative. At no time did I or any of my officers' present, cause any intentional duress to any of the JPSU personnel present. There were no threats of arrest, no threats of violence, any constraints or any other action implied or used to coerce any of the JPSU personnel in doing something against their will or better judgement. This was also the case in respect of Bell and Buehling and their voluntary handing over of their items.

As a result, at about 1525hrs, Sergeant O'Malley left the JPSU building accompanied by only DC 127 Garcia-White and they went straight to his residence to recover the said items, as per the Search log, page 3A. DC Garcia-White (in plain clothes) entered the said residence with O'Malley and they were inside for no longer than 5 minutes, as O'Malley went straight for the items requested. No search of the residence was conducted as only the items requested were required. O'Malley's wife and child were in the house at the time, but friendly conversation between them all transpired during the said 5 minutes. At no time during this time did O'Malley inform the officer of his concerns about voluntarily handing over the items to Police. DC Garcia-White was present when we first entered the JPSU offices, whereby I informed the JPSU staff present that the persons with me were all RGP officers.

Subsequently, as per the Search log, page 4B the following items were voluntarily handed over by O'Malley from within his residence, at 19 West Walk, Europa Point between 1538hrs and 1544hrs:

1. Exhibit Book Entry No.24 – 1 x Black in colour Samsung mobile phone – LMGW/Telephone/1
2. Exhibit Book Entry No.25 – 1 x Black in colour Nokia 635 mobile phone and cable – LMGW/Telephone/2

3. Exhibit Book Entry No.26 – 1 x Note 3 Samsung mobile phone, 1 x Black phone case & 1 x white cable – LMGW/Telephone/3
4. Exhibit Book Entry No.27 – 1 x Pocketbook of Sergeant O'Malley – LMGW/DOC/5

At 1545hrs, I left the JPSU building, leaving DS 11 Goldwin and DS 10 Bautista in charge. At this stage, Sergeant O'Malley and DC Garcia-White had not returned to the JPSU building. I then made my way to the Gibraltar Airport awaiting the arrival of Provost Marshall Collins. On arresting Collins, I transferred him to NMH and I did not return to the JPSU building. I was not informed of any concerns or issues raised by any of the JPSU staff during the period that I was not there. The search terminated at 1631hrs, with no arrests made.

In the Exhibit Book, appertaining to the search at the JPSU building, entry numbers 3, 4, 10 & 11 show the exhibits handed over by O'Malley. These were recorded on a standard exhibits form with set headers referring to who seized and where items were seized. The relevant entries state that all four exhibits were seized (set header) from 19 West Walk, Europa Point and that the items were seized (set header) by, "DC 127 Garcia White (handed over by Sgt Scott O'Malley)".

Within the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011, Codes of Practice, Code B refers to the Codes of practice for searches of premises by Police officers and the seizure of property found by police officers on persons or premises. For the purposes of this Code, 'premises' as defined in this Act section 2, includes any vehicle, vessel, aircraft or hovercraft any stall, tent or moveable structure (including an offshore installation) and any other place whatever, whether or not occupied as land.

The pertinent section for this matter is Code B5 - Search with consent, which states:

"B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).

B5.2. Before seeking consent the officer in charge of the search must state the purpose of the proposed search and its extent. This information must be as specific as possible, particularly regarding the articles or persons being sought and the parts of the premises to be searched. The person concerned must be clearly informed he or she is not obliged to consent and anything seized may be produced in evidence. If at the time the person is not suspected of an offence, the officer must say this when stating the purpose of the search".

B5.3. An officer cannot enter and search or continue to search premises under paragraph B5.1 if consent is given under duress or withdrawn before the search is completed".

Both Sergeant O'Malley and Master at Arms Bell are senior members of the JPSU locally and work under the ethos and rules of UK PACE. They fully knew that they were not under arrest, what my limitations were and its implications. They both volunteered consent for the said items to be handed over and did not do so under any form of duress nor did they withdraw their consent at any stage. If they had not given their consent, the handing over of their items would not have occurred. The search at the JPSU building would have continued, and further search warrants to be able to search other identified locations would have had to been obtained. However, this was not required, as with their consent the searches were carried out.

The following are the Notes for Guidance for Code B for this section and state the following:

5A. In a lodging house or similar accommodation, every reasonable effort should be made to obtain the consent of the tenant, lodger or occupier. A search should not be made solely on the basis of the landlord's consent unless the tenant, lodger or occupier is unavailable and the matter is urgent.

5B. If the intention is to search premises under the authority of a warrant or a power of entry and search without warrant, and the occupier of the premises co-operates in accordance with paragraph B6.4, there is no need to obtain written consent.

In respect of section B6.4 (Entry without consent), the Searching of premises - general considerations, it states:

B6.4. The officer in charge of the search must first try to communicate with the occupier, or any other person entitled to grant access to the premises, explain the authority under which entry is sought and ask the occupier to allow entry, unless–

(a) The search premises are unoccupied;
(b) The occupier and any other person entitled to grant access are absent;
(c) There are reasonable grounds for believing that alerting the occupier or any other person entitled to grant access would frustrate the object of the search or endanger officers or other people".

Both Bell and O'Malley refer to Paragraph 5.3 of Code B of the Codes of Practice and that their permission was only given under duress. I categorically deny that any form of duress was directed to Bell, O'Malley or any other member of the JPSU by myself or any of my officers present.

Bell alleges that during the search warrant I said "in a few days we will be laughing about this over a few beers", to which she replied to me "we will never laugh about this, nor will we ever have a beer together". I was involved with this matter from the very outset. Not only was I the SIO for this operation, I was also the senior line manager in charge of our Public Protection Unit, incorporating our Safeguarding team. In addition, I was the chair for the Gibraltar Public Protection Panel, managing Gibraltar's registered sex offenders, through our Designated Risk Managers. I was fully aware of the seriousness of the allegations against Watterson, the risk this created, its implications and consequences for the local community. But, also how wrongly the JPSU had "policed" the Watterson matter, contrary to local MAPPA policy.

I would like to point out that during the days leading up to the 8th February 2017, I had gone to numerous meetings with both Collins and Bell, with senior Military personnel based in Gibraltar, received / read correspondence from very senior UK based military personnel, with the Attorney General, with the OCPL and senior RGP officers. As a result, I was more than fully aware of the serious implications and possible consequences this operation could create for HMGOG, the RGP and MOD future cooperation. I was physically at the runway on the 8th February 2017 and saw firsthand the impact our actions had on public confidence and subsequently evidenced via the international press. Her comments suggest that I was not taking the matter seriously and making jest out of it all. For the reasons I have stated above, I would not have made a comment of this type and I did not make this comment.

From the outset the JPSU staff acted totally outside of their local remit and without absolutely any appropriate authority when arresting Watterson, searching his residence and seizing exhibits and were actively involved in the attempted removal of Watterson by air. There was a clear display of unprofessional behaviour and a disregard and contempt of RGP authority and powers and Gibraltar PLC legislation.

It is important to remember that the JPSU's senior officer locally and two other individuals out of the top three military personnel in Gibraltar were in fact arrested for the offences stated above, whereas the RGP's actions were justified and backed with a search warrant legally obtained and with the support of the Attorney General and the OCPL.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further details or any clarification.

Dear Commissioner,

I am writing on behalf of Joint Forces Command – the organisation that commands and is responsible for the UK's permanent joint overseas bases – in respect of the ongoing investigations surrounding events on the 8th February, which unfolded in Gibraltar, in particular around Gibraltar International Airport.

There are a number of points that it seems appropriate to reflect to you. It is hoped these reflections are helpful to you on several accounts:

(1) first to acknowledge the role, advice and direction that Joint Forces Command provided to Commander British Forces Gibraltar on the legal issues impacting on the events of 8th February;

(2) secondly, to recognise and support the individuals involved and who are presently under your arrest and whose actions under your investigations were under the auspices of Joint Forces Command in the fulfilment of their duties. In doing so, it is understood these individuals' actions may have clashed with the responsibilities that your officers properly sought to fulfil; and

(3) finally, to reassure you about the seriousness with which Joint Forces Command views the allegations that have been made, the eagerness to try and satisfactorily settle – to everyone's satisfaction – the concerns with which the Royal Gibraltar Police are understandably investigating, and our genuine enthusiasm – if possible – to use these events as a platform to grow an even better understanding between our respective organisations and to build an even stronger and mutually respectful and beneficial future together.

Taking these points in turn:

Joint Forces Command regrets the events that took place in Gibraltar on the 8th February. This includes the events at Gibraltar International Airport and the dispute as to jurisdiction that led to the confusion by British Forces Gibraltar over the appropriate handling of the individual suspected of downloading indecent material whilst in the United Kingdom; and the detailed management of this particular case. It was the view of Joint Forces Command that the case was to be subject to exclusive Service Police jurisdiction – which turned out not to be correct. This was on the basis that Joint Forces Command was unaware of any potential offences that had been committed by the alleged suspect whilst in Gibraltar or of your suspicions in this respect.

It is acknowledged that in responding to your desire to explore potential illegal activities by the suspect, Joint Forces Command and subsequently British Forces Gibraltar did not immediately recognise the jurisdictional legal primacy in this case for you to investigate, and if necessary, prosecute the individual were he to be found to have committed a similar or other offence in Gibraltar. I want to reassure you that subsequent additional advice, including at a senior legal level in the Ministry of Defence, recognises the legal primacy point in this case. Joint Forces Command now, therefore, fully understands and respects your legal primacy in this case as the law currently stands today.

We are aware that Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has prioritised the drafting of legislation and an MoU that will clearly spell out our respective, complementary jurisdictional roles. It would also be highly desirable for agreement to be reached between our respective agencies setting out the practical application of jurisdiction for the period between now and the enactment of such legislation.

In the course of the events that unfolded on the 8th February, it is considered very important by Joint Forces Command that you should understand that at all material times our people acted in good faith and to implement the direction and guidance provided by Joint Forces Command and Provost Marshal (Navy). They were not on a "frolic of their own" in any sense and were therefore not consciously seeking to deny your officers jurisdiction, or disrespect your officers' lawful instructions. They were acting entirely in keeping with the instructions they were receiving, albeit, with the benefit of hindsight, in a manner which did not assist in resolving matters as expeditiously as all would have preferred.

I think it is important for you to be made aware that there was a decision, as part of the Joint Forces Command application of our duty of care to our personnel, to return the suspect to the United Kingdom for the individual's own welfare. Again, this decision was based on the view that jurisdiction to deal with the offence in question remained exclusively with Forces law enforcement agencies – which turned out not to be correct. It was in pursuance of this requirement and judgement that more appropriate care would be afforded the suspect in the United Kingdom, that British Forces Gibraltar personnel were instructed to facilitate the opportunity of a military aircraft to both return the individual to the United Kingdom and to transport potentially incriminating evidence for forensic examination. I should clarify that, fundamentally, this was because the facilities at RAF Brize Norton were considered more appropriate for looking after the individual than those of British Forces Gibraltar, and, ordinarily, the capability for Service Police investigations overseas which require electronic and communications forensic analysis is held in the United Kingdom. It is in seeking to implement this approach that, unfortunately, personnel from British Forces Gibraltar had what were clearly unfortunate altercations with officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police who were acting in the lawful execution of their duties. I cannot emphasise to you how much we regret, with the benefit of hindsight and the later legal advice we have received, that we were not better able to cooperate with those of your officers in question. These altercations should not have happened and any active disagreement as to jurisdiction should, in any event, have been handled in the more dignified and usual manner for issues of this type. I must express to you in particular our genuine regret to hear accusations that British Forces Gibraltar personnel behaved disrespectfully towards officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police and that they were inconsiderate of the requirements under which your officers were seeking to undertake their lawful activities and investigations. That is not in the nature of the relationship we have long enjoyed between our organisations.

It is hoped, sincerely, that these events can be used to assist us all in a clearer understanding of the Royal Gibraltar Police's jurisdiction in respect of criminal matters and British Forces Gibraltar's application of service law: and that – looking ahead – there are considerable opportunities to enable our respective law enforcement agencies and leadership to work even more closely together. There are numerous significant opportunities to enable this: the routine business of service people in Gibraltar; the joint policing that is usually put in place for the arrival and duration of Royal Navy warships and submarines; and the ambition that we all have to draw further on various Gibraltar Parliament statutes anticipated to be enacted later this year and which will provide a stronger and clearer platform for continued co-operation and enhanced security measures and resilience for Gibraltar.

It is hoped that this contextual information is of assistance in providing an appropriate and accurate background for many of the actions that Service Personnel took in the course of their duties in respect of the events and associated interactions that flowed from the 8th February incident.

Joint Forces Command assures you that there was not and never envisaged any intention to attempt to fetter the Royal Gibraltar Police's jurisdiction. That it appeared otherwise is deeply regretted. It is sincerely hoped that our future interactions are on a more positive basis and that we collectively work together to enhance the security of the United Kingdom and Gibraltar.

Yours sincerely,

Tony Radakin

Dear Commissioner,

Re: Watterson

I write further to the events of 7-8 February 2017 in respect of the investigation by the RGP into the above captioned member of Her Majesty's Forces stationed in Gibraltar.

As you know, on those days I was in contact with officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) as events unfolded in relation to your ongoing investigation into the above-captioned.

I have had sight of a letter that the Chief of Staff Joint Forces Command, Rear Admiral Tony Radakin, has sent to you dated 8 March 2017.

I note that the communication from Rear Admiral Radakin serves to clarify the position of the Ministry of Defence as to jurisdiction in respect of the above captioned. The letter also makes clear that, at all times, I was acting in the fulfilment of my duties as directed by my superiors, and on the advice from Joint Forces Command and Provost Marshal (Navy).

It now transpires that the advice on jurisdiction, which formed the basis for my directed actions, was not correct. I clearly did not know this at the time of the events and was, indeed, led to believe the opposite.

I would welcome the opportunity to come to see you for a face-to-face meeting as a further step towards the reconciliation we all seek and the restoration of the excellent relationship I have always enjoyed with the RGP.

Yours Sincerely

As you know, on those days I was in contact with officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) at JPSU Gun Wharf as events unfolded in relation to your ongoing investigation into the above-captioned.

I have had sight of a letter that the Chief of Staff Joint Forces Command, Rear Admiral Tony Radakin, has sent to you dated 8 March 2017.

It now transpires that the advice on jurisdiction, which formed the basis for my directed actions, was not correct. I clearly did not know this at the time of the events and was, indeed, led to believe the opposite.

In light of the above, it will be evident to you that my actions on the dates in question at JPSU Gun Wharf were at all times taken in the good faith belief that my superiors were directing me to act in keeping with the law.

In particular, it was evidently not my intention to obstruct any officer of the RGP in the lawful performance of their duties, nor to obstruct their investigation, even less to have attempted to pervert, or to conspire to pervert, the course of justice. Nothing could have been further from my mind. Indeed, as a member myself of Her Majesty's Armed Forces, I am entirely committed to the observance of the law and of the rule of law. If any of my actions are seen by you as even remotely giving that impression, I sincerely and unreservedly apologise.

You will therefore not be surprised to know that I thoroughly regret the events that took place and wholeheartedly apologise if any of my actions are or were seen by you or your officers as any conscious desire or intent by me to obstruct any investigation by the RGP or to disrespect the RGP. I deeply regret that my actions may have led to this perception. I would wish to reiterate that I was acting in support and in furtherance of the MoD's understanding of its legal position and I was at all times seeking to fulfil my obligations as a directed member of a disciplined, uniformed, body with integrity and honesty.

It goes without saying that I fully respect the RGP and have worked well with them as an equal partner agency before the events of the past weeks. I sincerely hope that JPSU generally, and myself personally, will be able to return to the previously prevailing normality in which we both contribute towards the policing and security of Gibraltar, to the mutual benefit of this whole community and the United Kingdom. With the benefit of hindsight, if such an event occurred again I would seek to ensure a more constructive dialogue at an earlier stage and would certainly not act as I did on this disagreeable occasion.

I would welcome the opportunity to come to see you for a face-to-face meeting as a further step towards the reconciliation we all seek and the restoration of the excellent relationship I have always enjoyed with the RGP.

Dear Chief Minister,

Re.: Watterson Inquiry

I refer to your request to the Gibraltar Police Authority ("GPA") to enquire from the Royal Gibraltar Police ("RGP") into the events that transpired on and around 8th February 2017 relating to Sergeant Watterson (the "Watterson Incident").

We have reviewed the relevant reports prepared by the RGP in respect of the Watterson Incident, and have further discussed and raised questions relating to the effectiveness and probity of policing in Gibraltar by the RGP in connection therewith. In particular, we have interviewed the Commissioner of Police and his most senior ranking officers in relation to the Watterson Incident, being careful to understand the thought processes and considerations of the RGP officers involved in the Watterson Incident, including but not limited to (i) whether the consequences of the actions and restraint of the relevant RGP officers throughout the Watterson Incident were considered and deliberated; (ii) whether the actions of, and restraint shown by, the relevant RGP officers throughout the Watterson Incident were necessary and proportional; and (iii) whether with the benefit of hindsight any actions could or should have been taken differently by the RGP.

The GPA has come to the firm conclusion that the actions of and the restraint shown by the relevant RGP officers during the Watterson Incident were considered, deliberated, entirely proportional and highly commendable. As such, we do not doubt the effectiveness and probity of the policing demonstrated by the RGP in respect of the Watterson Incident. We would take the liberty of adding, though it may not be our place to do so, that the actions of certain MOD personnel in respect of the Watterson Incident deserve censure and that you should consider whether a full inquiry ought to be undertaken by a body independent of the RGP and the MOD so that lessons may be learnt from this incident.

I remain at your disposal should you wish to discuss this matter further.

Yours sincerely,

What:

Who was involved?
Mrs Claire Bell
Mr Scott O'Malley
Mr Al Macdonald
Mrs Leanne Buehling

What:

DCI Tunbridge acted outside the remit of the warrant that was served on JPSU by seizing articles namely my Service Police Notebook from a PMV belonging which belonged to Mr Macdonald, neither I or the PMV were specified on the warrant, I did not consent verbally or in writing to this, DCI Tunbridge breached both the human rights act (Article 8) in relation to the above named people involved and also Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice by seizing my private mobile telephone. I also believe I was unlawfully detained for a period of time at JPSU whilst my personal mobile telephone was being seized.

Witnesses:

Mr Scott O'Malley
Mr Al Macdonald
Miss Leanne Buehling

Damage/injury:

No damage (unsure if my personal mobile telephone has been interrogated by the RGP), no physical injury. Emotional injury: Anxiety and stress.

Précis of events:

On 1 Mar 17 it is my belief that the RGP clearly acted outside the extent of a Warrant that was served upon my place of work, taking personnel either to their private motor vehicles, private home addresses or private living Accommodation to make various seizures of Private Mobile phones and other articles. It is my belief that the RGP had no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and unlawfully and illegally entered private premises and vehicles to seize such items.

The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf, it did not extend to, the RGP escorting myself to a Private Motor Vehicle (PMV) to seize my private mobile telephone, it did not extend to RGP escorting Mr McDonald to his PMV, in order to seize his private mobile phone, it did not extend to the RGP escorting Mr O'Malley to his family home at Europa Point and entering those premises, to seize his private mobile phone and it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her private living accommodation at Devils Tower Camp, entering those premises and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of our liberty and of our free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached the human rights of all of us citing this complaint under Article7/8 of European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) and Article 7/8, Human Rights Act (HRA) 1998. I was never under arrest however; my personal mobile telephone was seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy.

Finally, to end, I would like to complain about the unprofessional way the search was actually conducted. The RGP did not wear any PPE, not even the minimum of a pair of gloves were worn, no photographs were taken of the articles prior to them being seized and more disturbingly, no information was ever sought regarding the occupants of a private home addresses which included Mr O'Malley's wife and four-year-old daughter. No justification was ever given on what articles were seized or not seized. No Explanation was ever given to us regarding the powers used to seize or retain such articles.

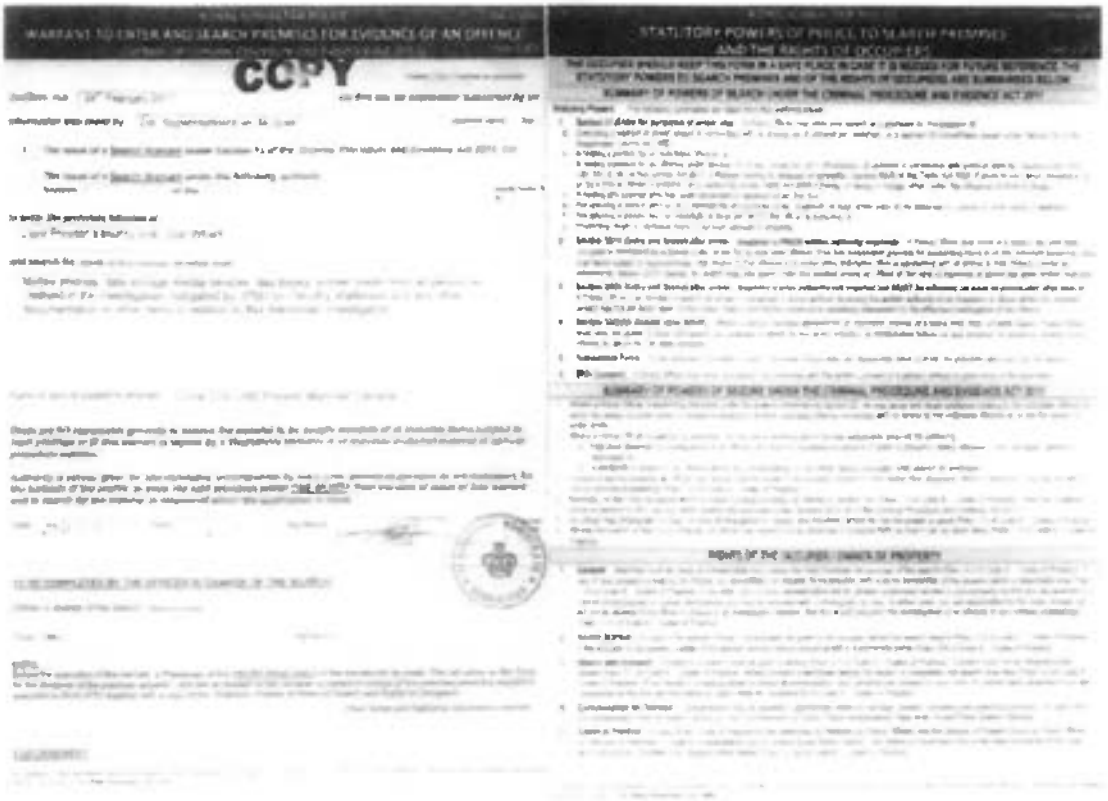
Below is an accurate précis of the events that occurred on 1 Mar 17 and a copy of the warrant served.

At approximately 1340 on 1 Mar 17, I received a telephone call from DCI Wayne Tunbridge who stated I was required to attend the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) at Her Majesty's Naval Base Gibraltar. I was instructed to round up my team and that he had a Warrant to conduct a search of JPSU and that he would explain further upon her arrival. He said he would not enter until my arrival. I left my house immediately leaving my wife in a very distressful state as she did know what may happen to me.

At 1400, upon request of the RGP, Mr O'Malley escorted the RGP into JPSU offices. DCI W Tunbridge, RGP spoke to him when they were interrupted by another RGP officer who stated, "has the Warrant been served?" to which DCI Tunbridge stated "yes".

The warrant was applied for by Det Sup McGrail on 24 Feb 17 and signed by the magistrate on 27 Feb 17 at 1220. The name of the person subject to the warrant was Chris COLLINS Provost Marshal Gibraltar. It stated the warrant was to enter the premises situated at "Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf" and search for "Mobile Phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson and any other documentation or other items in relation to this mentioned investigation"

Mr O'Malley expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and expressed concerns about having to surrender his personal mobile device.



At 1405, I liaised with DCI Tunbridge, the Warrant was served on me, in disbelief I stated, "you are just about to serve a warrant on another policing agency, can you at least speak with Deputy Provost Marshall (Navy) (DPM (N))?" DCI Tunbridge stated that a decision had come from higher and that he was serving the Warrant and that DPM (N) needed to speak with the Commissioner not him. I signed the warrant and was subsequently given a copy of the warrant.

Both myself and Mr O'Malley continued to express concerns to DCI Tunbridge regarding the seizure of our private mobile telephones. He stated that the decision had come from higher up and was only acting on orders. He stated that he had no choice but to carry out the warrant. This statement did not seem very genuine.

DCI Tunbridge stated to me "in a few days we will be laughing about this over a few beers", I replied to DCI Tunbridge "we will never laugh about this, nor will we ever have a beer together"

At 1417, I was escorted out of JPSU offices to a vehicle which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of my Service Police Notebook. No warrant was produced to enter the PMV. I was then escorted back into the JPSU building and at 1425, my private personal mobile telephone was seized, which contained personal information and the device was my only way of communicating to my family back in the UK. In fear of being arrested, I handed my mobile telephone over to the police officer, under duress and without consent either written or verbal. I expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and about having to surrender my personal mobile device, when I questioned the police officer at the time "why they are taking my personal phone" he replied, "because they needed it".

The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show me his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking my property, he did not tell me what offence was being investigated or what part he believed I played in it, he did not explain what would happen to my property and did not give me a receipt for my personal property. I was not in arrest at any time however during course of the day I do believe that I had been unlawfully detained against my will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1419, Mr A McDonald was escorted out of JPSU to his vehicle, which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of his personal mobile device, containing personal information. No warrant was produced to enter the vehicle. On completion of the search of Mr Macdonald's office he requested if he could leave as he had arranged to go in to Town with his wife. This request was denied by RGP who stated he had to remain until the search of JPSU was completed. Mr McDonald was not in arrest and his liberty was denied.

At 1515, Mr O'Malley again spoke with DCI Tunbridge challenging the requirement to seize his personal phone, as he was not in arrest, he again expressed his concerns and the property they were demanding were at his home address [redacted]

DCI, Tunbridge stated that he would be escorted to his home address by an RGP officer and he was to hand them over there. At 1516, he departed JPSU in company with an RGP officer to produce his mobile phones. At 1538, Mr O'Malley entered his Service Family Accomodation (SFA) the RGP officer entered behind him, uninvited and in front of his very worried and distraught wife, [redacted] and his [redacted] in fear of being arrested, under duress and without consent either written or verbal he handed over his mobile devices, duty mobile phone and service police notebook. The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show him his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking his property, he did not tell him what offence was being investigated or what part he believed Mr O'Malley played in it, he did not explain what would happen to his property and did not give him a receipt for the property. Mr O'Malley subsequently returned to JPSU. He was not in arrest at any time however during the course of that day I believe that he had been unlawfully detained, against his will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1600, Miss L Buehling was escorted out of JPSU and escorted by RGP to her Service Living Accommodating (SLA) at Devil Tower Camp, (DTC) to surrender her personnel mobile device, which contained personal date. Miss Buehling expressed her concerns at the time even stating, "she did not want to hand over her personal phone" but she was informed by RGP that "she had to". She handed over her phone without consent either written or verbally and under duress. Miss Buehling subsequently returned to JPSU. Miss Buehling was not in arrest.

I make my complaint on two primary grounds but with each amounting to various breaches namely:

1. The RGP have no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and have unlawfully and illegally entered PMV and private premises by which to seize such articles. The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf – it did not extend to the RGP escorting me to a PMV, escorting Mr O'Malley to the SFA at Europa Point entering those premises and making seizures, it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her SLA at DTC and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of liberty and of theirs and my own free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

2. More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached my human rights under Article7/8 of ECHR and Article 7/8, HRA 1998. Mr O'Malley, Mr Macdonald, Miss Buehling and I were not arrested however personal mobile phones were seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails etc. I would like this matter to be investigated and receive advice on under what legislation the RGP can interrogate my phone and the admissibility of any material obtained by such an intrusive interrogation of personal data.

There has been a delay in submitting my complaint, due to being informed by GoG and the MOD that and independent enquiry would take place, which would have highlighted the unlawful actions of the RGP and the unlawful treatment of MOD personnel. However, that enquiry has not taken place and is not taken place. There is also a delay in submitting this complaint due to the fear and threat of low-level harassment from the RGP, whilst I was still in Gibraltar. Now I am safely back in the UK away from the RGP who I view as having acted unlawfully, unethically and unscrupulously in this instance, I wish to submit my complaint.

Finally, I have been informed that the now Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail at a recent conference stated that the investigation could be re-opened at any time "he wishes". I am seriously concerned with this comment. I had in the past been informed that I may have been part of the wider investigation, which may have resulted in my arrest, to that end in line with the Subject Access Request, I wish to know what information the RGP hold on me.

I give my consent for you to pass the information contained on the letter to the professional standards department of the RGP in connection with the investigation of this complaint.

Signed:  Date: 19-Aug-19

In the matter of the Police Act, 2006

And

In the matter of the complaint by Claire Bell against the Royal Gibraltar Police

A complaint has been lodged by Mrs Claire Bell (the complainant) against the Royal Gibraltar Police ("RGP") alleging that Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail and Detective Chief Inspector Wayne Tunbridge acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) and that the RGP carried out the search in a very unprofessional manner.

A sub-committee of the Police Complaints Board was constituted to investigate the complaints. Pursuant to regulation 3(3) of the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008, the Board has the power to regulate its own proceedings, to consider and investigate complaints.

The complaint was presented to the members of the sub-committee who have investigated the complaint.

The sub-committee has read the report submitted by the complainant who alleges that on 1 March 2017, the RGP acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the JPSU by escorting her to her motor vehicle which was parked outside the JPSU and taking possession of her Service Police Notebook. The complainant further alleges that she handed over her mobile phone under duress and without her written or verbal consent. The complainant contends that the search warrant entitled the RGP to enter and search the JPSU but it did not extend to her vehicle or to the residence of other JPSU personnel. The complainant further alleges that RGP officers breached her rights under the European Convention on Human Rights and under the Human Rights Act 1998. She claims that because she was not arrested and having her personal mobile phone and the Service Police Notebook seized, this action breached her rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails.

The sub-committee also notes the complainant's concern regarding a statement made by Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail in a recent conference that "he could re-open the investigation at any time, if he so wished." However, when asked, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail categorically denied having made such a statement.

The sub-committee has also read the report and supporting documents submitted by the RGP outlining the said events according to police records. It has taken note of the fact that at the time when the search warrant was executed, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail held the position of Detective Superintendent and Superintendent Tumbridge held the position of Detective Chief Inspector. The sub-committee also notes that the aim of the search warrant was to seize mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books and all other material in the possession of those individuals involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson.

The sub-committee notes from the report submitted by Superintendent Tumbridge that on 1 March 2017, he executed the search warrant and that he identified himself and his men to Mr Scott O'Malley who allowed them access into the JPSU building. Superintendent Tumbridge claims that he served the complainant with the search warrant and explained to her the reason for his presence and informed her of the items he would be seizing. It is also noted that the warrant was signed by the complainant and later the RGP provided her with a copy.

Notwithstanding the above and the fact that the warrant allowed for the seizure of certain items, it is noted that the complainant expressed her concern over the legality and necessity of the search warrant and the surrendering of the Service Police Notebook and mobile phone. Superintendent Tumbridge claims that he explained to the complainant that the reason for seizing the material was covered in the search warrant and it was all part of the suspected conspiracy.

The sub-committee also notes that Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail was the officer who applied to the Court for the issue of a warrant to enter and search the said premises and understands that he did not physically partake in the search of the JPSU or the complainant's motor vehicle.

In his report, Superintendent Tumbridge explains that the items seized were handed over by the complainant and other JPSU personnel to the RGP voluntarily and that at no time did he or any of his men cause any intentional duress to the complainant or to any other JPSU personnel. He further claims that there were no threats of arrest, no threats of violence, any constraints or any other action implied or used to coerce the complainant in doing something against her will or better judgment. This is in conflict with the statement made by the complainant in that the items were taken without her oral or written consent. Superintendent Tumbridge acknowledges that the complainant was not under arrest and therefore he had no power to seize the items. He further confirms that he was not in possession of a warrant to search the complainant's vehicle.

In arriving at its decision, the sub-committee has considered all the reports, statements and evidence submitted by Mrs Claire Bell, the Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail, Superintendent Tumbridge and has also taken note of the advice provided by Counsel.

The sub-committee finds that:

The RGP were legally entitled to enter and carry out a search of the JPSU and seize the equipment authorise under the warrant;

The warrant did not extend to the complainant's motor vehicle or to the residence of the other JPSU personnel and therefore the RGP were not legally entitled to enter and search the said premises and motor vehicle without the prior permission of the complainant in the case of her motor vehicle and the other JPSU personnel in respect of their respective residence (this is acknowledged by the RGP in their report). However, there are conflicting statements from both the complainant and the RGP in relation to the seizure of the equipment from the complainant's vehicle. The complainant alleges that she did not grant permission to the RGP to escort her to her vehicle and seize the material sought. She further alleges that such an escort amounted to an infringement of her liberty and free movement and could be considered as an unlawful detention. It is alleged by the RGP that the complainant and all JPSU personnel handed over all material voluntarily.

On the basis of the above and considering all the evidence presented, the sub-committee has come to the conclusion that there is insufficient evidence to find, on a balance of probabilities, that the RGP acted unlawfully and illegally when entering the residence of the JPSU personnel and the complainant's vehicle to obtain the equipment sought and that the action of the RGP did not breach any human rights afforded of the complainant and other JPSU staff under the European Convention on Human Rights and the Human Rights Act 1998.

The Police Complaints Board has considered the findings of the sub-committee and finds that the RGP did not act unprofessionally in the execution of their duties and, therefore, the complaint has not been sustained. The complaint made against the Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail and Superintendent Wayne Tumbridge is, therefore, dismissed.

Dated this 29 May 2020.

Good Afternoon,

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 I am entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority review the decision of the Police Complaints Board.

'I consider that the decision or recommendation of the Board was manifestly wrong or perverse and that no reasonable Board properly considering the complaint could have come to that decision or recommendation.'

Having read the response of the board, the board agreed that the search warrant did not extend to my Private Motor Vehicle and therefore RGP were not legally entitled to enter and search and seize my property, however the board concluded there was insufficient evidence to find on the balance of probabilities that the RGP acted unlawfully and illegally when entering my PMV and seizing my personal mobile telephone. The decision is based on "conflicting statements".

If, as DI Tunbridge states, I gave consent, for my PMV to be searched and my personal mobile phone to be seized please can you confirm the board was provided with a copy of the relevant pages of the police notebook showing what I agreed to, a copy of the documents where I gave my written consent and where I signed. (Search with consent: Consent of search must be given in writing (Para 5.1 of Code B – Codes of practice). A police officer acting lawfully and in accordance with RGP codes of practice would have some record of my signature where I am giving written or verbal consent.

Can you confirm that it has been evidenced to the board of my written consent in the search register. The codes state 'B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).'

Can you please confirm the board was provided with a copy of the strategy and decision log for the investigation that shows the reasons, grounds and necessary criteria for the arrests, searches and subsequent seizures of devices.

Can you please confirm the board viewed a copy of the original search warrant that was applied for and refused, were the board furnished with the reasons why it was originally refused and IAW codes what were the additional grounds provided in order to get the second search warrant approved. (codes state 'B3.8. If a search warrant application is refused, a further application may not be made for those premises unless supported by additional grounds)

If the board did view all the aforementioned documents can I please have a copy.

Let me make this very clear, I never verbally gave consent for my PMV to be searched and I never gave consent in writing. I disputed the legality of the search and the seizure from the outset to Wayne Tunbridge and other officers present. I complained immediately to my CoC about the unlawful search, search and treatment by the RGP (which I have kept an email record of). My private mobile phone was handed over under duress, I opened my vehicle up for the RGP to search under duress. Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice)

What:

DCI Tunbridge acted outside the remit of the warrant that was served on JPSU by seizing my personal devices from my home address, neither I or my home address were specified on the warrant, I did not consent verbally or in writing to this, he breached both the human rights act (Article 8) in relation to the above named people involved and also Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice. I also believe I was unlawfully detained for a period of time at JPSU and also within my own house whilst my personal items were being seized.

Damage/injury:

No damage, no physical injury. Emotional injury: Anxiety, stress and lack of sleep are on-going with treatment from the Senior Medical Officer at the PRMC, Devils Tower Camp and Dr Mejia at the Medical Investigation Unit at St Bernard's Hospital.

Précis of events:

On 1 Mar 17 it is my belief that the RGP clearly acted outside the extent of a Warrant that was served upon my place of work, taking personnel either to their private motor vehicles, private home addresses or private living Accommodation to make various seizures of Private Mobile phones and other articles. It is my belief that the RGP had no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and unlawfully and illegally entered private premises and vehicles to seize such items.

The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf, and upon Sqn Ldr Chris Collins whom was not present at the scene. – it does not extend to the RGP escorting Mrs Bell to a private motor vehicle to seize an article, it did not extend to RGP escorting Mr McDonald to his private motor vehicle, in order to seize his private mobile phone, it did not extend to the RGP escorting me to my family home at Europa Point and entering those premises, to seize my private mobile phone and it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her private living accommodation at Devils Tower Camp, entering those premises and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of our liberty and of our free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached the human rights of all of us citing this complaint under Article 5/7/8 of European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) and Article 7/8, Human Rights Act (HRA) 1998. I was never under arrest however; personal mobile phones were seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy.

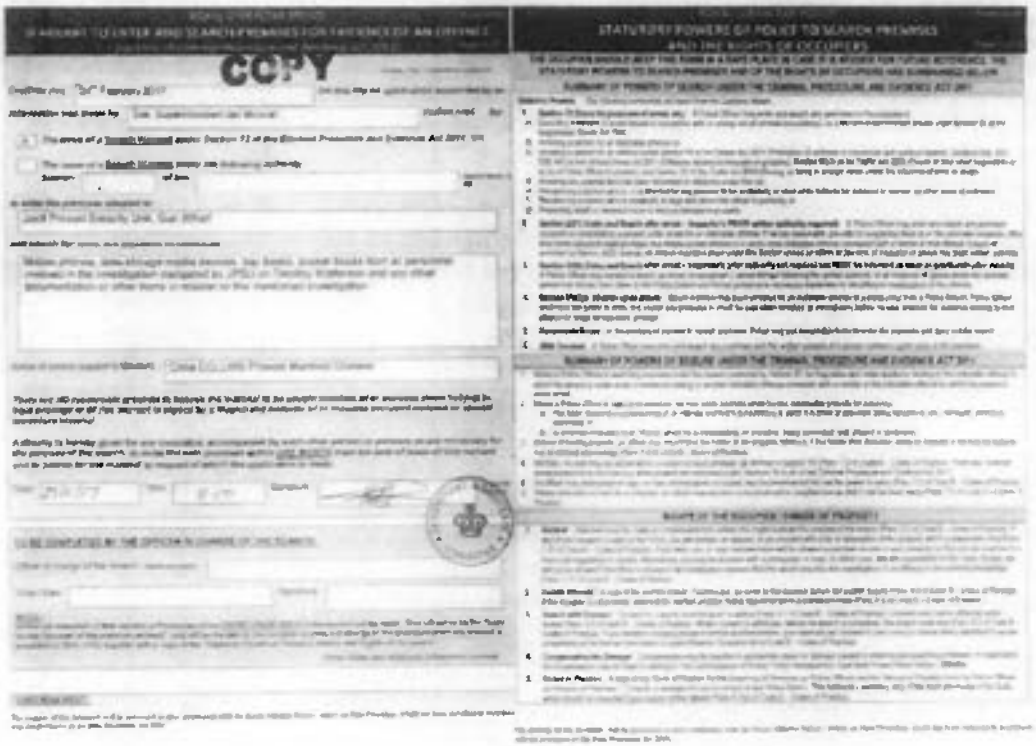
Finally, to end, we would like to complain about the unprofessional way the search was actually conducted. The RGP did not wear any PPE, not even the minimum of a pair of gloves were worn, no photographs were taken of the articles prior to them being seized and more disturbingly, no information was ever sought regarding the occupants of a private home addresses which included my wife and four-year-old daughter. No justification was ever given on what articles were seized or not seized. No Explanation was ever given to us regarding the powers used to seize or retain such articles.

Below is an accurate précis of the events that occurred on 1 Mar 17 and a copy of the warrant served.

At approximately 1340 on 21 Mar 17, Mrs Claire Bell received a T/C from DCI Wayne Tunbridge who stated she was required to attend the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) at Her Majesty's Naval Base Gibraltar, she was instructed to round up her team and that he had a Warrant to conduct a search of JPSU and that he would explain further upon her arrival. He said he would not enter until her arrival.

At 1400, upon request of the RGP, I escorted the RGP into JPSU offices. DCI W Tunbridge, RGP spoke to me when they were interrupted by another RGP officer who stated "has the Warrant been served?" to which DI Tunbridge stated "yes".

The warrant was applied for by Det Sup McGrail on 24 Feb 17 and signed by the magistrate on 27 Feb 17 at 1220. The name of the person subject to the warrant was Chris COLLINS Provost Marshal Gibraltar. It stated the warrant was to enter the premises situated at "Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf" and search for "Mobile Phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson and any other documentation or other items in relation to this mentioned investigation" I expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and expressed concerns about having to surrender my personal mobile device.



At 1405 Mrs Claire Bell, liaised with DCI Tunbridge. Again the Warrant was served on her she stated her disbelief and "you are just about to serve a warrant on another policing agency, can you at least speak with Deputy Provost Marshall (Navy) (DPM (N))?" DCI Tunbridge stated that a decision had come from higher and that he was serving the Warrant and that DPM (N) needed to speak with the Commissioner not him. Mrs Claire Bell signed and was given the copy of the warrant.

Both Mrs Bell and I continued to express concerns to DCI Tunbridge. He stated that the decision had come from higher up and was only acting on orders. He stated that he had no choice but to carry out the warrant. This statement did not seem very genuine.

At 1417, Mrs Bell was escorted out of JPSU offices to a vehicle which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of her Service Police Notebook. No warrant was produced to enter the vehicle. Mrs Bell was then escorted back into the JPSU building and at 1425; her private personal mobile device was seized, which contained personal information. Mrs Bell handed her mobile device over under duress and without consent either written or verbal. Mrs Bell expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and about having to surrender her personal mobile device, when she questioned the police officer at the time "why they are taking her personal phone" he replied "because they needed it".

At 1419, Mr A McDonald was escorted out of JPSU to his vehicle, which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of his personal mobile device, containing personal information. No warrant was produced to enter the vehicle. On completion of the search of Mr Macdonald's office he requested if he could leave as he had arranged to go in to Town with his wife. This request was denied by RGP who stated that they would rather remain until the search of JPSU was completed. Mr McDonald was not in arrest and his liberty was denied.

At 1515, I again spoke with DCI Tunbridge challenging the requirement to seize his personal phone, as I was not in arrest, I again expressed my concerns and the property they were demanding were at my home address [redacted]

DCI, Tunbridge stated that I would be escorted to his home address by an RGP officer and I was to hand them over there. At 1516, I departed JPSU in company with an RGP officer to produce my mobile phones. At 1538, I entered my home address, the RGP officer entered behind me, uninvited and in front of my worried and distraught wife, [redacted] and my [redacted] upon request and in fear of being arrested I handed over under duress and without consent either written or verbal over, my mobile devices, duty mobile phone and service police notebook. The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show me his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking my property, he did not tell me what offence was being investigated or what part he believed I played in it, he did not explain what would happen to my property and did not give me a receipt for the property. I subsequently returned to JPSU. I was not in arrest at any time however during the course of their actions that day I believe that I had been unlawfully detained, against my will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1600, Miss L Buehling was escorted out of JPSU and escorted by RGP to her living accommodating at Devil Tower Camp, (DTC) in order to surrender her personnel mobile device, which contained personal date. Miss Buehling expressed her concerns at the time even stating "she did not want to hand over her personal phone" but she was informed by RGP that "she had to". She handed over her phone without consent either written or verbally and under duress. Miss Buehling subsequently returned to JPSU. Miss Buehling was not in arrest.

I make my complaint on two primary grounds but with each amounting to various breaches namely:

1. The RGP have no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and have unlawfully and illegally entered private premises by which to seize such articles. The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitles them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf – it does not extend to the RGP escorting me to my SFA at Europa Point entering those premises and it did not extend to the RGP escorting Cpl Buehling to her SLA at DTC and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of liberty and of their free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

2. More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached the human rights of JPSU staff under Article7/8 of ECHR and Article 7/8, HRA 1998. MAA Bell, FSgt Macdonald, Cpl Buehling and I were not arrested however personal mobile phones were seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails etc. I would like this matter to be investigated and receive advice on under what legislation the RGP can interrogate my phone and the admissibility of any material obtained by such an intrusive interrogation of personal data.

There is a delay in this complaint which is due to having been promised an independent review of the whole investigation. I have recently been informed will now not take place, the request of my Chain of Command to wait due to on-going legislation with GoG and MOD that could be impacted by this complaint and the perceived threat of low-level on-going harassment from the RGP for the remainder of my time here in Gibraltar, which thankfully is now coming to an end. I still wish this complaint to be pursued for my own sanity, health and wellbeing and also to get closure for what has been a very difficult and stressful two and a half years.

Finally, we have heard that the investigation is not formally closed, the Chief of Police has threatened to reopen the case at any time and that I may have been part of this wider investigation to that end, in line with the Subject Access Request, I wish to know what information the RGP hold on me.

I give my consent for you to pass the information contained on the letter to the professional standards department of the RGP on connection with the investigation of this complaint.

In the matter of the Police Act, 2006

And

In the matter of the complaint by Scott John O'Malley against the Royal Gibraltar Police

A complaint has been lodged by Mr Scott John O'Malley (the complainant) against the Royal Gibraltar Police ("RGP") alleging that Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail and Detective Chief Inspector Wayne Tunbridge acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) and that the RGP carried out the search in a very unprofessional manner.

A sub-committee of the Police Complaints Board was constituted to investigate the complaints. Pursuant to regulation 3(3) of the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008, the Board has the power to regulate its own proceedings, to consider and investigate complaints.

The complaint was presented to the members of the sub-committee who have investigated the complaint and have established that:

The complainant alleges that on 1 March 2017, the RGP acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the JPSU by escorting him to his family home at Europa Point, entering the said premises and seizing his mobile phones and other material without his written or verbal consent. The complainant contends that the search warrant legally entitled the RGP to enter and search the JPSU but it did not extend to his home. The complainant further alleges that the RGP officers breached his rights under the European Convention on Human Rights and under the Human Rights Act 1998. He claims that because he was not arrested and having his personal mobile phones seized, this action breached his rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails.

The sub-committee also notes the complainant's concern regarding a statement made by Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail in a recent conference that "he could re-open the investigation at any time, if he so wished." However, when asked, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail categorically denied having made such a statement.

The sub-committee has also read the report and supporting documents submitted by the RGP outlining the said events according to police records. It has taken note of the fact that at the time when the search warrant was executed, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail held the position of Detective Superintendent and Superintendent Tumbridge held the position of Detective Chief Inspector. The sub-committee also notes that the aim of the search warrant was to seize mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books and all other material in the possession of those individuals involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson.

The sub-committee notes from the report submitted by Superintendent Tumbridge that on 1 March 2017, he executed the search warrant and that he identified himself and his men to the complainant who allowed them access into the JPSU building. Superintendent Tumbridge claims that he showed the complainant the search warrant and explained to him the reason for his presence and informed him of the items he would be seizing.

Good afternoon,

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 I am entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority review the decision of the Police Complaints Board.

'I consider that the decision or recommendation of the Board was manifestly wrong or perverse and that no reasonable Board properly considering the complaint could have come to that decision or recommendation.'

I maintain that I have been the victim of inappropriate conduct by RGP police officers.

I hope that amongst other things the result of my complaint is intended to be of help to the RGP in identifying and addressing areas of police performance.

Having read the response of the board I wish a review as I disagree with the original findings for the following reasons.

1. Firstly, and in addition to my original complaint, it should be noted that the focus of the RGP investigation should have always and only centred on Sgt Timothy Watterson, NOT members of JSPSU. Watterson was a member of HM Forces and British citizen, who committed a crime in the UK prior to arriving in Gibraltar. Whilst a great deal was made of the Armed Force Act amendment, 2016, removing jurisdiction from the service police, the NATO Statement of Force Agreement (SOFA) dated 19 Jun 51, is and always was in force. This states in Article VII
    a. Subject to the provisions of this Article,
    b. the military authorities of the sending State shall have the right to exercise within the receiving State all criminal and disciplinary jurisdiction conferred on them by the law of the sending State over all persons subject to the military law of that State;
    c. the authorities of the receiving State shall have jurisdiction over the members of a force or civilian component and their dependents with respect to offences committed within the territory of the receiving State and punishable by the law of that State.
2. This should have allowed members of HM Forces military police to investigate the alleged offences carried out by Sgt Watterson. In regard to primacy and jurisdiction, early co-operation between RGP and JSPSU could have jointly, quickly and satisfactory resolved the alleged crimes carried out by Watterson. Instead RGP took over the investigation, they did not find any evidence of offences, they allowed a suspected paedophile back on to the streets of Gibraltar and caused a delay of over 16 weeks. A subsequent UK military investigation proved his guilt, resulting in a custodial sentence of 2 years 9 months.
3. How many other RGP investigations have allowed 'guilty' suspects back on the streets of Gibraltar, either civilian or military?
4. On reflection I now believe that the allegations and actions by RGP against JSPSU and members of HM Forces in Gibraltar we politically motivated and lead to an unnecessary, malicious investigation, into not only myself but all my colleagues whom were affected by this investigation.
5. I would like to see the strategy and decision log for the investigation that shows the reasons, grounds and necessary criteria for the arrests, searches and subsequent seizures of devices, for what were extremely serious allegations. I would also like to see the original warrant, what it contained and why it was refused the first time, the codes state 'B3.8. If a search warrant application is refused, a further application may not be made for those premises unless supported by additional grounds' what were the additional grounds? The codes also state 'Unless sub-paragraph B6.4(c) applies, if the premises are occupied the officer, subject to paragraph B2.9, must, before the search begins– (a) identify himself or herself, show his or her warrant card (if not in uniform) and state the purpose of and grounds for the search;' This did not happen at Gunwharf nor at Europa point.

6. Your report is dated 29 May 20, why did it take until 12 Jun 20 for me to receive this report? My original complaint dates from an incident on 1 Mar 17, and my complaint was submitted on 19 Aug 19, over 10 months ago.
7. It was stated that I gave consent to hand over my note book, mobile phone and electronic devices and that I gave consent to allow DC 127 Garcia-White into my property. I did not, I wish to make this extremely clear, at no time did I give permission verbally or in writing, I would like to know where the written evidence to the contrary is recorded and if so see a copy of the written record?
8. Form SEA2 – Warrant to enter and search premises for evidence of an offence, details JSPSU, Gun Warf, and Chris COLLINS, Provost Marshall Gibraltar. It does not state 19 West Walk and it does not name me, it does not specify my personal electronic items.
9. I want to see the written copy of the warrant allowing my items to be seized and my premises to be entered.
10. If, as DI Tunbridge states, I gave consent, provide me with a copy of the relevant pages of his police notebook showing what I agreed to, where I gave my written consent and where I signed.
11. Form SEA5 – Statutory powers of police to search premises and the rights of occupiers, (attached) states a copy of the warrant should, if practicable be given to the occupier before the search begins (Para 6.8 of code B – Codes of practise). This did not happen.

12. Search with consent: Consent of search must be given in writing (Para 5.1 of Code B – Codes of practice). Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice). I did not give my consent in writing and I was under duress.
13. I want to see a copy of my written consent in the search register. The codes state 'B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).'
14. As already explained in my original complaint any inferred co-operation was under duress from RGP officers. Ian McGrail stated to me in a meeting a few days prior, that he has previously arrested other police officers (although he did not explain what for), implying that he may arrest me. At the time of this incident, RGP officers had already arrested the Chief of Staff, the Station Commander and Provost Marshall Gibraltar. They were arrested for conspiracy to pervert the course of justice, I believe that this could carry a life sentence in prison if found guilty? I was most definitely under duress and did not want to be arrested next!
15. The implication from your report is that Ian McGrail, DI Tunbridge and DC Garcia White are being completely honest and due the fact our statements differ I must be lying? I do not accept this. I have provided written evidence to back up my concerns and complaint. Where is the documentary evidence from the RGP to prove I gave my consent, to prove they acted lawfully in their actions and did not breach my human rights?
16. DI Tunbridge stated I was under no obligation to hand over my personal items, he never said or explained this at the time, what would have happened had I not handed them over? I expect I would have been arrested, surely you can understand my thought processes and the duress from internal and external factors that affected my decisions?
17. Whilst I agree that I did physically hand over these items, I stated my reluctance to DI Tunbridge and DC Garcia-White several times at the time, this was met with negative response. Where were my response recorded? Have you checked their police pocket books?
18. In the report DI Tunbridge stated that 'at no time did he or any of his men did not cause any intentional duress to the complainant' he is therefore implying that he recognised I was under duress whether intentional or not.
19. Having been dealt with by the RGP, in line with the guidance provided in the Freedom of Information Act 2018, I am now formally requesting copies of all reports and associated documents pertaining to me, including but not limited to:
    a. RGP Pocket books
    b. RGP Reports
    c. RGP Risk assessments
    d. RGP Intelligence reports
    e. RGP Surveillance logs

f. RGP Evidence labels
g. RGP Property logs (showing how my property was held, who had access to my property and what was done with it, in regard to data protection) I also wish to see a copy of the final report showing that I am not a person of interest or suspect in any RGP investigation.

20. Have copies of my personal data been made?
21. What is being done to secure that data?
22. How and when I can apply to have it destroyed?
23. If no such copy exists, then why were my items seized in the first place?
24. This whole episode has now dragged on for over three years, what was the outcome of the investigation? I believe the investigation has been suspended, if not closed with no one involved facing any charges, I believe I have been used by the RGP and more widely the government of Gibraltar as a pawn to score political points in an investigation whereby RGP allowed a paedophile back on to the streets. Thankfully, HM Forces Police investigated him thoroughly and he was found in possession of over 30,000 indecent images of children and sentence to 2 years 9 months in prison. He should have been the focus of the RGP not my colleagues and me!
25. Even now, the thought of returning to Gibraltar sends a shiver down my spine, this whole experience has ruined the memories of what should have been an enjoyable tour in a beautiful country.

Finally, as a minimum I would like the GPA to confirm that the RGP accept that the way that they acted against me was inappropriate for the circumstances, that I did nothing wrong, that calling my professionalism in to question was in itself unprofessional, and in hindsight highly inaccurate, I want an apology for their actions at the time and their treatment of JSPSU and me subsequently, (they even mistook me for Mr Collins when I went to New Mole House to try and recover my seized items[1]), lastly and importantly I wish to be compensated for the time wasted and distress caused.

Regards,

Scott

[1]My personal items were handed to colleagues not to me, I was not invited to check or sign for them.

   d) Arresting any juvenile who has been remanded or detained under this Act
   e) Recapturing a person who is, or is deemed for any purpose to be, unlawfully at large while liable to be detained in a prison or other place of detention
   f) Recapturing a person who is unlawfully at large and whom the officer is pursuing, or
   g) Preventing death or personal injury or serious damage to property
2. Section 22(1) (Entry and Search after arrest – Inspector's PRIOR written authority required): A Police Officer may enter and search any premises occupied or controlled by a person under arrest for an indictable offence, if he has reasonable grounds for suspecting there is on the premises evidence, other than items subject to legal privilege, that relates to that offence or to some other indictable offence connected with or similar to that offence. Except as provided by Section 22(5) (below), no search may take place under this Section unless an officer of the rank of Inspector or above has given written authority.
3. Section 22(5) (Entry and Search after arrest – Inspector's prior authority not required but MUST be informed as soon as practicable after search). A Police Officer may conduct a search as shown in paragraph 2 above without obtaining the written authority of an Inspector or above where the arrested person has not yet been taken to the Police Station and his/her presence is necessary elsewhere for the effective investigation of the offence.
4. Section 54(2)(b) (Search upon arrest): Where a person has been arrested for an indictable offence at a place other than a Police Station, Police Officer shall have the power to enter and search any premises in which he was when arrested, or immediately before he was arrested, for evidence relating to that offence for which he has been arrested.
5. Reasonable Force: In the exercise of a power to search premises, Police may use reasonable force to enter the premises and carry out the search.
6. With Consent: A Police Officer may enter and search any premises with the written consent of a person entitled to grant entry to the premises.

SUMMARY OF POWERS OF SEIZURE UNDER THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE AND EVIDENCE ACT 2011

1. Where a Police Officer is searching premises under the powers conferred by Section 22, he may seize and retain evidence relating to the indictable offence for which the person is under arrest or evidence relating to another indictable offence connected with or similar to the indictable offence for which the person is under arrest.
2. Where a Police Officer is lawfully on premises, he may seize anything which he has reasonable grounds for believing
   a) Has been obtained in consequence of an offence and that it is necessary to seize it in order to prevent it being concealed, lost, damaged, altered or destroyed, or
   b) Is evidence in relation to an offence which he is investigating, or any other, being concealed, lost, altered or destroyed.
3. Instead of seizing property, an officer may require that the holder of the property retains it. If the holder then disposes, alters or destroys it, he may be liable to civil or criminal proceedings (Para. 7.4 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
4. Normally, no item may be seized which is subject to legal privilege (as defined in Section 14) (Para. 7.2 of Code B – Codes of Practice). There are however some exceptions to this rule (e.g. when powers are exercised under Sections 29 to 40 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011).
5. An officer may photograph or copy, or have photographed or copied, any document which he has the power to seize (Para. 7.5 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
6. Where information is held on a computer, an officer may require it to be produced in a legible form so that it can be taken away (Para. 7.6 of Code B – Codes of Practice).

RIGHTS OF THE OCCUPIER / OWNER OF PROPERTY

1. General: Searches must be made at a reasonable hour unless this might frustrate the purpose of the search (Para. 6.2 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If any of your property is kept by the Police, you are entitled, on request, to be provided with a list or description of the property within a reasonable time (Para. 7.16 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If you wish, you or your representative will be allowed supervised access to your property so that you can examine it, have it photographed or copied. Alternatively you may be provided with a photograph or copy. In either case, you are responsible for the costs. Access will not be allowed if the officer in charge of an investigation believes that this would prejudice the investigation of an offence or any criminal proceedings (Para. 7.17 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
2. Search Warrant: A copy of the warrant should, if practicable, be given to the occupier before the search begins (Para. 6.8 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If the occupier is not present, copies of the warrant and this Notice should be left in a prominent place (Para. 6.8 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
3. Search with Consent: Consent to a search must be given in writing (Para. 5.1 of Code B – Codes of Practice). Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para. 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice). Where consent is withdrawn before the search is completed, the search must stop (Para. 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If you reside in a lodging house or similar accommodation, your landlord can consent to your room (or rooms) being searched if you are unavailable at the time and the matter is urgent (Note for Guidance 5A to Code B – Codes of Practice).
4. Compensation for Damage: Compensation may be payable in appropriate cases for damage caused in entering and searching premises. An application for compensation may be made in writing to: The Commissioner of Police, Police Headquarters, New Mole House Police Station, Gibraltar.
5. Codes of Practice: A copy of the "Code of Practice for the Searching of Premises by Police Officers and the Seizure of Property found by Police Officers on Persons or Premises" – Code B, is available for you to consult at any Police Station. This Notice is a summary only of the main provisions of the Code which should be consulted if you require further details (Para. 6.7(e) of Code B – Codes of Practice).

The contents of this document will be processed in strict compliance with the Royal Gibraltar Police's policy on Data Protection, which has been compiled in accordance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2004.

HM Government of Gibraltar

THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Commissioner of Police
The Royal Gibraltar Police
New Mole House
Gibraltar

21st May 2020

By email: Ian.McGrail@royalgib.police.gi

Dear Commissioner

REQUIREMENT TO PROVIDE A FACTUAL REPORT THE POLICE ACT 2006, Section. 15 (1)(a)

I write in respect of the incident at sea which occurred in the early hours of 8th March 2020 and your subsequent email of yesterday's date.

I. THE FACTS

The incident in question involved marine assets and officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police ('RGP') and resulted in the death of two Spanish nationals and the injury of another two individuals, one of whom is also a Spanish national and the fourth of Portuguese nationality ('the Incident').

The vessel in which the deceased and injured were travelling was not loaded with narcotics. The vessel was a 14 metre Semi Rigid Hull Inflatable Boat (or RHIB) of the type commonly employed in drugs trafficking activity, powered by four 300hp outboard engines and fitted with radar equipment. This type of vessel is a prohibited import in Gibraltar.

The initial reporting of the Incident would appear to show that it occurred outside of British Gibraltar Territorial Waters ('BGTW'). Your own initial report to me suggested that the events may indeed have occurred as far as 6 nautical miles to the East of Gibraltar (at the height of the runway). I understand that reports now suggest that the location of the incident may be different and, notably, further away from BGTW. It is not clear if the RHIB and its occupants were ever in BGTW and, if so, for how long and in what location/s.

II. THE POWERS OF THE GOVERNMENT

In writing this letter in response to your emails I am conscious of the powers set out in Section 15 of the Act.

Section 15 (1) provides that the Chief Minister may exercise the following powers on behalf of the Government, namely:

> '(a) to require factual or assessment reports from the Force or the Authority on any policing matter.'

Section 15 (2) provides that:

> 'the Chief Minister will keep the Governor informed of any exercise by him of a power under the section and shall provide to the Governor a copy of any report produced as a consequence of thereof.'.

For that reason I am copying this letter to His Excellency the Governor, Nick Pyle, and also to the Chairman of the Gibraltar Police Authority, Joseph Britto. I have already discussed with both of them that I will be sending you this letter.

III. REASONS FOR EXERCISE OF SECTION 15 POWERS

This REQUIREMENT to provide a factual report is addressed by me to the Royal Gibraltar Police under the provisions of Section 15(1)(a) of the Police Act 2006 as a result of:

(a) reports in the Spanish and Gibraltar media to the effect that a civil claim for damages arising from illegal homicide has been commenced against the Royal Gibraltar Police in the Spanish Courts (filed in the autonomous region of Ceuta) by relatives of the 2 Spanish citizens who were killed in a chase recently 'off Gibraltar' involving officers and marine assets of the RGP;

(b) questions (see attached, Annex 1) posed in the Spanish Congress of Deputies in which the Parliamentary Group 'Vox' ask about a number of aspects of the Incident;

(c) an answer (see attached, Annex 2) provided in the Spanish Congress of Deputies in which the Spanish Government responds to the questions referred to at (b) above;

(d) a diplomatic Note Verbale transmitted by the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, the European Union and Co-operation to the Embassy of the United Kingdom in Madrid on the 9th March 2020 which sets out a protest in respect of the actions of the RGP in relation to the Incident, reserves the possibility of the adoption of such measures as the seriousness of the Incident merit and calls on the British authorities to take such necessary precautions to ensure that incidents of this nature do not recur; and

(e) email communications, culminating in an email from you addressed to me dated 20th May 2020 (see attached, Annex 3), in which it has been brought to my attention - initially by the Attorney General - that you are seeking funding for legal representation in a potential plethora of multi-jurisdictional legal proceedings, both civil and potentially also criminal, arising out the Incident. This funding was initially requested from the Director of Public Prosecutions, and subsequently the Attorney General, neither of whose roles involve the making of such decisions in respect of the commitment of public funds.

As a result, in light of the above, I have no confidence that you have expeditiously provided me with all the information and documentation that I should have been provided with in the context of the seriousness of the events in question.

In particular, I have no confidence that either the Government or the office of the Governor (with whom I have discussed this matter at length) have had the timely candor and transparency we would have expected from you in the circumstances arising in respect of the Incident.

Therefore, in exercise of my power under Section 15(1) (a) of the Act, I hereby on behalf of the Government require the RGP to provide a Factual Report in respect of the events in question as provided for in Part VI below.

IV. THE TERRITORIAL & JURISDICTIONAL ISSUE

In particular, I wish to record that the Government is concerned about the fact that the Incident has occurred outside of the BGTW. In this respect, I refer you to Part 4 of the Police Act 2006 ('the Act'), 'Constitution and Employment of the Force .

Section 29 of the Act sets out that '[t]he force shall be employed in and throughout Gibraltar...'.

It is in the nature of laws made by the Gibraltar Parliament that they cannot be extraterritorial, although that rule is subject to the principle that any such laws which purport to have an extraterritorial operation, application or effect will be valid if they bear a substantial relationship to the peace, order and good government of the territory concerned, whether generally or in respect of particular subjects[1].

As a result the establishment of the force and the composition of its officers[2] has, in principle, effect only in and in respect of the territory of Gibraltar, although it may be arguable that the extraterritoriality extends in the limited way set out in the preceding paragraph.

Under public international law, in the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, the United Kingdom, as the administering power in Gibraltar, has claimed 3 nm of territorial sea for Gibraltar. The territory of Gibraltar, therefore, does not extend beyond 3 nm East of the runway. It is, therefore, apparent that the ostensible jurisdiction of the RGP does not extend to the area in which the Incident occurred.

For that reason, it is important for the Government to determine on what basis the RGP were operating beyond that distance from Gibraltar, especially when the equipment now provided by Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar enables officers to know their exact location whilst out on operations at sea.

Additionally, it will be important to determine whether or not the RGP were operating inside the Spanish Territorial Sea, as alleged by the response of the Spanish Government at Annex 2, at the invitation of, or with the express or tacit consent (or both, or neither) of the Spanish law enforcement agencies (and if so which and how was this communicated to the RGP). Please note that the position set out in the answer to the question in the Spanish Parliament states that there was no such tacit or express invitation.

V. THE CONCERNS OF THE GOVERNMENT

In all of the circumstances set out above the Incident raises many concerns for the Government and for me as Chief Minister and as Minister for Finance.

First and foremost I am concerned about the physical and mental welfare of the officers of the RGP in question that night and of the potential for multi-jurisdictional legal action against them. The Government will agree to fund the legal advice and representation that the individual officers may require on a 'without prejudice basis and on such other basis or conditions which the Attorney General may consider and advise may be appropriate. The Government will also assist with any support required in respect of the mental or physical health of the officers in question.

I want to specifically record that the Government fully supports our frontline police officers, especially those who risk their own lives at sea in keeping Gibraltar safe and keeping drug traffickers from using our waters to transship narcotics.

In particular, however, the Incident:

(a) may give rise to breaches of the Act and to very large potential claims in damages against HMGoG which will be funded by the tax payers of Gibraltar;

(b) raises serious issues as to the operational welfare of officers of the RGP at sea;

(c) additionally given the sensitivities of the relationship between Gibraltar, Spain and the United Kingdom, I am concerned that the events in question can provide grounds for a serious setback for Gibraltar in the context of the relationship with our Spanish counterparts at a political level - as evidenced in the answer provided in by the Spanish Government to the Vox parliamentary question and the note verbale presented to the United Kingdom by the Spanish government;

(d) moreover, given the contents of the paragraphs on territoriality above, the Government is concerned that officers of the RGP who find themselves operating outside of the territory of Gibraltar may in fact not have the powers or protections provided for them in the Act; and

(e) finally, the Government is concerned about the sovereignty implications for Gibraltar and the United Kingdom. I will not further detail the nature of those concerns here as they are particularly sensitive.

VI. THE FACTUAL REPORT REQUIRED

In light of all the above, I therefore require the RGP to provide me with a Factual Report as to each of the following:

(i) a statement on the current status of the officers in question (i.e. whether they continue to be on active duty or are suspended or stood down pending finalization of any inquiries into this matter);

(ii) the exact location where the incident happened;

(iii) confirmation, therefore, of whether the incident happened inside or outside of BGTW;

(iv) a full report of the facts of the Incident, including details of whether the RHIB in question entered BGTW and if so where and when and how long it was in BGTW;

(v) copies of any report or reports provided by the Metropolitan Police in respect of this incident as a result of the investigation sanctioned by the Government in relation to the Incident;

(vi) copies of any internal reports or documentation produced to date in respect of the Incident;

(vii) copies of any incident logs that may have been kept of the actions relating to the Incident;

(viii) copies of any call logs that may have been kept of the actions relating to the Incident;

(ix) details of any conversations or other operational communications with Spanish law enforcement or other agencies and whether that led to any actual or tacit invitation to enter the Spanish Territorial Sea, providing exact details of any such actual or tacit invitation, or the absence thereof;

(x) a statement (or copy if they are in printed or printable form) of what standing instructions are given to officers in respect of operations outside of BGTW;

(xi) copies of any such or any other relevant instructions or other standard operating procedures;

(xii) documentation or confirmation in writing of the instructions provided to officers of the Marine Section by senior management as to the procedures to be followed when suspects who are being chased inside BGTW fail to stop and exit BGTW and what position the RGP take or have taken (until the time of the Incident) in respect of 'hot pursuit' from BGTW into International Water, Spanish Territorial Waters and / or Moroccan Territorial Waters and on what basis and on what advice such a position, if any, has been taken. (It is essential for the Government to understand what training was provided to the officers in question in respect of their ensuring that they operated solely within the territorial limits of Gibraltar. I want to know what the RGP's standard operating procedures are in such instances);

(xiii) alternatively, an explanation of why no such position has been taken, given the prevalence of such activities;

(xiv) what assessment senior management have made of such operations occurring, in particular where there is not an express invitation from another police force (whether that is the Spanish police force or the Moroccan police force) for operations to continue outside of BGTW in Spanish Territorial Waters, International Waters or Moroccan Territorial Waters. (The Government is very concerned to understand what the Senior Management Team of the RGP has done in respect of continued incidents of operations outside of BGTW before the events in question and thereafter, in particular if there has been any change in standing instructions or posture as a result); and

(xv) any other relevant information, reports or documents (whether existing in documentary, printed or digital form) which the RGP consider the Government should have available in considering the facts and matters which arise from the Incident and planning to address the same in the Public Interest of Gibraltar.

The Government views the events in question with the utmost seriousness. We will not allow deaths of individuals in circumstances involving the RGP not to be accounted for entirely properly and timeously, even if that means that the Government of Gibraltar and the Gibraltar tax payer is exposed to damages and costs as a result thereof. Such matters go to the very foundation of the Rule of Law and the protection of the right to life, whether inside or outside the territory of Gibraltar. It is for that reason that, as a start, I have approved the expenditure of the preparation of the Independent Report by the Metropolitan Police and the additional expenditure that I will authorise to properly deal with this matter.

The Government considers that this is the only way to properly deal with the issues that arise. Once in receipt of the RGP's Factual Report, as required by this letter, I will be in a better position as Minister for Finance to assess whether and if so what funding is required for independent representation of the RGP and or any of its officers in respect of the incident.

To date I have already confirmed funding for the external investigation from the Metropolitan Police as initially requested by you. It may be that there is also a coroner's investigation presently on foot. Both of these must also run their course. The fact that those are running their course should not, however, in any way interfere with or delay the RGP's ability to urgently provide the Factual Report I require in the exercise of my powers under the Act in the time that I have set out below.

VII. TIMING FOR A RESPONSE

I shall look forward to hearing from you and I would expect to have:

(a) formal confirmation of receipt of this REQUIRMENT within the next twenty four hours; and

(b) within 7 days of the date of this letter a detailed response containing the factual report from the RGP in respect of this matter.

If more time is required in respect of any aspect of this Factual Report sought from the RGP, please write to me to seek such an extension of time setting out the reasons why it is not possible to provide the information requested in the time allotted.

In the interim, I shall look forward to hearing from you in the time allotted.

Sincerely,

FABIAN PICARDO QC MP

D. AGUSTiN ROSETY FERNÁNDEZ DE CASTRO y D. ALBERTO ASARTA CUEVAS, en su condicidn de Diputados del Grupo Parlamentario VOX (GPVOX), al amparo de lo establecido en los artfculos 185 y siguientes del vigente Reglamento del Congreso de los Diputados, presentan la siguiente pregunta para la que solicitan respuesta por escrito.

EXPOSICI6N DE MOTIVOS

Segun informaciones de prensa, durante la noche del 7 al 8 de marzo, un patrullero de la Policfa de Gibraltar ha abordado una embarcad6n semirrfgida, de las conocidas como narcolanchas, a levante del Pefidn, frente al puerto linense de La Atunara. El abordaje se ha saldado con dos muertos y dos heridos. Apresada la embarcaci6n por el patrullero britcinico, fue conducida junto con los supervivientes y los caddveres a Gibraltar.

En virtud del Tratado de Utretch, España no reconoce mar territorial alguno al Reino Unido en el litoral de la colonia. Aun asi, dada la proximidad a la Atunara, el incidente ha debido tener lugar necesariamente fuera de las tres millas n^uticas que el Reino Unido, aunque sin tftulo alguno, viene reivindicando.

RESPUESTA:

En relación con la pregunta formulada, se señala que de acuerdo con la información recibida en el Ministerio de Asuntos Exteriores Unión Europea y Cooperación (MAUC), la colisión se produjo en las cooidenadas 36° 09' N - 5° 12' W.

Respecto a los convenios de colaboración mencionados, cabe indicar que no hay suscrito n in gun acuerdo entre España y el Reino Unido que permita la actuación de la policia gib ra It arena en aguas territoriales espano las.

Respecto a la información recabada por el MAUC no hubo requerimiento previo alguno de apoyo a la Guardia Civil.

Dada la gravedad de los hechos acaecidos, el Ministerio presentó con fecha 9 de marzo ante la Embajada del Reino Unido una nota verbal protestando en los ferminos más enérgicos por la inaceptable actuación de la policia gibraltareña, reservdndose la adopción de las medidas oportunas si fuera necesario y requiriendo que las autoridades británicas relevantes tomen las medidas adecuadas para que comportamientos de este tipo no vuelvan a tener lugar.

Dear Michael

Thank you for copying me into the below.

I think it is entirely inappropriate for this matter not to have been raised with me in the first instance by the Commissioner.

This matter raises issues of fundamental human rights, the right to life, potential payment of huge amounts of damages, the potential extradition and liberty of serving police officers being at stake, the issue of Standard Operating Procedures which may be in place and the management thereof. All of that is in addition to the huge potential political exposure that arises for Gibraltar as a result thereof and the concomitant (and dangerous) issues of sovereignty and the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.

Indeed, it is difficult to think of an issue as fundamental as this affecting the RGP, certainly in the time I have been in office. There is no consideration in the email below of claims or offences going beyond "the officers crewing the vessel", which is also, in my view an issue that may also need further consideration.

As you know, it comes against the backdrop of the very unflattering report from the HMICFRS.

1 am therefore surprised and greatly disappointed that these issues have not been the subject of a detailed submission to me by the Commissioner in respect of the events in question and the issues which now arise.

I shall therefore be writing directly to the Commissioner on this and all other aspects of this matter. In the interim, I do not authorise the incurring of any expenditure in briefing out of this matter at this stage.

Please refer both the DPP and Superintendent Yeats to my response.

Best wishes

Fabian

e. H s prov s ona conc us ons are summar sed hereunder, however, they are under hav ng been subjected to comment by MPS and RGP:

I. 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE' ntercepted the 'SUSPECT RHIB' n pos t on 36° 11.7'N 005° 18.'W at around 03:29:15. The co s on occurred at around 03:38:56, n pos t on 36° 10.0' N 005° 12.5' W. The ntercept, pursu t and co s on took p ace n Span sh waters.

II. It wou d have been c ear to the off cers on board 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE', as they were fam ar w th the waters, even when nav gat ng by eye that they were we outs de of BGTW.

III. 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE'S starboard bow co ded w th the port quarter of 'SUSPECT RHIB'. The speed of 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE' ed t to pass over the top of 'SUSPECT RHIB' dur ng the co s on and, once c ear, and ng on the r starboard s de at an ang e wh ch ed to the water ngress nto the cab n.

V. It s not known why the two forward jockey seats on 'SUSPECT RHIB', where the two dead crewmen were seated, had very tt e damage when compared w th the heav y damaged aft two seats.

VI. To estab sh, w th greater certa nty, the ang e of nc dence, and the path of 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE' n re at on to 'SUSPECT RHIB' add t ona mode ng of the two vesse s wou d be requ red. The creat on of 3 D mode s us ng Rh no software cou d be ut sed to show the re at ve pos t ons and aspects of the two vesse s pr or to, dur ng, and after the co s on. (Th s has now taken p ace).

VII. Off cer One d d not turn on 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE's AIS for the durat on of the operat on n contravent on of Mar ne Sect on Instruct ons.

VIII. The crew of 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE', n not us ng a the ava ab e nav gat on equ pment showed a poor standard of nav gat on.

IX. The Instruct ons stated that the safety of the crew was the pr or ty; however, the crew of 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE' n cont nu ng to pursue at very c ose range, w th m ted v s b ty, and unab e to respond to a qu ck turn by the 'SUSPECT RHIB' d d not comp y w th those Instruct ons.

X. There was no proper tra n ng n pursu ts of suspect vesse s for the coxswa ns who wou d be requ red to take evas ve act on. {This is not our understanding and is subject to review. We believe that the training provided deals with this area of seamanship).

XI. From the ev dence rev ewed to date, t appears that Mar ne Sect on managers d d not have an effect ve overs ght of how the r patro s were be ng carr ed out. (This is currently being further looked into by Capt Meikle in respect of job descriptions and governance of the unit).

XII. Once Off cer One rea sed that there was mmed ate r sk to fe, he shou d have broadcast a Mayday re ay ca to a vesse s n the area.

XIII. The Instruct ons and gu dance prov ded to the Response Teams, overs ght of operat ons (patro s and h gh speed pursu ts) and the management's rev ew processes shou d be better understood.

XIV. A study of AIS data, over a per od of severa months wou d prov de an ns ght nto the operat ng patterns of these vesse s and the frequency at wh ch they operate outs de BGTW. (Th s s tak ng p ace).

Redacted Cop es of cert f cates presented to Off cers One and Two are ava ab e (Appendices 86 and 87 refer respectively).

n. It shou d be noted that a though there s no spec f c esson p an for Fast Speed Hand ng, t s ment oned as part of the competency cr ter a and both off cers were accred ted w th these qua f cat ons as the cert f cates show. It s expected that th s w be c ar f ed by the Metropo tan Po ce nvest gat on team when they nterv ew the off cers and tra ners.

o. Off cer 3 was on y cover ng mar ne sect on dut es on the n ght n quest on and had no pr or mar ne exper ence. He has on y rece ved f rst a d tra n ng wh ch forms part of the core RGP sy abus pr or to commencement of operat ona dut es (Appendix 88 refers).

p. The nstructors keep the tra n ng manua of students, wh ch shows that the off cers have been s gned off n the re evant sect ons requ red to comp ete the course.

q. The manua for Off cer Two s nc uded as Appendix 89 however the record for off cer one cannot be ocated as t has been removed by some person(s) fro the mar ne sect on f ng system. That sa d, there s ev dence that he has passed these courses by the product on of the cert f cates (see Appendix 86).

r. Off cer One has stated he had no hot pursu t tra n ng and th s was repeated by Capt. MEIKLE n h s report. We have asked the Capta n what course he was referr ng to and that wou d capture hot pursu t tra n ng. Capt. MEIKLE was unab e to answer th s as he d d not know. The off cers from the Metropo tan Po ce Serv ce have been wr tten to, ask ng them to cons der ook ng nto th s area. It cou d we be that our oca tra n ng course captured th s area e ther n the pac ng or fast speed hand ng competency area that s recorded n the manua . They wou d need to approach our tra ners f they have not a ready done so.

Point (xiii): Alternatively, an explanation of why no such position has been taken, given the prevalence of such activities.
Answer: Not app cab e. (See answers for Po nts (x), (x) and (x)).

11. Point (xiv): What assessment senior management have made of such operations occurring, in particular where there is not an express invitation from another police force (whether that is the Spanish police force or the Moroccan police force) for operations to continue outside of BGTW in Spanish Territorial Waters, international Waters or Moroccan Territorial Waters. (The Government is very concerned to understand what the Senior Management Team of the RGP has done in respect of continued incidents of operations outside of BGTW before the events in questions and thereafter, in particular if there has been any change in standing instructions or posture as a result).

    a. S nce 2016, the RGP SMT produced the current stand ng operat ng procedures that set c ear parameters of the PMB crew's work ng rem t. They are very c ear and conc se and are referred to above.

    b. S nce 2016 the RGP do not authorize any dep oyment outs de BGTW nc ud ng at the request of a fore gn LEA.

    c. The only exception wou d be to ass st the G bra tar Port Author ty n a search and rescue operat on.

    d. To date, there have been many nstances where we have undertaken chases out at sea and w th n BGTW. The moment the pursued vesse departs our waters we have d sengaged a ow ng the vesse to escape.

    e. We have a so mon tored many vesse s pass ng outs de our jur sd ct on w thout us be ng nvo ved, we have so e y shadowed them from w th n our m ts and deterred them from com ng nto our jur sd ct on.

12. Point (xv): Any other relevant information, reports or documents (whether existing in documentary, printed or digital form) which the RGP consider the Government should have available in considering the facts and matters which arise from the Incident and planning to address the same in the Public Interest of Gibraltar.

    A t me ne and support ng documentat on nc ud ng st of append ces have been nc uded.

On the 11th May 2020, t was brought to my not ce that a Span sh Par amentary quest on had been asked by VOX and responded to by Government. I ema ed you, the AG and MOJ adv s ng you of th s.

Tox co ogy resu ts have been rece ved for the deceased AHMED on 27th May 2020. These have been forwarded to the forens c patho og sts. The resu ts suggests no recent use of cannab s, the tox co ogy report for the deceased MOHAMMED are not expected unt the 10th of June 2020.

You w have noted that n th s report I have referred to the RGP crew as Off cers one, two and three. However, because of the m ted t me to produce th s report for you, I have been unab e to redact any reference to the r dent t es n the append ces. I wou d therefore respectfu y ask that you bear th s n m nd when hand ng these documents w th a v ew to cont nue safeguard ng the r anonym ty.

Wh st the above po nts are factua and I hope w sat sfy the requ rements you asked of me, we are st awa t ng the f na report and/or further act ons from the ndependent team and mar ne expert. The atter's conc us ve report s expected around m d June 2020.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1. Instructions Received

1.1.1. I have been instructed by the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) to investigate the collision between the RGP vessel SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and an RHIB suspected of illegal drug activity (SUSPECT RHIB) in the western Mediterranean Sea.

1.1.2. I am to provide my opinion on:

. The events leading to the collision

. The territorial waters where the incident occurred

. The role of the RGP Officers in the collision

v. The other factors that may have contributed to the collision including the tactics used by drug smugglers to evade law enforcement

1.1.3. My qualifications and experience are described in my curriculum vitae which is included as Appendix A of this report. In summary, I have previously investigated fatal accidents that have occurred on vessels at sea, primarily while as an Inspector of Marine Accidents at the UK's Marine Accident Investigation Branch (MAIB). I have also attended Coroner's Courts to support my reports. I have also previously investigated a fatal marine accident in Gibraltar that involved a government operated patrol vessel.

1.2. Scope of this Report

1.2.1. I open this report by giving the background to the sequence of events at the material time.

1.2.2. My conclusions are contained at Section 5 of this report.

1.2.3. I am aware of my duty to the Court and have signed a statement of truth to that effect at Section 6 of this report.

1.3. Background

1.3.1. I have outlined the sequence of events, as I understand them, below. All times are local, that is UTC +1 hour unless otherwise stated.

www.solis-marine.com

1.3.2. The Po ce Off cers on board 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE , as requ red by the RGPs Post Inc dent Procedures (PIP), are referred to as Off cer One, Off cer Two and Off cer Three.

1.4. The l ega Trade and Transportat on of Cannab s Res n

1.4.1. The drugs trade between Morocco and Spa n s we known, and we estab shed. The use of h gh-speed craft to mport ega drugs from Morocco nto Spa n has been estab shed over a ong per od. In the document Gap Between Two P ars , March 2016, (Append x F) GCID Inte gence Off cer Dom n c Lopez stated h gh ghted that: "Due to its geographical location the Iberian Peninsula is the principle region in Europe targeted by international drug traffickers especially for cannabis and cocaine transit to other European countries".

1.4.2. The document Gap Between Two P ars" states that: "Cannabis resin exported from Morocco is typically smuggled into Europe through the Iberian Peninsula with the Netherlands and Belgium enjoying a role as a secondary distribution centre and source for storage". W th regard to the se zure of cannab s res n the document states that: "Spain is the country that seizes the largest amount of cannabis resin on a global scale in 2011 it accounted for 70% of seizures in Europe in both frequency and total amount. ".

1.4.3. The use, capab ty and nherent r sks of smugg ng cannab s res n n RHIBs s d scussed n the document Gap Between Two P ars": "Drug traffickers operating in the region frequently transport cannabis resin onboard Rigid Inflatable Hulled Boats (RHIBs). Each RHIB can transport between 3-4 tonnes of cannabis resin and can travel at over 60 knots (close to 120 km/h). At these speeds they are impossible to intercept without causing extensive damage or serious injuries to both the drug traffickers and law enforcement officers".

1.4.4. "The Rigid Hull Inflatable Boats (RHIBs) [used for fast launch smuggling operations] are between 10mts to 13mts in length and some are fitted with radar. They have 2 to 3 outboard engines with 300hp or 350 hp per engine and they can reach speeds of 50 to 60 nm with a fuel tank capacity of around 1 500/2 OOOltrs. They normally carry 3 to 4 occupants wearing flotation suits balaclavas or crash helmets. They also use GSM mobile phones or satellite phones. On occasions other vessels meet the RHIB out at sea change crew and provide them with extra fuel. The extra fuel is carried in 25ltr plastic containers and as much as 40 containers can be supplied to these RHIBs at any one time. They also carry large water-tight plastic containers which contain dry clothing food water and spare equipment such as batteries and chargers".

1.4.5. The RGP Mar ne Sect on face a h gh-r sk and dynam c work ng env ronment at sea n the r efforts to counter organ sed cr me and nternat ona drug traff ck ng. There s an expectat on that the RGP Mar ne Sect on w f ght aga nst organ sed cr m na ty w th the dep oyment of b ue ghts and s rens. It wou d a so be necessary, to ma nta n effect ve nte gence gather ng and response, that the RGP w ma nta n constant contact w th the Guard a C v and ma nta n the h ghest eve of cooperat on poss b e.

1.5. Pos t on Data Recovered from SIR JOHN CHAPPLE*

1.5.1. A the nav gat on systems found on board SIR JOHN CHAPPLE were checked; however, no re evant data was ava ab e to be recovered for the t me the vesse eft the Mar ne Base unt after the co s on. The Automat c Ident f cat on System (AIS) f tted to SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was turned off unt , after the t me of the co s on The AIS system was tuned on 04:47, short y after the rendezvous of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE w th HMC SEARCHER at 04:41.

1.6. Pos t on Data Recovered from SUSPECT RHIB

1.6.1. SUSPECT RHIB was f tted w th a Garm n NAVnet 3D radar/chart p otter. The data was recovered from the nav gat on un t by So s Mar ne Consu tants. The p otter saved on y ts nav gat on pos t on data; therefore, the vesse s speed-over-the-ground and course-over-the-ground were not recorded.

1.7. Track of the SUSPECT RHIB - Rap d Rep ay Reconstruct on

1.7.1. A So s Mar ne Rap d Rep ay reconstruct on was produced to show the track of the SUSPECT RHIB for the t me of the nc dent (F gure 1). The reconstruct on used the GPS data recovered from the SUSPECT RHIB s radar/chart p otter. The techn ca comments on the Rap d Rep ay reconstruct on are conta ned at Append x B and the data recovered from the NAVnet 3D chart p otter s at Append x C.

1.8. WHSS Infrared CCTV Footage

1.8.1. Infrared CCTV was recorded from two cameras that were contro ed from W ndy H S gna Stat on (WHSS). [redacted]

1.9. Narrat ve

1.9.1. On Saturday 7 March, at around 22:00, the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE reported for duty at New Mo e House, before they dep oyed to the RGP Mar ne Base at Gun Wharf Quay, a so known as G bra tar Government Mar t me Stat on (GGMS). Short y after 22:00 SIR JOHN CHAPPLE departed from RGP Mar ne Base to carry out patro s of Ocean V age.

1.9.2. At around 01:30 on 8 March, at around 01:30, SIR JOHN CHAPPLE departed from Ocean V age and returned to Gun Wharf Quay to re eve the afternoon crew at the conc us on of the r sh ft at 02:00. At 02:35, SUSPECT RHIB headed towards the Span sh port of Puerto de La Atunara from her pos t on 11 naut ca m es (NM) to the east.

1.9.3. A mob e phone ca , at an unknown t me, was rece ved on the RGP Mar ne sect on mob e phone from WHSS stat ng that there was an unknown vesse w thout nav gat on ghts on the eastern s de of G bra tar, head ng westwards towards the coast.

1.9.4. The Coxswa n, Sen or Coxswa n (Off cer One), ca ed the Span sh Guard a C v by the mar ne sect on mob e phone and nformed them of the nformat on they had rece ved from WHSS. The s ght ng, presumab y by nfrared CCTV, of the un t vesse was then conf rmed by Guard a C v . Off cer One then adv sed Guard a C v that he wou d dep oy to the Eastern S de of G bra tar.

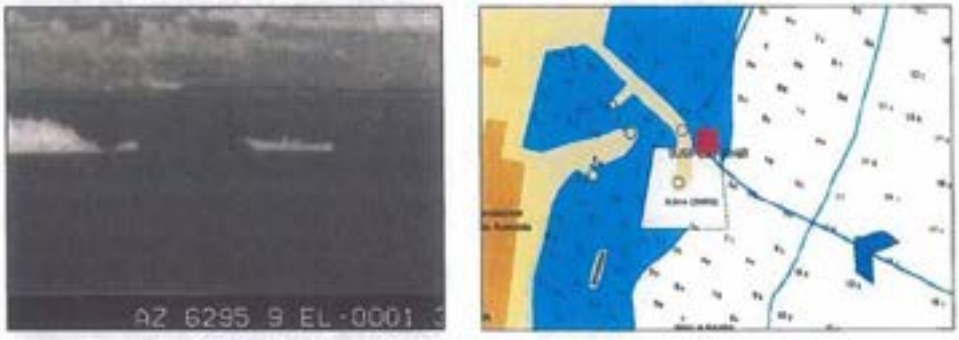
1.9.5. The three-man crew boarded SIR JOHN CHAPPLE* at the Mar ne Base and dep oyed to the Eastern S de of G bra tar. Off cer Two had the Inter-operat ons handhe d po ce rad o; Off cer Three had the po ce operat ons handhe d rad o. Off cers Two and Three were supp ed w th hand-he d LED torches.

