(2) In the case of any fire officer, police officer, (my emphasis) prison officer, customs officer or port officer the Governor, on the advice of the Government, may require such officer to retire from the public service under the Government at any time after he has attained the age of fifty years and retirement shall be compulsory for every such officer on attaining the age of fifty - five years (my emphasis) Provided that the Governor shall, in exceptional circumstances and on the recommendation of the Government, increase the compulsory retirement age in this subsection with respect to a particular police, fire, prison, customs or port officer or officers.

However, the Act goes on to define a Police Officer under the "Interpretation" as;

"Police Officer" includes all members of the civil police force other than the Commissioner of Police (my emphasis) The same is true of the respective heads of the Port, Prison and Fire services;

"Port Officer" means an officer of the Gibraltar Port Authority of a marine grade, other than the Captain of the Port

"Prison officer" includes all members of the prison service other than the Superintendent of the Prison.

"Fire Officer" includes all members of the fire service other than the Chief Fire Officer

Therefore, neither the age of 55, nor the powers of the Governor to exceptionally increase the compulsory age as stipulated at 8.(1) (2) above, apply to the Commissioner of Police. As a result he cannot be considered to have retired at age 55 by "operation of the law" as stated under 11.A(1) of the Social Insurance (Contributions)

Regulations above. The CoP normal retirement age would therefore be 60 and not the compulsory retirement age of 55. I can confirm that I have cross checked this against Mr Louis Wink's and Mr Eddie Yome's insurance records (both previous CoP) and that the same applied.

I note that a set of circumstances were agreed prior to his retirement; however, I regret to inform you that I have no scope within the legislation for discretion on my part.

It may be possible to amend the Pensions Act, but this would be outside of my remit. I would recommend a steer / advice from the Principal Auditor on any changes being considered to the Act as it will have an effect on the heads of other services as highlighted above.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of any further assistance. (please note my landline is down and is reported; I am available on mobile/WhatsApp if you want to discuss the above.)

Best regards

Nich

You will recall during my final e-mail exchanges with you on 8th June 2020 that I made certain requests on the conditions for my early retirement. These conditions I had also discussed with Nick Pyle who was the interim Governor at the time. He relayed these conditions to you and an exchange of emails between you and I ensued. Of the 5 conditions I put forward you did not accept one and partially accepted another one, i.e. the claim for payment until end of contract and my legal fees. The other conditions were accepted. One of these related to my pension where I asked that this be worked out based on my salary at the time. Under this condition I also expressed my understanding that my pension would be taxable until I attained the age of 55. There was tacit approval from you on this and based of this agreement I worked out my pension/gratuity package for my future income.

It is evident that the compulsory retirement age being referred to by SI contributions section is not applicable to my case for the reasons already alluded to above. I respectfully ask that you impart the conditions of my early retirement to the SI contributions and PAYE sections respectively so that they can action accordingly.

Look forward to hearing from you.

Dear Darren –

By way of update I attach a letter from the Income Tax Office dated 11th May which I have only received in the mail today informing me that my application for Essential Credits has not been approved. As you know, the implications of this non approval is that my pension will remain taxable until I attain the age of 60 which is contrary to what we agreed on my retirement.

I know you are waiting for the Director of Social Insurance, Nicholas Richardson, to return from leave next week to action the conditions we agreed for my retirement but I nonetheless wanted to share with you the correspondence I have received from the Tax Office. Evidently the matter will not be resolved in time for the payment of this month's pension but I trust it will be resolved as soon as possible when Mr Richardson returns to work.

For your information I have also attached a copy of my warrant of appointment, issued by HE The Governor under section 3.2 of the Police Act 2006 (itself a statutory instrument) which highlights the term of office as four years and which by default confirms that my compulsory retirement age was not 60 years as is being interpreted by the Tax Office.

As you copied Nicholas Richardson in our last exchange I have done likewise in the hope that the matter is expedited on his return to the office.

Best wishes

Dear Tony,

Firstly apologies for not having replied sooner. I do understand the positon and that under the Police Regulations the rules may not allow the actual claiming of TOIL, untaken rest days and public holiday. Nevertheless, a commitment was made to the Ex Commissioner of Police to have these days, which seem to have been recorded, paid to him exceptionally as part of his retirement package. Is it my understanding that these days have not yet been made payable to Mr McGrail?