1.9.6. The radar was turned on, and the GPS chart p otter was eft off as Off cer 1 stated that the equ pment reduced h s n ght v s on. The chart p otter a so act vated the vesse s AIS, wh ch was therefore a so not turned on. The crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE carr ed out pre-departure checks that nc uded: eng ne and fue status; cond t on of the vesse s foam co ar; that portab e VHF rad o s batter es were charged, and that funct on ng torches were ava ab e.

1.9.7. Off cer One sat n the conn ng pos t on (starboard forward), Off cer Two was on the port s de forward pos t on and Off cer Three sat n the seat on the starboard s de beh nd Off cer One.

1.9.8. At 03:16 the Rap d Rep ay reconstruct on and CCTV showed that SUSPECT RHIB arr ved off Puerto de La Atunara (F gure 2), n a pos t on c ose to the breakwater of the port.



F gure 2 'SUSPECT RHIB' arr v ng at Puerto de La Atunara as seen on Infrared CCTV and Rap d Rep ay

1.9.9. As SIR JOHN CHAPPLE arr ved on the eastern s de of G bra tar, Off cer One rece ved a mob e phone ca from the Guard a C v stat ng that 'SUSPECT RHIB was by the Puerto de La Atunara breakwater for, what they be eved to be, a change of crew and a resupp y of food. The Guard a C v asked SIR JOHN CHAPPLE to head to the east of the port and to wa t.

1.9.10. At 03:26:16, SUSPECT RHIB (F gure 3) w th four crew on board, who were nformed of the arr va of the approach of 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE by 'spotters ashore and n sma er boats, departed Puerto de La Atunara and headed north and then north-easterly away from the Spanish coast.

1.9.11. Officer One reported that he received another call from the Guardia Civil who stated that SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was to remain in their current location as SUSPECT RHIB was heading directly for their location. The position of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE at this time, without stored position data or available infrared CCTV images is not known.

1.9.12. [redacted]

1.9.13. Officer One reported that SUSPECT RHIB then passed between 5 metres and 10 metres in front of the bow of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE. SIR JOHN CHAPPLE then followed the SUSPECT RHIB in a high speed hot pursuit.

1.9.14. Officer One stated that his intention was to identify the suspects and determine whether SUSPECT RHIB was carrying any illega cargo. Officer One noted in his statement that SUSPECT RHIB appeared to be:

> "... either a prohibited import over 6m in length a fast launch having an engine capacity over 200 horsepower and in any event was not displaying any navigational lights".

www.solis-marine.com

1.9.15. Off cer One gauged that the head ng of SUSPECT RHIB* was n a south-easter y d rect on, and he expected SUSPECT RHIB was head ng towards Morocco. Off cer two reported that SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was pos t oned on the SUSPECT RHIB s starboard s de.

1.9.16. Off cer One reported that SIR JOHN CHAPPLE then approached the SUSPECT RHIB s port s de. Off cer two opened the port s de door and shone h s Dragon torch on to the vesse .

1.9.17. SUSPECT RHIB was um nated by the b ue beacon ghts and the Dragon torches he d by Off cer Two and Off cer Three. Objects were reported y thrown, as s common tact c used by the crews of vesse s used for smugg ng, by the SUSPECT RHIB s most aft crewman and the objects were h tt ng SIR JOHN CHAPPLE . However, the surv v ng crew of SUSPECT RHIB* state that SIR JOHN CHAPPLE d d not use the r nav gat on ghts or b ue beacon ghts, and that objects were thrown.

1.9.18. At 03:31, as shown by the Rap d Rep ay (F gure 4), SUSPECT RHIB made a sharp turn to starboard. The evad ng manoeuvres of SUSPECT RHIB sprayed seawater onto SIR JOHN CHAPPLE wh ch reduced the v s b ty and therefore force t to s ow down. Off cer One tr mmed down h s outboard eng nes and s owed down when necessary, wh ch prov ded h m greater manoeuvrab ty w th greater water p ane area. Off cer One a so observed that SUSPECT RHIB s outboard eng nes were st tr mmed up, wh ch produced s gn f cant spray at s ower speeds.

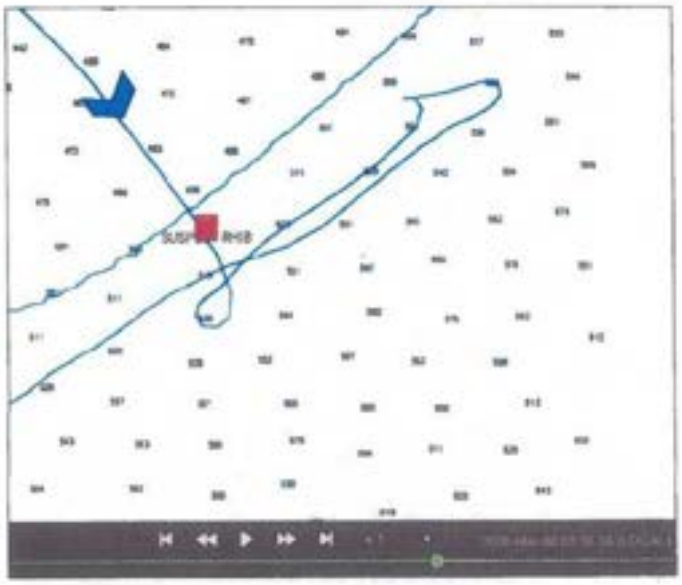
F gure 4 'SUSPECT RHIB's f rst turn to starboard

1.9.19. Three m nutes ater, at 03:34 (F gure 5), a second sharp turn to starboard by SUSPECT RHIB was recorded, fo owed by another turn to starboard at 03:37.



F gure 5 'SUSPECT RHIB' th rd turn to starboard at 03:37

www.solis-marine.com

1.9.20. Off cer One then stated that fo ow ng the two turns made to starboard he saw the SUSPECT RHIB make a sharp turn to port; he therefore p aced the propu s on nto neutra and attempted to turn to starboard to avo d SUSPECT RHIB by s ow ng down and turn ng away. Off cer Two stated that the SUSPECT RHIB passed very c ose to SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and that the spray created caused the w ndows to be covered and removed any v s b ty. It s not known whether the f tted w ndow w pers were operated, or whether they were effect ve. Off cer Two stated that he:

> "then felt an extremely large and sudden impact that caused our vessel to stop abruptly and noticed that we immediately began to tilt to starboard".

1.9.21. Off cer Three stated that he:

> "felt a sudden impact and heard a short creaking sound as we continued rolling to the right".

And then:

> "the starboard side window slam [s c] into the water with a sudden impact. A large amount of dark water flushed into the cabin..."

SIR JOHN CHAPPLE S chart p otter, turned off at the t me of the co s on, showed the m ts of BGTW (F gure 24).

3.3.2. When the limits of BGTW were known to the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE the engagement, chase and collision with SUSPECT RHIB were carried out at least 1.5 NM beyond the limits of BGTW in Spanish waters.

3.3.3. When the limits of BGTW were not visible to the coxswain on the chart plotter the area of the northern limit of BGTW is generally indicated by reference to the lights from Gibraltar airport. As SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was significantly to the north of the airport and off the Spanish port, it would have been clear to the officers, with significant experience of operating in the area, that they were in Spanish waters and well to the north of BGTW.

3.4. Identification of the SUSPECT RHIB Crew

3.4.1. The crew of the SUSPECT RHIB were seen by the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE to be seated in tandem during the chase. Due to the speed and tight rapid turns made during the pursuit it is probable that the crew were seated at the time of the collision.

3.4.2. Bruno Miguel Gomes Sereno stated that he was in seat 4 and Nordin (full name unknown), the other survivor, was in Seat 3. The two deceased crewmen were, therefore, located in seat 1 and in seat 2. It cannot be stated with any certainty who the coxswain was; however, the Coxswain - in Seat 1 - was likely, due to the head injuries he sustained and the available evidence of

It s cons dered ke y, as the damage wou d cause notab e v brat on at speed and the vesse (nc ud ng the prope ers) was serv ced two days before the nc dent, that th s occurred at the t me of the co s on.

3.5.8. Eng ne management data for SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was recovered by a Mercury mechan c (Append x I). The Starboard outer eng ne nd cated 'has faults'. The other three eng nes were shown to have no faults'.

3.7.3. The engine data was recovered by an experienced boat engine mechanic on 23 and 24 June (Appendix J). The mechanic identified that one of the engines had reported a fault; however, he was unable to identify the data of the fault. Solis Marine contacted Yamaha UK to provide a report on the data recovered from the four Yamaha engines. Yamaha UK forwarded the report (Appendix J) on 12 August. The report identified that:

www.solis-marine.com

. Eng nes 1,2 and 3 (F gure 32) showed no recorded fau ts

. The Remote Contro (RC) fau t on Eng ne 4 (F gure 32) was h stor c and "had no bear ng on the current s tuat on".

. It s cons dered ke y that the other fau ts on eng ne No. 4 were as a resu t of the co s on

v. There was no ev dence, not ng that no fue samp es were tested, of fue contam nat on.

v. The data from eng ne No. 3 nd cated that t was ke y that the damage occurred at the t me of the co s on.

v. The four eng nes on SUSPECT RHIB were not nsta ed n accordance w th the Yamaha standard. A Quad Remote Contro shou d have been f tted wh ch wou d have synchron sed the operat on of the four eng nes.

v . Wh e the four throtte es were, at some t me, connected w th a meta bar, at some po nt the eft pa r of eng nes was separated from the r ght pa r. The eng ne data suggests the throtte es were contro ed ndependent y.

v . The data does not show that any of the four eng nes had a fau t n the 19 m nutes pr or to the co s on.

x. It s poss b e that, as the eng nes exceeded the r max mum 6.000RPM, that the eng nes were e ther ncorrect y nsta ed, or that the eng nes were over-tr mmed .

x. It cannot be determ ned from the data how the four eng nes were stopped

3.7.4. The two surv v ng crewmen from SUSPECT RHIB stated that they had been nformed by the prev ous crew that one of the eng nes was ma funct on ng. Wh e one of the eng nes (Eng ne 4) had an h stor c fau t there s no ev dence from the ana ys s of the recovered eng ne data that any of the eng nes were not funct on ng correct y pr or to the co s on.

3.7.5. The port outboard eng ne f ywhee was heav y damaged (F gure 33); the eng ne wou d have stopped nstant y fo ow ng the co s on. The port nboard eng ne was a so damaged; w th the t m ng be t broken so that th s eng ne wou d a so have stopped mmed ate y.

3.7.6. The jockey seats that formed part of the centre conso e and battery storage were heav y damaged (F gure 34). The aft two, of the four seats, were bent and d storted. It s not ceab e that the two forward jockey seats, where the crewmen were seated, had very tt e damage when compared w th the heav y damaged aft two seats where the two surv v ng crewmen were seated. The reason for that ncons stency s not known.

3.7.7. The Furuno radar was heav y damaged and wou d have stopped work ng mmed ate y after the co s on (F gure 35). The starboard nf atab e co ar was damaged. That damage s ke y to have been caused by the co aps ng radar mast, or dur ng the n t a contact w th SIR JOHN CHAPPLE .

3.7.10. The steer ng whee (F gure 36) and n c ose up at F gure 38 can be seen to have been damaged; t s ke y that th s damage was caused by a s gn f cant force, and poss b y the coxswa n s body, push ng the steer ng whee nto the conso e.

3.7.12. It is considered likely that this damage was more likely caused as the two vessels came alongside after the collision, or when HMC SEARCHER' berthed alongside starboard to starboard after the incident. This is supported by the direction of the damage shown at (Figure 40)

3.8. Events onboard SIR JOHN CHAPPLE Pr or to the Co s on

3.8.1. Fo ow ng the n t a commun cat on from WHSS, Off cer One started the response to proceed to the eastern s de of G bra tar. The commun cat on from Guard a C v conf rmed the ocat on of the SUSPECT RHIB wh ch was c ear y n Span sh waters.

3.8.2. The Rap d Rep ay and CCTV ev dence showed that the SUSPECT RHIB was outs de of BGTW and that the object ve of 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was to wa t for the depart ng 'SUSPECT RHIB and to ntercept the vesse f poss b e, the act ons and ntent ons of the SUSPECT RHIB were not known and cou d not have been ant c pated. The type of vesse dent f ed appeared to be one used for the transportat on of cannab s res n. Such a vesse wou d be expected to be manned by a crew who wou d be prepared to take cons derab e r sks, not on y to themse ves, but w th the aw enforcement off cers whose object ve t was to prevent the ega transportat on of drugs.

3.8.3. The pursu t was made at h gh speed w th SIR JOHN CHAPPLE n t a y catch ng up w th the SUSPECT RHIB . The c ose pursu t, w th b ue ghts on, w th Off cer Two and Off cer Three us ng the Dragon Torches was c ose enough to observe the occupants and was c ose enough for SUSPECT RHIB s crew to respond by throw ng objects and mak ng sharp turns to deter the RGP vesse .

3.8.4. The off cers on board SIR JOHN CHAPPLE* responded to the thrown objects by c os ng the doors and w ndows. When the rap d turns were made by SUSPECT RHIB the RGP off cers responded by tr mm ng the eng nes down, to make the vesse more manoeuvrab e and ab e to respond to the fast turns of the SUSPECT RHIB .

3.8.5. The qu ck turns of SUSPECT RHIB produced spray wh ch s gn f cant y reduced the v s b ty of Off cer One and Off cer Two; a common tact c known by RGP off cers to be used by drug smugg ers. The reduced v s b ty n the cab n cons derab y ncreased the r sk of co s on w th the evas ve SUSPECT RHIB . On y by s ow ng down substant a y and ncreas ng the d stance from SUSPECT RHIB wou d the r sk of co s on been apprec ab y reduced.

3.8.6. When SUSPECT RHIB turned mmed ate y n front of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE the spray, as reported by Off cer One and Off cer Two reduced the v s b ty to zero. None of the RGP Off cers cou d reca w tness ng the co s on occur.

3.8.7. A though Off cer One stated that he took avo d ng act on by stopp ng and turn ng to starboard, h s act ons were nsuff c ent to avo d the co s on. The speed of the co s on ed to SIR JOHN CHAPPLE pass ng over the top of SUSPECT RHIB and, once c ear, and ng on the r starboard s de at a arge ang e wh ch ed to the water ngress nto the cab n.

3.9. Events on SUSPECT RHIB Pr or to the Co s on

3.9.1. The "SUSPECT RHIB d sp ay ng no nav gat on, or other ghts and acce erat ng away from SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was nav gat ng n a manner wh ch wou d arouse susp c on as to ts act v t es. The RHIB was of a s ze, type and w th an eng ne power of vesse s used to transport drugs from Morocco to Spa n. Dur ng the chase, m ss es were stated to have been thrown from SUSPECT RHIB and the evas ve act on taken was enough to reduce the v s b ty of the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE ; however, th s s d sputed by the crew of SUSPECT RHIB .

3.9.2. The SUSPECT RHIB , as wou d be expected, d d not have the capab ty to transm t AIS data.

3.9.3. The Rap d Rep ay (F gure 6) shows a change of track, wh ch nd cates a rap d turn to port, fo ow ng the two turns made to starboard, mmed ate y pr or to the co s on.

3.9.4. It was reported by the coxswa n of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE that the SUSPECT RHIB was operat ng w th the outboard eng nes tr m up . It wou d be expected that when trave ng at speed, on a steady head ng, that the vesse wou d be operat ng w th the outboard eng ne tr mmed up (away from the hu). Wh e manoeuvr ng tr mmed up the boat wou d be ess manoeuvrab e; however, as the vesse turned t wou d a so produce a wash spray that m ght d sor entate a pursu ng vesse by reduc ng ts v s b ty.

3.9.5. The G bra tar CCTV of the co s on s unc ear as to the manoeuvres of e ther vesse mmed ate y pr or to the co s on. Nourd n Lahsen Dr ss stated that SUSPECT RHIB susta ned eng ne fa ure pr or to the co s on and Bruno M gue Gomes Sereno stated that SUSPECT RHIB was stopped at the t me of the co s on. An eng ne fa ure wou d have caused SUSPECT RHIB to reduce speed sudden y and unexpected y and wou d have prevented the coxswa n of SUSPECT RHIB from tak ng act on to avo d the co s on w th SIR JOHN CHAPPLE*. It s a so poss b e that SUSPECT RHIB* had stopped due a manoeuvre, such as a very sharp turn.

3.9.6. Nourd n Lahsen Dr ss stated that he jumped from h s seat pr or to the mpact; Bruno M gue Gomes Sereno stated that SIR JOHN CHAPPLE made n t a contact w th SUSPECT RHIB between the two nner eng nes. It Is not known whether the crew n Seats 1 and 2 saw the co s on; however, as the r pr mary task was ook ng forward n the d rect on of trave , and at the chart/radar d sp ay, t s more ke y that they d d not w tness the co s on. The njur es reported n the post-mortem reports a so nd cate that the two deceased men were h t from the back. It s cons dered ke y that the two crewmen, n Seats 1 and 2, d d not see the co s on and were unab e to take suff c ent act on to avo d be ng struck by SIR JOHN CHAPPLE as t passed over SUSPECT RHIB .

3.9.7. It s apparent that, for the njur es and damage to both vesse s to have occurred, and the sp ash of water seen on the v deo, that SIR JOHN CHAPPLE passed, at east part y over the top of SUSPECT RHIB . The crewman from SUSPECT RHIB stated that SIR JOHN CHAPPLE co ded w th the port quarter of SUSPECT RHIB . W thout v deo or add t ona d g ta ev dence, t s not poss b e to say w th certa nty how the two vesse s co ded. The w tness mark on the conso e nd cates the poss b e ang e of the hu of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE as t then passed over SUSPECT RHIB (F gure 42).

3.9.8. Marks from SUSPECT RHIB s port outboard eng ne's damaged f y whee very c ose y matched the mark ngs on the starboard bow of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE' (F gure 43). That a so matches the statement of the crewman of the SUSPECT RHIB that the bow of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE co ded w'th the port quarter of SUSPECT RHIB .

3.9.9. Fo ow ng the co s on, a the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE reported that the vesse ro ed to starboard and then h t the water w th s gn f cant force. After SIR JOHN CHAPPLE r ghted, the vesse s crew stated that they observed the SUSPECT RHIB on SIR JOHN CHAPPLE S port s de.

3.10. RGP Mar ne Sect on - Use of AIS

3.10.1. Pr or to departure from the RGP Mar ne Base, Off cer One turned on the radar, however, he d d not turn on the chart p otter or the GPS that supp ed the Radar Un t w th pos t on data, stat ng that t nterfered w th h s n ght v s on. By eav ng the chart p otter off, SIR JOHN CHAPPLE d d not transm t AIS data, wh ch wou d have a owed the vesse s pos t on data to be tracked and recorded. It was a so poss b e that the SUSPECT RHIB wou d have been ab e to detect and track SIR JOHN CHAPPLE by AIS as they approached.

3.10.2. The d mm ng fac ty on the chart p otter was tested and found to d m the d sp ay as wou d be expected for use n n ght-t me nav gat on and wou d, f set correct y, have not nterfered w th the coxswa n s n ght v s on. There was a c ear nstruct on that the vesse s AIS system shou d a ways be turned on when n serv ce and ne ther Off cer One nor Off cer Two comp ed w th that nstruct on.

3.11. RGP Mar ne Sect on - Use of Nav gat on Equ pment

3.11.1. The chart p otter and the GPS un t that fed the radar d sp ay were turned off for the durat on of the dep oyment. W th no GPS and no chart p otter d sp ayed, the two mar ne off cers were re ant on v sua nav gat on and the radar p cture. Off cer One stated that the range of the radar was set to 0.75 NM. That range sett ng, wh ch was ess than the d stance of the c osest and, wou d have been su tab e for detect ng vesse s w th n the range, but not the and, or - as the t me taken for vesse s enter ng the set range was too short - for assess ng whether a r sk of co s on ex sted. The off cers were therefore so e y re ant on v sua nav gat on. However, the m ts of BGTW were shown on the chart p otter. There were apparent y no gu dance/ nstruct on/orders as to what nav gat on equ pment was to be used when on patro , e ther n day ght or at n ght.

3.11.2. SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was f tted w th a magnet c compass wh ch wou d have shown the vesse s head ng. Off cer One stated that he was trave ng n a south-easter y d rect on wh ch was ncorrect.

3.11.3. By not us ng the ava ab e nav gat on equ pment wh e nav gat ng at n ght w th no pos t on mon tor ng, other than by eye, the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE showed that a poor standard of nav gat on was be ng pract ced at the mater a t me.

www.solis-marine.com

3.11.4. Dur ng the r pursu t of SUSPECT RHIB the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE , n nav gat ng the vesse by s ght a one, d d not - due to the r d stance from and and ava ab e depth of water - p ace the r vesse n nav gat ona danger.

3.11.5. As co s on avo dance was be ng carr ed out by s ght, and w th the two vesse s at very c ose range, t s my op n on that the e ectron c equ pment, n part cu ar the radar, wou d not have ass sted the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE n co s on avo dance.

3.12. RGP Mar ne Sect on - App cat on of the Instruct ons

3.12.1. The Instruct ons were c ear that the area of operat on for aw enforcement was so e y w th n BGTW. It s not known why the coxswa n and the two off cers headed nto Span sh waters to ntercept SUSPECT RHIB and to cont nue to chase the RHIB n Span sh waters unt the t me of the co s on.

3.12.2. The Instruct ons stated that "They will pursue suspect vessels in a determined though safe manner within our territorial waters and liaise with our Spanish counterparts". The Instruct ons a so stated that the safety of the crew was the pr or ty; however, the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE p aced themse ves so c ose to the SUSPECT RHIB , wh ch was carry ng out dangerous manoeuvres and r sked the safety of the crews of both vesse s, as to p ace themse ves and the crew of SUSPECT RHIB n cons derab e danger.

3.12.3. The crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE d d not comp y w th the Instruct ons that were ssued.

3.14. Log Defenders

3.14.1. SAFE Boats Internat ona were requested by the Metropo tan Po ce to prov de the r response to the fo ow ng request for nformat on:

> "It wou d a so be he pfu to know how the des gn protects the vesse and how many other vesse s (I apprec ate you may not be ab e to g ve a def n t ve number on th s) the og defenders have been f tted to and the purpose of those vesse s .e. have they been f tted to/are they common n other aw enforcement vesse s".

SAFE Boats Internat ona rep ed:

> "The log defenders are installed on vessels to aid in pushing logs and debris. The "teeth" on the log defender bite into the log and prevent it from sliding under the hull and into the vessel's propellers. Log defenders are very common in the logging industry where logging vessels maneuver logs into position for recovery and processing by capturing them with the log defender. SAFE Boats has installed log defenders on law enforcement vessels other than the Gib boats specifically in the US Pacific Northwest region where floating logs and debris is common".

3.14.2. G bra tar s not assoc ated w th the ogg ng ndustry and s not known to have a spec f c ssue w th f oat ng ogs or s m ar debr s, other than that wh ch wou d be rout ne y found at sea.

3.14.3. The rat ona e for nsta ng og defenders onto the stem of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE s not fu y understood. The mp cat ons of nsta ng og defenders onto the stem of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE were not proper y cons dered by the RGP, and therefore the opportun ty to dent fy th s safety r sk was m ssed.

3.15. Pursu t Tra n ng

3.15.1. The two qua f ed mar ne crew had tra n ng n profess ona sk s and for pac ng at speed. However, there was no tra n ng n carry ng out pursu ts of suspect vesse s who wou d be tak ng evas ve act on to avo d be ng apprehended. Wh e numerous pursu ts have been carr ed out, the coxswa ns exper ence n pursu ts was earned on the job, watch ng more exper enced coxswa ns as they tra ned. Pursu t methods are therefore deve oped and understood by the coxswa ns, but w thout RGP Mar ne Sect on management standards or proper estab shed overs ght n p ace.

3.16. SIR JOHN CHAPPLE' - Actions Following the Collision

3.16.1. Following the collision, two of the crew boarded the SUSPECT RHIB'. It was clear to the crew, due to the severity of their injuries, that one crewman was dead, a second was very seriously injured and that the two other crewmen were injured and in a state of shock. The crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE were also apparently shocked by the situation they faced, they did report the accident and then decided how to tow the SUSPECT RHIB back to the base. However, as Officer 1 decided - on safety grounds of the RGP Officer personal safety - not to leave an officer on board SUSPECT RHIB , there was no attempt to provide the seriously injured crewman with first aid.

3.16.2. While the situation the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE faced was understandably shocking, the correct marine response would have been to issue a mayday relay calling alerting all vessels in the area that there was a serious risk to life and that immediate assistance was required.

3.17. RGP Marine Section - Management Oversight.

3.17.1. From the actions on the night of the collision, the Coxswain and crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE considered it appropriate to leave BGTW to pursue a suspect RHIB positioned close to a Spanish port. Instructions, rescinded in 2016, permitted RGP Marine Section vessels to enter Spanish waters with higher management approval. The new instructions, issued in 2016, clearly stated that no operations were permitted outside BGTW, unless required for search and rescue. It is not known why the crew did not comply with the Instructions.

3.17.2. Once the high speed pursuit had started, in Spanish waters, the coxswain - who was trained in pacing, but not trained in high-speed pursuits with suspect vessels - was close enough to the SUSPECT RHIB that objects thrown from the suspect boat were able to hit his vessel. While the guidance was that the safety of marine crews was the priority, the proximity of the two vessels during the pursuit placed the crews of both vessels as well as the vessels themselves in considerable danger.

3.17.3. Marine Section senior officers had provided instructions, on several occasions, that the AIS was to be turned on; however, the coxswain and crew operated SIR JOHN CHAPPLE with the AIS turned off.

3.17.4. While there are no explicit instructions, it would be reasonable to assume that Marine Section Senior Officers would have expected that available navigation equipment, particularly when

nav gat ng at n ght, wou d be used; however, the ava ab e GPS and chart p otter nav gat on systems were not turned on.

3.17.5. From the Instruct ons prov ded to-Mar ne crews, the Mar ne Sect on Sen or Off cers were aware and accepted that the h ghspeed pursu ts were be ng rout ne y carr ed out. Instruct ons had been ssued for the use of PPE when faced w th m ss es be ng thrown.

3.17.6. The RGP ma nta ned a database of po ce act ons wh ch nc uded when chases of suspect vesse s occurred and recorded whether these events were ns de or outs de of BGTW. An nterna rev ew by the RGP showed that between 1 Apr 2017 and 1 June 2020 that, of the 59 entr es that nvo ved a chase, two (nc ud ng th s case) had cont nued outs de of BGTW.

3.17.7. From the ev dence rev ewed to date, t appears that Mar nes Sect on Managers d d not app y effect ve overs ght nto how the r patro s were be ng carr ed out.

3.19. Historic AIS data for RGP Marine Section Vessels

3.19.1. The contact, chase and collision were known to have been carried out in Spanish waters. A study of AIS data, over a period of several months (Appendix H) has provided an insight into the operating patterns of these vessels and the frequency at which they operate outside BGTW (Figure 44).

3.20. Modelling and Reconstruction

3.20.1. Due to the lack of digital data, witness accounts, or video recordings it has not been possible to say independently and with certainty how the two vessels collided and provide an insight into the events during the collision which led to the fatal injuries to two of the crew of the SUSPECT RHIB.

3.20.2. SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was purchased as a second-hand vessel and there are no detailed drawings available. SUSPECT RHIB" was built to transport illegal drugs, therefore it is unlikely that manufacturers drawings or other construction data is available.

3.20.3. Mode ng of the two vesse s us ng 3-D scann ng techno ogy has produced an accurate representat on of the r hu s and superstructures. The 3-D mode s were created us ng ava ab e Rh no software (an ndustry standard program) to show the re at ve pos t ons and aspects of the two vesse s pr or to, dur ng, and after the co s on.

3.20.4. The known w tness marks dent f ed on the starboard bow of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and the f ywhee of SUSPECT RHIB (F gure 43), a ong w th the poss b e ang e of nc dence shown at F gure 42 were used to ocate the pos t on of the two vesse s at the t me of the co s on.

3.20.5. The est mated path of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and the w tness statements of the RGP Off cers and crew of 'SUSPECT RHIB were used to est mate the aspect of the vesse mmed ate y pr or to the co s on wh ch s shown at F gure 45.

4. POSSIBLE FURTHER EVIDENCE

4.1. European Investigation Orders (EIO)

4.1.1. Further evidence, in particular the Spanish infra-red CCTV recording, may be obtained following the issuance of a European Investigation Order (EIO). Additional evidence from the Spanish authorities, including the Guardia Civil, may change the opinion provided in this report.

5. CONCLUSIONS

5.1. SIR JOHN CHAPPLE ntercepted the SUSPECT RHIB n pos t on 36° 11.7 N 005° 18.1 W at around 03:29:15. The co s on occurred at around 03:38:56, n pos t on 36° 10.0 N 005° 12.5 W. The ntercept, pursu t and co s on took p ace n Span sh waters.

5.2. It wou d have been c ear to the off cers on board SIR JOHN CHAPPLE , as they were fam ar w th the waters, even when nav gat ng by eye that they were we outs de of BGTW.

5.3. SIR JOHN CHAPPLE S starboard bow co ded w th the port quarter of 'SUSPECT RHIB . The speed of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE ed t to pass over the top of SUSPECT RHIB dur ng the co s on and, once dear, and ng on the r starboard s de at a arge ang e wh ch ed to the water ngress nto the cab n.

5.4. W thout the fu - ength record ng of the nfrared CCTV footage show ng the co s on t s not poss b e to comment further on the record ngs broadcast on Span sh med a.

5.5. The crew of SUSPECT RHIB reported that that the eng nes had an ex st ng fau t and one crewman stated that there was an eng ne fa ure pr or to the co s on. The data recovered from the Yamaha eng nes, and ana ysed by Yamaha UK, stated that there was no eng ne fa ure n the m nutes before the co s on, w th a eng nes operat ng at max mum power for a per od dur ng that t me.

5.6. It s cons dered ke y that the 'SUSPECT RHIB crew, n Seats 3 and 4 saw the co s on and were ab e to move away from the r seats and susta n ess ser ous njur es, wh e the two crewmen n Seats 1 and 2 were ke y to be ook ng n a more forward d rect on and not see the approach ng SIR JOHN CHAPPLE pr or to the co s on.

Introduction

On 8h March 2020, there was a collision at sea between a vessel operated by the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) and a Rigid Hulled Inflatable Boat (RHIB). That collision resulted in the deaths of two members of the RIB crew and damage to both vessels. At the request of the RGP, a team of officers from the Directorate of Professional Standards (DPS) from the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS) deployed to Gibraltar with the remit to investigate the incident as a Death or Serious Injury following police contact (DSI).

On 6h June 2020, the MPS notified the then Commissioner of Police for RGP, Ian McGrail that there was evidence to suggest that the crew of the RGP vessel may have committed criminal acts. Authority was given to the MPS team to conduct the criminal investigation.

This report details the evidence acquired throughout the investigation with the intention of providing an evidence based assessment on whether any charges should be brought against any RGP officers in relation to the collision.

Background Information

Gibraltar is a British Overseas Territory separated by a border at the southern part of the Spanish mainland. It lies approximately 9 miles north of the coast of Morocco. The area is a well-established route for the smuggling of drugs from North Africa to Europe. Gibraltar was established as a British Territory in 1713 under the Utrecht Treaty but that treaty failed to mention the waters surrounding Gibraltar. Usual international laws of the sea enable sovereign states to claim the seas up to 12 miles from land to be their waters. This is not possible in Gibraltar. Gibraltar claims that British Gibraltar Territorial Waters (BGTW) extend 3 miles to the east, 3 miles to the south and 2 miles to the west. As the treaty failed to mention the sea, Spain refused to accept the boundaries of BGTW.

Vessel Details

Sir John Chapple - an 11.8 metre long full cabin marked RGP patrol vessel with blue lights, sirens and lights. [redacted]

[redacted] (with AIS installed)

ii. [redacted]

Built by Safe Boats International in January 2007. Acquired second hand by RGP and registered in Gibraltar on 19h October 2016 as a Government vessel. On the front of the vessel is log defender, which consists of a strip on serrated metal attached to the bow. Contact was made with Rob Goley, the Director of Business, development and Strategy of Safe Boats (who fitted the log defender). He stated that "log defenders are installed on vessels to aid in pushing logs and debris. The "teeth" on the log defender bite into the log and prevent it from sliding under the hull and into the vessel's propellers."
On the night of the collision the vessel had the call sign "Bravo 4."

RHIB - a 14 metre long unregistered vessel and unknown date of build. Powered by 4 Yamaha 300hp outboard engines. The navigation equipment consisted of a Garmin GPS map combined GPS chart plotter and radar display. There were seats for four people in a line behind one another. Shiny parts of the vessel had been covered up with tape.

This type of vessel is illegal in both Gibraltar and Spain as they are typically used for drug smuggling.

Evidence from RGP Crew

The three officers who formed the crew of the Sir John Chapple provided statements under the Post Incident Procedure (PIP) and were referred to as Officers one, two and three. Later in the investigation it became apparent that Officer one and Officer two may be liable for criminal conduct and in addition to their statements they were interviewed under caution. Officer three was not considered for criminal proceedings and therefore retained his protected identity status (the rationale for officer three not being considered for criminal proceedings was that he is not a trained mariner. He had no previous experience in the Marine Section and no relevant qualifications that would enable him to form any opinions regarding the use of the vessel or the equipment. He accounted for his actions on the night and the investigative team are satisfied with his response. Essentially, he was on board to make up the numbers required for the vessel to deploy).

Officer 1 (Later identified as PC [redacted] made a PIP stage 4 statement. In that statement, he stated the following: He stated that he joined RGP in [redacted] in [redacted] he became part of the Marine Section. In [redacted] he became a fully qualified coxswain. The training involved attending RYA to carry out a week of STCW-95, a radar and VHF course, a skipper theory with exams followed by examiners coming board the two vessels to see boat handling and theory. The fast RHIB examination consisted of two weeks of berthing and unberthing, high speed navigation, search and rescue patterns and pacing which is where two vessels come alongside one another in order to transfer persons or items between vessels. He has never received any training regarding entailing pursuits. Since [redacted] he has been involved in many police pursuits at sea. He has been a helmsman on numerous pursuits involving different vessels; none have ever resulted in injury or fatality.

On Sunday the 8h March 2020 at 2200 hours, he reported for duty at New Mole House as the senior coxswain for RGP Marine Section. The crew consisted of three officers in total.
At 0200 hours on 9h March, they took over from the other marine crew. A telephone call was received on the marine section mobile from Windmill Hill Signal Station (WHSS) stating they had an unknown vessel without navigational lights on the eastern side heading west towards land. He contacted Guardia Civil via the marine section mobile phone informing them of the report WHSS had made, they confirmed it to be a large suspect RHIB heading at speed towards land. He confirmed with the Guardia Civil that they were heading to the eastern side and he called WHSS to confirm to them what they were seeing was a large suspect RHIB and that he would be deploying to the area of the eastern side of Gibraltar.

The crew deployed aboard Police Interceptor Sir John Chapple - Call sign 'Bravo 4', which is an interceptor, fitted with a radar and chart plotter. The radar was on carrying sweeps at a distance of [redacted] the GPS chart plotter was left off due to the bright backlight, which is safer not to have on in order to be able to see more safely at night. All checks completed, VHF functioning, both OPS and Interop radios had sufficient battery and torches available.

Officer two (later identified as PC [redacted] was positioned left from PC [redacted] covering the port side of the vessel. Officer three was sat directly behind PC [redacted] covering the starboard, of the vessel. The Guardia Civil called PC [redacted] stating that the suspect RHIB was by the Atunara Breakwater carrying out what they believed to be a crew change and food supply and informed them that Bravo 4 would head east. Another call was received on the marine section mobile from Guardia Civil informing PC [redacted] to remain where he was as the suspect RHIB was heading towards them.

PC [redacted] made contact on the radar, which was still conducting sweeps at a 0.75 nautical mile radius. The contact closed in on Bravo 4 at a distance of 0.25 nautical miles, PC [redacted] initiated the blue beacons in case the navigator of the vessel had not seen Bravo 4. The RHIB crossed the front of Bravo 4's bow at a distance of approximately 5-10 metres. The RHIB was approximately fourteen meters in length with four persons aboard.

PC [redacted] commenced following the suspect RHIB with the intention to confirm identities of the suspects and to identify whether it had any illicit load of cargo. The RHIB appeared to be prohibited import with no navigational lights. PC [redacted] had a dragon torch out the left hand side door and officer three had his arm out of the right hand side window. The RHIB continued in a south easterly direction in an attempt to head into Strait and towards Morocco, the RHIB was on the starboard side and lit up with the blue lights of the beacons and with officers three's dragon torch. PC [redacted] positioned Bravo 4 alongside the RHIB in order to shout to the coxswain to stop, confirm suspect's identities and any illicit load on the deck. PC [redacted] saw one of the men picking up items and started to throw them at the police vessel. The RHIB sharply turned left to right to throw sea spray at the vessel in order to block their view.

The RHIB carried out several erratic manoeuvres, turning sharply right or left without any indicators. PC [redacted] trimmed down and reduced the speed in order to gain more control. The RHIB sharply turned left and the trims were still up causing a large white wave in front of the vessel limiting all vision. In order to avoid injury and a collision PC [redacted] engaged the vessel into neutral and attempted to turn right in attempt to avoid the RHIB, which is when he felt the impact between his vessel and the RHIB. The vessel began to list to the right which resulted in water ingress through the windows and doors. PC [redacted] believed the vessel would capsize and they would possibly drown. The vessel appeared to slip off the pivoting point. PC [redacted] believed this was due to buoyancy offered by the foam collar causing the vessel to re-float.

The vessel was positioned to the left hand side of the RHIB, PC [redacted] jumped onto the suspect vessel via its bow. PC [redacted] removed the kill cord, officer three was at the rear of the police vessel holding both vessels. PC [redacted] boarded the suspect vessel to assist PC [redacted] his attention was drawn to one individual standing at the bow, another person was seen just behind him crouching down. PC [redacted] saw two more people on the deck next to the steering console lying down side by side with their feet directed at the bow.

PC [redacted] approached the men and could see the male to the right closest to the steering console had a severe head injury (visible brain matter and skull fragments), no signs of life present. The male to the left had an open wound to his right shoulder with bone and fat tissue visible. PC [redacted] attempted to move him upright however, he was too heavy and he reassured the male and informed him that he would be calling for an ambulance and medical assistance.

PC [redacted] moved to the front of the vessel together with PC [redacted] who was with the other individuals, he informed them that the vessel would be towed and returned to the marine base as quickly as possible where an ambulance would be waiting.

PC's [redacted] and [redacted] re-boarded Bravo 4, officer three stood at the stem with a dragon torch to make sure the individuals remained on the vessel and visible. The radar was reduced to carry out sweeps of a quarter nautical mile to see the RHIB clearer behind them. The RHIB was placed on a long tow by use of a bowline to its front d-ring. PC [redacted] cannot recall the precise order of communications; he believes the first contact was with WHSS to inform them that they were towing a RHIB. PC [redacted] informed WHSS that there was one fatality and possibly a second, that they were heading back to base to get them medical assistance. PC [redacted] contacted his sergeant and the need for medical assistance. Guardia Civil contacted PC [redacted] on the duty phone; he cannot remember the conversation. A further call came through from the Port Boarding office; he cannot remember the conversation.

Bravo 4's starboard outer engine was not functioning. PC [redacted] contacted the duty sergeant again via the marine section mobile in order to get a customs vessel out to pick up as many persons as possible off the suspect RHIB to convey them back for medical assistance. PC [redacted] contacted HM Custom's marine base via the marine section mobile where he updated them with the incident.

As Bravo 4 arrived off Sandy Bay, the HM Customs vessel arrived and the vessels were positioned in order to re-board the RHIB to assist the individuals. One male came forward and shouted, "Officer it was our fault as our engines stopped, we didn't give you enough time to stop, please help my uncle, I know you guys didn't want to kill anyone".

The RGP officers instructed customs officers to take on board as many persons as possible to convey back to the base. PC [redacted] and officer three jumped aboard the RHIB to assist customs officers. Customs casted off with three persons on board from the RHIB while Bravo 4 resumed the tow back to base. On arrival to South Mole, a Gibraltar Defence Police (GDP) RHIB could be seen to exit the harbour and assisted with the escort to base.

Upon entering the base, PC [redacted] went to the stem to remove the tow and handed it to the GDP RHIB. PC [redacted] could see paramedics were providing CPR to someone on the ground. PC [redacted] berthed the vessel with PC [redacted] assistance.

On 11[h] August 2020, PC [redacted] was interviewed under s47 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 for the offences of manslaughter as s27 Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (H&S etc.) Act. Also present were his legal advisor and Police Federation Representative. DC Emma Johnson and Civilian Investigator Trevor Morgan were the interviewing officers. PC [redacted] exercised his right to silence and did not answer the questions put to him. A copy of the interview plan has been included in this case submission.

Officer 2 (Later identified as PC [redacted] provided a stage 4 PIP statement. In that statement, he stated the following: He confirmed his status and that the statement was regarding a collision between a police vessel "Bravo 4" and a suspect RHIB. Description given of B4 including engines, vision and approximate maximum speed of 50-52 knots in good conditions. He stated that visibility is very poor during chases. He provided details of his qualifications - RGP Coxswain - and previous experience regarding chases of different vehicles.

At approximately 0320 on 08/03/2020, PC [redacted] received a report on the duty mobile phone. PC [redacted] told PC [redacted] that there was a suspect RHIB on the east side of Gibraltar. He in turn told officer three, who was sat in the station control room. They boarded the police vessel and deployed at high speed from the base. PC [redacted] was coxswain. PC [redacted] was sat in front passenger seat to the left of PC [redacted] Officer three was sat in behind PC [redacted] PC [redacted] and officer three had search torches. As they reached the area near Eastern Beach the vessel slowed and then stopped in approximate area of A8. PC [redacted] indicated a vessel on the radar heading towards them at high speed from the Spanish coast. Blue lights were activated and a RHIB crossed their bow at high speed at a distance of approximately 10 metres. The RHIB was not displaying any navigation lights and a chased ensued. The occupants of the RHIB threw missiles at the police vessel which he heard impact on their boat. They closed the gap between the vessels and PC [redacted] positioned Bravo 4 to the RHIB's starboard side.

He used a torch to illuminate the RHIB that was approximately 20 metres away. He provided description of RHIB and saw four people sat in tandem on it. The RHIB began evasive manoeuvres - sharp turns at speed. Bravo 4 moved to RHIB's port side so officer 3 used his torch to illuminate the RHIB, which continued to do sudden sharp turns across the bow of Bravo 4. This sprayed water over Bravo 4, reducing visibility and forcing them to slow down each time.

"During one of these manoeuvers the suspect RHIB crossed the bow of Bravo 4 as such a close distance that a large wave like splash was produced ahead of Bravo 4. This hit the front of our vessel and covered window screens removing all visibility. I then felt an extremely large and sudden impact that caused our vessel to stop abruptly and noticed that we immediately began to tilt heavily to the starboard side. I had to hold myself tightly to my side handrail to stop me falling over as my side of out (this appears to be a tying error and should read "our") vessel was now raised high up. I could also hear a lot of water rushing into the cabin but could not see where it was coming in from. I was still not aware at this stage of what had happened and my immediate thought was that Bravo 4 was going to capsize. At this time I feared for my life and that of my crew mates, I was not sure of what was happening. I did not know how long the chase had gone on for but it felt like if time had slowed down. As I tried to work out what had happened our vessel began to return to its normal upright position. At this time I was in a state of shock and had completely lost sight of the suspect RHIB. During this time Office one manoeuvred and went alongside the suspect RHIB's starboard side with our stem ending up alongside the suspect RHIB's bow. I could see it was stopped in the water and realised there had been a collision."

He went on to state that he left cabin and boarded the RHIB. He described the scene - there was an extremely agitated male near bow of RHIB; second male crouched down in bow area; two males on deck starboard side of seats. He was severely shocked and could not move. He believed they were dead but could not push forward to check. He found the situation overwhelming. He was alone on the RHIB with suspected drug smugglers who can be violent and carry weapons. PC [redacted] then joined him and told him that he believed one of the males was dead. They decided to tow the RHIB to marine base to get help. PC [redacted] was concerned for own crew and the RHIB crew.

They hitched up the RHIB and started towing at about 30 metres with officer 3 watching. PC [redacted] had done all communications via the duty mobile phone. A call made to customs to help but he was not sure which method of communication was used. He stated that one of the RHIB crew shouted in Spanish "It wasn't your fault, the engines stopped, I know you guys wouldn't kill anyone, please help my uncle." The Customs boat then arrived (Seeker). There was a discussion with customs about the transfer of the RHIB crew and eventually this was done. The RHIB was towed in at speed and he then returned to police station and completed stage 3 account.

On 12h August 2020, PC [redacted] was interviewed under s47 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 for the offences of manslaughter as s27 Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (H&S etc.) Act. Also present were his legal advisor and Police Federation Representative. DC Emma Johnson and Civilian Investigator Trevor Morgan were the interviewing officers. PC [redacted] exercised his right to silence and did not answer the questions put to him. A copy of the interview plan has been included in this case submission.

Officer 3 provided a PIP stage 4 statement and stated the following: On Saturday the 7h March 2020 at 2200 hours, he reported for duty at New Mole House Police Station and deployed as a crewmember with officers one and two on the Sir John Chapple (call sign Bravo 4). This duty was only his second deployment with the Police Marine Base (PMB). He has not received any specific training as a police marine officer but does hold an Emergency First Aid at Work qualification.

At approximately 0250 hours officer three was informed by PC's [redacted] and [redacted] that they were heading out, officer three believed a job had come in by the urgency in their voices. They headed back to Bravo 4 where officer three had the responsibility for the rope. Officer three took hold of the dragon lamp and sat in the front port side adjacent to PC [redacted] PC [redacted] operated and sailed out of the harbour to the western side of the BGTW and made a turning to the left to travel in a southerly direction. PC [redacted] was informed that the Guardia Civil had observed a RHIB suspected to have left Spain and was travelling in the direction of Gibraltar into the eastern side of BGTW.

PC [redacted] navigated Bravo 4 around Europa Point and headed in an easterly and then northerly eastern direction. Officer three observed glowing orange lights in the far distance which he believed to be the Spanish coastline at a 12 o'clock position from the bow of Bravo 4 and the north eastern rock face of Gibraltar was on the port side at around an 8 o'clock position. PC [redacted] answered a phone call in Spanish.

Officer three observed from the bow of Bravo 4, at a 10 o'clock positon, a fast moving RHIB heading in a southerly direction. PC [redacted] activated the blue beacon lights on Bravo 4 and operated the controls to turn left in the direction the RHIB was travelling. The RHIB was about 10 metres from Bravo 4 on the port side. Officer three opened the window next to him on the starboard side and flicked the switch of the dragon lamp, fixing the beam on the RHIB, which was at a 2 o'clock position from the bow.

Officer three observed four persons on the RHIB, two were throwing shiny items towards Bravo 4 and he heard several bangs. He turned the dragon lamp on and off to disorientate the occupants of the RHIB as directed by PC [redacted] The RHIB began to perform sharp S bends and sharp U-turn manoeuvres in front of the bow. The RHIB was moving through the water at a high speed producing a wake causing Bravo 4 to move from side to side as they went over the wake. Water intermittently went through the window as officer three focused the dragon lamp at the RHIB.

The RHIB remained on the starboard position to Bravo 4 and a large wave came up engulfing the front windscreen. PC [redacted] turned the wheel to the right, the boat leaned and there was a sudden impact. The starboard side window slammed into the water, water flushed through into the cabin, officer three thought they would die.

Bravo 4 rolled to the left and came to an upright position; the RHIB stopped about 10 metres away when Bravo 4 moved alongside the port side of the RHIB. A man described as white, stocky build, wearing marine clothing came towards the starboard side of the RHIB and officer three shouted for him to "Get down, get down".

Officer three remained on Bravo 4 and lent over to unzip the jacket of the male at his request, the male moved to the right and lent over the starboard of the RHIB to vomit. Officer three then noticed a smaller and slimmer built male crouching down at the front of the RHIB. Officer three could see the hair and the top of a head near to where he was holding onto the RHIB and mumbling.

PC [redacted] attended to the man mumbling, officer three wanted to get onto the RHIB and help but he was holding onto Bravo 4 and the RHIB in order to stop them from drifting. PC [redacted] stated, "One, code black" which officer three knew was a sudden death. PC's [redacted] and [redacted] climbed back onto Bravo 4 tying the rope onto the RHIB to connect them. Officer three observed officer one taking deep breaths and speaking in Spanish. Officer three observed the RHIB whilst Bravo 4 towed it, the officer felt shock.

Officer three noticed another RHIB with people waving; PC [redacted] confirmed it was customs officers who then boarded the suspect RHIB to assist. Bravo 4 entered the harbour where medical assistance was provided. They were then informed the PIP procedure had commenced.

On 10[h] August 2020 the PIP was reconvened for officer three so that questions that had not previously been answered, could be addressed. This statement is included in the case submission.

Evidence from RHIB Crew

There were 4 men aboard the RHIB:

[redacted]

[redacted] and [redacted] were arrested and interviewed by RGP officers for the following offences:

- Importing a Prohibited Import, contrary to Section 14 (1) (f) and (2) of the Imports and Exports Act 1986.
- Dangerous navigation, contrary to Section 10 of the Seaside Pleasure Boat Rules 1989.
- Obstructing Police, Contrary to Section 177 (2) and (4) of the Crimes Act.

However, no charges were brought against them.

[redacted] gave a "no comment" interview.

[redacted] stated the following (interviews in Spanish and transcript provided by RGP officers):
He said that he was at sea and his coxswain manoeuvred to one side and the police went the same way and rolled over them. He stated that he was in the fourth seat on the RHIB (the back of the row of 4 seats).
He confirmed that there had been a crew change. Four people got off and he and three others got on. He did not know where they were going and this was about 0230 hours. He stated that they could stay at sea for 2-3 days as they were holding the boat. He had been on a boat 4 days ago, had 3 days off and was then back on board. He stated that they did not collect anything.
He confirmed that the police vessel had its blue lights activated. He confirmed they were not carrying anything (presumably talking about contraband such as drugs).
He stated the RHIB was turning and went "this way and that."
After the collision the police got on. One man was dead and one was half-dead. Another boat arrived and took off the half-dead man.
He confirmed possession of 2 mobile phones.

[redacted] and [redacted] were due to travel to Gibraltar to prove statements to the investigative team in August 2020. However, this did not take place as planned due to a legal issue. Efforts are in hand to acquire their statements and the video footage that [redacted] claims to have recorded on his mobile phone. This phone is in the possession of the RGP but the contents have not been examined because the PIN has not been provided to unlock the device. Communication with [redacted]'s lawyer enabled the team to determine that [redacted] does not trust the RGP. [redacted] is willing to provide the MPS team with the PIN in person when he travels to Gibraltar to provide his evidential account.

Previous Convictions of RHIB Crew

It is relevant to mention the previous convictions of the RHIB crew to provide information relating to their activities.

[redacted] has 2 previous convictions in Spain. One is for drug trafficking and one for driving while disqualified. He is currently on bail in Spain but as of 14/09/20, Chris Finch was unable to divulge the offence for which he was on bail as he is not dealing with that matter.

[redacted] has three previous convictions in Spain. Two are for driving while disqualified and one was insulting or resisting a representative of a public authority.

[redacted] has previous convictions in Spain for drug trafficking, tobacco smuggling and offences against public health.

Evidence from Customs Crew

Members of the crew for the vessel HMC Seeker were included in the PIP process and provided statements within that process. They are referred to as officers 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8:

Officer 4: Officer 4 is a Customs Officer posted to the Marine Section. He reported for duty at 1930 hours on 8th March 2020 at North Mole Customs Marine Base. At approximately 0420 hours he received a telephone call from RGP launch Bravo 4 reporting a collision with a large RHIB, requesting assistance to pick up three persons to return to shore. He was informed that there was one fatality and their location was "eastern side by the tankers". Officer 4 deployed as coxswain on HMC Seeker with Officers 5, 6, 7 and 8. He recorded that the sea state was flat calm as he headed south at full speed toward Europa Point. As he rounded the point he identified blue lights due east to the point and headed to the location which was about 1 mile off Europa Point. On his approach he noticed that Bravo 4 had a tow line attached to the front of a RHIB and there were three officers on the deck of Bravo 4. He could also see one person at the front of RHIB waving and shouting for help. Officer 4 came alongside the RHIB, and Officers 5, 6 and 8 boarded. He remained on Seeker with Officer 7 and noticed a second person sat on the floor at the front of the RHIB. Officer 4 positioned himself at the portside stem to hold Seeker steady while Officer 6 jumped back on to assist 5, 8 and 7 transfer two people, who looked to be injured and in pain, onto HMC Seeker. Officers 5 and 8 remained on the RHIB and moved to the rear where two casualties were laying on the deck at the rear starboard side, one on top of the other. Officer 4 stated "I could see the casualty underneath had severe head injuries with part of the brain spilling out". He observed Officer 8 test the casualty laying on top for signs of life, who said he thought he could feel a slight pulse but was unsure. Officer 5 also checked, as a second opinion, and came to the same conclusion. A decision was made to transfer the casualty onto Seeker and PC [redacted] was asked to assist. Once he had been placed on board, Officer 4 headed to the RGP Marine Base. Officers 6 and 7 were at the front of Seeker, working with the first two casualties, while Officers 5 and 8 were at the rear tending to the third casualty "who seemed to be unresponsive". On approaching Bravo Base, he was ushered into a berth where ambulance crew took over the casualty at the rear and the two casualties at the front were escorted to a waiting ambulance.

Officer 5: Officer 5 was deployed on HMC Seeker with Officers 4, 6, 7 and 8 at approximately 0425 hours. He explained that as they came around Europa Point he saw the blue light beacons of Bravo 4 approximately 1 mile east of Europa Point. As they approached, he saw PC [redacted] holding a piece of rope attached to a RHIB. Seeker pulled alongside the RHIB and a male he now knows to be 'El Nordin', and another, were asking for help. Officer 5 boarded the RHIB and asked both males to calm down and sit down. While doing this he noticed PC [redacted] PC [redacted] and officer 3 at the stem of Bravo 4 in shock. El Nordin told him he had an injury to his side, suspected to be his rib, while the other male seemed to be in shock and was barely talking but in good condition. El Nordin also told him that it had been an accident they had just changed crew in Alcaidesa. No one informed him that the engines were failing and consequently the police rammed into them. El Nordin said that it was not intentional and no one wanted to kill anyone. He asked for help for his uncle who he had been speaking to but went unresponsive about ten minutes prior. He assisted El Nordin and the other male onto HMC Seeker and made his way to the stem where he found Officer 8 with two unresponsive males on top of each other. He believed the male underneath was dead as he could see part of his brain. He observed Officer 8 check the other male for a pulse, who told him he thought he could feel a pulse but he was not sure and his chest was warm. He asked Officer 5 to double check, "I then did so and confirmed the same and made me and Officer 8 unsure, so we decided to bring him on board HMC Seeker". PC [redacted] was asked to assist and the three of them transferred the unresponsive male onto Seeker and Officer 4 made his way back to RGP marine base. On the journey, he saw Officer 8 carry out CPR on the unresponsive male. After several compressions, Officer 4 saw "fluid coming out of his ears and excessive loss of blood", his body became cold and this made him and Officer 8 believe the male had died due to the severity of the injuries he had sustained.

Officer 6: Officer 6 was deployed on HMC Seeker at 0425 hours to assist Bravo 4. When arriving around Europa Point he saw blue lights approximately 1 mile East off Europa Point. On arrival, he saw Bravo 4 had a rope tied from the bow of a RHIB. HMC Seeker came alongside the RHIB and two individuals were at the bow of the RHIB shouting for help. Officer 6, along with Officers 5 and 8 jumped on board the RHIB and he heard one of the individuals say "I am El Nordin". He went to the bow toward the two individuals and helped them back onto Seeker where Officer 7 was. He heard Officer 7 tell them to sit at the bow and ask them if they had any injuries. El Nordin stated that his ribs hurt and the other male stated that his shoulder hurt. El Nordin then said that his uncle was talking 10 minutes ago prior. Together with Officer 7, Officer 6 was trying to calm him down as he wanted to go and see his uncle. While making their way back to the marine base, El Nordin said that he works for someone big in Spain, that the incident happened in Spain and he had recorded everything and sent it to his boss. El Nordin stated that they had only been on board for 10 minutes and had engine problems. The other crew did not say anything. They arrived at the marine base at approximately 0445 hours.

Officer 7: Officer 7 deployed on HMC Seeker to assist Bravo 4. He sat on the port side behind Officer 5, who was co-pilot. On arrival, he saw and heard one individual at the bow of the RHIB shouting for help and saw three officers standing at the stem of Bravo 4. He described them as looking shocked. Officer 7 explained they arrived at about 0430 hours, approximately 1 mile east of Europa Point. From where he was on Seeker, he could see the stem of the RHIB, including the four outboard engines with significant damage. Officers 5, 6 and 8 boarded the RHIB and he heard the individual on the bow state that he was Nordin. Officer 7 assisted with helping two individuals from the RHIB onto Seeker. He instructed them both to sit at the bow and asked if they had any injuries. El Nordin said that his ribs hurt and the other male said that his shoulder hurt. El Nordin then asked for them to help his uncle as had been speaking with him 10 minute prior. Officer 7 informed Officers 5 and 8 and overheard Officer 8 say he could feel a light pulse but wasn't sure and that his chest was warm. PC [redacted] assisted with transporting the injured male onto Seeker and they headed back to the marine base. Officer 7 recorded in his statement the same conversation as Officer 6 regarding El Nordin working for someone big in Spain and that there had been engine problems. While on the way back, the other individual vomited over the side of Seeker and he held onto him to ensure he did not fall overboard. After vomiting, he told Officer 7 that he was fine but his shoulder hurt.

Officer 8: Officer 8 was deployed on HMC Seeker, having been told "we are attending a collision with Bravo 4". Whilst rounding Europa Point, he could see blue lights approximately 1 nautical mile East of their position. On approach, he saw a rope tied from the bow of Bravo 4 to the RHIB. At the bow of the RHIB he saw an individual who identified himself as Nordin and asked for help. Officer 8 observed that he was "demonstrating signs of stress/shock, he spoke incoherently and was very repetitive". Officer 8 boarded the RHIB and went to the stem where he noticed damage to the radar post, the seats, and the four engines. On the starboard near the seats, he saw two individuals, one laying atop the other. He referred to the male on the top as Individual 1 and the one beneath as Individual 2. He described that Individual 2 had significant wounds to the head, "he was notably pale and was lying lifeless on the floor" with what he could make out to be a portion of his brain protruding from the left side of his skull. Officer 8 explained that Individual 1 was on top, but wedged between Individual 2 and the RHIB's collar, he could not see any visible wounds. He described "he too appeared very pale, with his eyes open and was lifeless in motion" and noticed a considerable amount of blood beneath the two individuals. He was asked by Officer 5 to assist with transferring Nordin and the other individual - who told him his shoulder hurt. Having assisted, he went back to check Individual 1 and Officer 7 told him ''''Nordin said he was speaking to his uncle 10 minutes ago". He checked for vitals before saying that he thought he could feel a very faint pulse. He asked Officer 5 to check as well, and he confirmed the same. Assisted by Officer 5 and PC [redacted] he carried Individual 1 onto Seeker and they made their way back to the marine base. Officer 8 recorded '7 pinched the individuals cheeks and repeatedly asked him 'Me oyes?' 'Can you hear me?'. He gave no reaction". He noticed a clear discharge coming from his right ear and on lowering his head, could not feel or hear any breath, nor see any movement on his chest indicative of breathing. His chest still felt warm, so Officer 8 began chest compressions. However, on doing so he noticed a considerable amount of blood spreading beneath him and the lifeless expression on his face. Officer 8 stopped at 25 compressions and did not continue with rescue breaths, he said "it appeared to me that he was dead".

Evidence from Medical Staff

Fabian Ferro - Fabian is a paramedic with Gibraltar Ambulance Service who attended. He was informed three patients were on board HMC Seeker, one of which needed immediate attention - he was described as having "a shoulder injury with bones sticking out". He was tasked with dealing with the unresponsive patient on the vessel. Fabian conducted an initial assessment of the patient, noting that he was a middle aged male with a laceration on the back of his head and a shoulder injury. He said the shoulder appeared to be deformed but he could not judge the extent of the injury due to clothing. Assisted by Stuart and a HMC officer they lifted the male onto the pier to give them more space and a stable area to work. CPR was started and Fabian administered one dose of adrenaline to his left knee. Paul Watson and Leslie Bruzon joined them and assisted with compressions. He explained the patient remained unresponsive and a joint decision was made to stop CPR once the extent of his injuries became apparent: "I can only describe what I saw on his back as a mess of muscle and bone. The extent of the injury was not compatible with life and so all attempts to resuscitate were stopped".

John Paul Llanelo - John Paul is an EMT. He attended the marine base and on arrival he saw paramedics on the pier gathered around what he assumed was a body. He dealt with two males in the office. He approached the males and asked if they had any injuries, Bruno Gomez Sereno told him he had a pain to his left shoulder, and Nordin Lahsen Driz complained of pain to his ribs, shoulder and right knee. Bruno walked to John Paul's ambulance and Nordin was transferred in a chair, both their vital signs were in normal range. He remained in the rear of the ambulance with a police officer while Wilson and a plain clothes officer drove to the hospital. While in the ambulance, Nordin asked several times about the welfare of his uncle.

Leslie Bruzon - Leslie is an EMT and attended the marine base. On arrival, they found two casualties being attended by Tanya Noguera. They were then informed there was a third casualty on one of the pontoons. She made her way down and Fabien requested her assistance with the oxygen cyclinder. At this point, Paul had started chest compressions and Leslie took over but the patient still was not responsive. At one point, Sigurd Haveland arrived and took over the airway of the patient, but after a while it was decided to convey him to hospital. He was then placed on a scoop, with chest compressions continuing but when the extent of the injuries was re-examined after his clothing was cut, it was determined that they were not compatible with life. CPR was therefore stopped and all three paramedics agreed that advanced life support should not continue. She was aware that a fourth person had been lifeless on arrival.

Paul Watson - Paul is a paramedic who attended the marine base. On arrival he saw numerous police officers and Fabien run towards the pontoon. He then met with Tanya who had two patients full conscious and talking, he was informed there had been a collision at sea with possible fatalities. Stuart then requested his assistance at the pontoon, and at that point he saw Fabien run down to the pontoon with an airway bag. When he arrived, he saw a male laying on his back, this male being [redacted]. He confirmed [redacted] wasn't breathing and was told by Stuart that he had been talking on the boat, "therefore this meant he has recently gone into cardiac arrest". They decided to commence CPR and Mustafa's trousers were cut so that Fabien could administer adrenaline. A defibrillator was attached to his chest "and he was in a rhythm we call ASYSTOLE which means there is no electricity in the heart with a poor prognosis" At this point, Sigurd arrived and attended to the airway, which is when they started advanced life procedures - this entailed an insert through the airway and the drug administration. Paul checked Mustafa's head for injuries but the skull felt intact. Sigurd then prompted him to look at the left upper arm and mentioned the possibility of a tourniquet. Paul took some scissors and began to cut the clothing away where he noticed "extensive trauma (muscular skeletal trauma)", although the arm was still attached it was near to amputation. On exposing more clothing he noticed a large laceration to his neck which extended down his back. At this point he rolled Mustafa over as part of a secondary survey and noticed the extensive trauma on his back "which was basically incompatible with life". All paramedics made the decision to stop CPR and Fabien verified death. Following this, Paul and Fabien waited to the RHIB to be brought in and they confirmed life extinct.

Sigurd Haveland - Sigurd is a Chief Ambulance Officer. When he attended the marine base two paramedics and two technicians had started CPR on Mustafa Dris Mohamed. He immediately took over the airway and on the secondary survey while cutting the clothing, he noticed "a mangled upper left arm". On seeing this he requested a tourniquet, while waiting for it they continued to cut the wet suit and Paul noticed "the extent of the trauma suffered and decided to terminate the CPR". He explained this was a collective decision between himself, Fabian and Paul due to the extent of injuries and time suffered since the accident were incompatible with life.

Stuart Ryan - Stuart received the initial phone call from the fire brigade control room informing him there had been an incident at sea and someone had been injured in the right arm. He decided to despatch to the incident with Tanya Noguera. When they arrived there was no one else there. Between 0400 and 0430 hours, he received a further call from the fire brigade informing him there was one deceased and the customs vessel was picking up a casualty that had significant trauma in his shoulder. The customs vessel arrived between 0430 and 0500 hours and Stuart "received a report from one of the officers on board the vessel, to the effect that there were two walking talking casualties at the front of the vessel and one moribund looking person at the back of the vessel". He was also informed there was a fourth deceased body being brought in by the police vessel. Further units were requested and he and Fabian attended to the patient in the customs vessel. The two walking patients were taken to ambulances. Paul and Sigurd also attended to assist with the moribund casualty and they moved him to the wooden pontoon. It became apparent that his injuries were not compatible with life and he was therefore ROLED (Recognition of Life Extinct).

Tanya Noguera - Tanya was on duty with Stuart when he took a call and informed her they were to go to the police marine section as they were bringing someone in with injuries. They were given very little information and initially told it was only one person injured. On arrival of the Police and Customs, they walked down to the pontoon and saw what appeared to be a deceased body at the front of the vessel and two other males laying down at the rear. She could see they were in pain from the expressions on their faces. She went to these two males and asked what kind of pain they were in, one said he had pain to his shoulder and the other had pain in his ribs. She walked back toward her ambulance with the two males and requested they remove some of their clothing so that she could assess their injuries. Their blood pressure, pulse and oxygen saturation were within clinical parameters. She felt a slight indentation on one of the males ribs, possibly cracked, but he was breathing and talking fine. She then assisted with taking equipment down to the pontoon for her colleagues who were attending to the other male. At one point she was asked to help with suction, which she carried out before returning to the two males. Wilson and John Paul then arrived and took the two males to hospital, Tanya then went back down to the pontoon, "at this point the severity of the injuries to the male was greater them the possibility of resuscitating him and there was nothing else we could do for him". She noted that she observed "all his arm, shoulder and back was completely mangled".

Wilson Oliveira - Wilson is an Ambulance Care Assistant. He was posted with John Paul and received a call from Stuart Ryan to attend the police marine base. On arrival he saw some of his colleagues gathered around what he assumed to be two bodies. Stuart signalled for them to go back toward the main building where they found a police officer guarding two males inside an ambulance. One of them identified himself as Bruno Serrana who was complaining of an injury to his left shoulder. The other male identified himself as Nordin Lahsen and complained of pain to his ribs, shoulder and right knee. They were placed in Wilson's ambulance and he drove them to the hospital. While driving, he overhead Nordin asking several times about the welfare of his uncle, he assumed the uncle was one of the males he had seen his colleagues gathered around, but as he did not know his condition, he did not comment.

Evidence from Marine Policing Unit Instructors

Statements were taken from all five Marine Section instructors to obtain an understanding of what training is provided to RGP officers with regards to pursuing vessels at sea.

PC Robert McKnight stated that RGP do not have a tactic for stopping a vessel at sea other than presence and persuasion. As a result, there is no module or content in the training course for "pursuit training." Instead, he teaches safe manoeuvring of vessels at speed and in proximity to other vessels; maintaining safe distances; and never placing their vessels directly behind suspect vessels. [redacted] He stated that they do teach "pacing" which involves safe handling to transfer personnel or equipment between vessels. This is not performed at high speeds and he instructs trainees not to come alongside suspects RHIB's. Instead, they should maintain a safe distance depending on the circumstances.

PC Glen Ballantine also stated that "pacing" was used to transfer staff between craft and is not intended for pursuits of vessels. He stated that safety at sea was of paramount importance.

PC Keith Bonfiglio corroborates the evidence regarding training and [redacted] He stated that police vessels should follow suspects at an angle to shadow them.

PC Lee Pozo confirmed that there is little or no training for pursuits at sea due to the hazardous conditions and narrow margin of error. He stated that "pacing" is not relevant to pursuits.

PC Herbert Warwick corroborates the evidence regarding training. He stated that the primary focus is safety.

Post Mortems

Completed by Dr David Rouse on 11th March 2020.

Dr Rouse noted significant head injuries as well as injuries to other parts of the body. Dr Rouse is of the opinion that the death was the result of extensive head injuries (as well as shoulder) consistent with forceful impact. The injuries were not survivable. He awaited the results of toxicology before finalising the report. On 6th May 2020, he produced a report confirming the cause of death as above.

Completed by Dr David Rouse on 11th and 12th March 2020.

Dr Rouse noted external injuries to the head, torso and limbs. There were significant rib fractures and a partially collapsed lung. Cause of death was forceful impact to the back. He stated that the injuries were not survivable and that any delays in resuscitation were unlikely to have affected the outcome. He awaited the results of toxicology before finalising the report. On 6th May 2020, he produced a report confirming the cause of death as above.

Windmill Hill Signal Station

Daniel Ferro works for the Gibraltar Defence Police as a communications assistant at WHSS. He operates cameras that are focussed on BGTW. At approximately 0200 hours on 8th March 2020, he observed a suspect vessel 3-4 miles outside BGTW. He contacted PC [redacted] via mobile phone and informed him of his observations. At approximately 0250 hours, the vessel made its way towards Spanish land. PC [redacted] called to say he was in touch with the Guardia Civil who confirmed it was a suspect RHIB and that he was heading to grid reference A8 as stated on the grip map of BGTW. He saw a smaller vessel meet with the RHIB. At approximately 0330 hours, the smaller vessel went towards the land and the RHIB headed out to sea. Approximately 2 minutes later, the RGP vessel activated its blue lights and the chase ensued. He saw the RHIB performing erratic manoeuvres at high speed. The chase lasted approximately 10 minutes and he could not see why it stopped. He saw the RGP vessel circle the RHIB after it had stopped and was then contacted by PC [redacted] who informed him that there had been a collision with one and possibly, two fatalities. PC [redacted] confirmed that he had requested assistance. He confirmed that WHSS had not traced the RGP vessel's Radar/AIS.

Expert Evidence from Richard Meikle (maritime collision investigator)

Richard Meikle, the author of this report is a Master Mariner and partner of Solis Marine Consultants. Having been instructed by RGP to investigate the collision between the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and RHIB on 8th March 2020, the report provides his opinion on: the events leading to the collision; territorial waters where the incident occurred; the role of RGP officers in the collision and other factors that may have contributed to the cause of the collision, including tactics used by drug smugglers to evade law enforcement.

It is not the intention of this summary to repeat evidence, which is provided with the case submission.

At paragraph 3.18.1, Richard stated: "Due to the lack of digital data, witness accounts of video recordings it has not been possible to say with certainty how the two vessels collided and provide an insight into the events during the collision which led to the fatal injuries of two of the crew of the 'SUSPECT RHIB ".

What he was able to do however, was review all material and reach a number of conclusions with regard to the events leading up to the collision and what impact these had to the causation of the collision.

Primarily, Richard was required to rely on statements of officers and the survivors of the RHIB, physical examination of both vessels, [redacted] CCTV and Southern CCTV from WHSS. In doing so, he identified a number of failings with regard to the actions of RGP PC's [redacted] and [redacted]

Territorial Waters:

It is evident that this collision took place in Spanish waters. On 17th February 2016, RGP Marine Sections' Inspector Buhagiar sent an email to the Marine Section stating: "I would like to remind ALL of the current and existing instructions that under no circumstances are you allowed to police/patrol outside the limits of BGTW". This email is a clear instruction that RGP officers should not enter Spanish waters during their duties, with the exception of engaging in Search and Rescue operations or a vessel/person in distress - but in any case, authority would need to be sought before deploying to such an incident.

The report stated that it would have been clear to the officers on board SIR JOHN CHAPPLE, even when navigating by eye, that they were well outside of BGTW. While the limits of BGTW were not visible on the chart plotter, the northern limit of BGTW is generally indicated by reference to the lights of Gibraltar airport. As SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was significantly north of the airport and off the Spanish port, it would have been clear to the officers that they were well to the north of BGTW.

Position Data:

All navigation systems on the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE were checked, however no relevant data was available due to the AIS and GPS systems being turned off until approximately one hour after the collision. This was against clear instructions that AIS should be switched on at all times (Paragraph 2.10.2).

The RHIB was fitted with a Garmin NAVnet 3D radar/chart plotter, which saved only its position data.

Infrared CCTV and Rapid Replay:

The review of Infrared CCTV has assisted greatly (due to the lack of positional data from SIR JOHN CHAPPLE) with the time of interception, collision and return to BGTW. The infrared CCTV, at Figure 17 shows the time of interception as 16 minutes 59 seconds into the recording. This was 2 minutes 59 seconds after the departure of the RHIB from Puerto de La Atunara at 03:26:16. Hours. Therefore, the time of interception was approximately 03:29:15 hours.

A "Rapid Replay" reconstruction was produced using GPS data recovered from the RHIB radar/chart plotter and in conjunction with the CCTV, provided an overview of the pursuit.

The Rapid Replay demonstrated that the SUSPECT RHIB used tactics to evade officers with three sharp turns to the Starboard, which caused seawater to spray toward the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and reduce visibility - forcing it to slow down. In addition to these tactics, objects were also thrown at the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and the RHIB was alleged to have been operating with the outboard engines 'trim up' which would also produce a wash spray that might disorientate a pursuing vehicle by reducing its visibility.

The collision was recorded by the Southern CCTV operated by WHSS, the point of collision being at approximately 03:38:56 hours. Figure 19 at Paragraph 3.2.1 displays the location with latitude and longitude markers, which depict Spanish waters. The Rapid Replay shows that this immediately followed a very sharp turn to Port by the RHIB. PC [redacted] on seeing this stated he placed the propulsion into neutral and attempted to turn starboard to avoid the RHIB by slowing down and turning away, but PC [redacted] explained the spray from this manoeuvre caused spray on the windows which removed all visibility and then there was impact.

Following the impact, the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE heeled heavily to the Starboard and a significant ingress of seawater came through the open windows on the starboard side before it righted itself.

During the collision, the RHIB radar was heavily damaged and displayed a Toss of radar' signal as an alarm. The alarm recorded the time as 03:39 on 8th March 2020 and its position, this being the time and position of collision. This is consistent with the Southern CCTV from WHSS.

The positional data in this instance is of importance when considering the offence under si53 and S6 (3) of the Crimes Act 2011 with regard to the death of Mohamed Abdesalam Ahmed.
At approximately 04:14 hours, The SIR JOHN CHAPPLE crossed into BGTW and at 04:31 hours it stopped approximately one Nautical Mile northeast of Europa Point, where it was met by HMC SEEKER. This can be seen at Figure 7, Paragraph 1.9.28. It is the timing of re-entering BGTW which would need to be a consideration when reviewing the evidence in relation to SI53 and S6 (2) of the Crimes Act 2011 with regard to the death of Mustafa Das Mohamed, who would need to have died either in BGTW or ashore in Gibraltar for s6(2) to apply.

RHIB Engine Failure:

At Paragraph 3.9.5 the report refers to statements of RGP and Customs officers who stated the crew of the RHIB reported engine failure prior to the collision. The report explains that an engine failure would have caused the RHIB to reduce speed "suddenly and unexpectedly and would have prevented the coxswain of 'SUSPECT RHIB 'from taking action to avoid the collision with 'SIR JOHN CHAPPLE'. "

However, analysis of the engine data does not support the suggestion that the RHIB engines failed prior to the collision. Further analysis of the data from the RHIB Yamaha engines was requested of the manufacturer's technicians to assist with identifying the status of the engines at the time of the collision as this could add to the understanding of what caused the collision. At the time of writing, we have had verbal confirmation that there was no engine failure and we await the report in due course.

Failures:

It was noted at paragraph 3.10.1 that PC [redacted] turned on the radar but not the chart plotter or the GPS that supplied the radar unit with position data. He stated he did not do this due to the impact it had on his night vision. However, the report stated: "the dimming facility on the chart plotter was tested and found to dim the display as would be expected for use in night-time navigation and would, if set correctly, have not interfered with the coxswain 5 night vision ". As previously stated, a clear instruction that the vessel's AIS system should always be turned on was not complied with by PC [redacted] nor PC [redacted] This clear breach of instructions and, in essence, blind navigation via sight only, demonstrated a poor standard of navigation being practised.

Instructions sent out to the RGP Marine Unit in 2016 state: *"they will pursue suspect vessels in a determined though safe manner within our territorial waters and liaise with our Spanish counterparts"*They also stated that the safety of the crew was priority (Paragraph 3.12.2). However, the crew of SIR JOHN CHAPPLE placed themselves so close to the RHIB, which was carrying out dangerous manoeuvres, that they placed themselves and the crew of the RHIB in "considerable danger". Additional evidence that they could be considered too close to the RHIB comes from the fact that the RHIB crew were able to throw items at the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE, which were connecting with it, requiring officers to close the windows on their vessel. The evasive manoeuvres used by the RHIB also sprayed seawater onto the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE, which reduced the visibility and caused it to slow down - had the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE not been too close to the RHIB, this would not have made contact with the windows and reduced visibility.

As previously mentioned, the officers would have known they were no longer in BGTW when the RHIB was intercepted.

Pursuit Training:

Despite PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] being qualified marine crew with training in professional skills and for pacing at speed, neither had been given training in carrying out pursuits of suspect vessels who would be taking evasive action to avoid apprehension. While numerous pursuits have been carried out (59 were recorded between 1st April 2017 and 1st June 2020, 2 of which had continued outside BGTW) coxswains' experience in pursuits comes as a result of observing more experienced coxswains as they trained.

The contact, chase and collision are known to have been carried out in Spanish waters. A review of AIS date covering a period of months provided insight into the RGP Marine Vessels movements and frequency with which they operate outside of BGTW. This can be seen at Figure 44 - Paragraph 3.17.1.

The range of the Radar was set at 0.75NM according to PC [redacted] The report explained that this was too short for assessing whether a risk of collision existed. The Officers were therefore solely reliant on visual navigation. The report did note that "there were apparently no guidance/instruction/orders as to what navigation equipment was to be used when on patrol, either in daylight or at night".

Conclusion:

The failures documented by Richard Meikle's report could be considered to contribute to a breach of a duty of care, not only to the crew of the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE themselves, but the crew of the RHIB. The failure to follow instructions and activate the AIS and use all available navigation equipment contributed to the poor navigation. The use of the available equipment could have assisted with a safer pursuit and more transparency regarding the actions and movement of the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE and its crew. The training and instructions also dictated that safety of the crew was a priority. By continuing to pursue at very close range, with limited visibility, demonstrated a failure to comply with these instructions. The failure to administer any first aid to Mustafa Das Mohamed, or even broadcast a Mayday call to vessels in the area, who was believed to be seriously injured following the collision and subsequently died from his injuries could also be considered to contribute to a breach of this duty. However, this should be taken into consideration in conjunction with the pathologist's report, which stated Mustafa's injuries were not survivable and "any delays in resuscitation are unlikely to have affected the outcome".

It is clear that while there is no evidence to suggest that PC [redacted] intended to collide with the RHIB and that the collision was an accident, the SIR JOHN CHAPPLE was positioned too close to the RHIB, with reduced visibility by the spray, to take effective evasive action to avoid the collision.

Previous Pursuits

A review was conducted on the number of chases at sea, which took place involving RGP marine vessels between 1st April 2017 and 1st April 2020. This identified 192 OB entries, of these, 59 entries involved a chase at sea.

With regard to BGTW, 57 of the chases were terminated due to arriving at the limit of territorial waters. PC [redacted] was known to be involved in 18 of the chases, though it should be noted that these are only reports that were made by him, or in which he was mentioned. It is possible that colleagues have recorded chases he was involved in but not named. Based on these figures - it is clear that PC [redacted] was aware of his obligation to remain inside BGTW as many of the chases he was involved in were terminated prior to leaving territorial waters.

RGP Instructions and Orders

The Marine Section Standard Operating Procedures state that Marine crews will conduct systematic periodic patrols of Gibraltar's coastline and territorial waters throughout their tour of duty. They will pursue suspect vessels in a determined though safe manner within their territorial waters and liaise with their Spanish counterparts. They go on to say that they will only operate outside BGTW when they are called upon to attend to a lifesaving situation.

On 17th February 2016, Inspector Albert Buhagia sent an e-mail to the RGP Marine Section to remind all staff that under no circumstances should the Marine Unit patrol outside the limits of BGTW. The only exception would be for search and rescue and only then if prior authority was granted. The e-mail then went on to state that AIS should be switched on al all times.

On 8th July 2016 a set of Marine Section Instructions were created and / or circulated. This document prohibits RGP from leaving BGTW and entering Spanish waters unless at the invitation of the Spanish for the sole purpose of search and rescue. The investigation team can provide an e-mail chain showing that on 16h September 2016, these instructions were send to the Marine Section by PS Stuart Stone.

On 19h April 2017, there is a record of a Daily Taskings Group Meeting where is states "Marine section - only use vessels with AIS"

Evidence Yet to be Acquired

There is evidence in the possession of the Spanish authorities that has yet to be seen by the investigative team. This evidence is likely to include the following:

- Video footage of the pursuit
- Audio recordings of transmissions
- Evidence from Spanish members of staff in the Guardia Civil
- Incident logs

A European Investigative Order has been drafted and we await the result of this enquiry. As of 15h September 2020, the order had been approved and translated but the certificate of translation had not been received by RGP. This is required for the submission and RGP officers make assurances that it will be submitted as soon as all of the required documents are received.

The lawyer acting for [redacted] (Chris Finch) states that his client recorded the chase on his mobile phone. He refused to provide the PIN to unlock the phone when he was in custody and the investigative team have liaised with Mr Finch to obtain the PIN and recover the evidence. At this stage the phone remains in the possession of the RGP and the PIN has not been provided. It is anticipated that this will be completed when [redacted] travels to Gibraltar to provide his statement.

Potential Offences

The substantive elements of the offence of manslaughter are set out in section 153 (2) of the Crimes Act 2011:

SI53 (2) A person who kills another by gross negligence commits the offence of manslaughter.

2) Doing or omitting to do an act that endangered the life of another contrary to s27 Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Health & Safety etc.) Act 1993.

The full wording of s27 GMS (H&S) Act is thus:

(1) If the master of, or any seaman employed on, a registered ship-

(a) does any act which causes or is likely to cause the loss or destruction of or serious damage to the ship, or its machinery navigational equipment, or safety equipment or the death of or serious injury to a person on board the ship, or the loss or destruction of or serious damage to any other ship or any structure or the death of or serious injury to a person not on board the ship; or

(b) omits to do anything required to preserve the ship or its machinery, navigational equipment or safety equipment from loss, destruction or serious damage or to preserve any person on board the ship from death or serious injury, or to prevent the ship from causing the loss or destruction of any other ship or structure or the death of or serious injury to a person not on board the ship; and the act of omission is deliberate or amounts to a breach or neglect of duty, or he is under the influence of drink or a drug at the time of the act or omission, he shall, subject to subsection (3), be guilty of an offence.

(2) If a person to whom this section applies-

(a) discharges any of his duties, or performs any other function in relation to the operation of his ship or its machinery or equipment, in such a manner as to cause, or to be likely to cause, any such loss, destruction, death or injury as is mentioned in subsection (1), or

(b) fails to discharge any of his duties, or to perform any such function properly, to such an extent as to cause, or to be likely to cause, any of those things, he shall, subject to subsection (3), be guilty of an offence.

(3) In proceedings for an offence under this section, it shall be a defence to prove-

(a) in the case of an offence under subsection (1), where the act or omission alleged against the defendant constituted a breach or neglect of duty, that the defendant took all reasonable steps to discharge that duty;

(b) in the case of an offence under subsection (2), that the defendant took all reasonable precautions and exercised all due diligence to avoid committing the offence; or

(c) in the case of an offence under either of these subsections-

(i) that the defendant could have avoided committing the offence only by disobeying a lawful command, or

(ii) that in all the circumstances, the loss, destruction, damage, death or injury in question, or (as the case may be) the likelihood of it being caused, either could not reasonably have been foreseen by the defendant or could not reasonably have been avoided by him.

International Rules

International Rules for Prevention of Collision at Sea (IRPCS, ColRegs or Rules of the Road) apply in these circumstances. These rules are included in the training received by PC's [redacted] and [redacted] The relevant rules to this investigation are thus:

Rule 2 - Responsibility

Nothing in these Rules shall exonerate any vessel, or the owner, master or crew thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to comply with these Rules or of the neglect of any precaution, which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Rule 5 - Look-out

Every vessel shall at all times maintain a proper look-out by sight and hearing as well as by all available means appropriate in the prevailing circumstances and conditions so as to make a full appraisal of the situation and of the risk of collision.

Rule 6 - Safe Speed

Every vessel shall at all times proceed at a safe speed so that she can take proper and effective action to avoid collision and be stopped within a distance appropriate to the prevailing circumstances and conditions. In determining a safe speed the following factors shall be among those taken into account:
(iii) the manoeuvrability of the vessel with special reference to stopping distance and turning ability in the prevailing conditions;

Rule 7 - Risk of Collision

Every vessel shall use all available means appropriate to the prevailing circumstances and conditions to determine if risk of collision exists. If there is any doubt such risk shall be deemed to exist.

Rule 8 - Action to Avoid Collision

Any action taken to avoid collision shall be taken in accordance with the Rules of this Part and shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, be positive, made in ample time and with due regard to the observance of good seamanship.

Rule 15 - Crossing Situation

When two power-driven vessels are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard (right) side shall keep out of the way and shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, avoid crossing ahead of the other vessel.

Rule 16 - Action by Give-way Vessel

Every vessel which is directed to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, so far as possible, take early and substantial action to keep well clear.

Rule 17 - Action by Stand-on Vessel

(a) (i) Where one of two vessels is to keep out of the way the other shall keep her course and speed.

Jurisdiction

Evidence shows that the collision occurred in Spanish territorial waters and there is evidence that the pursuit also started outside BGTW. However, the Sir John Chapple started its journey in BGTW and the actions of the crew at that time have to be considered. It is important to note that the location of the deaths is important because:

Section 6(1) Crimes Act 2011 states:

An offence begun outside Gibraltar and completed in Gibraltar may be treated as having been committed in Gibraltar.

Section 6(2) states:

If-

(a) a person dies in Gibraltar in consequence of any act or omission outside Gibraltar; and

(b) the person committing that act or making that omission would, if the act or omission had been in Gibraltar, be guilty of the murder or manslaughter of the person who dies, the offence may be treated as having been committed in Gibraltar.

Section 6(3) states:

(3) If a person-

(a) dies outside Gibraltar in consequence of any act or omission in Gibraltar; and

(b) the person committing the act or making the omission would, if the death had occurred in Gibraltar, be guilty of the murder or manslaughter of the person who dies, the offence may be treated as having been committed in Gibraltar.

Therefore, one needs to consider where each of the men died.

[redacted]: The evidence indicates that this male died almost instantaneously after being struck by the SJC. This would mean that he was officially in Spain at the time of his death and s6(3) Crimes Act would apply.

[redacted]: Evidence from the crews of the SJC and HMC Seeker and from [redacted] is such that the location of Mr [redacted]'s death cannot be determined with absolute certainty. However, the provisions of the Crimes Act would apply thus: If he died in Spain, s6(3) would apply; and if he died after being towed into BGTW or later, s6(2) would apply.

C

Conclusions

The threshold for any recommendations to charge is a high one. There must be sufficient evidence available for a reasonable prospect of conviction. Only if this threshold is met, will any such recommendation be made.

The case for each officer will be considered separately but before that, it is prudent to establish other facts that are pertinent to the overall picture.

There is evidence that suggests that the crew of the RHIB were involved in some form of illegal smuggling. This evidence comes from a number of different places:

- Their vessel is illegal in Spain and Gibraltar as such vessels are purpose built for the operation of smuggling contraband (usually cannabis from Morocco) into Europe.
- The RHIB was not registered.
- [redacted] has a previous conviction for drug trafficking.

- [redacted] has a previous conviction for drug trafficking.
- There was a crew change in the early hours of the morning which indicates a clandestine operation.
- The crew were intending to be at sea for a number of days in a holding pattern. This is not the behaviour of innocent people enjoying a boat trip.
- Crew members were in possession of balaclavas.
- The RHIB actively tried to evade police officers.

The sea is a hostile environment in which to operate.

While there are no formal arrangements between the Governments of Spain and Gibraltar, it is clear that the Law Enforcement Agencies (LEA's) in the area have a degree of professional co-operation, primarily regarding tackling Organised Criminal Networks (OCN's). This is evidenced by the fact that the Guardia Civil are able to communicate directly with the RGP Marine Section.

The start of the pursuit and the collision occurred in Spanish territorial waters. However, the deployment of the police vessel and failure to follow orders and instructions commenced in the jurisdiction of Gibraltar.

RGP instructions regarding BGTW are very clear - RGP vessels must only enter Spanish territorial waters at the invitation of the Spanish authorities and only for the intention of search and rescue.

RGP instructions regarding the navigational equipment are clear - RGP must operate radar and AIS at all times when at sea.

The cause of death of both Mustafa Das Mohamed and Mohamed Abdesalam Ahmed were multiple injuries consistent with being struck by the Sir John Chapple.

The Marine Section do not provide training specific to pursuits.

PC [redacted]

PC [redacted] is a fully qualified RGP mariner. He was the coxswain of the Sir John Chapple on the night of the collision and therefore in charge of the vessel at the time of the collision. There is evidence that he disobeyed orders to ensure the correct navigation equipment was in use when deployed and left BGTW for an unauthorised purpose and without authority. He was directly responsible for navigating the RGP vessel during the pursuit at night with nothing but spotlights to aid his navigation.

SI53 (2) Crimes Act states that a person who kills another by gross negligence commits the offence of manslaughter. What therefore needs to be considered is whether or not the actions of PC [redacted] amount to "gross negligence."

Having reviewed the apparent disregard for orders and instructions it is clear that there is evidence to show that his actions were negligent. One must also consider the pursuit and the manner in which it transpired. Evidence from various sources show that the manoeuvres of the RHIB were dangerous. PC [redacted] himself, provided evidence to demonstrate how he altered the speed and direction of his vessel to try to avoid a collision and confirmed that objects thrown from the RHIB hit his vessel and the wash from the sea obscured his vision. In spite of the obvious dangers present, PC [redacted] continued to pursue the RHIB and as a result, there was a collision between the vessels and two men lost their lives.