If this has not yet been processed then a possible solution to the above would be to explore and consider the awarding of an ex-gratia payment and equate the amount owed under such agreement as a one off payment to regularise this matter.

I would welcome your views and recommendations.

Kind regards

Dear Collin,

I refer to my email below in connection with the claim for rest days by the outgoing Commissioner of Police, Mr Ian McGrail.

I should be grateful for your comments specifically regarding paragraph 3(a) of my email below (highlighted in yellow). I am aware that the payment of untaken rest days and public holidays made to Mr McGrail was treated exceptionally and therefore approved by the Chief Secretary on this basis as part of his retirement arrangements. However, the rules clearly do not allow such payments and consequently there is a need for your department to inform the Commissioner of Police that claims for payments of untaken rest days and public holidays is not allowed.

I look forward to your reply.

Subject: Commissioner of Police Mr I McGrail - Claim for Rest Days Worked

Dear Collin,

1. By cover of memorandum dated 11 June 2020 (see copy attached) you requested the Accountant General, in connection with Commissioner of Police McGrail's retirement on 10 June 2020, that he make arrangements to pay Mr McGrail 47 days of untaken annual leave and 61 accumulated rest days similarly untaken. The payment of untaken annual leave in addition to untaken days off in lieu were approved for payment by the Chief Secretary.

2. The 47 days of untaken annual leave represents a sum payment of £25,217.80; whilst the 61 untaken rest days amounts to £32,729.49, a total of £57,947.29 payable in untaken leave.

3. However, I would like to bring to your attention the following observations in relation to the payment of the untaken rest days.

   (a) There appears to be no provision in the Police Regulations, nor in the Police Conditions of Service, that allows the Commissioner of Police, to be eligible to, or to claim, rest days and public holidays which he has been unable to take because of work commitments. Similarly, the rank of Superintendent is also not included as a police grade eligible to get time-off for working on rest days and public holidays. Mr McGrail has claimed 33 days of untaken rest days as a Superintendent, in addition to 28 days of untaken rest days as Commissioner of Police, a total of 61 days of untaken rest days and public holidays.

   (b) Nevertheless, further examination of the reasons for claiming untaken rest days shows that 11 days out of the 56 days claimed (marked in yellow in the chart below) refer to travelling time which is correctly allowed to be claimed by civil servants requiring to travel on official business during rest days or public holidays. Hence, Mr McGrail is legitimately entitled to claim a total of 11 rest days during which he was on business travel.

   (c) The Commissioner of Police, in addition to the Assistant Commissioner of Police, has an annual leave allowance of 42 days (48 days after 10 years) pursuant to General Orders. These two grades have the highest annual leave allowance in the civil service, as the majority of grades in the Service have a maximum of 30 days of annual leave per calendar year. Although I cannot find anything that explains the reasons for these two senior police grades having a higher level of annual leave, I would guess that the higher leave allowance for these police officers is to compensate for any additional police work that these officers are required to undertake on rest days and public holidays, however, this is just an assumption on my part.

   (d) The 33 days of untaken rest days worked as Superintendent were authorised to be taken 'in lieu' by the previous Commissioner of Police Mr Eddie Yome, or by the Chief Superintendent Mr Richard Mifsud; however, the 28 untaken rest days worked as Commissioner of Police have been authorised to be taken in lieu by Mr McGrail himself which is not an acceptable practice.

Commissioner of Police Mr I McGrail - Claim for Rest Days Worked

Grade	Date	Number of Days	Reason for working on Rest Day

Subject: RE: Commissioner of Police - Mr Ian McGrail - Pension and Gratuity Award

Dear Mr Grech,

Further to my email hereunder I have now been informed by the Principal Auditor that there must be a mention of the provision in which the Commissioner is to early retire. In view of this please find hereunder the amended email which includes this, therefore I would be grateful if you could officially sign this email thread, scan and revert to us as soon as possible to be able to activate the pension and gratuity payment to ratify this retirement:

I have been instructed by the Human Resources Manager to seek the necessary approvals and your official signature to finalise Mr Ian Mc Grails Pension Process.