It is submitted that there is sufficient evidence to charge PC [redacted] with two counts of manslaughter under si 53 Crimes Act 2011.

S27 Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Health and Safety etc.) Act 1993 also applies in the circumstances but is a lesser offence and should be considered an alternative to manslaughter.

PC [redacted]

PC [redacted] is a fully qualified RGP mariner. He was not the coxswain on the night of the collision but he is still bound to display the same duty of care to others.

SI53 (2) Crimes Act states that a person who kills another by gross negligence commits the offence of manslaughter. What therefore needs to be considered is whether or not the actions of PC [redacted] amount to "gross negligence."

[redacted]

It is submitted that there is sufficient evidence to charge PC [redacted] with two counts of manslaughter under si 53 Crimes Act 2011.

S27 Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Health and Safety etc.) Act 1993 also applies in the circumstances but is a lesser offence and should be considered an alternative to manslaughter.

Submitted for consideration.

SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE

Regina
v
[redacted] and [redacted]

This MG5 is submitted as an addendum to the one dated 22nd September 2020. It follows on from a letter from the DPP, Christian Rocca, dated 13h November and a subsequent on-line meeting between the DPP, RGP and MPS officers.

The DPP is of the opinion that charges for manslaughter, contrary to sl53 Crimes Act or alternatives under s27 Gibraltar Shipping Act cannot be brought in Gibraltar for the following reasons:

Manslaughter - Under s6(3) Crimes Act, the DPP stated that there needs to be an act or omission in Gibraltar that contributed significantly to the deaths. He is of the opinion that the cause of the deaths was the dangerous navigation of the SJC. However, the decision to chase and the chase itself, all happened in Spanish territorial waters, thereby not fulfilling the criteria to be able to bring proceedings in Gibraltar.

The position of the MPS investigative team remains unchanged. We are of the opinion that there is a causal link and that it was grossly negligent. The crew of the SJC deployed to respond to a report of a suspect RHIB (believed to be smugglers). Knowing what they were going to, the two trained mariners failed to turn on their navigational equipment and as a result left BGTW and engaged in a chase at sea that lead to the deaths of two people. Had they followed standing orders by using their navigation equipment, they would not have left BGTW. This is supported by the fact that the coxswain has previously stopped at the limit of BGTW on numerous other occasions involving pursuits at sea.

The DPP disagreed with this argument as the crew's decisions in Gibraltar did not contribute significantly to the deaths. He stated that if the RGP were to charge the officers for this offence he would discontinue the case.

S27 Gibraltar Merchant Shipping Act - Following specialist legal advice, the investigation team were of the opinion that PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] would be covered by this piece of legislation. However, the DPP stated that police officers are not "employed" and therefore the legislation cannot be relied upon to bring any charges in Gibraltar.
However, this is subject to review by the DPP and the outcome awaits.

The investigation team have therefore considered the possibility of charges for PC [redacted] PC [redacted] and Officer 3, for the common law offence of Misconduct in Public Office.

The elements of the offence are summarised in Attorney General's Reference No 3 of 2003 [2004] EWCA Crim 868.

The offence is committed when:

- a public officer acting as such;
- wilfully neglects to perform his duty and/or wilfully misconducts himself;
- to such a degree as to amount to an abuse of the public's trust in the office holder;
- without reasonable excuse or justification.

The four elements of this offence will be discussed separately:

1. Public officer acting as such:
   There are two elements to this that need to be considered - Whether the person was a public officer and whether they were acting as such. R v Boden 1995 confirms that this common law offence applies to every person who was appointed to discharge a public duty. We are therefore satisfied that all officers on board the SJC, as police officers, fit this criteria. The crew of the SJC were all on duty and deployed on a police vessel throughout their deployment. They responded to a communication via a police device and therefore, it is submitted that they were acting as public officers.

2. Wilfully neglects to perform his duty and/or wilfully misconducts himself:
   It is the first part of this definition that applies in this case and neglect of duty has occurred in both Gibraltar and Spain.

   Gibraltar - Both officers [redacted] and [redacted] are qualified RGP mariners and evidence shows that they knew or ought to have known that there were standing orders to use the navigational equipment on board marine section vessels when deployed at sea. They also knew or ought to have known that they were not permitted to leave BGTW unless in limited circumstance (that do not apply here). The evidence gathered supports this element of the offence that they wilfully neglected their duty in Gibraltar.

   We have considered the case law on this topic and refer to Robinson v Chief Constable of West Yorkshire that held that officers have a duty of care to the public. Whilst the deaths of the RHIB crew may have occurred in Spain, the failure of PC's [redacted] and [redacted] to follow orders and use the navigation equipment aboard the SJC also created unnecessary risks to unknown people within BGTW. One may also consider the act of leaving BGTW as a neglect of duty but this may be worthy of further legal advice.

The evidence shows that this element of the offence is made out for PCs [redacted] and [redacted] for the neglect they showed in failing to use the navigation equipment and follow orders and possibly for PC [redacted] (as coxswain) for allowing the vessel to leave BGTW.

Officer three, however, was not a trained mariner and there is no evidence to show that he was aware of the operating systems and instructions of the marine police unit. Therefore, the case against officer three fails at this point and it is submitted that this offense is not made out in law.

Spain - At this stage it appears that proceedings cannot be brought against the crew of the SJC for incidents that occurred in Spain. The investigation team has been unable to find any case law that may be of assistance to the circumstances of this case but for completeness, the failures of the officers in Spain will be discussed.

The manner in which the SJC was navigated whilst in pursuit of the RHIB is considered to be far below the standard expected of trained mariners. The coxswain of the RHIB used evasive maneuvers to create a dangerous environment but PC [redacted] failed to terminate the pursuit in contravention of safety training. PC [redacted] failed to request an end to the pursuit for safety reasons and failed to use the "kill cord" which would have stopped the SJC. As this pursuit lead to the collision and the loss of two lives, it is submitted that they both neglected to perform their duty. The case of Robinson v Chief Constable of West Yorkshire is relevant here.

Following the collision, no first aid was provided to the crew of the RHIB and no distress signal was sent (mayday). PC's [redacted] and [redacted] have been suitably trained in maritime operations and provided no explanation as to why a mayday signal was not broadcast. It is therefore submitted that PC's [redacted] and [redacted] neglected in their duty to ensure the safety of others by failing to make a mayday call. All three officers were suitably trained in first aid and their failure to provide first aid to the crew of the RHIB is considered to be a neglect of duty. However, as previously stated, we think it unlikely that their actions in Spain could be considered for this offence.

3. To such a degree as to amount to an abuse of the public's trust in the office holder:

The behaviour of the officers must be serious enough to amount to an abuse of the public's trust in the office holder. In R v Dytham, Lord Widgery said that the element of culpability:

"... must be of such a degree that the misconduct impugned is calculated to injure the public interest so as to call for condemnation and punishment."

The collision at sea between the two vessels has attracted significant attention in political and media circles and there have been calls for the officers to be made accountable but also a significant amount of support for officers trying to do their job in difficult circumstances. Whether the conduct of the officers meets this test is a matter for the jury to consider and they must be satisfied that the misconduct is worthy of condemnation and punishment (Chapman (2015) 2 CrApp R10).

The relevant acts we are concerned with here, appear to be the wilful failure to follow the correct procedures by not using the navigation equipment on board the SJC. It is submitted that the jury would not be able to consider the acts of the crew when they were in Spain as previously stated.

The offence of misconduct in public office is not a 'results crime.' The jury need to consider the likely consequences of any wilful neglect or misconduct to determine whether the conduct fell below the standard expected and they are empowered to consider the likely consequences. It is submitted that the likely consequences are clear - a collision resulting in loss of life. While the loss of life was a direct result of a pursuit, such a collision in BGTW while they were en-route to the call is a significant possibility given that they had failed to use their navigation equipment.

The consequences must be likely ones, as viewed subjectively by the defendant. It is submitted that this is an indefensible position for PC's [redacted] and [redacted] They have had the appropriate training and know why it is important to use the navigational equipment. It therefore follows that they must have known what the likely consequences were in piloting a vessel at sea, at night, without the use of navigational equipment.

In order to establish whether the behaviour is sufficiently serious to amount to the offence, the officer's motive is also relevant. Whilst it is not considered that the officers deliberately set out to cause harm, it is submitted that their reckless indifference to the use of the navigational equipment is sufficient to meet this part of the offence.

4. Without reasonable excuse or justification;

The officers have failed to provide any explanations as to why they failed to use the navigation equipment on board the SJC throughout the investigation. Anecdotal evidence suggests that they may claim that the equipment was not used to enable them to approach the RHIB undetected. However, this is against direct orders and against their safety training and therefore something can be rebutted by the prosecution. At this stage there are no other apparent reasons for their decision.

Any reasons or excuses put forward by the officers are a matter for the jury to decide.

Conclusion

It is submitted that there is sufficient evidence to charge PC [redacted] and PC [redacted] with one offence each of Misconduct in Public Office, contrary to common law for their failure to engage the navigation equipment on the SJC on 9th March 2020 and the resultant aggravating factors, both of which ultimately ended in tragic circumstances

d. In this account at paragraph [illegible] it is explained that Perez has not identified as a director or shareholder prior to his termination of employment due to his contractual obligations to Island Limited. If this has the rationale that this does not explain why Cornelio has a director or shareholder when the Fort has incorporated.

e. Sanchez has involved in the business of the Fort even prior to its incorporation. As early as February 2017, Sanchez wrote to Levy, "James I need to give you an update on several issues. Also need to talk to you on John Perez and the national security programme." ([illegible] refers[illegible]s explained at paragraph [illegible] of his account. Sanchez [illegible]s involved in [illegible]eeting on the [illegible]t April [illegible] days before the Fort [illegible]s incorporated and sent a copy of the [illegible] Fort MO[illegible]en before Perez and Cornelio [illegible] M[illegible] refers[illegible] Further ore in a text message between Sanchez and Levy dated the [illegible]t [illegible]ly [illegible] Sanchez said, "James I received a call from James Gaggero last night reference the security programme. I have discussed it with John and emailed the CM. It may be wise for us to meet and maybe include David Weber to go over some aspects of the conversation." ([illegible] refers[illegible]

It is difficult to explain [illegible]t paragraph [illegible] of his account. Levy states that he had, "no reason to believe he has acted unethically and / or unlawfully at any time." The nature of the relationship between 36 North and Sanchez [illegible]ent that he could not possibly be in partial in his decision as to [illegible]et[illegible]er [illegible] Fort s[illegible]old t[illegible]e o[illegible]er t[illegible]e [illegible]inten[illegible]nce of t[illegible]e [illegible]SCIS pl[illegible]tfor[illegible] T[illegible]is is [illegible]rg[illegible]ly [illegible]iscond[illegible]ct in p[illegible]lic office [illegible]y S[illegible]nc[illegible]e[illegible] and so[illegible]et[illegible]ing of [illegible]ic[illegible] Le[illegible]y [illegible]s [illegible]re[illegible]lf Le[illegible]y so[illegible]g[illegible]t to [illegible]e [illegible]se of t[illegible]is l[illegible]c[illegible] of i[illegible]p[illegible]rti[illegible]lity for t[illegible]e [illegible]enefit of [illegible] Fort[illegible]t[illegible]is [illegible]y [illegible]e reg[illegible]rded [illegible]s [illegible]nl[illegible]f[illegible]l [illegible]y [illegible]iding [illegible]nd [illegible]etting [illegible]iscond[illegible]ct in p[illegible]lic office for [illegible]is o[illegible]n [illegible]enefit[illegible] T[illegible]is [illegible]o[illegible]ld t[illegible]en [illegible]o[illegible]nt to dis[illegible]onesty [illegible]it[illegible]in t[illegible]e [illegible]e[illegible]ning of conspir[illegible]cy to defr[illegible]d.

136.	02/09/2019	Email from Daniel Bourne with attached email from Adam Parsons discussing what he has and has not done so far. He has informed me that Microsoft may have trouble finding the data we require without being more specific. Initially, the server was taken off-line, however, this was deemed disproportionate and meant that the business could not operate. A decision was therefore made to turn the server back on. If we have a specific piece of code or term that can be searched for, there may be something that Microsoft can do, without having to take the server off-line. Relevance – Enquiries with Microsoft in relation to the 36north server.

141.	04/09/19	Consideration of legal issues and advice to be sought from DPP. In particular: 1) Asquez statement – Consideration of whether there would be a conflict for Mr Fischel to act on behalf of Cornelio / Perez and represent Asquez in providing a full account? 2) Webber – Keyword search has recovered correspondence with David Webber who appears to be involved in setting up the 36N business. Consideration of whether this is legally privileged or simply business actions. Note that he is working for Levy / Hassans and is arguably not a lawyer / client relationship. If it is, how do we proceed moving forward? 3) The platform is related to national security. See for example the evidence of Insp Chipolina. What level of detail is required for the purpose of section 366A? If detail is required, can any special measures be introduced to protect this public interest? 4) Consideration of Official Secrets act offence (section 2 of 1911). Is it defence to disclose the information to a person if you honestly believed the person was authorised to receive it (even if they were not)? Is misdemeanour offence tried in Supreme? 5) Conspiracy to defraud – Does the agreement to take the NSCIS contract from Bland amount to a conspiracy to defraud? Consideration to the term 'by dishonesty.' Or is it simply a commercial dispute, and civil action is appropriate? Relevance – Legal advice sought in respect of the ongoing investigation.

176.	12/10/2019	Email received from my personal email address with a document listing all pending work. Local Statements 1. Jonathan Galliano This crucial statement is still being finalised. This has taken a considerable amount of time to consolidate. The witness has now included far more detail, but this is still not in a form that would be easily understandable to lay persons generally. Moreover, there are a number of supporting exhibits that have not yet been included. 2. Albert Mena The statement has been requested and is being drafted. We are still pending receipt. It is expected that the first draft will be received by the 18th October 2019. However, this may require reworking depending upon the standard of work. 3. Joe Molinari This statement is complete and requires signing. 4. Krishan Benyunes Statement is complete pending minor changes by the witness. However, it may need further changes to ensure that it ties in with the statement of Galliano (when complete). 5. Philips Navas Statement requires minor amendments by the witness. 6. John Paul Payas

		• Warrants requested. • Awaiting results (IP addresses) Chipol • Arrange for final interview of Chipol • Decide whether he should be charged / released Interviews of Defendants • Interview all remaining defendants when all evidence has been obtained. Review computer exhibits when received. Still awaiting: • Cornelio ○ ….. received ○ ….. pending from HTCU • Perez ○ ….. received ○ ….. pending from HTCU • Asquez ○ ….. received ○ ….. pending from HTCU • Sanchez ○ ….. received ○ ….. pending from HTCU • 36 North ○ ….. received ○ ….. pending from HTCU • Chipol ○ ….. received ○ ….. pending from HTCU There are currently a total of …. Charges to be drafted; 3. Disclosure material to be reviewed and itemised (by a separate officer).

		Time for Completion Given that there are a number of outstanding enquiries, and that we are dependent on other organisations to provide evidence, it is difficult to anticipate when the case will be completed. 208.	12/11/2019	Response to Mr Fischel QC from Supt Richardson which ends: This is an extremely serious and complex case involving the national security of Gibraltar. As you are aware we are receiving assistance from the highest levels in the form of the UK National Crime Agency. I am confident that the matter is being investigated both expeditiously and diligently and I have reasonable grounds to suspect that the persons currently on police bail are guilty of the relevant offences. Further time is needed in order to: 1. Complete the forensic digital examination of devices seized under warrant and at the time of arrest, 2. Receive the evidence requested by International Letters of Request 3. Complete the mirroring of the work conducted by PWC by our NCA colleagues. 4. Complete further investigation in connection with the relevant offences 5. Re-interview the defendants as to the evidence revealed above and their previously submitted prepared statements. Whilst your clients have strong local ties I am not certain that they would return voluntarily to submit to a further police interview as it they may not believe that it is in their interest to do so. Any undertaking to return for interview on a voluntary basis may not be met at a future date. Given that we are currently in possession of facts that need putting to your clients in interview but are not yet ready to do so, the necessity to re-arrest may not be met as there may not be new facts / evidence which would enable an arrest to be made. I am satisfied that your clients' arrest and bail comply with the Gibraltar Constitution Order 2006. I should be grateful if you would direct us to how you have concluded that Art 5 of the ECHR or other convention rights have been breached in order that that we may give this due consideration.

210.	15/11/2019	PWC considerations including production orders, exhibiting of evidence, PWC report from Gaggero, computer forensics. Plan to go to London to speak with PWC in relation to obtaining evidence of their actions when they forensically examined the NSCIS platform and produced their report. Required in order to support their assertions. The report is hearsay without further evidence / direct evidence of involvement. I proposed that we may wish to consider that there was a conspiracy to deprive Bland of the maintenance contract rather than the NSCIS platform. This is on the basis that the contract is subject to less dispute (as to ownership) and may therefore pose less of an issue in presenting to the jury. SIO discussed financial investigation of Sanchez to determine whether or not there has been any financial benefit accrued beyond his HMGoG salary. Relevance – Line of enquiry regarding computer misuse offences / benefit accrued by Sanchez.
211.	15/11/2019	Email to Roisin Cullen with attached statement of JOG. I informed Roisin that I would be able to send the exhibits from the statement across. Relevance – Provision of necessary evidence so that NCA can provide corroboration for computer offences.

219.	21/11/2019	Email from Sgt Clarke to Daniel Bourne regarding the Request for Azure information. "We are also looking to preserve the data within a Microsoft Azure Blob Storage Account named "36northblobs". It has been used to store sensitive data siphoned from the NSCIS database away from the authorised NSCIS Blob Storage account. Could you please confirm if this data can be preserved? I can provide the relevant dates/times the data transfers were made. In relation to the Virgin Media IP address. It appears to be a Wi-Fi Hotspot and Cornelio's communication shows him as being in London at the time he connected to this IP. Would Virgin Media be able to tell us anything more that would be useful? For example if I were to provide details of a phone or a device? However this was over a year ago so it may be unlikely they store records for this period."

225.	24/11/2019	Review of case progression. List of 19 points to be addressed.
226.	25/11/2019	Email from Adam Parsons to Daniel Bourne regarding the Virgin Media IP address and further responding to other queries. The IP 51.141.80.216 has been preserved for a period of 180 days from 25 November 2019 with Microsoft (Your preservation record number is: GCC-1297242-Q6P2J7 - Please use this on the MLAT) For the "36northblobs" can you provide an IP and a date and time? If this is the same IP that we approached Microsoft about last time then we may come up against the same hurdles, i.e. having to take the whole server offline in order to image it. For the Virgin IP, if you send us the details then we can have a look at it. But if as you say it is a mobile hotspot then it is unlikely that we will be able to resolve it back to one single individual. The IP is likely being used by multiple users at the same time, each will have a private IP address internally on the network, but all using the same IP address publicly. If you can send us the IP and dates and times we can try, if it is over 12 months ago it is possible, but unlikely that they will retain the data. Relevance – Lines of enquiry related to IP address associated with reindexing, and ownership of the blob storage account.

227.	26/11/2019	Email from Sgt Clarke to Adam Parsons querying "36northblobs". The query is: In relation to "36northblobs", I am by no means an expert however I have been informed by Jonathan Galliano, Head of IT at Blands, that this is a Microsoft Azure Blob Storage account and therefore the name will be a unique account name to them. We know from source code that data was extracted to this account however an IP address nor any further information was provided. This will be different to the databases as previously requested. The "36northblobs" is used to store images from the ANPR ie pictures of vehicles. As such, this is highly sensitive data which they should not be in possession of. Relevance – Lines of enquiry related to ownership of the blob storage account.
228.	26/11/2019	Email from Adam Parsons to Sgt Clarke responding to his queries regarding "36northblobs".
229.	26/11/2019	Email from Sgt Clarke to Adam Parsons discussing the ANPR IMAGE PROCESSOR.exe.config files. "Please find attached files. The ANPR IMAGE PROCESSOR.exe.config files related to exhibit JOG/44 – ANPR Image Processor, The other two files relate to exhibit JOG/45 – Also re the ANPR Image processor. I have also attached Jonathan Galliano's statement. It is not quite complete however the relevant section in relation to the "36northblobs" is Chapter 14 – ANPR."

285.	01/02/2020	1550 Call to Marius Zalkaukas – 54023612 – Asked to come in as a witness. Reluctant and concerned about his job. Asked for time to think. I informed him that I would call him back. Told him that he was not a suspect. Attendance was voluntary. Relevance – Line of enquiry. I believed that they may support the defence version of events.

286.	01/02/2020	1545 Call to Benrimoj – 54017599 – Very concerned at the time of the call. Informed him that he was not a suspect at this time. That attendance was voluntary. He wanted to speak to his lawyer first. Gave him my contact details. Informed him that I would call him back. I believed that they may support the defence version of events.
287.	01/02/2020	Completed final review of evidence for Chipol. Relevance: Legal advice based on consideration of evidence and law.
288.	03/02/2020	Re-write of summary based upon information provided so far. Evidence relied upon based upon Computer Misuse Evidence at this stage. No evidence in respect of possible conspiracy inserted into the summary at this time.
289.	03/02/2020	Chipol report complete and sent for advice.
290.	03/02/2020	Requirement for PC's to be upgraded in order to cope with analysis. Slowdown significant (or crashing) during reviews.
291.	03/02/2020	Cross reference of JOG statement with Roisin Cullen and assessment of requirement for further corroboration. • Identification of connection strings / Boolean / Time date variables on Port and 4 Corners servers. This will require access to the original computers where the encryption took place. • Comparison of source code dated the 19th July 2018 and code handed over to Bland Limited on 6th September 2018 (allegedly missing 44 libraries).
292.	04/02/2020	Email from Supt Richardson to Graceanne Gear chasing the USA. He explains that if there is to be a delay in the evidence being transmitted to Gibraltar we could collect the evidence ourselves.
293.	04/02/2020	Email from Graceanne Gear to Supt Richardson stating that she has chased the USA and if they do not respond by tomorrow, she will call them.
294.	05/02/2020	Meeting with JOG. Discussion of database re-indexing evidence and in particular which of those were automatic and which were manual. Also explained the increase in eDTU.

295.	10/02/2020	Discussion with SIO regarding Roisin as an expert. The NCA have stated that they cannot act as an expert. However, there is nothing precluding them from doing so. If factual, need to determine remit of further investigation. Relevance – Requirement for independent analysis of computer offences.
296.	10/02/2020	Email from Graceanne to Supt Richardson explaining that she has now spoken to Alex in USA where he has informed her that they will prioritise Operation Delhi. It normally takes 4-5 weeks but he will try to expedite.

298.	10/02/2020	Review of defence documentation supplied. Documents reviewed in terms of evidence / to consider the allegations that they are making against Bland. At this time it appears as though the majority of allegations are for HMGoG to make as opposed to the suspects. Telephone call regarding expert witness / factual statement from NCA.
299.	11/02/2020	Continue to review evidence provided by defence. Email sent to Mr Gaggero regarding his response to the assertions of ownership. Relevance – Line of enquiry following defence assertions.
300.	11/02/2020	Email from TC requesting for the RGP to hand back various electronic devices with an attached table highlighting if devices have personal or work information on them.
301.	11/02/2020	Email sent to James Gaggero setting out the basis on which ownership is asserted by the defence in terms of a timeline of modules allegedly sold to HMGoG. Requested whether they agree or disagree with the assertions and to provide any evidence in support of opposing views where possible. Relevance – response to evidence provided by the defence. Note that no statement or evidence was provided to Mr Gaggero. Table created by the RGP to reflect information sent by the defence.
302.	11/02/2020	Reponses to bundle of documents provided by Mr Fischel QC on the 24th January 2020. My response: I can confirm that I have had the opportunity to consider the allegations made by your clients, in the document bundle dated the 24th January 2020. I have dealt with each in turn:

		1. Making a false report to the RGP including wasteful employment of RGP. Based upon the evidence reviewed thus far, we do not consider that James Gaggero has deliberately sought to mislead the RGP. Notwithstanding, and in the interests of fairness, the RGP has sought to independently verify the allegations made by Bland Limited. 2. Unauthorised investigation by PwC and Infosec Consulting Services Limited ("Infosec") into the NSCIS and HMGoG platforms. As you are aware the ownership of the intellectual property relating to the platform appears to be in dispute. We have no received no complaint from HMGoG as to the conduct of Blands, nor their agents. 3. Unauthorised access by Blands to 36N servers and personal data held therein. The item to which you refer in support of this allegation (item 117 of the Schedule) states that "The database located on the 36 North Server and intended to receive the data under these modifications was more elaborate than the database on the NSCIS Azure Server in that it was structured to receive more information on the vehicles observed by these systems, including the vehicle manufacturer, type and body colour." The RGP can confirm that we have received no evidence in support of this allegation. 4. Unauthorised access to HMGOG Platforms by Blands' servants or agents We refer to our response to allegation 2. 5. Unauthorised disclosure of NSCIS access codes by Mr Gaggero and Blands to PwC and Infosec contrary to section 367 of the Crimes Act 2011.

		Pursuant to section 367(1) of the Crimes Act, the access intended to be secured must be unauthorised. We refer to our response to allegation 2. 6. Unauthorised access to computer material by or on behalf of Mr Gaggero and Blands contrary to section 362 of the Crimes Act 2011 from July 2018 to 4 October 2018. Pursuant to section 362(b) of the Crimes Act, the access intended to be secured or enabled to be secured must be unauthorised. We refer to our response to allegation 2. 7. Unauthorised access with intent to commit or facilitate commission of further offences contrary to section 363 of the Crimes Act 2011. Pursuant to section 363(1) of the Crimes Act, an offence must be committed under section 362. We refer to our response to allegation 2. 8. Unauthorised acts causing, or creating risk of, serious damage contrary to section 366A of the Crimes Act 2011. Pursuant to section 366A(1)(a) of the Crimes Act, the act must be unauthorised. We refer to our response to allegation 2. 9. Unauthorised acts with intent to impair, or with recklessness as to impairing, operation of computer etc contrary to section 364 of the Crimes Act 2011. Pursuant to section 364(1)(a) of the Crimes Act, the act must be unauthorised. We refer to our response to allegation 2. 10. Fraudulent invoicing by Blands As the defence will be aware, HMGoG have had sight of the report compiled by Mr Cornelio. Any allegation of fraud is a matter for HMGoG to consider. Notwithstanding the above, the RGP will of course consider the documents provided in the context of the criminal investigation.

		On another note, we still have not received a reply to our request made on the 22nd January, regarding Mr Asquez. We are keen to resolve this matter promptly. I would be grateful if you could confirm whether you have discussed the proposed questions with your client, and if so, whether he would be willing to come in and provide answers. Relevance – It is argued that we cannot ascertain ownership does not belong to Bland. Therefore we will not be able to prove that any access is unauthorised. Even if we were to ascertain that HMGoG were owners of the platform (which we have not) they have not made a complaint about the access made by Bland.
303.	12/02/2020	Response from Philip Navas to queries regarding assertions made by defence that the NSCIS platform was sold to HMGoG. The response includes a table and states that there was no contractual transfer of intellectual property developed by Bland Group.
304.	12/02/2020	Review of Bluetooth extractions from LG/Phone/1.
305.	13/02/2020	Review of Bluetooth extractions from LG/Phone/1.
306.	13/02/2020	Discussed Benrimoj with SIO. Evidence suggests that he had been accessing the system after the 4th October 2018, when instructions were given by the CM. He has clearly been accessing the NSCIS platform after termination of his employment with Bland. Grounds to suspect that he may have committed the offence of unauthorised access. There is a requirement to interview him under caution to establish his version. He has previously contacted Mr Finch who had written in on his account. Therefore he can be approached to attend voluntarily. No necessity to arrest at this stage.
307.	13/02/2020	Email from Supt Richardson to Alex Hagedorn (USA) where he explains the necessity of retrieving the information ASAP.
308.	13/02/2020	Email from Nicholas Gaggero where he states he is willing to provide a witness statement in relation to himself running the Frontier Management Project. Relevance – Defence assert that the FMP was sold to HMGoG. Statement of Gaggero suggests that this may not be the case.
309.	13/02/2020	Meeting with Andrew Bonfante (HMGoG) in relation to a statement of his involvement in the NSCIS project and as to ownership.

		Relevant as a line of enquiry due to the fact that defence had asserted he was involved in the selling of the platform to HMGoG.
310.	14/02/2020	Review of Bluetooth extractions from LG/Phone/1.
311.	17/02/2020	Review of Bluetooth extractions from LG/Phone/1.
312.	17/02/2020	Having reviewed evidence there appears to be dates on which Benrimoj accessed the NSCIS platform after he left Bland. This is potentially an unauthorised access. As a result it may be prudent to interview him under caution rather than as a witness. No response has been given by him as to whether he would be willing to be a witness at this stage. Called Benrimoj. Informed him that he is being requested to attend and answer questions under caution. He informed me that he would like to speak with his lawyer.
313.	18/02/2020	Continued to extract Bluetooth reports from LG/Phone/1. Relevant texts identified and printed out. Will be replaced by Cellbrite material in due course and where available.
314.	18/02/2020	Discussion with Supt Richardson regarding the actions of JL. I prepared a report based on text messages between JL and other parties. Report highlighted texts and possible questions that required explanation from JL. Consideration was given as to whether there were reasonable grounds to suspect that he was guilty of conspiracy to defraud. Main concern is whether his actions were those of a prudent businessman or of attempting to obtain the NSCIS platform by dishonesty.
315.	19/02/20	Completion of Bluetooth extractions. Consideration given to extracting documents from all devices that had been forensically retrieved and now available.
316.	19/02/2020	Email from Chris Finch where he suggested that his client, Joseph Benrimoj was contacted and told that he would be arrested if he did not attend NMH for interview under caution. This was not the case. He was asked to come voluntarily but that if he refused we may consider arrest. This is perfectly legal on the basis that the arrest is for the prompt and effective investigation of the case (thereby satisfying arrest criteria).
317.	19/02/2020	Table created (9 pages) setting out communication between JL and others as well as key dates (in relation to 36 North) and questions arising from each of the points highlighted.

318.	20/02/2020	Rationale document prepared regarding involvement of JL.
319.	20/02/2020	Meeting at Bland to discuss ownership of the NSCIS platform. Meeting with Nicholas Gaggero / Philip Navas / Jonathan Galliano. Relevant line of enquiry given the defence assertions of ownership by HMGoG.

340.	27/02/2020	Called by SIO. Informed me that he had spoken with Asquez. The conversation had revolved after asking whether he had had an opportunity to consider whether he wanted to give his version of events. He explained that he had not asked him any questions about the investigation / the evidence. He called me in the event that it was suggested he had acted anything other than properly and legally.

341.	28/02/2020	Response by Robert Fischel QC to my email of the 11th February 2020. In particular he asserts that HMGoG is the owner of the platform and that a complaint has been made by Caine Sanchez. It cannot be proven that HMGoG are the owners of the platform. Therefore we cannot accept and complaint against Bland even if they were to make one. We could not prove beyond a reasonable doubt that access was unauthorised for any computer related matter. Furthermore, Caine Sanchez has not written the allegations, Mr Fischel is making them on behalf of his own clients (TC/JP) neither of whom have standing to make a complaint on behalf of HMGoG. Finally, Caine Sanchez is a suspect in this matter and it would be entirely inappropriate to accept a complaint from him when there are more senior officials who have not sought to make a complaint and with knowledge of the investigation.

380.	17/03/2020	Email from Philip Larratt to Supt Richardson where he answers the questions put to him on 03/03/2020. Further to the conference call that has just taken place. 1) Production of DF evidence MW is content that a statement of fact be provided by Roisin rather than expert testimony. This is in line with current practice of NCA DF officers. 2) Further DF work Initial indication by Roisin is that further work will need to be conducted as one of the servers is encrypted. Shona has stated that this should be possible in a virtualised environment, enabling analysis on the image file rather than the device itself. Action: Shona to speak with Roisin and explore way to do this remotely (she is currently in self isolation) 3) Further IV of suspects Suspects are due back on bail on 15/04/20. Due to current flight and international travel restrictions, it is unlikely that we will be able to send an officer to Gib to assist. Action: MW to explore feasibility of international downstream monitoring. If this is possible, I will liaise with Paul Donnington Smith about availability (IV will possibly take place a week before the bail date) 4) Original statements Action: DB to collate and find a secure way to send to RGP.

399.	02/04/2020	Bails extended of all suspects. Based upon Covid-19 regulations. Full rationale detailed in report. In particular the need to protect individuals from harm by not exposing them (in interview). Furthermore, the ILOR has been delayed and the NCA will not be able to travel to assist with the technical aspects of interview, all due to the pandemic. In addition the fact that the courts will not permit additional non-overnight cases. It will not be possible to bring any suspects before the court in the event that a decision is made to charge.

403.	06/04/2020	Awaiting instructions from DPP as to whether to charge and with what offences. A decision not to release at this point has been made by the SIO. Once instructions are issued we will proceed with interviews etc. The intention is to charge / release as soon as possible in order to limit the time the suspects are on bail. Attempts have been made via IT to try and install software that will allow Live Link facilities in compliance with interviewing instructions issued by CPS in light of the Covid-19 virus. At the moment we may be limited in interviewing owing to the fact that we do not have the facilities to have individuals separated in other rooms.
404.	06/04/2020	Review of devices that are being relied upon for evidential purposes (i.e. those devices from which we have extracted content for the prosecution case). This is for the purpose of ensuring continuity of evidence from devices to extraction.

408.	08/04/2020	Video conference with the DPP. Advice sought on the basis of the report submitted by Supt Richardson on 1/4/20. He agreed that there was a realistic prospect of conviction for the proposed conspiracy to defraud. He also stated that there was evidence of misconduct for Sanchez although this would need to be discussed further. He stated that Chipol could be treated as a witness owing to the fact that he was not a beneficiary, and that he had ceased to assist 36 North. He agreed that Mr Levy should be treated as a suspect as there were questions which needed to be answered. He should be interviewed. File Note made.
409.	08/04/2020	Letter sent to Financial Secretary requesting clarification as to whether HMGoG were asserting ownership of the NSCIS platform. Relevance – Defence have strongly asserted ownership but HMGoG have not themselves done so.

413.	14/04/2020	1st statement of CI Mark Wyan signed as complete. This statement relates to the interview of John Perez with DS Clarke, David Dumas QC and Darren Martinez.
414.	14/04/2020	Interview plan for Sanchez started: • Business with Cornelio • Assistance to 36 North • The NSCIS report • Conclusions: ○ Breaching his statutory duties under the Official Secrets Act 1911;

		○ Breaching the HMGoG ITLD Interim Guide to Security and the Government of Gibraltar Information Technology Security Policy; ○ Contravening the planned approach set by the Financial Secretary; ○ Contravening the instructions of the Chief Minister; ○ Dishonestly purporting that he had created the NSCIS review document; and ○ Allowing [unsupervised] access to the NSCIS platform to Cornelio knowing, suspecting or being reckless as to whether the national security of Gibraltar would be put at risk.
415.	15/04/2020	Email from Sgt Clarke to IT asking if it is possible for the interviews to be Remotely monitored as the NCA would be present and needed to view.
416.	16/04/2020	Review of devices that are being relied upon for evidential purposes.
417.	21/04/2020	Email from Supt Richardson detailing the Commissioners briefing notes for meetings between him, the DPP, Supt Richardson and CI Wyan 08/04/2020 and 24/04/2020.
418.	22/04/2020	Email to Supt Richardson regarding bail response to Mr Fischel. He sets out the rationale for extending bail for the suspects. In part he replies as follows: I note the objections that you raise concerning the extension of bail and your communication with the DPP and would comment as follows: 1. As the DPP has indicated the issue of bail is a matter for the police. 2. The decision to extend bail was not made, as you have suggested, before the Public Health Emergency had been declared, as it had been hoped that the evidence and support from- the UK would have been received from our international partners in advance of the bail date, and, 3. No one could have envisaged the implications arising from the restriction created by the Covid 19 regulations.
419.	22/04/2020	Consideration of how to deal with Mr Levy. Report submitted to Supt Richardson. Included options of whether to defer interview

		(owing to the Covid 19 pandemic) or to deal with the matter quickly (in light of the interests of justice for the suspects on bail).
420.	23/04/2020	DS Clarke and I attended a case meeting with Commissioner McGrail, Assistant Commissioner Ullger, Supt Richardson. I explained the facts of the case and the summary of evidence which I had drafted.
421.	24/04/2020	Email from DC 211 Currer with attached document titled "Electronic Device Amounts and Return". The document details all devices that have been viewed by the investigating team, what the outcome is with them and if they can/cannot be returned to the defendants. This review was initially commenced by me with a view to identifying what devices i) have been returned ii)can now be returned iii) are being used in evidence (but may be returned if not to be forfeited and there is no requirement to retain because image is sufficient iv) Cannot be returned due to the fact they have not been imaged / not fully copied. Relevance – Administration and review of device retention.
422.		Digital device and return table updated for consideration.
423.	30/04/2020	Bundle of documents including a covering letter and 14 Annexes in support of the defence assertion that the NSCIS platform was sold to HMGoG. This email (including the letter and attachments) was sent to the CoP, the DPP, the AG, myself and the SIO.
424.	30/04/2020	Additional information emailed to all above parties by Mr Fischel QC relating to the ownership of the NSCIS platform.
425.	30/04/2020	Meeting at No 6 with Mr Grech. Lloyd Divencenzi, CoP, PR and MW. Discussion with Chief Sec regarding ownership of the NSCIS platform. Contract sent to him by Robert Fischel as they did not have the document before. Reiterates that HMGoG are asserting ownership. They cannot provide any written evidence of ownership. CoP requests a formal complaint in the form of a witness statement if they wish to be complainants. Chief Sec will begin internal disciplinary proceedings regarding CS if there is a police prosecution. CoP informs the Chief Sec that CS has been involved in corrupt practices. For his consideration of whether CS should be allowed to continue working or be interdicted.

426.	04/05/2020	2nd statement of Darren Grech signed as complete. This statement states that there is a dispute as to ownership between both parties. Further exhibits are tendered in evidence.
427.	11/05/2020	Finalised interview plan of Levy. Topic areas covered: • Role at Hassans • Thomas Cornelio • John Perez • Caine Sanchez • Wavetecx • 36 North • ICode Limited • Astelon Limited • NSCIS platform • Mobile devices • Planning / Preparation to obtain the NSCIS contract • Appropriation of business commenced by Bland • Pressure on HMGoG • Knowledge of computer misuse offences • NSCIS report for Sanchez 10 pages of interview prepared.
428.	11/05/2020	Recording of CS / JG listened to. Still requires transcribing. Relevance - Arguably supports allegations of honesty given that he is saying he did not disclose information about meeting to Perez and that he would not undermine the performance of the platform.
429.	11/05/2020	Discussions regarding the search warrant for Mr Levy at his home residence and Hassans law firm. This is based on the NDM report prepared by Supt Richardson and the warrant overview document prepared by DS Clarke and Insp Goldwin. The warrant allows police to seize relevant digital devices used or owned by Mr Levy. These will be seized by searching officers. DS Oton will be required to obtain digital documents related to the relevant companies from the Hassans server. He will also need to take the email profile of Mr Levy (if possible restricted to January 2017 to date). This is the earliest reference to Mr Levy discussing Perez and the national security platform. Keyword searches will be run across devices once the seizures have taken place. However, before this can be done we will be required to instruct and independent lawyer in order to ascertain whether any material is legally privileged.

430.	12/05/2020	Attendance at Midtown in order to execute warrants at Hassans law firm. On arrival with PR we spoke to Javier Cincotta. He then called JL to attend. Video recording taken of PR readying out the reasons for attendance. JL then sought advise from a UK silk and decided that he would voluntarily hand over digital devices. PR attended the residence of JL and retrieved an Ipad. JL then returned and stated that he would hand over the iPhone. However, this needed to be backed up first. He agreed to hand over once this was done. Agreements that IT would run keyword searches on their system in order to extract relevant emails and documents from their systems. This was to run overnight due to the amount of emails.
431.	13/05/2020	IPhone of J Levy handed over to me by PS Riley in exhibit bag number M22459509 (LG/Mobile/1).
432.	13/05/2020	iPhone and iPad belonging to J Levy left securely in the office of Supt Richardson. LG/Mobile/1 (M22459509) and PR/1 (B5006835443).
433.	14/05/2020	Email from Sgt Clarke to Maurice Turnock explaining that the warrants on 6th May were void and the warrants on 7th May were not executed. A time was asked to take them to him.
434.	14/05/2020	Email from Commissioner Ian McGrail to Lewis Baglietto of Hassans attaching warrants for Levy and responses to a letter dated 13th May.
435.	15/05/2020	Meeting with the AG and DPP (with CoP and Supt Richardson) to discuss the interview of JL. Asked whether he could be treated as a witness rather than a suspect. This was not possible. He could voluntarily provide an account to us before any interview and we would consider it. But there may still be a need to put further questions to him at a later date. Would only be a witness if his benefit as a witness outweighed the IOJ to prosecute. At this stage he remained a suspect. File Note made.
436.	16/05/2020	Levy Interview plan being prepared. Pre Interview disclosure document drafted.
437.	17/05/2020	Levy interview plan prepared and sent to SIO. Topic areas covered: • Role at Hassans • Thomas Cornelio • John Perez

		• Caine Sanchez • 36 North • Astelon Limited • Icode Limited • NSCIS platform • Mobile devices • Planning / Preparation to obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract • Appropriation of business commenced by Blands • Pressure on HMGoG • Knowledge of computer misuse offences
438.	18/05/2020	Sanchez interview plan preparation / statements.
439.	18/05/2020	Meeting with Guy Stagnetto regarding without prejudice meetings that took place between JP and JG regarding the NSCIS platform. 2 meetings took place. First meeting JG was assured by JP that it was not a planned approach to leave the company and that he was not intending to take Bland assets with him. JP assured him he was not. JG put to him that he was lying and that he was aware of 36N formation etc. Asked JP to go away and to decide how this could be resolved. In the second meeting (initiated by JP) he made an offer to buy the asset from Bland for £300,000. This was declined by JG as unacceptable. JP could not afford more. File Note made. Relevance – Lines of enquiry following submission by the defence that HMGoG were the owners of the platform.
440.	18/05/2020	Meeting with DPP / CG / PR / MW – Discussion of redaction of search warrant application. Threshold is very serious prejudice to an important public interest. Concerns of serious prejudice to our interviews if the search warrant application is provided prior to interviews. Warrant has been lawfully obtained but due to expire. Redactions discussed and advised by DPP.
441.	18/05/2020	2nd statement of CI Mark Wyan signed as complete. This statement relates to the interview of Caine Sanchez with DS Clarke in the presence of Caine Sanchez's legal representative, Andrew Cardona.
442.	19/05/2020	Raised concerns with SIO that defence representing Mr Levy may be stalling providing a statement until such time as our current warrant expires.

443.	20/05/2020	Email sent to TC for devices etc to be returned. Full rationale for retaining devices sent to SIO. He has advised on the return / retention after giving instructions to DC Currer. Relevance – Full review of required devices and whether they could be returned at this stage.
444.	20/05/2020	1200 Meeting with AG regarding letter from Hassans (DPP/AG/MW/PR/CoP). Discussed response in respect of JL and our position on him voluntarily disclosing information to the RGP. DPP will draft a response. We still consider him to be a suspect at this stage. Full File note made.
445.	21/05/2020	Opened exhibit JV/Phone/1 which was sealed in A13962250. Review of attachment sent by Sanchez to the CM. Resealed in M16719311.
446.	21/05/2020	Discussed with SIO redacting the information document and providing it to the defence before the court application is made. These redactions had already been discussed between the DPP and the SIO. I was of the firm opinion that this level of disclosure was disproportionate given the fact that disclosure was to be to a suspect, and that interviews were pending. The SIO suggested that if I held this view that I should put it in writing to the DPP. I had concerns about the level of disclosure and how this would undermine the prosecution / prejudice the investigation. This was set out in an email to the DPP. Some legal objections were made although not with much case law given that I do not have Westlaw. It was hoped that DPP may reconsider the extent of disclosure and object in court rather than give so much information without legal argument. Ultimately, the application was for disclosure by the Court not by the RGP.
447.	22/05/2020	The DPP sent an email strongly disagreeing with my objections to the disclosure of the Schedule 1 information. He cited a number of legal authorities. In particular he stated that a blanket application for PII was out of the question. He further made it clear that there was an obligation to consider disclosing the documents on a restricted basis, and that the court expected that we should do this.

		I still had reservations about the extent of disclosure, and the prejudice to the investigation, before the court has even heard any legal arguments. I have found the case of Commissioner of Police for the Metropolis v Dawn B [2014] EWHC 546 (Admin) which states that a gist document may be sufficient, and that there were circumstances where non-disclosure of evidence / information may be appropriate. I sent this to the SIO for his information. However, the DPP has made his position clear in this regard. Instructions given by the SIO to send the redacted Schedule 1 information to the DPP for disclosure to the defence. Following an email from Charles Bonfante to SIO I called CB. He stated that he was working on a draft statement setting out matters raised in pre-disclosure document. He had asked for further time to complete this document.
448.	27/05/2020	Call received from the DPP explaining that he had received representations from Hassans following disclosure of the redacted information document. He agreed that we should further disclose information to them. He started to identify paragraphs and asked what the rationale for requesting PII was. In particular he stated that Mr Levy would already have his own communications so we should disclose. I responded by explaining that revealing specific communications would put him on notice of exactly what evidence we were relying upon, and would allow him to predict the lines of questioning. This would undermine any interview and not allow for an untainted account. Effectively it would allow him to prepare and fabricate as necessary. I asked him to put this in an email so that I could forward it on to senior officers for advice. In response to an email from the DPP, setting out his thoughts on further redactions, I drafted my reservations and rationale for not doing so. This was submitted in an email to SIO. Charles Bonfante has requested further time to complete version of events for Mr Levy. States that it should be complete by next week. This is close to the expiration of the warrant.

449.	28/05/2020	Meeting with SIO. Also present was Deputy CoP and Supt Yeats. Discussed the request by the DPP to further redact information provided as basis for the warrant. I had already provided my rationale in an email to SIO dated 27/05/20. SIO to write a response to the DPP.
450.	28/05/2020	Email sent to the SIO regarding concerns that the warrant will expire in respect of Mr Levy shortly. Defence have still not provided the account they have promised.
451.	28/05/2020	Call from Charles Bonfante asking whether we had received an email from him advising that the production of the voluntary account would be delayed until next week. He stated that this would be complete by the middle to the end of the week. I confirmed that we had received the email although hadn't considered the delay with the SIO as yet.
452.	28/05/2020	2nd statement of Nicholas Gaggero signed as complete. This statement relates to Tangible Fixed Assets and Software Regular Maintenance. Response to representations made by the defence.
453.	28/05/2020	3rd statement of Philip Navas signed as complete. This statement relates to the legal status of intangible fixed assets. Response to representations made by the defence.
454.	29/05/2020	1100 Meeting with DPP regarding redactions of Schedule 1 information. Present: MW/CG/PR/CR DPP set out the threshold for claiming PII. Very serious prejudice to the investigation. DPP confirmed that he believed the warrant had been lawfully obtained. He would protect if challenged. His view was to wait for the account before we interview. But this was operational matter. This could be defended in court. Discussions about whether Lewis Baglietto could inspect the computer misuse sections on a counsel to counsel basis. But no copy to be given so that it could not be read by anyone else. Agreed that this could be done. Computer misuse sections to remain redacted on the basis of prejudice if other co-conspirators were to access the information. Further minor paragraphs to be revealed to defence. Section 48 and 319(e) only. Other paragraphs to remain redacted. Would be objected to by DPP in any hearing before the Magistrate.

		Further revelations to be disclosed the same day to the defence. May require a witness statement claiming PII by myself. Discussions on whether there were legal implications to executing the search warrant. Particularly in light of the fact that the warrant was due to expire without the account of Levy being provided. However, given that Levy was on notice of our possible intention, a search warrant may no longer be necessary. (DPP acknowledged that the warrant was legally obtained however).
455.	02/06/2020	Consideration of need to clarify without prejudice meetings with JG and JP and whether evidentially they are required. Also need to consider meetings with the CM and whether they are required in evidence. Relevance – Further lines of enquiry.
456.	02/06/2020	Reconsiderations of Asquez offences whilst reviewing evidence for interview plans. I have noted that he arguably encourages TC to delete the email data during the course of an email exchange. This may be a substantive statutory offence in its own right. It also supports dishonesty in the context of conspiracy to defraud. To be put in interview and possibly arrested for the statutory offence.
457.	03/06/2020	Interview Protocol between the National Police Chiefs Council, Crown Prosecution Service, Law Society, the Criminal Law Solicitors' Association and the London Criminal Courts Solicitors' Association It is acknowledged that the Coronavirus crisis involves the application of PACE Code C in circumstances which are unlikely to have previously been anticipated. The signatories to this Protocol accept that remote interviews by video and audio link are not within the current letter of the Code of Practice, but in the present circumstances of the Coronavirus pandemic they are within the spirit of recent amendments to criminal procedure, law and evidence in the Coronavirus Act 2020. Therefore, we take the view that they are a fair, reasonable and proportionate option to be made available to a suspect who has the benefit of legal advice and who having been fully informed and advised and together with their appropriate adult (where one is required) consents to a remote interview*. This enables the rights and* interests of detained persons to be protected during the unprecedented circumstances of the Coronavirus crisis. Consideration of interviewing Cornelio with the use of remote interview by a member of the NCA. In the circumstances, this would appear to be in accordance with the guidance set by the NPCC / CPS etc. The NCA are still restricted due to the Coronavirus in the UK. This would therefore allow the interview to take place without having to extend bail any longer than necessary.

458.	03/06/2020	Interview plan of Cornelio started.
459.	04/06/2020	In the context of a conspiracy to defraud Bland Limited of the NSCIS maintenance contract, the suspected unlawfulness on the part of JL that we would seek to explore in interview includes: 1. Whether JL aided/abetted or encouraged/assisted CS to misconduct himself in public office; 2. Whether JL received information from CS in contravention of the Official Secrets Act and was thereby in breach of section 2(2) of the Official Secrets Act 1911; 3. Whether JL aided/abetted or encouraged/assisted TC/JP who were acting unlawfully in that they were breaching their contractual obligations to Bland Limited (with civil wrongs amounting to unlawfulness for the purpose of a conspiracy to defraud); 4. The nature of the influence / communication with the CM and whether these were unlawful. Relevance – Reasonable lines of enquiry.
460.	05/06/2020	SIO request that I set out the alleged unlawfulness that was being investigated in relation to Levy (in the context of conspiracy to defraud), including: 1. Whether JL aided/abetted or encouraged/assisted CS to misconduct himself in public office; 2. Whether JL received information from CS in contravention of the Official Secrets Act and was thereby in breach of section 2(2) of the Official Secrets Act 1911; 3. Whether JL aided/abetted or encouraged/assisted TC/JP who were acting unlawfully in that they were breaching their contractual obligations to Bland Limited (with civil wrongs amounting to unlawfulness for the purpose of a conspiracy to defraud); 4. The nature of the influence / communication with the CM and whether these were unlawful.

461.	05/06/2020	Email to Supt Richardson explaining that Darren Grech's statement has been transposed into RGP statement format. He refers to 3 exhibits, however, have not been sent a copy of these. I ask Supt Richardson if he has these.
462.	05/06/2020	The Schedule 1 warrant is due to expire pursuant to section 20(3) of the CPEA on the 7th June 2020. At this stage, and despite repeated promises, the legal advisors of Mr Levy have not provided the account of Mr Levy. This means that we are unsure whether he is still co-operating with police. If he is not, and we have not been provided with the information they have promised we may need to consider whether the warrant should be executed both at his residence and at Hassans. For this reason, it will not be reasonably practicable to return the warrant to the Magistrates Court before Monday the 8th June 2020. There is a possibility that we could still execute the warrant on Saturday 6th June 2020 in the absence of any account / supporting evidence by Levy. It must be stressed that this delay is at the insistence of the defence who want to provide information in advance of an interview so that it can be considered before the said interview.
463.	08/06/2020	Instructions given to DC Currer to return the warrants for Hassans and the residence of Mr Levy to the court pursuant to 20(3) of the CPEA, given that it has now expired. It was not practicable to return within the month (B8.3 Codes of Practice) given the uncertainty surrounding whether Mr Levy was still assisting with enquiries and we wanted to keep options open. Emails received from both defence lawyers (Fischel and Cardona) requesting pre-interview topic areas. To be considered.
464.	09/06/2020	Account provided by Mr Levy based on the topic areas / information previously supplied to him. Still considered a suspect until the account has been reviewed and analysed against evidence. There may still be areas we need him to account for or to explain in greater detail.
465.	10/06/2020	4th statement of Roisin Jane Cullen signed as complete. This statement relates to Exhibit JO/F_IMAGES/2

466.	11/06/2020	6th statement of JOG signed as complete. This statement relates to NSCIS backoffice audit logs for user Aaron Chipol on the 5th December 2018 which are tendered in evidence as Exhibit JOG/122

468.	16/06/2020	Meeting with N Gaggero regarding the ownership of the NSCIS platform in light of the fact that HMGoG had asserted ownership. He informed me that he would like to provide police with additional information outlining their legal position.
469.	07/06/2020	Discussions with SIO regarding: 1. Caine Sanchez – Interview Fri 19th 2. Perez and Asquez interviews – Tuesday 23rd 3. Cornelio – Tuesday 30th / Wednesday 1st (with NCA present) 4. CM still to be spoken to 5. DPP advice required for charges / summary 6. Ownership statement for NSCIS including Azure etc
470.	07/06/2020	JOG to comment on storage of data and to give an evaluation of the accuracy of the NSCIS report if possible. Whether he could show it to be accurate or misleading at the time it was created by TC. Relevance – TC created the report showing purported failures in the system. Question whether it is accurate.
471.	11/06/2020	Interview topic areas disclosed to Mr Cardona in respect of Mr Sanchez: 1. HMGoG job role / duties / responsibilities / statutory obligations. 2. 36 North Limited. 3. Communications / relationship with Thomas Cornelio (with regard to 36 North Limited / Bland Limited (Wavetecx) / the NSCIS platform / cryptocurrency). 4. Communications / relationship with John Perez (with regard to 36 North Limited / Bland Limited (Wavetecx) / the NSCIS platform). 5. Communications / relationship with Haim Levy (with regard to 36 North Limited / Bland Limited (Wavetecx) / the NSCIS platform).

		6. The National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS) (incl. design and development / ownership / knowledge of suspected computer misuse (and related) offences). 7. Any other area relevant to this investigation.
472.	16/06/2020	Email from Mr Fischel QC outlining the evidence provided by his clients, that the platform belongs to HMGoG, as well as suggesting failings by the RGP to properly investigate the matter. He indicates that he will be advising a no comment interview by his clients.
473.	16/06/2020	Points considered for an additional witness statement in order to determine ownership of MS Azure account and other related matters.
474.	17/06/2020	Email sent to the Chief Secretary. In addition to transposing his witness statement onto a police form, I requested whether he would consider making a formal complaint against the suspects (given that they had now asserted ownership over the platform).
475.	17/06/2020	Response from the PA to the Chief Secretary. He would not be amending the statement he had originally provided. Stated that HMGoG had already made a complaint. Whilst he has made a complaint there is no statement from HMGoG making a formal complaint in a police witness statement format.
476.	17/06/2020	Meeting with N Gaggero. Informed me that all of the information regarding ownership was in my possession. However he gave authority for me to provide to the DPP a copy of the legal advice provided to Bland by Patrick Caruana. Call also made to Patrick during the meeting. Bland believe that they have a strong case for ownership. I informed them that I would present the evidence from Bland and HMGoG to the DPP and seek advice on how to proceed in respect of the prosecution.
477.	17/06/2020	Sent an email to the SIO requesting that he clarify the HMGoG position on whether they wish to make a formal complaint. As stated above, we have not received a complaint as suggested in the email to me.
478.	19/06/2020	Email to Supt Richardson explaining that the investigating team has come across a number of relevant communications between CM and JP/JL/CS. A document titled “Timeline Chief Minister” was attached. This document details all correspondence with the CM between the defendants.

497.	05/07/2020	Email from Mr Fischel QC stating that the RGP have obtained legal advice from Bland lawyers following his letter of the 20th April 2020, and that we had shared information about the case with Mr Gaggero. Alleges that Mr Gaggero and/or his lawyers have directed the investigation. This is entirely incorrect.

499.	09/07/2020	1st statement of Sean Troy Perera signed as complete. This statement relates to a meeting that he attended in 2016 where Thomas Cornelio and John Perez delivered a presentation on NSCIS on behalf of Bland.
500.	09/07/2020	Response to the email from Mr Fischel QC of the 5th July 2020. In part I respond by stating: You have suggested that the RGP has sought legal advice from Bland and/or its legal representatives in response to your letter of the 30th April 2020. This is not the case. The legal opinion to which you refer was provided to Bland Limited by their legal representatives for the purpose of civil proceedings. It was handed to police on the 14th August 2019, 8 months before your letter to the Commissioner. I further stated: Where your clients have submitted information / evidence to the police for the purpose of defending criminal allegations made against them, it is right and proper that the police are allowed to investigate the veracity of that information / evidence. In doing so the police should follow reasonable lines of enquiry. This may include seeking additional information or statements from the complainants. I can however confirm that we have not provided Mr Gaggero with a copy of any statement or interview made by your clients.

511.	27/07/2020	NCA/Exhibit to be reviewed for the purpose of ascertaining whether the accuracy can be corroborated. In particular, whether Galliano can still access the live logs on Azure and record the process. Consideration of whether this can be done in the presence of a HTCU officer for further corroboration.
512.	28/07/2020	Advice requested from the DPP as to whether we should disclose material to the defence prior to charge. In particular whether this would prejudice future proceedings, or whether the RGP would be criticised. He subsequently responded that he agreed there was no requirement to disclose. No further advice offered. I discussed the above matter with SIO. He suggested that we respond not to disclose other than items 1 and 9. These were things to which the suspects had access prior to their arrests. Response to Mr Fischel QC regarding a request to disclose additional material prior to charge. It was explained that there was no legal requirement to do so, and that there was sufficient evidence in the interviews for him to make submissions for the purpose of charging. Items 1 (contract) and item 9 (emails between Asquez and Perez) offered for disclosure. He was asked to specify which emails he was looking for.
513.	28/07/2020	Email sent to James Gaggero. He is the complainant in this case and has not been updated in a considerable period of time. Informed me that Bland had not been paid for the platform since 2018 when the dispute arose with Sanchez. He said that HMGoG would not be paying until the criminal dispute had been resolved. I informed Mr Gaggero that I was not aware that they had not been paid. And that it was a matter for him to decide how best to protect the commercial interests of Bland. He explained that he was not concerned about the criminal case, and that they had wanted to do their civic duty, but that commercial interests were his priority. He said that he had lost faith that the criminal investigation would get to court. He was informed that the suspects surrendered to bail on the 15th September, but that the DPP would need to make a determination before this date. Further explained that whilst this was the target date, it may not be met if the defence provided representations that required a lot of consideration.
516.	06/08/2020	Bundle of defence documents received from Robert Fischel QC regarding his clients. These include a letter and statements from EA/JP/TC as well as supporting documents. Relevance – Defence representations.

Questions put to him regarding him accessing the NSCIS platform using Bland credentials after he left Bland employment. Stated that he was given instructions from TC and believed that the system was Government owned.
519.	10/08/2020	Telephone conversation with Nicholas Gaggero. He was given an update of what was happening with the case. He was told that we had received a substantial bundle from the defence which required a review prior to sending the full report to the DPP for advice. It was highlighted that the defence were stating that ownership was in dispute and that the criminal courts were not the appropriate place for settling the dispute. Also informed that HMGoG had not yet provided a complaint to police. That this may affect the prosecution due to ownership being disputed.

520.	11/08/2020	Email sent to Supt Richardson with attached Charging Report 9.8.20, the latest charging report.
521.	13/08/2020	Pre-charge advice report sent to Mr Rocca (DPP). This report extends to 136 pages and includes annexes and exhibits. 531.	20/08/2020	Defence submissions received from Andrew Cardona on behalf of Caine Sanchez. The DPP was also copied in to the letter. I have requested DC Clarke to look at the submission with a view to ascertaining whether there are any further lines of enquiry.

		In his letter Mr Cardona refers to:
		• Misconduct in public office
		  ○ Financial Gain
		  ○ What is the misconduct?
		  ○ Abuse of Public's Trust
		• Conspiracy to Defraud contrary to common law
		• Breach of section 2(1) of the Official Secrets Act 1911
		• Unauthorised acts with intent to impair the operation of a computer contrary to section 364(1) as read in conjunction with 364(2)€ and 364(2)(f) of the Crimes Act 2011.

		(He refers to minutes of a meeting from the 31st October 2018. These minutes have been obtained and are brief. They refer to risks to the platform due to false positives on the facial recognition system).

532.	20/08/2020	3rd statement of James Gaggero signed as complete. This statement relates to a private and confidential meeting that he had with John Perez.

535.	24/08/2020	Jonathan Galliano tasked with ensuring that he evidences the procedure undertaken when obtaining results to ensure continuity of evidence / integrity of the information obtained. He will be reproducing the evidence where possible to show that it is accurate. The defence have suggested that the information he has provided may not be reliable.
536.	25/08/2020	Call made by SIO to James Gaggero during which I was present. Call made in order to update him on events as well as welfare (given that he had been recently involved in a RTC and had sustained a number of injuries / was recovering in hospital). He was informed that the investigation was now advanced and that a full report had been submitted to the DPP for review of charges. He spoke for a long period about Bland claim for ownership of the platform, which they maintained. He also stated that the issue of ownership had not arisen until this year. He explained that the only refusal to pay money up until that point was on the basis that not all of the systems were functioning at 100% and that they agreed to £15,000 less per month. He was also asked about the offer that his son had mentioned in respect of the platform but was unaware of any offer. He explained that this may have been because his son did not want to involve him whilst he was recovering in hospital.
537.	27/08/2020	Review of operation report submitted for advice to DPP for charging. SIO made a number of recommendations for amendments.
538.	28/08/2020	Meeting at OCPL with DPP and Mark Zammit. Supt Richardson also present. Discussion of Op Delhi following report submitted on the 13th August together with USB (containing wit statements / exhibits / defence submissions / draft charges etc). 10 files were also submitted in paper based format.

		We discussed at length the investigation and went through each of the suspects as follows: Cornelio – Advised that there was a realistic prospect of conviction. Provided that the technical evidence in support was correct, the computer misuse offences could be charged. The view of the DPP was that there were certain dates on which the offences were stronger, and that we should charge within those periods. He did not view the issue of ownership as any bar to the prosecution, providing that the dates were within the ranges during which Cornelio could not have had authority. In the context of the conspiracy, the evidence of a conspiracy was clear given the exchange between Cornelio and the other suspects. The basis of the conspiracy was the computer misuse offences as well as the breaches of contract by Cornelio et al, given that he had a duty to his employer by virtue of his position in Bland. Sanchez – There is evidence which affords a realistic prospect of conviction for misconduct in public office and conspiracy to defraud. The MOU ties him in to 36N early in 2018. There are also messages that he wanted to assist in removing Wavetecx from Bland. The messages show that he was not impartial and that he was actively assisting 36N. In particular he was texting TC. He was also involved in the April report in which it is clear that he was acting contrary to instructions when he attempted to hide the fact that TC was reviewing the system. The DPP asked us to consider a charge under section 367 for April. Perez – There is a realistic prospect of conviction for conspiracy to defraud. He is involved in the planning / preparation to set up 36N and is aware of the pressure being placed on HMGoG. Furthermore he is aware of the deletion of the Wavetecx account and refers to TC as a "wizard". He also breaches contractual duties to Bland. There was also a message which TC sent to JP in which he was worried that JG would send them both to jail. Asquez – There is insufficient evidence to provide a realistic prospect of conviction given that he is only involved in the initial stages of setting up 36N. He is not a beneficiary of the company. Levy – There is insufficient evidence to provide a realistic prospect of conviction. He had no contractual duty to Bland and there is little evidence to support the fact that he had knowledge of the computer misuse offences. Chipol – The DPP felt that it was difficult to make a clear determination and that it could be argued either way. He referred to the fact that he sent on the email from TC as well as disclosed in December issues relating to the platform when he knew that TC should not have been involved. In the context of national security and the fact that he is the head of the BCA this could be misconduct. It was felt that he would add little as a credible witness if he were to give evidence for the prosecution.

539.	01/09/2020	1st statement of DC 106 Jason Oton signed as complete. This statement relates to the imaging of devices throughout the investigation.
540.	02/09/2020	Email received from the DPP regarding charging advice. He set out his advice that charging should be as follows: Cornelio - computer misuse / conspiracy to defraud, Perez – Conspiracy to defraud, Sanchez – Conspiracy to defraud / Misconduct in public office / s367 for the April report Asquez – Release from arrest, Levy – Release from arrest, Chipol - his actions show an inappropriate relationship with TC including drafting the email and providing information on NSCIS. However, the matter of charge for misconduct was arguable.
541.	02/09/2020	Nicholas Gaggero updated on the progress of the case. Informed that there was a good chance that a prosecution would now follow following consultation with the DPP. However, I told him that I could not disclose who would be charged or what they would be charged with. This would only become public upon charge which was likely to be on the 15th September when the suspects surrender to bail.
542.	02/09/2020	Call from the DPP regarding Op Delhi. This followed an email asking the OCPL to clarify their position with regards to Chipol. He stated that he was comfortable with Chipol not getting charged but that it was in the balance. He noted that the AG was concerned that there may be political implications but that he would not become involved in the decision. He simply wanted to be advised if the decision was to charge.

		The DPP questioned whether there was enough for misconduct and noted that it may be lacking one little piece more. He felt that the matter could be dealt with as a disciplinary.
543.	02/09/2020	2nd statement of Paul Karim Chipolina signed as complete. This statement relates to a meeting that he attended in 2016 where Thomas Cornelio and John Perez delivered a presentation on NSCIS on behalf of Bland.
544.	03/09/2020	Update on the charges that I had drafted (currently 75 potential).
545.	04/09/2020	Meeting with the DPP. Mark Zammit and Paul Clarke also present. Discussed how to draft charges for the case. Went through the computer misuse charges that had been proposed. He advised on which charges should remain and which should be excluded. The DPP wanted to keep the computer misuse charges to a manageable level. It was agreed that we would have the proposed charges, but that they would include connection strings, Boolean variables and Time/Date variables from both servers and both programs. Also to include database re indexing, and the unauthorised access at times when there could be little dispute. The conspiracy charge was given an initial draft based upon a discussion around dates, and the ingredients of the conspiracy. Essentially the ingredients included the computer misuse, the pressure on government, and the breaches of contract. Meeting set for the 9th September 2020 to finalise the charges.
546.	04/09/2020	Call received later in the day from the DPP. He asked that the charges be reduced if possible so that we did not lose the jury during the trial.
547.	07/09/2020	Review of the charges conducted and sent to the DPP. Cut down to 12 computer misuse offences. Based on the Port server alone so that we could be more specific about dates.
548.	07/09/2020	DC Saxby assigned to start as Disclosure Officer.
549.	07/09/2020	1st statement of Jonathan Gonzalez signed as complete. This statement relates to the handing over of Exhibit PR/TOSHIBAHD/01 to Supt Richardson.
550.	08/09/2020	Discs from the US provided to the RGP by Graceanne Gear. This was the result of the request made in connection with the investigation. A number of filtered email accounts were given namely:

		[redacted] - [redacted] - [redacted] and - [redacted] In respect of the following, the evidence was not provided on the basis that there was not sufficient evidence of criminal activity to link to the accounts: [redacted] - [redacted] - ALSTelematics hosted on [redacted] and - [redacted] They could not find 36north.database.windows.net. There was no reference to the IP address 51. In the report. As a result of the missing IP information (51) I have asked DC Clarke to follow up the matters with the UK/US to find out why there are no results. This links to the database reindexing and therefore the national security related charges.
551.	08/09/2020	2nd statement of Krishan Benyunes signed as complete. This statement relates to: • Technical Definitions • "bgi.visualstudio.com" TFS Account • Inspection of Workstations • Offline Database Re-indexing Hash Values

559.	11/09/2020	Meeting with the DPP to discuss charges. Confirmed that we could charge with the 12 proposed computer misuse offences (and which related to the Port server) with the addition of the email account charge. All other parties to continue with the agreed charges. In respect of Chipol the DPP was unable to offer any other advice beyond that already given. It was therefore a matter for the RGP to determine.
560.	11/09/2020	1415 hours: Took possession of exhibit bag number A13971874 (AG/Report/FBI/2 refers) from DC Clarke. This was a USB which

561.	11/09/2020	The following exhibit was handed to me from DC 211 Currer: JC/IPADDRESS/1
562.	12/09/2020	Review of material on AG/Report/FBI/2 – Highlighted material of interest. It appears as though Sanchez has been conducting business with Hassans. One item in particular is of note in which he states that he is acting in a private capacity and approaching ASDA in the UK. Relevance – Evidence is consistent with the other evidence that he has been conducting private business outside his HMGoG role.
563.	13/09/2020	Discussions with SIO about whether Chipol should be charged. Decision made not to proceed to charge following lengthy considerations. Rationale document created outlining considerations in line with CPS charging standards.
564.	14/09/2020	Review of summary. Consultation with DPP regarding charges and wording of charges.

569.	15/09/2020	Asquez released from arrest. Perez charged. Cornelio charged. Sanchez charged. Informed that their legal representative had sought an appointment with the Attorney General to discuss this case.
570.	15/09/2020	The following exhibits were handed to me by DC 211 Currer: JO/UFEDSCREENSHOTS/1/A
571.	16/09/2020	Email from Cardona requesting that the press release be amended on the basis that it is incorrect or misleading. In response I confirmed that the Chief Secretary had confirmed in writing that HMGoG wanted to be considered a formal complainant. This response refers to the letter of complaint by Mr Grech.
572.	16/09/2020	Telephone call with N Gaggero regarding public knowledge of the alleged offence. I advised him that he should restrict comment to the press as it was sub-judice. Did not want any impact on the case. I informed him that I was happy to answer any questions / concerns he had about matter. Informed him what would happen next with the case and that it would now be sent up to the Supreme Court. Also told him that the deadline we were working to was 5th November but that it would then need to be reviewed by the OCPL. After that it would need to be arraigned for trial. Further advised that Jonathan Galliano / Krishan Benyunes were witnesses so limit discussions unless necessary.

573.	16/09/2020	Error caused by Cyclops which duplicated the first line of the wording of the charges of the defendants. Director of Public Prosecutions advised to re-draft the charges manually Supt Richardson and I then approved.
574.	16/09/2020	Attended Magistrates' Court. Matter sent up to Supreme Court for all three defendants.
575.	17/09/2020	Responded to email from Mr Cardona. He was referred to a response given to Mr Fischel QC by the CoP on the same issue. In this he set out that a complaint was made by HMGoG at the outset, but that they only provided written confirmation at a later date. The initial request to be considered complainants refers to the insistence by the CM that they would be complainants during a meeting at the beginning of the investigation. This information was provided to me by the SIO. It was also expressed to me on a number of occasions during the course of the investigation. It was also highlighted that they were named on the search warrants as complainants.
576.	17/09/2020	Email sent to Supt Richardson with attached Chipol Report. The content of the email discusses that pages 20-26 now refer to a further assessment of the evidence and provides reasons as to why the misconduct does not pass the threshold for seriousness.
577.	17/09/2020	Email sent to Sgt Clarke and DC 211 Currer asking if Sanchez had "read only" access to the platform or something more? As well as if when Sanchez gave his details to Cornelio in April 2019, he stated that it was because "[redacted]". Can we check if this is true?

578.	23/09/2020	1525 hours: Exhibit bag number A13971874 (AG/Report/FBI/2 refers) containing a USB with emails regarding Caine Sanchez returned to DS Clarke.
579.	23/09/2020	Meeting with Christian Rocca, Sgt Clarke and Mark Zammitt regarding disclosure. Items discussed in the meeting were the timescales for completion and the discussion of itemisation of computer generated material.
580.	23/09/2020 – 24/09/2020	DS Clarke, on request of Supt Richardson, compared the production order results against American Express emails. There were no irregularities noted. He sent the results to me via email.
581.	24/09/2020	DC Saxby (Disclosure Officer) asked to provide a strategy for the disclosure exercise.
582.	24/09/2020	Email sent to Graceanne Gear. We have reviewed the devices sent from the US and see that there is no information with regard to IP 51.141.80.216 (as per the request). It is not mentioned in the cover note as having been supplied or denied. She has been asked to chase up the authorities to see whether there has been an oversight.
583.	25/09/2020	Meeting with the DPP regarding disclosure exercise. He was shown the AXIOM program and how the items were displayed. The size of the disclosure exercise was explained and concerns as to how long this was likely to take. He referred to the fact that he had offered paralegal to assist in the process. Agreed that we would use the program to identify hits that could be relevant material. This would then be disclosed to the prosecutor as a report. The report could then be further reduced down to material that was to be disclosed to the defence. This would avoid any issues of having to provide copies in paper format, which may take a considerable period.
584.	25/09/2020	Disclosure strategy received from DC Saxby. Numerous devices still need to be reviewed by him so that the disclosure exercise is properly conducted.
585.	28/09/2020	Phone call received from James Gaggero. He explained that he was grateful for all the hard work carried out by the investigation team. He enquired about the press release and the suggestion by the defence that this may have been inaccurate. I explained that I was unable to discuss that matter, particularly given it was a live issue.

589.	28/09/2020	4th statement of DC 211 James Currer signed as complete. This statement relates to a bulk of exhibits being tendered in evidence.
590.	30/09/2020	Email sent to Mr Fischel QC referring to my email of the 28th August 2019 (request for keywords). I explained that in my precious correspondence I felt the searches were unreasonable and likely to create a substantial amount of irrelevant material. I asked for a review of the keywords on the 5th September 2019 on this basis. The email asked again that he reply to this request to assist. I further attached the keywords that we had used for his clients.
591.	30/09/2020	Consideration of resource requirements in order to meet disclosure. Review of available officers / civilian staff / and what level of previous experience will be needed.
592.	02/10/2021	5th statement of DC 211 James Currer signed as complete. This statement relates to Daniel Bourne handing the following exhibits to DC 211 James Currer: JS/01/14/01/2020 RJC/01/13/01/2020 NCA/EXHIBIT/COPY

601.	14/10/2020	Spoke to DS Clarke about Mr Stagnetto having knowledge of Perez leaving (referred to in the defence statement of Perez). Informed the officer that in fairness to the accused we need to follow up on relevant defence witnesses in order to seek their account. If they undermine the case then to be placed in disclosure (and later DIS 3 depending upon DO determination).

603.	14/10/2020	14th statement of JOG signed as complete. This statement relates to: • Remote Desktop Protocol • Remote Desktop Services • Remote Desktop Connection • Remote Desktop Event Logs • Use of Remote Desktop

605.	14/10/2020	16th statement of JOG signed as complete. This statement relates to a USB containing multiple exhibits of KB.
606.	19/10/2020	Report submitted to SIO considering whether to search the devices obtained from Mr Levy on the 12th May 2020 or to return them to the owner without further investigation. Includes consideration of the offence of conspiracy to defraud and its application to the facts, timeline of events, written account provided by Mr Levy, consideration of the documents from the US, and decision. It is recommended that the devices be returned to Mr Levy on the basis that we no longer continue to have reasonable grounds to suspect that he has committed an offence, and that the legality of searching the phones in now in question.
607.	23/10/2020	I attended a meeting with the Director of Public Prosecutions with DS Clarke, Paul Richardson, and Crown Counsel Mark Zammitt and Kerrin Drago. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss disclosure.
608.	26/10/2020	Full review of the docket of evidence. Identified 74 actions that require addressing.
609.	26/10/2020	PC to revert to Guy Stagnetto regarding his witness statement. Referred to in the defence statements but has not yet provided accounts. PC asked to update the timeline and add an additional statement tendering in evidence.
610.	27/10/2020	Review of all material in the docket. A list of actions have been created and will need to be remedied before the docket is finalised.
611.	27/10/2020	Report for Levy finalised based on recommendations from SIO. Returned for action in respect of the devices currently held by CoP.
612.	27/10/2020	Premises for disclosure officers identified. Old OCPL assessed for suitability.
613.	28/10/2020	Report submitted to DS Clarke and DC Currer outlining which exhibits needed to be extracted and placed in disclosure, and which statements should be placed in disclosure. In particular DC Currer was advised on providing a statement which reflected exhibits not being relied upon but which were referred to in the prosecution statements.

614.	28/10/2020	Following a full review of the evidence and consideration of the facts a decision was made that Levy was no longer to be considered a suspect and that his devices were to be returned. Full rationale set out in the document provided to the SIO and in consultation with him. Authority also granted from the CoP who concurred with the decision. As a result an email was sent to Louis Baglietto confirming the change to the status of Levy and that we were willing to return the items. I additionally requested whether Mr Levy would be willing to provide a witness statement in respect of the matter.
615.	28/10/2020	Spoke to the SIO about the need to approach the CM. I had brought this up on a number of occasions. Previously instructed that this issue would be considered once Levy had been dealt with. He is now the last witness that we need to approach for an account and who may be able to help understand what was happening from the HMGoG point of view. This is significant in terms of authority. However, the issue of authority post 4th October 2018 is already evidenced. Moreover, the issues which pre-date resignation were not authorised by Bland (in course of employment) and not authorised by Sanchez (according to his interview). The period after resignation but before October 4th is an area for clarification. The CM may be able to assist with this. However, Sanchez did state that during this period Cornelio would be expected to liaise with both HMGoG and Bland before taking action in relation to the NSCIS platform.
616.	28/10/2020	Spoke to DS Clarke in respect of the statements of Stagnetto and Mackie. Both requested and awaiting notice of whether they will provide statements. Both requested as a result of Perez referring to them in his defence.

630.	31/10/2020	8th statement of DC 211 James Currer signed as complete. This statement relates to various screenshot modification dates.

632.	1/11/2020	Review of all joint defence submissions. At my request DS Clarke has tabulated and sub-divided all of the defences put forward. We have now both commented next to each section. We have identified whether there is a requirement to follow as a reasonable line of enquiry that may assist the defence.
633.	1/11/2020	On the review of the issue of ownership. I have been looking over the defence documents again. I retain the view that sufficient investigation into this matter has been completed. Whilst there are a few persons who could be approached, such investigation will have no further impact upon this case. Contrary to the views held by the defence, it is not evident that they own the NSCIS. In fact the stronger evidence in support of ownership has been provided by Bland. In the context of the case we can show that ownership is disputed. Regardless of any further statements, this position will not change until it is determined in a civil court. Given that ownership is disputed, and that we have a complaint from both purported owners, the criminal case can still proceed. The issue of authority is the next matter. This has been covered categorically by Bland. Authority by HMGoG is far more difficult given that CS is a defendant and was in charge of the platform on behalf of HMGoG. However, his interview provides evidence against TC, and the W/S of Canessa following instructions on the 4th October is also strong evidence of authority to access etc.

634.	02/11/2020	Call from Charles Bonfante in relation to the email sent to Louis Baglietto QC on the 28/10/20 in which Mr Levy was advised that he was no longer a suspect and that we would be returning his devices unopened. Explained that it was now a matter for Mr Levy to decide whether he would be a prosecution witness. He could amend the account already given or add, alter, correct as he saw fit.
635.	02/11/2020	3rd statement of DC 106 Jason Oton signed as complete. This statement relates to configuration files that were copied onto a CD and exhibited as JO/.CONFIGFILES/1
636.	03/11/2020	Review of all Cornelio defence submissions. At my request DS Clarke has tabulated and sub-divided all of the defences put forward. We have now both commented next to each section. We have identified whether there is a requirement to follow as a reasonable line of enquiry that may assist the defence.
637.	04/11/2020	Review of all Perez defence submissions. At my request DS Clarke has tabulated and sub-divided all of the defences put forward. We have now both commented next to each section. We have identified whether there is a requirement to follow as a reasonable line of enquiry that may assist the defence.
638.	04/11/2020	Disclosure presentation given to all officers assigned the task of disclosure. Presented by myself. SIO and CC Zammitt in attendance and spoke of the importance of the exercise and the requirement to comply with legislation so that documents were disclosed in the interests of fairness. Timescales for completion provided.

639.	04/11/2020	Email to Sgt Clarke where he is provided copies of the defence statements of TC and a joint ones summary. Sgt Clarke is asked to ensure that questions are specific enough so that they can be responded to accurately by the witnesses.
640.	05/11/2020	Instructions given to DC Currer in the context of disclosure. Given his involvement in the investigative process, he was instructed not to get involved in the disclosure decision process (beyond identifying relevant material). He was told that he should assist others given his knowledge of the case and act as an administrative assistant. Any involvement by him to be reviewed by DC Saxby.
641.	05/11/2020	During the review of CS defences I requested that JC extract exhibits which reflected discussions between TC/CS about electricity costs and cryptocurrency servers. Relevance – Evidence of a business venture between CS and TC.
642.	06/11/2020	Review of all Sanchez defence submissions. At my request DS Clarke has tabulated and sub-divided all of the defences put forward. We have now both commented next to each section. We have identified whether there is a requirement to follow as a reasonable line of enquiry that may assist the defence.
643.	06/11/2020	Email received from Charles Bonfante confirming that Mr Levy respectfully declines to be a prosecution witness. Also confirmed the return of his devices.
644.	07/11/2020	Based upon a full review of all defence statements I have reviewed a full list of additional questions that need to be pursued as reasonable lines of enquiry. They refer to questions for: 1) Aaron Chipol 2) The CM Fabian Picardo 3) HMGoG representative 4) James Gaggero 5) John Rodriguez 6) Peter Canessa 7) Jonathan Galliano 8) Philip Navas

645.	08/11/2020	List of 37 questions sent to JG following review of all defence submissions. To be included in additional witness statement.
646.	08/11/2020	Lists of questions sent to Bland employees in respect of reasonable lines of enquiry identified by the defence.
647.	08/11/2020	Email sent to the SIO. Lists of questions have been drafted in respect of: 1. Aaron Chipol; 2. John Rodriguez; 3. HMGoG (Darren Grech); 4. Chief Minister; 5. Peter Canesa. Email has been sent requesting advice on whether to approach the individuals. In particular, the HMGoG given that Mr Grech has now engaged with a lawyer.
648.	16/11/2020	Meeting at Bland following a request for clarification on the questions sent to various Bland employees. Mr J Gaggero explained to me his responses but only asked whether they were sufficient. Mr Navas wanted to understand what we were asking for in terms of documentation (invoices etc). Mr Galliano asked whether he could attend NMH for clarification on his questions given that it would take a considerable time.
649.	18/11/2020	Called Guy Stagnetto asking whether he would be willing to comment on the meetings that took place between John Perez and James Gaggero in which he was present. He stated that for personal reasons he did not wish to provide an additional statement.
650.	18/11/2020	Email to Sgt Clarke with an attached document titled "CM Questions". Asking Sgt Clarke if he can identify all of the meeting dates that took place between the CM and JG.
651.	18/11/2020	Instructions given to Insp Schembri to obtain a company profile for Rotunda Holdings on the basis that Caine Sanchez wrote an email 'on behalf of a friend' to try and sell to large supermarket chains. He was using his personal email account, and referred to his HMGoG position, but stated that it was in his personal capacity.

652.	20/11/2020	Review of response provided by Mr Costa (on behalf of the Chief Secretary). In particular references to HMGoG complaint, and suggestion that there should be a submission to the Council of Ministers. We disagree with this position. Matters such as conflicts of interest are not for us to determine.
653.	20/11/2020	Disclosure Management Document section 1 sent to DC 205 Saxby (with overview of defences put forward). He must add to Section 2 in relation to the devices (table format with sections that need populating).
654.	22/11/2020	2nd statement of Inspector Mark Schembri signed as complete. This statement relates to further checks done on multiple companies.
655.	23/11/2020	Request for witness statement drafted for the Chief Minister. Attached a copy of communication between the CM and JP/CS/JL (all relevant to the enquiry). Also attached a list of questions so that the CM could be guided to the important issues (based on defence submissions) in preparing his statement.
656.	24/11/2020	Disclosure Management Document reviewed for accuracy.
657.	24/11/2020	Email to COP Ullger and Supt Richardson with an attached draft of a letter to the CM requesting a witness statement. An attached timeline and a guidance document has also been provided in order to assist the CM in identifying the important issues.
658.	24/11/2020	Email to DC 205 Saxby, DC 211 Currer and Sgt Clarke with an attached document titled "Disclosure Management Document". DC Saxby is to read it and sign if happy with the contents. The document is to be served with the prosecution bundle today.
659.	25/11/2020	Email sent to the Chief Secretary, Mr Grech, requesting an additional statement to deal with matters raised by the defence in their submissions. The intention is to ensure compliance with statutory obligations to follow reasonable lines of enquiry including those that may undermine the prosecution or assist the defence. CS responded by stating that he would revert in due course.
660.	26/11/2020	In compliance with duties to pursue all reasonable lines of enquiry, I have today drafted a letter for the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority in which I identified them as holders of third party material relevant to the police investigation.

661.	26/11/2020	Letter drafted to the Chief Minister based upon reasonable lines of enquiry provided by the defence. Requested a witness statement based upon issues raised by the defence.
662.	26/11/2020	Instructions given to DC Currer to search for IP address [redacted] on all devices seized. At present the devices belonging to or connected with TC are the only ones that are seen to be accessing this IP address.
663.	27/11/2020	Email sent to Mr John Rodriguez (Collector of Customs) inviting him to provide police with an additional witness statement in light of representations made by the defence. This is in compliance with my duties to follow all reasonable lines of enquiry.
664.	27/11/2020	Emails sent to Joey Benrimoj and Marius Zalkauskas requesting witness statements in light of representations made by the defence. They have been specifically mentioned as potential witnesses in the defence statement of TC. Finch was copied in to the Benrimoj as a courtesy as he was representing during interview.
665.	27/11/2020	Email to Sgt Clarke and Supt Richardson requesting Sgt Clarke to chase up the Asda lead and an £8,000 deposit into Sanchez account that needs to be looked into.
666.	02/12/2020	The following exhibits were handed to me by DC 211 Currer: JC/LIDLEMAIL/1
667.	02/12/2020	Meeting with GRA at New Mole House. Discussion following request of third party disclosure in relation to the DPA investigation which is running parallel to the criminal investigation. The evidence may assist the defence if the GRA hold evidence that supports their version. For example, if they have found that Bland have breached the DPA. Joelle Hernandez and Maurice Hook (legal advisor) attended and met with myself and Mr Richardson. They had a number of questions about whether they needed to inform the defence, whether it would undermine their own duties. They felt as though a court order would be preferable to volunteering the information given that they had used their powers to obtain some information.
668.	03/12/2020	Meeting with PR/MW/DS/MZ to discuss disclosure issues. Concerns raised by MZ about the progress of disclosure process and timeline for completion. Only 4 months remain if we want to disclosure before or around May 2021. There has been a great deal of effort to update the OCPL old offices to include sufficient security (CCTV / locks / alarms / secure storage) as well as cabling that can support the network and computers capable of review. PCMH likely to be around March, and whilst the delays have been due to upgrading infrastructure, the courts will not accept this as a delay. Furthermore, as the work has progressed there has been a realisation of the size of the task. There are over 7 million items. Whilst Axiom can use keywords the XRY and Cellbrite are more limited meaning that only one keyword at a time. Every keyword item to be viewed in the interest of fairness to the defence. There are numerous system files that need to be excluded and duplication across devices is another issue. Redaction issues may have to be surmounted at a later time. Cabling means that admin staff cannot be moved in and although there are new computers IT needs to update them. Review of strategy to be conducted. Scale of the exercise is considered huge. Need to consider NCA to assist (in explaining how they conduct these exercises), extra staff, and whether staged disclosure is a possibility.

669.	07/12/2020	9th statement of DC 211 James Currer signed and handed to me. This statement provides tables where IP address [redacted] was searched for on all devices.
670.	17/12/2020	Worked on GRA application in support of prosecution. Provided overview of dates / requests made to GRA for material so that it could be used during the application process. It should be noted that it is anticipated that this application will more likely support the defence than the prosecution. However, it is considered a reasonable line of enquiry and therefore a duty to follow. It is important due to the fact that DPA issues were raised by the defence in a letter from Mr Fischel QC.
671.	05/01/2020	DC Hadlow explained that he had found Morocco related material that may be useful for the prosecution. Advised to retain and provide to me for review. Suggests civil unlawfulness by 36N in June 2018. I will review but I have tried to keep the case relevant to NSCIS rather than expanding beyond on the basis that it would be overwhelming for a jury to consider more information. However, all documents will be considered.
672.	07/01/2021	1st statement of Darren Lightbody signed as complete. This statement describes the current use of NSCIS.
673.	08/01/2021	1st statement of Christian Correa signed as complete. This statement describes the current use of NSCIS.
674.	11/01/2021	Discussed with prosecution the matter of the GRA disclosure evidence. Review of material considered to be relevant based upon the lists supplied by GRA lawyer. List of items identified.

		Also spoke about the possible need to obtain expert evidence to explain technical data. Whilst there has been a review by the NCA, they offer no opinions of the evidence as an expert. There are a number of issues that it would be useful to get the expert to explain including, the database reindexing, the geo-redundant server, whether weaknesses were introduced into the system etc.
675.	12/01/2021	Meeting with disclosure team. Discussed issues with XRY and Cellbrite and the duplication of files. Explained that some of the schedules were being reworked to ensure that there was sufficient detail in the relevant box. We also discussed that they should tag items that were being assessed as DIS 3 so that a digital report could be generated at the end of the process for the prosecutor and defence. This would allow them to review the material and navigate far more easily the information. DC Saxby brought to my attention the fact that he had discovered 158 accesses into a webpage called GoG Borders after Oct 2018. This was after TC told not to access Bland servers anymore. [redacted] – However this does not tell us which databases the information is being retrieved from. Spoke to JOG who stated that the best way to obtain this information was to retrieve the config files from the machine (LMW/Tower/1) and then to run a search to identify the connection strings. DC Oton was called and asked whether he could extract the relevant config files. Stated that he needed to image and that he would process the information. Consider whether expert can now review this.
676.	18/01/2021	Discussed with SIO that the CM and Chief Sec have not yet provided statements. PCMH is due on 20/02/21.
677.	18/01/2021	DC Currer update on progress of Bland additional Statements in response to defence submissions.
678.	18/01/2021	Discussed with prosecutor whether there might be a need to have expert testimony to explain some technical aspects of the evidence.
679.	18/01/2021	Spoke to Mr Gaggero on the phone. He confirmed that he had signed copies of his additional statement and had sent it via the post.