As you are aware Mr McGrail's request for early retirement and receive a pension award under the provisions of 6.1 (a)(i) of the Pensions Act was accepted and approved by His Excellency the Governor. Mr McGrail's Pension and Gratuity Award was processed immediately due to the urgency and upon the instructions that had been received at the time via email correspondence. Nevertheless the Gibraltar Audit Office require the following to complete the instruction under the provisions of the Pensions Act:

1) Although the Governor approved and signed the Early Retirement your official signature as the Chief Secretary is also required.
2) That confirmation is given that the agreement undertaken for Mr McGrail as listed below, is personal to holder, and no one else will benefit from such arrangements. It was confirmed that the following points where negotiated and forms part of the retirement agreement and will be paid to Mr McGrail under exceptional circumstances in full and final settlement of any claims, whatsoever and howsoever arising.

   (i) untaken leave will be paid;

   (ii) days off in lieu which have not been taken as leave will be paid;

   (iii) pension will be agreed at current salary;

   (iv) no sum can be paid in respect of months not worked or due as holiday and/or time in lieu;

   (v) I agree to a reimbursement of legal fees capped at a maximum of £2,500.

In view of the above and to expedite matters the Gibraltar Audit Office will accept your approval of this email and an officially signed scanned copy carrying your approval of your signature enclosed in this email.

Kind regards

Lyzanne

Dear Mr Grech,

Further approval is sought to allow Mr McGrail to be the recipient of the payment of a reduced pension and gratuity award.

Mr McGrail has been allowed to retire before the age of 55, under the provisions of the Pensions Act 6. 1. (a) (i), nevertheless a further formal signed approval is required to allow for the Pension Award to be processed as a reduced pension and gratuity payment, rather than a 100% commutation award that is granted to officers who are eligible to retire before the age of 55.

I apologise for this omission in my email of yesterday and for the inconvenience. However, would be grateful to receive a signed scanned copy of this email to finalise this process.

Kind regards

Many thanks Giselle,

The timing was very good, because coincidentally the Treasury messenger was here in our office delivering mail when you sent the email so he managed to take Mr McGrail's pension file, with the printed email duly signed by the Chief Secretary, immediately to the Financial Secretary.

Thank you once again,

Best regards,
Tony

I've acknowledged and said I would confirm terms with the Chief Secretary and revert accordingly.

I'll then write approving the request and ask that we discuss media handling with a view to statements at 15.00 or as early as you deem fit.

9th June 2020

His Excellency Nick Pyle OBE
Governor
The Convent
Gibraltar

Your Excellency,

Further to our meetings, discussions and correspondence of the last weeks and yesterday, I respectfully submit my application for early retirement from my post as Commissioner of the Royal Gibraltar Police on the following terms;

(i) Untaken leave will be paid
(ii) Days off in lieu which have not been taken as leave will be paid.
(iii) Pension will be calculated at current salary. Payments to begin on 1st July 2020.
(iv) A contribution of £2500 towards my legal fees.

Should you agree, I would relinquish command of the RGP by 1800Hrs on Tuesday 9th June 2020.

Yours sincerely

Hi.

As Minister for Finance, my position is as follows:

1. Untaken leave allowance should be paid;

2. Days off in lieu which have not been taken as leave should be paid;

3. Pension can be agreed at current salary. This may require consent of the Principal Auditor as a formality.

4. No sum should be paid in respect of months not worked or due as holiday / time in lieu.

5. The flaws in the GPA process here were not the flaws which were addressed in Mr McGrail's lawyers letters. Much of what is contained in the letters is a recitation of unjustified allegations. The GPA should nonetheless, in recognition of its problems with quorum, agree to make a contribution to his proper costs. These should be capped at a maximum of £2,500.

I hope this is helpful.

Best wishes

Fabian

Finally, I feel entitled to retire in the same position I would have done so had I not been practically compelled to retire which is why I included the remaining months of salary as a consideration. If this is not possible, would you consider 12 months salary instead?

I look forward to hearing from you. If you feel we can discuss the matter over the phone please do let me know.

I appreciate that Caine's immediate reply shows my email being sent at 09:44, however I must be guided by the timestamp on my own email.

HMGoG would have had the right to use the system either through its ownership of the system having received a direct assignment from OSG or by way of some form of licence from OSG. Having a right to use the system, HMGoG would also be able to direct third parties to use the system. I therefore feel that is not necessary for me to give a view as to any dispute regarding ownership of the system nor do I consider this the appropriate forum to air any differences.

I trust that you will find this statement duly signed. I am sending you a hard copy by hand. I am grateful if you would kindly confirm receipt.

Dear Mr Mena,

RE: RGP Statement

Thank you for providing a draft copy of your statement. I have now had the opportunity to review the document and have made very minor changes [in particular regarding the times of the emails] which I have highlighted in yellow. I have also transferred the text onto a police witness statement form (see attached).

The only matter that I would ask you to consider is the asserted ownership of the NSCIS platform by HMGoG. So far all of our evidence [in respect of ownership] is based upon statements provided by Bland Limited. This is at odds with the contention [made by the suspects] that the platform was Government owned, and that acting on instructions from Mr Sanchez, they were authorised to carry out various acts. In this interests of fairness to the suspects, and for the sake of clarity, I would be grateful if you would consider outlining HMGoG's position in this regard. You may wish to simply add a brief sentence to paragraph 5 explaining that ownership is disputed.

Dated the 24 day of October 2019

1. My name is Albert Anthony Mena. I am the Financial Secretary to Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ("HMGoG") and have been in office since September 2014. I am, amongst other duties and responsibilities, ultimately responsible for all payments made or to be made by HMGoG.

2. Each year an Approved Government of Gibraltar Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure ("Estimates") is laid before Parliament typically towards the end of June. The preparation of this document is particularly intense around April.

3. The Estimates sets out the Controlling Officers who have controlling responsibilities over their respective heads of expenditure. Controlling officers bear responsibility for signing-off on payments for their respective heads but the Financial Secretary has the authority to direct a controlling officer to effect payment or to make direct payments without controlling officer sign-off in the interests of the reputation of Gibraltar. This is an authority that I have rarely used since my appointment in 2014.

4. One of the entries in the Controlling Officers list is "PSO" which relates to "Principal Secretary, Operations, Deputy Chief Minister's Office". Up until his interdiction, Mr Caine Sanchez was the Principal Secretary, Operations, to the Deputy Chief Minister's Office and will have had controlling officer duties over the associated heads of expenditure.

5. The Bland Group has a wide commercial relationship with HMGoG, part of which involves a contract for the provision of reporting and security services by OSG Limited at the various entry points into Gibraltar. The agreement originated as a reporting service for HMGoG to report on border fluidity however, over time the agreement evolved and took on a security based dimension. As a bespoke system developed for HMGoG, the system is a work in progress and system faults, malfunctions and improvements are all dealt with on an ongoing basis. The OSG agreement falls under the PSO's head of expenditure although various HMGoG departments, agencies and authorities also have direct access to the system provided by OSG.

6. It came to my attention that OSG claimed that they had not been paid by HMGoG for approximately 6 months in respect of the agreement and that this was due to Mr Sanchez not releasing the payment. I cannot recall the exact dates but expect that I was advised of this around February or March 2019, with the payments having been held up since around September 2018. My immediate reaction was that this was unusual and I attempted to find out why.

7. I joined the Chief Minister, the Hon Fabian Picardo QC, and Mr Javier Redondo, Private Secretary to the Chief Minister, when they met Mr James Gaggero, the Chairman to the Bland Group (the "Chairman"). The Chairman claimed to have commissioned a report from PwC in respect of the system. The Chairman also claimed that since two former OSG employees (Mr John Perez and Mr Tommy Cornello) had departed from OSG, the system had been interfered with [redacted] The Chairman stated that he intended on taking appropriate action and that he would send the report to the Royal Gibraltar Police. The Chairman also raised the fact that OSG had not being paid for some time, which is primarily why I participated in the meeting.

8. I raised this matter directly with Mr Sanchez who explained that the reason for withholding payment was that, [redacted]

9. Shortly thereafter the Chairman phoned me to chase a payment of outstanding sums, Mr Sanchez was away at the time and I explained that this payment would need to involve Mr Sanchez as controlling officer with overall responsibility for the contract under which the payment would be engaged. At this stage the Chairman admitted to me that he had experienced personal difficulties with Mr Sanchez. I further explained that I was not prepared to approve the payment over Mr Sanchez's head.