680.	18/01/2021	Request made to Jason Oton for him to verify the config files on the exhibit LMW/Tower/1. This was following a brief by DC Saxby that he had discovered references to access of GoG Borders after Oct 2018. Access was being made through localhost51018. The config files would help identify the database being accessed.
681.	19/01/2021	SIO sent an email to CoP. The CoP then emailed the CM asking for an update on whether his statement had been prepared and that the PCMH is tomorrow.
682.	19/01/2021	DC Oton returned results of config files. Showed myself and DC Currer how to search for relevant information. Instructed DC Currer to investigate whether he could ascertain link between the use of the GoG Borders page and database.
683.	19/01/2021	Review of additional material obtained (statements and exhibits).
684.	25/01/2021	GRA letter has returned. They are seeking clarification of what items we require.
685.	26/01/2021	Email to Danny Bourne (NCA) asking if he can assist with identifying a computer forensic expert.
686.	27/01/2021	Email to Supt Richardson with attached Application for Dismissal document submitted by Andrew Cardona on behalf of Caine Sanchez.
687.	08/02/2021	Confirmation from DC Currer that he was undertaking the ASDA enquiries in relation to CS.
688.	08/02/2021	The following exhibits were handed to CI Wyan from DC 211 Currer: JC/SCREENSHOT/1
689.	09/02/2021	Initial telephone conversation with Dr Paul Hunton about whether he would be able to assist with Operation Delhi. Discussion of qualifications, previous work, and hourly rate.
690.	23/02/2021	Discussion with CC Zammit regarding the need to obtain notes from ex-CoP McGrail in respect of Mr Levy. This is now a live issue raised by the defence so we must ensure that all relevant disclosable material is made available to them. He is currently a third party in possession of material.
691.	24/02/2021	Phone call with Danny Bourne of the NCA. He stated that despite the corroborative evidence, they would not be able to process the request under RIPA. The request for the owner of the IP address could not be regarded as necessary and proportionate in his view given the possibility for collateral intrusion. This was primarily because the UK will only keep records for 12 months, and will not record the criminality period. I argued that we were looking only for ownership of the address (a statistic IP address), even over a period of 1 day. However, the NCA felt that the request could not be justified given the time since the alleged offence took place.

692.	24/02/2021	Confirmation from the Chief Secretary that he would provide a statement. Apologises for tardiness. Clarification still required from his in relation to questions submitted (as a result of defence representations).
693.	24/02/2021	Further request made to Collector of Customs to clarify the questions put to him. Again these are raised by the defence.
694.	25/02/2021	The following exhibits were handed to me by DC 211 Currer: JC/TEXT/JPJL/1 JC/ICLOUDNOTES/1
695.	26/02/2021	The following exhibits were handed to me by DC 211 Currer: JC/EMAIL/JPTC/1
696.	02/03/2021	The following exhibits were handed to me by DC 211 Currer: JC/TERMINATIONLETTER/1
697.	02/03/2021	17th statement of JOG signed as complete. This statement relates to further questions that were raised in response to defence submissions.
698.	03/03/2021	10th statement of DC 211 James Currer signed as complete. This statement details dates of exhibits being extracted.
699.	03/03/2021	2nd statement of Joseph Molinari signed as complete. This statement relates to use of the NSCIS platform in his capacity as head of BCA.
700.	04/03/21	Table of unused exhibits updated. The table is based upon assessment of the statements and whether some documents that are tendered in these statements should remain in the prosecution material. The items identified I have decided are not to be disclosed as part of the prosecution case but may be disclosed by the prosecutor under the disclosure process.
701.	08/03/2021	Instructed DC Currer to: • Obtain a statement from Human Resource Manager with regards to the Caine Sanchez Interdiction • Identify all exhibits which are screenshots • Identify all exhibits which are database tables or data extracted from databases

		• Print copies of all exhibits that TC required • Confirm whether any source code has been tendered in evidence or whether this has been itemised in Exhibit MW/UNUSED • Contact expert witness to see if he has received CI Wyan's email and if he is able to assist • Follow lines of enquiry from Darren Grech statement including ITLD and procurement • Return all documents from Document bundle in office to owners • Obtain a statement from Darren Grech • Create package on Eddie Bradley • Force Intel Request on Nicholas Taube • Create a report on Michael Crome
702.	08/03/2021	Call to ex CoP McGrail to request disclosable material gathered during the course of the investigation.
703.	08/03/2021	Documents provided by Cornelio that they stated were of poor quality. To be copied again for defence.
704.	08/03/2021	Expert letter of instruction sent to Dr Paul Hunton to deal with expert evidence related to: 1. IP address [redacted]; 2. Database re-indexing and the geo-redundant server; 3. Replication of the indexing experiment; 4. Team Foundation Server account; 5. [redacted]; 6. Configuration files on JO/.configfiles/1); 7. Source code comparison (if possible given time constraints).
705.	11/03/2021	Additional two items (JOG/42 and PAC/Laptop/1/Doc/7) provided by Cornelio for the purpose of copying again.
706.	11/03/2021	Ex-CoP contacted again to ascertain whether there were any relevant documents for disclosure. He advised that there may be relevant emails although most would have been copied to the SIO. He would revert with more information if he found any documents.
707.	15/03/2021	All exhibits which are screenshots have been identified by DC Currer and highlighted in a table.
708.	15/03/2021	Expert witness contacted by DC Currer. Confirmed that he can assist the investigation.

709.	23/03/2021	All copied exhibits handed to TC by DC Currer.
710.	23/03/2021	Confirmation by Detective Chief Superintendent Adrian Green (Durham Constabulary) that Dr Hunton has worked for them on a number of cases in relation to forensic information technology and evidential analysis over 10 years. He has provided expert testimony in court.
711.	23/03/2021	Summary of Evidence and 1st witness statement of Jonathan Galliano sent to Dr Hunton.
712.	24/03/2021	1st statement of Collin Yeo signed as complete. This statement relates to the interdiction of Caine Sanchez and Collin Yeo's capacity of Human Resource Manager to interdict person's within Government along with the process of interdicting an officer.
713.	24/03/2021	Meeting with the DPP / MZ and PR at OCPL. Update from disclosure team is that they are on target to meet the deadline. The material from the GRA is yet to be reviewed. A secondary disclosure team may need to be in place to deal with any defence statement following initial disclosure. Discussion that a refined keyword list had not been provided by the defence. The DPP asked that I provide him with details of the dates of previous requests. Disclosure of documents in respect of the involvement of the AG in the JL investigation discussed. According to the DPP the AG did not believe that he had interfered. PR explained the sequence of events. DPP explained that according to the AG, he had become involved due to the potential JR of the warrants. Matter of Liesel Torres briefly discussed (and the reference to 36 North in Parliament). DC Currer was collating all the information with a view to Crime officers investigating. CM had set up a meeting on the 7th April 2021. Concerns that the statement had been requested some time ago and had still not been received. DPP discussed whether he may need to be summonsed. However, consideration needed to be had of his involvement in Covid / Brexit. He had stated that he wanted to provide a statement to police. Expert evidence had been requested but no timetable as yet. MZ stated that we would need to provide this evidence by late May 2021.
714.	29/03/2021	Additional statements of Jonathan Galliano and Roisin Cullen sent to Dr Hunton. (encrypted).

715.	30/03/2021	Email sent to DPP setting out the number of occasions where defence have been asked to supply keyword search terms. Defence council (Fischel QC and Cooper QC have not responded to emails, nor to the Disclosure Management Document). This means that the disclosure process will be delayed if they now provide additional search terms.
716.	30/03/2021	Provided with list of text messages (1285) (between May 2018 and May 2019) over 198 pages. This was following concerns raised by the disclosure team that Michael Crome may have committed a criminal offence, namely misconduct in public office. The texts indicate that in respect of JP, MC: • Provides JP with dates on which JG and FP were meeting; and • Is asked by JP to assist with an Evisas proposal on a number of occasions (although there is no evidence that MC does assist in any way. The only comment he makes is when he refers to the price offering for the project as "a good price.") • On the 20th August 2018 MC states that he has spoken to FP about JP and wants to brief him. There is no further information as to what is said, in what context or in what capacity. I do not consider that there are reasonable grounds to suspect that an offence has been committed by Michael Crome on the basis of the communication provided. However, I requested all other communication between Crome and Perez so that I could satisfy myself that no offence had been disclosed.
717.	31/03/2021	The above analysis together with relevant excerpts sent to the prosecution in the event that they had a differing view. Further review of additional communication provided by DC Currer. Only one email of relevance. The email indicates that on the 10th July 2018 Crome forwarded Perez an email he sent to the CM. In this email he was attempting to persuade the CM to go with "John" on the Evisas project rather than a UK supplier. Importantly, this email predates any communication we have where Perez is asking Crome to assist him. Moreover, it is not clear on what basis Crome is arguing the benefits in favour of "John" (with the last of the email deleted).

		I therefore remain satisfied, that on the basis of the evidence I have inspected, there are no reasonable grounds to suspect that an offence has been committed by Michael Crome.
718.	31/03/2021	Confirmation from DCI Chipolina that Dr Hunton has UK National Security clearance at level SC until 17/01/2022. He also holds police vetting clearance NPPV3.
719.	31/03/2021	2nd statement of Jonathan Gonzalez signed as complete. This statement relates to HMGoG policies on ownership of software and data storage.
720.	01/04/2021	Statement of Darren Grech has been completed and handed to DC Currer who has added it to additional evidence bundle
721.	07/04/2021	Further questions have arisen from Darren Grech's statement. Further questions have been sent to him for clarification.
722.	07/04/2021	Meeting with Chief Minister. Also present was AC Yeats, and Mr Canessa (PA). CM wished to discuss the questions posed in the email sent to him on the basis that he was extremely busy and required assistance in order to draft. He initially gave a background to the period under investigation before providing his response to the questions posed. • He essentially answered that he was not aware of, nor gave authority for TC to access the system after he terminated his consultancy period with Bland. • That HMGoG had partnered with Bland to sell the platform abroad • Maintained that HMGoG was the owner of the platform • Q1 - Understood that there were negotiations between Bland and 36N to take over the running of the platform but that this was a matter for them. HMGoG did not get involved, particularly since there was a dispute over ownership. • Q2 – No. The only other persons were the DCM (responsible for counting) and the FS (responsible for payments). He had no further knowledge. • Q3 – Read out whole extract of information to put into context what was said (to be obtained as an exhibit) • Q4 – TC had attempted to meet on a number of occasions. Very competent and hard working.

		• Q5 – No authority given to access after the end of the agreement with Bland. He was in the middle of the Withdrawal agreement and had no time to think. It was a very busy time. • Q6 – No knowledge of extracting information. Only found out about this in around Oct. Concerned about the suggestion that data was being mirrored outside the jurisdication. • Q7 – Never heard of the reference to Phoenix until now. • Q8 – Number of meetings. Can confirm the 3/9 as the Whatsapp messages should assist. On the 21/7 there was a telephone call for which he made notes on his iPad. • Instructions given following indications that the system may have been sabotaged. Too sensitive to take risk. Info given by JG. • That CS had disclosed information from a meeting in which he was asked not to divulge information. • Did not consider that HMGoG was a complainant for this matter on the basis that it was not authorised by the Council of Ministers. Would need to view the evidence of misconduct before a decision could be made in this regard. The CS was not the Government. • Agreed that there was a contract in place between HMGoG and Bland. This is reflected in payments to Bland (with adjustments). Not reduced into writing.
723.	08/04/2021	Further discussions with the disclosure team to ensure that information found in respect of L Torres was sent on to the investigating team. PC Hadlow to prepare a further report with associated evidence so that package could be passed on. This remains an offshoot of this investigation and therefore not under my supervision.
724.	09/04/2021	Full review of all documents supplied by the GRA and an assessment of whether any items should form part of the prosecution case. I have decided that none will be used as prosecution exhibits but should be itemised in disclosure for review by the prosecutor.
725.	13/04/2021	1st statement of Jordan Borg signed as complete. This statement relates to the matter of procurement and tendering the NSCIS platform.

726.	14/04/2021	Statement of Jordan Borg has been completed and handed to DC Currer who has added it to additional evidence bundle
727.	14/04/2021	Instructed DC Currer to do a company search on companies linked to Caine Sanchez, specifically Bordercheck and Energib
728.	14/04/2021	Package on Eddie Bradley complete. Confirmed that Bordercheck is not a company registered in Gibraltar
729.	14/04/2021	MS Teams meeting with Expert Paul Hunton. Discussion of questions posed to him and where he may be able to find the evidence. Explanation of witness statements provided in the context of the investigation. Advised that he may wish to discuss more technical aspects with Jonathan Galliano.
730.	16/04/2021	Confirmed by DC Currer that no source code has been tendered in evidence
731.	21/04/2021	Danny Golding of Tax Office confirmed that he is unable to ascertain if the employment dates were backdated, however, has provided us with employment history. Further DPA Form for ETB has been drafted
732.	21/04/2021	Response received from GFIU regarding Nicholas Taube. Negative results and no further action to be taken.
733.	26/04/2021	Draft statement sent to the CM based upon what he stated during our meeting of the 7th April 2021. Stated that he could add alter or correct as he saw fit.
734.	27/04/2021	MS Teams meeting with Dr Hunton following his discussions with Jonathan Galliano and the questions posed. He has advised that further assessment of the technical data is required. Estimated costs provided.
735.	27/04/2021	Advised that disclosure schedules have been submitted to MZ for final review.
736.	27/04/2021	Authorised to proceed with initial detailed assessment by Dr Hunton.
737.	28/04/2021	Contacted JOG in order to ascertain whether there is any other additional data that the expert will require in order to conduct his analysis.
738.	30/04/2021	Encrypted hard drives sent to Dr Hunton for analysis.
739.	04/05/2021	Confirmation by Dr Hunton that he has received the hard drives.
740.	05/05/2021	Dr Hunton confirmed that he is starting to load and process the data using their forensic software tools. This can take time depending on the volume and fragmentation of the data.

69.	17/07/2019	Meeting held with Albert Mena. Request for statement made regarding NSCIS payments. He provided an account of his involvement in this case in particular regarding why payments were withheld, and the correspondence with Sanchez, culminating in his sending the email to CS asking why he had produced the NSCIS report. Relevance – Line of enquiry for Sanchez.

Exhibit MW5

164.	25/09/2019	Meeting with Darren Grech, Chief Secretary of HMGOG with DCI Finlayson and DS Clarke. Meeting with CS: 1. Overview of work done by Sanchez. 2. Who he reported to for NSCIS 3. Did not report to Mr Grech. 4. He had complete autonomy. 5. Policy is the remit of the CM. The CS remit is administration. Relevance – Line of enquiry related to Sanchez.

Exhibit MW6

423.	30/04/2020	Meeting at No 6 with Mr Grech. Lloyd Divencenzi, CoP, PR and MW. Discussion with Chief Sec regarding ownership of the NSCIS platform. Contract sent to him by Robert Fischel as they did not have the document before. Reiterates that HMGoG are asserting ownership. They cannot provide any written evidence of ownership. CoP requests a formal complaint in the form of a witness statement if they wish to be complainants. Chief Sec will begin internal disciplinary proceedings regarding CS if there is a police prosecution. CoP informs the Chief Sec that CS has been involved in corrupt practices. For his consideration of whether CS should be allowed to continue working or be interdicted.

435.	15/05/2020	Meeting with the AG and DPP (with CoP and Supt Richardson) to discuss the interview of JL. Asked whether he could be treated as a witness rather than a suspect. This was not possible. He could voluntarily provide an account to us before any interview and we would consider it. But there may still be a need to put further questions to him at a later date. Would only be a witness if his benefit as a witness outweighed the IOJ to prosecute. At this stage he remained a suspect. File Note made.

Notes of Meeting

Date: 15/05/20

At: Government Law Offices

Time: 1700 - 1830

In attendance: Commissioner of Police

Attorney General Michael Llamas QC

DPP Christopher Rocca

Supt Paul Richardson

Inspector Mark Wyan

- AG asked whether our position in respect of Mr Levy had changed since the last meeting. The CoP stated that it had not.
- AG asked whether we could achieve the same goal without the need to treat JL as a suspect.
- Asked whether we could interview but not under caution.
- If he is treated as a witness, it may undermine the case. The other suspects would question why this was the case.
- There is a fear that he may not turn up on Monday. Consider what the next steps would need to be.
- Considered the possibility of not interviewing at the police station but at his office. This may be possible in law but not certain under CPEA.
- AG did not think this would be satisfactory for JL who did not want under caution.
- Considered what was happening with the devices. CoP stated that they were sealed and kept in his safe. Not to be actioned at this stage.
- AG argued a distinction between Sanchez / Cornelio and the level of culpability of JL. Could he therefore be treated differently?
- DPP disagreed with the decision to use a warrant. But stated that this was an operational matter. He did say that he believed we would be successful in JR. He would defend us.
- AG agreed that:
    - AG (or someone) would call L Baglietto and ask him to consider submitting a full account
    - RGP would assess the evidence provided and possibly ask for clarity
    - RGP would reach a conclusion about whether the benefits of treating JL as a witness outweigh the need to prosecute (in light of the assistance to the prosecution case and not on his standing / problems associated with legal action)
    - Phones to be retained until a decision was made (with the possibility to analyse if he is a suspect or return if he is a witness).
    - Warrant to be retained in the event that it is needed later on
    - Interview to be suspended for the time being but could proceed if he was to remain a suspect.

444.	20/05/2020	1200 Meeting with AG regarding letter from Hassans (DPP/AG/MW/PR/CoP). Discussed response in respect of JL and our position on him voluntarily disclosing information to the RGP. DPP will draft a response. We still consider him to be a suspect at this stage. Full File note made.

Meeting at OCPL

1200 hours - 20th May 2020

Present: AG Llamas / DPP Rocca / CoP / Supt Richardson / DI Wyan

RE: Letter from Hassans dated 20th May 2020 – Schedule 1 Search warrants dated 7 May 2020

AG – Letter required a succinct reply. That a procedure of co-operation had been started and the process should conclude. If we begin to rebut then everything could be undermined.

DPP – Concerned that if the reply was not robust enough then there could be repercussions in the context of the whole case later on.

DPP – We need a tempered rebuttal but one that makes clear our position.

CoP – Hassans are now asking for confirmation that JL is a witness. Agreed to review an unsolicited account but not that this was a witness statement.

AG – Confirmed that he had only indicated to Hassans that they would review a written response if it was provide.

AG – Concerned that a procedure had been put in place but that this type of letter was not helping. Not sure why they were doing it at this stage.

DPP – Believed that they may be getting ready for an abuse of process argument.

DPP – Need to respond to the assertion that prejudice to the investigation is not a ground to reject the application for disclosure of the warrant details.

DPP – We can give them a redacted version of the warrant application. To discuss with Supt Richardson.

DPP – 21 days is too long for notice.

MW – Concerned that the warrant will expire by 7/6/20. Little time to execute in the event that JL does not provide a sufficient account.

PR – Status of JL is still a suspect.

PR – Problem with asking questions after an account is that we would be conducting an interview.

PR – If JL provides an account this can be used against him.

DPP – We are keeping an open mind until he has provided his account.

AG – Advice to Hassans was that he provides RGP with his account. Let's go down that route. Other procedure is on hold until it is assessed.

CoP – His account will have to be substantive enough for him to be treated as a witness and to avoid interview under caution.

DPP – He will draft a response for CoP. He will address the issues and rebut.

AG – Conclusion should be that we are keeping an open mind.

142.	04/09/2019	Meeting with CI Finlayson and DPP regarding legal matters including: • Asquez statement • Webber status • Security related information • Official Secrets Act • Conspiracy to Defraud Itinerary created for the meeting.

Exhibit MW10

254.	17/01/2020	Meeting with DPP regarding formulation of charges, summary and jury. Concerns were raised by DPP regarding expert witnesses required.

Exhibit MW11

352.	03/03/2020	Meeting with the DPP regarding JL. Advice requested on whether his involvement amounts to a criminal offence. Full report drafted by Supt Richardson. Relevance – Consideration of whether JL has committed a criminal offence.

Exhibit MW12

408.	08/04/2020	Video conference with the DPP. Advice sought on the basis of the report submitted by Supt Richardson on 1/4/20. He agreed that there was a realistic prospect of conviction for the proposed conspiracy to defraud. He also stated that there was evidence of misconduct for Sanchez although this would need to be discussed further. He stated that Chipol could be treated as a witness owing to the fact that he was not a beneficiary, and that he had ceased to assist 36 North. He agreed that Mr Levy should be treated as a suspect as there were questions which needed to be answered. He should be interviewed. File Note made.

File Note – Wednesday 8th April 2020 – 1550 hours

- Conference call with the DPP
- Myself and Supt Richardson in attendance for call at NMH
- DPP had consulted with CC Zammitt regarding the evidence. He stated that he was comfortable to proceed on the basis of what was provided.
- No grounds for him to stop any prosecution at this stage
- He had always been comfortable with the computer misuse charges
- There was evidence of a conspiracy to defraud. Agreed with the suggestion that there was a unlawfulness argument in respect of the breaches of contract (civil wrongs).
- There were still the issues of ownership which needed resolving and this would impact upon the case.
- The charges may need to be put together to reduce the numbers.
- The decision of why Chipol was arrested was discussed. DPP agreed that it may be preferable to treat him as a prosecution witness.
- Mr Levy was considered. DPP stated that there were still questions that he needed to answer. Interview under caution was appropriate.

Exhibit MW13

440.	18/05/2020	Meeting with DPP / CG / PR / MW – Discussion of redaction of search warrant application. Threshold is very serious prejudice to an important public interest. Concerns of serious prejudice to our interviews if the search warrant application is provided prior to interviews. Warrant has been lawfully obtained but due to expire. Redactions discussed and advised by DPP.

Exhibit MW14

454.	29/05/2020	1100 Meeting with DPP regarding redactions of Schedule 1 information. Present: MW/CG/PR/CR DPP set out the threshold for claiming PII. Very serious prejudice to the investigation. DPP confirmed that he believed the warrant had been lawfully obtained. He would protect if challenged. His view was to wait for the account before we interview. But this was operational matter. This could be defended in court. Discussions about whether Lewis Baglietto could inspect the computer misuse sections on a counsel to counsel basis. But no copy to be given so that it could not be read by anyone else. Agreed that this could be done. Computer misuse sections to remain redacted on the basis of prejudice if other co-conspirators were to access the information. Further minor paragraphs to be revealed to defence. Section 48 and 319(e) only. Other paragraphs to remain redacted. Would be objected to by DPP in any hearing before the Magistrate. Further revelations to be disclosed the same day to the defence. May require a witness statement claiming PII by myself. Discussions on whether there were legal implications to executing the search warrant. Particularly in light of the fact that the warrant was due to expire without the account of Levy being provided. However, given that Levy was on notice of our possible intention, a search warrant may no longer be necessary. (DPP acknowledged that the warrant was legally obtained however).

Exhibit MW15

538.	28/08/2020	Meeting at OCPL with DPP and Mark Zammit. Supt Richardson also present. Discussion of Op Delhi following report submitted on the 13th August together with USB (containing wit statements / exhibits / defence submissions / draft charges etc). 10 files were also submitted in paper based format. We discussed at length the investigation and went through each of the suspects as follows: Cornelio – Advised that there was a realistic prospect of conviction. Provided that the technical evidence in support was correct, the computer misuse offences could be charged. The view of the DPP was that there were certain dates on which the offences were stronger, and that we should charge within those periods. He did not view the issue of ownership as any bar to the prosecution, providing that the dates were within the ranges during which Cornelio could not have had authority. In the context of the conspiracy, the evidence of a conspiracy was clear given the exchange between Cornelio and the other suspects. The basis of the conspiracy was the computer misuse offences as well as the breaches of contract by Cornelio et al, given that he had a duty to his employer by virtue of his position in Bland. Sanchez – There is evidence which affords a realistic prospect of conviction for misconduct in public office and conspiracy to defraud. The MOU ties him in to 36N early in 2018. There are also messages that he wanted to assist in removing Wavetecx from Bland. The messages show that he was not impartial and that he was actively assisting 36N. In particular he was texting TC. He was also involved in the April report in which it is clear that he was acting contrary to instructions when he attempted to hide the fact that TC was reviewing the system. The DPP asked us to consider a charge under section 367 for April. Perez – There is a realistic prospect of conviction for conspiracy to defraud. He is involved in the planning / preparation to set up 36N and is aware of the pressure being placed on HMGoG. Furthermore he is aware of the deletion of the Wavetecx account and refers to TC as a "wizard". He also breaches contractual duties to Bland. There was also a message which TC sent to JP in which he was worried that JG would send them both to jail.

		Asquez – There is insufficient evidence to provide a realistic prospect of conviction given that he is only involved in the initial stages of setting up 36N. He is not a beneficiary of the company. Levy – There is insufficient evidence to provide a realistic prospect of conviction. He had no contractual duty to Bland and there is little evidence to support the fact that he had knowledge of the computer misuse offences. Chipol – The DPP felt that it was difficult to make a clear determination and that it could be argued either way. He referred to the fact that he sent on the email from TC as well as disclosed in December issues relating to the platform when he knew that TC should not have been involved. In the context of national security and the fact that he is the head of the BCA this could be misconduct. It was felt that he would add little as a credible witness if he were to give evidence for the prosecution.

Exhibit MW16

545.	04/09/2020	Meeting with the DPP. Mark Zammit and Paul Clarke also present. Discussed how to draft charges for the case. Went through the computer misuse charges that had been proposed. He advised on which charges should remain and which should be excluded. The DPP wanted to keep the computer misuse charges to a manageable level. It was agreed that we would have the proposed charges, but that they would include connection strings, Boolean variables and Time/Date variables from both servers and both programs. Also to include database re indexing, and the unauthorised access at times when there could be little dispute. The conspiracy charge was given an initial draft based upon a discussion around dates, and the ingredients of the conspiracy. Essentially the ingredients included the computer misuse, the pressure on government, and the breaches of contract. Meeting set for the 9th September 2020 to finalise the charges.

Exhibit MW17

559.	11/09/2020	Meeting with the DPP to discuss charges. Confirmed that we could charge with the 12 proposed computer misuse offences (and which related to the Port server) with the addition of the email account charge. All other parties to continue with the agreed charges. In respect of Chipol the DPP was unable to offer any other advice beyond that already given. It was therefore a matter for the RGP to determine.

Exhibit MW18

583.	25/09/2020	Meeting with the DPP regarding disclosure exercise. He was shown the AXIOM program and how the items were displayed. The size of the disclosure exercise was explained and concerns as to how long this was likely to take. He referred to the fact that he had offered paralegal to assist in the process. Agreed that we would use the program to identify hits that could be relevant material. This would then be disclosed to the prosecutor as a report. The report could then be further reduced down to material that was to be disclosed to the defence. This would avoid any issues of having to provide copies in paper format, which may take a considerable period.

Exhibit MW19

713.	24/03/2021	Meeting with the DPP / MZ and PR at OCPL. Update from disclosure team is that they are on target to meet the deadline. The material from the GRA is yet to be reviewed. A secondary disclosure team may need to be in place to deal with any defence statement following initial disclosure. Discussion that a refined keyword list had not been provided by the defence. The DPP asked that I provide him with details of the dates of previous requests. Disclosure of documents in respect of the involvement of the AG in the JL investigation discussed. According to the DPP the AG did not believe that he had interfered. PR explained the sequence of events. DPP explained that according to the AG, he had become involved due to the potential JR of the warrants. Matter of Liesel Torres briefly discussed (and the reference to 36 North in Parliament). DC Currer was collating all the information with a view to Crime officers investigating. CM had set up a meeting on the 7th April 2021. Concerns that the statement had been requested some time ago and had still not been received. DPP discussed whether he may need to be summonsed. However, consideration needed to be had of his involvement in Covid / Brexit. He had stated that he wanted to provide a statement to police. Expert evidence had been requested but no timetable as yet. MZ stated that we would need to provide this evidence by late May 2021.

THE NSCIS PLATFORM

20. The National Security Central Intelligence System ("the NSCIS platform") is a modular, centralised IT software system developed and utilised for the collection, monitoring, background checking, and flagging of people and vehicle movements in and out of Gibraltar, via land, sea and air.

21. Thomas Cornelio, during the course of his employment with Bland, developed this system. The NSCIS Platform was first launched in December 2014 under the Frontier Management Project (FMP) and was subsequently developed over a number of years.

22. The NSCIS platform collects sensitive personal information from members of the public upon entry to and exit from Gibraltar. It is a key tool for law enforcement agencies in the protection of the National Security of Gibraltar.

23. Bland Limited state they own the NSCIS platform, the source code, object code and all database structures which form the platform. However this is contested by HMGoG.

24. The NSCIS platform is provided to HMGoG on the basis of an ongoing software license, for which HMGoG pay Bland a license fee. In addition, Bland provides continuing support and maintenance for the platform.

THIRD PARTY ACCOUNTS

THE NSCIS PLATFORM AND WAVETECX

26. The contract for the NSCIS platform commenced under the Bland security company Operational Support Group ("OSG"). Bland later set up a separate company to develop, brand, market and commercially exploit the NSCIS platform abroad ("Wavetecx").

27. Wavetecx was set up around January 2017 and headed by Perez as CEO. He was assisted by Cornelio.

28. Cornelio managed Wavetecx on a day-to-day basis in his capacity as the Head of Software Development. Two Software Developers worked for Wavetecx – Joseph (Joey) Benrimoj and Marius Zalkaukas.

36 NORTH LIMITED

29. 36 North Limited is a private company limited by shares, with a registered office at 57/63 Line Wall Road, Gibraltar.

30. 36 North was incorporated on the 23rd April 2018. Whilst still employees of Bland, Perez and Cornelio were appointed directors of the company.

31. On the 22nd June 2018, Perez, ICode (beneficially owned by Cornelio) and Astelon Limited (beneficially owned by Hassans) each acquired a 33% shareholding in 36 North. Levy, having a 32% shareholding in Hassans, was therefore a 10% beneficial owner of 36 North [with the other partners each having a smaller share according to their respective interests in Hassans]. Perez and Cornelio were still employees of Bland.

32. There continued to be changes to the company formation during the proceeding months. However, the ultimate beneficial owners of 36 North remained as Perez, Cornelio and Hassans Law Firm [with Levy owning 10% beneficial share in the company owing to his 32% share in Hassans].

ALLEGATION

33. In October 2018, James GAGGERO engaged the assistance of Pricewaterhouse Cooper (PwC) and Red Maple (formerly Infosec Consulting) to regain control of the NSCIS Platform. Following the departure of Tommy Cornelio and John Perez, the platform malfunctioned. Gaggero reported this to the Commissioner of Police as he believed Tommy Cornelio and John Perez were responsible for this.

SEARCH WARRANTS AND ARRESTS

34. On 10th May 2019, the RGP executed search warrants at the home addresses of Cornelio, Perez, Asquez, and the offices of 36 North. A large number of electronic and documentary exhibits were seized.

35. Cornelio, Perez and Asquez were arrested during these search warrants.

36. On 14th May 2019, the RGP executed search warrants at the home address and office of Sanchez. A number of electronic and documentary exhibits were seized.

37. Sanchez was arrested the same day at Gibraltar Airport as he had been in London.

38. On 24th July 2019, the RGP executed search warrants at the home address and office of Aaron Chipol. A number of electronic and documentary exhibits were seized.

39. Chipol was not arrested at this time however he voluntary attended New Mole House Police Station.

40. Haim Levy has not yet been subject to Police Intervention.

BACKGROUND

41. Haim Levy is extremely influential in Gibraltar with very close connections to the Chief Minister and other HMGoG ministers. He is a senior partner of Hassans and has significant financial capabilities available to him.

CONSPIRACY TO DISHONESTLY OBTAIN THE NSCIS PLATFORM MAINTENANCE AGREEMENT

42. During the course of their employment with Bland, Perez and Cornelio, together with Levy, conspired to defraud Bland by dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for their own benefit, via their company 36 North Limited.

43. They were assisted in attempting to obtain the NSCIS platform contract by Sanchez and to a lesser degree, Chipol both of whom are Senior Government officials.

44. The evidence in support of this offence can be divided into the following:

    a. Planning / Preparation to Obtain the NSCIS Platform (agreement / dishonesty);
    b. Appropriation of business commenced by Bland (dishonesty);
    c. Pressure and Government Officials / Undermining Bland (dishonesty);
    d. Computer Misuse Offences / Knowledge of Computer Misuse Offences (dishonesty); and
    e. NSCIS Report for Caine Sanchez (dishonesty).

Planning / Preparation to Obtain the NSCIS Platform Maintenance Contract

45. Prior to 36 North being created and during the inception, Sanchez and Levy discussed a joint venture. In January 2018, Sanchez wrote from his personal email account "YITU – (a) security company on AI. Europe director to propose to move services from London to Gibraltar (b) interested in a joint venture with Wavetech (John Perez) (c) YITU to negotiate deal with them and deal to remove company from Blands."

46. In a text message between Sanchez and Levy, dated the 24th July 2018, Sanchez wrote "James I received a call from James Gaggero last night reference the security programme. I have discussed it with John and emailed the CM. It may be wise for us to meet and maybe include David Weber to go over some aspects of the conversation."

47. In a further text, dated the 14th August 2018, he stated, "James just got John Perez company their Insurance broker. Everything is going well with this. Just drafted letter to send to James Gaggero and waiting for CM to approve. I have also urged them to sign the international agreement and they are moving forward with this." Sanchez was advising 36 North in a business capacity. He was not independent of 36 North and unable to make an impartial decision regarding the NSCIS security platform.

48. During the course of 2018 Cornelio, Perez and Levy planned to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract. This contract was the property of Bland and worth over £60,000 a month.

49. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, dated the 24th February 2018, (and whilst still employees of Bland) Perez attached a "Letter of Intent". This letter purported that 36 North already had an existing contract with HMGoG for the NSICIS platform. This proposal evidenced the intent of the suspects to obtain the contract for the benefit of their company, 36 North.

50. Between 23rd April 2018 and 22nd June 2018, the company 36 North Limited was incorporated, with Cornelio, Perez and Hassans each being 33% beneficial owners. It is believed the company was incorporated with the intent that it would obtain the benefit of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

51. In an email exchange dated the 20th June 2018, and whilst still employed by Bland, Perez sent an email to Cornelio called, "36 North Cash Flow". The document showed a forecasted revenue in favour of 36 North which included the NSCIS platform (Global invoice) for £62,519 per month.

52. This evidence is consistent with an agreement between the suspects to appropriate the NSICS platform maintenance contract, the property of Bland.

53. In addition to preparing to take the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, Cornelio and Perez dishonestly planned to hinder the ability of Bland to carry out their contractual obligations.

54. As part of this preparation, the suspects engineered a situation whereby they, together with a number of software engineers, would resign from the company at the same time.

55. Without prior notification, on the 10th July 2018, Perez and Cornelio handed in their resignations from Bland. In accordance with their respective contracts, the resignation of Perez was to take effect on the 9th September 2018 and the resignation of Cornelio was to take effect from the 10th August 2018.

56. On the 19th July 2018 both software engineers sent a text to Cornelio in which they presented draft resignations. On the same date Cornelio wrote to the engineers, "Marius ok give me a while to review and don't send email out until I confirm with John now ok."

57. On the 20th July 2018, Cornelio wrote on the same chat, "Remember to stick to the story when chairman calls Joey. He has already written to John and he is denying having known."

58. On the 20th July 2018, the software developers resigned from their employment with Bland to join 36 North. The resulting loss of staff undermined the ability of Bland to fulfil their NSCIS contractual obligations following the departure of Perez and Cornelio from the company.

59. On the 2nd August 2018 Cornelio wrote to one of the developers regarding Gaggero attempting to retain Bland projects saying, "In order to keep things smooth we all need to leave asap, leaving him no option." He wrote on the same date, "You will need to make it clear that after the 20th you are finished with Blands. That will ensure that they can't buy time."

60. These actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland, by diminishing their IT capabilities [and thereby their ability to maintain the platform] and appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

61. On the 10th June 2018 Perez wrote to Levy, "Preparing for our departure on 29th June. Everything else is now almost in place. John."

62. On the 30th August, and immediately prior to Cornelio terminating his consultancy, Levy wrote to Perez, "John I just rang you to tell you everything is under control. I've been working with Tommy on the relevant letters. I am very confident that we will bring this to a close in a successful manner very shortly. You can rest assured I will do my best to help you in every way. I have great Respect and admiration for your ability and hard work. Do not worry if there is an attack I will help you to defend and to counter-attack. You're a military man so I'm writing to you in military terms."

Appropriation of Business Commenced by Bland

63. During the course of their employment with Bland Cornelio and Perez were involved in a number of projects. These included:

    a. A proposal for the Carnival Corporation for a "Centralised Vessel Security Management System"; and
    b. A "Ministry of Defence and Public Security Border Management Proposal" for Sao Tome and Principe.

64. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, dated the 24th February 2018, (and whilst still employees of Bland) Perez attached a "Letter of Intent". This letter purported that 36 North already had existing international contracts including Carnival Cruises and Sao Tome and Principe. These were in fact contracts that were being negotiated on behalf of Bland.

65. In respect of Sao Tome, the proposal stated, "Contract about to be signed for 7 years. Contract worth 1.6m euros with a forecast 20% increase by year 3. Contract starts in Feb 18." Under the heading "Carnival Cruise Lines" is stated, "Currently negotiating an APIS maritime system with Carnival who dominates 70% of the Cruise liner industry. A pilot platform has already been designed and discussed with Carnival CEO. A visit by Carnival's Head of Security and International representative will be visiting us in Mar 2018. Negotiation ongoing. Contract worth £175k per year."

66. It is clear that Cornelio and Perez intended to dishonestly appropriate the business of Bland commenced by them as employees of Bland and obtain the benefits for 36 North.

67. On the 6th July 2018, Perez discussed one of these projects, namely Carnival Cruises, with Levy, despite not having resigned from Bland. He wrote, "James we have just finished with Carnival after a long day of negotiations. We have been successful and now moving to the pilot phase. Flying back tomorrow."

68. In respect of the Sao Tome and Principe agreement, Cornelio specifically ensured that any signature would take place after he had resigned from Bland when he stated on the 24th July 2018, "We can agree on timeline and agree a date to sign contract. After the 10th August"

69. Both Sao Tome and Principe and the Carnival Security Management System continued to appear on the Agenda for 36 North after both Perez and Cornelio had left Bland.

70. On the 7th September 2018, and in respect of Sao Tome, Perez wrote to Levy, "James this week we will be receiving a contract from São Tomé and Príncipe for review. The commercial elements of the contract have already been agreed in principle. We are also closing in on Equatorial Guinea."

Pressure on HM Government of Gibraltar

71. Following his departure from Bland and termination of the consultancy period, Cornelio sought to apply pressure on HMGoG to transfer the NSCIS platform maintenance contract. In particular he used connections with Chipol, Levy and John Rodriguez, the Collector of Customs.

72. Between September 2018 – May 2019, Cornelio sent Chipol numerous messages regarding the NSCIS platform. Cornelio made various requests to Chipol, as head of BCA, during this period to undermine Bland in the favour of 36 North. These requests involved sending emails purporting to be from Chipol which Cornelio had drafted and speaking to Government officials.

73. The below paragraphs refer to communications between Cornelio and Levy.

74. On the 21st August, whilst still in the consultancy period, Cornelio wrote, "Dear James, would it be possible to sit down with you or the CM to try and move forward with out projects? I currently have a lot of work on hold pending this decision."

75. On the 29th August 2018 he similarly wrote, "Dear James, please try and get me a 10 min slot for me to meet the CM. I believe I am best placed to explain the entire situation and advise the best technical solution possible."

76. On the 12th September 2018 Cornelio wrote to Levy and attached a letter to be used by the Chief Minister to terminate the Bland contracts. This letter was addressed to James Gaggero of Bland and was titled "Termination of NSCIS, DSS, BCA, ETB and Education contracts ("the contracts")." It explained, "Bland Limited has failed to perform its obligations under the Contracts and is therefore in repudiatory breach… In the circumstances, please accept this letter as HMGOG's termination of the Contracts with immediate effect."

77. On the 23rd September 2018 Cornelio wrote, "Attached is a letter which may be of use to the GoG in order to proceed with the new platform we have offered them."

78. By the 27th December 2018 Cornelio was concerned that the Chief Minister would not be transferring the contract to 36 North. In response Levy wrote, "I don't think he will transfer the contracts back to 36N. We have to work on alternatives. I am happy to help …"

79. On the 18th February 2019 he wrote to Levy saying, "Any merit in me writing to the CM directly to request he meet with me. I miss my contracts."

80. On the 26th March 2019 he wrote, "Perhaps CM would be willing to put the National Security system out for tender next month."

81. On the 27th March 2019 Cornelio again asked, "Do you think there is any chance of getting national security contract back at some point?" Despite his answer on the 27th December 2018 Levy responded, "Yes."

82. On the 3rd May 2018 Cornelio wrote again saying, "Dear James, the national security system [redacted]. Can I email the CM once again to meet me? He cannot allow this to continue."

83. On the 9th October 2018 Perez wrote to Levy stating, "James thank you so much for this morning. I am sure our sessions will become more enjoyable as we set of in our journey. With regards to dropping Fabian a note, let's give him a bit more time. As the pressure will naturally surface through his law enforcement heads."

84. These messages demonstrate the relationship between Levy and 36 North.

85. The Below Paragraphs are a sample of the communications between Cornelio and Perez.

87. On the 12th March 2019 Cornelio wrote to Perez, "Spoke to JL. Can u speak to John Rodriguez this morning." Perez replied, "I will call him this morning." Cornelio continued, "Yep now is the time to attack heavily. We have the upper hand. Use ur network"

88. On the 21st March 2019 Cornelio texted, "We need our old system back. These bastards cannot win. Call Aaron mate, this we need to take away from them ya."

89. The above clearly show that Cornelio, together with Perez and Levy, attempted to dishonestly apply pressure on HMGoG in order to transfer the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

Computer Misuse Offences

90. In furtherance of the agreement to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract Cornelio committed numerous computer misuse offences. These offences were primarily designed to directly or indirectly disrupt the NSICS platform, and thereby bring into question the ability of Bland to maintain the said platform. As a direct consequence of his actions Cornelio compromised the national security of Gibraltar.

91. The Computer Misuse Offences are further detailed below.

NSCIS Report for Sanchez

92. On the 4th October 2018, Peter Canessa wrote to Caine Sanchez on behalf of the Chief Minister. In an email he wrote, "Further to my email below, and following further discussion with the CM, and to avoid any ambiguity, the instructions from the CM are that Bland Ltd is to be provided full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS platform … Once the handover process is completed Tommy Cornelio nor any 3rd party are to have access to the platform."

93. On the 5th October 2018 Sanchez contacted Cornelio and passed on these instructions.

94. On the 9th October 2018 Cornelio sent an email to Sanchez (with James Gaggero copied in) in which he confirmed that he would no longer access the NSCIS platform as well as writing, "In fact, as you are aware, our provision of support ended on 31 August 2018 and neither iCode Limited nor Thomas Cornelio have ongoing responsibilities to support these platforms."

95. After the 31st August 2018, and subsequent to the instructions from the Chief Minister on the 4th October 2018, Cornelio was not authorised to access the NSCIS platform.

96. Contrary to these instructions, between 2216 hours on the 11th April 2019 and 0013 hours on the 12th April 2019 Cornelio accessed the NSCIS platform using the credentials of Sanchez.
97. Cornelio thereby accessed a national security platform without authority, for the purpose of undermining Bland, and obtaining the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

98. On the 11th April 2019 Cornelio wrote to Levy, "We are going to have a field day on the national security report..just wait until you see it. For now I am reviewing every single module 1 by 1. [redacted]."

Knowledge of Computer Misuse Offences - Levy

99. On the 19th October 2018 Cornelio wrote to Levy saying, "Morning James. Very confidential. Note Gaggero has brought in a forensic team of six to look at anything John and I may have done to tamper with the system etc. Gaggero is going all out it seems.

100. On the same day Cornelio wrote to Perez saying, "Spoke to James ref forensic team confidentially. Spoke to him on the phone. Call me and I can discuss. He says not to worry. I am very concerned they will try to prove I have acted to sabotage the system in any way etc."

101. The evidence indicates that Levy discussed the forensic team with Cornelio and that he had given him advice about the situation.

COMPUTER MISUSE OFFENCES

102. In furtherance of the agreement to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract Cornelio committed numerous computer misuse offences. These offences were primarily designed to directly or indirectly disrupt the NSCIS platform, and thereby bring into question the ability of Bland to maintain the said platform. [redacted]

[redacted]

[redacted]

[redacted]

156. Instance 31 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

157. On the 16th May 2018, being the same date on which ICode Limited was incorporated by Cornelio, the login credentials of Jonathan Galliano (Bland Head of IT and Infrastructure), in respect of the Bland Microsoft Azure account failed to work.

158. Cornelio persistently failed to restore the access despite repeated requests to do so. On 16th May 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access. The login issues were due to Cornelio blocking the Microsoft Azure account of Galliano, as he was the only person authorised to do so.

159. These actions prevented Galliano, and thereby Bland, from accessing the NSCIS Azure resources, which hindered the ability of Bland to identify, diagnose, administer and repair issues associated with the NSCIS platform.

160. It further prevented Galliano (and thereby Bland) from accessing the Azure Management Portal activity logs, which would have identified actions carried out by Cornelio on the Microsoft Azure account.

161. These actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland Limited and appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

CHANGE OF MS AZURE BILLING DETAILS

162. The Bland Microsoft Azure account was originally set up on 24th July 2016 under the billing address "Cloister Building, Irish Town, Gibraltar, Cadiz, Spain". The account was paid for via Bland Group company credit cards. The account owner email address was specified as being tommy@wavetecx.com.

163. Instance 32 - Unauthorised acts with intent to impair the operation of a computer – section 364(1) as read with s.364(2)(b) Crimes Act 2011 –

164. Between 25th May 2018 and 25th June 2018, and without authority, the address on the account was changed by Cornelio (account administrator [redacted]) to "[redacted]". This address was Spanish property belonging to Cornelio.

165. On the 5th July 2018 the Bland Limited mobile phone numbers [redacted] (used by Perez) and [redacted] (used by Cornelio) were removed from the Bland Limited Gibtelecom account without authority.

166. On the 27th July 2018, and without authority, Cornelio deleted all Wavetecx mailboxes and data files from the Wavetecx server, including the email address tommy@wavetecx.com . Cornelio deleted this mailbox in the belief that it could not be recovered.

167. On the 17th October 2018, and with the assistance of InfoSec Consulting (subsequently Red Maple Technologies), Bland attempted to remove Cornelio as the default owner of the entire MS Azure account (Azure Account Administrator / Azure Service Administrator).

168. InfoSec initially attempted to remove Cornelio with the use of phone number support arrangements offered by Microsoft. The corporate Bland phone used by Cornelio as a backup device for account password recovery could not be located.

169. Microsoft support in the form of a Microsoft Enterprise Agreement was subsequently requested. This was substantially frustrated by the change of address, meaning that Bland found it difficult to prove that they were the valid owner of the account.

170. The actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland Limited and to transfer the NSCIS platform maintenance contract to 36 North.

171. Instance 33 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

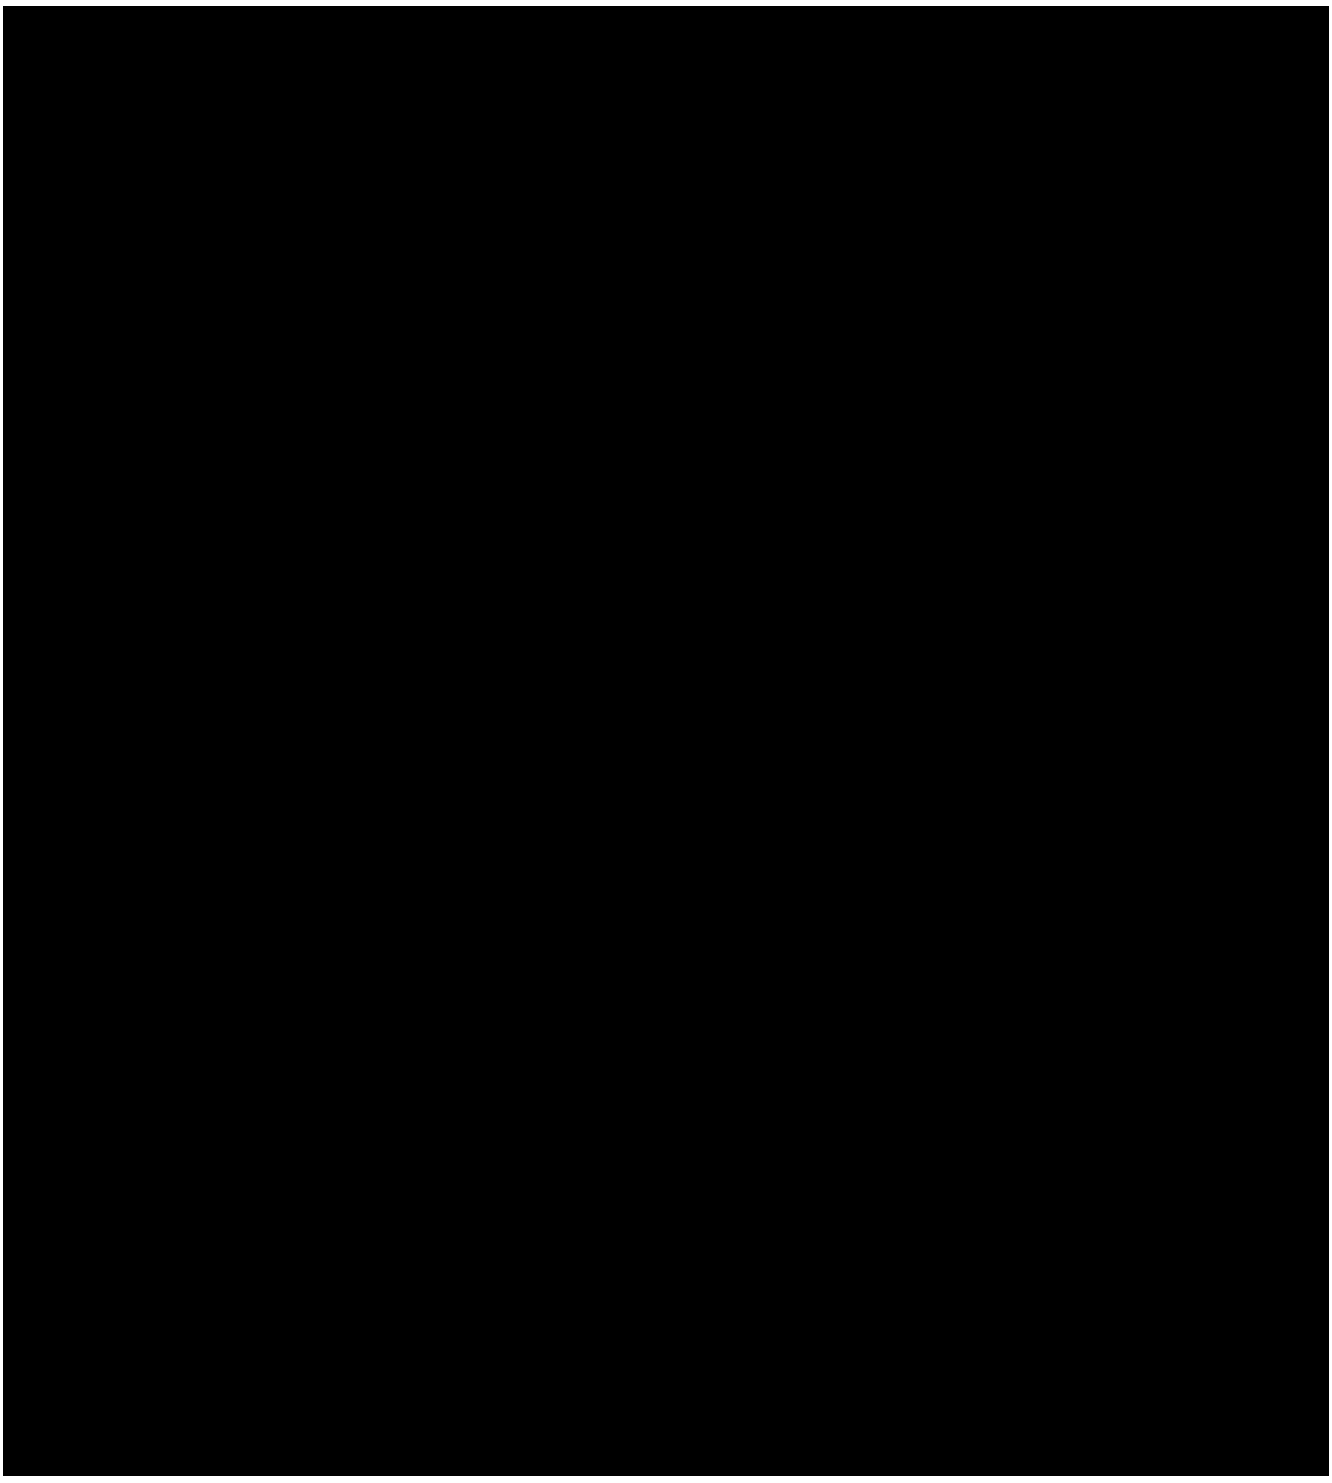
172. On 9th July 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access to the Bland Microsoft Azure account.

[redacted]



179. These actions were consistent with an agreement undermine Bland Limited and dishonestly appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

180. Instance 35 - Unauthorised acts with intent to impair the operation of a computer – section 364(1) as read with s.364(2)(b) Crimes Act 2011).

181. Once Wavetecx were incorporated, Cornelio, Perez and Asquez used '@wavetecx.com' email addresses. These Wavetecx email accounts were the property of Bland Limited.

182. Between 23rd - 28th July 2018, without authority, and while still an employee of Bland (in his notice period), Cornelio logged onto the Wavetecx email server and exported all the data including user mailboxes and data files from all Wavetecx email accounts. These included the email accounts of Perez and Cornelio.

183. On the same date, and without authority, Cornelio deleted all Wavetecx mailboxes and data files from the Wavetecx server. The email accounts included evidence of the intent of Perez and Cornelio to appropriate the NSCIS maintenance contract, as well as potential customers of the NSCIS platform and communications with HMGoG relating to the NSCIS platform.

184. These actions were performed from IP addresses attributed to Cornelio.

185. Cornelio exported and deleted these mailboxes in the belief that these mailboxes could not be recovered.

186. Despite his belief that they could not be retrieved, the content of these mailboxes were later recovered by Bland.

187. These actions were consistent with the agreement to undermine Bland Limited and appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

188. Instance 36 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

189. On 24th July 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access to the Bland Microsoft Azure account.

190. Instance 37 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

191. On 25th July 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access to the Bland Microsoft Azure account.

192. Instance 38 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

193. On 26th July 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access to the Bland Microsoft Azure account.

194. Instance 39 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

195. On 31st July 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access to the Bland Microsoft Azure account. (Exhibit JOG/17 refers).

196. Instance 40 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

197. On 2nd August 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access to the Bland Microsoft Azure account.

198. Instance 41 – Fraud by Failing to Disclose Information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011.

199. On 6th August 2018 he refused to grant Jonathan Galliano access to the Bland Microsoft Azure account.

206. The actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland Limited and to transfer the NSCIS platform maintenance contract to 36 North.

TERMINATION OF CONSULTANCY PERIOD

207. On the 1st September 2018 Cornelio terminated the consultancy period with Bland. In an email to James Gaggero, dated the 30th August 2018 he wrote, "Please let this email serve as official notice that as of 00:00 on 1st September 2018 I will no longer be supporting the NSCIS platform in any capacity."

208. On the 9th October 2018 Cornelio sent an email to Sanchez (with James Gaggero copied in) in which he wrote, "In fact, as you are aware, our provision of support ended on 31 August 2018 and neither iCode Limited nor Thomas Cornelio have ongoing responsibilities to support these platforms."

209. As of the 1st September 2018 Cornelio was no longer authorised by Bland to access the NSCIS platform.

210. However, Microsoft Azure logs revealed that Cornelio had logged on using his account [redacted] on numerous occasions after the 31st August 2018.

UNAUTHORISED UPDATING FIREWALL RULES

215. Instance 44 - Unauthorised access to computer material – section 362 Crimes Act 2011). The exact nature of this action was not logged.

216. On 5th September 2018, Cornelio logged onto the NSCIS Azure account using his Azure account [redacted] and made firewall rule changes

UNAUTHORISED DATABASE TRANSFER

217. Instance 45 - Unauthorised acts with intent to impair the operation of a computer – section 364(1) as read with s.364(2)(e) Crimes Act 2011.

218. On the 6th September 2018, Cornelio logged onto Azure using his account [redacted] and exported all eighteen NSCIS Azure SQL databases.

219. This action was carried out from an IP address directly connected to Cornelio.

UNAUTHORISED ACCESS – "NSCISBLOBS"

220. Instance 46 - Unauthorised access to computer material – section 362 Crimes Act 2011

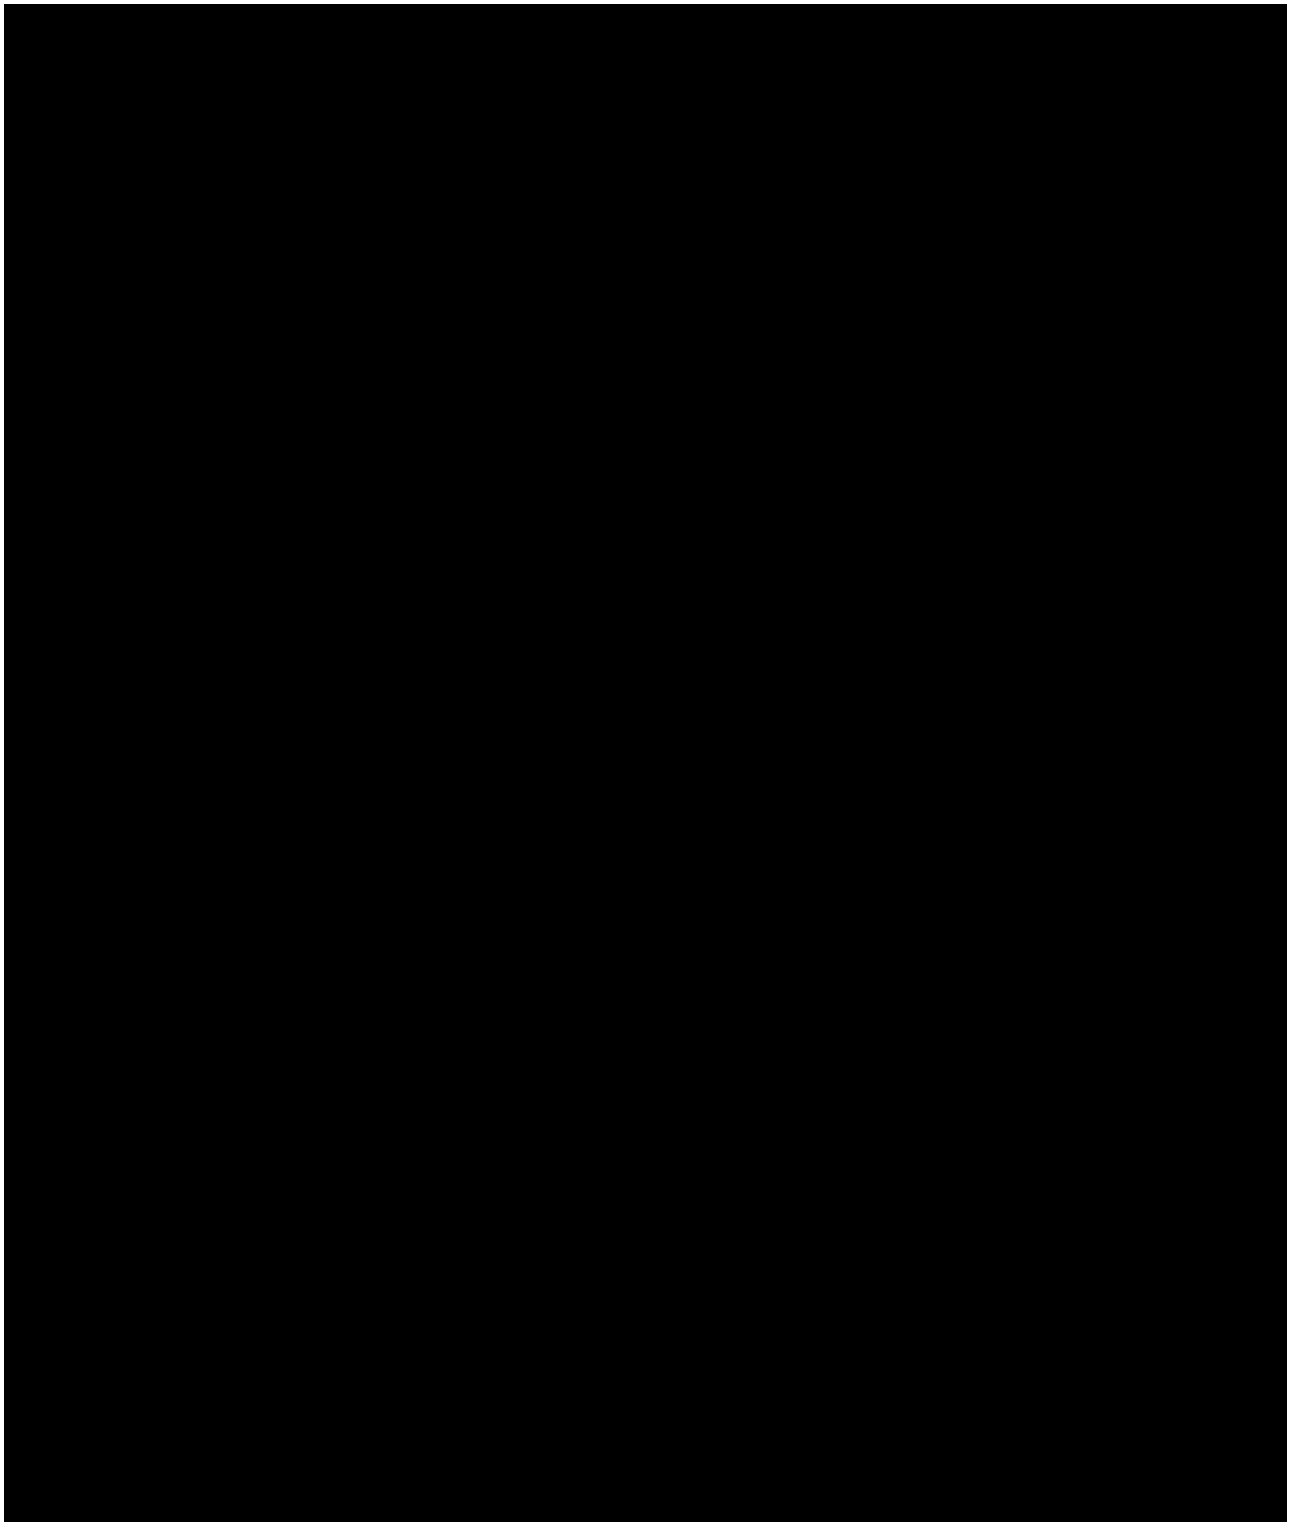
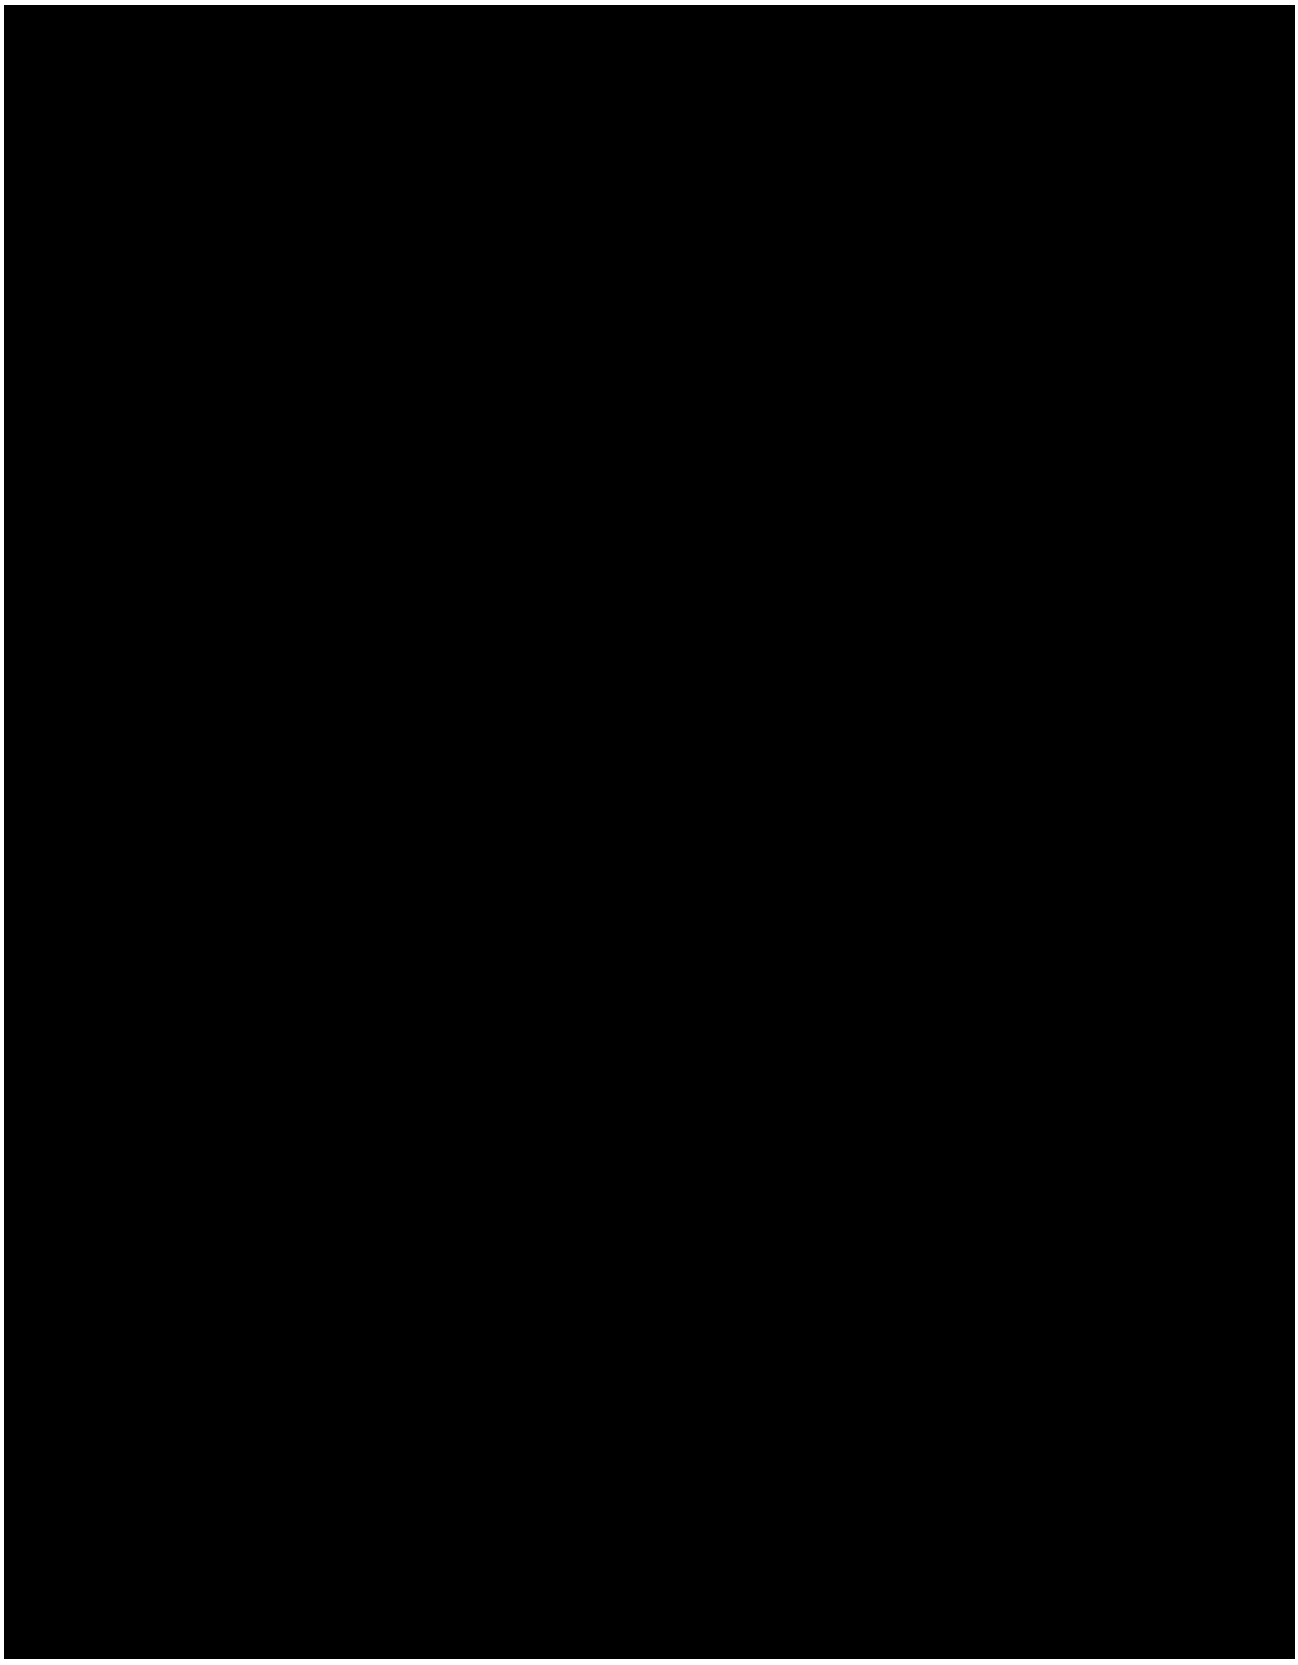
221. On 6th September 2018, that is, after the termination of the consultancy period, Cornelio logged onto the NSCIS Azure Blob Storage account "nscisblobs", using his Azure account [redacted].

[redacted]

229. The actions were consistent with the agreement of Cornelio and Sanchez to undermine Bland Limited and appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.





TWITTER

256. Up until the 4th October 2018, that is, the day on which the Chief Minister gave instructions for the NSCIS platform not to be accessed by Cornelio, tweets of border queuing images were being posted by Bland to Twitter handle @gibraltarborder.

257. At that time Cornelio was the sole owner and administrator of both the Twitter handle @gibraltarborder and linked Twitter account (ID 2535097143). This account is owned by Bland and was administered by Cornelio during the course of his employment. The account had over 4400 followers, subscribers, and tweet history.

258. Linked to this account was the personal Twitter developer account of Cornelio.

259. As a result of the failure on the 4th October, Bland recreated the Twitter Windows service and software library source code. The Windows service had to be restored from the source code retrieved on the 19th July 2018 [and unknown to Cornelio]. The Twitter Windows service and software library was not present in the source code provided by Cornelio on the 7th September 2018.

260. This was put into operation on the 5th October 2018 at 1355 hours. The new Twitter service successfully posted tweets between 1355 hours and 1935 hours on the same day.

261. After 1935 hours the Twitter Windows service failed to post tweets due to an invalid or expired key token. Cornelio, as the administrator of his personal Twitter developer account was the only person able to change tokens required to access and post tweets to @gibraltarborder.

262. Instance 62 - Fraud by failing to disclose information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011 –

263. On 4th October, Cornelio failed to disclose to Bland, the location of the Twitter Windows service posting to Twitter account number 2535097143.

264. Instance 63 - Fraud by failing to disclose information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011 -

265. Between the 5th and 7th October 2018, immediately after the Chief Minister gave an instruction for Cornelio to no longer access NSCIS, Cornelio changed the twitter handle from @gibraltarborder to @gibraltarbord. In doing so he retained all of the original followers, subscribers and tweets associated with ID 2535097143.

266. At 1924 hours on the 7th October 2018 Cornelio created a new Twitter account (ID 10489875235226139904) with the now free handle @gibraltarborder from an IP address associated with his home address. He then provided the administrator credentials to this new account to Bland in an email.

267. Cornelio thereby retained the Bland Twitter account (ID 2535097143) and failed to disclose the administrator access to Bland on 8th October 2018.

268. The actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland Limited and to transfer the NSCIS platform maintenance contract to 36 North.

269. Between April – December 2019, approximately 6600 tweets were deleted from the Twitter Handle @Gibraltarbord.

FRONTIER QUEUE HOTLINE

270. On the 8th August 2018, that is, 2 days before he resigned from Bland, Cornelio requested that the Frontier Queue Hotline phone number 20042777 be forwarded on to UK phone number +44 7428310899, and that voicemail on phone number 20042777 be disabled.

271. Bland hold an account with Messagebird, a third-party service provider. Bland use their services extensively within the NSCIS platform for voice and SMS capabilities. The number +44 7428310899 is a number held on a Messagebird account however it was not transferred by Cornelio to the Bland account. It was therefore not accessible by them.

272. The new UK number required the development of a new Windows service to update the new phone line with the frontier queue times. On the 9th August Cornelio wrote that the physical server at Cloister Building, which hosted the Frontier Queue Hotline, was redundant. This confirmed that the new Frontier Queue Hotline windows service had been relocated to a server not known to Bland.

273. Instance 64 - Fraud by failing to disclose information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011 -

274. On the 5th October, that is, the day on which Cornelio was officially informed that he was no longer to access the NSCIS platform, the Frontier Queue Hotline was disabled or failed. Bland was unable to remedy this as they had no knowledge of which server the Widows service was running from.

275. In order to restore the service a new Frontier Queue Hotline service had to be developed. This was further hindered by the fact that the source code provided by Cornelio on the 7th September 2018 did not contain the most up to date version of the Windows service.

276. As a result, the Frontier Queue Hotline service was not operating for a total of 26 days.

277. The actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland Limited and to transfer the NSCIS platform maintenance contract to 36 North.

278. Instance 65 - Fraud by failing to disclose information – contrary to section 417 Crimes Act 2011 -

279. On the 7th October when requested to, did not disclose to Bland the location of the server on which the Frontier Queue Hotline Windows Service associated with Messagebird Number +447428310899 was running from.

UNAUTHORISED ACCESS - NSCIS BACKOFFICE

280. On the 4th October 2018, Peter Canessa wrote to Caine Sanchez on behalf of the Chief Minister. In an email he wrote, "Further to my email below, and following further discussion with the CM, and to avoid any ambiguity, the instructions from the CM are that Bland Ltd is to be provided full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS platform … Once the handover process is completed Tommy Cornelio nor any 3rd party are to have access to the platform."

281. On the 5th October 2018 Sanchez contacted Cornelio and passed on these instructions.

282. On the 9th October 2018 Cornelio sent an email to Sanchez (with James Gaggero copied in) in which he confirmed that he would no longer access the NSCIS platform as well as writing, "In fact, as you are aware, our provision of support ended on 31 August 2018 and neither iCode Limited nor Thomas Cornelio have ongoing responsibilities to support these platforms."

283. Instance 66 - Unauthorised access to computer material – section 362 Crimes Act 2011 -

284. In contravention of the instructions, on the 7th October 2018 Cornelio accessed the NSCIS back office using his Bland group email tommy.cornelio@blandgroup.com. The access was obtained from an IP address directly associated with Cornelio.

DATABASE REINDEXING

[redacted]

305. These actions were carried out from an IP address connected to Cornelio.

[redacted]

308. The actions of Cornelio between 7th – 11th October 2018 posed a serious and credible risk to the National Security of Gibraltar.

309. Instance 76 - Unauthorised access to computer material – section 362 Crimes Act 2011

310. On 17th October 2018, that is, after the termination of the consultancy period, Cornelio logged onto the NSCIS Azure Blob Storage account "nscisblobs", using his Azure account [redacted].

NSCIS REPORT FOR SANCHEZ

311. On the 4th October 2018, Peter Canessa wrote to Caine Sanchez on behalf of the Chief Minister. In an email he wrote, "Further to my email below, and following further discussion with the CM, and to avoid any ambiguity, the instructions from the CM are that Bland Ltd is to be provided full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS platform … Once the handover process is completed Tommy Cornelio nor any 3rd party are to have access to the platform."

312. On the 5th October 2018 Sanchez contacted Cornelio and passed on these instructions.

313. On the 9th October 2018 Cornelio sent an email to Sanchez (cc. James Gaggero) in which he confirmed that he would no longer access the NSCIS platform as well as writing, "In fact, as you are aware, our provision of support ended on 31 August 2018 and neither iCode Limited nor Thomas Cornelio have ongoing responsibilities to support these platforms."

314. Post 31st August 2018, Cornelio was not authorised to access the NSCIS platform. This was re-enforced by the instructions from the Chief Minister on the 4th October 2018.

315. Instance 77 – Unauthorised access to computer material – contrary to section 362 Crimes Act 2011 -

316. Contrary to these instructions, between 2216 hours on the 11th April 2019 and 0013 hours on the 12th April 2019 Cornelio accessed the NSCIS platform using the credentials of Sanchez which were provided to Cornelio by Sanchez.

317. Cornelio thereby accessed a national security platform without authority, for the purpose of undermining Bland, and obtaining the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

318. On the 11th April 2019 Cornelio wrote to Levy, "We are going to have a field day on the national security report..just wait until you see it. For now I am reviewing every single module 1 by 1. [redacted]."

LEVY'S INVOLVEMENT

319. The above paragraphs demonstrate Levy was involved in the plan to remove the NSCIS contract from Bland at an early stage;

a. Messages between Levy and Sanchez show communication discussing moving the contract away from Bland in early 2018. (Paras 45 to 47)

b. Levy was instrumental in the creation of 36 North. Firstly, by being owning 32% of shares of Astelon Ltd, who in turn own 33% of shares of 36 North. (Paras 31 to 32) On behalf of Hassans, he injected a large sum of money into 36 North.

c. He was using his influence with the Chief Minister to the advantage of 36 North.

d. He was regularly contacting both Cornelio and Perez in relation to 36 North whilst they were still employed by Blands and following their resignations. (Paras 61 to 89).

e. Communications show he was aware of the Computer Misuse Offences committed by Cornelio. (Paras 99 to 100).

320. I now seek to recover –

1. Electronic devices (including but not limited to mobile telephones and computers,) capable of sending and receiving text messages, instant messages and/or electronic mail, owned and/or used by Haim Levy and any device capable of storing any of the aforementioned communications.

2. Any documentation relating to 36 North Limited, Astelon Limited and/or Icode Limited whether held digitally or otherwise.

I submit to your Worship that there are reasonable grounds for believing that:

321. Indictable offences have been committed;

Conspiracy to Defraud contrary to Common Law.

322. There is material that consists of special procedure material or includes special procedure material and does not also include excluded material on premises specified in the application.

Data has been created or acquired in the course of the business of Hassans International Law Firm, of which the subject is a senior partner. As a law firm, this data is held under an express or implied duty of confidence the company owes to their clients.

The material sought does not include any Excluded Material (i.e. it's not medical records or journalistic material or material held under secrecy imposed by a specific enactment such as the Official Secrets Act).

E.g. the material sought consists of communications between the subjects of this application. This would not be classified as legally privileged material. This material does not however consist of anything which could be regarded as Excluded material - i.e. medical records, records relating to counselling or welfare assistance, or journalistic material. The material sought is not, and does not contain any Legal Privilege Material however it is understood legally privileged material may be present on digital devices which will be seized. All digital devices will be reviewed by an appointed independent legal representative prior to the OIC being given access to any material.

The material sought does not contain any Legal Privilege material.

323. The material is likely to be of substantial value to the investigation and is likely to be relevant evidence.

a. The material will assist to prove or disprove the subject's involvement in the offences stated. The material sought will show to what level the subject was involved with 36 North.

b. This information is relevant because it will identify to the OIC if the suspected offence has been committed by the subject.

I also ask your Worship to consider the following points;

324. Other methods of obtaining the material have not been tried because it appeared they were bound to fail.

The material sought is held by a subject in this case and it is feared if notice was given to the subject to provide this material to the OIC, the subject would destroy, alter, deface or conceal the material sought.

325. It is in the public interest that access to the material sought should be given, having regard to the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained and to the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it.

a. The offence is of a serious nature and the material sought is likely to be valuable evidence that cannot be obtained from any other source.

b. If access to the material sought is obtained under the power of the warrant I apply for, any professional or ethical duties of confidentiality which may exist between the subject and Hassans and those persons or business to whom the material refers will be preserved.

326. Service of notice of an application for a Production Order or der under Para 4 Schedule 1 CPE Act may seriously prejudice the investigation.

A key subject in this case is the person I would serve a Production Order for the material sought. In the circumstances it is highly likely that they would destroy, alter, deface or conceal the material sought because it is evidence sought by the OIC which may prove their involvement in the offence.

327. For these reasons I ask your Worship to grant the search warrant(s) I apply for.

Dear Sir,

I have been forwarded a copy of your letter addressed to Detective Superintendent Paul Richardson dated 13 May 2020 the contents of which have been noted.

I have been fully briefed as to the conduct of the investigation and given the seriousness of the allegations made and the matters raised. I have seen fit to respond directly.

At the outset I must point out that the sequence of events are not as you have described and I do not agree with you that there were reasonable grounds to believe that Mr Levy would have simply handed over his devices and documents.

Notwithstanding the fact the police attended with a search warrant issued by the Magistrates Court, an attempt was made to try and deal with the matter by consent. This involved Mr Levy consulting with 'senior silk' in private and informing the officers that he would consent to handing over the items sought as long as the interests of his clients were protected. Once the means in which they would be achieved was clear Mr Levy signed the relevant form after reading it and consulting with Mr Chincotta. Accordingly the search warrant was not executed but rather Mr Levy chose to hand over his devices voluntarily, albeit after some time and after extensive consultation.

I do not agree with you that warrant was excessive, unjustified or unlawful and in my view the action taken was both legitimate and proportionate in the circumstances. I do not think it would serve any purpose to enter into a discussion on the use of Productions Orders as opposed to a Search Warrant.

In relation to the items that you have requested I have attached a copy of the search warrant to this email. I am unable at this time to comply with your request for a copy of the application for the search warrant or any other written evidence as this could potentially compromise an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed. The same applies to point 4 (any notes taken by the RGP of the hearing). The only order or ruling that I am aware of made by the Stipendiary Magistrate was the warrant itself. Although the DPP has been consulted on various non-operational issues concerning this investigation including the status of various parties he has not provided advice on the application of a search warrant which remains an operational matter.

Please rest assured that the RGP has not copied or downloaded any material so far and in fact the devices remain sealed and I have assumed safe custody of them. I remain convinced of the legality of our course of conduct but undertake to postpone their submission to be examined for seven days from the date of this letter in the event that you may wish to make any legal challenge to this decision.

I would also ask you to please note that it is not a question of me refusing to meet with you and the Attorney General, but rather I view it as inappropriate given the circumstances in which we find ourselves which I trust you understand.

I enclose a copy of a notice regarding voluntary attendance for police interview. This sets out the topic areas which we seek to explore in the formal police interview. I should point that we have not shared this document with any other party. It would be very helpful if Mr Levy brings any material with him that may support his account or provide it in advance of his attendance. Additionally, as would be normal practice counsel will be provided with a pre-interview briefing

Finally, as you will no doubt be aware, Mr Levy undertook to voluntarily extract the relevant emails and other documents from Hassans servers and provide these to police along with all files concerning Astelon Ltd and 36 North Ltd. Grateful if you advise when these will be supplied to assist with our investigation.

Yours faithfully

Dear Attorney

Schedule 1 paragraph 12 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 search warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at Don Place, 8 Governor's Lane; and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building

We refer to our earlier correspondence with you in this matter, dated 12 May 2020, and to the Commissioner of Police's attached letter dated 14th May in reply to our letter to Superintendent Richardson dated 13th May, which we copied to you. We are copying this letter to the Commissioner of Police.

Introduction

We set out in outline below the reasons why there are very good grounds for believing that the warrants were improperly procured and wrongfully granted (in the course of an ex parte hearing), and why the RGP officers acted unlawfully in attending the premises and using the threat that they would execute the warrants to obtain from Mr Levy QC the material that they sought.

As we have stated in my earlier letter, it is extraordinary that the RGP should have thought it appropriate to resort to the draconian route of Schedule 1 paragraph 12 search warrants, and no less extraordinary that the Stipendiary Magistrate should have thought it right and appropriate to grant the two applications. There were serious and multiple breaches of the statutory requirements and wholesale departures from best practice. There can be little surprise that, as we believe is the case, the DPP advised the Commissioner against the making of these applications.

The issue of the warrants was unnecessary and oppressive, and the threat to use them highly distressing. Their issue directly impugned, as we have stated, Mr Levy's reputation and dignity as an officer of the court, the senior partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm and as a highly respected member of the local community.

It was also a gross abuse of power for RGP to have threatened the use of previously obtained search warrants to secure compelled and involuntary consent to enter the two premises and seize materials. Indeed, the very fact that Mr Levy QC was prepared to allow the officers entry (notwithstanding the non-execution of the warrants) belies RGP's unsupported assertion to the Magistrate that there were reasonable grounds for believing that "other methods of obtaining the material have not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail" (Schedule 1, paragraph 2(b)(ii)) and that there was a basis upon which he could be additionally satisfied that "(b) it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material" or "(d) service of notice of an application for an order under paragraph 4 may seriously prejudice the investigation" (Schedule 1, paragraphs 14(b) and (d)). Either the warrants were needed and justified, or they were not, and it is simply not correct for the Commissioner to state, as he does in his letter of 14th May 2020, that the items sought were handed over consensually, thereby rendering the RGP action 'legitimate and proportionate'.

The Commissioner has, so far, unlawfully refused to provide any detail of the basis upon which the applications for the warrants was made. Indeed, on 12 May 2020, following the events in question, the RGP provided Mr Levy QC with a misleading proforma which wrongly suggested that the search powers were being exercised under the section 21 "Entry for the purposes of arrest etc" power.

The Commissioner's refusal to provide a copy of the applications for the issue of the warrants that were made by his officers, or of any evidence adduced in support, or of any notes made by the RGP during the ex parte Magistrates' Court hearing, on the basis this could 'potentially undermine an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed' is perverse and wrong in law, and provides a further basis for a potential challenge.

There exists a stand-alone obligation on the ex parte applicant for a warrant, and on the court that granted it, to provide all relevant material adduced in support of the application: R(Energy Financing Team Ltd) v Bow Street Magistrates' Court [2005] EWHC 1626 (Admin) at para 27; R(Gittins) v Central Criminal Court [2011] EWHC 131 (Admin, at para 25(2); R(Faisaltex) v Crown Court at Preston [2008] EWHC 2832 (Admin) at para 35; R(S) v Chief Constable of the BTP [2013] EWHC 2189 at para 46.

The person who is seeking to challenge the grant of a warrant is entitled to know the basis upon which it was granted, and the case law simply does not provide, in the absence of a properly formulated application by the body that obtained the warrant for relevant information to be withheld on the basis that its disclosure would seriously prejudice the public interest: R (Haralambous) v Crown Court at St Albans & Anor [2018] UKSC 1, for refusal on any lesser basis.

In the absence of proper disclosure of the basis upon which the applications were made, it is not possible to be certain as to what transpired in the Magistrates' Court. The 'information' in support of both applications should have set out in writing, by direct reference to the particular facts of the investigation and the belief of the investigating officer(s), why the statutory requirements were met. They did not.

Instead, with the exception of a single reference in each information to the indictable offence said to be believed to have been committed, 'namely conspiracy to defraud' (which words are in a different font to the rest of the information), they are wholly silent, and contain only a bare rehearsal of the statutory criteria. In the absence of a record of what DS Clarke, the officer who made the applications, told the court orally, it is impossible to know what information, if any, the court was given any in support of the applications. It is also impossible to know if he properly discharged the plain duty upon him of making plain any information or material that weighed against the application.

Moreover, in the absence of any ruling (the Commissioner in his letter has confirmed that the Magistrate gave no ruling), the reasons for the grant of the warrants are completely unknown. It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that, rather than seeking authorisation to obtain material in relation to genuinely suspected offences, instead the police were on "a fishing expedition in the hope of finding some material upon which the charge can be hung": Williams v. Summerfield [1972] 2 QB 512, per Lord Widgery CJ at 518.

The illegality of the process, and the unlawfulness of the warrants, would appear to be clearly established on the following grounds.

Statutory provisions

In order for a warrant to have been properly issued pursuant to Paragraph 12 of Schedule 1, the Magistrate must have needed to be satisfied:

(a) that

(i) either set of access conditions is fulfilled; and

(ii) any of the further conditions set out in Paragraph 14 is also fulfilled;

OR

(b) that –

(i) the second set of access conditions is fulfilled; and

(ii) an Order under Paragraph 4 in relation to the material has not been complied with.

It is clear from the warrants that the police relied on the first set of access conditions, namely:

"2. The first set of access conditions is fulfilled if -

(a) that there are reasonable grounds for believing that-

(i) an indictable offence has been committed;

(ii) there is material which consists of special procedure material or also includes special procedure material and does not also include excluded material on premises specified in the application, or on premises occupied or controlled by a person specified in the application;

(iii) the material is likely to be of substantial value (whether by itself or together with other material) to the investigation in connection with which the application is made; and

(iv) the material is likely to be relevant evidence;

(b) other methods of obtaining the material have –

(i) been tried without success; or

(ii) not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail; and

(c) it is in the public interest, having regard to –

(i) the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained; and

(ii) the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it, that the material should be produced or that access to it should be given."

The further conditions set out in Paragraph 14 are as follows:

"14. The further conditions mentioned in Paragraph 12(a)(ii) are that –

(a) it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant entry to the premises;

(b) it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material;

(c) the material contains information which –

(i) is subject to a restriction or obligation such as is mentioned in section 15(2)(b); and

(ii) is likely to be disclosed in breach of it if a warrant is not issued;

(d) service of notice of an application for an order under paragraph 4 may seriously prejudice the investigation."