10. Under the agreement there are a number of HMGOG departments, agencies and authorities that are the recipient of these services from OSG. I initially asked Mr Redondo to meet with the senior management of each of these departments, agencies and authorities who reported via Mr Redondo that the services were satisfactory. I then attended further meetings with these senior managers [redacted]

11. I requested and obtained a breakdown of the OSG service fee arrangement from Mr Sanchez and determined how this sum was quantified. The service fee was comprised by a series of individual components. I calculated a partial payment of the monthly service fee owed to OSG that would exclude those service components that were not being delivered satisfactorily by OSG. I did this with a view to acting fairly and unblocking the main dispute. I had calculated that a fair payment would be in the region o[redacted]per month out of a total fee of aroun[redacted]per month.

12. My next step was to meet with Mr Sanchez where I explained that I thought it reasonable for HMGoG to make a partial payment to OSG given that the service had been partly delivered to HMGoG. I further explained to Mr Sanchez that to withhold the entirety of the service fee was not acceptable in these circumstances. I asked Mr Sanchez to make a fair assessment as to how much he would be prepared to pay OSG and Mr Sanchez suggested an amount o[redacted] This was not far from the sum o[redacted]that I had in my mind. Mr Sanchez explained to me that he would not have a disagreement with me over a difference o[redacted]and that as controlling officer he was prepared to make a monthly service fee payment o[redacted] Mr Sanchez made me aware that he had had a disagreement with the Chairman at a personal level however, Mr Sanchez's response inspired confidence that we would be able to arrive at a sum that would be acceptable to both him and the Chairman.

13. The service provided by OSG centres around a high value software package that holds several data inputs together. When I met with HMGoG department, agency and authority officers that use the system [redacted]

14. During my meetings with HMGoG department, agency and authority officers that use the system, I was made aware that the system had been developed and serviced by an employee from OSG named Mr Cornelio. Although I never met Mr Cornelio, it was made clear to me that he had provided a thoroughly dedicated service to HMGoG

Signed: _____ Signature Witnessed by: _____

from system inception and that he provided a highly responsive personal response to all enquiries. Once Mr Cornelio's employment with OSG terminated, [redacted]

15. My next attempt to further progress matters was to suggest that an independent protocol be set up to assess the system and I explained this to Mr Sanchez. I did not want OSG to know that we were going to carry out this assessment until it had been completed in order to maximise its independence as the assessment programme involves the use of "mystery shopper" type tests. [redacted] it would have given HMGoG a platform to review and revise the service fee payable to OSG over the 6 month period and beyond. The Chairman had indicated that they had carried out their own independent assessment of the service delivery through PwC, so I made it clear to Mr Sanchez that I intended to appoint one of the other "big four" accounting firms to carry out this assessment.

16. 17. My view at the time was that an independent accounting firm would have been far better placed to carry out a neutral and dispassionate review of OSG's service. This could be achieved by setting up a standardised testing programme that could be tested periodically and at regular intervals to assess the ongoing functionality of the system. The Chairman would also find it challenging to claim that an independent accountant's report was biased or inaccurate. Given that a large part of the payment backlog had been resolved, I expected a grace period during which I could focus on the Estimates and foresaw engaging this after Estimates were submitted.

17. On 16 April 2019 at 09:03 I received an email from Mr Sanchez with a system report attached (the "Report"). A copy of the e-mail I now tender in evidence as Exhibit AAM/1. Whilst I thought that Mr Sanchez's intention was to be proactive in preparing the report, I was surprised and frustrated when I received it for several reasons. The first was that the report would not be treated as independent by OSG, a feature that would have been critical to accurately determining and agreeing the ongoing service fee that HMGoG should pay OSG. This undermined my rationale for initiating the report. I was also concerned that the report had not been based on the same instructions that I would have conveyed to an independent assessor, therefore compromising the quality of the assessment. I was also concerned that Mr Sanchez's email accompanying the report, in stating that he was "not comfortable in proceeding with any further payments until these issues are resolved.", was at odds with my discussion with him whereby we had agreed that the entirety of the service fee should not be withheld. Lastly, I was also frustrated that the report had been sent to me during the Estimates period due to my lack of capacit [redacted]

These failures were also at odds with the feedback I had received when I met with HMGoG departments, agencies and authorities who routinely use the system. I replied to Mr Sanchez on the same day (16 April 2019) at 09:14, 09:36 and 09:45. I now tender copies of these emails in evidence as Exhibit AAM/2.