The informations stated that the requirements of Paragraphs 2 and 14(b) and (d) of Schedule 1 were fulfilled: "The further conditions at b & d above apply"

First set of Access conditions (Schedule 1, paragraph 2, and 12(a)(i))

First, in the absence of any information, it is not known on what basis the Stipendiary Magistrate had reasonable grounds for believing that an indictable offence had been committed (let alone in relation to Mr Levy QC, whose premises were the subject of the applications).

Paragraph 2 requires that the constable has reasonable grounds for believing the matters set out in paragraph 2(a). It is plain that a belief is more than a suspicion and that the need to have reasonable grounds for a belief imposes a higher threshold than the need to have reasonable grounds for a suspicion: R(S) (supra) at [61]; R (Eastenders Cash and Carry plc) v South Western Magistrates' Court [2011] 2 Cr App R 123. A mere assertion cannot suffice.

We do not know on what basis the court was persuaded that this requirement was met. In any event, it is a matter that the duty of candour, which rests upon an ex parte applicant (In re Stanford International Bank Limited and Another [2010] EWCA Civ 137; [2010] 3

W.L.R. 941 at para 191), absolutely demanded be brought to the attention of the Magistrate. It is far from clear that it was.

We also note the basis of RGP's apparent beliefs have altered since the warrants were obtained. In the note 'Voluntary Attendance for Police Interview under Caution", a copy of which was given to Mr Levy QC on 12 May 2020, the RGP referred, at point 9 of the topic areas which they wished to explore in interview under caution, to 'Communication with the Chief Minister in relation to any of the above'. In the otherwise identical version provided under cover of the Commissioner's letter of 14 May 2020, that phrase has been removed.

Second, whilst it is plain from the warrants and from the informations in support, that the material sought consisted of or included Special Procedure Material, there appears to be no basis upon which the Magistrate could have had reasonable grounds for believing that there would be no "excluded material" on the premises.

As made clear in R(S) at [33] and [57], paragraph 2(a)(ii) is only fulfilled if the Court is satisfied with evidence that the items to be seized do not also contain "excluded material". As stated in R(S) at [57], a lawyer's mobile or laptop would certainly include 'special procedure material' and could possibly also comprise "excluded material". It is not clear on what basis DS Clarke satisfied the court that the devices would not contain "excluded material".

Third, the court had to be satisfied that the material sought would be of substantial value to the investigation and likely to be relevant evidence. Again, there is nothing to suggest that the police or court considered the balancing exercise which appraises, on the one hand, the benefit to the investigation of obtaining the information against, on the other hand, the seizure with the possibility that it would contain in it a mass of "excluded material" and/or material subject to LPP, which was not concerned with the investigation and the seizure of which might well cause considerable professional disruption: R(S) (supra). The court's attention should have been drawn to this point with an explanation as to why this balancing exercise should be resolved in favour of the police.

Taking into account that the investigation has, we understand, been ongoing for over 18 months, and that the other suspects have already been searched and questioned, it is not at all clear how this could have been demonstrated. Was it likely that material sought so belatedly would be of 'substantial value'? Seeking further evidence identical to what had already been obtained would not meet the statutory requirement.

Fourth, in relation to the requirements of paragraph 2(b), we note that the informations allege that other methods of obtaining the material had not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail. The court had to be satisfied of two things: that other methods of obtaining the material had not, in fact, been tried; and that DS Clarke believed any other method was bound to fail (R v CCBTP at [34]).

No basis upon which the court could have been so satisfied is provided in either information, and it is wholly implausible that any proper basis could have been advanced. The notion that Mr Levy QC, as an officer of the court and Queen's Counsel, would have refused a request is absurd and, of course, as noted above, the very fact that the police did obtain the material in the way they did (following the threat to execute the warrants and the clear misrepresentation that the warrants had been applied for on the advice of the DPP) supports this. As was noted in R(S), a practising solicitor against whom no allegation of dishonesty had previously been made would in the ordinary course of events be expected to comply with a request from the police to hand over a document or at least not to destroy material.

Fifth, the information also purports to deal with the unsubstantiated public interest requirements in 2(c) which we reserve our right to further comment once we have seen any further evidence in support. However, we note that the Magistrate in satisfying himself that the warrant was in the public interest would have had to have regard to two matters: 1. the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained; and 2. the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it.

Paragraphs 12(a)(ii)/14

The information states that the following further conditions in paragraph 12(a)(ii) of Schedule 1 apply (we take that to mean the conditions in paragraph 14 referred to in 12(a)(ii)), namely:

1. 14(b) - that it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material; and

2. 14(d) - that service of notice of an application for an Order under Paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 may seriously prejudice the investigation

First, in relation to 14(b), this is plainly untrue. If it was practicable to communicate with Mr Levy as the person entitled to grant entry to his office and home, it was obviously practicable to communicate with him to grant access to the material (as proved to be the case). That such a statement should have been made on oath is nothing short of reckless and misleading.

Second, in relation to 14(d), it is impossible to see how the police could have so believed, or that the Magistrate could have been satisfied. Not only is this serious allegation not substantiated, but there can have been no basis for the notion that service of notice on Mr Levy of an application for an order under paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 risked him prejudicing the investigation (for example, by perverting the course of justice, or destroying or dissipating evidence) pending the hearing of an inter partes application for a production order.

Indeed, there was every reason for believing precisely the contrary. First, Mr Levy QC is the Senior Partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm, a Queen's Counsel, an officer of the Court, and a man of good character. As events transpired, the police themselves could not have believed that he would seriously prejudice the investigation, because they declined to execute the warrants they obtained, and allowed Mr Levy to remove his phone and copy the data before handing it over to them. They also now appear to trust him to provide voluntarily the emails they sought but failed to obtain. Secondly, the investigation has been ongoing for over 18 months, and Hassans acted, initially, for other suspects. The police knew that Mr Levy was aware of the investigation. Had he really wanted to destroy evidence, this could have been done months ago.

Width

The warrants at particular "(1)" sought the seizure of "electronic devices (including but not limited to mobile telephones and computers) capable of sending and receiving text messages, instant messages and/or electronic mail, owned and/or used by Haim Levy and any device storing any of the aforementioned communications".

These apparently unlimited terms were grossly wide. They were without limit in terms of scope or date, and completely failed to state what the sought material had to relate to. The plainly erroneous and inexplicable reference to 'any of the aforementioned communications' (there being no such reference) simply reinforces the point.

It would have been quite impossible, within the four corners of the warrant, for a person executing it, or for the person whose premises are being searched, to be able to identify with any degree of certainty what the warrant authorised by way of seizure: McGrath v. Chief Constable of the Royal Ulster Constabulary [2001] 2 AC 731 at [18]; R (Energy Financing Team Ltd) v. Bow Street Magistrates' Court (supra), at [24] and [37]; Power-Hynes v. Norwich Magistrates' Court [2009] EWHC 1512 (Admin), at [19] and [22]; R (Van der Pijl) v. Kingston Crown Court [2012] EWHC 3745, at [52]-[67]; C v. Nottingham and Newark Magistrates' Court [2013] EWHC 3790, at [48] and [51]. Particular (2) is similarly unrestricted in date range.

It follows that the warrants were grossly deficient on their face. The seizure of the phone and tablet would also necessarily have led to the seizure of a vast amount of irrelevant (and LPP) material that could not, on any view, have had any connection to the investigation and/or was not capable of being seized. The RGP took no steps to sift out this material.

LPP

Not only were the warrants drafted in impermissibly wide terms, but they contained no clear wording taking LPP material outside that which was authorised to be seized (R(A) v. Central Criminal Court [2017] EWHC 70 (Admin), at [81] and [84]). Nor can such an exclusion be implied from the wording of the warrant (cf. Gittins v Central Criminal Court [2011] EWHC 131 (Admin), at [36]-[37]).

A warrant which purports to authorise the seizure of LPP is invalid. See Gittins (above), per Gross LJ at [36(2)]:

> "If on its true construction a warrant extends to material for which there are not reasonable grounds for believing that it does not consist of or include items subject to LPP then the warrant will be quashed, at least unless the offending passages can be severed. Such a warrant cannot be saved by precautions governing its execution on the day, such as, for example, the engagement of independent counsel."

It was obvious that the search warrants would lead to the seizure of LPP material. However, the reality was that no consideration was likely to have been given at all to LPP material when applying for and issuing these search warrants. They are therefore invalid.

Conclusion

On any challenge by way of judicial review, the warrants are overwhelmingly likely to be declared to be unlawful for all or any of the reasons set out above.

We therefore request once again, as we have already requested also in the letter to Superintendent Richardson, that Mr Levy's possessions be returned to him.

We also seek an acknowledgment from RGP that they acted unlawfully in seeking and obtaining these warrants, and in entering Mr Levy's addresses. In this regard, we must record that Mr Levy has serious concerns that the RPG acted illegally, and we reserve his rights in this regard. If, indeed, RGP acted in this way in opposition to advice that it had received to the effect that the applications were inappropriate and unlawful, then it can only be concluded that there has been a gross abuse of executive power. On any basis these events are liable to have led to a serious loss of confidence in the RGP.

We look forward to hearing from you as a matter of urgency.

Yours faithfully

Lewis Baglietto

Dear Sir,

I have been forwarded a copy of your letter addressed to Detective Superintendent Paul Richardson dated 13 May 2020 the contents of which have been noted.

I have been fully briefed as to the conduct of the investigation and given the seriousness of the allegations made and the matters raised. I have seen fit to respond directly.

At the outset I must point out that the sequence of events are not as you have described and I do not agree with you that there were reasonable grounds to believe that Mr Levy would have simply handed over his devices and documents.

Notwithstanding the fact the police attended with a search warrant issued by the Magistrates Court, an attempt was made to try and deal with the matter by consent. This involved Mr Levy consulting with 'senior silk' in private and informing the officers that he would consent to handing over the items sought as long as the interests of his clients were protected. Once the means in which they would be achieved was clear Mr Levy signed the relevant form after reading it and consulting with Mr Chincotta. Accordingly the search warrant was not executed but rather Mr Levy chose to hand over his devices voluntarily, albeit after some time and after extensive consultation.

I do not agree with you that warrant was excessive, unjustified or unlawful and in my view the action taken was both legitimate and proportionate in the circumstances. I do not think it would serve any purpose to enter into a discussion on the use of Productions Orders as opposed to a Search Warrant.

In relation to the items that you have requested I have attached a copy of the search warrant to this email. I am unable at this time to comply with your request for a copy of the application for the search warrant or any other written evidence as this could potentially compromise an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed. The same applies to point 4 (any notes taken by the RGP of the hearing). The only order or ruling that I am aware of made by the Stipendiary Magistrate was the warrant itself. Although the DPP has been consulted on various non-operational issues concerning this investigation including the status of various parties he has not provided advice on the application of a search warrant which remains an operational matter.

Please rest assured that the RGP has not copied or downloaded any material so far and in fact the devices remain sealed and I have assumed safe custody of them. I remain convinced of the legality of our course of conduct but undertake to postpone their submission to be examined for seven days from the date of this letter in the event that you may wish to make any legal challenge to this decision.

I would also ask you to please note that it is not a question of me refusing to meet with you and the Attorney General, but rather I view it as inappropriate given the circumstances in which we find ourselves which I trust you understand.

I enclose a copy of a notice regarding voluntary attendance for police interview. This sets out the topic areas which we seek to explore in the formal police interview. I should point that we have not shared this document with any other party. It would be very helpful if Mr Levy brings any material with him that may support his account or provide it in advance of his attendance. Additionally, as would be normal practice counsel will be provided with a pre-interview briefing

Finally, as you will no doubt be aware, Mr Levy undertook to voluntarily extract the relevant emails and other documents from Hassans servers and provide these to police along with all files concerning Astelon Ltd and 36 North Ltd. Grateful if you advise when these will be supplied to assist with our investigation.

Yours faithfully

Our Ref: IM166

Mr Lewis Baglietto QC
PO Box 199
Madison Building
Midtown, Queensway
Gibraltar

Dear Mr Baglietto,

Re - Mr James Levy QC

Thank you for your letter dated 20th May 2020, the contents of which are noted. Given some of the matters of law raised in your letter I have sought advice from the DPP.

I do not propose to repeat the RGP's position regarding the legality of the search warrant, suffice to say that our position remains that the warrant was properly and lawfully obtained.

You are correct to say that the RGP has objected to the disclosure of the documents used in support of the application of the warrant and that continues to be the RGP's fundamental position regarding full provision of all material. Notwithstanding this, I have instructed my officers to consider, if possible, making available a redacted version of those documents which may satisfy you regarding the basis upon which the application was made. Additionally, you have had made available to you substantial information in the pre-interview disclosure information. I hope that this combined will make the application to the Magistrate unnecessary. However, I must reiterate that any application for full disclosure of the documents will be resisted on the basis previously set out. Our view is that our objection is encapsulated within the Criminal Procedure Rules provisions identified by you in your letter.

As already explained, the DPP's advice was not sought in relation to whether a warrant should be applied for or how it would be executed. Such matters are operational in nature. The DPP's advice was however sought at various times in relation to status of all persons subject to the investigation. In this regard we remain convinced that the RGP's actions were lawful.

I note your request for further assurances from me regarding the examination etc of the material voluntarily provided by your client. In this regard, I can assure you that the material will not be examined without my giving you 7 days notice in advance of our intention to do so. This will give you ample opportunity to take whatever action you may deem necessary in the event that you are put on notice given that already 8 days since the items were handed over voluntarily.

Whilst on the matter of the material provided, I note that you have failed to respond to the point raised in earlier correspondence, namely that the material was provided voluntarily by your client and the warrant was not executed. On that basis I would be grateful if you would clarify the relevance of the challenge of the warrant. You will appreciate that this is an important issue for a number of reasons and clarity is required. Any suggestion that Mr Levy was coerced in to acting against his will and under threat of the execution of a warrant is strongly denied and will be apparent from any viewing of the Body Worn Video footage that was taken at the time.

Finally, for the avoidance of doubt, your client continues to be a suspect in this investigation. Your client has been given an opportunity to provide a prepared statement which may assist in the RGP's enquiries and clarify any involvement he may have had in the matter under investigation. Needless to say, the RGP must reserve the right to interview Mr Levy under caution at any time and it is a matter for you to advise your client on the effect of any statements he may or may not provide to the RGP. I must repeat that notwithstanding the above the RGP have an open mind and will review our position as and when evidence becomes available to us.

Yours sincerely

Ian McGrail OTM MSc

ITEM	DATE	SUBJECT	INFORMATION / EVIDENCE	QUESTION(S)
1.	28/02/2017	Text from CS to JL	James I need to give you an update on several issues. Also need to talk to you on John Perez and the security programme. Let me know when we can meet	• What did you discuss in relation to the Security Platform? • Why was a civil servant approaching you to discuss matters of national security?
2.	19/01/2018	Text from CS to JL	James I have a good proposal for investment. I think you will like this	• What was the nature of your relationship with Caine Sanchez? • Why was a civil servant making investment proposals to you?
3.	18/02/2018	Proposed Email to JL	In a draft letter to JL from John Perez (on behalf of 36 North) they purported that the business had a contract with HMGoG for the NSCIS platform [with the platform being worth £7.5 million]. It also suggested that the company had an international contract for Sao Tome and Principe.	• Did you receive this letter? • Were you aware / made aware that Bland Limited were the holders of this contract? • What did you understand where the letter suggests that they had a current contract with HMGoG? • Did TC/JP discuss the means by which they would obtain this contract? • Were you aware that the Sao Tome and Principe contract was one which had been initiated on behalf of Bland Limited?
4.	28/03/18	Company Incorporation	Astelon Limited incorporated.	• Was the company incorporated in anticipation of acting as a shareholding company in 36 North?

5.	23/04/18	Company Incorporation	36 North incorporated.	• Astelon Limted (Hassans) have a 33% beneficial interest in this company. • What agreement was made in order for Hassans to acquire this interest? (i.e. initial investment etc). • Why was the company formed? (i.e. was this in accordance with the Letter of Intent?) • What were the terms of the initial agreement (in terms of salaries/ loan agreements etc). • Were any other partners actively involved in this company?
6.	10/06/2018	Text from JP to JL	Jaime we did not get a chance to catch up this week. I hope all is well with you and you have managed to slowly get back into it. David has already completed the SHA which is good news. I would appreciate discussing it with you when we get a chance. I am away from Gibraltar on business in Istanbul followed by Madrid (close hold please). Preparing for our departure on 29th June. Everything else is now almost in place. John.	• You were aware they were departing before they informed Bland Limited. • What did he mean when he said that everything was almost in place?
7.	06/07/2018	Text from JP to JL	James we have just finished with Carnival after a long day of negotiations. We have been successful and now moving to the pilot phase. Flying back tomorrow 👆	• Carnival Cruises was a project undertaken on behalf of Blands. • Why was Perez updating you about a potential client of Bland Limited?

				• Was it his intention to appropriate the business which had been pursued whilst working for Bland? • Was the completion of these projects held back by TC/JP until the new company was operating?
8.	24/07/2018	Text from CS to JL	James I received a call from James Gaggero last night reference the security programme. I have discussed it with John and emailed the CM. It may be wise for us to meet and maybe include David Weber to go over some aspects of the conversation.	• Why was CS contacting you to discuss the national security platform? • What was discussed during this meeting?
9.	06/08/2018	Text from JL and JP	Looking Forward to working together	• In what capacity did you intend to work with Perez / Cornelio? • What were the plans for 36 North?
10.	10/08/2018	Text from CS to JL	James I have asked the CM to see me prior to his meeting with JG on Monday. He has not responded yet. Please give him a nudge.	• Why was a Civil Servant asking you to prompt a meeting with the CM? • Was this because it was related to 36 North?
11.	14/08/2018	Text from CS to JL	James just got John Perez company their Insurance broker. Everything is going well with this. Just drafted letter to send to James Gaggero and waiting for CM to approve. I have also urged them to sign the international agreement and they are moving forward with this	• What involvement did Caine Sanchez have in 36 North? • Why was he advising on what contracts to sign?
12.	20/08/2018	Text from JP to JL	James, I thought I would send you an update so that you have a clear understanding of the current situation. We continue to run the NSCIS (immigration/security/statistics) platform for the GOG whilst we wait to learn if we are formally	• By this date Cornelio was working as a consultant for Bland. • There is a reference to running the NSCIS platform for HMGoG. However, this was a contract appointed to continue to run this service or whether the GOG has opted to go for our new proposal. As you aware Blands do not have the resources to do this but have contested the ownership of the code of the system (revenue exercise for them/we are covering the risks now). I believe their claim is flawed as this was built and paid module by module to meet a requirement based on law enforcement operational needs. For Gaggero it's his only stance as he tries to push for some form of compensation either from the Government or 36N in the future. By removing our costs and that of the developers (now with us) and one other obvious staff move Gaggero balances his net profit so he is not being entirely honest on that front. With regards to 36N developed an entirely new Border Management System which is better than NSCIS to safeguard any future challenges and to provide the GOG with an option to continue the operation without having to rely on any system that was developed by Blands. We also run a series of other key Government platforms all of which have pledged their full support on us. We continue to operate and add functionality to all of these platforms, currently for no renumeration as we wait for a decision to be taken by the GOG. Best outcome for us is for the GoG to inform Gaggero that they are not in agreement with his claim and go with our new proposal which also saves the GOG a considerable amount of money. We must however continue to give the CM his space until ready. With regards to 36N it is important that we are appointed to administer such a system as it will help for future	belonging to Bland Limited. On what basis were Perez / 36 North running the platform? • How were they running the platform if Bland had not been informed of this arrangement? • Who authorised this arrangement in Government? • Why would Perez / 36 North be asked to continue to run the service when Bland Limited had not been informed that they may have the contract withdrawn? • Had HMGoG been approached to formally consider 36N taking over the platform? • What discussions did you have with CM in relation to this matter?

			referencing for International sales. Currently we have 4 African states showing an expression of interest with one being signed early in September. Once my notice period is over I am going to focus on the British Independent Territories which will also be good for Gib plc. Hope this helps.
13.	21/08/2018	Text from TC to JL	Dear James, would it be possible to sit down with you or the CM to try and move forward with our projects? I currently have a lot of work on hold pending this decision. I believe James Gaggero is attempting to stall us with empty threats.
14.	29/08/2018	Text from TC to JL	Dear James, please try and get me a 10 min slot for me to meet the CM. I believe I am best placed to explain the entire situation and advise the best technical solution possible. That should resolve any deadlock.	• Was this meeting facilitated? • If so, what was the outcome of the meeting?
15.	30/08/2018	Text from JP to JL	John I just rang you to tell you everything is under control. I've been working with Tommy on the relevant letters. I am very confident that we will bring this to a close in a successful manner very shortly. You can rest assured I will do my best to help you in every way. I have great Respect and admiration for your ability and hard work. Do not worry if there is an attack I will help you to defend and to counter-attack. You're a military man so I'm writing to you in military terms😊	• Can you confirm that this text was in respect of the NSCIS platform? • If so, why were you confident in closing the matter?
16.	30/08/2018	Text forwarded from JL to TC	You should know that I have spoken to Tommy and despite his letter to James G he will continue ensuring that the system is kept going until a solution is found acceptable the government.	• Was this a forwarded text you sent to the CM? (The defence have suggested that it was).

				• On what basis was it agreed that they would continue to run the NSCIS platform? • On whose authority? • Why was he deceiving JG / Bland by stating that he would not be supporting the platform?
17.	05/09/2018	Text from TC to JL	Dear James, Just a suggestion...should there be hesitation to move contract to 36N which is partially owned by Hassans, could we not have the contracts given to ICODE Limited? (my company and i am the sole director). Agreements could then be put in place between ICODE and 36N. Your thoughts?	• Why might there have been an issue transferring the ownership to 36 North?
18.	07/09/2018	Text from JP to JL	James this week we will be receiving a contract from São Tomé and Príncipe for review. The commercial elements of the contract have already been agreed in principle. We are also closing in on Equatorial Guinea. I will work with the relevant inspectorate International bodies to make sure all risks are addressed. I need you to appoint a lawyer who can work in close liaison with me with these projects who is also not put of by the expeditionary nature of this work. Let's start putting a structure in place. Tommy has designed a completely new platform which is far more advanced than what we currently operate in Gib and thus we can move forward with this agenda without further delay.	• Were you aware that the contract for São Tomé and Príncipe was another business venture which was initiated on behalf of Bland Limited?
19.	12/09/2018	Text from TC to JL	Important please advise chief as follows: As promised Tommy has continued to work on the platform to ensure that National Security is not	• Did you advise the CM that TC continued to work on the system?

			compromised in any way. All systems have been redeveloped from scratch and now operate from a new platform using cutting edge technology ready for its international offering with 3 countries already confirmed.	• What was the nature of the meeting with the CM? • Why did he continue to work on the system after he terminated his employment / consultancy?
20.	23/09/2018	Text from TC to JL	Attached is a letter which may be of use to the GoG in order to proceed with the new platform we have offered them.	• We believe that this is a letter written as if drafted by HMGoG and informing Bland that they would no longer be contracted in respect of the software platforms. Is this correct?
21.	09/10/2018	Text from JP to JL	James thank you so much for this morning. I am sure our sessions will become more enjoyable as we set of in our journey. With regards to dropping Fabian a note, let's give him a bit more time. As the pressure will naturally surface through his law enforcement heads. We will get our chance to put the it right as JG has maliciously tried everything to try to discredit us unfairly. Please let me know if you are able to arrange a meeting with us with Raphael Benain with regards to our lottery proposal. Thank you. John.	• Were these discussions regarding the NSCIS platform? • If so, can you confirm the nature of the discussions with the CM at this time?
22.	19/10/2018	Text from TC to JL	Morning James. Very confidential. Note Gaggero has brought in a forensic team of six to look at anything John and I may have done to tamper with the system etc. Gaggero is going all out it seems.
23.	19/10/2018	Text from TC to JP	Tommy Cornelio: Spoke to James ref forensic team confidentially Tommy Cornelio: Spoke to him on the phone Tommy Cornelio: Call me and i can discuss Tommy Cornelio: He says not to worry	• What was discussed in respect of the forensic team? • Did he say why he was so concerned that they would try to prove he sabotaged the system?

			Tommy Cornelio: I am very concerned they will try an prove i have acted to sabotage the system in any way etc	• Did he tell you that he had sabotaged the system? • Why did you tell him not to worry?
24.	28/11/2018	Text from TC to JP	Tommy Cornelio: I wonder if JL managed to get a word in with the CM John Perez: Possibly Tommy Cornelio: I think we will get some news soon Tommy Cornelio: CM needs to take the decision Tommy Cornelio: I think he will do it Tommy Cornelio: Surely cannot go back on his word John Perez: I think so. Tommy Cornelio: We are due a break John Perez: Yeap Tommy Cornelio: Its coming Tommy Cornelio: Dont see CM saying no to JL Tommy Cornelio: He would have to have a very good reason Tommy Cornelio: And he doesnt have it	• Did you discuss speaking to the CM with TC/JP? • Did you have this discussion with the CM? • What was the nature of this discussion? • What word was given by the CM?
25.	27/12/2018	Text from TC to JL Reply from JL	Tommy Cornelio: If you do not believe CM will transfer contracts back to us early in the new year, please let us know as I need to ensure we are all working towards objectives that will generate revenue for us. James Levy: I don't think he will transfer the contracts back to 36 N.We have to work on alternatives. I am happy to help or do you need.	• The platform had been handed back to Bland in early October. Why was TC uncertain as to where 36N stood at this stage? • Was HMGoG still considering transferring the contract at this time?
26.	26/03/2019	Text from TC to JL	Perhaps CM would be willing to put the National Security system out for tender next month.	• Was HMGoG still considering transferring the contract at this time? If so, why?

27.	27/03/2019	Text from TC to JL Reply from JL	Tommy Cornelio: Do you think there is any chance of getting national security contract back at some point? We have BCA CEO meeting CM next week and I am briefing him before the meeting. James Levy: Yes	• Why did you believe that HMGoG would be willing to give 36N the contract back at this stage?
28.	11/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	1. I am preparing a report for Caine/Albert Mena with regards to the failures of the National Security platform of [redacted]. Lesley is preparing a legal letter for your review in an attempt to speed up the process. This is ok?	• What were you told about this report and how it came about? • Given that you were aware that 36N did not have the contract for the NSCIS platform, did you not question how TC was accessing a national security system?
29.	11/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	We are going to have a field day on the national security report..just wait until you see it. For now I am reviewing every single module 1 by 1. [redacted].	• Were you shown a copy of this report?
30.	14/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	James, note I have provided Caine with a full report on the security platform, I have kept this simple and impartial.
31.	23/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	Note I provided Albert Mena with a report on the National Security system. Has he made any comment to you about this? The report would have been delivered to him via Caine.	• Was this report discussed with you at any time by any representative of HMGoG?
32.	03/05/2019	Text from TC to JL	Dear James, the national security system [redacted]. Can I email the CM once again to meet me? He cannot allow this to continue.	• Did TC email the CM / meet him in respect of this matter?

Paul -
I have perused the document you attached to your email below.

On the basis of the information contained in this document I support, in principle, the suggested course of action. As you know, the tactical detail of how you intend to set to achieve the objectives will be subject of further consideration, mainly to safeguard operational security.

Given the complex nature of this investigation and the reputational risks at stake I would ask that you consult with the DPP to ensure our intended activity is legally supported.

Mark,

Following on from our video conference please find my comments on the attached PDF. Once you have considered these, and the other issues raised during our conversation please return in order that I may forward to the DPP with a covering note.

As I mentioned, the report is (as one would expect from you) comprehensive and an absolute indictment of the actions of all of the suspects. It lays out in clear terms the conduct complained of and manages to summarise a plethora of evidence in an easy to follow manner which does credit to you all.

As we discussed I feel that the report would benefit form a timeline and glossary of terms as some of the IT descriptions may be difficult to fathom for the layperson.

I would like to place on record my most sincere thanks for all of the hard work that you, DS Clarke, DC Cullen and the rest of the team have committed to this investigation.

RE: Operation Delhi

Date: 22nd April 2020

Sir,

RE: INTERVIEW OF MR HAIM LEVY – OPERATION DELHI

1. The intention of this report is consider the options available when dealing with Mr Haim Levy in respect of Operation Delhi. Based upon the advice offered by the DPP, it is our intention to interview Mr Levy on the basis of a conspiracy to defraud.

2. In the NDM report you stated, "The necessity to arrest JL will not be met in the event that he consents to a voluntary attendance police interview. In the absence of such consent an arrest would have to be made to secure his attendance to allow the prompt and effective investigation of the offence and secure evidence by questioning. There is no longer a need to prevent conferring between the defendants and a wider search of Hassan's legal premises would in my view be disproportionate."

3. It is therefore my intention to request Mr Levy to voluntarily attend the police station for interview.

4. Whilst there has been a substantial time since the alleged offence(s) took place, there is still a requirement to seize digital devices. Given that we suspect that an offence may have been committed, and in order to prevent loss / destruction of evidence, we would ideally secure the evidence in situ, and without giving Mr Levy prior notice of our intent.

5. On arrival at the premises, we would therefore seek, in the first instance, to be granted access to the relevant devices without the use of the warrant. A warrant would only require execution where co-operation was not offered.

6. Likewise, an arrest would only be required where Levy failed to co-operate with voluntary attendance. An arrest would then become necessary pursuant to section 42(e) (prompt and effective investigation of the offence) in order to interview.

7. The issue of how and where to approach Mr Levy therefore needs to be considered.

8. Unfortunately, this decision has been complicated by the Covid-19 pandemic. In particular, I note that Mr Levy is 69 years of age, and will be 70 on the 23rd October 2020. He is therefore on the borderline of what is considered a high risk individual. Moreover, I am not aware of whether he has any existing condition that may increase his risk further.

9. In light of the above, I have considered three options for dealing with this matter:

    a. Approach Mr Levy at his residence;
    b. Approach Mr Levy at his place of work; and
    c. Request Mr Levy attend NMH.

An Approach at his Residence

10. Approaching Mr Levy at his residence would allow us to expedite the matter. In doing so, we could seize relevant devices from his home. This would allow the investigation to progress, in particular having regard to the effect that a delay may have on other suspects.

11. An approach at his home would still require a search of his offices for mobile devices etc, in the event that he had a number of phones / tablets. Whilst he may not need to be present during the search we would need to consider whether the Hassans offices are open, and whether there would be a need to call someone down to open them up.

12. The problem with this option is that we are approaching an individual who is at least, on the borderline of being a high risk individual. We may therefore be criticised for interacting with him at this point in time. This is particularly so given the length of the investigation. It may be difficult to argue that we could not wait until restrictions are lifted, or relaxed, and he has returned to work.

An Approach at his place of Work

13. This was the initial intention prior to the restrictions implemented by Covid-19 regulations. The advantage of this option is that Mr Levy could be approached whilst in the working environment. As such, there can be no criticism of having unnecessarily exposed him to the virus.

14. The problem with this option is that we may need to wait until the Covid-19 restrictions are lifted / relaxed and that he is going into work. This may have an effect in relation to the progression of the investigation, and thereby the other suspects.

Request Mr Levy attend NMH

15. Mr Levy could be requested to attend the police station. In doing so, he could be asked to bring any devices for analysis and to submit to an interview.

16. However, this would notify Mr Levy of our intentions and would thereby risk the loss of evidence. This would be contrary to the way we have dealt with the other suspects, although we could argue that given the amount of time, he will be well aware of the arrests and of the police investigation.

17. Moreover, we would still expose Mr Levy to a risk of exposure to the virus, albeit that he would come voluntarily [and could thereby raise any concerns beforehand].

Conclusion

18. In my view we should approach Mr Levy at work, when the restrictions have been relaxed / lifted. To do otherwise may attract criticism of how we deal with the Covid-19 virus.

19. If Mr Levy were requested to the station / approached at home, whilst the restrictions are in place, this may undermine the arguments we are making with regard to keeping the other suspects on bail (i.e. to reduce their exposure to the virus).

20. I have considered the need to expedite this case, in particular having regard to the other suspects. However, given his age, and that he may be a high risk individual, we should, in my opinion be extra cautious about how he is dealt with. This is relevant not only for the safety of the individual but also as to how the RGP are portrayed in dealing with the current crisis.

21. I recognise that the organisation may have a differing view, and that there are disadvantages to this approach. I do understand that an argument could be made that it is in the interests of justice to proceed as soon as possible. It is ultimately a matter of balancing the needs of the investigation (and the rights of suspects on bail) against any concerns for the health of Mr Levy.

22. If it is decided to approach Mr Levy during the current lockdown period, we could attempt to mitigate the risks to Mr Levy with the use of PPE equipment / distancing during interviews. However, IT have not yet provided us with the ability to remote view interviews.

Sir,

In respect of the search warrants for Mr Levy, we are in the process of:

1. Drafting Schedule 1 warrants for the residence of Mr Levy and Hassans;
2. Arranging for the warrants to be signed;
3. Drafting a plan for the execution of the warrants (including officers required etc);
4. Drafting a list of questions for Mr Levy to consider before we interview him; and
5. Dealing with the problem of social distancing in the context of interviews.

All going well the above should be all ready next week. This still leaves two problems:

1. We have no lawyer to review the privileged material – I would suggest that we contact the DPP to see whether instructing / contacting a local lawyer is a viable option; and
2. Can Alfred be released to assist with devices at one of the locations?

Mr Levy,

The following information is being provided in relation to an ongoing police investigation into Conspiracy to Defraud.

In October 2018 Bland Limited discovered evidence of computer misuse within the National Security Central Intelligence System ("NSCIS"). This platform is an integral part of the national security of Gibraltar. The evidence suggested that, without authority from Bland Limited, the platform had been deliberately altered [redacted], that its performance would be hindered, thereby undermining Gibraltar's national security.

A complaint was made to the Royal Gibraltar Police and in May 2019, John Perez, Thomas Cornelio, Edward Asquez and Caine Sanchez were arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to defraud Bland Limited of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, the property of Bland Limited. In addition they were arrested for related offences pursuant to Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Computer Misuse).

Search warrants were executed at home and business addresses as a result of which numerous digital devices were seized. Evidence recovered from the seized devices has been forensically extracted and examined by RGP officers. This evidence indicates that you may have been involved in the said conspiracy.

The evidence obtained suggests that the conspiracy was to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, and to have it transferred to 36 North Limited. You are a shareholder of this company by virtue of a company wholly owned by Hassans named Astelon Limited, which owns 33% of 36 North Limited. You thereby owned in excess of a 10% shareholding in 36 North Limited and stood to directly benefit from the revenue created by the NSCIS maintenance contract.

Advice has been sought from the Director of Public Prosecutions who has concurred with the conclusions that have been reached.

Whilst the evidence so far indicates that you may have been involved in conspiring to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract, the RGP are keeping an open mind and have a duty to follow any reasonable lines of enquiry. It is therefore intended to interview you under caution so that you can provide your version of events. This interview will cover [but not be limited to] the following areas:

1. Role and responsibilities Hassans International Law Firm
2. 36 North Limited (incl. company formation / financing / business)
3. Astelon Limited (incl. company formation / business)
4. Icode Limited
5. Communication / relationship with Thomas Cornelio
6. Communication / relationship with John Perez
7. Communication / relationship with Caine Sanchez
8. Communication with the Chief Minister
9. The National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS)
10. Any other relevant evidence gathered from the search.

You are hereby invited to attend a voluntary interview under caution at New Mole House police station at …. on the …. May 2020.

The content disclosed in this document has been provided in order to assist you in responding to the police enquiries, and to assist you in instructing legal representation. This is an ongoing police investigation and the information provided herein must not be disclosed to any third party without authority of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

Dear Mr Turnock,

Please refer to the attached letter from Lewis Baglietto of Hassans who is representing Mr Jaime Levy. I refute in the strongest terms possible the suggestion that there has been any misfeasance in public office. It is my duty to point out that, as you are aware, Mr Levy is a suspect in a live criminal investigation and has been invited to attend a voluntary police interview next Monday 18th May 2020. To release a copy of the application for the warrant and related documents would seriously compromise this investigation by providing the defence the evidence on which the prosecution may rely on before we have had an opportunity to explore this in the correct manner. Notwithstanding the above, there remains a number of persons on police bail in connection with this investigation and any disclosure prior to a decision being made to charge has the potential to seriously undermine the investigation and thereby the interests of justice.

Given the seriousness of the situation I am copying in the Director of Public Prosecutions and the Commissioner of Police.

Kind regards

Paul

Subject: James Levy

Dear Attorney

I write on behalf of my firm's senior partner James Levy QC in relation to the attendance of RGP at his home and office addresses earlier today.

The officers who attended informed him that they were investigating the offence of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the dishonest obtaining of a maintenance contract relating to the NCSIS platform. They told him, in terrorem, that they were in possession of a search warrant (although they left with him a copy of a proforma relating to section 21 warrants of arrest, it is plain that the warrant which they claim to have had must have been a section 12 warrant), and told him that unless he cooperated, the warrant would be executed. As you would expect of a person of Mr Levy QC's stature and standing, he agreed to cooperate. He permitted them to enter his home address, and to search it, which they did. Despite threatening to execute the warrant, the police officers declined to provide him with a copy, even though they left the proforma. They seized an ipad, and then left to search his office. At Hassans' offices, they entered his personal office, and asked for his iphone and copies of documents. Again, Mr Levy QC agreed to cooperate, and provided his phone, with the sim card removed (so as to allow him to continue to work).

I am extremely concerned by the apparent gross abuse of power that this conduct amounts to, and that the RGP has seen fit to proceed in this manner. Although Mr Levy has asked me to confirm that the officers in attendance were personally courteous to him at all times, it is absolutely unconscionable that they should have threatened to execute a warrant in order to secure entry so that police search powers could be used. Moreover, it is completely inexplicable how the RGP could have thought that any warrant was proper, let alone that any court could have considered that the statutory pre-conditions for the issue of a warrant were met. The issue of a warrant was unnecessary, oppressive and highly distressing to Mr Levy and his family. It directly impugned Mr Levy's reputation and dignity as an officer of the court, the senior partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm and a highly respected member of the local community. Putting aside the ridiculous notion that he is suspected of having been involved in this serious criminal activity, it is not even clear that a production order under section 13 could have been properly obtained. How could it have even been properly suggested that entry to the premises would not be granted unless a warrant was produced, or that the purpose of a search would be frustrated or seriously prejudiced?

Mr Levy and my firm are, in addition, highly aggrieved at the fact that the RGP have taken Mr Levy's tablet and mobile telephone, which, as you will appreciate, contain a vast amount of privileged and irrelevant information to which the RGP is clearly not entitled as a matter of trite law. Although the RGP undertook to engage an independent counsel in the UK to examine the material for LPP, this completely fails to provide the necessary assurances that LPP material, or unrelated personal, private and privileged information, will be adequately protected. Not only was the material not 'blue-bagged' in his presence (presumably because the RGP intend to copy the device thereafter elsewhere) but the exercise appears to be intended to be carried out outside Gibraltar.

As you know, legal professional privilege is sacrosanct. The prohibition on the production of privileged material in the Criminal Procedure Act and under the general law are total and the firm's many clients are entitled to have the protection of their privileged and confidential affairs guaranteed in any disclosure process.

I am therefore writing to you in your capacity as guardian of the public interest to seek your urgent intervention with a view to ensuring that all the seized material is returned forthwith. Notwithstanding Mr Levy's open and sincere cooperation (which continues), the RGP were simply not entitled to take the material. To the extent that RGP wishes to obtain the material afresh, then consideration should be given by it to the making of a proper inter partes section 13/Schedule 1 production order application.

To that end, I would be grateful if you could give me the opportunity to urgently meet with a view to further discussing the above concerns with you and the RGP. I would venture to say that we are dealing with a serious abuse of law and power here.

Kind regards,

Lewis Baglietto

VOLUNTARY ATTENDANCE FOR POLICE INTERVIEW UNDER CAUTION

You are not obliged to say anything unless you wish to do so, but what you say may be put into writing and given in evidence.

The RGP are investigating offences against Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Computer Misuse) and Conspiracy to Defraud. This follows a complaint made in 2018.

In October 2018 Bland Limited uncovered evidence of computer misuse within the National Security Central Intelligence System ("NSCIS"). This system is an integral part of the national security of Gibraltar. The evidence suggests that without authority the NSCIS platform had been tampered with so that sensitive information would be diverted to unauthorised servers. In addition the performance of the platform was compromised by sabotage thereby undermining Gibraltar's national security.

A complaint was made to the Royal Gibraltar Police and in May 2019, John Perez, Thomas Cornelio, Edward Asquez (all former employees of Bland Limited) and Caine Sanchez (a senior civil servant) were arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to defraud Bland Limited of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract and for related offences pursuant to Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Computer Misuse).

Search warrants were executed at home and business addresses as a result of which numerous digital devices were seized. The evidence recovered has been forensically examined and affords reasonable grounds to suspect that you may have been involved in the said conspiracy, particularly in the planning and preparation stages and by improperly using your influence with a civil servant and others.

The evidence suggests that the conspiracy was to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, and to have it transferred to 36 North Limited. According to Companies House records you are a shareholder of this company by virtue of a company wholly owned by Hassans named Astelon Limited, which owns 33% of the shares in 36 North Limited. You thereby hold over 10% of the shareholding in 36 North Limited and stood to directly benefit from the revenue created by the transfer of the NSCIS maintenance contract.

Whilst the evidence so far indicates that you may have been involved in conspiring to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract, the RGP are keeping an open mind and have a duty to follow all reasonable lines of enquiry.

The topic areas which we seek to explore in formal interview under caution include (but are not limited to) the following:

1. Your role and responsibilities with regard to Hassans International Law Firm
2. 36 North Limited (incl. the company formation / financing / business)
3. Astelon Limited (incl. the company formation / business)
4. Icode Limited
5. Communication / relationship with Thomas Cornelio
6. Communication / relationship with John Perez
7. Communication / relationship with Caine Sanchez
8. The National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS)
9. Communication with any other person in relation to any of the above
10. Evidence gathered from the search of your residence and workplace
11. Any other area relevant to this investigation

You are hereby invited to attend a voluntary interview under caution at New Mole House police station at 1000Hrs on Monday the 18th May 2020.

In the event that you unable to attend at this time please contact Detective Inspector Wyan by email at mark.wyan@royalgibpolice.gi.

Our Ref: IM160

Mr Lewis Baglietto QC
PO Box 199
Madison Building
Midtown, Queensway

Dear Sir,

I have been forwarded a copy of your letter addressed to Detective Superintendent Paul Richardson dated 13 May 2020 the contents of which have been noted.

I have been fully briefed as to the conduct of the investigation and given the seriousness of the allegations made and the matters raised. I have seen fit to respond directly.

At the outset I must point out that the sequence of events are not as you have described and I do not agree with you that there were reasonable grounds to believe that Mr Levy would have simply handed over his devices and documents.

Notwithstanding the fact the police attended with a search warrant issued by the Magistrates Court, an attempt was made to try and deal with the matter by consent. This involved Mr Levy consulting with 'senior silk' in private and informing the officers that he would consent to handing over the items sought as long as the interests of his clients were protected. Once the means in which they would be achieved was clear Mr Levy signed the relevant form after reading it and consulting with Mr Chincotta. Accordingly the search warrant was not executed but rather Mr Levy chose to hand over his devices voluntarily, albeit after some time and after extensive consultation.

I do not agree with you that warrant was excessive, unjustified or unlawful and in my view the action taken was both legitimate and proportionate in the circumstances. I do not think it would serve any purpose to enter into a discussion on the use of Productions Orders as opposed to a Search Warrant.

In relation to the items that you have requested I have attached a copy of the search warrant to this email. I am unable at this time to comply with your request for a copy of the application for the search warrant or any other written evidence as this could potentially compromise an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed. The same applies to point 4 (any notes taken by the RGP of the hearing). The only order or ruling that I am aware of made by the Stipendiary Magistrate was the warrant itself. Although the DPP has been consulted on various non-operational issues concerning this investigation including the status of various parties he has not provided advice on the application of a search warrant which remains an operational matter.

Please rest assured that the RGP has not copied or downloaded any material so far and in fact the devices remain sealed and I have assumed safe custody of them. I remain convinced of the legality of our course of conduct but undertake to postpone their submission to be examined for seven days from the date of this letter in the event that you may wish to make any legal challenge to this decision.

I would also ask you to please note that it is not a question of me refusing to meet with you and the Attorney General, but rather I view it as inappropriate given the circumstances in which we find ourselves which I trust you understand.

I enclose a copy of a notice regarding voluntary attendance for police interview. This sets out the topic areas which we seek to explore in the formal police interview. I should point that we have not shared this document with any other party. It would be very helpful if Mr Levy brings any material with him that may support his account or provide it in advance of his attendance. Additionally, as would be normal practice counsel will be provided with a pre-interview briefing

Finally, as you will no doubt be aware, Mr Levy undertook to voluntarily extract the relevant emails and other documents from Hassans servers and provide these to police along with all files concerning Astelon Ltd and 36 North Ltd. Grateful if you advise when these will be supplied to assist with our investigation.

Yours faithfully

Dear Attorney

Schedule 1 paragraph 12 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 search warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at Don Place, 8 Governor's Lane; and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building

We refer to our earlier correspondence with you in this matter, dated 12 May 2020, and to the Commissioner of Police's attached letter dated 14th May in reply to our letter to Superintendent Richardson dated 13th May, which we copied to you. We are copying this letter to the Commissioner of Police.

Introduction

We set out in outline below the reasons why there are very good grounds for believing that the warrants were improperly procured and wrongfully granted (in the course of an ex parte hearing), and why the RGP officers acted unlawfully in attending the premises and using the threat that they would execute the warrants to obtain from Mr Levy QC the material that they sought.

As we have stated in my earlier letter, it is extraordinary that the RGP should have thought it appropriate to resort to the draconian route of Schedule 1 paragraph 12 search warrants, and no less extraordinary that the Stipendiary Magistrate should have thought it right and appropriate to grant the two applications. There were serious and multiple breaches of the statutory requirements and wholesale departures from best practice. There can be little surprise that, as we believe is the case, the DPP advised the Commissioner against the making of these applications.

The issue of the warrants was unnecessary and oppressive, and the threat to use them highly distressing. Their issue directly impugned, as we have stated, Mr Levy's reputation and dignity as an officer of the court, the senior partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm and as a highly respected member of the local community.

It was also a gross abuse of power for RGP to have threatened the use of previously obtained search warrants to secure compelled and involuntary consent to enter the two premises and seize materials. Indeed, the very fact that Mr Levy QC was prepared to allow the officers entry (notwithstanding the non-execution of the warrants) belies RGP's unsupported assertion to the Magistrate that there were reasonable grounds for believing that "other methods of obtaining the material have not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail" (Schedule 1, paragraph 2(b)(ii)) and that there was a basis upon which he could be additionally satisfied that "(b) it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material" or "(d) service of notice of an application for an order under paragraph 4 may seriously prejudice the investigation" (Schedule 1, paragraphs 14(b) and (d)). Either the warrants were needed and justified, or they were not, and it is simply not correct for the Commissioner to state, as he does in his letter of 14th May 2020, that the items sought were handed over consensually, thereby rendering the RGP action 'legitimate and proportionate'.

The Commissioner has, so far, unlawfully refused to provide any detail of the basis upon which the applications for the warrants was made. Indeed, on 12 May 2020, following the events in question, the RGP provided Mr Levy QC with a misleading proforma which wrongly suggested that the search powers were being exercised under the section 21 "Entry for the purposes of arrest etc" power.

The Commissioner's refusal to provide a copy of the applications for the issue of the warrants that were made by his officers, or of any evidence adduced in support, or of any notes made by the RGP during the ex parte Magistrates' Court hearing, on the basis this could 'potentially undermine an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed' is perverse and wrong in law, and provides a further basis for a potential challenge.

There exists a stand-alone obligation on the ex parte applicant for a warrant, and on the court that granted it, to provide all relevant material adduced in support of the application: R(Energy Financing Team Ltd) v Bow Street Magistrates' Court [2005] EWHC 1626 (Admin) at para 27; R(Gittins) v Central Criminal Court [2011] EWHC 131 (Admin, at para 25(2); R(Faisaltex) v Crown Court at Preston [2008] EWHC 2832 (Admin) at para 35; R(S) v Chief Constable of the BTP [2013] EWHC 2189 at para 46.

The person who is seeking to challenge the grant of a warrant is entitled to know the basis upon which it was granted, and the case law simply does not provide, in the absence of a properly formulated application by the body that obtained the warrant for relevant information to be withheld on the basis that its disclosure would seriously prejudice the public interest: R (Haralambous) v Crown Court at St Albans & Anor [2018] UKSC 1, for refusal on any lesser basis.

In the absence of proper disclosure of the basis upon which the applications were made, it is not possible to be certain as to what transpired in the Magistrates' Court. The 'information' in support of both applications should have set out in writing, by direct reference to the particular facts of the investigation and the belief of the investigating officer(s), why the statutory requirements were met. They did not.

Instead, with the exception of a single reference in each information to the indictable offence said to be believed to have been committed, 'namely conspiracy to defraud' (which words are in a different font to the rest of the information), they are wholly silent, and contain only a bare rehearsal of the statutory criteria. In the absence of a record of what DS Clarke, the officer who made the applications, told the court orally, it is impossible to know what information, if any, the court was given any in support of the applications. It is also impossible to know if he properly discharged the plain duty upon him of making plain any information or material that weighed against the application.

Moreover, in the absence of any ruling (the Commissioner in his letter has confirmed that the Magistrate gave no ruling), the reasons for the grant of the warrants are completely unknown. It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that, rather than seeking authorisation to obtain material in relation to genuinely suspected offences, instead the police were on "a fishing expedition in the hope of finding some material upon which the charge can be hung": Williams v. Summerfield [1972] 2 QB 512, per Lord Widgery CJ at 518.

The illegality of the process, and the unlawfulness of the warrants, would appear to be clearly established on the following grounds.

Statutory provisions

In order for a warrant to have been properly issued pursuant to Paragraph 12 of Schedule 1, the Magistrate must have needed to be satisfied:

(a) that

(i) either set of access conditions is fulfilled; and

(ii) any of the further conditions set out in Paragraph 14 is also fulfilled;

OR

(b) that –

(i) the second set of access conditions is fulfilled; and

(ii) an Order under Paragraph 4 in relation to the material has not been complied with.

It is clear from the warrants that the police relied on the first set of access conditions, namely:

"2. The first set of access conditions is fulfilled if -

(a) that there are reasonable grounds for believing that-

(i) an indictable offence has been committed;

(ii) there is material which consists of special procedure material or also includes special procedure material and does not also include excluded material on premises specified in the application, or on premises occupied or controlled by a person specified in the application;

(iii) the material is likely to be of substantial value (whether by itself or together with other material) to the investigation in connection with which the application is made; and

(iv) the material is likely to be relevant evidence;

(b) other methods of obtaining the material have –

(i) been tried without success; or

(ii) not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail; and

(c) it is in the public interest, having regard to –

(i) the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained; and

(ii) the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it, that the material should be produced or that access to it should be given."

The further conditions set out in Paragraph 14 are as follows:

"14. The further conditions mentioned in Paragraph 12(a)(ii) are that –

(a) it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant entry to the premises;

(b) it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material;

(c) the material contains information which –

(i) is subject to a restriction or obligation such as is mentioned in section 15(2)(b); and

(ii) is likely to be disclosed in breach of it if a warrant is not issued;

(d) service of notice of an application for an order under paragraph 4 may seriously prejudice the investigation."

The informations stated that the requirements of Paragraphs 2 and 14(b) and (d) of Schedule 1 were fulfilled: "The further conditions at b & d above apply"

First set of Access conditions (Schedule 1, paragraph 2, and 12(a)(i))

First, in the absence of any information, it is not known on what basis the Stipendiary Magistrate had reasonable grounds for believing that an indictable offence had been committed (let alone in relation to Mr Levy QC, whose premises were the subject of the applications).

Paragraph 2 requires that the constable has reasonable grounds for believing the matters set out in paragraph 2(a). It is plain that a belief is more than a suspicion and that the need to have reasonable grounds for a belief imposes a higher threshold than the need to have reasonable grounds for a suspicion: R(S) (supra) at [61]; R (Eastenders Cash and Carry plc) v South Western Magistrates' Court [2011] 2 Cr App R 123. A mere assertion cannot suffice.

We do not know on what basis the court was persuaded that this requirement was met. In any event, it is a matter that the duty of candour, which rests upon an ex parte applicant (In re Stanford International Bank Limited and Another [2010] EWCA Civ 137; [2010] 3

W.L.R. 941 at para 191), absolutely demanded be brought to the attention of the Magistrate. It is far from clear that it was.

We also note the basis of RGP's apparent beliefs have altered since the warrants were obtained. In the note 'Voluntary Attendance for Police Interview under Caution", a copy of which was given to Mr Levy QC on 12 May 2020, the RGP referred, at point 9 of the topic areas which they wished to explore in interview under caution, to 'Communication with the Chief Minister in relation to any of the above'. In the otherwise identical version provided under cover of the Commissioner's letter of 14 May 2020, that phrase has been removed.

Second, whilst it is plain from the warrants and from the informations in support, that the material sought consisted of or included Special Procedure Material, there appears to be no basis upon which the Magistrate could have had reasonable grounds for believing that there would be no "excluded material" on the premises.

As made clear in R(S) at [33] and [57], paragraph 2(a)(ii) is only fulfilled if the Court is satisfied with evidence that the items to be seized do not also contain "excluded material". As stated in R(S) at [57], a lawyer's mobile or laptop would certainly include 'special procedure material' and could possibly also comprise "excluded material". It is not clear on what basis DS Clarke satisfied the court that the devices would not contain "excluded material".

Third, the court had to be satisfied that the material sought would be of substantial value to the investigation and likely to be relevant evidence. Again, there is nothing to suggest that the police or court considered the balancing exercise which appraises, on the one hand, the benefit to the investigation of obtaining the information against, on the other hand, the seizure with the possibility that it would contain in it a mass of "excluded material" and/or material subject to LPP, which was not concerned with the investigation and the seizure of which might well cause considerable professional disruption: R(S) (supra). The court's attention should have been drawn to this point with an explanation as to why this balancing exercise should be resolved in favour of the police.

Taking into account that the investigation has, we understand, been ongoing for over 18 months, and that the other suspects have already been searched and questioned, it is not at all clear how this could have been demonstrated. Was it likely that material sought so belatedly would be of 'substantial value'? Seeking further evidence identical to what had already been obtained would not meet the statutory requirement.

Fourth, in relation to the requirements of paragraph 2(b), we note that the informations allege that other methods of obtaining the material had not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail. The court had to be satisfied of two things: that other methods of obtaining the material had not, in fact, been tried; and that DS Clarke believed any other method was bound to fail (R v CCBTP at [34]).

No basis upon which the court could have been so satisfied is provided in either information, and it is wholly implausible that any proper basis could have been advanced. The notion that Mr Levy QC, as an officer of the court and Queen's Counsel, would have refused a request is absurd and, of course, as noted above, the very fact that the police did obtain the material in the way they did (following the threat to execute the warrants and the clear misrepresentation that the warrants had been applied for on the advice of the DPP) supports this. As was noted in R(S), a practising solicitor against whom no allegation of dishonesty had previously been made would in the ordinary course of events be expected to comply with a request from the police to hand over a document or at least not to destroy material.

Fifth, the information also purports to deal with the unsubstantiated public interest requirements in 2(c) which we reserve our right to further comment once we have seen any further evidence in support. However, we note that the Magistrate in satisfying himself that the warrant was in the public interest would have had to have regard to two matters: 1. the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained; and 2. the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it.

Paragraphs 12(a)(ii)/14

The information states that the following further conditions in paragraph 12(a)(ii) of Schedule 1 apply (we take that to mean the conditions in paragraph 14 referred to in 12(a)(ii)), namely:

1. 14(b) - that it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material; and

2. 14(d) - that service of notice of an application for an Order under Paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 may seriously prejudice the investigation

First, in relation to 14(b), this is plainly untrue. If it was practicable to communicate with Mr Levy as the person entitled to grant entry to his office and home, it was obviously practicable to communicate with him to grant access to the material (as proved to be the case). That such a statement should have been made on oath is nothing short of reckless and misleading.

Second, in relation to 14(d), it is impossible to see how the police could have so believed, or that the Magistrate could have been satisfied. Not only is this serious allegation not substantiated, but there can have been no basis for the notion that service of notice on Mr Levy of an application for an order under paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 risked him prejudicing the investigation (for example, by perverting the course of justice, or destroying or dissipating evidence) pending the hearing of an inter partes application for a production order.

Indeed, there was every reason for believing precisely the contrary. First, Mr Levy QC is the Senior Partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm, a Queen's Counsel, an officer of the Court, and a man of good character. As events transpired, the police themselves could not have believed that he would seriously prejudice the investigation, because they declined to execute the warrants they obtained, and allowed Mr Levy to remove his phone and copy the data before handing it over to them. They also now appear to trust him to provide voluntarily the emails they sought but failed to obtain. Secondly, the investigation has been ongoing for over 18 months, and Hassans acted, initially, for other suspects. The police knew that Mr Levy was aware of the investigation. Had he really wanted to destroy evidence, this could have been done months ago.

Width

The warrants at particular "(1)" sought the seizure of "electronic devices (including but not limited to mobile telephones and computers) capable of sending and receiving text messages, instant messages and/or electronic mail, owned and/or used by Haim Levy and any device storing any of the aforementioned communications".

These apparently unlimited terms were grossly wide. They were without limit in terms of scope or date, and completely failed to state what the sought material had to relate to. The plainly erroneous and inexplicable reference to 'any of the aforementioned communications' (there being no such reference) simply reinforces the point.

It would have been quite impossible, within the four corners of the warrant, for a person executing it, or for the person whose premises are being searched, to be able to identify with any degree of certainty what the warrant authorised by way of seizure: McGrath v. Chief Constable of the Royal Ulster Constabulary [2001] 2 AC 731 at [18]; R (Energy Financing Team Ltd) v. Bow Street Magistrates' Court (supra), at [24] and [37]; Power-Hynes v. Norwich Magistrates' Court [2009] EWHC 1512 (Admin), at [19] and [22]; R (Van der Pijl) v. Kingston Crown Court [2012] EWHC 3745, at [52]-[67]; C v. Nottingham and Newark Magistrates' Court [2013] EWHC 3790, at [48] and [51]. Particular (2) is similarly unrestricted in date range.

It follows that the warrants were grossly deficient on their face. The seizure of the phone and tablet would also necessarily have led to the seizure of a vast amount of irrelevant (and LPP) material that could not, on any view, have had any connection to the investigation and/or was not capable of being seized. The RGP took no steps to sift out this material.

LPP

Not only were the warrants drafted in impermissibly wide terms, but they contained no clear wording taking LPP material outside that which was authorised to be seized (R(A) v. Central Criminal Court [2017] EWHC 70 (Admin), at [81] and [84]). Nor can such an exclusion be implied from the wording of the warrant (cf. Gittins v Central Criminal Court [2011] EWHC 131 (Admin), at [36]-[37]).

A warrant which purports to authorise the seizure of LPP is invalid. See Gittins (above), per Gross LJ at [36(2)]:

> "If on its true construction a warrant extends to material for which there are not reasonable grounds for believing that it does not consist of or include items subject to LPP then the warrant will be quashed, at least unless the offending passages can be severed. Such a warrant cannot be saved by precautions governing its execution on the day, such as, for example, the engagement of independent counsel."

It was obvious that the search warrants would lead to the seizure of LPP material. However, the reality was that no consideration was likely to have been given at all to LPP material when applying for and issuing these search warrants. They are therefore invalid.

Conclusion

On any challenge by way of judicial review, the warrants are overwhelmingly likely to be declared to be unlawful for all or any of the reasons set out above.

We therefore request once again, as we have already requested also in the letter to Superintendent Richardson, that Mr Levy's possessions be returned to him.

We also seek an acknowledgment from RGP that they acted unlawfully in seeking and obtaining these warrants, and in entering Mr Levy's addresses. In this regard, we must record that Mr Levy has serious concerns that the RPG acted illegally, and we reserve his rights in this regard. If, indeed, RGP acted in this way in opposition to advice that it had received to the effect that the applications were inappropriate and unlawful, then it can only be concluded that there has been a gross abuse of executive power. On any basis these events are liable to have led to a serious loss of confidence in the RGP.

We look forward to hearing from you as a matter of urgency.

Yours faithfully

Lewis Baglietto

Dear Sir,

I have been forwarded a copy of your letter addressed to Detective Superintendent Paul Richardson dated 13 May 2020 the contents of which have been noted.

I have been fully briefed as to the conduct of the investigation and given the seriousness of the allegations made and the matters raised. I have seen fit to respond directly.

At the outset I must point out that the sequence of events are not as you have described and I do not agree with you that there were reasonable grounds to believe that Mr Levy would have simply handed over his devices and documents.

Notwithstanding the fact the police attended with a search warrant issued by the Magistrates Court, an attempt was made to try and deal with the matter by consent. This involved Mr Levy consulting with 'senior silk' in private and informing the officers that he would consent to handing over the items sought as long as the interests of his clients were protected. Once the means in which they would be achieved was clear Mr Levy signed the relevant form after reading it and consulting with Mr Chincotta. Accordingly the search warrant was not executed but rather Mr Levy chose to hand over his devices voluntarily, albeit after some time and after extensive consultation.

I do not agree with you that warrant was excessive, unjustified or unlawful and in my view the action taken was both legitimate and proportionate in the circumstances. I do not think it would serve any purpose to enter into a discussion on the use of Productions Orders as opposed to a Search Warrant.

In relation to the items that you have requested I have attached a copy of the search warrant to this email. I am unable at this time to comply with your request for a copy of the application for the search warrant or any other written evidence as this could potentially compromise an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed. The same applies to point 4 (any notes taken by the RGP of the hearing). The only order or ruling that I am aware of made by the Stipendiary Magistrate was the warrant itself. Although the DPP has been consulted on various non-operational issues concerning this investigation including the status of various parties he has not provided advice on the application of a search warrant which remains an operational matter.

Please rest assured that the RGP has not copied or downloaded any material so far and in fact the devices remain sealed and I have assumed safe custody of them. I remain convinced of the legality of our course of conduct but undertake to postpone their submission to be examined for seven days from the date of this letter in the event that you may wish to make any legal challenge to this decision.

I would also ask you to please note that it is not a question of me refusing to meet with you and the Attorney General, but rather I view it as inappropriate given the circumstances in which we find ourselves which I trust you understand.

I enclose a copy of a notice regarding voluntary attendance for police interview. This sets out the topic areas which we seek to explore in the formal police interview. I should point that we have not shared this document with any other party. It would be very helpful if Mr Levy brings any material with him that may support his account or provide it in advance of his attendance. Additionally, as would be normal practice counsel will be provided with a pre-interview briefing

Finally, as you will no doubt be aware, Mr Levy undertook to voluntarily extract the relevant emails and other documents from Hassans servers and provide these to police along with all files concerning Astelon Ltd and 36 North Ltd. Grateful if you advise when these will be supplied to assist with our investigation.

Yours faithfully

Any release of the information to Mr Levy before he is formally interviewed would seriously prejudice this criminal investigation and any other on which the police rely on the obtaining of a search warrant prior to an interview. This is scheduled for 1000hrs on Monday 18th May 2020. The Commissioner of Police has undertaken to Mr Baglietto in writing that he will not to break the seals on the exhibit bags containing those devices for a period of 7 days. This is in order to allow Mr Baglietto to challenge the decision made to examine the devices in question. It appears clear to me that the real intention in accessing the material laid before the Magistrate is to place Mr Levy at an unfair advantage in advance of his interview. In my view the arms of the prosecution and defence are already out of balance in Gibraltar as there is no right for a court to draw an inference in certain circumstances, this is not the case in the United Kingdom who chose to amend their law precisely to address this imbalance. To allow the defence access to material that clearly articulates the full basis on which a suspicion on of criminal activity is based before the police have an opportunity to put those facts to a suspect in a formal interview would in my view make a mockery of the legal system and thereby contrary to the interests of justice.
> 2) Any release of the said information may, in addition, further prejudice this criminal investigation given that a number of other suspects continue on police bail. It is the intention of the investigating team to interview these suspects at length in the near future. A release of the information used to obtain the search warrant would therefore be out of the control of the RGP. We are already aware that there has been communication between Mr Levy and Mr Fischel as Mr Levy said so whilst we were at his office earlier this week. The information used as the basis of the application was detailed and referred to exhibits on which the RGP will seek to rely in any future proceedings.

The devices were voluntarily handed over by Mr Levy without the need to execute the warrant. Any argument as to the lawfulness of the warrant is, in my view, irrelevant in the circumstances. Given that they were handed over, any decision regarding the lawfulness of the application is incapable of having any impact upon this matter.

Dear Sir

Re: James Levy QC - Search Warrant issued on or about 11 May 2020

Further to our letter of 13 May, we would bring to your attention the following extracts of English authorities, which make plain that a person who is seeking to challenge the lawfulness of a search warrant granted in his absence is entitled, as a matter of trite natural justice, to know what the court was told in his absence and thus to a note or transcript of the hearing. This accords with principles applicable to any ex parte application, which apply with even greater rigour in relation to remedies as intrusive as search warrants.

We have underlined the relevant parts of those extracts for ease of reference.

> "27. Turning to the material which was adduced in support of the application for the warrant (including the letters of request), the solicitors acting for EFT sought access to that material on 7 July 2004, and repeatedly thereafter, but were not granted it in any form. So, on 13 October 2004 they made an application for disclosure. That eventually resulted in a letter from the Treasury Solicitor dated 1 December 2004 (just over a week before the application was due to be heard) which disclosed the letters of request and, as Mr Downes concedes, enough information about the contents of the information and the proceedings before the district judge to enable EFT to take advice and to conduct these proceedings. In my judgment there is no adequate excuse for the delay in providing the information set out in the letter of 1 December 2004, and the solicitors should never have been put in the position of having to issue an application for disclosure in order to obtain it. That is why, as we indicated during the hearing, we have concluded that EFT are entitled to the costs of that application. It is no sufficient answer to say that in this case EFT knew the nature of the allegations in Bosnia and Herzegovina and had made representations in relation to them, including the production of a report prepared by KPMG. They still have the right to be satisfied as to what had happened before the district judge.

R(Gittins) v Central Criminal Court [2011] EWHC 131 (Admin)

> "25 (2) When an application for judicial review is launched seeking to quash the grant of a search warrant, it is, again, in some respects, akin to the "return date" for Marevas , Anthony Pillers and Restraint Orders . Ordinarily, the expectation will be that the party challenging the grant of the warrant must be entitled to know the basis upon which the warrant was obtained."

R (Faisaltex Ltd) v Crown Court at Preston [2008] EWHC 2832 (Admin)

> "35. It is, of course, commendable that a party should seek to resolve an issue about the return of certain documents without the need for litigation. But while we can understand that this might have avoided, at least in part, a claim for excessive seizure of materials, it has little bearing on some of the main grounds of challenge now advanced, namely that the search warrants were themselves invalid and consequently all the seizures of property unlawful. Those grounds, as will be seen, include contentions that the warrants were too widely drafted and also that the material specified in them was, in part, incapable of being relevant evidence as required by the statute. It is right that some of the other grounds of challenge to the warrants could only have been advanced once the claimants' advisers had obtained copies of the informations put before the judge and the transcripts of the ex parte proceedings. But here again, it was not until 27 May 2008, nearly two months after the execution of the warrants, that solicitors for the claimants sought copies of the informations from the court. That was not acting promptly."

We would also refer you to the following extract from R (S) v Chief Constable of the British Transport Police and another [2013] EWHC 2189 (Admin) in relation to the importance for persons against whom a search warrant is issued ex parte to know what was said to and by the court:

> [46] We would also re-emphasise two further points. First, as a matter of practice all hearings for a search warrant, whether for a warrant under s 8 of PACE or of the 'special procedure' type, must be recorded so that there can be no dispute about what was or was not said to and by the judge.

We look forward to hearing from you as a matter of urgency, as our client is entitled to and requires to know what transpired in court, as well as the reason's for the Stipendiary Magistrate's decision, in order to vindicate his rights.

Yours faithfully

Lewis Baglietto

Dear Paul,

Many thanks for your e mail and attachment. I will not comment on operational matters which are matters solely for the RGP. There is nothing that I can see in the document at this stage and given the knowledge that I have at this stage which would impact any potential JR as the the lawfulness of the search warrant.

I have a couple of minor comments on form rather than substance and will call you to discuss.

Best regards,

Christian

This is not normal practice and not what we have done with the others persons subject to this investigation. That said, this is a very complex investigation and Mr Levy appears to have had less involvement than the others notwithstanding the fact that we still assert, and you have agreed, that there are reasonable grounds to consider that there are questions that need putting to Mr Levy under caution. In that regard, and in order for Lewis Baglietto to properly advise his client we have drafted the attached additional pre-interview disclosure with a simplified time-line.

Given the potential impact that this may have on the case as a whole, and the threat of legal action including a potential judicial review I should be grateful for your advice before forwarding to Mr Baglietto.

Kind regards

Paul

INTERVIEW PLAN – LEVY – CHALLENGE PHASE

1. During the course of 2018 Levy planned, together with Cornelio and Perez, to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

Planning / Preparation to Obtain the NSCIS Platform Maintenance Contract - Levy

2. Together with Perez and Cornelio, Levy was involved in the planning to dishonestly appropriate the NSCIS maintenance contract.

3. On 28th February 2017, Sanchez sent a text message to Levy stating "James I need to give you an update on several issues. Also need to talk to you on John Perez and the security programme. Let me know when we can meet." (Exhibit JC/Text/CSJL/1 refers).

4. During the course of 2018 Cornelio, Perez and Levy planned to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract. This contract was the property of Bland.

5. On 19th January 2018 Sanchez sent a text message to Levy stating "James I have a good proposal for investment. I think you will like this." (Exhibit JC/Text/CSJL/2 refers).

6. In an email from Sanchez ([redacted]) to Levy ([redacted]) he states "2. YITU – (a)Security company on AI. Europe director to propose to move services from London to Gibraltar (b) interested in joint venture with Wavetech (John Perez). (c) YITU to negotiate deal with them and deal to remove company from Blands" (Exhibit PAC/PR/Toshiba/01/Email/3 refers).

7. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, dated the 24th February 2018, (and whilst still employees of Bland) Perez attached a "Letter of Intent". This letter purported that 36 North already had an existing contract with HMGoG for the NSICIS platform (Exhibit JC/Emails/36North refers). This proposal evidenced the intent of the suspects to obtain the contract for the benefit of their company, 36 North.

8. On 16th March 2018, CORNELIO sent himself an email detailing a £1 Million 33% stake buy in (Exhibit PAC/JU/3/SSD0/DOC/1 refers)

9. Between 23rd April 2018 and 22nd June 2018, the company 36 North Limited was incorporated, with Cornelio, Perez and Hassans each being 33% beneficial owners The company was incorporated with the intent that it would obtain the benefit of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract. (Exhibits MS/Emails/1, MS/UBOR/36N/1, MS/UBOR/36N/2 & MS/CREG/36N/2 refer)

10. On 10th June 2018, PEREZ contacted LEVY over Whats App where he stated "Preparing for our departure on 29th June. Everything else is now almost in place." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/JPJL/1 refers)

11. In an email exchange dated the 20th June 2018, and whilst still employed by Bland, Perez sent an email to Cornelio called, "36 North Cash Flow". The document showed a forecasted revenue in favour of 36 North which included the NSCIS platform (Global invoice) for £62,519 per month. (Exhibits JG/22 and PAC/JU3/SSD0/Doc/2 refers).

12. This evidence is consistent with an agreement between the suspects to appropriate the NSICS platform maintenance contract, the property of Bland.

13. In addition to preparing to take the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, Cornelio and Perez dishonestly planned to hinder the ability of Bland to carry out their contractual obligations.

14. As part of this preparation, the suspects engineered a situation whereby they, together with a number of software engineers, would resign from the company at the same time.

15. Without prior notification, on the 10th July 2018, Perez and Cornelio handed in their resignations from Bland. In accordance with their respective contracts, the resignation of Perez was to take effect on the 9th September 2018 and the resignation of Cornelio was to take effect from the 10th August 2018.

16. On the 20th July 2018, the software developers resigned from their employment with Bland to join 36 North. The resulting loss of staff undermined the ability of Bland to fulfil their NSCIS contractual obligations following the departure of Perez and Cornelio from the company.

17. These actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland, by diminishing their IT capabilities [and thereby their ability to maintain the platform] and appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

18. On 24th July 2018 Sanchez sent a text message to Levy stating "James I received a call from James Gaggero last night reference the security programme. I have discussed it with John and emailed the CM. It may be wise for us to meet and maybe include David Weber to go over some aspects of the conversation." (Exhibit JC/Text/CSJL/3 refers).

19. On 14th August 2018 Sanchez sent a text message to Levy stating "James just got John Perez company their Insurance broker. Everything is going well with this. Just drafted the letter to send to James Gaggero and waiting for CM to approve. I have also urged them to sign the international agreement and they are moving forward with this." (Exhibit JC/Text/CSJL/5 refers).

20. On 20th August 2018, PEREZ contacted LEVY over Whats App where he stated "James, I thought I would send you an update so you would have a clear understanding of the current situation. We continue to run the NCSIS platform for the GOG whilst we wait to learn if we are formally appointed to continue to run this service… As you are aware Bland do not have the resources to do this but have contested the ownership of the code of the system. I believe their claim is flawed… With regards to 36N developed an entirely new Border Management System which is better than NCSIS to safeguard any future challenges and to provide the GOG with an option to continue the operation without having to rely on any system that was developed by Blands… Best outcome for us is for the GOG to inform GAGGERO that they are not in agreement with his claim and go with our new proposal which also saves the GOG a considerable amount of money… Currently we hae 4 African states showing an expression of interest with one being signed early in September…" (Exhibit JC/CHAT/JPJL/4 refers)

21. On 29th August 2019, CORNELIO contacted LEVY via email where he provided a proposed email to GAGGERO stating "Happy to discuss this offline with you" (Exhibit PAC/JU/3/SSD0/EMAIL/2 refers)

22. On 30th August 2018, LEVY contacted PEREZ over Whats App where he stated "I am very confident that we will bring this to a close in a successful manner very shortly. You can rest assured that I will do my best to help you in every way." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/JPJL/5 refers)

23. On 30th August 2018, LEVY contacted CORNELIO over Whats App where he stated "You should know that I have spoken to Tommy and despite his letter to

James G he will continue ensuring that the system is kept going until a solution is found acceptable the government." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/3 refers)

24. On 12th September 2018, CORNELIO contacted LEVY over Whats App where he stated "Draft termination letter templates for the CM…he is very busy" (Exhibit JC/CHATTCJL/15 refers)

25. On 12th Sepetember 2018, CORNELIO conated LEVY over Whats App where he stated "critical that the CM is aware that I have designed an entirely new platform so there can be no legal challenge that the new software has been copied in any way… it uses completely different technology" (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/5 refers)

26. On 12th September 2019, CORNELIO contacted LEVY over Whats App where he stated "Key Points regarding Blands contract… Important, please advise chief as follows: As promised Tommy has continued to work on the platform to ensure that National Security is not compromised in any way. All systems have been redeveloped from scratch and now operate from a new platform using cutting edge technology ready for its international offering with 3 countries already confirmed." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/4 refers)

27. On 10th October 2018, when the platform is failing, Cornelio and Sanchez are discussing employing Jonathan Galliano from Blands. Sanchez states "I will speak to JL on this as it may be a good quick solution if he quits". (Exhibit JC/Whatsapp/TCCS/13 refers).

28. On 28th November 2018, LEVY and CORNELIO chat over Whats App where LEVY states "I have to get the right opportunity to discuss the whole issue with the CM. I know that when Brexit is over I shall have an opportunity to see him privately on a number of occasions and I will bring it up." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/9 refers)

Appropriation of business commenced by Bland – Levy

29. Together with Perez and Cornelio, Levy was involved in planning to dishonestly appropriate the business commenced by Bland.

30. During the course of their employment with Bland Cornelio and Perez were involved in a number of projects. These included:

a. A proposal for the Carnival Corporation for a "Centralised Vessel Security Management System" (Exhibits PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/7 and PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/2 refer); and
b. A "Ministry of Defence and Public Security Border Management Proposal" for Sao Tome and Principe. (Exhibit PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/1 refers).

31. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, dated the 24th February 2018, (and whilst still employees of Bland) Perez attached a "Letter of Intent". This letter purported that 36 North already had existing international contracts including Carnival Cruises and Sao Tome and Principe. These were in fact contracts that were being negotiated on behalf of Bland. (Exhibit JC/Email/36North refers).

32. In respect of Sao Tome, the proposal stated, "Contract about to be signed for 7 years. Contract worth 1.6m euros with a forecast 20% increase by year 3. Contract starts in Feb 18." Under the heading "Carnival Cruise Lines" is stated, "Currently negotiating an APIS maritime system with Carnival who dominates 70% of the Cruise liner industry. A pilot platform has already been designed and discussed with Carnival CEO. A visit by Carnival's Head of Security and International representative will be visiting us in Mar 2018. Negotiation ongoing. Contract worth £175k per year."

33. It is clear that Cornelio and Perez intended to dishonestly appropriate the business of Bland commenced by them as employees of Bland and obtain the benefits for 36 North.

34. In respect of the Sao Tome and Principe agreement, Cornelio specifically ensured that any signature would take place after he had resigned from Bland when he stated on the 24th July 2018, "We can agree on timeline and agree a date to sign contract. After the 10th August" (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCEA refers).

35. Both Sao Tome and Principe and the Carnival Security Management System continued to appear on the Agenda for 36 North after both Perez and Cornelio had left Bland. (Exhibit PAC/JU3/SSD0/Doc/8 refers).

36. Together with Levy and Cornelio, Perez was involved in the planning to appropriate the business commenced by Bland for the benefit of 36 North. In part, this is evidenced by the Letter of intent addressed to Levy and the subsequent setting up of 36 North. (Exhibits JC/Emails/36North).

37. In addition, on the 6th July 2018, Perez discussed one of these projects, namely Carnival Cruises, with Levy, despite not having resigned from Bland. He wrote, "James we have just finished with Carnival after a long day of negotiations. We have been successful and now moving to the pilot phase. Flying back tomorrow." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/JPJL/2 refers).

38. On the 7th September 2018, and in respect of Sao Tome, Perez wrote to Levy, "James this week we will be receiving a contract from São Tomé and Príncipe for review. The commercial elements of the contract have already been agreed in principle. We are also closing in on Equatorial Guinea." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/JPJL/6 refers).

39. *On 9th September 2018, PEREZ contacted SANCHEZ over Whats App where he stated "Spoke to JL. If you get a chance please call me. I will be receiving the Sao Tome and the Principe contract on Tuesday for review I am closing in on Equatorial Guinea. I will push forward with these…" (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/CSJP/16 refers)

Pressure on HM Government of Gibraltar – Levy

40. Levy assisted both Perez and Cornelio to apply pressure to HMGoG with the intention that the NSICS maintenance contract would be transferred to 36 North.

41. On 10th August 2018, Sanchez sent a text message to Levy stating "James I have asked the CM to see me prior to his meeting with JG on Monday. He has not responded yet. Please give him a nudge." (Exhibit JC/Text/CSJL/4 refers).

42. On the 21st August, whilst still in the consultancy period, Cornelio wrote, "Dear James, would it be possible to sit down with you or the CM to try and move forward with out projects? I currently have a lot of work on hold pending this decision." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/3 refers).

43. On the 29th August 2018 he similarly wrote, "Dear James, please try and get me a 10 min slot for me to meet the CM. I believe I am best placed to explain the entire situation and advise the best technical solution possible." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/8 refers).

44. On the 12th September 2018 Cornelio wrote to Levy and attached a letter to be used by the Chief Minister to terminate the Bland contracts. (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/15 refers). This letter was addressed to James Gaggero of Bland and was titled "Termination of NSCIS, DSS, BCA, ETB and Education contracts ("the contracts")." It explained, "Bland Limited has failed to perform its obligations under the Contracts and is therefore in repudiatory breach… In the circumstances, please accept this letter as HMGOG's termination of the Contracts with immediate effect." (Exhibit PAC/JU/3/SSD0/Doc/4 refers).

45. On the 23rd September 2018 Cornelio wrote, "Attached is a letter which may be of use to the GoG in order to proceed with the new platform we have offered them." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/7 refers).

46. By the 27th December 2018 Cornelio was concerned that the Chief Minister would not be transferring the contract to 36 North. In response Levy wrote, "I don't think he will transfer the contracts back to 36N. We have to work on alternatives. I am happy to help …" (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/7 refers).

47. On the 18th February 2019 he wrote to Levy saying, "Any merit in me writing to the CM directly to request he meet with me. I miss my contracts." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/11 refers).

48. On the 26th March 2019 he wrote, "Perhaps CM would be willing to put the National Security system out for tender next month." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/12 refers).

49. On the 27th March 2019 Cornelio again asked, "Do you think there is any chance of getting national security contract back at some point?" Despite his answer on the 27th December 2018 Levy responded, "Yes." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/9 refers).

50. On the 3rd May 2019 Cornelio wrote again saying, "Dear James, the national security system [redacted]. Can I email the CM once again to meet me? He cannot allow this to continue." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/14 refers).

51. In addition, on the 9th October 2018 Perez wrote to Levy stating, "James thank you so much for this morning. I am sure our sessions will become more enjoyable as we set of in our journey. With regards to dropping Fabian a note, let's give him a bit more time. As the pressure will naturally surface through his law enforcement heads." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/JPJL/7 refers).

Sub Conclusion

- You wanted to take the contract for the NSCIS system away from Blands
- You used your position within Hassans to put this plan into fruition
- You used your influence with members of HMGoG to achieve this
- You stood to make monetary gains
- You were in business with 36 North to take the contract.

Knowledge of Computer Misuse Offences – Levy

On 4th October 2018, the CM via Peter Canessa gave the following explicit instruction

"Further to my email below, and following further discussion with the CM, and to avoid any ambiguity, the instructions from the CM are that Bland Ltd is to be provided full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS platform*. Please do all necessary to ensure that Tommy Cornelio fully cooperates in handing over to Jonathan Galliano of Bland Ltd access and control to all services and systems that make up the NSCIS platform immediately.* Once the handover process is completed Tommy Cornelio nor any 3rd part are to have access to the platform."

52. On the 19th October 2018 Cornelio wrote to Levy saying, "Morning James. Very confidential. Note Gaggero has brought in a forensic team of six to look at anything John and I may have done to tamper with the system etc. Gaggero is going all out it seems. (Exhibit JC/EHATSAPP/TCJL/2 refers).

53. In a text to Perez the same day Cornelio stated that he had spoken to Levy and was told not to worry. (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/6 refers).

54. The evidence indicates that Levy discussed the forensic team with Cornelio and that he had given him advice about the situation.

Sub Conclusion

- You were aware Cornelio was accessing the system without authority and purposely causing the system to malfunction
- He was doing this in order to obtain the business for 36 North.
- Where you stood to make monetary gains

NSCIS Report for Sanchez - Levy

55. By 2019 Levy was in no doubt that Cornelio and 36 North had not been contracted to maintain the NSCIS platform. Despite this fact, he did not question Cornelio accessing the system in April 2019.

56. On the 11th April 2019 Cornelio wrote to Levy, "I am preparing a report for Caine/Albert Mena with regards to the failures of the National Security platform of which [redacted]. Lesley is preparing a legal letter for your review in an attempt to speed up the process. This is ok?" (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/15 refers). He went on to say, "We are going to have a field day on the national security report..just wait until you see it. For now I am reviewing every single module 1 by 1. [redacted]." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/11 refers).

57. On 14th April 2019, CORNELIO contacted LEVY over Whats App where he stated "James, note I have provided Caine with a full report on the security platform, I have kept this simple and impartial." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/17 refers)

58. On the 23rd April 2019 he wrote to Levy, "Note I provided Albert Mena with a report on the National Security system. Has he made any comment to you about this? The report would have been delivered to him via Caine." (Exhibit JC/CHAT/TCJL/18 refers).

Sub Conclusion

- This report was compiled to further undermine Bland.

Conclusion

- Made an agreement
- To dishonestly remove the NSCIS contract from Bland
- For the benefit of 36 North and therefore yourself

Sir,

We agreed to the written account in lieu of the interview tomorrow. However, we have to be careful that this agreement is not manipulated.

We have said that we will consider a written account prior to proceeding to interview. But not that we will accept a statement in lieu of any interview. His status at the moment remains that of a suspect.

Whether he will be accepted as a witness will have to be determined on its merits once we have had time to consider the content of the statement in the context of the prosecution as a whole. We do not want it suggested that he is a witness already.

Just my thoughts.

Dear Attorney,

Further to your confirmation that the Commissioner would be content with a written statement from Mr Levy in lieu of proceeding with the RGP's proposed interview tomorrow, I confirm that Mr Levy will give a written statement.

We will be in touch shortly regarding the scope, realistic timetable and procedural safeguards in relation to such statement. I assume that we should liaise with Detective Superintendent Richardson with regard to such matters.

In the circumstances, Mr Levy will therefore not be attending for interview tomorrow.

I am copying this e-mail to the Commissioner for his information, and also to Charles Bonfante of my firm, who will be assisting in this matter.

Kind regards,

Lewis Baglietto

Dear Charles,

Thank you for your reply.

Apologies for any misunderstanding, I took it that when you asked to be told what evidence or documents were causing the RGP particular concern you were seeking additional information.

The unlawful conduct that Mr Levy may have engaged is as follows:

1. Communicating with Caine Sanchez, in matters which are confidential and subject to the Official Secrets Act;
2. Planning with Caine Sanchez, a public office holder who by virtue of his position was obliged to maintain impartiality , to obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract,;
3. Planning with Thomas Cornelio and John Perez, who we understand to have breached express and implied contractual duties to Bland Ltd, to obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract;
4. Improperly using his personal influence with persons who were in a position to act in favour of 36 North Ltd against the legitimate interests of others.

I trust that this answers your questions. I look forward to receiving Mr Levy's account by the end of this week.

Kind regards

Dear Paul,

Thank you for your email. My enquiry has been misunderstood. We are not asking for further information regarding the investigation. Mr Levy needs to know, and is entitled to know, on what basis you say he is suspected of having committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud. All the information you have provided us regarding Mr Levy's involvement refers to lawful conduct to achieve a lawful result - it discloses no criminality on the part of Mr Levy. We cannot ignore this.

Can you please tell us what is the unlawful conduct that you say Mr Levy may have engaged in to be suspected of having committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud? This is a fundamental question which must have been answered in order to consider Mr Levy a suspect.

Dear Charles,

I write further to our telephone conversation of the 1st June 2020 and your email yesterday.

To date we have provided Mr Levy with:

1. A written outline of the allegation made against him on the 12.5.20. This was in advance of a request to attend a voluntary police interview under caution on 18.5.20.
2. On the 16.5.20 (and at Lewis Baglietto's request) a comprehensive document detailing the areas that we would seek to put to Mr Levy in the formal police interview including a timeline.
3. On the 22.5.20 a redacted version of the information laid before the Stipendiary Magistrate in order to obtain the search warrants.
4. A further redacted version of the information laid before the Stipendiary Magistrate in order to obtain search warrants with some redactions removed (what remains redacted concerns specific communication involving Mr Levy, computer misuse offences, other persons subject to this investigation and times and dates).

5. In addition, and following consultation with the DPP, we have agreed to allow a viewing of the redacted sections of the information which related to computer misuse offences only on a counsel to counsel basis on the understanding that no copy of this is provided.

Our understanding is that Mr Levy has offered to provide an account explaining his involvement in this matter and for that reason we agreed to postpone the interview until the account was provided. As I have mentioned on many occasions we are keeping an open mind and it may be that once we have considered Mr Levy's account we would be in a position to reconsider his status as a person who at this stage needs to be interviewed under caution in order to comply with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 and Codes of Practice.

To provide more information at this stage would not in our view be appropriate. We have already clearly set out the areas that we would wish to consider in Mr Levy's account.

As with all police investigations we are seeking an untainted account and I would respectfully ask that we have Mr Levy's account without further delay.

Kind regards

Paul

Dear Paul

As I mentioned in our call yesterday Mr Levy's statement is at an advanced stage.

With regard to the allegation that Mr Levy had knowledge of the alleged computer misuse offences, I note, with thanks, your helpful indication that there is no evidence to suggest that Mr Levy was involved in any planning of the alleged sabotage to the NSCIS platform.

As I explained, we have reviewed the information laid before the magistrate in support of the application for the warrants ("the Information") and we cannot see that it discloses any grounds that can give rise to a reasonable suspicion that Mr Levy committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud. The offence of conspiracy to defraud must incorporate some unlawfulness, either in its objects or in it means (see Blackstones A5.64). Using lawful means to obtain a lawful result can never amount to a conspiracy to defraud.

Mr Levy is accused of conspiring with Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio to defraud Bland by "dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for his own benefit, via their company 36 North Limited" (see paragraph 42 of the Information). The allegation against Mr Levy, as set out in the Information, is wholly predicated on discussions with Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio, whilst they were still employed by Bland, regarding the setting up of 36N and competing for the business of the maintenance of the NSCIS platform. This is not unlawful conduct.

Consequently, it is not understood on what basis Mr Levy is considered a suspect. It is essential that the basis on which he is considered a suspect, that is to say, the unlawful conduct that Mr Levy is alleged to have engaged in that would constitute the offence, is properly set out and understood so that it can be addressed directly in the statement. We would therefore be grateful if we were told precisely what unlawful acts on his part are suspected and what evidence or documents are causing the RGP particular concern so that Mr Levy can address these in his statement in order to avail himself of this opportunity to do so.

Dear Paul,

As envisaged Mr Levy's statement is not finalised. Mr Levy has been working on the document and has produced a draft which addresses the questions posed in the pre-interview disclosure document you provided, however, it still requires substantial work and review.

We estimate that an additional week will be required to complete the task. Given that this is a bank holiday weekend and that Mr Levy is unable to work on Saturdays or next Friday (which is a Jewish feast day) we are looking at Tuesday 2 June as the likely target date. Mr Levy will in any case continue working on the document and we propose to provide a further update on Wednesday 27 May. It may well be that the document is at a very advanced stage by then, if not complete.

Dear Charles,

Thank you for your email of today's date, the contents of which are noted. Please accept the pre-interview disclosure that I sent to Mr Baglietto on Sunday and marked 'draft' as the final version as the term 'draft' was not removed in error.