18. In his email of 09:03, Mr Sanchez states "as per out last conversation, I have conducted a formal review". This does not represent the factual background as I have described it above nor is it consistent with my recollection of events. I did not have any conversation with Mr Sanchez whereby I instructed him to carry out a formal review of the system, irrespective of whether he had the functions to do so at his disposal. My almost immediate email response of 09:14 to Mr Sanchez reflects this. In this email I also state that Mr Sanchez should not have carried out the report and the reasons for doing so have been explained in detail above, together with my preferred method of commissioning a report.

19. The reference in my email of 09:14 to "given your history" referred to the personal disagreement between Mr Sanchez and the Chairman that each of them had made me aware of.

20. On 6 May 2019 I signed an engagement letter on behalf of HMGoG engaging Ernst & Young to carry out an assessment of the service provided by OSG. Save for my engagement of Ernst & Young, I did not instruct Mr Sanchez, Mr Cornelio or any other person to assess the services undertaken by OSG. In ordinary course of events, I would not have instructed Mr Cornelio to carry out services and/or to report or assess the provision of the services to me. I have explained above the reasons for having wanted to instruct an independent accounting firm to carry out these services. The engaged services with Ernst & Young have not been carried out due to the ongoing criminal investigation.

21. Further meetings were organised periodically with service recipients across HMGOG departments, agencies and authorities some attended by Mr Redondo and some by myself. The feedback received was that many elements of the system were satisfactory. At no time has the feedback mirrored or even come close to the findings in the Repor [redacted]

Caine,

That's not the point. We agreed to do this in a coordinated manner – to have reached out to me BEFORE doing them would have been the right thing as I had the courtesy to do with you.

As you well know, and I'm not saying this is right, but with Gaggero these results will be challenged for lack of independence, so we now have a further problem without a solution. I don't think this get us anywhere as you well know other than you setting the timetable at a time in the year where given budgetary pressures I can't attend to this.

In addition, your results (which are concerning) are completely at odds with the reports Iwe (Peter, Javier and I) have received bad [redacted] position I was keen to avoid as it put you in an invidious position.

Dear Albert,

Re: Op Delhi - Hacking of NSCIS platform

Amidst the current pandemic crisis, we find ourselves having to also deal with a host of 'normal' matters and it is on this note that I write to you to try resolve and a key issue concerning an on-going investigation the RGP is conducting.

You will recall the investigation the RGP commenced in late December 2018 into an alleged attempt to defraud Bland Limited of the National Security Central Intelligence System ("the NSCIS platform") maintenance contract and computer hacking related offences. In furtherance of this, former employees of Bland Limited, John Perez, Thomas Cornelio and Edward Asquez were arrested on the 10th May 2019.

On the 13th May 2019, you and I attended a meeting with the Chief Minster, together with Minister Costa (the then MoJ), the Director of Public Prosecutions, Mr Rocca, the Chief Secretary, Mr Grech, and Superintendent Richardson. During this meeting I outlined our suspicion that Caine Sanchez may have committed criminal offences and of our intent to arrest him. The Chief Minister mentioned his belief that the ownership of the NSCIS platform was in dispute and that HMGoG should be the complainant in this matter.

On the 17th July 2019 you met with Detective Inspector Wyan and Detective Sergeant Clarke of our Crime Division with regards to a witness statement in support of the investigation. One of the lines of enquiry we needed to close was that of the ownership of the platform, an issue which was discussed at this meeting. On the 17th October 2019 you provided a draft copy of your statement, however, the issue of ownership was not covered. As a result, on the 22nd October, DI Wyan sought clarification as to whether you would consider outlining the position of HMGoG in this regard. You responded on the 27th October 2019, stating that you did not feel it necessary to give a view on ownership, nor that it was the appropriate forum to air any differences. A copy of your response is attached.

During the course of this investigation Bland Limited have made clear the legal basis on which they assert ownership as well providing evidence in support. This includes a master software development and maintenance agreement, which although unsigned, reflected their understanding of the terms and conditions upon which the NSCIS platform was provided to HMGoG. This is further corroborated by monthly payments made by HMGoG to Bland Limited (in respect of the NSCIS platform) under the head "Software Licence Fee." They have also provided additional evidence by way of correspondence in support of their position including correspondence with Caine Sanchez.

The Director of Public Prosecutions has advised that the issue of ownership of the platform is integral to the prosecution of this case. This is based, in part, on statements made on 26th July 2019 by two of the subjects under investigation that the platform is owned by HMGoG. You will appreciate that this point needs clarification in fairness to the accused.