The Commissioner of Police had indicated that a response would be required by Tuesday 26th May 2020 as this will be a two full weeks after the RGP attended the offices of Hassans with a search warrant, which as you are aware was not in fact executed, as at that stage Mr Levy elected to provide the information that we sought voluntarily. When I left Hassans' premises on that day the Hassans IT expert was liaising with the RGP expert and we expected to have the relevant emails handed over in a matter of days. The reason for the need to deal with this issue expeditiously is because it has a significant impact on the conduct of this investigation with regards to other persons who remain on police bail. I have no issue with Mr Levy accessing his own material for the purpose of refreshing his memory and providing a copy of whatever he feels appropriate. I understand that Mr Levy does not use the computer in his office or use a computer in his home and so I presume that he would ask somebody to retrieve what he requires for him. If that is the case then that person should keep a record of what he he/she has been asked to retrieve and his/her actions.

Monday 25th May is a public holiday so I would ask that that you provide us on update on the status of Mr Levy's account by Friday 15th May 2020. We would then be in position to know how much longer is required and understand the reasons why. At that stage we may be in a position to allow a slightly longer period of time to complete the task.

Kind regards

Paul

Dear D/Supt Richardson,

I am assisting Mr Baglietto in this matter. The Commissioner has indicated to us that Mr Levy's statement is required by Tuesday 26 May. We must flag at this stage that although Mr Levy has begun the exercise, it will be impossible for him to review all the relevant correspondence (subject to the below) and draft a meaningful statement covering the many areas set out in the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document by that deadline. As you know, drafting a meaningful statement takes time and more so in a case such as this and covering events that transpired a considerable time ago. That said, as mentioned, Mr Levy has started to prepare his statement and will endeavour to have his statement completed as soon as possible. I therefore suggest that we provide you with an update on the status of the statement on Monday 25 May.

We note that the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document provided to us suggests that Mr Levy go through his correspondence in order to assist in the preparation of his statement. I will be grateful if you confirmed that you have no objection to Mr Levy refreshing his memory by reference to those materials as we do not wish his steps in this regard to be called into question at a later stage.

Please feel free to contact me directly on [redacted] should it assist in the liaison in this matter.

Hi Paul,
Happy to speak to discuss tomorrow.
Frankly, I do not see why you need to engage any further with Mr Bonfante in this manner. It is not appropriate, in the circumstances of this case, to litigate by letter with a potential D's lawyer in this manner or for the RGP to justify its conduct or findings.
They have what they have from you and that is all you are happy to give over at this stage. They should provide what they are able to provide based on your pre-interview disclosure and the redacted court document and if that is insufficient then if course you will need to decide on next steps as you seem operationally appropriate.

Subject: RE: James Levy QC

Dear Paul
As I mentioned in our call yesterday Mr Levy's statement is at an advanced stage.
With regard to the allegation that Mr Levy had knowledge of the alleged computer misuse offences, I note, with thanks, your helpful indication that there is no evidence to suggest that Mr Levy was involved in any planning of the alleged sabotage to the NSCIS platform.
As I explained, we have reviewed the information laid before the magistrate in support of the application for the warrants ("the Information") and we cannot see that it discloses any grounds that can give rise to a reasonable suspicion that Mr Levy committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud. The offence of conspiracy to defraud must incorporate some unlawfulness, either in its objects or in it means (see Blackstones A5.64). Using lawful means to obtain a lawful result can never amount to a conspiracy to defraud.
Mr Levy is accused of conspiring with Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio to defraud Bland by "dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for his own benefit, via their company 36 North Limited" (see paragraph 42 of the Information). The allegation against Mr Levy, as set out in the Information, is wholly predicated on discussions with Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio, whilst they were still employed by Bland, regarding the setting up of 36N and competing for the business of the maintenance of the NSCIS platform. This is not unlawful conduct.
Consequently, it is not understood on what basis Mr Levy is considered a suspect. It is essential that the basis on which he is considered a suspect, that is to say, the unlawful conduct that Mr Levy is alleged to have engaged in that would constitute the offence, is properly set out and understood so that it can be addressed directly in the statement. We would therefore be grateful if we were told precisely what unlawful acts on his part are suspected and what evidence or documents are causing the RGP particular concern so that Mr Levy can address these in his statement in order to avail himself of this opportunity to do so.

As ever,

Charles

Dear Paul,
As envisaged Mr Levy's statement is not finalised. Mr Levy has been working on the document and has produced a draft which addresses the questions posed in the pre-interview disclosure document you provided, however, it still requires substantial work and review.
We estimate that an additional week will be required to complete the task. Given that this is a bank holiday weekend and that Mr Levy is unable to work on Saturdays or next Friday (which is a Jewish feast day) we are looking at Tuesday 2 June as the likely target date. Mr Levy will in any case continue working on the document and we propose to provide a further update on Wednesday 27 May. It may well be that the document is at a very advanced stage by then, if not complete.

Dear Charles,
Thank you for your email of today's date, the contents of which are noted. Please accept the pre-interview disclosure that I sent to Mr Baglietto on Sunday and marked 'draft' as the final version as the term 'draft' was not removed in error.
The Commissioner of Police had indicated that a response would be required by Tuesday 26th May 2020 as this will be a two full weeks after the RGP attended the offices of Hassans with a search warrant, which as you are aware was not in fact executed, as at that stage Mr Levy elected to provide the information that we sought voluntarily. When I left Hassans' premises on that day the Hassans IT expert was liaising with the RGP expert and we expected to have the relevant emails handed over in a matter of days. The reason for the need to deal with this issue expeditiously is because it has a significant impact on the conduct of this investigation with regards to other persons who remain on police bail. I have no issue with Mr Levy accessing his own material for the purpose of refreshing his memory and providing a copy of whatever he feels appropriate. I understand that Mr Levy does not use the computer in his office or use a computer in his home and so I presume that he would ask somebody to retrieve what he requires for him. If that is the case then that person should keep a record of what he he/she has been asked to retrieve and his/her actions.

Monday 25th May is a public holiday so I would ask that that you provide us on update on the status of Mr Levy's account by Friday 15th May 2020. We would then be in position to know how much longer is required and understand the reasons why. At that stage we may be in a position to allow a slightly longer period of time to complete the task.

Dear D/Supt Richardson,

I am assisting Mr Baglietto in this matter. The Commissioner has indicated to us that Mr Levy's statement is required by Tuesday 26 May. We must flag at this stage that although Mr Levy has begun the exercise, it will be impossible for him to review all the relevant correspondence (subject to the below) and draft a meaningful statement covering the many areas set out in the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document by that deadline. As you know, drafting a meaningful statement takes time and more so in a case such as this and covering events that transpired a considerable time ago. That said, as mentioned, Mr Levy has started to prepare his statement and will endeavour to have his statement completed as soon as possible. I therefore suggest that we provide you with an update on the status of the statement on Monday 25 May.

We note that the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document provided to us suggests that Mr Levy go through his correspondence in order to assist in the preparation of his statement. I will be grateful if you confirmed that you have no objection to Mr Levy refreshing his memory by reference to those materials as we do not wish his steps in this regard to be called into question at a later stage.

Please feel free to contact me directly on [redacted] should it assist in the liaison in this matter.

Dear Paul,

Thanks for your e mail. First and foremost you might want to point out to mr Bonfante his views on the lawfulness of the conduct are pretty irrelevant at this juncture and you are not going to enter a debate on that point. Nonetheless, I don't think you are revealing anything in your draft email that you haven't revealed already to him in the various documents.

I don't think you need to mention the civil breaches and I would leave that out.

In all honesty you would be perfectly justified in directing him back to what you have disclosed. He offered to give a voluntary account so let him go ahead and give it.

Thank you for your reply.
Apologies for the misunderstanding, I took it that when you asked to be told what evidence or documents were causing the RGP particular concern you were seeking additional information.
The unlawful conduct that Mr Levy may have engaged is as follows:

<!--[if !supportLists]-->1. <!--[endif]-->Communicating with Caine Sanchez, in matters which are confidential and subject to the Official Secrets Act;

<!--[if !supportLists]-->2. <!--[endif]-->Planning with Caine Sanchez, a public office holder who by virtue of his position was obliged to maintain impartiality , to obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract,;

Dear Paul,

Thank you for your email. My enquiry has been misunderstood. We are not asking for further information regarding the investigation. Mr Levy needs to know, and is entitled to know, on what basis you say he is suspected of having committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud. All the information you have provided us regarding Mr Levy's involvement refers to lawful conduct to achieve a lawful result - it discloses no criminality on the part of Mr Levy. We cannot ignore this.

Can you please tell us what is the unlawful conduct that you say Mr Levy may have engaged in to be suspected of having committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud? This is a fundamental question which must have been answered in order to consider Mr Levy a suspect.

Dear Charles,

I write further to our telephone conversation of the 1st June 2020 and your email yesterday.

To date we have provided Mr Levy with:

1. A written outline of the allegation made against him on the 12.5.20. This was in advance of a request to attend a voluntary police interview under caution on 18.5.20.
2. On the 16.5.20 (and at Lewis Baglietto's request) a comprehensive document detailing the areas that we would seek to put to Mr Levy in the formal police interview including a timeline.
3. On the 22.5.20 a redacted version of the information laid before the Stipendiary Magistrate in order to obtain the search warrants.
4. A further redacted version of the information laid before the Stipendiary Magistrate in order to obtain search warrants with some redactions removed (what remains redacted concerns specific communication involving Mr Levy, computer misuse offences, other persons subject to this investigation and times and dates).
5. In addition, and following consultation with the DPP, we have agreed to allow a viewing of the redacted sections of the information which related to computer misuse offences only on a counsel to counsel basis on the understanding that no copy of this is provided.

Our understanding is that Mr Levy has offered to provide an account explaining his involvement in this matter and for that reason we agreed to postpone the interview until the account was provided. As I have mentioned on many occasions we are keeping an open mind and it may be that once we have considered Mr Levy's account we would be in a position to reconsider his status as a person who at this stage needs to be interviewed under caution in order to comply with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 and Codes of Practice. To provide more information at this stage would not in our view be appropriate. We have already clearly set out the areas that we would wish to consider in Mr Levy's account.

As with all police investigations we are seeking an untainted account and I would respectfully ask that we have Mr Levy's account without further delay.

Kind regards

Paul

I therefore suggest that we provide you with an update on the status of the statement on Monday 25 May.

We note that the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document provided to us suggests that Mr Levy go through his correspondence in order to assist in the preparation of his statement. I will be grateful if you confirmed that you have no objection to Mr Levy refreshing his memory by reference to those materials as we do not wish his steps in this regard to be called into question at a later stage.
Please feel free to contact me directly on [redacted] should it assist in the liaison in this matter.
As ever,

Dear Commissioner

Schedule 1 paragraph 12 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 search warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at [redacted] and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building and proposed interview of James Levy QC

I refer to your letter dated 14th May, enclosing copies of the above search warrants and a copy of a notice regarding voluntary attendance for police interview, and to your email of 18th May 2020.

The points you refer to in your letter concerning the legality and propriety of the warrants as well as the manner in which Mr Levy was obliged to allow RGP access to his home address and to the seizure of the material are addressed in my letter to the Attorney General of 15th May 2020 which was copied to you. I, therefore, do not propose to repeat our response to those points here.

I note that you do not agree to provide us with the documents that we have requested from you relating to the RGP's application for the search warrants on the grounds that doing so may potentially prejudice the investigation "as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed". I have also been informed by the Clerk of the Magistrates' Court that the RGP has lodged an objection with the court against our application to the court under Crim PR 5.7 for the application for the warrants and other related material to be provided to us from the court record.

I would, however, urge you to re-consider your position, and the objection that you have lodged with the court. Mr Levy QC is entitled, as the person challenging the warrants, to disclosure of the information laid in support of the application for the warrants, and to know on what basis the application was made, including any further information or evidence given to the court: R (Energy Financing Team Ltd) v Bow Street Magistrates' Court; R(Gittins) v Central Criminal Court.

The only basis upon which disclosure may nevertheless be refused by the court under Crim PR 5.7(6) to (9) is if the relevant material is protected by public interest immunity because disclosure would cause substantial harm or serious prejudice to the public interest: R v Chief Constable ex parte Wiley; R (Haralambous) v Crown Court at St Albans; R(Terra Services Ltd) v NCA. The reason provided for refusing to provide the material, namely that the investigation would be 'prejudiced….as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed' would fall far short of the necessary PII threshold to justify non-disclosure.

I also note from your letter that the DPP's advice was not sought on the application for search warrants. This is contrary to what Mr Levy was led to believe by Detective Superintendent Richardson, and contrary to what we understand was the position. We would be grateful for details of the extent to which the DPP was informed of the prospective warrant applications (on account, of course, of LPP, we do not seek details of any advice that he may have given).

I note your assurances that the RGP has not so far downloaded or copied any of the material taken from Mr Levy, and would not do so for 7 days from the date of your letter pending a legal challenge. I also understand from the Attorney General that you have given a further undertaking to the effect that that material would not be accessed until after the conclusion of the process under which Mr Levy is to provide a written statement. We are grateful to you for these assurances. We would ask, however, that you give a further assurance that the RGP thereafter refrains from examining the seized material without giving 21 days' notice, so that we may, if appropriate, seek legal relief in advance of the RGP gaining access. Such a further elapse of time would also allow a disclosure application, to which reference is made above, to be determined. We are plainly unable to reach a final view on the full extent of a challenge to the warrants without this information. The seized material cannot be examined until the court has ruled on the propriety and validity of your objection to disclosure, and we are given a reasonable period thereafter to consider our position in light of all or any of the information that is ordered to be disclosed.

Finally, we acknowledge, and are grateful for, your confirmation that Mr Levy is to provide a written statement. However, I note that your letter states that, following the provision of a written statement, the RGP will reconsider whether it would 'require further written particulars or the need to interview Mr Levy' (under caution). I am concerned about this. As you know, an interview under caution may only take place where there are grounds to suspect the interviewed person of the commission of an offence. Mr Levy, I presume, is not now so suspected (otherwise he would not have been offered the opportunity of instead providing a written statement), but were he to become so, and to be interviewed under caution, he would then have lost, in relation to the pre-existing statement, the procedural protections that the law allows for suspected persons, and the statement would be potentially admissible against him. I would be grateful if you would confirm that he will not be interviewed under caution at a later stage.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Lewis Baghetto

Dear Mr Rocca,

RE: Application for Disclosure of Material

I am aware that Superintendent Richardson has raised his concerns with you about releasing information prior to an interview. I think it is important to add my views on this matter given that it will affect the interviews I intend to conduct. My concerns are two-fold and are set out in the sub-headings below:

Prejudice to the Investigation

1. The redacted version of the information provides a substantial amount of evidence to the defence. As an interviewee, Mr Levy will therefore be in a position to anticipate questions that may be put to him. This will prevent police from obtaining an untainted version of events;

2. Releasing information following the interview of Mr Levy is further capable of undermining the case against co-conspirators. There are a number of other suspects on police bail who are pending interview. It is reasonable to suggest that they may become aware of the evidence provided to Mr Levy. This will hinder the ability of the police interviewer to obtain an untainted version of events from these suspects;

3. The release of information prior to an interview has the potential to undermine the investigative process of any future case. It is important to consider that we may be setting a precedent in which lawyers advise their clients to make no comment until such time as an application for the information has been made, and a redacted copy of the information is provided. This will equally allow future suspects to anticipate questions that may be put to them.

Legal Objections

5. I understand that the defence are making an application for disclosure of the information pursuant to r.5.7 of the Criminal Procedure Rules (as amended). You will be aware that the purpose of these rules is to set a procedural framework in relation to criminal matters. It is my understanding they any application must be made pursuant to an enabling local provision. It is not sufficient simply to refer to the rules without relying upon a specific statute. In the absence of such a provision, the defence application must fail.

6. Having read through the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011, there does not appear to be any provision which will allow the defence to make an application for the disclosure of information upon the strength of which a search warrant was obtained. There is a power to make an application, pursuant to section 38, for the return of property seized by police. [It is submitted that if Hassans want the phone /

IPad returned, an application could be made under this section]. Importantly however, there is no reference to an application for supplying search warrant information.

7. Notwithstanding the above, it is my view that public interest immunity can be successfully argued for the entirely of the information upon which the warrant was obtained. Such an argument would be made on the basis of the prejudice to the investigation, and set out in paragraphs 1 to 3.

8. Blackstones (2016) at F9.13, in respect of Police Communications states:

"Public interest immunity also attaches to police communications relating to the investigation of crime, such as documents or information upon the strength of which search warrants have been obtained (Taylor v Anderton (1986) The Times, 21 October 1986)."

9. In Taylor v Anderton the applicant sought disclosure of documents leading to the grant of search warrants. It was held that the application was refused on the basis that (1) there was no jurisdiction in either RSC Ord.29 r7A or the Supreme Court Act 1981 s.33; and (2) the documents were covered by public interest immunity.

10. The ruling indicates that the entirety of the search warrant information was covered by PII. There is no suggestion that disclosure of a redacted version was ordered by the Court.

11. In addition, the order was also refused on the basis that the court did not have jurisdiction to release the requested information (under RSC Ord.29 r7A or s.33 of the Supreme Court Act). In my view, this strengthens the argument that the court must be able to rely upon a statutory power to release the requested information. As stated previously, it is not apparent that such a provision exists in Gibraltar law. Moreover, there is an obligation on the prosecution to appraise the court of the absence of such a power.

Given the above, it is my view that we should be resisting the application made by the defence and not disclosing any of the search warrant information. There are a number of legal arguments that could be put to the Court. If the objections are rejected by the Court it would be for them to determine the nature and extent of disclosure.

Kind Regards,

Mark

Mr Lewis Baglietto QC

Dear Mr Baglietto,

Re - Mr James Levy QC

Thank you for your letter dated 20th May 2020, the contents of which are noted. Given some of the matters of law raised in your letter I have sought advice from the DPP.

I do not propose to repeat the RGP's position regarding the legality of the search warrant, suffice to say that our position remains that the warrant was properly and lawfully obtained.

You are correct to say that the RGP has objected to the disclosure of the documents used in support of the application of the warrant and that continues to be the RGP's fundamental position regarding full provision of all material. Notwithstanding this, I have instructed my officers to consider, if possible, making available a redacted version of those documents which may satisfy you regarding the basis upon which the application was made. Additionally, you have had made available to you substantial information in the pre-interview disclosure information. I hope that this combined will make the application to the Magistrate unnecessary. However, I must reiterate that any application for full disclosure of the documents will be resisted on the basis previously set out. Our view is that our objection is encapsulated within the Criminal Procedure Rules provisions identified by you in your letter.

As already explained, the DPP's advice was not sought in relation to whether a warrant should be applied for or how it would be executed. Such matters are operational in nature. The DPP's advice was however sought at various times in relation to status of all persons subject to the investigation. In this regard we remain convinced that the RGP's actions were lawful.

I note your request for further assurances from me regarding the examination etc of the material voluntarily provided by your client. In this regard, I can assure you that the material will not be examined without my giving you 7 days notice in advance of our intention to do so. This will give you ample opportunity to take whatever action you may deem necessary in the event that you are put on notice given that already 8 days since the items were handed over voluntarily.

Whilst on the matter of the material provided, I note that you have failed to respond to the point raised in earlier correspondence, namely that the material was provided voluntarily by your client and the warrant was not executed. On that basis I would be grateful if you would clarify the relevance of the challenge of the warrant. You will appreciate that this is an important issue for a number of reasons and clarity is required. Any suggestion that Mr Levy was coerced in to acting against his will and under threat of the execution of a warrant is strongly denied and will be apparent from any viewing of the Body Worn Video footage that was taken at the time.

Finally, for the avoidance of doubt, your client continues to be a suspect in this investigation. Your client has been given an opportunity to provide a prepared statement which may assist in the RGP's enquiries and clarify any involvement he may have had in the matter under investigation. Needless to say, the RGP must reserve the right to interview Mr Levy under caution at any time and it is a matter for you to advise your client on the effect of any statements he may or may not provide to the RGP. I must repeat that notwithstanding the above the RGP have an open mind and will review our position as and when evidence becomes available to us.

Yours sincerely

Ian McGrail OTM MSc

NOTICE OF OBJECTION

PURSUANT TO RULE 5.7 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE RULES

In the matter of the search warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at Don Place, 8 Governor's Lane; and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building.

Further to the written application contained in a letter from Hassans dated 13th May 2020.

The matters required to be set out pursuant to 5.7(7) are as follows:

(a) The objection relates to parts only of the information requested. A redacted version of the material will be made available to both the Court and the Applicant together with, where possible, a summary of the redacted paragraphs to allow the applicant to understand the material properly without undermining the basis of the objection.

(b) The objection to the provision of parts of the information applies until such time as the RGP have concluded any enquiries into the involvement of Mr James Levy QC and, in particular, carried out any interviews it may require to conduct as a result.

(c) The objection to disclosure item 3 of The Documents is made on public interest immunity grounds, namely that it is not in the public interest to disclose the information as disclosure would seriously prejudice the investigation at this time and hence would cause harm to the public interest. Further details are contained in the e-mail of Det Supt Richardson's to 15th May 2020 setting out the basis of the objection to an application seeking disclosure of The Documents.

Sir,

Please find below my response to the issues raised by Mr Rocca (in red). Grateful if you could review and add / amend as you see fit:

45-47 – summary should refer to Levy also if we are insisting on redacting this – however, I am not sure what we are seeking to protect here in terms of PII – these are communications that JL will have had. And presumably will have.

The paragraphs relate to communications between Mr Sanchez and Mr Levy in respect of acquiring the NSCIS platform. They are very specific messages that we would like to put to Mr Levy [and Mr Sanchez] in interview. By revealing specific exchanges we will be informing Mr Levy exactly what the police are relying upon and what we will be asking him to account for in interview.

This will be likely to prejudice the investigation because it will allow fabrication to take place to fit in with police evidence. It will not allow for a truly untainted account to be provided by Mr Levy.

The evidence is also intended to be put to Mr Sanchez. If he becomes aware of this evidence it is equally likely to prejudice his interview.

Whilst Mr Levy may have the messages they may equally have been deleted by him. It does not necessarily follow that he still has them in his possession.

48 – redaction serves no purpose

Refers to "the course of 2018". Given what has been disclosed this can be un-redacted.

49, 51, 56, 57, 58, 59, 61 - what is the PII here we are seeking to protect?

The paragraphs refer to specific evidence we would like to put to Mr Levy in interview. Paragraphs 49 and 51 are relevant to showing that Mr Levy, together with co-conspirators, intended to appropriate assets belonging to Bland Limited. This is an integral part of the offence of conspiracy to defraud.

Paragraphs 56 – 59 relate to a deliberate attempt to undermine the ability of Bland to maintain the NSCIS platform, namely by reducing their skilled workers. In paragraph 61, there in a message from Mr Perez saying that everything was in place. Given that Mr Levy was involved in the planning, we would like to explore in interview whether he was involved in the decision to undermine Bland Limited having regard to paragraphs 56 to 59. If so, it would go towards showing dishonesty in the context of a conspiracy to defraud.

Revealing this information before interview is likely to prejudice the investigation as it will again not allow for an untainted account to be provided.

99-101 – I would unredact 101 as there is nothing to protect n terms of PII

Paragraphs 99 to 101 are very important to the investigation with regards to Mr Levy. They concern his knowledge of the computer misuse offences. It has not yet been established whether he knew about the offences before they took place, or indeed whether he actively encouraged / assisted Mr Cornelio to carry them out. However, the texts suggest that Mr Levy was talking about the sabotaged system, and offering Mr Cornelio advice. We would like to explore this in more detail in the interview. If he was involved in planning the computer misuse offences he would be guilty of an offence. Equally, if he was subsequently aware of the offences and yet did nothing to distance himself from Mr Cornelio, this would go towards showing dishonesty on his part. This is important given that his lawyers have already asserted that he could not be guilty of an offence and that he is of good character and ethical standing.

Revealing this information before interview is likely to prejudice the investigation as it will again not allow for an untainted account to be provided.

103 – these are specifics in terms of offences committed by Cornelio and do not related to JL – can we add wording to that effect?

Given the issues raised above, it may not be prudent at this time to disassociate the computer misuse offences from Mr Levy. This is an area we are seeking to explore in interview.

210 – what are we concerned about here? Relevance to JL interview?

This is relevant to the interview of Mr Cornelio and the specific evidence we are seeking to put to him. The PII interest is in ensuring that this information is not disclosed to co-conspirators prior to being able to put it to them in interview.

319 (e) – see no purpose behind this redaction

This redaction relates to the level of knowledge we believe that Mr Levy had of the computer misuse offences. It is an important topic area that we would like to explore. His answers may lead to further charges. We would therefore not like to give him the opportunity to prepare a response to this line of questioning in advance.

Revealing this topic area before interview is likely to prejudice the investigation as it will again not allow for an untainted account to be provided.

48 – redaction serves no purpose

Dear Paul,
Thanks for your e mail.
I would like to go through the redacted version in my office if possible tomorrow? Also, would you be happy for me to show to Lewis Baglietto only the paragraphs I drew your attention to in my earlier e mail? This would be on a counsel to counsel basis and could not be shared with his client or any other person.
Best regards,
Christian

> With the exception of paragraph 48, which we agree can be revealed, our concerns with regard to the others remains the same. These are all matters that we would seek to explore in interview if they were not adequately covered in the account which JL has undertaken to provide. To expose the level of detail that these paragraphs cover in advance of any account may adversely affect the investigation.
> As investigators and police officers we feel that any release of the information prior to the formal interview of a suspect has the potential to undermine the investigative process and must be managed carefully. For that reason pre-interview disclosure normally takes place in a staged manner on the day of the interview.
> Our objections to this were articulated in Inspector Wyan's email of the 21st May 2020 and to which you replied on the 22nd May 2020.

It was agreed that we would consider providing a redacted version of the information and on the 22nd May 2020 you and I met and prepared the first draft. I then revised this with Inspector Wyan that same day and we produced a consolidated redacted draft which we all agreed to forward to Hassans. Further revelation has an impact on the other persons that await interview too. It is also worth bearing in mind that the warrants for both JL's residence and Hassans need to be returned to the court before Sunday the 7th June. This means that the final day to return them will be Friday 5th June. Any delay in forming a view on how to proceed will cause additional difficulty.
After consideration of the above you have advised that a balance must be struck between two competing aspects of the public interest; (i) the public interest that the Court have all relevant material before it to determine disputes; and on the other hand (ii), that material should be withheld if by its production and disclosure the community would be adversely affected. This is a legal determination and one in which we feel necessary to follow your advice.
I have discussed this with the Assistant Commissioner Richard Ullger and Inspector Wyan whilst bearing in mind your previous advice and your email a few minutes ago. Although we continue to hold a different view we will, as I say follow your advice.

Kind regards

Paul

Dear Sirs

RE: Application for the supply of information and documents from records and/ or case material pursuant to Crim PR 5.7.

We write further to your letter of the 28 May 2020 addressed to the Clerk of the Magistrates Court.

Before responding to the matters raised in your letter, we are concerned by your firm's insistence on conducting litigation by way of correspondence to the Court. This is neither appropriate nor necessary, particularly where the procedure governing your client's application is clearly contained within the Crim PR and there is likely to be a case management directions hearing in due course. We consider the matters raised in your letter should be reserved for oral or written submissions to the Court.

Dealing now with the matters raised in your letter, we adopt your numbering and comment as follows:

1. As you are aware the Office of Criminal Prosecutions and litigation regularly provides prosecutorial related legal advice to all law enforcement agencies including the RGP as well as other public authorities and Government Departments. In the circumstances, it should come as no surprise that the RGP has instructed this office in relation to this matter. For the avoidance of any doubt, the notice of objection filed on the 22nd May 2020 (the "Notice of Objection") was filed on behalf of the RGP and signed by the Director of Public Prosecutions for and on behalf of the Attorney-General whom instructs the DPP pursuant to section 59(3) of the Gibraltar Constitution Order 2006.

2. We respectfully disagree with your assertion that the Notice of Objection is inadequate. Rule 5.7 plainly states that the objector must give notice of the objection not more than 14 days after service of the request and that it must set out its grounds of objection [see Rules 5.7 (6) (b); and 5.7 (7)]. The RGP have complied with this requirement and there is nothing in this Rule or otherwise that requires the filing of evidence by the RGP at this stage. Following the receipt of the Notice, the Court may determine the application with or without a hearing [see Rule 6.7 (6) (c)].

We anticipate the Court will want to hear arguments for and against the grant of your client's application and is likely to direct that evidence be filed and/or that representations be made by the parties in due course.

3. Please find enclosed a copy of Det Supt Richardson's email to the Clerk to which you refer in which he sets out the basis of the RGP's objection.

You should be pleased to note that we are in the process of finalising a further version of the RGP's application for the search warrant which slightly scales back the extent of the redactions made to the document which was provided to you on the 27th May 2020.

Yours faithfully

Christian M Rocca QC
Director of Public Prosecutions

Statement of James Levy CBE QC

1. I am Haim Judah Michael Levy CBE QC.

2. I am the Senior Partner of Hassans International Law Firm ("Hassans"). I have been a lawyer for over 47 years and began working in this firm in 1972 with its founder, my uncle, Sir Joshua Hassan QC. I was appointed Queen's Counsel in 2002. In 2013 I was made Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire for services to the Community of Gibraltar and work in helping to grow and develop the economy of Gibraltar. In 2015 Parliament awarded me the Gibraltar Medallion of Honour for services to the economy of Gibraltar. I have been, for at least 15 years, and continue to be, the chairman of Gibraltar Community Care, Gibraltar's largest charity, and the longest serving president of the Managing Board of the Jewish Community of Gibraltar since its inception.

3. Contrary to what the RGP appear to suspect, I have not conspired with anybody to defraud anyone; nor have I exerted any improper influence on any public official; nor have I breached the Official Secrets Act.

4. On 12 May 2020, Detective Superintendent Paul Richardson and other officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police attended the offices of my firm, in Madison Building, Midtown, with search warrants. I was told that if I did not cooperate in granting access to the office premises and my home, the search warrants would be executed. I was astounded to learn that search warrants had been applied for and issued against me. When I raised this with Detective Superintendent Richardson, I was told that advice had been obtained from the highest level, which I understood to be the Director of Public Prosecutions. I cooperated with the RGP and granted access as requested to both my offices and home, as I would have if search warrants had not been obtained, subject to my professional duties and personal rights. Despite my strong objection to the legality of the warrants, I wish to record that both Detective Superintendent Richardson and Detective Inspector Wyan were at all times polite and courteous towards me.

5. Whilst at my offices, I was handed a document by Detective Superintendent Richardson entitled "Voluntary Attendance for Interview under Caution" and dated 12 May 2020, informing me of the background to the allegations and my alleged involvement. The document invited me to attend an interview under caution on Monday 18 May 2020 at 10am.

6. Following representations made by my legal representatives to the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Police about the unlawfulness of the search warrants I was subsequently invited to provide a written statement, albeit whilst still being considered a suspect by the RGP. Attached to one of the letters received from the Commissioner of Police was a document entitled "Voluntary Attendance for Interview under Caution" dated 12 May 2020. On the face of it this appeared to be the same document handed to me on 12 May, however, point 9 had been amended.

7. In order to prepare my written statement, Detective Superintendent Richardson sent my legal advisers a document by email, named: "Pre-Interview Disclosure". The document was marked "DRAFT", was undated and was also entitled "Voluntary Attendance for Interview under Caution". This document provided the background facts and details of my alleged involvement. I point out that none of the alleged facts in the document discloses any offence allegedly committed by me. The document also set out a list of specific questions which I answer below to the best of my recollection (given that the questions largely relate to events that occurred over two years ago) and subject to my professional duties.

8. Since the allegations against me have not been clearly specified for me to understand precisely, I have answered as best as I could. If the RGP need any further specific information, I would agree to provide this subject to any duty of privilege and confidentiality.

Questions posed by the RGP (in bold italics)

Hassans

His position, role, responsibilities, accountability (to whom?) Scope and limitation in engaging in new business and investing in new business by way of financing their ventures.

9. As mentioned above, I am the Senior Partner of Hassans. As Senior Partner, I chair partners' meetings and have general high-level oversight of Hassans and of the important matters that the firm deals with. I also deal with clients directly. Like all members of the firm I am accountable to the partnership. I also act as the initial point of contact for commercial transactions, bringing people and businesses together where I consider it to be in their best interests. By way of example, I was the person who brought the gaming industry as well as the insurance and other industries to Gibraltar.

10. Hassans' business ventures and investments are decided upon by a small group of partners, usually the Managing Partner (Javier Chincotta ("JC")), me and one or two other partners with some knowledge of the area that the venture or investment concerns.

11. Hassans are often approached by "start-ups" for investment in their ventures. Whether or not Hassans proceeds to invest in a particular business venture is a decision that is taken after careful consideration of all the relevant factors. There is no rigid structure for these decisions and each case is considered and decided individually and on its own merits.

12. Hassans has in fact supported and invested in numerous business ventures in the past, such as in construction companies, investment companies, insurance management companies, foreign trust companies, foreign property companies and even an individual who wanted to become, and successfully became, a football agent. This is not exclusive to Hassans. Other legal practices do this, both in Gibraltar and internationally, sometimes taking a stake in the company in lieu of fees.

36 North Ltd (36N)

His involvement with this entity from the beginning and including before its incorporation as a limited liability company.

How Hassans became involved in 36N

The nature of the business of 36N including any business plan if relevant.

The financing of 36N by Hassans and what level of return was expected from the investment.

13. To the best of my recollection, at some point towards the end of 2017 or in the first quarter of 2018 Hassans was approached by John Perez, a former Commanding Officer of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment ("JP") and Tommy Cornelio ("TC").

14. At the time JP and TC were employed by Bland Limited ("Blands") but wanted to leave the company and set up on their own. It was in respect of this new start up that they approached Hassans for investment.

15. There was an initial meeting with them to discuss their proposal, I think this was in the first quarter of 2018 but I cannot recall exactly when. There were also other meetings with them, but I cannot recall how many or when as all this occurred two years ago. From that stage I involved David Weber ("DW"), a consultant solicitor in Hassans and formerly a senior partner in the City firm Linklaters, as legal advisor in connection with the project.

16. I recall that the main thrust of the business pitch was that they had a number of opportunities both in Gibraltar and internationally involving software development and the provision of computer-based services.

17. It was explained to us that TC had a particular expertise in computers and software development, that JP had extensive business experience and that by using their skills they could develop many new business opportunities internationally in places such as Guinea Bissau, Sao Tome, Gabon and Angola and other countries. We were told that, among other things, they had in mind to develop a facial recognition programme for use by the cruise liner market. It was emphasised that the business would be based on software and programmes to be developed by TC and that JP would provide his business expertise to promote and market the business.

18. We were also told about another project concerning the setting up of the "Green Energy Cable" between Morocco and Gibraltar which was to provide electricity from Morocco to Gibraltar. JP had considerable experience in Morocco which he had gained during his former military career.

19. JP and TC explained that several computer programmes had been developed by TC for the Government of Gibraltar ("GoG"). They told us that any intellectual property rights for the programmes belonged to GoG. The programmes covered frontier management, employment and aviation for example. They said that they wanted to reach an agreement with Blands in relation to this area of work as it seemed clear to them that there would be no one with the required expertise and experience to maintain these systems once they left Blands.

20. JP and TC made it clear to us that after they left Blands they would develop new programmes which would not in any way infringe on anyone's intellectual property rights. They were confident that TC would be able to develop new programmes which would be profitable in Gibraltar and internationally. Whilst I understood the business concept and the commerciality of the proposal, I perceived that these were highly sophisticated programmes requiring specialist technical knowledge and skill which, given my very basic knowledge of IT, were way beyond my comprehension.

21. The business was portrayed as being very exciting, innovative and with the potential of international expansion. JP and TC had definitely decided to leave Blands and pursue their own business, with or without Hassans. They were determined not to be under James Gaggero's ("JG") control or influence. They wanted to be their own masters.

22. I was assured from the very beginning by JP and TC that after the termination of their employment they would not be prevented contractually or in any other way from conducting the business and competing with Blands. Consequently, I felt entirely reassured that there was no question of anyone's legal rights or obligations being breached in the setting up and operation of this new business.

23. I recall discussing the matter with JC and also other partners, but cannot recall when. We came to the view that this was an investment that we would be interested to participate in by providing a loan and taking shares.

24. In exchange for the loan JP and TC offered Hassans a third of the business. Hassans' participation was held through a company called Astelon Limited ("Astelon") owned by the partners of Hassans. I cannot recall when, but the details and terms of the investment were discussed and negotiated. I was not directly involved in these discussions, which were led by DW as legal advisor. I was involved occasionally at a high level when decisions had to be made. I see from the correspondence that the loan facility requested by JP and TC and provided by Astelon was up to £1,000,000. The loan was drawn down in stages and the sum of £400,000 had been drawn down by April 2019 shortly after which the facility was cancelled due to the failure of 36N to generate the anticipated level of income. In September 2019 revised cash flow forecasts were presented by JP and TC. On the basis of those forecasts it was decided that Astelon would make a further advance of £76,000. The total loan, which stands at £476,000, is to be repaid at the end of August 2020 or earlier if there is sufficient income from the business.

What was expected from Haim Levy as an associate of 36N

25. I am not and have never been an associate of 36N. Nothing was expected of me personally in relation to the management of 36N. I was not an officer of the company, nor did I have any day to day involvement in the business. As with other investments made by Hassans I would only be involved at a high level from a strategic point of view.

26. At all material times I was a representative and beneficiary of Astelon as shareholder and lender and all my dealings and involvement went no further than those expected of an investor in that capacity.

The corporate structure of 36N including its layered ownership

27. On 10 August 2018, when TC's employment with Bland terminated, JP was still under notice to Blands and was therefore contractually precluded from having an interest in the 36N business until his employment terminated at the latest on 10 September 2018 or earlier if released by Blands. It was therefore decided that between those two dates 50% of the shares in 36N would be issued to TC's company (Icode Limited) and the remaining 50% of the shares would be issued to Astelon. TC would be the sole director of 36N during this period and Icode Limited would be remunerated under a services agreement for providing TC's services to 36N. It was further agreed at that time that on 10 September 2018, or earlier if JP were released from his employment by Blands, the shares in 36N would be reorganised so that they were held in 1/3 equal shares by Icode Limited, Astelon and JP and at that time JP would be appointed an additional director of 36N and his services agreement with 36N would take effect. However, the reorganisation of the share capital of 36N had not happened as at 10 September 2018 and has not yet happened as far as I know, although Astelon still owns a 1/3 beneficial share of 36N.

Any KYC due diligence that was undertaken before participating in this business

28. Obtaining KYC due diligence is not something in which I would personally be involved. In any event, it is the firm's legal obligation to obtain this where required. I note from the correspondence that this was provided by JP and TC to DW in respect of the work that Hassans would have done for them as clients.

29. Additionally, JP, as a former Commanding Officer of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment, is very well known in Gibraltar, and TC is well known in the industry for his computer expertise. Moreover, they had both been the main persons involved in GoG work, not only for NSCIS but also for other software projects.

Astelon Ltd

The formation of this company and its purpose and ownership

30. Astelon was a shelf company. It was selected from a number of shelf companies for no particular reason. It is a single purpose vehicle ("SPV") whose purpose is to own shares in 36N for Hassans and to provide the financing from Hassans to 36N. An SPV for these purposes is an entirely normal and usual corporate set-up.

31. Astelon is beneficially owned by the partners from time to time of Hassans. This information was requested by Detective Sergeant Schembri from DW on 14 May 2019 and provided to him by email on the same day.

ICODE Ltd (1/3 shareholder in 36 North Ltd)

The business relationship with this company

32. The only relationship with Icode is that of Astelon as co-shareholder in 36N.

Any KYC due diligence conducted in connection with this company

33. I am informed by Line Group, who are Hassans' wholly owned fiduciary management company, that they did not incorporate Icode Ltd. I understand that Hassans obtained company documentation on Icode from TC as part of its normal AML process when acting as lawyers in a commercial transaction.

NSCIS platform

His understanding as to the ownership of the intellectual property of the platform given that the evidence suggests that it formed part of a 36N business plan. How was he satisfied that 36 North Ltd would be able to acquire the management of it given that Hassans invested in the company.

34. From the outset, I was told by JP and TC that the intellectual property of the NSCIS platform belonged to GoG. They were very clear about this, and that was my understanding throughout. I was told that GoG was free to use whatever contractor it wished to maintain and service the platform as there was no formal contract in existence between GoG and Blands. This information was essential to satisfy ourselves that the project would not give rise to any civil liability. We were satisfied with the information we were given that no civil liability would arise, particularly so since JG, chairman of the Bland Group, was negotiating with JP and TC for JG to acquire a substantial holding in 36N. In fact, I was told that initially he was suggesting to them that they could take over the maintenance of NSCIS platform without him seeking anything in return.

35. At the time JP and TC envisaged, and were confident, that the maintenance of NSCIS would at some point be given to 36N with the agreement of Blands and JG. Initially, JP and TC confirmed that JG had agreed for JP and TC to take over the maintenance of the NSCIS from Blands. However, I was subsequently told by JP and TC that JG's stance had changed, and that JG was asking for 50% of the shares in 36N in exchange for Blands' agreement to allow 36N to manage the Platform. I was subsequently informed by JP that JG had lowered his demand to 33% of 36N. At that stage I suggested to JP and to TC that they should settle with JG at that level and that we would be happy to step back from the business. In the end no agreement was reached but what is clear is that JG was not only aware of JP's and TC's business interests in this area, he was actively involved in negotiations with them to try and obtain a share of 36N.

His understanding as to how the platform was to be removed from Blands and transferred to 36N

36. This question is based on an incorrect premise, as the platform did not belong to Blands but to GoG. However, in any event, it was never my understanding that the platform was to be "removed" from Blands. My understanding from JP and TC was that GoG owned the platform and GoG was free to employ any contractor to maintain and service it as there was no formal contract between GoG and Blands. JP and TC envisaged that 36N would try to commercially compete for the NSCIS business by tendering for the management of the platform or (since I understood Blands obtained the management without a tender) making representations to GoG to show that they could provide a better, more reliable and more competitive service. That kind of competition is completely normal and lawful and Blands would have no recourse, if as a result, 36N won the ongoing business with GoG. Additionally, as I have already explained above, JP and TC were negotiating with JG for him to acquire a share in the new business.

Any knowledge that he had with regard to the malfunctioning of the platform and when he became aware of this

37. I am aware that after TC left Blands he was asked by JG to continue servicing the NSCIS platform because Blands did not have anyone with the required expertise to carry out this task. In effect, Blands was outsourcing the maintenance of the platform to TC.

38. I was made aware by TC on various occasions, after his departure from Blands and after he ceased his interim maintenance of the system for Blands, that the NSCIS system [redacted]

Any knowledge that he may have with regard to the tampering with and/or sabotage of the NSCIS platform

39. I had no knowledge of, or reason to suspect, any tampering with and/or sabotage of the NSCSI system as alleged. The first time I recall becoming aware of the alleged tampering/sabotage was after JP and TC were arrested when I was informed by them of what was being alleged and they strongly denied that any tampering or sabotage had taken place.

40. I note from paragraph 12 of the Pre-Interview Disclosure document that it is alleged that I became aware that Digital Forensic experts were conducting an investigation. As far as I recall, I only became aware that Digital Forensic experts were conducting an investigation when JP and TC told me after they were arrested and released on police bail. I was never aware of any alleged plan to sabotage the NSCIS platform or any computer misuse offences, nor would I countenance such behaviour

An explanation of what he did once he became aware of the alleged criminality of John Perez and Thomas Cornelio with regard to the reputational damage that may occur to himself and Hassan by being associated with them and 36 North through ownership of shares in 36N

41. Soon after the arrest DW and I met with JP and TC to discuss what had happened. JP and TC strenuously denied the allegations of tampering and sabotage and were adamant that the allegations were false and maliciously driven.

42. I was not concerned with reputational damage to me or my firm as we had acted properly and in good faith at all times and I was satisfied with the explanations that were given to me by JP and TC as described in the previous paragraph. I consider the matter to be, if anything, a commercial dispute and certainly not a criminal matter.

Communications and meetings with the following persons with regards to 36N and/or NSCIS

NOTE: Mr Levy retained a copy of the data on his mobile phone before eventually handing it over to police on the 12th May 2020 and has access to his email accounts. For this reason is should be possible for Mr Levy to extract the relevant conversations/emails from his own devices and may choose to provide these to police to support his account.

The persons are:

Eddie Asquez (a former employee of Bland Ltd)

John Perez

Thomas Cornelio

43. I do not believe I have ever met or communicated with Eddie Asquez.

44. I met with JP and TC on a number of occasions to discuss the business venture. I would generally meet them together. As I have mentioned, I was not directly involved in the detailed negotiations and our meetings and communications were limited to discussing high level aspects of the business.

45. Naturally, I received a number of emails from TC and JP regarding 36N and NSCIS. Some of these were addressed to me directly and in others I was a cc recipient.

46. Following discussions between our deputy head of IT and DC Jason Oton of the RGP, the Hassans servers were interrogated using agreed keywords and date parameters. I am providing the RGP with a USB stick which includes the emails that were identified using those keywords and parameters, but not those emails that are protected by Legal Professional Privilege or which are clearly unrelated to this matter.

47. The emails show that I was in contact with JP and TC and that the matters discussed were the setting up of the business and what the business would actually be doing. As explained below nothing about our communications were dishonest or unlawful.

48. I also recall that there were other communications with JP and TC but cannot recall the details given the passage of time.

Caine Sanchez

49. I met Caine Sanchez ("CS") a number of years ago through his father in law, James Pecino, who has been an employee of Hassans for many years, and therefore know CS personally.

50. Given the work Hassans does for the GoG, me and my colleagues often deal with civil servants. I therefore have cause to communicate with CS on many other matters. Indeed, some clients of Hassans who would come to set up their businesses in Gibraltar would have contact with CS as he was the Principal Secretary of the Deputy Chief Minister. He would therefore attend our offices for meetings on various matters.

51. CS was the Government officer responsible for the NSCIS and tasked with ensuring, on behalf of GoG, that the system was being properly maintained.

52. I cannot recall any specific meeting with CS on this matter at the time, however I note from the email correspondence that a meeting with CS took place in April 2018 and a copy of the draft MOU in relation to 36N was sent to him by email. I recall that around that time CS was concerned that the NSCIS platform would not be properly managed after JP and TC left Blands. He believed that once JP and TC left Blands, Blands would have no expertise to reliably deliver the service and he was concerned that it could affect the whole security of Gibraltar. At no time did CS request any payment or other benefit from me and to the best of my knowledge he did not and does not have any direct or indirect interest in 36N.

53. I continue working with CS on other matters since he now works for Sir Joe Bossano, the Minister of Economic Development, whom I advise on a number of matters in his capacity as a Minister.

Whether the relationship was purely business or lawyer client based (all persons)

54. The relationship with JP and TC was primarily a business one, but they also asked me to provide them with high level legal advice from time to time.

55. As far as I was concerned CS's involvement in relation to 36N was purely in an official capacity as the Government officer responsible for NSCIS.

Sanchez-

explanation as to his business relationship with civil servant

56. I did not have a business relationship with CS.

When did he find out that Sanchez was arrested on suspicion of misconduct in public office and did he consider that Sanchez may have acted unethically and/or unlawfully in his dealings with Haim Levy

57. I found out that CS had been arrested very shortly after the fact, but cannot recall exactly when or by whom I was so informed.

58. I have had no business dealings with CS (other than those when he has acted on behalf of GoG) and have no reason to believe he has acted unethically and/or unlawfully at any time.

Any approach by Mr Levy to member of Government or the civil service in connection with 36N and or the NSCIS platform

59. If by "approach" it is suggested that there has been some impropriety, I have certainly not "approached" any member of the GoG or the civil service in connection with 36N and/or the NSCIS platform or at all. The nature of my contact with the GoG or the civil service in connection with 36N and the NSCIS platform is set out in this statement.

60. In fact, it seems clear that if anyone has used his influence successfully throughout this matter it is JG. I understand he had many meetings and conversations with the Chief Minister to try and ensure that Blands kept the business. Indeed, he successfully managed to keep the NSCIS business [redacted] I further understand, did not prevent him from invoicing and charging huge sums of money for services not rendered. I assume the RGP is making the necessary investigations in this regard.

61. After reviewing my correspondence history, I see that in August 2018, I forwarded to the Chief Minister an email containing a draft email prepared by TC addressed to JG regarding the termination of the NSCIS maintenance service that TC had been providing after his departure from Blands. To put this in context, I was aware that the NSCIS platform was one in which the GoG had a direct interest, as owners of it, and I therefore discussed the Blands/36N issues with the Chief Minister on a few occasions.

62. The Chief Minister informed me that he had discussed this matter with JG also on a number of occasions and had tried to promote a settlement between him, JP and TC of the commercial dispute that was emerging between them. It was clear that JG was very concerned at losing his 2 key employees on whom he depended to enable Blands to continue to meet its contractual obligations.

63. In those conversations I suggested that the Chief Minister should continue to encourage JP, TC and JG to find a way to work together amicably in the interests of maintaining the NSCIS platform for the benefit of GoG as I had been informed that Blands did not have the expertise or capability to maintain it. I mentioned to the Chief Minister, and separately to JP and TC, that Hassans would be willing to give up all its shareholding in 36N if that would help reach an agreement between JP, TC and JG.

64. In relation to the maintenance issues regarding the platform that would arise after TC's departure from Blands, as mentioned above, I was aware that JG was negotiating a settlement agreement with JP and TC where JG was initially asking for a 50% stake in 36N. It was at that stage that I recall also informing JP and TC, in the presence of DW, that as far as Hassans was concerned we would be happy to step back from the investment, and that they should try to finalise an agreement with JG. JP and TC were adamant that they could not agree to that as they preferred not to work with JG and believed his demands were excessive.

65. By this time TC had already left Blands but had continued maintaining the NSCIS system on their behalf for the benefit of GoG and national security. TC did not want to continue providing this service on this informal basis and proposed to write to JG giving him notice of the termination of the service. TC sent me a draft of that letter for me to review.

66. It was against this backdrop of settlement talks, and the fact that I knew that the Chief Minister was also involved in trying to find a solution to the NSCIS operation issue that I forwarded the Chief Minister, by email, TC's draft email, as this was something which I thought he ought to be aware of.

Additional Comments

67. Having read the redacted information laid before the Magistrate in support of the application for the search warrants ("the Information") I find it even more incomprehensible why the police is investigating me at all. I am accused of conspiring with JP and TC to defraud Blands by "dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for [our] own benefit, via [our] company 36 North Limited" (see paragraph 42 of the Information). There appear to be 3 strands to the alleged conspiracy:

a. that I was discussing obtaining the NSCIS maintenance business with JP and TC during their employment with Blands.
b. that I had conversations with Government and Government officials about the business.
c. that I was aware of alleged computer misuse offences.

68. The RGP appear to have proceeded with this criminal investigation against me on the misguided view that only Blands was entitled to deliver maintenance to the NSCIS platform, and that any lawful attempt by any competitor to obtain that business amounts to a conspiracy to defraud. The RGP will know that it is fundamental to a charge of conspiracy that the agreement between the alleged conspirators must be to use unlawful means or to obtain an unlawful result. Using lawful means to obtain a lawful result and promoting co-operation between those with competing interests as I did in this case and have often done throughout my career, can never be a conspiracy to defraud.

69. In relation to the discussions regarding obtaining the NSCIS business during JP and TC's employment with Blands, even if you take the allegation at its highest, there can be no conspiracy or dishonesty merely by planning to set up a business that will compete with your employer after the employment terminates. It was certainly not a crime for JP and TC to plan a competing business. In any event as stated above JG negotiated with JP and TC to take a stake in 36N and was fully aware of what was going on.

70. Moreover, the Information suggests that the RGP consider that the mere act of JP and TC resigning from Blands was itself dishonest because Blands would be unable to maintain the NSCIS platform. There is no basis for this conclusion. It is for any employer to ensure that it retains its employees to be able to deliver its services. How it goes about it is a matter for the employer, but losing employees and by implication losing business is a fact and risk of any business. An employee is entitled to resign from their employment, upon giving any notice legally required, for any reason.

71. Furthermore, competing for the NSCIS business could not have been a conspiracy to defraud Blands when Blands, through its chairman JG, actively negotiated with 36N with regard to the NSCIS business and for a 50% stake in 36N. In other words, JG, the person complaining of being the victim of a conspiracy to defraud, was negotiating for a stake in the company that could be competing for the NSCIS business. He was negotiating with the very individuals he now accuses of conspiring against him, as a result of a failed negotiation. It will not be lost on the RGP that these allegations were made after JG failed to obtain the stake in 36N or to keep two key employees.

72. In relation to communications with Government and Government officials and specifically the allegation at paragraph 319 c. of the Information, that I used my influence with the Chief Minister to the advantage of 36N, if it is alleged that by speaking to Governments minister or officials I was attempting to win business for 36N, there would have been nothing unlawful in me doing so.

73. My communications with Government must also be put into context. In over 47 years of practice I have been the partner of a Chief Minister (Sir Joshua Hassan QC) whilst he was in office for 16 years. I was the main legal advisor to Sir Joe Bossano during his 8 years in office. I advised Sir Peter Caruana QC in his first term of office on a number of legal issues and I have been a partner of the present Chief Minister during his tenure of 9 years, whom I have also advised on various matters including important and confidential matters of state. I have also advised a number of successive Governors, the Foreign Office, a number of Attorneys General, a number of Chief Justices, local and overseas law enforcement agencies and leaders of industry, both in Gibraltar and internationally. I have therefore, regularly in my 47 years of practice been in almost constant communication with Government and Government officials at the most senior level.

74. In relation to the allegation that I had knowledge of the alleged computer misuse offences, paragraphs 99 and 100 of the Information, purport to relate to communications between TC, an unnamed person and myself about "apparent knowledge of the computer misuse offences". These paragraphs have been redacted and therefore I do not know why the RGP are alleging that I knew about the alleged computer misuse offences either at the time of their planning or at any time before JP and TC's arrest. It is impossible to understand how evidence of knowledge of an alleged crime after events can infer knowledge before the event. In other words, even if I had been told by JP and TC, which I deny, that there had been misuse of computers, that could not be used to infer that I knew about any such misuse when it was occurring or was about to occur

75. It appears that the RGP agree with me on this point because, despite the allegations in the Information, it has unsurprisingly been confirmed by the RGP to my legal representative Charles Bonfante, that there is no evidence that I was involved in or knew about the planning of the alleged sabotage to the NSCIS platform. I most certainly was not.

76. I have, in this statement, sought to address the facts from my knowledge and recollection, and from material at my disposal. I feel bound to remind the RGP that this investigation, as well as the draconian and wholly unnecessary step of seeking a search warrant on the basis that I could not be trusted, have, apart from the deep disappointment and offence caused to me, caused me and my family very considerable and lasting distress, which cannot simply be forgotten and cured with time. I therefore reserve all my rights in this respect.

77. I simply cannot comprehend how the RGP can genuinely consider that they have sufficient grounds to treat me as a suspect and I would expect that, having read this statement, they will reflect on and reconsider the enormity of what they appear to be alleging against me.

78. What is, however, clear to me is that the RGP has been overzealous in accommodating JG and allowed itself to be influenced by him in pursuing, what is essentially a commercially motivated complaint by him against former employees with whom he is aggrieved for leaving him and competing with his business through a company which he wanted to be part of.

Subject: RE: Levy Report

Mark,

Further to our meeting please find attached the report with several alterations/amendments already made and which we were agreed this morning.

As discussed there is a need to include a paragraph outlining the issue concerning Mr. Levy retracting his consent to examine his devices the very next day after he had encouraged us not to execute the search warrant explaining that he would voluntarily hand over his devices and documentation. Although he initially declared that he was more than happy to cooperate and that there was no need for a search warrant, in his application the Magistrates' court made he claimed that he had only acted in Terroris. You will recall that following a meeting with the AG and the former COP we agreed to delay the unsealing of the devices which were held in COP'S safe (and remain there today) until we had examined the documentation and account that Levy had assured us through his counsel that would be forthcoming but which was only received on the 9th June 2020. By this stage we had returned the search warrant (unexecuted) to the Magistrates' Court.

On the 28th August 2020 we met with the DPP and MZ and discussed the pre-charge report and advice that followed. It was agreed at that stage that we would defer examining Mr Levy's devices until we had received a substantive response from the USA LoR. Now that the LoR has been received and contents examined I agree that we can no longer assert that we believe that Mr Levy's devices contain material the indicates that he has committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud. I agree that our suspicion about his involvement remains but that is another thing all together. In my view his devices should now be returned unopened. I will consult the Commissioner once your report is amended as requested.

Kind regards

To: Commissioner of Police
FAO: Supt Richardson
RE: Operation Delhi – Mr Levy

Date: 19th October 2020

1. This report has been drafted in order to consider whether to search devices obtained from Mr Levy on the 12th May 2020 or whether to return the devices to the owner without further investigation.

Suspected involvement in a Criminal Offence

2. On the 1st April 2020 Supt Richardson produced a National Decision Model ("NDM") assessment regarding the involvement of Mr Levy with 36 North Limited. In this document he concluded:

"Based on the information and intelligence gathered thus far:

a) We have reasonable grounds to suspect that JL has dishonestly used his influence with the CM, CS and possibly AM (the FS) to induce the relevant persons to transfer the maintenance contract of the NSCIS platform from Blands to 36N, a company in which he holds a 10.56% personal stake.
b) There is no evidence that the CM nor AM were aware that TC had compromised the operation of the NSCIS platform by sabotage.
c) We therefore that have reasonable grounds to suspect that an offence of conspiracy to defraud has been committed.
d) In the absence of anything to the contrary the evidence suggests that JL took part in this conspiracy together with JP, TC and CS. At this stage we have been unable to properly determine EA's involvement beyond the email to JL in February 2018.
e) As police officers we swear an oath to faithfully perform our duty by law appointed, without fear or favour or ill-will.
f) As investigators we are obliged to conduct all reasonable enquiries whether they lead toward or away from the suspects."

3. On the 8th April 2020, during a video conference, advice was sought from the DPP on the evidence obtained. He agreed that there were reasonable grounds to suspect that Levy had committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud.

Offence of Conspiracy to Defraud

4. The offence considered was that of Conspiracy to Defraud. The issue was whether there were reasonable grounds to suspect that Levy was guilty of this offence.

Definition of Conspiracy to Defraud:

5. An agreement by two or more persons by dishonesty to deprive a person of something which is his or to which is is or would be or might be entitled [or] an agreement by two or more by dishonesty to injure some proprietary right of his suffices to constitute the offence …

Constituent Parts of the Offence

6. The constituent parts of the offence are as follows:

    a. Agreement by two or more persons
    b. By dishonesty
    c. To deprive a person of something which is his.

7. Each of the elements has been briefly set out below:

"To deprive a person of something which is his"

8. Bland Limited currently have a contract with HMGoG for the maintenance of the NSCIS platform. Whilst there may be a dispute over the ownership of the platform, evidence suggests that there was a contractual agreement that Bland would maintain the said platform.

9. There is clear and substantial evidence that the suspects wanted to obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract, and to transfer it to 36 North. This is evidenced primarily though communication between the parties.

10. In acquiring the maintenance contract for 36 North, the suspects sought to benefit financially in that Levy / Perez / Cornelio each had beneficial ownership of the company.

"Agreement by two or more persons"

11. The evidence indicates that Levy / Perez / Cornelio / Sanchez agreed to deprive Bland of the NSCIS maintenance contract.

"By Dishonesty"

12. The question was whether the agreement to deprive Bland Limited of the NSCIS maintenance contract was to do so by dishonesty. The grounds to suspect that this was the case were based on the following:

    a. Receiving business proposals/information directly from a Civil Servant;
    b. He was aware that business (such as Carnival Cruises and STP) initiated by Bland were being taken by 36 North;
    c. He was aware that TC continued to access the national security platform after TC had terminated his consultancy and that this information was being withheld from Bland;
    d. Was aware that TC had accessed the system and performed a full review of a national security platform despite the fact that 36 North were not contracted to maintain the platform;
    e. Was contacting / facilitating access to the CM with a view to discussing 36N and the NSCIS platform;
    f. In October 2018, spoke to TC about the forensic team investigating whether he was tampering with the system. It is reasonable to suggest that TC informed him that he had been sabotaging the system.

Search Warrant

13. On the 12th May 2020 officers attended Hassans law firm together with a Schedule 1 search warrant. The warrant was not executed on the basis that Mr Levy agreed to hand over his electronic devices and relevant emails, and in fact he asked that the warrant was not executed undertaking to hand over what was required.

14. Mr Levy was provided with a copy of pre-interview disclosure which outlined the topic areas that police wanted to discuss with him in an interview under caution.

15. An iPad belonging to Mr Levy was handed over during the course of the search. The iPhone was not initially handed over to police. At the request of Mr Levy it was backed up and subsequently handed over to police later the same evening.

Request to obtain Search Warrant Application / Written Account (Timeline)

16. On the 13th May 2020 a letter was sent by Lewis Baglietto QC to Supt Richardson. In this letter he requested copies of the search warrants as well as a copy of the application and any notes taken.

17. On the same date he made an application, pursuant to the Criminal Procedure Rules, for the disclosure of the search warrant application. In this application it was claimed that Mr Levy had acted en terrorem when handing over the devices, despite initially insisting that he wished to co-operate with police. Supt Richardson responded to Maurice Turnock on the same date, objecting to the disclosure of the application.

18. On the 14th May 2020 a letter was sent from the Commissioner of Police to Lewis Baglietto QC, to which he attached copies of the search warrants and amended pre-interview disclosure asking that Mr Levy attend an interview under caution at 1000 hours on Monday 18th May 2020. He refused to provide the search warrant application / notes.

19. In anticipation of the interview under caution, an interview plan was concluded on the 15th May 2020.

20. On the 15th May 2020, a further letter was sent by Lewis Baglietto QC to the Magistrates' Court setting out legal cases in support of their application. On the same date he also sent a letter to the Attorney General, setting out their objections to the search warrants.

21. On the 17th May 2020 an email was sent by Lewis Baglietto QC to the Attorney General in which he stated that "Mr Levy will give a written statement." He stated that in the circumstances Mr Levy would not be attending the voluntary interview. (Objections were raised by Supt Richardson about the reference to a "written statement" as at that stage Mr Levy was still considered a suspect and it was inappropriate to treat him as a witness).

22. On the 18th May 2020 the Commissioner sent an email to Lewis Baglietto QC requesting that the account by Levy be received by the 26th May 2020.

23. On the 20th May 2020 a letter was received from Lewis Baglietto confirming that an application for the search warrant application had been made pursuant to CPR r.5.7. He asked for the police to reconsider the objection they had raised with the court. He noted that the police had agreed not to open the devices until such time as the account had been provided by Levy.

24. On the 20th May 2020 a meeting was held at the offices of the Attorney General. The AG enquired as to whether Levy could be considered a witness. The Commissioner pointed out that the RGP would review any unsolicited account but that his status must remain that of a suspect. It was further agreed that, in respect of the iPad and iPhone, that they would not be opened unless 10 days' notice (not 21) was given in writing to Hassans. A stay was agreed in respect of the devices until Levy had provided an account and his emails had been reviewed.

25. On the 21st May 2020 the Commissioner responded to Lewis Baglietto QC. In this letter he made reference to the fact that the RGP would be willing to provide a redacted copy of the search warrant application.

26. On the 21st May 2020, a letter was drafted for the Magistrates' Court formally objecting to the disclosure of the search warrant application.

27. On the 21st May 2020, a redacted version of the Schedule 1 affidavit was supplied to the DPP. On the same evening, Insp Wyan set out his concerns about the disclosure of the redacted document.

28. On the 22nd May 2020 the DPP filed and served the letter of objection. The same day the DPP was authorised by the RGP to provide the redacted copy of the search warrant application to Hassans.

29. On the same date a letter was received from Charles Bonfante stating that the account for Mr Levy had not been finalised and that they required an additional week to complete.

30. On the 27th May 2020 Hassans were provided with a redacted version of the search warrant application by the DPP.

31. Later the same day the DPP requested a meeting to further discuss the redactions provided. He subsequently asked whether further un-redactions could be made by the police.

32. On the 27th May 2020 Charles Bonfante requested further time to complete the statement of Mr Levy.

33. On the 28th May 2020 Supt Richardson responded to the DPP regarding the request for further un-redactions.

34. On the 29th May 2020 the DPP wrote to Lewis Baglietto QC. He referred to the fact that the RGP were further un-redacting the search warrant application. The document with further un-redactions was subsequently sent to the DPP.

35. On the 3rd June 2020 Supt Richardson wrote to Charles Bonfante setting out all of the information that had provided to him. He ended by requesting the agreed account of Mr Levy without further delay.

36. On the 8th June 2020 the search warrant was returned to the Magistrates' Court in accordance with s.20 of the CPEA.

Written Account from Haim Levy dated 9th June 2020

37. On the 9th June 2020 Levy produced an account to police. This was based upon topic areas that police had outlined as part of pre-interview disclosure as well as the redacted affidavit. A summary of his account is set out below:

38. Roles and Responsibilities:

a. Levy was accountable to the Hassans partnership.
b. He acted as the initial point of contact for commercial transactions.
c. Hassans are often approached by start-ups for investments in their ventures.

39. 36 North Limited:

a. Levy was approached by Perez and Cornelio in late 2017 / early 2018. They wanted to leave Bland and start a new company. They approached Hassans for investment.
b. They had a number of opportunities in Gibraltar and internationally involving software development and computer based services.
c. International opportunities included Sao Tome and facial recognition used by the cruise liner market.
d. Perez and Cornelio explained that several computer programmes had been developed for HMGoG, and that the IP rights belonged to HMGoG.
e. Perez and Cornelio made it clear that they would develop new software after leaving Bland which would not infringe IP. This would be profitable in Gibraltar and internationally.
f. Levy was assured by Perez and Cornelio that after they terminated their employment they would not be contractually prevented from competing with Bland.
g. In exchange for a loan facility of up to £1,000,000 Perez and Cornelio offered Hassans a third of the business in shares. These were held by Astelon Limited which was owned by the partners of Hassans. £400,000 had been drawn down by April 2019 shortly after which the facility was cancelled to due failure to generate the anticipated income. A further £76,000 was advanced in September 2019 based on revised cash flow forecasts.

40. Expectations of Mr Levy as an associate of 36 North:

    a. Levy was not an associate of 36N and nothing was expected of him. He did not have any involvement in the day to day running of the business. He was involved only at a high level from a strategic point of view. His involvement went no further than as an investor of the company.

41. Corporate Structure of 36 North:

    a. When Cornelio terminated his employment with Bland on 10th August 2018 Perez was still under notice to Bland and therefore contractually precluded from having an interest in 36N. It was decided that between those two dates Cornelio would be the sole director, with 50% shares being held by Cornelio (through Icode Limited) and 50% issued to Astelon.
    b. It was agreed that after Perez was released the shares would be shared equally between Astelon, Cornelio and Perez. At that time Perez would be appointed an additional director.

42. KYC Due Diligence:

    a. This would not be dealt with by Levy personally.
    b. This was provided by Perez and Cornelio in respect of the work carried out by Hassans. They are both well known in Gibraltar for their work and had been involved in HMGoG work.

43. Astelon Limited:

    a. Astelon Limited was a shelf company. It is an SPV whose purpose is to hold shares in 36N for Hassans. An SPV for these purposes is entirely normal and usual corporate set-up.
    b. Astelon Limited is owned by the partners from time to time of Hassans.

44. ICode Limited:

    a. The only relationship with Icode is that of Astelon as a co-shareholder of 36N.
    b. Line Group (management company of Hassans) did not incorporate Icode Ltd.

45. NSCIS Platform:

a. Levy was informed by Perez and Cornelio that the IP (intellectual property) of the NSCIS platform belonged to HMGoG and that they were free to use whatever contractor it wished to maintain and service the platform (as there was no formal contract in existence).
b. They were satisfied that no civil liability would arise, particularly because Gaggero was negotiating to acquire a holding in 36N. He initially asked for 50% of the company and later lowered this to 33%. No agreement was reached.

46. How the Platform would be Transferred to 36 North:

a. HMGoG owned the platform and were free to employ any contractor, as there was no formal contract in place.
b. Perez and Cornelio envisaged that 36N would try to commercially compete for the NSCIS business by tendering for the management of the platform or (since Levy understood that Blands obtained the management without tender) making representations to HMGoG that they could provide a better, more reliable and more competitive service.
c. That kind of competition is normal and lawful and Blands would have no recourse if 36N won the ongoing business.

47. Knowledge of Malfunctioning of the Platform:

a. Levy was aware that after Cornelio left Blands he continued to service the NSCIS platform because Blands did not have the expertise.
b. Cornelio advised Levy that after his departure from Blands the NSCIS platform was not being properly maintained.

48. Knowledge of Tampering and/or Sabotage of the NSCIS Platform:

a. Levy had no knowledge of, or reason to suspect any tampering / sabotage of the NSCIS platform. The first time he became aware of the alleged offences was when Perez and Cornelio were arrested.

49. What he did once he became aware of the alleged criminality of Cornelio and Perez:

    a. Levy discussed the matter with Cornelio and Perez soon after arrest. They denied the allegations.
    b. Levy was not concerned with the reputational damage because Hassans had acted properly and in good faith, and he was satisfied with the explanations he had received.

50. Communications with regards to 36 North:

    a. Levy had a number of meetings with Perez and Cornelio but these were limited to discussing high level aspects of the business.

51. Caine Sanchez:

    a. Given that Hassans does work for HMGoG, Levy stated he has cause to communicate with Sanchez on many matters.
    b. A meeting took place with Sanchez in April 2018 and a copy of a draft MOU in relation to 36N was sent to him by email (Exhibit JC/MOU/1 refers).
    c. Sanchez was concerned at that time that after Perez and Cornelio left Blands the NSCIS platform would not be properly managed. Sanchez was concerned that this would affect the whole security of Gibraltar.
    d. Sanchez did not request any payment or other benefit and to his knowledge he did not have direct or indirect interest in 36N.

52. The Nature of the Relationship:

    a. The relationship between Levy and Cornelio and Perez was primarily business, but they also asked for high level legal advice from time to time.
    b. The relationship with Sanchez in relation to 36N was purely in an official capacity as the HMGoG officer responsible for NSCIS. There was no business relationship with Sanchez.

53. What JL did when he found out that Sanchez had been arrested and did he consider he may have acted unethically and / or unlawfully:

    a. Levy stated he had no reason to believe that CS acted unethically and / or unlawfully.

54. Any approach by Mr Levy to a member of the Government or civil service in connection with 36N and / or the NSCIS platform:

a. There has been no impropriety with NSCIS or 36N.
b. In August 2018 Levy forwarded an email to the Chief Minister which contained a draft prepared by Cornelio for terminating the NSCIS platform. This was against the backdrop of settlement talks, and because he knew the Chief Minister was trying to find a solution to the NSCIS operation issue.
c. Levy discussed the Bland / 36 North issues with the Chief Minister as the NSCIS platform was one in which the HMGoG had a direct interest as owners.
d. The Chief Minister informed Levy that he had discussed the matter with Gaggero on a number of occasions and tried to promote a settlement between the parties. In those conversations Levy suggested that he should continue to encourage them to find a way to work together amicably.
e. Levy mentioned to the Chief Minister, and to Perez and Cornelio, that Hassans would be willing to give up all its shareholding in 36N if it would help to reach an agreement.

55. Additional Comments by Levy:

a. Using lawful means to obtain a lawful result and promoting co-operation between those with competing interests can never be conspiracy to defraud.
b. There can be no conspiracy or dishonesty merely by planning to set up a business that will compete with your employer after the employment terminates.
c. The mere act of Perez and Cornelio resigning from Bland cannot be dishonest. It is for the employer to ensure that it retains its employees to be able to deliver services. An employee is entitled to resign upon giving any notice legally required.
d. Gaggero actively negotiated for a 50% stake in 36N. He was negotiating with the very individuals he is now accusing of conspiring against him, as a result of a failed negotiation.
e. If Levy was speaking to Government ministers or officials for the benefit of 36N there would be nothing unlawful in doing so.
f. During 47 years of practice Levy has been in almost constant contact with Government and Government officials at the most senior level.

g. Even if Levy had been told by Perez and Cornelio (which is denied), of computer misuse, that cannot be used to infer the he knew about any such misuse when it was occurring or was about to occur.

56. On the 9th June 2020 Levy produced the emails and correspondence that had been promised on the 12th May 2020.

57. On the same date CoP McGrail resigned from the Royal Gibraltar Police.

Review of the Documents Submitted by Levy

58. Following the submission of his account, the material was reviewed.

59. On the 25th June 2020 the emails submitted by Levy on the 9th June were analysed. With the exception of a 36 North MOU (which evidenced the fact that Sanchez had been involved in setting up 36N), there was no other material disclosed that was relevant to the prosecution case (no material was considered exculpatory in respect of Mr Levy).

Review of Documents Obtained from the US

60. On the 28th August 2020, a meeting was held with the DPP in relation to pre-charge advice for Operation Delhi. It was agreed that whilst there was insufficient evidence to charge Levy at that stage, an examination of the devices would be deferred until the information obtained from the Letter of Request had been reviewed.

61. Information from the execution of a Letter of Request in the US finally arrived on the 8th September 2020 and was subsequently reviewed on the 12th September 2020. No incriminating evidence in respect of Levy was found.

The Position as of October 2020 / Considerations

62. Having regard to the matters referred to above, the following matters have been considered when assessing whether to return the devices to Mr Levy or to examine the content within.

a. The devices obtained from Mr Levy on the 12th May 2020 are unlikely to obtain evidence of criminality. This is on the basis that:

i. The phone of Mr Levy was imaged by him (his employees) in advance of handing the device over to police. This time could have been used to erase relevant material from the phone, before handing it over.

ii. The emails were voluntarily handed over to police on the 9th June 2020, almost a month after the iPhone / iPad were seized. Any evidence of criminality could have been deleted or the emails simply not handed over to police.

b. On the 2nd September 2020, and in response to an extended summary of evidence provided by police, the DPP agreed that, at that time, there was insufficient evidence to charge Levy with the offence of conspiracy to defraud.

c. The document provided by Levy on the 9th June 2020 gave a limited account of his involvement in the company 36 North. He explained his position in terms of commercial involvement. These actions may be regarded as unscrupulous but nothing he stated suggested criminal behaviour (or dishonestly within the meaning of conspiracy to defraud).

d. No evidence has been found which suggested that Levy placed pressure on the Chief Minister at the request of Cornelio.

e. With the exception of a text between Levy and Cornelio stating, "Morning James. Very confidential. Note Gaggero has brought in a forensic team of six to look at anything John and I may have done to tamper with the system etc. Gaggero is going all out it seems." there is no evidence that Levy knew about the alleged computer misuse offences committed by Cornelio.

f. Levy has no contractual obligation towards Bland. This is unlike Cornelio / Perez who had contracts of employment with Bland. As stated in previous reports a conspiracy to defraud must incorporate some unlawfulness, either in its object or its means (Evans [2014] 1 WLR 2817).

g. The evidence obtained following the International Letter of Request has not revealed any evidence of criminality by Levy.

h. There is no evidence following review of emails / texts between Levy and Sanchez to suggest criminality by Levy.

Decision

63. In light of the points made above, and having regard to the evidence reviewed since April 2020 (when the search warrant was obtained), we no longer continue to have reasonable grounds to believe that Levy committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud.

64. Given that reasonable grounds no longer exist (to suspect Levy of the offence), the legality of now searching the iPhone / iPad for evidence of this offence is in question.

65. The correct course of action is therefore to return the devices to Levy, without further investigation of their content.

Subject: FW: Levy Report 27.10.20

Mark,
Your views please..
Sir,
Please find attached CI Mark Wyan's comprehensive summary of James Levy's status as a suspect for Operation Delhi.
You will recall that Mr Levy's digital devices (iPad and iPhone) still remain in a sealed exhibit bag within your safe. This rather unorthodox situation can be summarised as follows:

1. Levy was considered a suspect early on in this investigation as forensically recovered messages suggested that he had participated in a conspiracy to defraud Blands together with Thomas Cornelio, John Perez and Eddie Asquez.
2. An NDM assessment of his involvement was drafted and shared with the DPP who agreed that Levy was a suspect and should be interviewed under caution.
3. We elected to obtain a search warrant for Levy's residential and work addresses and were successful in making a comprehensive application to the Magistrates' Court.
4. The DPP in retrospect stated that he would not have executed a warrant but would have preferred to execute a production order instead. We did not agree and the DPP advised that the execution of the warrant was not unlawful and its execution was an operational matter for the RGP and that he would support us in that decision.

5. Levy persuaded us not to execute the warrant declaring (after consulting with leading UK silk) that he would hand over the material we required voluntarily. At his request I personally conducted a rudimentary and cursory search of his work and home office only. Levy declined to sign the relevant section of the warrant form until later arguing that the warrant was not executed as he had consented to the search. BWC footage of this exchange was taken.
6. Levy did not hand over his iPhone until hours after we left Hassans premises as he claimed that his IT expert needed to image the device in order that he could carry on working on other cases and with other clients. His emails were to provided subsequently due to the time that would be needed to execute keyword searches.
7. The day after handing over his devices voluntarily Levy served papers at the Magistrates' Court stating that he had acted en terrorem and that I had acted with malfeasance and that there had been an abuse of law.
8. Lewis Baglietto QC, acting for Levy sought an urgent meeting with the AG and the then COP to discuss the matter.
9. We took the view that it was inappropriate for the COP to meet with the defence particularly when they were making such serious, and baseless allegations.
10. Later that day the COP, Ag, DPP and I met to discuss the matter and we were persuaded to seal Levy's digital devices until we could deal with the issue of legally privileged material (which had already been considered as part of the NDM assessment of Levy's involvement referred to above). The AG had taken offence at how we (the RGP) could have considered Levy a suspect as he was an officer of the court, a senior barrister and QC and we exchanged different views on how the investigation could progress. The DPP reiterated his support and agreed that at that stage there was evidence that Levy had committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud and could only be properly be dealt with as a suspect. The then COP undertook to personally take possession of the devices and agreed not to open the devices for a period of 14 days which would allow Levy to make an application in court for their return.
11. The AG advised that he would deal with the allegations of impropriety explaining that that was what lawyers did and not to worry.
12. Arrangements were then made for Levy to attend NMH on a voluntary basis to submit to interview.
13. A lengthy exchange between lawyers for Levy and ourselves then took place in which they sought even further pre-interview disclosure (an initial pre-interview disclosure had already been served on Levy on the day that the warrant was to be executed). After consultation with the DPP this was exceptionally provided.
14. At a further meeting with the AG, DPP, COP, Insp Wyan and myself the AG asked that we explore ways of dealing with Levy without him attending the police station. This was debated at length and we agreed that in the event that Levy provided a comprehensive prepared account we may be in a position to re-consider his status as a suspect, however there would likely still be a need to interview him under caution if questions needed to be posed after consideration of his account.
15. Levy's lawyers then made an application to the Magistrates' Court for the release of the information laid before the Magistrate (affidavit) in order to obtain the search warrants. This was a lengthy document that outlined the full case against all defendants and we strenuously objected to its release.
16. In consultation with the DPP we agreed to disclose a heavily redacted version of the affidavit to Lewis Baglietto on a counsel to counsel basis.
17. Further to this we were asked to un-redact even more of the affidavit, which following lengthy consultation with the DPP was done.

18. Levy's account was not received until the 9th June, the same day that he also finally handed over his documents that had been promised almost a month earlier and the same day that the then COP resigned.
19. Nothing incriminating was found in the documents supplied.
20. Levy gave partial explanations in his account but did not answer all of the issues that we sought to clarify.
21. We revisited the need to interview Levy under caution but agreed with the DPP to wait until we had reviewed the evidence from the US LOR which we had been assured was imminent.
22. Once the material from the US arrived it was reviewed urgently and found to contain nothing incriminating.
23. Two of the other suspects in the case have now been charged and a third (Asquez) released.
24. Based on the evidence that we have I agree that we no longer have reasonable grounds to believe that the devices held within your safe contain evidence that Levy has committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud Blands. For that reason I recommend that they are returned without opening.
25. This should not be seen as a vindication of Levy's innocence throughout the investigation which may have resulted in a different outcome had the warrant been executed and Levy interviewed under caution.

Kind regards

Paul

Dear Mark,

Thank you for your email below and for taking my phone call earlier this week.

I am grateful for your confirmation that the RGP, following an extensive investigation, have concluded that Mr Levy is not a suspect in this matter.

In our call you said the next step was for Mr Levy to decide whether he would like to be a prosecution witness. Mr Levy respectfully declines your invitation to be a prosecution witness in this case. I understand from our call that this now brings Mr Levy's involvement with the RGP to an end. Please do let me know if this is not the case or if you wish to discuss anything further.

I can confirm that I was handed My Levy's property by DC Currer.

Dear Mr Baglietto QC,

You will no doubt be aware that the police investigation involving 36 North Ltd has resulted in three persons being charged with conspiracy to defraud Bland Ltd and that they have now appeared before the Supreme Court of Gibraltar.

Following an extensive investigation we have concluded that Mr Levy is no longer considered a suspect in this matter. Given that Mr Levy has already provided a written submission further to questions posed by the investigating team, I should be grateful if you would consider editing Mr Levy's account with a view of it being included in the evidence in the form of a witness statement.

Finally, in the circumstances it is our intention to return the devices that were handed over to police voluntarily on the 12th May 2020. These items (which remain unexamined) may be collected from NMH during normal office hours or alternatively I could arrange for them to be dropped off to you.

Kind Regards,

Mark

NDM ASSESSMENT REGARDING THE INVOLVEMENT OF HAIM JUDAH LEVY WITH 36 NORTH LTD.

GATHER INFORMATION & INTELLIGENCE

1. In December 2018 a complaint was made by James Gaggero (JG), Chairman of Blands, that two of his former employees – John Perez (JP) and Tommy Cornelio (TC) had attempted to defraud Blands of their proprietary rights in the National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS), a platform that handles collects and processes sensitive personal data for law enforcement use and statistical data collection.

2. On the 9th July 2018 JP (the then CEO of Blands) and TC (software developer) had both submitted their resignations from Blands simultaneously in what is believed to be an orchestrated move to cause the most maximum possible damage to Blands in their ability to manage the NSCIS platform. On the 20th July 2018 two of the remaining software developers for Blands also left the firm without prior notice. All four JP, TC and the two developers began working for a company called 36 North Ltd (36N Ltd.)

3. JG described this as an existential threat to Blands in Gibraltar and was so concerned about the impact it would have on the NSCIS platform and thereby National Security, that he informed the Chief Minister (CM).

4. The NSCIS maintenance contract (although unsigned) is worth £816k p.a. There is a dispute as to the ownership of the intellectual property of the software between Blands and HMGOG. Blands asserts that they retain the IP rights for the software that they developed and submitted a contract to HMGOG through the then Chief Secretary Ernest Montado several years ago. This was never signed, although the government has continuously paid the maintenance and licencing fees.

5. Soon after the departure of the persons mentioned in paragraph 2 the NSCIS platform began to malfunction and the law enforcement users of it began to complain. It was later discovered that the complaints about the system were orchestrated and aggressively encouraged by TC with the assistance of Caine Sanchez (CS).

6. Caine Sanchez is a senior civil servant who at the relevant time was the Principal Private Secretary to the Deputy Chief Minister (DCM). He was also the project lead for NSCIS as the platform was initially developed to monitor frontier queues for EU purposes – this came under the DCM's portfolio.

7. In October 2018 JG commissioned a forensic investigation into the NSCIS platform by PWC after it began to malfunction. PWC's findings were presented to JG and subsequently to the RGP in support of his complaint in a report entitled Project Bass.

8. A police investigation commenced code named Operation Delhi and a number of search warrants were executed at the residences and workplaces of the principal suspects. The searches and interviews were supported by officers from the UK National Crime Agency.

9. The evidence gathered from digital media devices indicates that multiple Computer Misuse Offences [sections 362, 364, 365 and 366A Crimes Act 2011] have been committed by TC. It is unknown at this stage whether the other persons subject to the investigation had knowledge of TC's actions, although it is clearly implied that they were subsequently made aware of his actions in several conversations (both actual and through digital media).

10. The motive of the computer misuse offences appears to have been to sabotage the NSCIS platform and impede its effective and efficient performance with a view to undermine Bland's capability in managing it. This would create a situation in which CS would able to pass the service contract to 36N without repercussions.

11. A number of persons were arrested in May 2019 including Tommy Cornelio (TC) John Perez (JP) Eddie Asquez (EA – also a former employee of Blands) and sometime later Caine Sanchez (CS).

12. In addition to the computer misuse offences, the evidence gather thus far indicates that TC, JP, EA and CS conspired to defraud Blands of their intellectual property rights in NSCIS.

13. JP and TC both stood to personally benefit from the venture as they are each 1/3rd shareholders in 36N. CS has assisted them by encouraging users of the platform to complain about its functionality and acting in a biased manner in favour of 36N in his dealings with NSCIS. To this end, he disclosed confidential information about the state of the platform to TC after he was no longer an employee of Blands and facilitated TC access to the platform using his own login credentials. In addition, and during the same period, CS sought to begin a personal business venture with TC.

14. As mentioned above, TC and JP are each 1/3rd shareholders in 36N. The remaining 1/3 shares are held by Astelon Ltd whose shareholders are Line Holdings Ltd. (LHL) The shareholders of LHL are the partners of Hassans. Jaime Levy (JL) holds 32% of the shares in Astelon Ltd and thereby 10.56% of 36N. Other significant shareholders (albeit to a much lesser degree) in LHL include the current CM and Financial Secretary Fabian Picardo and Albert Mena who each hold 2.94%

15. An examination of the messages between TC JP and CS has shown that each has been communicating with JL with regard to the NSCIS platform.

16. JL's knowledge of the plan to remove the NSCIS platform management from Blands in favour of 36N pre-dates the departure of TC and JP from Blands and even the setup of 36N itself. Emails recovered forensically show that EA had drafted a business proposal for 36N [and intended for JL] as far back as February 2018 in which the revenue streams include the maintenance of the NSCIS platform.

17. Evidence of communication from CS to JL has shown that a civil servant was passing on confidential information to him about NSCIS and offering him 'good proposals for investment'

18. Evidence of communication from TC and JP to JL suggests that JL is in a position of influence with the CM and he is often requested to arrange meetings, or disclose or find out what is being decided with regard to 36 North's bid to take over the NSCIS platform.

19. There is a significant amount of evidence that suggests that JL was acting unethically in his dealings regarding the NSCIS platform. The question is whether this unethical behaviour is dishonest and crosses the line into the realms of criminality. JL is the senior partner in Gibraltar's largest law firm.

20. A summary of some of the key facts that assist in determining this question are found at Appendix A.

21. Each of the items in appendix A could potentially be considered as 'sharp business practice', however when considered in their totality they suggest dishonest and unethical conduct.

Conspiracy to Defraud Considerations

The offence being considered is that of Conspiracy to Defraud. The issue is therefore whether there are reasonable grounds to suspect that JL is guilty of this offence.

Conspiracy to defraud is "an agreement by two or more persons by dishonesty to deprive a person of something which is his or to which is or would be or might be entitled [or] an agreement by two or more by dishonesty to injure some proprietary right of his suffices to constitute the offence …"

22. The constituent parts of the offence are as follows:
    - Agreement by two or more persons
    - By dishonesty
    - To deprive a person of something which is his

23. Each element of the offence is considered below [albeit not in order]:

To deprive a person of something which is his

- Bland Limited currently have a contract (unsigned though implied) with HMGoG for the maintenance of the NSCIS platform. Whilst there may be a dispute over the ownership of the intellectual property of the platform, we have evidence confirming that there was a contractual agreement that Bland would maintain the said platform.
- There is clear and substantial evidence that the suspects wanted to obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract, and to transfer it to 36 North. This is evidenced primarily though communication between the parties.
- In acquiring the maintenance contract for 36 North, the suspects sought to benefit financially in that JL/JP/TC each had beneficial ownership of the company. (motive)

Agreement by two or more persons

- The evidence indicates that JP/TC/JL/CS agreed to deprive Bland of the NSCIS maintenance contract.

By Dishonesty

- The question is whether the agreement to deprive Bland Limited of the NSCIS maintenance contract was to do so by dishonesty. The grounds to suspect that this was the case are based on the following, JL:
  - Was receiving business proposals/information directly from a Civil Servant.
  - Was aware that business (such as Carnival Cruises and STP) initiated by Bland were being taken by 36N.
  - Was aware that TC continued to access the national security platform after TC had terminated his consultancy and that this information was being withheld from Bland.
  - Was aware that TC had accessed the system and performed a full review of a national security platform despite the fact that 36N were not contracted to maintain the platform.
  - Was contacting / facilitating access to the CM with a view to discussing 36N and the NSCIS platform.
  - In October 2018, spoke to TC about the forensic team investigating whether he was tampering with the system. It is reasonable to suggest that TC informed him that he had been sabotaging the system. Despite this information, JL continued to support TC and 36N in obtaining the platform and did not distance himself from this conduct.

Conclusion – Information and Intelligence

24. Based on the information and intelligence gathered thus far:

a) We have reasonable grounds to suspect that JL has dishonestly used his influence with the CM, CS and possibly AM (the FS) to induce the relevant persons to transfer the maintenance contract of the NSCIS platform from Blands to 36N, a company in which he holds a 10.56% personal stake.
b) There is no evidence that the CM nor AM were aware that TC had compromised the operation of the NSCIS platform by sabotage.
c) We therefore that have reasonable grounds to suspect that an offence of conspiracy to defraud has been committed.
d) In the absence of anything to the contrary the evidence suggests that JL took part in this conspiracy together with JP, TC and CS. At this stage we have been unable to properly determine EA's involvement beyond the email to JL in February 2018.
e) As police officers we swear an oath to faithfully perform our duty by law appointed, without fear or favour or ill-will.
f) As investigators we are obliged to conduct all reasonable enquiries whether they lead toward or away from the suspects.

ASSESS THREAT AND RISK AND DEVELOP A WORKING STRATEGY

25. In order to investigate this matter it is necessary to obtain further evidence by:

a) Interviewing JL
b) Conducting a digital forensic examination of the devices that he used to communicate with the other relevant parties.

26. As we have reasonable grounds to suspect that JL has participated in the offence under investigation the interview should be under caution.

27. I have considered whether JL should be arrested and wider searches conducted as was the case with TC, JP EA, and CS.

28. TC, JP and EA were arrested and their properties searched simultaneously in order to prevent conferring with each other and the potential loss of evidence. CS was treated in a similar manner once the extent of his involvement was discovered. The evidence gathered in these searches revealed the involvement of AC (see below) and JL

29. AC - Aaron Chipol (CEO of Borders and Coastguards) was not arrested but rather his digital devices seized under warrant and he was interviewed by means of voluntary attendance. The necessity to arrest was not made out in that case.

30. The necessity to arrest JL will not be met In the event that he consents to a voluntary attendance police interview. In the absence of such consent an arrest would have to be made to secure his attendance to allow the prompt and effective investigation of the offence and secure evidence by questioning. There is no longer a need to prevent conferring between the defendants and a wider search of Hassan's legal premises would in my view be disproportionate.

31. The seizure of the digital devices referred to in paragraph 25b should be by search warrant obtained in advance of approaching JL for interview.

32. Appropriate pre-interview disclosure will be served prior to a request for interview.

33. The examination of any content seized from JL may be complicated by claims of legal privilege. In that event the material will be reviewed by a lawyer first using keyword searches provided. We do not however believe that JL maintained a lawyer client relationship with any other person linked to this investigation and his dealings with them appear to restricted to a business relationship.

34. The warrant should be restricted to mobile devices only as this is the predominant means of communication between JL and the relevant parties.

35. Given the political sensitivities and potential reluctance for a JP issue a warrant for Hassan Law practice the warrant should be requested from the Chief Justice.

CONSIDER POWERS AND POLICY

36. I have considered the following in drawing my conclusions:

    a. Duty of police to investigate crime – S. 29c and 44b. Police Act 2006
    b. Police Oath of allegiance s.6 Oaths Act.
    c. Duty of investigators to investigate all reasonable lines of enquiry – s. 3.5 Code of Practice on the recording, retention and disclosure if material obtained in a criminal investigation.
    d. The relevant sections concerning voluntary attendance police interviews and arrest s. 47 and 42 of the Criminal Offences Act 2011.

e. Sections 1,3,7,8,13 of the Gibraltar Constitutional Order.

IDENTIFY OPTIONS AND CONTINGENCIES

37. Given the political sensitivities of the persons involved the least disruptive and most diplomatic means of police intervention will be deployed.

38. JL will be approached at his place of work and as far as possible in private. The warrant will be executed and a notice of pre-interview disclosure served. A date will then be agreed for voluntary attendance interview. I have chosen this method as I believe that it is the most likely to generate a response to the allegation as opposed to a no comment interview.

39. It is expected that any allegation of impropriety or illegality will be vigorously attacked using Hassans considerable legal resources. To protect the integrity of the investigation and avoid any misconstruing on the actual words said during the police intervention at Hassan, body warn footage will be taken.

Paul Richardson OTM

Detective Superintendent.

8.	24/07/2018	Text from CS to JL	James I received a call from James Gaggero last night reference the security programme. I have discussed it with John and emailed the CM. It may be wise for us to meet and maybe include David Weber to go over some aspects of the conversation.
9.	06/08/2018	Text from JL and JP	Looking Forward to working together
10.	10/08/2018	Text from CS to JL	James I have asked the CM to see me prior to his meeting with JG on Monday. He has not responded yet. Please give him a nudge.
11.	14/08/2018	Text from CS to JL	James just got John Perez company their Insurance broker. Everything is going well with this. Just drafted letter to send to James Gaggero and waiting for CM to approve. I have also urged them to sign the international agreement and they are moving forward with this

12.	20/08/2018	Text from JP to JL	James, I thought I would send you an update so that you have a clear understanding of the current situation. We continue to run the NSCIS (immigration/security/statistics) platform for the GOG whilst we wait to learn if we are formally appointed to continue to run this service or whether the GOG has opted to go for our new proposal. As you aware Blands do not have the resources to do this but have contested the ownership of the code of the system (revenue exercise for them/we are covering the risks now). I believe their claim is flawed as this was built and paid module by module to meet a requirement based on law enforcement operational needs. For Gaggero it's his only stance as he tries to push for some form of compensation either from the Government or 36N in the future. By removing our costs and that of the developers (now with us) and one other obvious staff move Gaggero balances his net profit so he is not being entirely honest on that front. With regards to 36N developed an entirely new Border Management System which is better than NSCIS to safeguard any future challenges and to provide the GOG with an option to continue the operation without having to rely on any system that was developed by Blands. We also run a series of other key Government platforms all of which have pledged their full support on us. We continue to operate and add functionality to all of these platforms, currently for no renumeration as we wait for a decision to be taken by the GOG. Best outcome for us is for the GoG to inform Gaggero that they are not in agreement with his claim and go with our new proposal which also saves the GOG a considerable amount of money. We must however continue to give the CM his space until ready. With regards to 36N it is important that we are appointed to administer such a system as it will help for future referencing for International sales. Currently we have 4 African states showing an expression of interest with one being signed early in September. Once my notice period is over I am going to focus on the British Independent Territories which will also be good for Gib plc. Hope this helps.
13.	21/08/2018	Text from TC to JL	Dear James, would it be possible to sit down with you or the CM to try and move forward with our projects? I currently have a lot of work on hold pending this decision. I believe James Gaggero is attempting to stall us with empty threats.
14.	29/08/2018	Text from TC to JL	Dear James, please try and get me a 10 min slot for me to meet the CM. I believe I am best placed to explain the entire situation and advise the best technical solution possible. That should resolve any deadlock.

15.	30/08/2018	Text from JL to JP	John I just rang you to tell you everything is under control. I've been working with Tommy on the relevant letters. I have great Respect and admiration for your ability and hard work. Do not worry if there is an attack I will help you to defend and to counter-attack. You're a military man so I'm writing to you in military terms😊
16.	30/08/2018	Text forwarded from JL to TC	You should know that I have spoken to Tommy and despite his letter to James G he will continue ensuring that the system is kept going until a solution is found acceptable the government.
17.	05/09/2018	Text from TC to JL	Dear James, Just a suggestion...should there be hesitation to move contract to 36N which is partially owned by Hassans, could we not have the contracts given to ICODE Limited? (my company and i am the sole director). Agreements could then be put in place between ICODE and 36N. Your thoughts?
18.	07/09/2018	Text from JP to JL	James this week we will be receiving a contract from São Tomé and Príncipe for review. The commercial elements of the contract have already been agreed in principle. We are also closing in on Equatorial Guinea. I will work with the relevant inspectorate International bodies to make sure all risks are addressed. I need you to appoint a lawyer who can work in close liaison with me with these projects who is also not put of by the expeditionary nature of this work. Let's start putting a structure in place. Tommy has designed a completely new platform which is far more advanced than what we currently operate in Gib and thus we can move forward with this agenda without further delay.
19.	12/09/2018	Text from TC to JL	Important please advise chief as follows: As promised Tommy has continued to work on the platform to ensure that National Security is not compromised in any way. All systems have been redeveloped from scratch and now operate from a new platform using cutting edge technology ready for its international offering with 3 countries already confirmed.
20.	23/09/2018	Text from TC to JL	Attached is a letter which may be of use to the GoG in order to proceed with the new platform we have offered them.

21.	09/10/2018	Text from JP to JL	James thank you so much for this morning. I am sure our sessions will become more enjoyable as we set of in our journey. With regards to dropping Fabian a note, let's give him a bit more time. As the pressure will naturally surface through his law enforcement heads. We will get our chance to put the it right as JG has maliciously tried everything to try to discredit us unfairly. Please let me know if you are able to arrange a meeting with us with Raphael Benain with regards to our lottery proposal. Thank you. John.
22.	19/10/2018	Text from TC to JL	Morning James. Very confidential. Note Gaggero has brought in a forensic team of six to look at anything John and I may have done to tamper with the system etc. Gaggero is going all out it seems.
23.	19/10/2018	Text from TC to JP	Tommy Cornelio: Spoke to James ref forensic team confidentially Tommy Cornelio: Spoke to him on the phone Tommy Cornelio: Call me and i can discuss Tommy Cornelio: He says not to worry Tommy Cornelio: I am very concerned they will try an prove i have acted to sabotage the system in any way etc
24.	27/12/2018	Text from TC to JL Reply from JL	Tommy Cornelio: If you do not believe CM will transfer contracts back to us early in the new year, please let us know as I need to ensure we are all working towards objectives that will generate revenue for us. James Levy: I don't think he will transfer the contracts back to 36 N.We have to work on alternatives. I am happy to help or do you need.
25.	26/03/2019	Text from TC to JL	Perhaps CM would be willing to put the National Security system out for tender next month.
26.	27/03/2019	Text from TC to JL Reply from JL	Tommy Cornelio: Do you think there is any chance of getting national security contract back at some point? We have BCA CEO meeting CM next week and I am briefing him before the meeting. James Levy: Yes
27.	11/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	1. I am preparing a report for Caine/Albert Mena with regards to the failures of the National Security platform of which [redacted] Lesley is preparing a legal letter for your review in an attempt to speed up the process. This is ok?
28.	11/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	We are going to have a field day on the national security report..just wait until you see it. For now I am reviewing every single module 1 by 1. [redacted].
29.	14/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	James, note I have provided Caine with a full report on the security platform, I have kept this simple and impartial.

30.	23/04/2019	Text from TC to JL	Note I provided Albert Mena with a report on the National Security system. Has he made any comment to you about this? The report would have been delivered to him via Caine.

Tape counter times	Person speaking	Text
00:0017	Supt Richardson	Okay the time is 1330 hrs, Tuesday the 12th of May 2020. My name is Paul Richardson, I'm a Detective Superintendent in the Royal Gibraltar Police. An also present is?
	Inspector Wyan	Inspector Mark Wyan.
	Supt Richardson	I'm here in Hassans boardroom together with Jaime Levy and Javier Chincotta. Mr Levy, thank you for coming in today. This is not a police interview under caution, but before I speak to you, I would like to caution you by saying, 'you are not obliged to say anything, unless you wish to do so. But what you say may be put in writing and given in evidence'. The RGP are investigating offence against Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 which involves computer misuse and conspiracy to defraud. This follows a complaint made in 2018. In October 2018, Bland Limited uncovered evidence of computer misuse within the National Security Intelligence System. This system is an integral part of the National Security of Gibraltar. The evidence suggests that without authority the NSIS platform had been tampered with so that sensitive information would be diverted to unauthorised servers. In addition, the performance of the platform was compromised by sabotage, thereby undermining Gibraltar's National Security. A complaint was made to the Royal Gibraltar Police and in May 2019, John Perez, Thomas Comelio and Edward Asquez, all former employees of Bland Limited and Caine Sanchez, a Senior Civil Servant were arrested on Suspicion of Conspiracy to Defraud Bland Limited of the NSIS platform maintenance contract and for related offences pursuant to Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011. These relates to computer misuse. Search warrants were executed at home and business addresses as a result of which numerous digital devices were seized. The evidence recovered is forensically examined and affords reasonable grounds to suspect that you may have been involved in the conspiracy. Particularly in the planning and preparation stages and by properly, improperly using your influence with a Civil Servant and others. The evidence suggests that the conspiracy was to dishonestly obtain the NSIS platform maintenance contract and to have it transferred to 36 North Limited. According to Companies House's records, you are a shareholder of this company, by virtue of a company wholly owned by Hassans named Astelon Limited which owns 33% of the shares in 36 North Limited. You thereby hold over 10% of the shareholding in 36 North Limited and stood directly to benefit from the revenue created by the transfer of the NSIS maintenance contract.

00:02:48	Supt Richardson	Whilst the evidence gathered so far indicates that you may have been involved in conspiring to dishonestly obtain the NSIS maintenance contract, the RGP are keeping an open mind and have a duty to follow all reasonable lines of inquiry. The topic areas that we seek to explore are informal interview under caution include but are not limited to the following: • your role and responsibilities with regards to Hassans International Law Firm • 36 North Limited including the company formation, financing and business • Astelon Limited including the company formation and business • Icode Limited • Any communication and your relationship with Thomas Cornelio, John Perez and Caine Sanchez • The National Security Intelligence System • And communication with the Chief Minister in relation to any of the above. • Evidence gathered from the search of your residence and your work place and any other evidence relevant to this investigation. You are hereby invited to attend a voluntary interview under caution at New Mole House Police Station at 10 o'clock in the morning on Monday the 18th of May. And in the event that you are not able to make this time, I would ask you to contact Mr Wyan, I've got his details here in order to arrange another, another appointment. And I ask you to please keep the contents of this document confidential because this is a live investigation with police, with persons on bail. The reason why we are dealing with you in this, in this matter and not as we have dealt with the other persons who have been arrested and on bail, in fact the bail has been extended twice, is because we are, we want to give you an opportunity to give your version of events, your account which may shed a completely different light on this. We've only dealt with one other person in this investigation in this manner and that was the Head of Borders and Coast Guards, who has a, an involvement in this matter and has had communication between him and the other players. That indicates that he may have had, he may have had involvement as well. He has been interviewed under caution on voluntary attendance and has attended several times with his lawyer. And that, that is exactly why we, why we wanted to speak to you rather than take the action, the executive action that we've done in the other case. Now, is there any questions that you would like to ask me in relation to the, to what I have said?
00:04:47	Mr Levy	I've heard what you've said.
	Supt Richardson	Sorry?

	Mr Levy	I've heard what you've said.
	Supt Richardson	Is there any questions that you would like to, to ask me?
	Mr Levy	(nods head)
00:05:03	Supt Richardson	Well, I'll, I'll give you a copy Mr, Mr Levy, so that you know what it is that, that we would like you to account for. The, the reason why we have applied for a warrant and been issued with a warrant to search your residence and Hassans premises, is because we have found from the devices of the other persons who are under arrest, a series of communications between you and them that suggests... (hello)...sorry about that Siri must have got confused. That suggests that you have had, you've been approached to use your influence with the Chief Minister and Caine Sanchez to ensure that the contract of 36 North was passed, sorry the contract of Blands was passed to 36 North. We only have one side of that conversation. We have the side of the conversation with people communicating with you and on occasions your, your response back to them. And we need to find the other side of that conversation and so we would like your devices, to take your devices, any device that you've used for communication and any physical documents that you have in relation to the, the matters that are there. • 36 North • Icloud Limited • Astelon
00:06:16	Mr Levy	Icloud, I don't know anything about that.
	Mr Chincotta	I don't know what Icloud is.
	Supt Richardson	Icloud is Tommy Cornelio's own company which owns a third of the shares in, in 36 North.
	Mr Levy	So what, why, why can't I voluntarily give you all that?
	Supt Richardson	You, you can handover all those devices
	Mr Levy	No problem.
	Supt Richardson	If, if you
	Mr Levy	You want my phone?
00:06:33	Supt Richardson	Your phone, I want you to check your office, if you have a laptop there...
	Mr Levy	I don't have a laptop.
	Supt Richardson	Do you have an I, an iPad?
	Mr Levy	I have an iPad, but I haven't used it for a long time.
	Supt Richardson	We would, we would have to
	Mr Levy	Just now I've used it because I'm, I'm at home.

	Supt Richardson	OK, I need any laptop. Do you have a computer at home you use?
	Mr Levy	No
	Supt Richardson	Do you have, do you have a computer in your office obviously?
	Mr levy	I don't use it.
	Mr Chincotta	Its there, look at it.
	Supt Richardson	We, we have somebody that can, that can download the information or take it, I'm not sure what the best way to deal with that. And we, the, the, the warrant we will be looking for all your email communication, from, what was the date?
	Insp Wyan	January 2017.
	Supt Richardson	January 2017 to the date now. Now is there anything ob, obviously.
	Mr Levy	All my, all my emails, I mean I'm a lawyer
	Supt Richardson	The, the...
	Mr Levy	I've got tons of clients.
	Supt Richardson	Let me, let me, let me finish. I'm perfectly aware that you're a lawyer that you are going to have lots of privy information in there. We will not be examining this material our self. We will engage a council to look through, we'll give them a list with the terms that we want to include. We will invite you to, to provide terms if you want them included as well. The, the lawyer, whoever is engaged, will then give us the output of anything that is not legally privileged. So I won't see any of the conversations with the Chief Minister or, or, or any other Senior Member of Government. In relation to anything other than this matter that, that we are looking at now. Have I missed anything out? I, I, I would ask you; do you have any preference about which lawyer we would engage to do this? Somebody local or somebody from the UK?
00:08:04	Mr Levy	Somebody from the UK I would assume.
	Supt Richardson	I, I, that's exactly what I would have thought. We would try and engage
	Mr Levy	But why, why, I mean obviously you can, but why don't you ask me the questions first? Before you take my mobile, which is where I live from.
	Supt Richardson	I, I can't do that because to, to do that
	Mr Levy	You can do that today.
	Supt Richardson	I can't because I have to, I have to get you a, I have to examine your device before we speak to you.

		There may be communication in, in your, in your device which supports or leads to or, or against the investigation of this offence. And I understand that you are an officer of the court, as I am an officer of the 00:08:41	Mr Levy	I don't, I don't understand this. I don't understand this. This is a commercial dispute, right between people, and I would suggested that I participate, well that the firm should participate in this. The partners knew what I told them, what I told them, I didn't keep anything from them. But they knew what I told them and as far I was concerned ____(inaudible) was negotiating with them to take shares that I told them, to give him shares and I, and I, I walk away I'm not interested in this. So something that goes like that, I mean I understand that the Government got involved, the Governor pressed the, the police to, to investigate this. I understand that there are other possible corruption elements, but I don't mind giving everything. But I don't understand, I mean, I don't know how, how you get this with, with my not be able to work. Mira, I've got, all my private life is here.
	Supt Richardson	But I, but I, as, as I explained, we won't be examining, I won't be sat down looking through your all your devices. I, it, it would be put through a forensic extraction system and then what we do is we examine it through a word search so, so they would be listed words that would be typed up, 36 North, Astelon. Then the names of the persons that are involved and the, the output of that would be an email, it would be a text message, it would be a picture.
	Mr Levy	But the
00:10:00	Supt Richardson	No nobody physically searches, it is impossible
	Mr Levy	But you've got, you've got all on the other side.
	Supt Richardson	Yes.
	Mr Levy	Why don't you tell me look, this is the other side, give me yours.
	Supt Richardson	Because this isn't a civil investigation, Mr Levy, it's a criminal investigation, and that's not how these investigations go. I have to treat you, as far as possible, as the way that I have treated everybody else in this investigation.
	Mr levy	I have no doubt that you, I'm not suggesting that.
	Supt Richardson	I, I have..
	Mr Levy	You are not giving me any special privileges.
	Supt Richardson	But that said, but the fact that we are here today, here in this manner, it shows the respect with how we are treating you.
	Mr Levy	And I'm grateful for that respect
	Supt Richardson	(Inaudible)
	Mr Levy	By the way this investigation is, to put it mildly flawed and I have evidence that it is being superbly influenced and you know that, you know that Mr Gaggero is very important. I also get evidence and I intend to bring it out and I intend to make a very big thing about the involvement of people who should not have been involved. The fact that one of the parties knew exactly when people were going to be arrested. That is very concerning to me. It shows to me that there is another, there is something else going on in this and of course, I mean whatever information I have, I shall of course use it, because this in my view an abuse of process. Its an absolute abuse of process. And you can ask me whatever questions, I don't know whether I'll decide not to answer or decide to, I'll take legal advise. But I think this is scandalous, the whole way this is being handled and there will be evidence brought out. When the things go out, charge me and take me to court if you have to, it's a matter for you. I will defend myself. I think I have done everything properly. I think this was a civil dispute and it had been raised, in this question in the National Security, what do you call it? Programme. This is something that the other side gave, the many, many years ago. It's not the National Security. I mean I understand, very clearly from information that I gleam, that the National Security Programme, [redacted]. And the government was paying huge sums of money to the provider. I've assumed that that could be false invoicing, I mean have you investigated that?

00:12:30	Supt Richardson	Allegations have been made
	Mr levy	But have you investigated it?
	Supt Richardson	Yes, yes we have.
	Mr Levy	And its all clear.
	Supt Richardson	Mr Levy is not appropriate for me to ask the questions for you. I've listened to what you've got to say, of course what you are saying you are entitled to say, but what we have omitted from that account, that this isn't just a civil dispute as you have described. This was a hacking of the National.
	Mr Levy	Hacking. I don't understand that computer, you can have a look at my computer. I very seldom use my computer.
	Supt Richardson	There is, there is very strong evidence.
	Mr Levy	Yes.
	Supt Richardson	That the system was accessed remotely. [redacted] And that's a very, very, very serious thing.

00:13:19	Mr Levy	Very serious thing. But since then, since, since, since [redacted]. Well that's also very serious wasn't it.
	Supt Richardson	It is. We'll explore all this in interview. But the person that was doing that is a shareholder and a director of the same firm for what we are talking about today.
	Mr Levy	I understand that, but I, that doesn't me that I, (laughs) I, I don't know how to handle a computer, and that's why I use it very little.
	Supt Richardson	Of course. And that's why I'm saying, that it isn't just your statement, dispute of ownership of a platform, that there is a more serious
	Mr Levy	I'm not saying ownership of the platform.
	Supt Richardson	Its an issue, issue behind it.
	Mr Levy	You mean the, you, are you alleging that I had anything to do with, with, with, with the investigation, with the, what do you call it? The
	Mr Chincotta	Hacking
	Mr Levy	Hacking of the, of the thing.
00:14:05	Supt Richardson	I haven't said that at all. You have omitted that when you, yourself told me about the, what this is all about. I'm saying that this isn't just about a dispute as to ownership or as to the management or, or software development. The issue comes about because [redacted] and evidence, very strong evidence show that the system was manipulated. They system
	Mr Levy	And I was involved?
	Supt Richardson	I haven't said that.
	Mr Levy	Oh.
	Supt Richardson	I haven't said that. I've made it clear, extremely clear of what I suspected, the, of what we suspected
	Mr Levy	So, that, that I used influence with the Chief Minister and the Civil Servant.
	Supt Richardson	Yes.
	Mr Levy	And those who used influence with Civil Servants and the Governor has also been questioned about that?
	Supt Richardson	In what regard?
	Mr Levy	I mean, do you know that the Governor was approached by this and the Governor approached the Commissioner?
	Supt Richardson	Well the conversation between the Governor and the Chief Minister are, are

	Mr Levy	No I, I, not the Chief Minister,
	Supt Richardson	The Chief Minister
00:15:00	Mr Levy	The Chief Minister wouldn't dare tell me that. The Chief Minister is very careful, he is a very correct man. I know it from other sources.
	Supt Richardson	I can assure you, and I, and I will
	Mr Levy	Yeah
	Supt Richardson	I will repeat it in front of Javier, that I have had contact with this investigation from the beginning, from, from day one. I am the Senior Investigating Officer, but I do not, I haven't been able to be involved in all the day to day staff, Inspector Wyan has been dealing with that. And I can assure you and I've known you for thirty-five years, since I've been in the police force and I've known Javier considerably longer, that I have done nothing, I am aware of nothing untoward in the management of this investigation. I can account for every single action and, and, and, and decision that has been taken.
	Mr Levy	So you can tell me categorically that the Governor wasn't involved in this?
00:15:51	Supt Richardson	I, I, the Governor has had no steering whatsoever
	Mr Levy	But has he been involved in it.
	Supt Richardson	Mr Levy it wouldn't be, if, if, even if I knew the answer to that question
	Mr Levy	You would not tell me.
	Supt Richardson	It wouldn't be appropriate, because I'll tell you about the conduct of my
	Mr Levy	Listen I've known you for a long time, I told you you'd go far etc, etc, so there is no hard feeling between us.
	Supt Richardson	Good. I'm glad I hear that.
	Mr Levy	But I can tell you one thing, that this is, this is, this investigation is an abuse of process and you involving me is a further abuse of process.
	Supt Richardson	Mr Levy
	Mr Levy	And I'm telling you, it will be shown like that, and then I will do what I haven't done in the past. And that is attack the establishment, I've never done in the past. I'm not threatening, I'm just telling you this is an abuse of process and it shows the influence that Mr Gaggero has in Gibraltar. And you can say all this in court I have no problem. You can do, I obviously, I, I, you've got a warrant, I either go to court and challenge your warrant or I give you everything. That's my options

00:16:54	Supt Richardson	Well that's, that is exactly as what we prefer, the warrant hasn't been obtained, we've had to swear an affidavit before the magistrate, that was, that took a considerable period of time, this wasn't a question as, as you might imagine in, twenty years ago we would go before a JP so and so and so and two to three minutes later you walked out with the warrant. This is, this is not that process at all, it took a considerable period of time. There was a lot deliberation, a lot of questions and so this is
	Mr Levy	But why didn't you approach me before?
	Supt Richardson	Because, because Mr Levy as I have explained to you, the evidence that has been gathered suggests with reasonable grounds that you have taken a part in this conspiracy. And therefore it is inappropriate for me to ask you in that manner. I have to deal with you in the same way as I would deal with anybody else.
	Mr Levy	But that would avoid, in a conspiracy
	Supt Richardson	You, you, you would, you have, have, have kindly offered to give your explanation and I am sure you have an explanation that would, that would put a different light on this. That investigation, sorry, that explanation, that you give at the appropriate time in the appropriate place, in the appropriate manner would, would lead us to follow whatever reasonable lines of inquiry come from that conversation. I, I have no doubt that whatever you say will allow us to consider this in a different matter. At the moment, the evidence that we've got suggests this. But that does not mean to say that in three days time or whatever it is that we meet or you meet with Mark that it, it, it would put things into a different perspective.
	Mr Levy	So what, how, what process do you want to search my office. Just have to think a minute whether we challenge this or we accept it.
	Supt Richardson	Alright, you, your, your purpose of challenging it would be to the court obviously.
	Mr Levy	Of course.
	Supt Richardson	If we have a, a warrant signed by the Magistrate
	Mr Levy	I understand, I would have to go to Supreme Court.
	Supt Richardson	I want to do this at least disruptive as possible and
00:18:39	Mr Levy	But you tell me what you looking for, I can direct you, I mean, twenty people
	Supt Richardson	Yes, yeah. No the, the, even though there are people waiting to come in, nobody has come up here and precisely, and for precisely that reason. There is a, a, an expert in forensics and there are a couple of people to, to, backs what I want.

		In fact I'll ask back to take you through exactly what it is we are looking for 00:19:22	Insp Wyan	Yeah okay, so what we, essentially what we are looking for is, we are looking for communications between yourself and the individuals. So in order to get those communications we are looking for devices that you hold that are capable of sending any communications. So they would be your personal telephone. They would be things like your PC in your office that is being used, any tablets that you may have
	Mr Levy	And one, one
	Insp Wyan	Any laptops
	Mr Levy	No laptop. One, what do you call it, one iPad, iPad. Which I stopped using and then I used again, but you can have it.
	Insp Wyan	Okay. So it would essentially be those kind of things for sending communications. So those are the devices side of thing. What we are also looking for is, because some of your business I would imagine is through emails sent through Hassans servers themselves. We know that you have e.g. Hassans email address and that is linked at least partially to some of the investigation. So what we would like to do is take with the assistance of your IT department to extract that information. Now from what I understand and your IT, IT maybe able to assist with this, what we want essentially are anything relevant to 36 North or those individuals or those particular companies. We are not interested in any, anything else. But it may be difficult to do that, it may be that we have to extract e.g. between certain dates and then go away and then using our software we run keyword searches.
	Mr Levy	I don't know, may be they are able to do it.
	Mr Chincotta	Our, our software does that. If you tell our IT guy
	Mr Levy	And you can supervise it.
00:20:31	Insp Wyan	Well, but that's the thing if, if
	Mr Chincotta	If you tell our IT guy, I want any email from James.Levy@hassans.gi that's sent to or received from any of these other emails you punch them in, you press the button, you get them out
	Mr Levy	And you can see them
	Mr Chincotta	You download them on a stick and you take them with you.
	Insp Wyan	Again as long as the guy who deals with IT because I am not the specialist
	Mr Chincota	As long as your IT guy confirms that what my IT guy is
	Mr Levy	Let him, let him supervise it. If we agree or decide whether I challenge this or not.

	Insp Wyan	I understand that. As Mr Richardson said we are trying to be as least intrusive as possible and we do understand it is difficult.
	Mr Levy	My house what do you, I don't have anything in my house.
	Supt Richardson	Do you have an office in your house?
	Mr Levy	I have study in my house but not an office.
	Supt Richardson	Okay so,
	Mr levy	I don't have a computer in my house, in my study.
	Supt Richardson	Do you have any files or any paperwork at all in relation to any of these matters?
	Mr levy	No. Everything that I have is here
	Supt Richardson	Would you, well then I would ask you please, just to go with a, with myself, with Mark and just show me so that I can see this for myself and that its, I will not search.
	Mr Levy	My office? Yeah you can see my study.
	Supt Richardson	I need to satisfy myself that I'm not
	Mr Levy	I'm happy to satisfy yourself.
	Supt Richardson	Treating you too differently from everybody else.
	Mr Levy	No, you can come with me and I'll show you my study and you can see whatever
	Supt Richardson	Thank you
	Mr Levy	Whatever, you know my study is full of books
	Supt Richardson	So
	Mr Levy	Nothing to do with law.
	Supt Richardson	Where do you, where do you have all the papers to do with Astelon Limited
00:21:55	Mr levy	Everything is here
	Supt Richardson	Okay
	Mr Levy	You know, there was nothing I was hiding so
	Insp Wyan	Would these be kept on, e.g. documents, I mean obviously,
	Mr Levy	I don't, I don't, you have to understand, I only work from this and partly from an iPad when I can't see anything
	Insp Wyan	Okay
	Mr Levy	That's in here.
	Insp Wyan	There is no problem, as long as the IT guy can direct us in the right direction.
	Supt Richardson	Some of the communication that was recovered showed that you were operating more than one phone. So you have UK numbers as well?

00:22:24	Mr Levy	Ooh, that's a long time ago. A long time ago, its, now my wife uses that UK number and it has, I didn't send, I didn't do any, any, we don't have WhatsApp, we didn't have WhatsApp in that. You can see that phone.
	Supt Richardson	Okay
	Mr Levy	If, if I
	Supt Richardson	If it was used for WhasApp though before?
	Mr Levy	No. No [redacted] s my wife's phone and it used to be my phone. Is that what you are asking for?
	Supt Richardson	I haven't got the, I haven't got the, I don't have, I have an extract of what the contents of the conversations are, but not which device it came from. But I do remember it was more than one number from which communication came from.
00:23:05	Insp Wyan	Yeah, there were two telephone numbers and two email address, one of the email address was your hassans account.
	Mr Levy	The other one was my private one.
	Insp Wyan	Presumably
	Mr Levy	Yeah my gmail.
	Insp Wyan	Yeah. That's right the gmail account.
	Supt Richardson	Where do you access that from?
	Mr Levy	That from, from, from here and from my iPad.
	Supt Richardson	Are you, are you willing to hand over your, the codes for those devices?
	Mr Levy	In what sense?
	Supt Richardson	In your, in your
	Mr Levy	I mean I have to, I have to decide whether, we have to decide what we do.
	Supt Richardson	You'll have
	Mr Levy	But in principal I have no problem.
	Supt Rihcardson	Thank you. Because that, that, in the absence of that it takes a lot longer
	Mr Levy	I'm gonna give you this and
	Supt Richardson	And then the number to access it.
	Mr Levy	If I give it to you, if I give it to you, if I give it to you, you know it's a, its going to be, its going to be with my, with my code. I have to think, I have to think what I do. See I'm just, this is an abuse o process and I have to see whether I go with the abuse of proces and answer it or whether I fight the abuse of process.

	Supt Richardson	That's it, its your decision entirely with you. I can, I can assure you, with my hand on my heart, that nobody has interfered at all, with the, with my conduct in this investigation. At all. I have
	Mr Levy	I accept your, your, your, your, your words. The question is whether there were other interferences. Not with you.
	Supt Richardson	Above me is the Commissioner and, and,
	Mr Levy	I would say, or below you I don't know
	Supt Richardson	Well. No definitely not below me, Mark, Mark is the, Mark is the Inspector
	Mr Levy	I'm not, I'm not making, I'm not saying anything now that I know. But I know certain things. I have to decide what, what, what to do. Give me five minutes with Javier.
	Supt Richardson	Yep Okay.
	Mr Chincotta	You stay here and we go
	Mr Levy	Yep lets go outside.
00:24:55		Left the boardroom (Time 13:59:51)
00:00:02		Returned to boardroom (Time 14:22:47)
	Supt Richardson	James please listen to what I have to say, I'm sure you will, you will, you will seek some comfort in this. The, the warrant is only a means of enforcing a right to exercise a, a, a power in law. It doesn't mean to say that I have to use it, I can, you can hand the stuff over by consent. So if I ask you what you want and you hand it over, we will put down that it was handed over by consent.
	Insp Wyan	I mean, there is a specific section in the forms we have, you sign off to say I consent and it's a voluntary, kind of, rather than a +
	Mr Levy	But that's what I offered to you at the beginning
	Supt Richardson	Yeah but, you, you were saying, telling me what you want I will give it to you. And originally you were saying I'll go and see you tomorrow. Now I can't do that.
	Mr Levy	I understand
	Supt Richardson	I can't do that.
	Mr Levy	So that's why
	Supt Richardson	Exactly, so that's, that's where we are now.
	Mr Levy	Right so, so, what, if you tell me what you want, right, I mean, all the communications from, I mean you can have your person be with my, my IT man to to make sure that all the communications to.
	Supt Richardson	Yeah.

	Mr Levy	I'm not trying to say
	Supt Richardson	And you will show us your office so we can see that there is no other device there that may be of interest to you
00:01:04	Mr Levy	Come to my office.
	Supt Richardson	And if, if you hand over your phone and your iPad
	Mr Ley	Pero, but why, why can't they take out from my phone your people everything with Caine and everybody else.
	Supt Richardson	Say that again?
	Mr Levy	Let them take out of my phone now,
	Supt Richardson	It doesn't work that way its, its too, what can kind of phone do you have?
	Mr Levy	An iPhone
	Supt Richardson	Yeah, it can, it can take over night to be able to
	Mr Levy	Okay so, you might
	Supt Richardson	(inaudible_
	Mr Levy	Okay if my people and your people do it together I have no problem.
	Supt Richardson	I, that I can't, I, that I can't promise James.
	Mr Levy	Well look, why don't we do one thing
	Supt Richardson	I, I, I, I, I'll explain to you why, I'm not trying to be difficult far from the contrary. And I didn't know how these things work until I was, until I was also the SIO for the ship, flock, what's its name?
	Mr Chincotta	Grace I
	Supt Richardson	Grace I. In which case we had dozens and dozens of devices and you suddenly become an expert in how these things go. When you image the device which is how you, which is how you describe it, you have to unlock it, you download a digital copy of it, then that copy is then indexed. It doesn't mean to say, it doesn't take two or three minutes it takes hours, sometimes takes overnight. And during that period the person that is doing it isn't sat there waiting for it to happen, he is doing another job. They guy that does forensics has fifty jobs to run at the same time. Plus in the morning when you go to access that image they come o ut corrupt sometimes, so when you try to open it, it gets to a c ertain point and then it stops working and then you have to do it a gain. This, this is just the nature of the, of the, of this business.
00:02:30	Mr Levy	R ight so first can I show you my office so you can see.
	Supt Richardson	O kay.
	Mr Levy	Le t me show one of you.

	Supt Richardson	Yeah, I'm happy to go.
	Mr Levy	Sir do you mind if we get the consent just signed off before we.
	Supt Richardson	Are you happy to sign the consent.
	Mr Levy	But lets, let me, let me just see what it is because I may have to go back to get legal advise.
	Insp Wyan	If, if you want to withdraw the consent at any time you can do it
	Mr Levy	Let me, can you
	Supt Richardson	Lets just do this and ....
	Insp Wyan	It's a difficult situation I think. Its unusual.
	Mr Chincotta	Its emm....
	Insp Wyan	I'm going to turn this off because its not evidential at the moment. So I'm, I'm turning this off, its 1421 hrs due to the fact that Mr Levy has left the room.
00:02:51		Left the boardroom (14:25:36)
00:00:03		Returned to boardroom (14:44:25)
	Mr Chincotta	Is saying, you are in a position to do your duty to of legal professional privilege to all your other clients.
	Supt Richardson	Yeah
	Mr Chincotta	And notwithstanding that you want to cooperate, he is saying I've done nothing wrong, I've, whatever you like etc, etc. He said, but in having whatever you like you are breaching your
	Supt Richardson	Potential breaching
	Mr Chincotta	Well for sure breaching because if I give you access to everything I've got anything that I've got which is not related to this is obviously privilege to somebody else.
	Supt Richardson	But
	Mr Chincotta	So
	Supt Richardson	It would be the police that would be examining this that you run on keyword searches
	Mr Levy	Yes we told him about (inaudible) the thing is whatever we give you, if we give you it, we claim legal privilege that is the advise to do,
	Supt Richardson	Yes
	Mr Levy	We claim legal privilege on everything okay.
	Mr Chincotta	And then he says he gets blue bags and the blue bags remains sealed until such time

00:01:00	Supt Richardson	Is your relationship with 36 North a legal one or a professional one?
	Mr Levy	No, no, no, no of every other information.
	Supt Richardson	Okay yes. Then that doesn't stop us from dealing with the matter, with the matter at hand which is
	Mr Levy	So shall we do one thing at a time, if we can? Still I, I don't know whether I'm gonna go back to him or no. First of all the emails can, can that be done between your people and my people?
	Supt Richardson	I think so.
	Insp Wyan	Well that as I was explaining, the only concern I have is if Jason thinks that the exaction from their system directly doesn't cover certain things.
	Supt Richardson	Well we have to ask Jason to do that.
	Insp Wyan	I mean he might extract cookies, or he might extract web addresses or relevant information that....
	Supt Richardson	Well subject to the expert who knows how these things work. I have no problem with that.
	Mr Levy	Right so say Mr Smith, Jones you give them what they want and they take it for you.
	Insp Wyan	Yes. Yes as long...
	Mr Levy	From my iPad and from my phone.
	Supt Richardson	No, the iPad and the phone has to come.
	Mr Levy	Yeah.
	Supt Richardson	As I explained it to you before, that has to be imaged. Once the image is done and we are satisfied that the image hasn't corrupted, which I've explained does happen on occasion and it might have to be done again. I'm happy to return those devices to you so you can carry on with business. The image that has been created will be interrogated by a, a, a, unless you tell me there is nothing legally privileged on those devices
	Mr Levy	No.
	Mr Chincotta	No there would be loads of legally privileged stuff on those devices. That's why we are saying blue bag them.
	Insp Wyan	Yeah, that's what the intention was. We were gonna bag them up.
	Supt Richardson	Yeah.
	Insp Wyan	We were gonna then seek counselling and then when that was in place, we would start
	Supt Richardson	Si, nobody is gonna being examining the, the, well for starters nobody examines the phone itself. You don't, it's not like picking up your phone, opening up your WhatsApp, it doesn't work that way. However, easy that seems, it just doesn't work that way. There is a far more complicated way that we've got to follow. And it creates and image just like a mirror, a mirror copy of what's on there and then from that it creates and index file. And the indexing takes a long time and then if I put in Javier, major dicho, if I put in windows, it will come up with everything to do with windows operating system. It will come up with a definition of windows in the dictionary, it will come up with an email with the word window. And then you then abstract, abstract, extract from that anything that is not relevant. So dictionary files, operating files will be excluded and then from what is there will look if there is anything legal privileged and then from that if its related to what we are looking and then they give us the output. But nobody examines the devices itself.

	Mr Chincotta	Yes but the, the issue isn't that, the issue is when somebody looks at it
	Supt Richardson	Yes
	Mr Chincotta	To see whether something is legally privileged or not (phone rings_
	Insp Wyan	But that would be the independent lawyer that would do that.
	Mr Levy	Go, go, go somewhere else. Sale and go to the boardroom
	Supt Richardson	The boardroom. What the other, one minute Sir. This one?
	Mr Levy	Ask the girl
	Mr Chincotta	Ask, ask, ask, I'll ask her.
	Mr Levy	Its very misconceived this and its going to cost.
	Insp Wyan	I understand that its difficult, I do.
	Mr Levy	No, no its more than difficult. Its misconceived. And its, its, its because I'm a clam person and its because I trust Paul, I know him for many years, that I haven't taken a different attitude. But this is not going to, and you can ask me all the questions that you want. But this is a (inaudible). This is not fair, there is something very dark in this investigation and we are going to get to the bottom of it.
	Insp Wyan	I, I can understand if you take that point of view and you want to look at it from that perspective, obviously you are more than entitled to, but I can tell you from me investigating this case, this has been done properly throughout. There has been no favour in terms of anybody. We've followed the evidence as it has come to us. Honestly, that is, that is the truth. Whether, you are aware of things that I am not, that's an entirely different matter. But I can assure you, from my point of view and Mr Richardson's that has not been
	Supt Richardson	I, I know him for forty years

00:05:03	Insp Wyan	And as I explained before, what I, there are some serious elements to this investigation particularly about the hacking of the system.
	Mr Levy	Yeah, but that is something that I wouldn't know how to, how it is.
	Insp Wyan	I un, I understand, but if that element goes to court and a decision hasn't been made, but if that does and we haven't discuss with you or put to you certain questions I would be attacked by the defence for why I didn't follow lines of inquiries and why I didn't put to you certain questions if there were certain communications. So, I need to make sure that I follow through to the end, just so that I can show I'm doing the investigation properly. Which is one of the reason why we are here. It's not anything other than I need to be shown to doing the investigation fairly.
	Mr Levy	I understand, you have to do your job.
	Insp Wyan	Exactly, that's my, my
	Mr Levy	I just think that the whole investigation is misconceived
	Insp Wyan	I'm hoping that you can explain some things to me that may, I've, I've said to your colleague that you might be able to put a different light on some of the things and we may see it from certain perspective and you make it
	Mr Levy	I think you are too much in, not you, the Police is too much in to this investigation to look at anything else. I think you are too, you know, it happens to us, in cases you get lawyers. Any how
00:06:10		Supt Richardson returns to boardroom
	Insp Wyan	Yeah.
	Mr Levy	It happens to us in cases where we think we are right and then
	Insp Wyan	It does, it does. Absolutely
	Mr Levy	Right
	Supt Richardson	And that's why we keep an open mind. With these things, always. Things take twists and turns
	Mr Levy	Yeah.
	Supt Richardson	And it's, it's
	Mr Levy	So anyhow? What are we gonna do? I mean I don't mind you tell them
00:06:33	Mr Chincotta	Do you, do you want to call, do you want to call your IT guy
	Supt Richardson	Yeah he's waiting downstairs.
	Insp Wyan	He is downstairs.
	Mr Chincotta	And we call our IT guy
	Supt Richardson	Yeah.
	Mr Chincotta	And they can have an IT discussion about what's possible.

	Insp Wyan	Yeah.
	Mr Chincotta	Because otherwise we are just
	Mr Levy	If your IT guy could say they just want information not that I am a suspect or anything like that.
	Insp Wyan	Oh to your, your IT.
	Supt Richardson	He doesn't, he doesn't need to say anything at all. He won't engage with anybody about what we are doing, he, he is there to do a job. We are the ones that negotiating the access.
	Mr Levy	Okay
	Supt Richardson	He won't . when you speak to him just tell him not to mention that you are executing a warrant that you are gonna work with Hassans IT Guy to secure some information for, that will help us with an investigation.
	Insp Wyan	Yeah.
	Supt Richardson	They don't have to discuss anything beyond that.
	Mr Levy	Right. You see, I think he goes to...I don't know, I just don't like
	Mr Chincotta	Treating you as a third party arms length client who gets a call and says hey and then we have a long drawn out six month with blue bags, sift through one paper bag at a time and it will all take three months and a £300,000 bill. Come on. That's what you are doing.
	Supt Richardson	I've seen a bit of that in this case as well.
	Mr Chincotta	Yeah
	Supt Richardson	With other lawyers that are
	Mr Chincotta	Yeah.
	Insp Wyan	The decision ultimately has to be yours about whether you want to voluntarily hand it over or not.
	Mr Levy	Yeah I mean, I want to hand it over voluntarily, just that I have a partner.
	Mr Chincotta	My only issue with (inaudible) is to the extent that you can ring fence what gets handed over (inaudible)
	Mr Levy	(inaudible)
	Mr Chincotta	I have no problem, but
	Mr Levy	For emails yes.
	Mr Chincotta	For emails yeah, you can. But as soon as you hand your phone over, right, if all your emails ever are recorded in your phone then you are breaching legal professional privilege big time.
	Insp Wyan	Well depending with how it is dealt with. So what we would do is bag it, get the lawyer out and once the extraction has taken place, then they would look at the contents of that extraction and then hand it to us. So we would never see professional privilege information. And, and we can give you assurances about how that is going to be laid out. Whether that's sufficient, may be you want to ask or seek advise on that. Would it, if we gave you assurances that there would be a set procedure in respect of how we were dealing with the items, whether that would satisfy you. In respect of your 00:08:57	Mr Levy	Well lets get on with the emails, if they can deal with that quickly. Lets get on with things. May I in the meantime walk with you home and

	Supt Richardson	Yeah sure.
	Mr Levy	And then we come back here?
	Insp Wyan	(inaudible) to sign.
	Mr Levy	I'll just tell my wife that we are going
	Supt Richardson	We are dealing with this by consent, is that what we've said.
	Mr Levy	I think so.
	Mr Chincotta	Yeah.
	Insp Wyan	We needs to be clear because otherwise we need to document how we are
	Supt Richardson	(inaudible) to deal with it.
	Insp Wyan	If it is the case then I'd ask Mr Levy to sign where it says
	Supt Richardson	Its just a difference in exercising a power and on doing something by consent which is obviously your, what you prefer.
	Insp Wyan	Shall I call Jason?
	Supt Richardson	You can ask him to come up yeah.
	Mr Chincotta	Yeah call him
	Supt Richardson	Just ask him to wait for you at the, at the
	Mr Chincotta	Yeah.
	Supt Richardson	But not to mention who he is, not to mention that he is from the police. Although its gonna be, it might be a little bit obvious.
	Mr Chincotta	Somebody call Jason is coming up, show him in when he gets here. Ashley, sorry, someone called Jason is coming up, when they come up show him in.
	Mr Levy	So shall we go home first and see. So whilst you work that and I decide what to do, you know. I would do it by consent but I want to
	Insp Wyan	I cannot do anything without one way or another. I can't ask Jason to start with your IT guy.

00:10:22	Mr Levy	Not even to talk to him to see how to do it.
	Insp Wyan	They can sort things out, bot not actually physically do it.
	Mr Levy	Yeah, yeah. Start that, while I take Paul home
	Insp Wyan	Okay. Okay.
	Mr Levy	Do you want to go
	Supt Richardson	(inaudible) it was so much easier before.
	Mr Levy	Paul do you want to go separately or
	Supt Richardson	As, as you wish?
	Mr Levy	What do you think its better
	Supt Richardson	I'm going to go into your house with you, what difference is going to make if we walk together.
	Mr Levy	No, no perhaps if I go
	Supt Richardson	Yeah
	Mr Levy	And I tell you where I live and I wait for you downstairs and take you in the lift. And then nobody, there is another office there so.
	Supt Richardson	I don't understand you, explain it to me again
	Mr Levy	If I walk home now.
	Supt Richardson	Yeah.
	Mr Levy	You know where I live don't you?
	Supt Richardson	I know its Governor's Lane but I don't
	Mr Levy	Well I tell you where it is. You know the Governor's backyard, you know where Peralta's has its office?
	Supt Richardson	No.
	Mr Levy	Its called Don Place
	Supt Richardson	Where the AG's used to be?
	Mr Chincotta	One up from where the AG's used to be.
	Supt Richardson	Ahha..
	Mr Chincotta	Where the (inaudible)
	Supt Richardson	(inaudible_
	Mr Chincotta	Where the ombudsman used to be
	Supt Richardson	Yeah
00:11:19	Mr Chincotta	Walk towards the Supreme Court, from the ombudsman
	Supt Richardson	Yeah.

	Mr Chincotta	And there is a wrote iron gate, turn it
	Insp Wyan	Just a couple of doors up. Its got like a gated sign.
	Mr Chincotta	In the meantime Jason can come in I'll get my IT guy, they can have a talk and we don't push any buttons until they can back.
	Insp Wyan	Yeah okay.
	Mr Chincotta	And then that gets signed.
	Insp Wyan	Yeah, yeah, exactly we can't proceed. And likewise Sir, Mark Garratt has one
	Mr Levy	No but it'll take ten minutes you, you are going home and I'll wait for you in the entrance to my house. I'll walk along and then I'll see you there.
	Supt Richardson	We have another one for the house, so we can deal with that in the same manner.
	Mr Levy	Si.
	Supt Richardson	Okay so Mark Garratt is there is he?
	Insp Wyan	Mark Garratt
	Mr Levy	Where in my house?
	Insp Wyan	No, no
	Supt Richardson	No
	Insp Wyan	In the area.
	Supt Richardson	Or at least I hope so.
	Mr Levy	You'll se
	Supt Richardson	I went to your brother's house King's Yard Lane.
	Mr Levy	King's Yard Lane. You'll, you'll see that all I have are, are Hebrew books and.
	Mr Chincotta	I've told them already what your study looks like.
	Mr Levy	I live very simply.
	Supt Richardson	I've just finished watch Orthodox on Netflix which is very good
	Mr Chincotta	On Netflix. I haven't seen it. Where they get, they have a force marriage and they run off to Germany or something.
	Supt Richardson	Very good.
	Mr Chincotta	I haven't seen that one.
	Supt Richardson	Not sure, not keen on the ending but very good. So many good things on Netflix these days.
	Mr Levy	Right so, I'm gonna tell my wife I'm on my way, because I have to... What time would you think we'll be finished here if I do it by consent?

00:12:56	Supt Richardson	You are happy with that.
	Insp Wyan	Yes Sir, so long as we have it signed off
	Mr Levy	The consent I have to talk to the boss, but I'm taking you there.
	Supt Richardson	My boss will be calling me as well. Why haven't you gone for lunch?
	Mr Levy	I'm going with a policeman home, so I'll go in the lift
	Supt Richardson	Hi Jason.
	PC Oton	Hi.
	Mr Chincotta	Ah mira quien es
	Supt Richardson	Tu que lo conoces
	Mr Chincota	Claro
	Mr Levy	We'll go straight to by study and see what he has to see and then go, and then go. He'll go back and I'll stay at home. Ah no, I have to come back. Okay. Can we go soon. Can we go say at five o'clock to (inaudible) okay.
	Mr Chincotta	Our kids used to play in the same team
	PC Oton	Buenas tarde
	Supt Richardson	He is younger than you. He is younger than us.
	Mr Chincotta	Yes but I was an old dad...
	PC Oton	Si, but he is a very old dad.
	Supt Richardson	As opposed to me no?
	Mr Chincotta	Eh?
	Supt Richardson	As opposed to me because I was a very young one. He and I were in school together, he was the clever one.
	Mr Chincotta	And our kids
	Mr Levy	You, tiene un degree no
	Supt Richardson	En business management and anti-money laundering
	Mr Levy	Anti-money laundering
	Supt Richardson	Forgive the punt. Javier was the cleverest in our class by far. He was the one who could get A's without even doing any work at all.
	Mr Chincotta	No.
	Mr Levy	He still gets A's without doing any work here.
	Supt Richardson	I believe I was telling, I was telling Mark that your dad used to play classical music.
	Mr Chincotta	Yeah, because he knew that you were interested in music, so whenever you came round, listen to this one. Dad por dios.

		Estaba loco por ponermelo a mi y yo se lo quitaba.
00:15:00	Mr Levy	Hello, what do I have this afternoon in my, further in the diary. I've got, I've cancelled up to now, what else do I have. Yeah. I'm not doing capital at six o'clock.

There are further discussions going on regarding diary and chitchat.

00:00:01	Mr Levy	So I have taken advise from leading counsel in England, a QC in England who has told me that your warrant is unlawful.
	Insp Wyan	Okay.
	Mr Levy	That you really should never have got a warrant against, against an officer of the court. But despite that, I am giving you the phone and the iPad. First, vol...voluntarily.
	Insp Wyan	Okay thank you.
	Mr Levy	Right. And I reserve my right to take action legally later. And I would ask you not to have anybody, that I would be given prior notice, before an independent counsel
	Insp Wyan	Yeah.
	Mr Levy	Examines it, to see whether I want to take it to court. That everything that I give you I claim LPP or confidentiality on.
	Insp Wyan	Yes
	Mr Levy	And that I believe this is an abuse of process and I reserve all my rights against whoever I have to. But lastly I have to thank you both for the sensitivity with which, within your limits and within your, your, you have carried out your duty as you see it, which I think is, is, is an abuse of process, but in doing so you have done it with great sensitivity.
	Insp Wyan	Thank you.
	Supt Richardson	Thank you.
	Insp Wyan	Thank you. Understood. I appreciate that.
	Mr Levy	Yeah.
	Mr Chincotta	Yeah.
	Mr Levy	Do I have to say anything else?
	Mr Chincotta	No.
	Mr Levy	Okay (laughs)
	Supt Richardson	So I just need you to sign the consent part of the order.

00:01:35	Mr Levy	Yes
	Supt Richardson	I wonder whether Gibraltar had mineral water, but I just read the back and its Spain.
	Mr Levy	Spain. So what, what does this form say?
	Insp Wyan	Okay so this is what we call
	Mr Levy	Let me read it for once in my life. I always rely on people, but I'll read it this time.
00:02:07	Insp Wyan	A lot of that is information for the officer, for filling out.
	Mr Levy	So this is for you? Not for me?
	Insp Wyan	That's right, that is for us.
	Mr Levy	But you've got to write anything in their now?
	Insp Wyan	I have to write today if we take something, so I'll write in their the times for example of what we take. So for example I'll make reference to that. (mobile phone) and anyhthign else you hand over. But before I do that, if you, if you are consenting if I can just, here you'll see that it says witness consent to the person, entitlement to crown entry, I hereby consent the police search in the above named premises. So its, its effectively a search. You are doing things voluntarily.
	Mr Levy	I put here by name?
	Insp Wyan	Yes please. And then I think your date of birth just to the right of that.
	Mr Levy	(inaudible) premises. What do I put?
	Insp Wayn	Occupant would be
	Mr Levy	Occupant
	Supt Richardson	Mark are you staying? You are staying to sort out this
	Mr Levy	So shall I sign.
	Insp Wyan	Yes please. That's it, thank you. So that's in relation to this one here sir. Did you want to deal with the home premises?
	Supt Richardson	Oh, I thought that was the home one you did.
	Insp Wyan	No
	Supt Richardson	We'll deal with the home exactly the same way then
	Insp Wyan	Have you got the?
	Supt Richardson	I gave it to you, its on the clipboard. Found it?
	Mr Levy	Tu le puedes decir a Arthur que me de un telefono, yo me tengo que ir pronto. Mi mujer me esta esperando.
	Supt Richardson	Jason would you make a note of his pin number please. Mr Levy's pin number to his devices. It's a high security one which you would never be able to work out if you managed to get hold of his devices.

	PC Oton	One, two, three, four
	Supt Richardson	No.
	PC Oton	Zero,zero, zero, zero
	Supt Richardson	No. [redacted]
	Mr Chincotta	Arthur tu puedes subir please. Thank you.
	Supt Richardson	I'm just as bad. I really can't have this.
	Mr Levy	Yo no puedo tener diez pin numbers
	Supt Richardson	And more no, everytime you log on to a website it asks you a pin or a password, no you have used this one before. Then you forget what you've done. So you put in a new one and then you have to reset it and then you forget what you've reset.
	Insp Wyan	Mr Levy, would you mind, again the same section, just.
	Mr Chincotta	I asked the IT guy
	Insp Wyan	Thank you. I do need to give you a copy of this which we are required by law to give you, your rights and your entitlements in respect of searches, you may want to give to your legal advisor.
	Mr Levy	I'm going to challenge you much deeper than this.
	Insp Wyan	I'm sure you are.
	Supt Richardson	Thank god we have a lawyer in the house.
	PC Oton	Who? Bueno three.
	Supt Richardson	I meant one, this side of the house.
	Insp Wyan	I don't count.
	Mr Levy	Tu tambien.
	PC Oton	No, Mr Levy.
	Mr Chincotta	In terms of, in terms of the phone
	Mr Levy	Yeah, and I want it diverted. Proque me van a llamar un monton de gente.
	Mr Chincotta	No ya. But in terms of the phone and the chip with his number
	Supt Richardson	Yes.
	Mr Chincotta	For him to get a mobile phone that receives calls he can...he can
	PC Oton	Yes.
	Mr Chincotta	Se lo voy a decir a hora.
	Supt Richardson	Messages stored on the chip, Jason.

	PC Oton	No, they are installed on the device.
	Supt Richardson	If you are happy with that Jason?
	PC oton	I'm happy with that.
	Mr Levy	Entonces dame, dame el chip
	Mr Chincotta	Puedes sacar el chip del telefono de Jaime, y puedes buscar un iPhone
00:06:04	Supt Richardson	(inaudible) what he tells me James
	Mr Chincotta	Con un telefono nuevo.
	Mr Levy	Pon lo anda. Y esta todo backed up in the cloud, me dice. Auque yo no lo sabia.
	???	Tiene un par de whatsapp ahi.
	Mr Levy	Esto no
	Insp Wyan	Do you want me to put you in charge of the search for the residential.

	Supt Richardson	The time I sent you the message, I'll tell you now.
	PC Oton	Lo logging details pa dentro.
	Mr Chincotta	Tu creo que el lo sabe.
	PC Oton	No se yo.
	Mr Chincotta	Mira la cara de el, mira la cara de el.

	Mr Chincotta	Linewall Road

	PC oton	He hasn't got a SIM anyway.
	Supt Richardson	Wifi

	Supt Richardson	But the phone can it not connect to wife can the phone not be backup and and restored through wifi without the SIM card in it.
00:08:27	PC Otton	If you have wifi connectivity yes, but you can't have wireless connectivity on a 4G network if you don't have a SIM.
	Supt Richardson	I'm not saying that Jason, I'm saying that you are now going to take possession of it
	PC Oton	Si, si, si, si.
	Mr Levy	No Paul, be (inaudible) all legit

	Supt Richardson	Everybody has stuff in their phones that
	Mr Levy	No, no, no
	Mr Chincotta	No, no, no Paul.
	Mr Levy	No, no, no yo soy muy prude. Yo no, a mi me Mandan un whastapp un poquito mas verde y yo no
	Supt Richardson	Tu lo hace deleting straight away. Si. They can be compromising. Mark this is your ...
	Mr Levy	No, no professional stuff.
	Supt Richardson	Okay. I understand. That's me fit. Mark do you need me for anything else?
	Insp Wyan	No sir, just the, the, so the start time was 1514 and what was the end time?
	Supt Richardson	Whatever time I got back in, take ten minutes off,
	Mr Levy	No five minutes only.
00:09:30	Supt Richardson	Five minutes off to walk back.
	insp Wyan	i don't know at what time you got back to be honest.
	Supt Richardson	It was no more than ten...ten minutes
	Mr Levy	No fifteen minutes
	Supt Richardson	It took me ten minutes to get to the house, because of the
	Mr Levy	Yeah. Fifteen, I hope the lift works now. Fifteen. I think it took fifteen minutes. I showed you every, every, what do you call it, I showed you every drawer there was.
	Supt Richardson	Yeah. Okay. So you don't need me for anything else no Mark?
	Insp Wyan	No sir, I think I should be okay.
	Supt Richardson	I'll go down with James, with Jaime, with Javier
	Mr Chincotta	I'll go down with you.
	Mr Levy	Thank you
	Supt Richardson	James
	Mr Levy	Thank you, no me puede dar la mano, tenemos que hacer asi. Paul thanks for your sensitivity
	Supt Richardson	Not at all.
	Mr Levy	If you are wrong, its an abuse of process and if I'm right I have to go against you as far as I can.
	Supt Richardson	I'm and, and there will be no hard feelings if you do. Obviously
	Mr Levy	Someday you'll be out. Bueno remember I've worked with this man for 35 years, I've got practically nearly everyday.

00:10:24	Supt Richardson	Yeah, yeah.
	Mr Levy	I was the one who told him, you'd go te acuerdas.
	Supt Richardson	And you were prophetic even then
	Mr Levy	I said to him you'll become Commissioner or
	Supt Richardson	No.
	Mr Levy	Correct o no?
	Supt Richardson	Definitely I'm not getting to Commissioner I shall be going shortly and Mark would be able to take over and he'll, he'll lead the ship
	Mr Levy	Poor Mark would get the, I'm very nice y todo eso, pero when I go I get, I go. Preguntale what I did with a lawyer who, who unfairly determined to us.
	Supt Richardson	Yeah, yeah.
	Mr Levy	I'm, I'm very nice, pero when people, I think you are being unfair. But, I, I, when people unfairly treat me well I behave
	Insp Wyan	I appreciate that I do. (laughs)
	Mr Levy	There is going to be a lot coming out of here because I know a lot.
	Mr Chincotta	Si pero remember, remember, remember that they are where they are because up to now they have had one side of the story.
	Mr Levy	Si pero I know, porque me lo dijo a mi, porque, porque por la boca muere el pez
	Mr Chincota	Si
	Mr Levy	Que, se lo digo o no se lo digo
	Mr Chincotta	Se lo va acabar deciendo el lunes que viene anyway
	Mr Levy	No, no, no se lo voy a decir. This is between us, I know that Gaggero knew the exact time when they were gonna be arrested and I don't know it from them. I know it from a very good independent source.
	Supt Richardson	What is that, what is that
	Mr Levy	(inaudible) for heaven's sakes Paul. Tu crees que, if I make a complaint you are not going to tell me when you are going to arrest Mr Smith. Come on. That's totally wrong. And that's for abuse of staff. And I know it for a fact. Uncontroverted evidence. Tengo otras cosas que I've got to look into to make sure that they are good. Pero this is good. (laughs)
	Mr Chincotta	I understand him.
	PC Otton	That's why I came to him for advise once Paul.
	Mr Levy	Si te acuerdas.

00:12:24	Supt Richardson	I came for advice and the advice from him was he sent me to another lawyer.
	PC Oton	(inaudible)
	Mr Levy	Who, you went to him no?
	Insp Wyan	He gave me advise for a separation at one point.
	Mr Levy	Tambien you.
	PC Oton	Usted se acuerda de mi
	Mr Levy	Disgraceful. Claro que me acuerdo de ti.
	PC Oton	Te acuerdas quien era el otrao gachon no entonces.
	Mr Levy	Preguntale si me acuerdo de las cosas.
	Mr Chincotta	Esto no tiene
	Mr Levy	Tomorrow when I go to see you I'm gonna (inaudible) separation. Who acted for your?
	Insp Wyuan	Sorry
	Mr Levy	Who acted for you?
	Insp Wyan	It was, whats her name now?
	Mr Levy	Anne Balestrino?
	Insp Wyan	No
	Supt Richardson	Janis was the marriage one no?
	Insp Wyan	She works for Janis Evans but
	Mr Levy	Oh she's good, she's very good.
	Insp Wyan	The Irish woman.
	Mr Levy	Yeah. She is very good
	Insp Wyan	She is.
	Mr Levy	Shes very good, I wanted her here, but she didn't come.
	Mr Chincotta	Paul came to me for advise and he is now going to tell you the advise I gave him.
	Supt Richardson	He said to me, after what I have been through you can go and see Janis Evans, even if you don't use her
	Mr Levy	Conflict her.
	Supt Richardson	Yes. And I did and it worked and it has worked not just for me but
	Mr Levy	Porque tu te separate?
	Supt Richardson	And for four, four of my colleagues.
	Mr Levy	Divorced. Is Paul divorced.

	Insp Wyan	Yes he is.
	Mr Levy	You are divorced?
	Supt Richardson	I'm divorced and married again.
	Mr Levy	No sabia eso.
	Mr Chincotta	Este es como yo pero si en married again.
	Mr levy	Pero tu estas peor, peor que estas tu.
	Supt Richardson	After saying years I'll never marry again I did, Bueno. Anyway.
	Mr Levy	Cada casa es un mundo. You can never tell
	Supt Rcihardson	Its very true.
	Mr Levy	Mira I've never, I've been married 47, 47 years in two weeks time. I really, el sabe, I'm very happy my wife es la que manda. You saw she is a stern lady.
	Supt Richardson	I think ...I think
	PC Oton	I think any man who says contrary to that is a liar.
	Mr Levey	Si. Pero you saw she is a stern lady. She wasn't happy with you (laughs_
	Supt Rcihardson	What can I say? What could I have done to make it any less
	Mr Levy	What did I say, I said it openly, I didn't say it,
	Mr Chincota	To the tape.
	Mr Levy	To the tape. I was grateful for the sensitivity. Yo I call the things as they are. But this will unleash certain problems. No por mi, no por mi because I think we respect your going, totally the wrong way about it.
	Supt Richardson	We are not going anywhere , you have to give your account, in which case we might
	Mr Levy	Not with me, not with me. Look I've been charged before, I've won and I was paid £2million cause, because it was all a...all a fraud and I proved it. And the judge said when they let me go in England this man has been very properly released because he was never, he shouldn't have been here. And I got £2million cause. I'm not, I'm not scared of this but I tell you that other people, they'll be, they'll be because I'm not let it go now. Before I knew, I knew, I know everything, everything, you;ll see it in my,I'm not going to hide it, I will send all the documents, I will that Fishcel sent to you and everything, pero yo no se lo que Fischel ... I don't know his, his (laughs) pero if I were advising them you, you, this would have been finished already. I would have gone for a, I would have gone for a, ya lo sabe todo el mundo, look I would have gone for an abuse and I, and I think of the one. It is what it is and you have to do your job. Entonces yo fui, cuando le di, a quien le di cine mil libras a alguien para que... come on. Are you still videoing me.

	Supt Richardson	I don't know.
	PC Oton	I think so.
	Insp Wyann	Yes. Actually sorry. I'll stop the video.
00:16:	Mr Levy	Thank you Paul. Thank you Paul. Thank you Paul thank you for your sensitivity.

Exhibit MW58

11/05/2020	Discussions regarding the search warrant for Mr Levy at his home residence and Hassans law firm. This is based on the NDM report prepared by Supt Richardson and the warrant overview document prepared by DS Clarke and Insp Goldwin. The warrant allows police to seize relevant digital devices used or owned by Mr Levy. These will be seized by searching officers. DS Oton will be required to obtain digital documents related to the relevant companies from the Hassans server. He will also need to take the email profile of Mr Levy (if possible restricted to January 2017 to date). This is the earliest reference to Mr Levy discussing Perez and the national security platform. Keyword searches will be run across devices once the seizures have taken place. However, before this can be done we will be required to instruct and independent lawyer in order to ascertain whether any material is legally privileged.
12/05/2020	Attendance at Midtown in order to execute warrants at Hassans law firm. On arrival with PR we spoke to Javier Cincotta. He then called JL to attend. Video recording taken of PR readying out the reasons for attendance. JL then sought advise from a UK silk and decided that he would voluntarily hand over digital devices. PR attended the residence of JL and retrieved an Ipad. JL then returned and stated that he would hand over the iPhone. However, this needed to be backed up first. He agreed to hand over once this was done. Agreements that IT would run keyword searches on their system in order to extract relevant emails and documents from their systems. This was to run overnight due to the amount of emails.
13/05/2020	IPhone of J Levy handed over to me by PS Riley in exhibit bag number M22459509 (LG/Mobile/1).
13/05/2020	iPhone and iPad belonging to J Levy left securely in the office of Supt Richardson. LG/Mobile/1 (M22459509) and PR/1 (B5006835443).

Sir,

We spoke. You may wish to add that notwithstanding the fact that the Chief Secretary has informed us that HMGOG has filed a complaint we were advised in writing yesterday during TC's interview under caution that "I would again reiterate that no complaint has been made against me by HMGoG whereas it has in fact made a breach notification to the GRA in respect of Blands and/or its agents unauthorised access to their system. "we are dealing the GRA separately under an MOU that we signed with them and are assisting them in their investigation.

Kind regards

Paul

Sir,

Inspector Wyan has sought clarity from the Chief Secretary with regard to HMGOG making an official complaint about the conduct of the subjects of the investigation for Op Delhi. Mr Grech's secretary has responded that the Government had already filed a complaint, but as you will see from the below, this is not actually the case. We had initially been directed to deal with the Financial Secretary, Mr Mena, to deal with this matter as it is concerns the NSCIS platform, its apparent inefficiency and the withdrawing of payment for the maintenance of it by Caine Sanchez. After some time Mr Mena directed enquires to Mr Grech in his capacity as Chief Secretary.

When I met with Mr Grech, Insp Wyan and ex-commissioner McGrail on the 30th April 2020, he was unable to provide much detail concerning the platform as he had not been able to find any records. He was however open and supportive of the investigation.

In my experience it has been difficult getting Mr Grech to respond to our emails in the past (he is clearly a very busy man) and Mr McGrail has been the interlocutor that has proved most successful and most appropriate given the position of the Chief Secretary. To that end I would ask if you would consider following up this line of enquiry which is important. Insp. Wyan has drafted a suggestion form of words below that you may find useful.

Subject: HMGoG Statement of Complaint

Sir,

Please find below a draft to be sent to Mr Grech regarding a statement of complaint by HMGoG.

Kind Regards,

Mark

D R A F T ********

Dear Mr Grech,

I am writing to you with regards to the ongoing police investigation concerning the National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS) and for which I am grateful for your continued assistance.

I am aware that you have now provided the investigating team with an initial statement, dated the 21st January 2020, and a second statement, dated the 4th May 2020 (which is currently being transposed onto an official template). I understand the first deals with Mr Sanchez and an instruction given by the Chief Minister on the 4th October 2018, whilst the second asserts ownership of the NSCIS platform by HMGoG.

In addition to your statements the investigating team have obtained a statement from the Financial Secretary, Mr Mena, which deals with a decision made by Mr Sanchez to withhold payments to Bland Limited in respect of the NSCIS platform, and a subsequent report which was provided to him on the 16th April 2019. A further statement has also been provided by Mr Canessa, the Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister, again dealing mainly with the instruction which was given to Mr Sanchez on the 4th October 2018.

I am informed by Inspector Wyan that in light of your statement confirming that the ownership of the NSCIS platform is in dispute, he asked whether you would consider making a formal complaint, on behalf of the Government, about the conduct of the suspects subject to the investigation. Your secretary has responded to Inspector Wyan stating that the Government had already filed a complaint.

Unfortunately, there is nothing in any of the statements provided by HMGoG which, as purported owners of the NSCIS platform, makes an official complaint in respect of the computer misuse and related offences which the evidence suggests may have been committed. As you will no doubt appreciate, the investigation is a very serious one and relates to individuals who are suspected of attempting to sabotage a national security platform. Without a formal complaint by the Government, as purported owners, this may significantly impact the ability of the police to prosecute this important matter. Given the above, I would be grateful if you could confirm the position of the Government with regards to taking action against the suspects, and whether you would be willing to provide a statement outlining this position.

Kind Regards,

Mark Wyan

Charging Report 17.07.20.docx
Importance: High

Sir,

Please find attached the latest Op Delhi report. It has now been updated with the accounts from the defence including summaries of interviews. (There are an additional 26 Appendices which cover ownership issues and defence accounts).

Grateful if we can discuss this week so that the report can be sent to the DPP and we can prepare the summary / charges well in advance of September.

However, there are a few outstanding matters as follows:

1) Response from the Chief Secretary as to whether he wants to proceed against the suspects;
2) Confirmation from the Chief Secretary that he does not wish to proceed against Blands for the allegations made by Mr Fischel QC;
3) An account from the Chief Minister having regard to the issues highlighted in the below email (19th June) and the attached communications (Timeline CM).

These matters may be raised by the DPP if he is considering the evidence to charge.

Kind Regards,

Mark

Subject: Communication with Chief Minister
Importance: High

Sir,

During the course of the Operation Delhi investigation, we have come across a number of relevant communications between the Chief Minister and John Perez / Haim Levy / Caine Sanchez (see attached table).

On the 24th January 2020 a letter of complaint was received from Mr Fischel QC, on behalf of his clients, together with supporting documentation. In the background section to this complaint Mr Fischel made specific reference to the Chief Minister. The relevant sections of the complaint are as follows [emphasis added]:

"A.8 On 9 July 2018 Mr Cornelio and Mr Perez resigned from Blands and joined 36 North Limited ("36N") after the expiration of their respective notice periods. Blands' Chairman, Mr James Gaggero, agreed immediately after their resignations that the HMGoG Platforms would be taken over by 36N as Blands did not have either the resources or appetite to run these systems. The relevant Heads of Department, law enforcement and the NSCIS system controller all supported the transition and formal approval lay with the Chief Minister."

"A.9 At a meeting on 25 July 2018 attended by Mr Sanchez, Jonathan Galliano and Mr Cornelio, Mr Sanchez's instructions were that Mr Cornelio continue to run the NSCIS and that Blands should no longer access NSCIS code, services or data. The running of the system was to transition to 36N as HMGOG did not consider Blands had the capability to manage it. It was also agreed that 36N would sub-contract some hardware maintenance tasks to Blands. Seperately, Mr Sanchez also instructed Mr Cornelio to maintain a safe backup of the NSCIS to avoid any loss of service or compromise of data by Blands during the transition period. 36N ran and serviced the system functionality and al the HMGOG Platforms up to early October 2018 on HMGOG's authority and with the full knowledge of the Chief Minister."

Given that Mr Fischel has specifically raised the Chief Minister in defence of his clients, I believe that it is necessary for him to be approached. He may be able to put the communication into context and help us understand what was happening during this period.

Sir,
Just a quick email to update you on Operation Delhi.
Mr Fischel has now provided extensive defence submissions as to why his clients should not be charged. Of particular note is his reliance on case law which states that the criminal courts should not be used where property is in dispute (and should be delayed until the civil courts have made judgment). This issue of ownership is therefore critical.
As it stands, the case is likely to be significantly undermined if HMGoG do not provide a statement of complaint. If they were to do so, then the case could potentially proceed (because regardless of who the owner was, we would have a complainant).
I intend to provide a final report to the DPP during the course of next week. I would therefore be grateful if we could consider whether to approach the Chief Secretary again. However, it may be your view that you have already contacted him, and that we should seek advice from the DPP without pursuing the matter further.
Happy to discuss.

Dear Chief Secretary ,
I am writing to you with regards to the ongoing police investigation concerning the National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS) and for which I am grateful for your continued assistance to the team.
I am aware that you have now provided the investigating team with an initial statement, dated the 21st January 2020, and a second statement, dated the 4th May 2020 (which is currently being transposed onto an official template). I understand the first deals with Mr Sanchez and an instruction given by the Chief Minister on the 4th October 2018, whilst the second asserts ownership of the NSCIS platform by HMGoG.
In addition to your statements the investigating team have obtained a statement from the Financial Secretary, Mr Mena, which deals with a decision made by Mr Sanchez to withhold payments to Bland Limited in respect of the NSCIS platform, and a subsequent report which was provided to him on the 16th April 2019. A further statement has also been provided by Mr Canessa, the Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister, again dealing mainly with the instruction which was given to Mr Sanchez on the 4th October 2018.
I am informed by Inspector Wyan that in light of your statement confirming that the ownership of the NSCIS platform is in dispute, he asked whether you would consider making a formal complaint, on behalf of the Government, about the conduct of the suspects subject to the investigation. Your secretary has responded to Inspector Wyan stating that the Government had already filed a complaint. This unfortunately is not the case and in actual fact we were advised in writing last week during one of the suspect's interviews under caution, that even they were aware that no complaint had been made against them. Unfortunately, there is nothing in any of the statements provided which, as purported owners of the NSCIS platform, makes an official complaint in respect of the computer misuse and related offences which the evidence suggests may have been committed. As you will no doubt appreciate, the investigation is a very serious one and relates to individuals who are suspected of attempting to sabotage a national security platform. Without a formal complaint by HMGoG, as purported owners, this may significantly impact the ability of the police to prosecute this important matter.

Given the above, I would be grateful if you could confirm to Superintendent Richardson or Inspector Wyan the position with regards to taking action against the suspects, and whether you would be willing to provide a statement outlining this position.

Best wishes

Dear Commissioner Ullger

Thank you for your email of 13th July 2020 regarding the making of a formal complaint, on behalf of the Government, about the conduct of suspects subject to the investigation regarding the National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS).

At the outset, I should like to apologise both for the delay in getting back to you and for any confusion regarding whether a complaint has been made, formally or otherwise.

To be clear, my understanding is that both the Government and Bland were cited as complainants in relevant search warrants, that the Chief Minister had separately indicated to the Royal Gibraltar Police the Government's status as a complainant, and that nothing further was needed.

Be that as it may, let me state on behalf of Government that it is willing to be a formal complainant in this matter if it has not been considered so up until this point. The Government's position as a complainant is as a result of information provided to it by the Royal Gibraltar Police itself, as well as Bland, such that the Government believes that wrongdoing may have been committed against it in connection with NSCIS.

I trust that this letter, together with the witness statements that have been provided to you and which you cite in your email, now suffice to constitute a formal complaint. However, if greater or different formality is needed in order for the Government to be considered an official complainant, please do let me know.

Yours sincerely

Dear Mr Grech,

Further to my email of the 11th June, I have been contacted by Ms. Corby asking whether you can edit the witness statement yourself. I have confirmed that you may edit the document as you see fit.

Given that HMGoG have now formally asserted ownership of the NSCIS platform, I would respectfully ask you to consider including in your statement a complaint against those who the evidence suggests have committed multiple computer related offences. We understand that some of the suspects are stating that they were authorised to access the NSCIS system by Caine Sanchez (although he has not said this himself and has indicated through his lawyer that he will not provide an explanation in his next police interview). An official complaint and unequivocal assertion that HMGOG does not condone the activity relating to the tampering with the NSCIS platform would be very beneficial to the prosecution.

25th September 2020

Dear Commissioner

I am writing to you in relation to the charges advanced against Civil Servant, Mr Caine Sanchez in the investigation conducted by the Royal Gibraltar Police in respect of the National Security Central Intelligence System ('NSCIS').

This letter is further to my letter of the 14th August 2020 in which I confirmed to you, for the reasons set out therein (and based solely (i) on the information contained in your email to me of 13th July 2020 and; (ii) the information you verbally relayed to me in our later meeting), my decision that Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ('the Government') was willing to be a complainant in respect of the offences alleged against Mr Sanchez and other defendants (Cornelio and Perez). You had clarified in your email that the Government was not previously 'formally' a complainant.

The media has reported that the charges have now been put to the defendants in this case, including Mr Sanchez. Reports have also confirmed that one of the charges against Mr Sanchez, arising from the Government's complaint, is that of misconduct in public office. (Incidentally, the public statement from the RGP suggests that the Government's complaint/s predate my communication to you of the 14th August 2020. I understand, from media inquiries to the Government Press Office that this is an issue that has been raised by Counsel for the defendants with various media organisations.)

In the circumstances, I would be grateful to urgently receive from you details of the facts alleged against Mr Sanchez, the key aspects of how the RGP alleges that the said offence is made out and any documentary evidence in support of the charge/s which stand in in the name of the Government as complainant against him. I require this information in order that:

1. I can confirm to you (with the benefit of careful consideration of the evidence the RGP's investigation has, with the Government's cooperation, uncovered), my position that the complaint should proceed in the name of the Government;

t +350 20051752 f +350 20040922 e darren.grech@gibraltar.gov.gi w gibraltar.gov.gi

2. The Council of Ministers can ratify my decision for the Government to proceed to be a complainant in this sensitive matter and with the benefit of the same careful consideration of the evidence in respect of the Government's role as complainant; and

3. His Excellency the Governor can confirm, or otherwise determine, the re-instatement of the interdiction of Mr Sanchez also with the benefit of the same careful consideration of the evidence available at this stage. In respect of this latter aspect of this matter, I will also be writing to Mr Sanchez to see his explanations. I will be suspending him from all duties (as he initially was pending the outcome of your investigations) until I have received those explanations and the relevant decisions are made about interdiction.

Thank you for your continued assistance in respect of this matter. As you will know, I am advised that this is the first instance that the offence of misconduct in public office has been charged in Gibraltar. I therefore want to ensure that the Government acts and has acted entirely properly in the manner in which we make decisions about being / continuing to be a complainant. Additionally, I must also ensure that Mr Sanchez is dealt with properly, in keeping with General Orders and all his other rights, in the context of his employment as an officer of the Government.

In light of the above, I shall very much look forward to hearing from you at your very earliest convenience.

Given the references at 2 and 3 above, I am copying His Excellency the Governor and the Chief Minister into this correspondence.

Yours sincerely

Additionally, having considered the issues raised by you, I have discussed them with Director of Public Prosecutions [DPP] and sought his advice, thus copying him in to this correspondence, given that he also has conduct of this matter post-charge.

I should start by pointing out that our understanding concurs with your own as expressed in your letter to me on the 14th August 2020. Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar's [HMGoG] complaint was made verbally at a meeting at No 6 Convent Place, on the 13th May 2019, when the former Commissioner of Police briefed representatives of the Government and the administration including yourself. During this meeting, it was made clear that HMGoG wished to be considered a complainant. Given the seriousness of what had become known, it was decided that Mr Sanchez would be recalled from London immediately to answer the allegations. Following his arrest, he was, as we understand it, subsequently interdicted.

Your letter makes reference to the Royal Gibraltar Police's [RGP] Press release and you comment that 'the RGP suggests that the government's complaint/s predate my communication to you of the 14th August 2020....' This is in fact our understanding of the sequence of events as articulated above. For this reason, we consider the press release to be accurate.

In seeking to obtain a third statement from you in your capacity as Chief Secretary, the RGP was simply seeking to obtain evidence in the conventional manner that may be put before a court. A witness statement was signed by you on 21st January 2020, and this was followed up by a supplementary statement on 4th May 2020. The position was further clarified by your letter of the 14th August 2020, already referred to above.

If our understanding is incorrect as regards the timing and/or making of the complaint, I would be grateful for your clarification. Equally, if your position is now that you wish to withdraw your complaint I respectfully request that you advise us soonest. I should point out however, that it is not necessary for there to be a complainant in order to proceed with a charge of Misconduct in Public Office. Accordingly, regardless of any complaint or otherwise from HMGoG, the position as it stands is that Mr Sanchez has already been charged and the matter will proceed unless the DPP or AG is of the view that it is not in the public interest to proceed, or the AG enters a nolle prosequi.

It is of note that the charges do not stand in the name of the Government of Gibraltar as a complainant. Furthermore, your assertion that this is the first instance that the offence of Misconduct in Public Office has been charged in Gibraltar is incorrect. There are a number of other instances of such charges being laid and prosecuted which have led to convictions.

Turning now to your request, it is unprecedented for such a request to be made by a complainant at all, let alone for the purpose of deciding whether to provide a (further) statement 'formalising' a complaint. Furthermore, I am aware that in addition to the briefing previously mentioned on 13th May 2019, that the former Commissioner of Police and other senior police officers briefed you as to Mr Sanchez's alleged misconduct on the 30th April 2020. I have discussed this with the DPP and acting on his advice we do not consider it appropriate or indeed proper to disclose documentary evidence in the manner requested.

The RGP, in close consultation with the Office of Criminal Prosecutions and Litigation have concluded, that based on all the available evidence, there is a realistic prospect of conviction and on that basis have charged Mr Sanchez.

I should also highlight my concern regarding your seeking the views of Mr Sanchez in relation to this matter. Any communication with, including any response to the allegations made against Mr Sanchez are likely to be relevant to the investigation and therefore disclosable. This may lead to other lines of inquiry that the investigating team would need to consider.

I trust that I have answered as much as I am able to and made our position clear.

I am also conscious that any further discussion between us has the potential to adversely affect the prosecution of this case, which not only concerns Mr Sanchez but others too. For that reason, I would be grateful if any further communication be directed in the first instance to the Director of Public Prosecutions, as explained earlier, has conduct of this matter post-charge.

Yours Sincerely

Subject: Re: Letter from the Chief Secretary

Rough first draft response:

Dear Chief Secretary,

Thank you for your letter dated XXX, the content of which I note. I have copied this letter in reply to the same parties as are addressed in your letter.

Additionally, given the matters raised by you, I have discussed the matter with Director of Public Prosecutions, particularly in relation to your request for the provision of information and documentation pertinent to the charging of Mr Sanchez and I have also copied him into this correspondence.

I should start by pointing out that the RGP's understanding is that the complaint was effectively made at a meeting in XXX 2019, at which the position was made clear that the GoG wished to be considered a complainant in relation to this matter, particularly as it involved the GoG's National Security platform. Indeed, at this meeting it was decided, given the seriousness of what had come to light, that Mr Sanchez would be recalled from London immediately to answer to the allegations. That the RGP considered this to be the case is borne out by the fact that the GoG appears as one of the complainants in the various search warrants that were executed subsequently. It is on this basis that the RGP consider the press release that it has issued to be accurate.

For your understanding, the RGP was simply seeking to formalize matters by having you, as CS, sign a statement reflecting the complaint.

I should point out at this stage that it is not necessary that this formality be observed nor indeed is it a requirement that there be a complainant to proceed with a charge and subsequent prosecution. Accordingly, regardless of any complaint or otherwise from the GoG, the position as it stands and given that Mr Sanchez has been charged is that the matter will proceed unless the DPP or AG is of the view that it is not in the public interest to proceed or the AG enters a nolle prosequi.

If our understanding is incorrect as regards the timing and/or making of the complaint I would be grateful for your clarification. Equally, if your position is that a complaint was never made or that any complaint that was made should be deemed withdrawn please advise soonest.

Prior to responding to your very surprising request for documentary evidence in support of the charge/s I should highlight a few points:

1. The charges do not stand in the name of the Government of Gibraltar as a complainant; and
2. Your assertion that this is the first instance that the offence of misconduct in public office has been charged in Gibraltar is incorrect. There are a number of instances of such charges being laid and prosecuted.

Turning now to your request. It is highly unusual for such a request to be made by a 'complainant' at all, let alone for the purpose of deciding whether to provide a statement formalizing a complaint. I have discussed this request with the DPP and I am not able to accede to your request for the provision to you of documentary evidence or information in support of the charge as this would be irregular. The RGP, in close consultation with the OCPL have concluded, based on all the available evidence, that there is a reasonable prospect of conviction and on that basis have charged Mr Sanchez. With all due respect this should be sufficient for any decisions to be made, ratified or formalized, as the case may be.

I fail to understand the basis upon which you think the RGP's, conclusions should be analysed or scrutinised in the manner set out in your letter by the cabinet or, indeed, at all.

I should also highlight my concern regarding your seeking the views of Mr Sanchez in relation to this matter. Any correspondence, including any response to the allegations made against Mr Sanchez would likely be relevant to the investigation and disclosable.

I trust that I have made the position clear and I look forward to hearing from you shortly

Yours etc

<Grech letter to CoP.docx>

Dear Commissioner

I am writing to you in relation to the charges advanced against Civil Servant, Mr Caine Sanchez in the investigation conducted by the Royal Gibraltar Police in respect of the National Security Central Intelligence System ('NSCIS').

This letter is further to my letter of the 14th August 2020 in which I confirmed to you, for the reasons set out therein (and based solely (i) on the information contained in your email to me of 13th July 2020 and; (ii) the information you verbally relayed to me in our later meeting), my decision that Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ('the Government') was willing to be a complainant in respect of the offences alleged against Mr Sanchez and other defendants (Cornelio and Perez). You had clarified in your email that the Government was not previously 'formally' a complainant.

Mr Grech stated in his letter of the 14th August that, "… let me state on behalf of Government that it is willing to be a formal complainant in this matter …" A draft witness statement was sent to him on the 17th September requesting that he sign the complaint.

Prior to the 14th August 2020 HMGoG had always been considered a complainant. At the early stages of the investigation, in a meeting with the CM [Supt Richardson to clarify what was said and date] he stated that he wanted HMGoG to be a complainant in this matter.

The media has reported that the charges have now been put to the defendants in this case, including Mr Sanchez. Reports have also confirmed that one of the charges against Mr Sanchez, arising from the Government's complaint, is that of misconduct in public office.

Whilst it clearly will have a bearing on the case, the evidence against Mr Sanchez has already been obtained by the police. The charge could proceed even without a complaint by HMGoG (although the prosecution would be considerably undermined and may be withdrawn by the DPP).

(Incidentally, the public statement from the RGP suggests that the Government's complaint/s predate my communication to you of the 14th August 2020. I understand, from media inquiries to the Government Press Office that this is an issue that has been raised by Counsel for the defendants with various media organisations.)

See note above regarding complaint by the CM.

In the circumstances, I would be grateful to urgently receive from you details of the facts alleged against Mr Sanchez, the key aspects of how the RGP alleges that the said offence is made out and any documentary evidence in support of the charge/s which stand in in the name of the Government as complainant against him.

It is highly unusual to disclose detailed facts about a prosecution to a complainant so that they can decide whether to provide a statement.

However, it could be provided in the form of the summary of evidence which has already been disclosed to the court and defendants. The DPP would need to consent to this disclosure given that it is post charge. It could be edited to remove information relating to the other defendants.

Documentary evidence which is provided in the name of HMGoG relates to the statements and corresponding exhibits of Albert Mena / Andrew Bonfante / John Paul Galliano (ITLD) / Jonathan Gonzalez (ITLD) / Peter Canessa.

Other statements have been provided by law enforcement officials.

I require this information in order that:

1. I can confirm to you (with the benefit of careful consideration of the evidence the RGP's investigation has, with the Government's cooperation, uncovered), my position that the complaint should proceed in the name of the Government;

   See note above about proceeding with misconduct without a complainant.

2. The Council of Ministers can ratify my decision for the Government to proceed to be a complainant in this sensitive matter and with the benefit of the same careful consideration of the evidence in respect of the Government's role as complainant; and HMGoG have made numerous complaints to the police. I question why the Council of Ministers is now required to ratify the decision.

3. His Excellency the Governor can confirm, or otherwise determine, the reinstatement of the interdiction of Mr Sanchez also with the benefit of the same careful consideration of the evidence available at this stage. In respect of this latter aspect of this matter, I will also be writing to Mr Sanchez to see his explanations. I will be suspending him from all duties (as he initially was pending the outcome of your investigations) until I have received those explanations and the relevant decisions are made about interdiction.

The Chief Secretary should be advised that the matter is sub-judice. Any responses given by Mr Sanchez would relevant to the investigation and potentially disclosable to the court.

Thank you for your continued assistance in respect of this matter. As you will know, I am advised that this is the first instance that the offence of misconduct in public office has been charged in Gibraltar.

This is not correct. Caine Benteolo (17/3/2014) / Dean Penfold (3/10/2017) / Harry McIntosh (3/6/2004) were all charged with and convicted of misconduct in public office.

I therefore want to ensure that the Government acts and has acted entirely properly in the manner in which we make decisions about being / continuing to be a complainant. Additionally, I must also ensure that Mr Sanchez is dealt with properly, in keeping with General Orders and all his other rights, in the context of his employment as an officer of the Government.

In light of the above, I shall very much look forward to hearing from you at your very earliest convenience.

Given the references at 2 and 3 above, I am copying His Excellency the Governor and the Chief Minister into this correspondence.

CAINE SANCHEZ – Conspiracy to defraud and Misconduct in Public Office

Relationship between Sanchez and other persons involved

1. Although a public officer, Sanchez sought to get involved in private business ventures with another person. This is evident through the numerous WhatsApp messages Sanchez and that other person exchanged. An example is trading in cryptocurrency. These exchanges Show, by way of background, the relationship between them. These actions were likely contrary to Government General Orders.

2. There are other communications with other persons which also disclose the nature and impropriety of certain relationships which ties into the conspiracy charge.

Assistance to 36 North - Sanchez

3. During the course of 2018 Sanchez abused his position as a public official, and Government lead for the NSCIS platform, to actively assist 36 North in acquiring the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, for the benefit of 36 North and to the detriment of Bland. This is evidence by various email and whatsapp communications.

4. Despite his role as a government official, and a duty to remain impartial, Sanchez was actively involved with 36 North. This is evidence by various communications.

5. Sanchez wrote to the Chief Minster seeking to persuade him to transfer the NSCIS platform to 36 North.

6. Sanchez was asked by the Chief Minister to maintain confidential information, and not to disclose it to another person. He was subsequently alleged to have breached confidentiality. In an email to the Chief Minister he denied having leaked information stating. In the same email he urged the Chief Minister to make a decision on the platforms. Sanchez subsequently wrote to that other person to advise that he should deny he had been spoken to if asked by the CM.

7. There are email and whatsapp communications which indicate Sanchez was involved in attempts to undermine Blands ability to service the NCIS platform

8. By the 10th October 2018, Sanchez was aware of the instruction that Bland alone should maintain the NSCIS security platform and that neither another specified person nor 36 North were to access the system. Sanchez deliberately sought to undermine the ability of Bland to maintain the national security system, for the commercial / financial benefit of 36 North, and in doing so knew, suspected or was reckless as to whether national security of Gibraltar would be compromised. On the same date, another person wrote to Sanchez and pointed out a way to further reduce the capability of Bland to maintain the system. Sanchez acted upon this suggestion.

9. Despite having been informed, on the 4th October, that another person was no longer to access the NSCIS platform, failed to act when that other person was clearly accessing the system on the 11th October 2018.

10. In contravention of the Official Secrets Act, Sanchez continued to discuss the NSCIS Platform with another person. These actions were, arguably, contrary to Government General Orders.

The NSCIS Report

11. In around February or March 2019, Albert Mena, the Financial Secretary for HMGoG, was advised that Sanchez had been withholding payments to Bland for a period of approximately six months. Mena described this decision as "unusual." The matter was discussed with Sanchez who advised it was on the basis of a decline in the performance of the services provided by Bland. In a meeting with Sanchez, Mena explained that it was not acceptable to withhold the entirety of the service fee and that a reduced payment of £50,000 [from £66,000] would be fair in the circumstances. Despite having previously withdrawn payment, Sanchez agreed with this figure.

12. Mena subsequently informed Sanchez that he intended to carry out an independent assessment of the NSCIS platform. It was made clear to Sanchez that Mena intended to appoint one of the large accounting firms in order to obtain an unbiased report.

13. On the 9th April 2019, Sanchez requested the assistance of another person (that person having a clear and competing commercial interest) in assessing the NSCIS platform. In doing so, he contravened the planned approach that had been made clear to him by Mena. Between the 9th April 2019 and 11th April 2019 (inclusive) Sanchez provided his own personal NSICS credentials to that other person for the purpose of accessing the NSCIS platform. This was in contravention of his statutory obligation under the Official Secrets Act 1911. This was also in contravention of the HMGoG ITLD Interim Guide to Security and the Government of Gibraltar Information Technology Security Policy which prohibit the disclosure of personal passwords and the sharing of accounts.

14. The access to the NSCIS platform was also in contravention of the instructions given to Sanchez from the Chief Minister on the 4th October 2018.

15. Between 2216 hours on the 11th April 2019 and 0013 hours on the 12th April 2019 another person accessed the NSCIS platform using the credentials of Sanchez. That other person inspected 36 NSCIS modules including vehicle searches, vehicle suspicious activity, APIS air passenger search, APIS air suspicious activity, passport checks, Interpol, person searches and wanted lists. This information was relevant to national security. The disclosure of this information, and the subsequent access to the NSCIS platform, were given by Sanchez to that other person, with knowledge of the fact that that other person:

a. Wanted to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract and was therefore unable to provide an independent assessment;

b. May have deleted a total of 44 libraries from the NSCIS source code prior to handing it over to Bland on the 6th September 2018; and

c. Was concerned that Bland had "instructed a professional forensic team of six to look into any wrong doing" that may have been carried out by that other person.

16. On the 12th April 2019, and in knowledge of the fact that he should not have been accessing the NSICS platform, the other person advised Sanchez that if he was asked about it he should say that the tests were carried out by himself at home on the evening of the 11/04/2019 and 12/04/2019, which Sanchez agreed to

17. On the 14th April 2019, that other person sent Sanchez a review of the NSCIS platform. Upon sending the document, and in knowledge of the fact that he should not have been accessing the system, that other person advised Sanchez to copy the review to a new blank word file, to which Sanchez agreed. On the 16th April 2019 Sanchez sent an email to Mena in which he stated, "As per our last conversation I performed a full review of the system going module by module. The review was carried out between the 11th and 12th April. [redacted]" Attached to the email was a copy of the report compiled by the other person.

18. In a subsequent email Mena wrote, "This is NOT how I wanted this to be carried out, and frankly given your history puts you precisely where I would not put myself. You should NOT have carried out these test [sic] albeit they need to be carried out." In reply Sanchez stated that these were functions to which he already had access but dishonestly failed to disclose that the test was carried out by another person who should not have had access. Cornelio. Mena further responded, "That's not the point. We agreed to do this in a coordinated manner …" He finished his email, "In addition your results (which are concerning) are completely at odds with the reports we (Peter, Javier and I) have received back from the services …"

6 November 2020

Dear Christian

Our client: the Chief Secretary of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ('HMGoG')

I hope that you are keeping well and safe.

Please note that the Chief Secretary has instructed Isolas LLP to reply to the Commissioner's letter to him of 29 September 2020 (the 'Letter') as follows hereunder.

In accordance with the Commissioner's request in his Letter, I have been instructed to direct my reply to you in your capacity as Director of Public Prosecutions. Kindly note that I write this letter further to the Chief Secretary's letter to the Commissioner of 14 August 2020.

I think that it is important to note, at the outset, that the Chief Secretary writes to you in an attempt to narrow the issues that arise from the correspondence to date and to clarify the Chief Secretary's position on the various relevant matters. Whereas I am certain that it need not be said, this letter is written in good faith and with the primary purpose of addressing any confusion between my client and the Commissioner. Kindly note that the contents herein are not, therefore, meant in any disrespectful manner. I am also certain that both the Commissioner and my client agree that it is of the utmost importance that any ambiguity and misunderstanding should be elucidated as soon as is reasonably practicable.

Complaint by HMGoG

On bearing the above comments in mind, I start by noting that the Commissioner states at paragraph 2 of the Letter 'that our understanding concurs with your own as expressed in your [the Chief Secretary's] letter to me [the Commissioner] on the 14th August. Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar's [HMGoG] complaint was made verbally at a meeting at No 6 Convent Place, on the 13th May … [and] during this meeting it was made clear that HMGoG wished to be considered a complainant.' For the reasons that now follow, my client finds this statement confusing.

In the Commissioner's email to the Chief Secretary of 13 July 2020 at 17:14 (the 'Email'), written approximately 2 months before the Letter, the Commissioner disputes that HMGoG 'had already filed a complaint.' The Commissioner's Email continues: '[t]his unfortunately is not the case and in actual fact we were advised in writing last week … that even [the suspects] were aware that no complaint had been made against them [my underlining]. Unfortunately, there is nothing in any of the statements provided which … makes an official complaint in respect of the computer misuse and related offences which the evidence suggests may have been committed.' The Email continues: '[w]ithout a formal complaint by HMGoG, as purported owners [of the NSCIS system], this may significantly impact the ability of the police to prosecute this important matter.' The foregoing statements suggest that the Commissioner was unaware of the verbal complaint made by HMGoG on 13 May 2019 and/or that he did not consider that a verbal complaint could amount to an official complaint and that HMGoG was required to make such a complaint in writing to constitute an official complaint.

As a result of the Commissioner's Email, my client replies by way of a letter of 14 August 2020 wherein he states, inter alia, that his 'understanding is that … the Chief Minister had … indicated to the Royal Gibraltar Police [('RGP')] the Government's status as complainant, and that nothing further was needed.' The letter continues: 'let me state on behalf of Government that it is willing to be a formal complainant in this matter if it has not been considered so up until this point.'

The Commissioner's Email, therefore, directly contradicts the Letter where the Commissioner states that HMGoG's 'complaint was made verbally at a meeting at No 6 Convent Place, on 13th May 2019…'. To the contrary, in his Email, the Commissioner categorically refutes my client's statement that HMGoG had already made a complaint. For the purposes of clarifying my client's position, it is immaterial whether the Commissioner is right or wrong as to whether a verbal complaint constitutes an official complaint or otherwise; the point here is not about the validity of such a view but, rather, to impress on the Commissioner that as far as the RGP was concerned, HMGoG was not a complainant on 13 July 2020 contrary to his assertion in his subsequent Letter.

Further, the Commissioner in his Letter quotes my client in his letter of 25 September 2020 as saying that 'the public statement from the RGP suggests that the Government's complaint/s predate my [the Chief Secretary's] communication to you [the Commissioner] on the 14th August 2020.' The Commissioner continues that: '[t]his is in fact our understanding of the sequence of events as articulated above. For this reason, we consider the press release to be accurate.' With the greatest respect to the Commissioner, this cannot have been his understanding of the sequence of events by virtue of the Commissioner's Email to my client whereby he categorically denies that HMGoG was a complainant and expressly requests that HMGoG files a complaint. Even if the Commissioner were not to agree with the Chief Secretary's understanding of the sequence of events, the Commissioner must, at a minimum, accept that it is entirely reasonable for the Chief Secretary to have been confused by the statements in his Email. The Chief Secretary's reply of 14 August to the Commissioner's Email is evidence of the Chief Secretary's understanding of the position.

Further still, the RGP's Press Release (66/20) of 15 September 2020 (the 'Press Release') provides that the charge 'relates to conduct in 2018 and 2019, which resulted in a criminal complaint made by … [HMGoG] which led to a long … investigation …'. For the same reasons as set out above, namely, that the Commissioner categorically denied the existence of a complaint on 13 July 2020, the 'long' investigation cannot have resulted from a complaint by HMGoG in 2019. By virtue of the Commissioner's own Email, the Press Release is, in fact, not accurate because as far as the RGP was concerned, HMGoG was not a complainant in 2019.

Request for the evidence as it relates to Mr Caine Sanchez's ('CS') case

Notwithstanding all of the above, and as the RGP will confirm, my client has at all material times endeavoured to assist the RGP. The chronology of events set out above is to achieve clarity and to correct the matters in the Commissioner's Letter with which my client does not agree. I am sure that we concur that establishing facts is an important end in itself.

The reason, however, that my client has seen fit to detail above the chronology of events is in order to provide the context in which he has sought in his letter to the Commissioner of 25 September 'the details of the facts alleged against CS, the key aspects of how the RGP alleges that the said offence is made out and any documentary evidence in support of the charge/s which stand in … the name of the Government as complainant against him.' The letter continues by setting out the principal reasons why this information is sought by my client; namely, inter alia, and in brief so as not to repeat the same matters in full:

(a) to carefully consider the evidence and determine, with the benefit of careful consideration of the evidence, and in slower time whether HMGoG should continue to be a complainant; and

(b) to ask the Council of Ministers to ratify his decision for HMGoG to be a complainant in this matter; equally, with the benefit of having had the opportunity to carefully consider the evidence.

Before adding to points (a) and (b) above, I turn to note that it is unclear why the Commissioner should state in his Letter that 'it is unprecedented for such a request to be made by a complainant, let alone for the purpose of deciding whether to provide a (further) statement 'formalising' a complaint.' This statement raises various issues as follows:

1. my client does not express any view as to whether his request is unprecedented although he does express his surprise as to the Commissioner's response that it would be inappropriate to accede to his request. This is because the Commissioner continues in his Letter to state that: 'in addition to the briefing previously mentioned on 13th May 2019 … the former Commissioner of Police and the other senior officers briefed you as to Mr Sanchez's alleged misconduct on 30th April 2020.' It follows that if the RGP was willing to provide such briefings on the evidence, there should, similarly, be no difficulty in providing HMGoG with the information and documentation requested. Indeed, the former Commissioner by way of letter of 14 April 2020 wrote to my client that: '[g]iven the extent of [CS'] apparent criminality I would be happy to meet with you and outline the evidence against him [my underlining]. This may assist should there be a need to the issue of interdiction.' All the foregoing necessarily evidences that the RGP must have deemed – at all material times – that it was legally permissible, and indeed proper, to share the evidence with my client as the Chief Secretary of HMGoG and in his capacity as complainant and as CS's employer. The corollary is unthinkable, which is that the RGP shared evidence with the Chief Secretary having deemed such a course of action as unlawful and/or improper. Obviously, this cannot have been the case. This elicits the question as to why the RGP is no longer willing to furnish the Chief Secretary with the information that he seeks in his previously-cited capacities and which the RGP had no difficulty in sharing until now. As a result, the Commissioner's use of various adjectives in his Letter, such as 'unprecedented', not 'appropriate', and not 'proper' to describe my client's request for the disclosure of such evidence is, with the greatest respect to the Commissioner, incomprehensible in circumstances where the RGP had previously seen fit to brief the Chief Secretary on the evidence; and

2. further, please note that at no point in the Chief Secretary's letter of 25 September to the Commissioner does he say that the request for evidence is to decide whether to provide a further statement. This assertion is also, therefore, incorrect.

Basis for the request of information

On returning to, and repeating, points (a) and (b) above, the Chief Secretary further adds in his letter to the Commissioner of 25 September that 'he wants to ensure that the Government acts and has acted entirely properly in the manner in which we make decisions/continue to be a complainant.'

Whilst I hasten to add that the reasons that the Chief Secretary advances are perfectly clear, from a legal perspective, the Chief Secretary has a duty to brief the Council of Ministers as to why HMGoG should continue to be a complainant in this case. That the Chief Secretary should require sight of the evidence is, therefore, a natural request in seeking to understand the evidentiary position. Moreover, the Chief Secretary has at all material times agreed that HMGoG should be a complainant, primarily, but also solely and exclusively, on the basis of the RGP's various assurances and evidence briefings. My client now wishes for the opportunity to consider the evidence in slower time in order to consider the position and brief the Council of Ministers.

Again, and with due and sincere respect, the Commissioner should not conflate the Chief Secretary's willingness to agree for HMGoG to be a complainant on the basis of the evidence briefs and assurances, on the one hand, with a waiver of his right to carefully consider the evidence in slower time and satisfy himself of the various matters communicated to him by the RGP in the various briefings, on the other. From a legal standpoint, it is hard to understand the Commissioner's difficulty in sharing relevant information with my client to allow him to form a view.

The Commissioner in his Letter notes that 'regardless of any complaint or otherwise from HMGoG, the position as it stands is that Mr Sanchez has already been charged and the matter will process unless the DPP or AG is of the view that it is not in the public interest to proceed …'. To be clear, and for the avoidance of any doubt whatsoever, please note that the Chief Secretary has never suggested otherwise and that it is clear to my client that whether or not the prosecution proceeds is a matter entirely for the DPP and the AG.

It must be noted, however, that it was the Commissioner who stated to the Chief Secretary in his Email that the absence of a formal complaint by HMGoG could prejudice the criminal prosecution of the case against CS. It is as a direct result of this statement, and various other statements by the RGP, that my client, as the Chief Secretary of HMGoG, has always endeavoured to assist the RGP in this matter. The Chief Secretary's fulsome support of the RGP in its endeavours, not least in preparing three witness statements and always in reliance of the RGP's various assurances that they had a sound legal case against CS, is beyond question or reproach. Indeed, the Commissioner in his Email thanks the Chief Secretary for his 'continued assistance to the [RGP] team.' As a result, if the Chief Secretary has properly understood the tone of the Commissioner's letter to him, this is to be deprecated and regretted.

In view of all of the above, and in any case, especially for the Chief Secretary to discharge his duty to ensure that HMGoG should remain a complainant in this matter, please note that the Chief Secretary hereby repeats his request for the relevant information and documentation in the terms of his letter to the Commissioner of 25 September.

Clarification Request

Please note that, on behalf of my client, I seek to understand exactly what the Commissioner meant in his Letter when he noted his 'concern regarding [my client] seeking the views of Mr Sanchez in relation to this matter. Any communication with, including any response to the allegations made against Mr Sanchez are likely to be relevant to the investigation and therefore disclosable. This may lead to other lines of inquiry that the investigating team would need to consider.'

Whilst awaiting to hear from the Commissioner as to exactly what is meant in the last paragraph, in particular, the last sentence, various issues, once again, arise, as follows:

1. in his letter to the Commissioner of 25 September 2020, the Chief Secretary notes that he 'must also ensure that Mr Sanchez is dealt with properly, in keeping with General Orders and all his other rights, in the context of his employment as an officer of the Government.' As you will no doubt be aware from General Order 7.3.9(iii), the Chief Secretary has the right, arguably the duty as a responsible employer, to carry out his own disciplinary enquiries so long as they do not encroach or impede the RGP's investigations; and

2. moreover still, it is sincerely hoped that the Commissioner was not, in his Letter, implying any form of irregularity in the Chief Secretary undertaking disciplinary enquiries from CS as a civil servant, and as relates to the question of CS's interdiction, as to the circumstances of his arrest. (I reiterate that disciplinary enquiries are distinct and separate from the formal disciplinary proceedings under General Orders.) Surely, the Commissioner fully appreciates the needs of employers, at all times, to properly consider all relevant matters when considering interdiction in accordance with employment law and General Orders. In Ali v Sovereign Buses (London) Ltd UKEAT/0274/06, the court indicated that where the employer only learns of a problem when the police advise that they are bringing charges against an employee, the employer should still undertake an investigation. Further still, I think that it is important to remember that the former Commissioner by way of letter of 14 April 2020 wrote to my client that: '[g]iven the extent of [CS'] apparent criminality I would be happy to meet with you and outline the evidence against him. This may assist should there be a need to the issue of interdiction [my underlining]. Put differently, the RGP has already accepted the existence of a direct link between the consideration of the evidence and the question of interdiction so that there should be no surprise by the same body that the Chief Secretary should require a slower and fuller examination of the evidence to assess the appropriateness of interdiction. Similarly, my client notes in his letter of 25 September that he will refer the results of his disciplinary enquiries to His Excellency the Governor so that that he 'can confirm, or otherwise determine, the reinstatement of the interdiction of Mr Sanchez also with the benefit of the same careful consideration of the evidence available at this stage.' If the former Commissioner of the RGP can meet with the Chief Secretary to brief him on evidence that forms part of a criminal investigation in respect of a civil servant and in connection with an issue that falls exclusively and solely within the Chief Secretary's purview, namely discipline, there should be no surprise that the Chief Secretary would wish to pursue whatever disciplinary enquiries may be appropriate to discharge his duties towards CS as his employer. This is provided, of course, that his investigations in no way prejudice the criminal investigations and proceedings.

I very much look forward to hearing from you in respect of the above.

With kind regards

Yours sincerely

10 November 2020

Dear Neil

RE: YOUR CLIENT: THE CHIEF SECRETARY OF HER MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT OF GIBRALTAR ("HMGoG")

Thank you for your letter dated 6th November 2020, the contents of which are noted and which I have shared with the Commissioner of Police.

At the outset I would point out that I somewhat surprised that you have accepted instructions in this matter in light of the fact the you attended a very important meeting related to the investigation in your capacity and the then Minister for Justice held on 13th May 2019. This is of course a matter for you but it would be amiss of me not to highlight this important fact at this juncture.

I set out below my response to the maters raised in your letter:

Complaint by HMGoG

With respect, you are conflating matters somewhat. There is no doubt that HMGoG was and is a complainant in this matter as is quite clearly set out in the Commissioner of Police's ("COP") letter dated 29th September. The fact that this is the case is, inter alia, evident in that HMGoG is cited as a complainant in the applications for various search warrants obtained by the RGP. Indeed, as the COP points out in his letter, a verbal complaint was received from HMGoG on 13th May 2019 at a meeting held on that day ("the Meeting"). The lead RGP officer involved in investigating these matters was present at the Meeting and the COP was aware at all times of the outcome of the Meeting. It would be absurd for the RGP to cite HMGoG as a complainant in search warrants if it were not of the view that such a complaint had been made.

The Chief Secretary ("CS") had made the position quite clear in his letter to the COP dated 14th August 2020. It is evident that the CS had understood the RGP's desire to record the complaint in a witness statement and acknowledges that his understanding was that HMGoG had been considered a complainant as a result of the discussions had at the Meeting. It is worth noting that the CS himself refers to the search warrants and refers to HMGoG being cited as a complainant.

Office of Criminal Prosecutions & Litigation
t +350 20078882 e info.ocpl@gibraltar.gov.gi w gibraltar.gov.gi

I am informed by the RGP that various conversations were had with the CS explaining their desire to formally record the complaint in a WS from the CS, particularly in relation to the ownership of the NCIS platform and hence the computer misuse offences that flow. It is from those conversations that the COP's email of 13th July flows. Be that as it may, I would highlight once again that there is no need for a formal WS in this regard nor indeed is there a need to have any complainant at all.

I would respectfully suggest that you re-read the COP's e-mail dated 13th July 2020. He does not categorically deny the existence of a complaint; far from it. He recited the statements that the CS and others have provided and points out the desire to have a 'formal' complaint in relation to the computer misuse offences i.e. platform ownership.

The CS in his response dated 14th August 2020 confirms that the COP's e mail of 13th July is in relation to the making of a "formal complaint....regarding the...(NSCIS)." The CS further explains in the 3rd paragraph that his understanding was that HMGoG was cited as a complainant by reference to the search warrants stemming from the CM's indications at the Meeting held and ends "...if greater or different formality is needed in order for the Government to be considered an official complainant, please do let me know."

What comes as somewhat of a surprise is his letter, which follows on 25th September 2020. I shall return to this letter shortly.

Given the above and the comments made by the CS himself in the correspondence, it is very surprising that you should suggest that the COP's press release is not accurate. Clearly, all parties were of the view that HMGoG was a complainant as from the date of the Meeting, namely 13th May 2019. Any suggestion otherwise is, with respect, a nonsense.

Request for evidence as it relates to Mr Caine Sanchez

The position as set out in COP's letter remains unchanged and the information requested will not be provided to a non-party. I would point out that the process of disclosure in the criminal proceedings has not yet commenced let alone concluded and thus not even Mr Sanchez has received the documentary evidence held by the RGP. With all due respect, you fail to recognise the enormous distinction between an informal briefing/outline of the investigation to an employer and a party impacted by the alleged criminality, which was provided by the RGP and the provision to a non-party of "...documentary evidence in support of the charge/s." (as requested by CS in his letter dated 25th September). The provision of such evidence to the CS could amount to a breach of the duty of confidence owed to, for example, Mr Sanchez himself or other parties.

I am sure that on consideration you will now appreciate the distinction and assist you in comprehending the choice of language used by the COP in his letter.

For the avoidance of any doubt, let me make it clear that the RGP have not shared any evidence with the CS.

Basis for the request of information

The matters raised are matters for the CS and not for the RGP. The facts are that the RGP, in consultation with my offices, have concluded that there was sufficient evidence to lay the charges against, inter alia, Mr Sanchez. Evidently, this involved a detailed analysis of all of the evidence and the representations received from Counsel for the Defendants.

To suggest that the CS "...requires sight of the evidence...in seeking to understand the evidentiary position" does not, for the reasons set out in this letter, bear analysis. The Crown is, at this juncture, legally unable to make available to, or share with the CS, or indeed any person other than the Defendants, the evidence it has acquired for the purpose of the investigation.

Clarification request

Most of the matters raised within this heading have been dealt with above.

For the avoidance of any doubt, no suggestion of irregularity was raised by the COP in his letter. The COP rightly pointed out that this was now an ongoing criminal matter and that care needed to be taken regarding any communications that took place between the CS and Mr Sanchez. For example, any new matters that might be raised by Mr Sanchez in such exchanges that might provide a defence in such communications would need to be considered and possibly further investigated. Indeed, in your final sentence you recognise that the CS should be alert to not prejudice the criminal investigations and proceedings. This is precisely what the COP was highlighting and is precisely why in cases such as this, disciplinary matters are usually held in abeyance pending a resolution of the criminal matter.

Interdiction or otherwise

In light of your letter, it would seem evident that Mr Sanchez is not currently interdicted contrary to what the RGP had been led to believe and what had been understood by the COP.

Whilst of course these are not matters for the COP, this would be extremely surprising in light of the seriousness of the charges facing Mr Sanchez and the fact that both the RGP and this office have, after a thorough and careful review of the evidence, considered the charging test to have been surpassed. Please confirm the position as your letter seems to suggest that at some stage Mr Sanchez was interdicted but that that interdiction was lifted for some reason:

"...there should be no surprise....that the CS should require a slower and fuller examination of the evidence to assess the appropriateness of interdiction...he will refer the results of his disciplinary enquiries to HE the Governor so that he can 'confirm, or otherwise determine, the reinstatement of the interdiction of Mr Sanchez'..."

Furthermore, on the assumption that your letter reflects the position accurately, I have no doubt that the RGP will shortly be in touch seeking any documentation and communications held in relation to the interdiction and/or lifting/reinstatement of the interdiction. It is likely that the RGP will require a further witness statement from the CS on this point. This is an issue that will be very relevant to the criminal proceedings and how the matter is subsequently presented at trial by the Crown.

Finally, I would echo the COP's request for clarification on HMGoG's desire to continue as a complainant in this matter. Our understanding is that HMGoG is and remains a complainant as ultimately set out in the CS's letter dated 14th August and confirmed in your letter of 6th instance. However, if this position has changed or were to change in the future for any reason I would be grateful if you would advise soonest so that we may consider any impact on the ongoing proceedings against any or all of the Defendants.

Yours sincerely

Dear Christian

Our client: the Chief Secretary of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ('HMGoG')

Thank you for your letter of 10 November 2020 (the 'Response') and for noting that you had shared my letter with the Commissioner of Police (the 'COP'). Please note that my client has instructed me as follows hereunder:

The Complaint by HMGoG

I think that it is quite clear from your Response that the Commissioner disagrees with the Chief Secretary's understanding of the various events and matters that I set out in my letter to you of 6 November 2020 (the 'Letter') and arising from the Commissioner's email of 13 July 2020 (the 'Email'). My client and the Commissioner will have to agree to understand events differently, namely that whereas the Chief Secretary had, for all of the reasons that you state in your Response, and other reasons, always understood that HMGoG was a complainant, my client's understanding of the Email was that the Commissioner himself had not considered that to be the case. If the Commissioner had understood that HMGoG was a complainant by way of a verbal complaint on 13 May 2019, his request for a 'formal' or an 'official' complaint makes, with respect, no sense whatsoever. Surely, the verbal complaint was a formal or an official complaint. In fact, in your Response you state that '[i]t would be absurd for the RGP to cite HMGoG as a complainant in search warrants if it were not of the view that such a complaint had been made.' The Chief Secretary could not agree more with this statement, which is why the Commissioner's request for a 'formal' or 'official' complaint in his Email is inexplicable.

For the avoidance of any doubt, and to reiterate, it is not that my client is asserting that HMGoG was not a complainant or that the Royal Gibraltar Police ('RGP') issued warrants without being satisfied that HMGoG was a complainant, it is that the Commissioner's Email indicates his view that, absent a 'formal' or an 'official' complaint, HMGoG was not a complainant. His Email, again with respect, cannot be understood in any other way. It is as a result of the Email that my client reverts to express his surprise by way of his letter to the Commissioner of 14 August and to repeat his understanding that HMGoG was a complainant. It is to be noted that the Commissioner did not reply to this letter.

As I noted in my Letter, even if the Commissioner rejects my client's understanding of his Email, any objective reading of the Email certainly leads, at a minimum, to the conclusion that the Email is confusing and, more likely than not, evidences that the Commissioner did not think that HMGoG was a complainant. It is disappointing that the Commissioner has not, at the very least, agreed that the request in his Email for a 'formal' or an 'official' complaint is confusing given all the matters previous rehearsed, not least the existence of the warrants in the name of HMGoG. In any case, there is clearly no merit, as I have noted above, in taking this point further as the correspondence exchanged between us reflects that the Chief Secretary and the Commissioner are not going to agree on their respective interpretations of the Commissioner's Email. As a result, and for the record, my client's position remains the same as that explained in my Letter.

Further, as I noted in my Letter, the Chief Secretary's understanding is set out in writing in order to explain his answers to the Commissioner's Letter of 25 September for the record and for no other reason.

Whether HMGoG will remain as a complainant

In any event, and regrettably, your Response to the Chief Secretary's entirely proper and reasonable request for relevant information and documentation relating to the charges against Caine Sanchez ('CS') has left the Chief Secretary in a difficult position in respect of his inability to carefully consider the evidence so as to determine whether HMGoG should continue to be a complainant. Without wishing to restate my client's position, the Chief Secretary seeks to brief the Council of Ministers as to whether HMGoG should remain a complainant in respect of the charges brought against CS with the benefit of a fuller brief of the evidence. Given that the Chief Secretary had been briefed on various occasions on the evidence against CS, it is incomprehensible that the Commissioner is refusing to provide my client with, at a minimum, a summary of the information on which he has already been briefed.

With respect, your reference to the 'enormous distinction between an informal briefing/outline of the investigation…and the provisions to a non-party of "…documentary evidence in support of the charge/s"' lacks a rational premise. Any previous briefing on this matter to the Chief Secretary would have necessarily involved an explanation of the evidence – indeed, the briefings could not have been based on anything else – so, refusing to provide the Chief Secretary with the information on which he has already been briefed does not, to borrow your expression, bear analysis. Further still, and as I noted in my Letter to you, the former Commissioner of Police wrote to my client to note that: [g]iven the extent of [CS'] criminality I would be happy to meet with you and outline the evidence against him [my underlining].' To repeat, my client now seeks to consider the evidentiary position in slower time to be able to properly advise HMGoG.

Although the legitimacy and rationale of the Chief Secretary's request for information relating to the charges against CS is patently clear, I draw your attention to the UK position where it has been established that there is no presumption against the disclosure of information by the police when there is a public interest reason for doing so (R (on the application of L) (FC) (Appellant) v Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis [2009] UKSC 3). It is, therefore, surprising to the Chief Secretary that the RGP should have at one point considered that there was a public interest for disclosing the relevant information to my client by way of the various evidentiary briefings, and that those briefings were entirely proper in the circumstances, but now consider that providing my client with the information relating to those same briefings is not appropriate. With respect, your arguments that seek to draw a distinction between an evidentiary briefing and evidence remind me of dancing on the head of a pin; I think that enough has been said on this point.

On having said all of the foregoing, the Chief Secretary fully accepts that the question of what information to disclose to a non-party in the circumstances, if any, is a matter entirely for you. Similarly, it is a matter for him to decide how he will advise the Council of Ministers as to whether or not HMGoG should continue to be a complainant in circumstances where he is not even afforded a summary of the evidentiary briefings previously provided.

Disciplinary enquiries

In the same vein, and as you know, the Chief Secretary has a duty to consider all relevant matters when assessing the appropriateness of interdiction in accordance with Gibraltar's employment law and General Orders. Given the RGP's sudden change in attitude in refusing to provide to my client the information requested – or even a summary of the briefings provided to him to date - it really does not lie in the mouth of the RGP to say whether interdiction should or should not take place or what is or is not 'surprising in the circumstances'. Highly regrettably, and due to the refusal to provide the Chief Secretary with any further information or a written summary of what has already been provided, my client will inevitably have to determine the issue based on the material that is available to him and, ultimately, without the benefit of all the relevant information. As a result, my client will continue to discharge his responsibilities as the employer of CS in accordance with General Orders, general employment law, and relevant employment guidance documents.

Clarification request

The Chief Secretary is relieved to read that there is no suggestion from the Commissioner of any impropriety as to the Chief Secretary; my client extends his gratitude for the clarification. The Chief Secretary accepts that care needs to be taken regarding any communications that take place between the Chief Secretary and CS and that any disciplinary enquiries that the Chief Secretary undertakes must at all times comply with General Orders, general employment law, and relevant employment guidance documents.

Conflict of interest

Separately, in your Response you express surprise in my having accepted instructions in this matter. You explain that this is because on 13 May 2019, I attended 'a very important meeting related to the investigation' (the 'Meeting') in my capacity as the then Minister for Justice. With respect, it is somewhat irrational that you should raise a potential conflict of interest in relation to my attendance at a meeting where you were also present. Given that the RGP does not instruct you and is not your client, you could, similarly, be called to testify as to the events in that meeting. It is self-evidently the case that you have not deemed yourself conflicted in prosecuting this case by having attended that meeting. In the circumstances, even if there was a conflict, which for the reasons that I set out below there is not, then, clearly, and undoubtedly, you too would be conflicted.

In addition to the foregoing, the reference to a potential conflict in your Letter is, with respect, entirely misconceived. I take the opportunity of referring you to the UK Bar Standards Board Code of Conduct (the 'BSB Code'), which, as you know, is applicable in Gibraltar by virtue of section 33(2) of the Supreme Court Act.

Kindly note that Conduct Rule 21.2 of the BSB Code provides, inter alia, the following:

'You must not accept instructions to act in a particular matter if … there is a conflict of interest, or real risk of conflict of interest, between your own personal interests and the interests of the prospective client in respect of the particular matter…'.

If I understand from your Response that you are indicating that there could be a risk of a conflict between my personal interests and the interests of the Chief Secretary, the question that arises is the point at which my personal interests could conflict with the Chief Secretary's interests in: (a) representing him to seek the relevant information from you as the Director of Public Prosecutions, and the laws relating to such a request, for my client to determine whether HMGoG should continue to be a complainant; and (b) advising him as to his obligations as CS's employer. If one were to apply one's mind to this question, the only possible conclusion is that there is no point in time in which my personal interests could ever conflict with the Chief Secretary's interests in carrying out my instructions due to my attendance at the Meeting. Put differently, there is no impediment whatsoever in being able to fulfil my obligations to act in the Chief Secretary's best interests.

Further still, as you yourself note at page 2 of your Response, the Chief Secretary is a 'non-party' to the criminal proceedings and my advice, therefore, does not extend to representation at trial of the Chief Secretary but, rather, the two discrete matters set out above. Once again, therefore, it is impossible for my personal interests to conflict with that of the Chief Secretary's.

Moreover, in circumstances where the Chief Secretary is, and has always been, fully aware that I had attended the Meeting in my capacity as the then Minister for Justice, and in circumstances where the Chief Secretary has expressly provided his consent for me to represent him in this matter notwithstanding my presence at the Meeting, there can be no question of a conflict of interest.

Further still, and without wishing to belabour the point, Guidance Rule 73 of the BSB Code provides as follows:

'Rule rC21.10 is an aspect of your broader obligation to maintain your independence (CD4). Your ability to perform your duty to the court (CD1) and act in the best interests of your client (CD2) may be put at risk if you act in circumstances where your independence is compromised. Examples of when you may not be able to maintain your independence include appearing as an advocate in a matter in which you are likely to be called as a witness (unless the matter on which you are likely to be called as a witness is peripheral or minor in the context of the litigation as a whole and is unlikely to lead to your involvement in the matter being challenged at a later date). However, if you are planning to withdraw from a case because it appears that you are likely to be a witness on a material question of fact, you should only withdraw if you can do so without jeopardising the client's interests.'

In the light of the above, therefore, even in the event that I am called as a witness by you or the defence:

(a) I am not appearing as an advocate in the criminal case and, therefore, Guidance Rule 73 is inapplicable; and

(b) even if I were to be incorrect as to the inapplicability of Guidance Rule 73 that evidently applies to representation in court as an advocate, any and all matters that I would be asked to speak about in court will not have any bearing whatsoever on my ability to perform my duty to the court and act in the best interests of the Chief Secretary; there is not a single impediment in maintaining my independence. Again, therefore, there can be no question of any contradiction between the matters I could be asked to attest in evidence and the interests of my client.

In any case, and for the avoidance of any doubt whatsoever, there is nothing in my having attended the Meeting that could in any way prejudice my ability to perform my duty to the court if called to give evidence nor to fulfil my obligation to act in the best interests of the Chief Secretary. I will always speak the truth and my representation of the Chief Secretary's interests will always remain fearless within the bounds of the law and my professional obligations.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, as you correctly state at page 1 of your Response, whether or not there could be a potential risk of conflict is a matter for my client and I. Frankly, given the perfectly fair and good faith reasons that led my client to write to the Commissioner, namely, to clear any confusion, to be able to advise HMGoG whether to remain a complainant, and to endeavour to explain his obligations as employer to CS, it is extremely disappointing that a potential risk of conflict has been raised, which, for all of the reasons set out above, not even the risk of a conflict arises let alone an actual conflict.

Conclusion

Kindly note that unless the RGP is willing to change its position to provide the Chief Secretary with the requested information or, at the very least, a written summary of the information that has already been provided to the Chief Secretary by virtue of the evidentiary briefings, the Chief Secretary will not entertain any further correspondence on this subject. If the position remains unchanged, there is clearly very little point in any further exchanges. As a result, the Chief Secretary will proceed to advise the Council of Ministers on the basis of the information that is available to him. Similarly, he will proceed on disciplinary matters in accordance with General Orders and Gibraltar's employment law.

Should you revisit your decision and accede to the Chief Secretary's request to provide the further information that he requested in his letter of 25 September 2020, or furnish him with the degree of information and/or documentation that has already been provided to him, I would be grateful to hear from you.

With kind regards

Yours sincerely

Dear Chris,

Following our collective discussions we have put together some thoughts that you may wish to consider and add:

1. Complaint by HMGoG – The matter around the 'formal complaint' continues to be convoluted by NC and the CS and I would add at the end of you last sentence…which the CS in my view appears to have understood in his reply to the Commissioner in his letter on the 14th of August 2020, when he states…'Be that as it may, let me state on behalf of the Government that it is willing to be a formal complainant in this matter if it has not been considered so up until this point.'

2. Whether HMGoG will remain as complainant -
   a. We do not agree that the COP has refused to provide to the evidence requested. The DPP has conduct of the matter post-charge and has refused to disclose any evidence at THIS stage. This in our view should be made clear.
   b. In our view the disclosure of the Summary of Evidence (already provided to the defendants) to the Chief Secretary would not appear to compromise any proceedings, however the OCPL has formed the view that it is not appropriate and that is worth noting that the decision is his. That said the assertion the COP is refusing to provide the evidence is incorrect and needs addressing.
   c. In our experience we have never encountered a situation where the Chief Secretary has had to provide evidence to the Council of Ministers in order to determine whether HMGoG will make a formal complaint. There are many instances to the contrary where we have acted on complaints made on behalf of the Government that to our knowledge have never necessitated a referral to the Council of Ministers. It may we worth considering whether this to be the case in the future? It was for this reason that we referred the matter to the Chief Secretary and if the position now is that we needs the consent of the council of Ministers in order to make a complaint then it suggests that we should have approached them direct rather than through an intermediary.

3. Disciplinary Enquiries with regards to the 'RGP's sudden change in attitude in refusing to provide' the information it should be clarified that the RGP is not refusing rather the decision lies with the DPP post –charge.

4. Conclusion ' Unless the RGP is willing to change its position' please see 2a.
   a. 'Similarly, he will proceed on disciplinary matters' It would appear that any disciplinary proceedings that start in the absence of evidence is designed to fail from the onset, and furthermore it would be absurd considering the risk that CS may be found guilty of a criminal charge before the Supreme Court.

Happy to discuss further if you so wish.

With best wishes

Richard

Dear Neil,

Many thanks for your letter of 19th November.

Complaint by HMGoG

I am delighted to see that we agree that HMGoG has been a complainant since 13th May 2019. Any other interpretation of the facts bears no analysis.

I do not propose to respond in detail to this part of your letter but suffice to say that the correspondence between the CS and the RGP only makes sense when having regard to the telephone conversations that were had with the CS regarding the making of a 'formal' complaint (I.e. reducing the complaint to a written witness statement). Indeed, contrary to what you suggest, the Commissioner's email can only be explained in that way.

Whether HMGoG will remain as a complainant

This issue is now largely academic given that proceedings are now afoot and statements taken. Accordingly, I do not propose to rehearse the authorities in this area. Suffice to say that I disagree wholly with your view and documentary evidence will not be provided as requested. I do, however, note that what was a request by the CS for documentary evidence has now been watered down to a request for a summary of information. The CS has already been briefed, as you rightly point out, and hence will have that information to hand. I do not see the point in providing him with a summary of that briefing. I am sure he will have made or will be able to make a note of that briefing for whatever purpose he sees fit.

It is evident that HMGoG has, since May 2019, considered itself to be a Complainant in this matter. I am sure that such an important decision was taken most carefully based on the briefings that were provided on various occasions.

Disciplinary Enquiries

I note that yet again you have failed to provide a clear response on the question of Mr Sanchez's continued interdiction.

If the position has changed as regards his interdiction I am sure that you appreciate the importance of that information in the presentation of the case for the Prosecution at trial and, indeed, in considering any impact on the decision to proceed on certain charges. I would be grateful for a clear and unequivocal response as previously requested.

Conflict of interest

Whether there is a conflict of interest now or in the future is a matter for you. However, it would have been amiss of me not to have reminded you of your involvement as Minister for Justice at the first meeting in 2019. I have no doubt that if a conflict arises at any time you will act properly and in accordance with professional standards.

Your comparison with my own position does not, with respect, bear any analysis. I attended the meeting as DPP and continue to act as DPP. Starkly different to the position in which you find yourself.

Conclusion

With the exception of the clarification sought on the continued interdiction of Mr Sanchez, I agree that further correspondence will be pointless as regards the matters raised.

Thank you for providing a copy of the letter from Mr Grech. As the OIC I do not consider that the contents of the letter are required for the prosecution case. I will however pass it on to the disclosure officer for consideration of whether it undermines the prosecution / assists the defence.

Whilst the disclosure of the prosecution summary is a matter for the DPP to consider, I would like to clarify that on behalf of the RGP [and whilst irregular] we do not have any objection to its revelation to Mr Grech.

8th June 2021

Dear Christian

I write in relation to R v Perez, Cornelio and Sanchez.

Please note that on having carefully considered the position as it relates to Mr Caine Sanchez, and for the reasons that I set out below, I, on behalf of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ("HMGoG"), no longer consider that I have a basis on which to continue to be a complainant against Mr Sanchez in this matter.

As you know, to date, I, on behalf of HMGoG, have stood as a complainant against Mr Sanchez solely and exclusively on the basis of the Royal Gibraltar Police's (the "RGP") various assurances and evidence briefings, principally to me, in relation to the offences with which Mr Sanchez has been charged.

By virtue of a letter that I sent to the Commissioner of Police (the "Commissioner") on 25th September 2020, and two letters of 6th November 2020 and 19th November 2020 that Isolas sent to you on my behalf, I requested details of the facts alleged against Mr Sanchez, the key aspects of how the RGP alleges that the offences are made out and any documentary evidence in support of the charges which stand in the name of the Government as a complainant against Mr Sanchez. You will recall that the purpose of my request was so that:

1. I could confirm to the Commissioner (with the benefit of careful consideration of the evidence the RGP's investigation has, with HMGoG's cooperation, uncovered), my position that the complaint should proceed in the name of HMGoG.

2. The Council of Ministers could ratify my decision for HMGoG to proceed to be a complainant in this sensitive matter and with the benefit of the same careful consideration of the evidence in respect of the HMGoG's role as complainant.

3. His Excellency the Governor could confirm, or otherwise determine, the reinstatement of the interdiction of Mr Sanchez also with the benefit of the same careful consideration of the evidence available at that stage.

4. HMGoG could act entirely properly, in keeping with General Orders and all Mr Sanchez's other rights, in the context of his employment as an officer of HMGoG.

Regrettably, for the reasons provided in the Commissioner's letter to me of 29th September 2020, and your letters to Isolas of 10th November 2020 and 20th November 2020, you declined to provide me with any of the information that I requested. You will recall that I was even willing to accept '...at the very least, a written summary of the information that has already been provided to [me] by virtue of the evidentiary briefings...' (letter of 19th November 2020 from Isolas to the Director of Public Prosecutions). This suggestion was also rejected. Given that I had been briefed on various occasions on the evidence against Mr Sanchez, I am still at a loss to understand the reasons for the refusal to provide me with, at a minimum, a summary of the information on which I had already been briefed. Please note that, at this juncture, I would have to insist on receiving the information and documentation that I requested in my letter to the Commissioner of 25th September 2020 should you wish to review your position and provide me with the said information and documentation.

In the circumstances, and as a result of not having been provided with any of the information and documentation requested in respect of the charges brought against Mr Sanchez, I, on behalf of HMGoG, no longer consider that I have a basis on which to continue to be a complainant against Mr Sanchez.

I note from the Commissioner's letter to me of 29th September 2020 that 'regardless of any complaint or otherwise from HMGoG, the position as it stands is that Mr Sanchez has already been charged and the matter will proceed unless the DPP or AG is of the view that it is not in the public interest to proceed...'. As I have previously noted, I reiterate that I have never stated otherwise, and I know that whether or not the prosecution proceeds is, of course, a matter entirely for you and for the Attorney General. In this respect, you can continue to count on my support as may be required by the RGP's investigations, including in providing additional witness statements.

I trust that the above is clear but please do not hesitate to contact me should you require anything further.

Yours sincerely

Dear Mr Grech,

RE: Mr Caine Sanchez

I trust this email finds you well.

I have been informed by the OCPL that on the 17th October 2021 they received an email from those acting for Caine Sanchez together with the attached document. The document is addressed to yourself and includes explanations from Mr Sanchez in respect of his actions relating to the NSCIS platform. It is thereby relevant to the ongoing judicial proceedings. It is my understanding that this document is now being relied upon by the defence in support of representations they are making to the prosecution.

There are some concerns that Mr Sanchez [being a defendant in a criminal matter] contacted you directly [and not via his legal advisor] in relation to an investigation in which you are a witness. Moreover, he pointed you to specific details of witness statements which form part of the criminal proceedings.

In the circumstances I would be grateful if you could confirm whether you have received any other communication from Mr Sanchez that may be relevant to the current proceedings. Moreover, given that the document is purportedly dated the 13th April 2021, I would respectfully ask you to confirm whether the document [or any other sent to you by Mr Sanchez] had any bearing on your decision to withdraw your complaint against him in your letter to Mr Rocca QC of the 8th June 2021.

Kind regards,

Mark

Dear Darren

As you are aware I was arrested and subsequently charged on various criminal charges connected to the National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS).

I am writing to you as I was the person responsible for the establishment and maintenance of the NSCIS and feel compelled [redacted]

It is clear beyond any doubt that my position and role within the Civil Service was that of the Data Controller for the NSCIS. I was the Principal Secretary to the Office of the Deputy Chief Minister and Head of the government department with responsibility for the establishment, maintenance and operation of NSCIS, including its confidentiality, integrity and availability.

This was correct at the outset when establishing the NSCIS for the purposes of border queue information gathering for EU lobbying/statistical purposes, and which processing is governed by the GDPR and Part II of our Data Protection Act 2004 (DPA04).

It was also correct subsequently, when NSCIS use was later on expanded to cover Law Enforcement Processing purposes, and which processing is governed by Part III of our DPA04.

For ease of reference our DPA04 defines what a Data Controller is both in terms of Part II (GDPR processing) and Part III (Law Enforcement Processing). In summary, it is the person or competent authority who:

(a) determines both the purpose and the means of the processing, or (b) processes personal data pursuant to an enactment.

I refer to your first Witness Statement of 21st January 2020, when speaking in general terms of my NSCIS role: you stated that I had “complete responsibility for the NSCIS” and that I “did not report to anybody”. As such I would have had “complete autonomy in this area.”

The role of Bland Ltd (Bland) on the other hand, was limited to that of a Data Processor and no further.

A Data Processor, as defined in the DPA04, is the person or entity which processes personal data on behalf of (emphasis added) a Data Controller.

Bland were engaged by me at the outset to set up the NSCIS on behalf of the Office of the Deputy Chief Minister, including purchasing hardware in order to fit the specific operational needs of the NSCIS as specified by me

I also engaged Bland to write up the operating software of the NSCIS, and to operate and maintain the NSCIS on behalf of my department.

These tasks necessarily required giving Bland access to personal data within the NSCIS for the exclusive purpose of fulfilling their operational and maintenance duties, thereby bringing their processing into scope of the GDPR and DPA04 and their role as a Data Processor.

It is also important to understand that Bland did not have any authority to process any NSCIS personal data for itself –it neither determined "the purpose" or "the manner" of any processing - and to the extent that Bland were authorised to process any NSCIS personal data it was required to do so on my instructions and at my request for the sole purposes of fulfilling their operational and maintenance duties which they were carrying out at my request on my behalf.

To illustrate our respective and distinct roles further, as part of my Data Controller tasks, I had the sole responsibility of considering requests for the disclosure of NSCIS footage from local law enforcement bodies or third parties. (Such requests were more common at the outset when processing under the NSCIS was limited to information gathering for EU lobbying/statistical purposes.)

In any event, all such disclosure requests were made exclusively to me for consideration. Only if I thought appropriate, would I then authorise Bland to release the relevant footage to the requesting party.

In other words, in the context of such disclosure requests, law enforcement bodies (and any anyone else asking for NSCIS footage) were required to approach the Data Controller for permission, and only when authorised by the Data Controller, would such data be disclosed via the Data Processor upon the Data Controller's specific instructions to the Data Processor.

Furthermore, because of the sensitive nature of personal data processed within the NSCIS, I stipulated specific access controls so that only individuals authorised by me (including Bland employees) were allowed to be given varying degrees of access to NSCIS data or the system itself.

My approval was conditional on a vetting procedure. This involved running a Police check on any proposed individual to whom access was being considered, which was then followed up with a face-to-face interview with me.

I had the final and only say on whether to approve or deny access (as well as the actual level of access) to the NSCIS and its data following that interview.

In addition, where I had agreed to grant access, it was a prerequisite for such individuals to sign an Official Secrets Act Confidentiality Undertaking .

As mentioned above, over time, the scope of the NSCIS grew to include law enforcement purposes and it evolved into a user interface which connected various modular systems used by the office of the Deputy Chief Minister, other government departments and law enforcement bodies in Gibraltar.

This meant granting direct viewing and retrieval permissions of NSCIS data to local law enforcement bodies, including the RGP, the BCA, Port Authority, and HM Customs (each a 'Recipient').

Note all Recipients also became Data Controllers in their own right, but only in respect of the NSCIS information they each used and had specific access to, and which was limited to, and relevant for, their respective and unique processing requirements as determined by me having regard to their individual operational needs.

It is important to understand that none of these Recipients were Data Controllers of the NSCIS itself; none of them had access to back codes of the operating software; and none of them had administrator privileges. The control over all such privileges were retained exclusively by me at all times.

Further, my department remained the Data Controller with responsibility for the system itself, retaining overall control over its access, as well as its operation, maintenance, confidentiality, integrity and availability.

To the extent that any codes or admin privileges were granted by me to Bland it was done in order for them to be able to carry out maintenance duties and ensure the system's operability. For the avoidance of doubt Bland had no authority to forward such codes or privileges to third parties – and even within their own organisation access (and the extent of access) was limited to individuals specifically authorised by me in line with my established access controls.

It is also worth mentioning that the additional use of the NSCIS for law enforcement purposes complicated the technical aspect of the platform given the diverse operational requirements of each of these different Recipients, and the requirement for a high degree of interoperability with other databases and modules such as Interpol.

As a result, the software needed to power this additional use became, and is, fairly volatile. It needs regular and constant management and updates, which if not done, undermines the ongoing availability and integrity of NSCIS data.

As part of Bland's maintenance duties, they were responsible for updating the software to ensure its continued availability and integrity and thus remaining fit for purpose.

It is only now, after my arrest, and in the absence of any prior training, that I have had the benefit of data protection advice and I now appreciate some of the obligations imposed on Data Controllers and Data Processors when processing personal data – both from a GDPR perspective - and also from a law enforcement perspective.

While a full analysis of the applicable rules is simply not possible in a letter such as this, [redacted]

To assist I have therefore set out in Table A some of the pressing data protection obligations which fall on Data Controllers from a high level perspective.

Nevertheless, I also urge a full review of all processes, procedures and agreements associated with the NSCIS to ensure a full compliance program with both the GDPR and Part III of the DPA04.

In a nutshell, you will need to conduct a GDPR and DPA04 gap analysis and then bridge areas of non-compliance by introducing appropriate policies and procedures including, organisational and technical measures.

The reason for this is because data protection law requires Data Controllers and Data Processors to be able to demonstrate compliance (under the key principle of "accountability") by having proper policies and documented procedures in place. Failure to have such policies and documents in place is a fundamental breach of data protection legislation.

Note however none were ever implemented as far as the NSCIS itself is concerned, and this needs to be remedied with immediate effect.

In addition, I also wish to highlight some serious irregularities and actual breaches of applicable data protection legislation specific to the NSCIS.

1. Breach of access controls by Bland and/or their employee

As stated above any person engaged to work on the NSCIS would need to have been approved by me as the system's Data Controller after Police vetting, interview and signing of Official Secrets Act Confidentiality Declaration.

Bland was fully aware of this following a meeting at No 6 Convent Place on 25 July 2018 between Jonathan Galliano, Thomas Cornelio and myself in which I explicitly set out these strict access controls.

In addition, such instructions were repeated by me in writing[1].

Notwithstanding these clear instructions, Jonathan Galliano, an employee of Bland, accessed the NSCIS backend master databases and modified system data without having been approved by me in order to obtain an elevated user account that would provide him with administrative access to all data within the NSCIS system.[2]

It is unknown whether Mr Galliano was acting of his own volition or on the instructions of his employers.

Regardless, it is clear that such unauthorised access was entirely unlawful and contrary to my clear and explicit written instructions and in breach of both the GDPR Art 28(3)(a) and (b), the standards required by Art 32 in terms of security and ss.66 and 75 Chapter 4, Part III of the DPA04 in the context of law enforcement purposes.

In addition, I refer you to s.175 of the DPA04 which makes it a criminal offence for a person to knowingly or recklessly obtain personal data without the consent of the controller.

2. The unauthorised and unlawful use of Sub Processors by Bland in respect of NSCIS contrary to the provisions of GDPR Art 28, and s.68 of Chapter 4, Part III of the DPA 04 for Law Enforcement Processing, and in direct contravention of the Data Controller's existing access controls and procedures:

A Data Processor may only engage the services of a Sub Processor in accordance with GDPR Art 28, and s.68 of Chapter 4, Part III of the DPA04 for Law Enforcement Processing purposes.

In particular:

- the Processor is required to obtain the Data Controller's prior written consent before a Sub Processor can be engaged, or in the case of a general authorisation, the processor must notify the Data Controller if it proposes to add to or replace any Sub Processors;
- the Processor needs to impose at least the same data protection obligations on a Sub Processor as stipulated by GDPR Art 28, and s.68. of Chapter 4, Part III of the DPA 04. As such, a Processor must ensure in respect of any Sub Processor that:
    - the Sub Processor does not process personal data except on instructions from the Data Controller
    - persons authorised to process the personal data have committed themselves to confidentiality or are under an appropriate duty of confidentiality

[1] See my email to Jonathan Galliano of 9 August 2018

[2] See email from Mr Galiano to Mr Cornelio on 7 October 2018

- the Sub Processor takes appropriate security measures.

From the evidence available, it is clear that Bland breached these provisions on at least 3 separate occasions and deliberately ignored my access controls as follows:

i. Infosec/Red Maple Technologies – Bland engaged the services of Infosec/Red Maple Technologies to work on the NSCIS in or around 12 October 2018 without my knowledge or consent[3] .

Furthermore, Bland gave unlawful access to the NSCIS (and as a consequence access to NSCIS personal data including all servers and equipment) to employees of Infosec/Red Maple Technologies without going through, and in breach of existing access controls specified by me with regards to Police vetting, interview and the signing of Official Secrets Act Confidentiality Declaration.

Known Infosec/Red Maple Technologies employees who were given access without my prior approval are Robert Stemp and a Mr/Mrs Mason.

Further, having read Robert Stemp's statement of 20th April 2019, it is evident that Infosec/Red Maple Technologies have been running the NSCIS without my prior knowledge or consent since October 2018 in breach of the rules relating to Sub Processors.

Also, the fact that the system was being remotely accessed[4] would have likely required a Data Protection Impact Assessment (DPIA) to assess and mitigate any identified risks given the sensitivity of the data processed by the NSCIS and the increased risks presented by remote access compared to physical access.

ii. PWC – were similarly engaged by Bland to work on the NSCIS in or around 15 October 2018, again without my knowledge or consent[5].

Bland gave PWC access to the NSCIS and given the scope of PWC's engagement[6], PWC would also have had to have additionally been given access to the system's codes and NSCIS related data, including personal data.

As with Infosec/Red Maple Technologies, Bland did not follow all the existing access controls specified by me and unlawfully gave access to the NSCIS and its personal data to PWC employees. I know that Jonathan Holmes, Oliver Smith and Ronan Magee arrived in

[3] See Witness Statement of Jonathan Galliano dated 8 December 2019

Gibraltar on 15th October 2018[7] and worked on the system for a period of 5 days. Thereafter they worked remotely per PWC's own report of 23 April 2019.

As with Infosec/Red Maple Technologies, a DPIA should have been considered with regards to remote accessing of the system as per GDPR Art 35 and s.73 of the DPA04.

Additionally, and as a separate point, I refer to Peter Canessa's witness statement of 29 August 2019 in which he stated "on 6th November 2018, I received an update on the NSCIS matter from John-Paul Payas, General Manager of OSG, a subsidiary company of Bland. He informed me that James Gaggero had sought the assistance of accountancy and audit firm Pricewaterhouse Coopers (PWC) who had produced a report. I requested that the Chief Minister be appraised of this report."

It is unclear if Mr Canessa, or anyone else within the Office of the Chief Minister, had actually authorised the PWC report or their work generally on the NSCIS.

However, for the avoidance of doubt, I was the only person with the requisite authority to be able to properly authorise a particular processing in respect of the NSCIS. The PWC report was not so authorised.

Further to the extent that the PWC Report required its authors to have access to NSCIS Personal Data, such processing would have been in breach of GDPR Art 28, and s.68 of Chapter 4, Part III of the DPA04 for Law Enforcement Processing purposes which require Sub Processors to only process personal data on the written instructions of the Data Controller.

In addition, the fact that the General Manager of OSG and not Bland was calling to provide Mr Canessa with an update shows that information relating to the NSCIS was clearly being shared within the Bland group. To the extent that this information contained personal data this would likely have been a further breach of data protection obligations and certainly increased the risk associated with the processing itself.

iii. Black Marble – were also engaged by Bland in or around November 2018[8] . As part of that engagement access to NCIS was given as well as to HMGOG codes containing credential details, allowing connection and access to NSCIS including sensitive and personal data.

As with Infosec/Red Maple Technologies Limited and PWC no prior consent was sought or notice was given to me in respect of their engagement and Bland did not follow all the access controls in place with regards to vetting, interview process and Official Secrets Act Confidentiality Declarations.

[7] See Witnes Statement of Jonathan Galliano dated 8th December 2019

[8] See Witness Statement of Johnathan Galliano of 8 December 2019

3. Unlawful access to NSCIS data and a Computer located in the Customs Building

I refer to Peter Canessa's witness statement of 29th August 2019. He says he authorised access to a computer within the Customs Building which was linked to the frontier cameras (and thus part of the NSCIS) to an unknown individual who was put through to him by the Chairman of Bland Group Mr James Gaggero, during a telephone call.

Mr Canessa said this happened when he was at home and after taking a call on his mobile from Mr Gaggero who passed him on to an unknown individual.

Mr Canessa, who was, and is, the Principal Private Secretary to the Chief Minister said "I authorised this access however informed him to tell anyone that challenges him that he is conducting routine maintenance, nothing else."

As stated at the outset of this letter, the government department with overall responsibility for the NSCIS and its Data Controller was the Office of the Deputy Chief Minister.

S.199 of the DPA04 confirms that for the purposes of the GDPR and the DPA04 each government department is to be treated as a separate person from other governments departments.

Therefore, the NSCIS' Data Controller is and was at all material times the Office of the Deputy Chief Minister of which I was head of department and ultimately responsible for.

Mr Canessa, who did not form part of the Office of the Deputy Chief Minister, acted ultra vires in purporting to authorise access to the NSCIS.

Further the access given to this individual without my prior knowledge or consent and contrary to existing access controls is in clear breach of both GDPR and Part III of the DPA04 and demonstrates the lack of adequacy of appropriate security measures in place with regards the NSCIS generally, in breach of GDPR Art 32 and s.75 of Chapter 4 of Part III of the DPA04 in the context of Law Enforcement Processing.

In general, the appointment of Sub Processors by Bland without the prior knowledge or consent of the NSCIS' Data Controller is nothing short of scandalous.

At least in once instance, the actual day to day operation of Gibraltar's National Security Central Intelligence system was farmed out by the Data Processor to a third party unknown to the system's Data Controller in breach of applicable data protection legislation

Other third parties were also routinely given access to the NSCIS and its data by Bland, all in breach of applicable data protection legislation and with little or no regard to established access control protocols put in place by the system's Data Controller.

Lastly, the fact that Mr Canessa, without authority, was able to bypass my office and provide access to a computer system containing personal data used for law enforcement processing to a person he did not even know (on the mere basis of a phone call) is frankly astonishing and requires the immediate review of all security access controls which are clearly inadequate for system of this nature.

These are serious and repeated data protection irregularities; they need to be put right with immediate effect.

Furthermore, as you might appreciate, as the Data Controller with overall responsibility of the NSCIS, it was entirely within my own capability to provide access to third parties of my own choosing without having to consult or notify Bland or indeed anyone else.

In April 2019 I decided to give Mr Cornelio read only access to the NSCIS. This meant that his actions on the system's interface would be entirely auditable in contrast to the type of access Bland gave to Infosec/Red Maple Technologies, PWC and Black Marble as well as Mr Galliano, whose actions were not traceable and in breach of s.71 of Chapter 4, Part III of the DPA04 which requires a controller or processor to keep a log whenever the system is accessed for audit purposes related to law enforcement processing.

The reason for granting Mr Cornelio access was very straightforward and needs to be put in context.

[redacted]

Furthermore, at this time I was being put under pressure from the Chief Financial Secretary to settle Bland's outstanding retainer fees with regards to the NSCIS. Bland were usually paid monthly [redacted]

However, given the internal pressure I was being put under to pay, I decided that it would be in the public interest for me to at least try to find out what exactly was going on with the NSIC, in particular whether Bland had actually been doing the job I was being asked to pay them for doing.

It was then that I decided to engage Mr Cornelio's services. I had previously worked with him, vetted him, and authorised his access to NSCIS and knew that he knew the NSCIS system "inside out" and that he might be able to tell me fairly quickly what the situation was.

I therefore gave him the read access codes for him to see if he could appraise me of the current situation and what the problems were. I maintain this was entirely proper and correct in the circumstances.

There are other data protection breaches of which I am aware regarding Bland and Red Maple who have been subcontracted by Bland to deliver GoG projects such as the DSS Platform, ETB Platform and the Education Platform.

The delivery of these platforms all require access to sensitive government data about our citizens, and to my knowledge, no appropriate data protection documentation is in place, as well as instances of Bland access codes being passed on to Red Maple employees.

I therefore urge you to review all these matters and hope this letter provides you with an insight into the NSCIS that you might otherwise not be aware of and allows you to ensure that appropriate steps to deal with them.

Yours sincerely

Caine Sanchez

Dear Chief Minister,
I am grateful for our chat this morning and I totally understand the external matters that are having an impact on your ability to have time in drafting your statement. As discussed, I have spoken to the DPP and he too is fully cognisant of your position, and has suggested that if you could please have the statement available by the end of February, which will at least be before the next PCMH. I do hope this helps you somewhat.

Dear Richard
Thank you for your email below.
I am sorry to say I have completely lost track of time on this. As you know, I had wanted to provide the statement before the end of the year, but the negotiations for the Framework Agreement became all consuming and requiring 20 hour days. Additionally, as you know, the COVID emergency has also kept me completely involved without reprieve. I know that you are aware I have to had one day off these past months, not even Christmas Day. You will be one of the few in Gibraltar who will understand that, as I know you have been working at the same pace on matters of your responsibility. I will seek to now finalise my work on this statement in the next 7 to 14 days. I think, hopefully, that after my evidence to the House of Lords this evening, I should be able to meet that timeline.
With very best wishes, as ever,
Fabian

Dear Chief Minister,

Thank you for your email.

We are fully conscious of the demands and challenges you are currently facing in the future negotiations with the EU and therefore with this in mind, the investigating team together with the DPP have asked if you could be so kind as to submit your statement by the 13th of January 2021. This would be a week before the next PCMH.

We continue to be at your disposal should you require to discuss anything with us.

Dear Commissioner,

Thank you for your email below, receipt of which I acknowledge. As you will be aware, I am in the most complex stage of the negotiations of our future relationship with the European Union. For that reason, and although you will be pleased to note that I have already started my work to respond to the questions set out by your colleagues in the attachments to your email, I am unable to tell you how quickly I will be able to finalise it. I should therefore be grateful for an indication of any timings which may be relevant to your investing team's work, if any, so that I can try to work towards that.

With best wishes, as ever,

Fabian

The Hon Fabian Picardo QC
Chief Minister
No. 6 Convent Place
Gibraltar

Dear Chief Minister,

As you will be aware criminal complaints have been made to the RGP in relation to the National Security Centralised Intelligence System (NSCIS).

On the 10th May 2019 three persons were arrested on suspicion of Conspiracy to Defraud including Thomas Cornelio and John Perez. Mr. Cornelio was further arrested on suspicion of committing a number of computer misuse offences.

Digital forensic examination of the electronic devices seized under warrant revealed the suspected involvement of a fourth individual, Caine Sanchez, a senior civil servant employed as the Personal Private Secretary to the Deputy Chief Minister. On the 13th May 2019 the former Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail, briefed you regarding Mr. Sanchez's suspected involvement and as a result he was recalled from the UK where he was conducting government business. Upon his return he was arrested on suspicion of Misconduct in Public Office and on suspicion of breaching the Official Secrets Act 1911.

Following a protracted investigation a case file was submitted to the Director of Public Prosecutions who determined that there was a realistic prospect of conviction and that it was in the public interest to proceed with the matter.

On the 15th September 2020 Messrs. Perez, Cornelio and Sanchez were charged with Conspiracy to Defraud Bland Limited by performing dishonest acts intended or designed to undermine the ability of Bland Limited to perform its contractual agreement with the Government of Gibraltar. In addition, Mr. Cornelio was charged with fourteen counts of computer misuse related offences and Mr. Sanchez was charged with Misconduct in Public Office as well as one computer misuse offence. All defendants have now appeared before the Supreme Court of Gibraltar with the case being adjourned until the 20th January 2021.

During the course of the investigation the defendants and their legal advisors have referred the RGP to enquiries that they believe are relevant to their defence. You will be aware that the police have a statutory duty to follow all reasonable lines of enquiry, including those that may undermine the prosecution or assist the defence.

As you have been explicitly cited by the defence during the course of the investigation it is respectfully requested that you consider providing a witness statement to police.

In order to assist you in drafting a response the investigating team have created:

A list of questions that address issues of relevance; and
A list of relevant text messages sent to / from yourself (including those referred to by the defence).

The purpose of the questions is to guide you to the issues that we believe are important in light of the prosecution evidence and submissions made by the defence. It is respectfully suggested that your responses could be incorporated into a witness statement together with any other matters that you may deem relevant.

We are of course at your disposal if you have any questions or require clarification.

Yours sincerely,

Mark Wyan
Chief Inspector

DATE	FROM	TO	CONTENT
08/07/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Fabian, I hope this note finds you well. For info – please be aware that I will tomorrow inform James that both Tommy and will be serving our notices. All is in place.
08/07/18	CM	JOHN PEREZ	Good luck for tomorrow my friend. Best wishes. Fabian.
08/07/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Thank you Fabian.
12/07/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Fabian James is likely to come and see you he is paying out to our other developers to stay. Not critical. All law enforcement heads are aware that it's not just about the software which I doubt they can sustain but about the relationship. Both of us remain critical to sustain the current platform in place. Just for info.
12/07/18	CM	JOHN PEREZ	Thanks. Noted.
12/07/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Fabian all good so far he appears to accept the birth of 36 North as long as I assist him in some capacity with Blands. Next meeting set for Mon.
13/08/18	CAINE SANCHEZ	CM	CM this is the email that Blands have just sent to Tommy Cornelio. FYI
13/08/18	CAINE SANCHEZ	CM	They are asking for departments to write to blands stating that they are changing provider and that blands no longer has liability.
13/08/18	CM	CAINE SANCHEZ	Ok. Noted. Well, I guess if we are saying the programmes are ours, then they only really had maintenance liability or development liability. Tell the depts to send to you so we can get Lloyd or JP Fa to look at these.
15/08/18	CAINE SANCHEZ	CM	… With regards to the Security platform the cleanest way to get out of this is to source another programme that will interact with our hardware. I am afraid that we have little options left as we do not want to prolong this too much due to the sensitivities of the system as well as to the liability. The transition would be seamless with zero downtime. Only last year the system made us over £1m with regards to truck movements that tried to come through undeclared. So if only for value it is well worth it. It is classified by Interpol as one of the tope ten security platforms around.

17/08/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Fabian thank you for all your support as always – can I call you at a suitable time please. I am okay just keeping my discipline at the mo which I must admit is very frustrating. We are meeting one to one on Tue. I think they will try to offer me payment in lieu and some form of compromise. I have not fired a single rocket yet. With regards to the system it's now becoming difficult as we continue to run it under unnecessary strain. Done worry we will continue to do so if necessary. J.
21/08/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Dear Fabian just finished with Gaggero. Determined to get some form of compensation. Want your take on it before reverting. Let me know if we can catch up. J
21/08/18	CM	JOHN PEREZ	Lets talk. Happy to help with that. Was it pleasant or not?
21/08/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	No a bit all over the place. Brief you when we talk.
23/08/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Fabian can we please have a catch up when available to discuss the situation. I also need to brief you about JG. With regards to DSS we have been given a rather pressing task which I believe is form your office regarding housing/pensioners. Can we proceed with the task. John.
28/08/18	JOHN PEREZ	CM	Fabian I am seeing Gaggero this morning. He continues to be a nasty piece of work. Mal. I am going to try to get him of our back and reach a compromise with him. Will let you know.
30/08/18	JAMES LEVY	CM	You should know that I have spoken to Tommy and despite his letter to James G he will continue ensuring that the system is kept going until a solution is found acceptable to the government. Note: Message forwarded by JL to TC on 30/08/18.
30/08/08	CM	JAMES LEVY	Will look forward to meeting him. Mena and me are the people who will understand him. Note: Message forwarded by JL to TC on 30/08/18.

Statement Guidance for the Chief Minister

1. The defence assert that you instructed Mr Cornelio to continue running all HMGoG Platforms (including the NSCIS platform) after 1st September 2018. Could you please clarify;

    a. Whether this is correct; and
    b. If correct, what precise instruction was given to Mr Cornelio?

2. To your knowledge, did any other member of HMGoG instruct / request that Mr Cornelio maintain the NSCIS platform following the termination of his consultancy period with Bland Limited on the 31st August 2018?

3. The defence have drawn our attention to a text message sent from Mr Levy QC to yourself, dated 30th August 2018, in which he stated:

    "You should know that I have spoken to Tommy and despite his letter to James G he will continue ensuring that the system is kept going until a solution is found acceptable the government"

    The defence rely upon this text as evidence that you were aware of and /or gave authority for Mr Cornelio to access the NSCIS platform after 1st September 2018. However, Bland were not informed of any such arrangement. Can you please comment on your understanding of this text message?

4. The defence have drawn our attention to a text message sent from Mr Cornelio to Mr Levy QC (and which refers to the CM), dated 30th August 2018, in which he stated:

    "Yep. Please tell him that if we meet I will be able to discuss in person as I feel sometimes the information he is getting is not correct … if he knew my solution in detail it would make any decision he makes easier also."

    In the context of the police investigation, are you able to comment on the 'decision' that is referred to by Mr Cornelio?

5. The defence have argued that HMGoG authorised Mr Cornelio to access the NSCIS platform after August 2018. Did you authorise Mr Cornelio to access the NSCIS platform at any time between 31/08/2018 and 04/10/2018?

6. To your knowledge, did any representative of HMGoG instruct / authorise Mr Cornelio to extract a copy of the NSCIS data and/or source code for the purpose of ensuring services could run independently of Bland Limited?

7. The defence assert that on or around 30th August 2018 HMGoG asked Mr Cornelio / 36 North Limited to ensure 'Phoenix' (an NSCIS alternative platform) was ready to take over the NSCIS platform at short notice. Do you have any knowledge of these discussions?

8. The defence assert that you met with James Gaggero on a number of occasions between the 9th July 2018 and 4th October 2018 to discuss the NSCIS platform. We understand that meetings took place on the following dates:

    a. August 2018
    b. 3rd September 2018
    c. 27th September 2018

    Could you please confirm what was agreed during those meetings (or any other relevant meetings with Mr Gaggero) in relation to the NSCIS platform?

9. On 4th October 2018, we understand that you instructed Caine Sanchez (via Peter Canessa) to provide Bland with full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS Platform. In two emails sent from Mr Peter Canessa to Mr Caine Sanchez, dated 4th October 2018 he wrote:

> "The Chief Minister has instructed that access to our "Azure" system be given to Jonathan Galliano at Bland/OSG immediately. He has also instructed that arrangements be made for any member of that company who will be dealing with HMGoG matters relating to security to sign the Official Secrets Act, if they haven't already done so, without delay."

> "Further to my email below, and following further discussion with the CM, and to avoid any ambiguity, the instructions from the CM are that Bland Ltd is to be provided full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS platform. Please do all the necessary to ensure that Tommy Cornelio fully cooperates in handing over to Jonathan Galliano of Bland Ltd access and control to all services and systems that make up the NSCIS platform immediately. Once the handover process is completed Tommy Cornelio nor any 3rd party are to have access to the platform."

    Could you please clarify the reason why this instruction was necessary?

Dear Mr Rocca,

We last met to discuss this matter on the 3rd March 2020 with DI Wyan and considered the need to interview James Levy in order to complete our investigation. During the meeting we expressed differing views about some of the criminality identified particularly with regard to the conspiracy to defraud offences. Given our different viewpoints we agreed that it was important for you to have sight of the key evidence in order to make an informed decision.

DI Wyan has consolidated the considerable about of evidence that has been gathered thus far and has helpfully included a timeline and glossary of terms – which goes someway in assisting those unfamiliar with the more obtuse IT references. It also sets events out in a chronological order. In this way it is easier to understand the motive behind many of the individual actions and how they contribute towards the principal act, which we argue is the attempt to obtain the maintenance rights of Bland's contract by dishonest means.

I have also included my NDM assessment of the need to interview JL which sets out my rationale. Although this document is not intended as the basis of seeking legal advice, I hope that it will assist in the understanding of why we feel that it is necessary to follow the course of action that is proposed.

What we are seeking is your advice on whether the charges that we propose are warranted by the evidence , whether there is a reasonable prospect of conviction and (given the inherent political nature of this investigation) that it is in the public interest to proceed. In addition, and in respect of James Levy, we are seeking legal advice as to whether there are reasonable grounds to suspect that he has committed the offence as alleged.

The attached documents set out in great detail much of the evidence that has not yet been disclosed to the defence and I would ask please that you restrict access to it to yourself and CC Mark Zammitt (who is already been privy to previous discussions).

The defendants are due to surrender to police bail on the 15th April and we could, if required charge on that date, however given the Covid 19 restrictions the Magistrates' Court are only accepting urgent overnight matters. We also have re-interviews planned which will in some cases involve participation by technical experts from the National Crime Agency. There are however currently travel restrictions in place. Given the circumstances and the exceptional times that we now find ourselves in I will be recommending extending the bail of all defendants by a further 16 weeks by way of formal letter. In the event that the Covid 19 restrictions are lifted before then we will of course arrange for the matter to be dealt with earlier.

I will arrange for a hard copy of the report and the relevant exhibits to be delivered to your chambers shortly.

We are of course at your disposal should you wish to discuss either in person or remotely.

Kind regards.

THE COMPLAINANT

12. James GAGGERO is the Chairman of the Bland Group of Companies. He has held this position since 1997. Between 1987 – 1997, he was managing Director of the Bland Group of Companies. Bland has been in the Gaggero family for over 200 years.

THE COMPANIES

13. Bland Limited ("Bland") is part of the Bland Group of companies which is registered in Gibraltar. Bland Limited trades under a number of entities including Bland Travel (a travel and transport business), Bland DMC (a travel business), The Calpe Lounge (an airport VIP lounges business), Avis (a car hire business), Operational Support Group ("OSG"), Wavetecx (a computer development business) and Gibair (an airport ground handling business).

14. 36 North Limited ("36 North") is a Gibraltar registered company incorporated on the 23rd April 2018. The company carries on business as a computer software and security systems developer. PEREZ and ICode Limited, together with Astelon Limited, are beneficial owners in the company (each having a 33% shareholding). Following their resignations from Bland Ltd, Cornelio and Perez went on to work on a full time basis at 36 North. (Exhibits JG/9, JG/11 and JG/13 refer).

15. ICode Limited ("ICode") is a Gibraltar registered company beneficially owned by CORNELIO and incorporated on the 16th May 2018 for the purpose of holding shares in 36 North. (Exhibit JG/10 refers).

16. Astelon Limited ("Astelon") is a Gibraltar registered company beneficially owned by Hassans International Law Firm and incorporated on the 28th March 2018 for the purpose of holding shares in 36 North. The company has a 33% shareholding in 36 North. (Exhibit JG/11 refers).

THE NSCIS PLATFORM

17. During the course of his employment with Bland, Cornelio was involved in the development of the National Security Central Intelligence System ("the NSCIS platform"). The platform is a modular, centralised IT software system for the collection, monitoring, background checking, and flagging of people and vehicle movements in and out of Gibraltar via land, sea and air. This system was first launched in December 2014 and was subsequently developed over a number of years.

18. The platform collects sensitive personal information from members of the public upon entry to and exit from Gibraltar. It is a key tool for law enforcement agencies in the protection of national security.

19. Bland Limited own the NSCIS platform, the source code, object code and all database structures. (Exhibits NG/2, NG/3 and NG/5 refer).

20. The NSCIS platform is provided to HMGoG on the basis of an ongoing software license, for which HMGoG pay Bland a license fee. In addition, Bland provides continuing support and maintenance for the platform. (Exhibits PN/7, PN/8 & PN/9 refer).

21. The Contract for the NSCIS platform was initially partly oral and partly in writing by way of correspondence. Bland subsequently sent to HMGoG a master software development and maintenance agreement. This accurately reflects the terms and conditions upon which the NSCIS platform was provided to HMGoG (Exhibit JG/5 refers). Whilst HMGoG did not sign the said agreement, they continue to pay the license fee.

22. This is corroborated by monthly payments by HMGoG to Bland [in respect of the NSCIS platform] under the head "Software Licence Fee" (Exhibit PN/8 refers).

THIRD PARTY ACCOUNTS

23. Being the developer, Cornelio had an intimate knowledge of the NSCIS platform.

[redacted]

THE NSCIS PLATFORM AND WAVETECX

24. The contract for the NSCIS platform commenced under the Bland security arm, Operational Support Group ("OSG"). In light of the growing sophistication of the platform and the opportunities for its commercial exploitation and use beyond the contract with the Government of Gibraltar, Bland set up a separate division from which to develop, brand, market and commercially exploit the NSCIS platform abroad ("Wavetecx").

25. Wavetecx was set up around January 2017 and headed by Perez. He was assisted by Cornelio in his capacity as Head of Software Development.

26. Cornelio, who had already gained an intimate understanding of the NSCIS platform, managed Wavetecx on a day-to-day basis in his capacity as the Head of Software Development. He reported to Perez as the CEO of Bland Limited, who oversaw Wavetecx. Two Software Developers worked for Wavetecx – Joseph Benrimoj and Marius Zalkaukas.

27. Perez and Cornelio travelled abroad on several occasions to discuss the possibility of licensing the NSCIS platform to, amongst others, Carnival Cruises, the São Tomé government, and Inchcape Shipping Services (Exhibits PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/1, PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/2 & PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/7 refer).

36 NORTH LIMITED

28. 36 North Limited is a private company limited by shares, with a registered office at 57/63 Line Wall Road, Gibraltar.

29. 36 North was incorporated on the 23rd April 2018. Whilst still employees of Bland, Perez and Cornelio were appointed directors of the company.

30. On the 22nd June 2018, whilst still employees of Bland, Perez, ICode (beneficially owned by Cornelio) and Astelon Limited (beneficially owned by Hassans) each acquired a 33% shareholding in 36 North. Levy, having a 32% shareholding in Hassans, was therefore a 10% beneficial owner of 36 North [with the other partners each having a smaller share according to their respective interests in Hassans].

31. There continued to be changes to the company formation during the proceeding months. However, the ultimate beneficial owners of 36 North remained as Perez, Cornelio and Hassans Law Firm [with Levy owning 10% beneficial share in the company owing to his 32% share in Hassans].

CONSPIRACY TO DISHONESTLY OBTAIN THE NSCIS PLATFORM MAINTENANCE AGREEMENT

32. During the course of their employment with Bland, Perez and Cornelio, together with Levy, conspired to defraud Bland by dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for their own benefit, via their company 36 North Limited.

33. They were assisted in attempting to obtain the NSCIS platform contract by Sanchez (paragraphs 273 to 323), and to a lesser degree, Chipol (paragraphs 139 to167) both of whom are Government officials.

34. The evidence in support of this offence can be divided into the following:

    a. Planning / Preparation to Obtain the NSCIS Platform (agreement / dishonesty);
    b. Appropriation of business commenced by Bland (dishonesty);
    c. Pressure and Government Officials / Undermining Bland (dishonesty);
    d. Computer Misuse Offences / Knowledge of Computer Misuse Offences (dishonesty); and
    e. NSCIS Report for Caine Sanchez (dishonesty).

THOMAS CORNELIO – CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD ([Joint] Charge 1)

Planning / Preparation to Obtain the NSCIS Platform Maintenance Contract - Cornelio

35. During the course of 2018 Cornelio, Perez and Levy planned to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract. This contract was the property of Bland.

36. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, dated the 24th February 2018, (and whilst still employees of Bland) Perez attached a "Letter of Intent". This letter purported that 36 North already had an existing contract with HMGoG for the NSICIS platform (Exhibit JC/Emails/36North refers). This proposal evidenced the intent of the suspects to obtain the contract for the benefit of their company, 36 North.

37. Between 23rd April 2018 and 22nd June 2018, the company 36 North Limited was incorporated, with Cornelio, Perez and Hassans each being 33% beneficial owners (paragraphs 28 – 31 refer). The company was incorporated with the intent that it would obtain the benefit of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

38. In an email exchange dated the 20th June 2018, and whilst still employed by Bland, Perez sent an email to Cornelio called, "36 North Cash Flow". The document showed a forecasted revenue in favour of 36 North which included the NSCIS platform (Global invoice) for £62,519 per month. (Exhibits JG/22 and PAC/JU3/SSD0/Doc/2 refers).

39. The evidence in paragraphs 35 - 38 is consistent with an agreement between the suspects to appropriate the NSICS platform maintenance contract, the property of Bland.

40. In addition to preparing to take the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, Cornelio and Perez dishonestly planned to hinder the ability of Bland to carry out their contractual obligations.

41. As part of this preparation, the suspects engineered a situation whereby they, together with a number of software engineers, would resign from the company at the same time. (Paragraphs 42 to 47 refer below).

42. Without prior notification, on the 10th July 2018, Perez and Cornelio handed in their resignations from Bland. In accordance with their respective contracts, the resignation of Perez was to take effect on the 9th September 2018 and the resignation of Cornelio was to take effect from the 10th August 2018. (Exhibits JG/16 and JG/17 refer).

43. On the 19th July 2018 both software engineers sent a text to Cornelio in which they presented draft resignations. On the same date Cornelio wrote to the engineers, "Marius ok give me a while to review and don't send email out until I confirm with John now ok." (Exhibit JC/Whatsapp/36North/2 refers).

44. On the 20th July 2018, Cornelio wrote on the same chat, "Remember to stick to the story when chairman calls Joey. He has already written to John and he is denying having known." (Exhibit JC/Whatsapp/36North/2 refers).

45. On the 20th July 2018, the software developers resigned from their employment with Bland to join 36 North. The resulting loss of staff undermined the ability of Bland to fulfil their NSCIS contractual obligations following the departure of Perez and Cornelio from the company.

46. On the 2nd August 2018 Cornelio wrote to one of the developers regarding Gaggero attempting to retain Bland projects saying, "In order to keep things smooth we all need to leave asap, leaving him no option." (Exhibit JC/Whatsapp/TCJB/1 refers). He wrote on the same date, "You will need to make it clear that after the 20th you are finished with Blands. That will ensure that they can't buy time." (Exhibit JC/Whatsapp/TCJB/2 refers).

47. These actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland, by diminishing their IT capabilities [and thereby their ability to maintain the platform] and appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

Appropriation of Business Commenced by Bland - Cornelio

48. During the course of their employment with Bland Cornelio and Perez were involved in a number of projects. These included:

    a. A proposal for the Carnival Corporation for a "Centralised Vessel Security Management System" (Exhibits PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/7 and PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/2 refer); and
    b. A "Ministry of Defence and Public Security Border Management Proposal" for Sao Tome and Principe. (Exhibit PAC/AG/Laptop/1/Doc/1 refers).

49. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, dated the 24th February 2018, (and whilst still employees of Bland) Perez attached a "Letter of Intent". This letter purported that 36 North already had existing international contracts including Carnival Cruises and Sao Tome and Principe. These were in fact contracts that were being negotiated on behalf of Bland. (Exhibit JC/Email/36North refers).

50. In respect of Sao Tome, the proposal stated, "Contract about to be signed for 7 years. Contract worth 1.6m euros with a forecast 20% increase by year 3. Contract starts in Feb 18." Under the heading "Carnival Cruise Lines" is stated, "Currently negotiating an APIS maritime system with Carnival who dominates 70% of the Cruise liner industry. A pilot platform has already been designed and discussed with Carnival CEO. A visit by Carnival's Head of Security and International representative will be visiting us in Mar 2018. Negotiation ongoing. Contract worth £175k per year."

51. It is clear that Cornelio and Perez intended to dishonestly appropriate the business of Bland commenced by them as employees of Bland and obtain the benefits for 36 North.

52. In respect of the Sao Tome and Principe agreement, Cornelio specifically ensured that any signature would take place after he had resigned from Bland when he stated on the 24th July 2018, "We can agree on timeline and agree a date to sign contract. After the 10th August" (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCEA refers).

53. Both Sao Tome and Principe and the Carnival Security Management System continued to appear on the Agenda for 36 North after both Perez and Cornelio had left Bland. (Exhibit PAC/JU3/SSD0/Doc/8 refers).

Pressure on HM Government of Gibraltar - Cornelio

54. Following his departure from Bland and termination of the consultancy period, Cornelio sought to apply pressure on HMGoG to transfer the NSCIS platform maintenance contract. In particular he used connections with Chipol, Levy and John Rodriguez, the Collector of Customs.

55. Paragraphs 56 to 70 (below) refer to communications between Cornelio and Chipol.

56. On the 14th September 2018 Cornelio wrote, "Aaron .. grateful if you could send the following email on your behalf to Caine." He then proceeded to type out a prepared email which finished, "With regards to the National Security platform, there are many features that I would like to engage with Tommy in order so that he may incorporate as we have always done. Could you provide me with an update on this as we need to continue working with him as soon as possible." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCAC/2 refers).

[redacted]

61. On the 15th October 2018, Cornelio wrote, in respect of the frontier queues, "Try and put some pressure on Blands saying you need this sorted by today. Has been down for quite some time now." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCAC/12 refers).

62. On the 16th October 2018 he wrote with regard to Bland, "Mandale un email a Jonathan saying you need everything up and running today." He followed this up with a text on the 18th October saying, "Maybe an email to CM letting him know about the meeting and that they are asking for more time." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCAC/14 refers).

63. On the 30th October 2018 he again wrote to Chipol, "If you have the time you can email the CM expressing your concerns, that they keep giving excuses and they are not able to deliver." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCAC/17 refers).

64. On the 31st October he wrote, "If you manage to speak to Caine let me know, as I believe he is insisting on more complaints going to CM so that he acts on it." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCAC/20 refers).

65. On the 4th November he asked, "If you are able send CM an email saying you don't see how they can run with national security and continue developing the platform as neither the vision or skillset is there." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCAC/22 refers).

66. On the 20th November 2018 Cornelio wrote, "Msg from Caine … CM is under the impression that things are now stable [redacted]".

[redacted]

71. Paragraphs 72 to 80 (below) refer to communications between Cornelio and Levy.

72. On the 21st August, whilst still in the consultancy period, Cornelio wrote, "Dear James, would it be possible to sit down with you or the CM to try and move forward with out projects? I currently have a lot of work on hold pending this decision." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/3 refers).

73. On the 29th August 2018 he similarly wrote, "Dear James, please try and get me a 10 min slot for me to meet the CM. I believe I am best placed to explain the entire situation and advise the best technical solution possible." (Exhibit JC/WHATSAPP/TCJL/8 refers).