Those arrested continue on police bail. The RGP finds itself in an awkward position - in the absence of a definitive response, and by this I mean a witness statement by HMGoG as to the ownership of the NSCIS platform, we will have to rely upon the evidence provided by Bland Limited, who have emphatically asserted their ownership of the platform from the onset of this investigation and on whose evidence we have based all our activity.

I look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Yours,

Dear Commissioner,

I refer to your letter of today, for which I thank you.

I would like to clarify from the outset that, as Financial Secretary, my involvement in this matter, as is clear from the Witness Statement I have provided, is in relation to financial matters, as indeed it is for all financial matters concerning HM Government of Gibraltar.

In my reply of 25 October 2019 to Detective Inspective Wyan's email of 22 October 2019 I sought to confine myself to the financial matters that were in issue. I did not, and still do not, consider it appropriate for me to make statements on matters that go beyond that, especially in the context of a matter that I had not been involved in from the beginning. So it was with a view to being cautious and proper that I confined myself in my reply to state what I considered was relevant for me to state and within my capacity as Financial Secretary.

I did go to see the Chief Secretary upon receiving Detective Inspective Wyan's email and discussed it with him. I assumed that the question of ownership would then be addressed to or by him, as the relevant competent officer within the Government.

As it transpires, the RGP never received a reply from the Government to the question as to whether the Government asserts ownership of the NSCIC platform.

I have brought this matter to the attention of the Chief Secretary who will be replying to you separately.

I would like to thank you for the opportunity to explain the nature of my reply of 25 October 2019.

Yours sincerely,

Albert Mena

Michael,

I think this reads well and is consistent with my own understanding. I have added some explanation below for Darren's/your benefit.

I have added a little language to the statement on the redesign of the system (tracked). This I understand it the process was iterative, in other words, changes were made, the system was improved and then further changes were made and so on.

An example of this is that the frontier cameras just picked up the flow. They then introduced the capacity to pick up the number plates of cars. From there the ability to search if a car had left / re-entered Gibraltar was added. Then this resulted in the cameras being too good in that you could identify who was in the car as well as the driver, which meant the feed to the frontier camera output had to be reduced in quality whilst the cameras still picked up and recorded cars. When this worked other cameras with ANPR (numberplate recognition) were installed in key locations in Gibraltar and this was fed into the system allowing the police to search for movements of vehicles where they were trying to pin down the movements of people. This I hope gives you a flavour of the changes to the process and how to my mind this was iterative.

The same happened with individuals at the frontier and entry points as they worked on facial recognition and so on.

Passenger manifest for aircraft was another improvement. Which I can explain.

The mobile scanners in my discussions with Nicholas, which I stopped as a result of ownership concerns, is another area of constant improvement and innovation which would have allowed a mobile checking of people. Government makes all of these decisions with the provider. The proposal would mean that officers could go an greet yachts when they arrive and check those on board as opposed to a declaration at an office in the marina. This has numerous benefits which we can discuss later.

All of these are the iterative improvements that were added to the system, all involving a cost / benefit analysis and thereby taking place with Government. Some of these were at the suggestion of Government, others by the supplier others in joint discussions. Whilst a number of these were made in my time post Caine, the mobile scanners is the first time I was sent an agreement which I rejected for the reasons set out in the attached.

Happy to discuss later.

Kind regards

Albert

Darren I then suggest that you either ask DCM or you get someone in your office to ask CS where the files are. There is no way you can do the WS without sight of at least that agreement of 2015.

Otherwise tomorrow 3.00pm good for me.

SUPPLEMENTARY WITNESS STATEMENT.

This statement (consisting of [X] page(s) each signed by me) is true to the best of my knowledge and belief and I make it knowing that if it is tendered in evidence I shall be liable to prosecution if I have wilfully stated in it anything which I know to be false or do not believe to be true.

My name is Darren Grech. I am currently employed as Chief Secretary by Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar (HMGoG).

I am making this Supplementary Witness Statement further to the first Witness Statement I made dated 21 January 2020.

This Supplementary Witness is made pursuant to a letter I received from the Commissioner of Police, Mr Ian McGrail OTM MSc, dated 14 April 2020. I now tender in evidence "Exhibit DG/3" a copy of the said letter.

In that letter, the Commissioner has requested that I provide "as much detail as possible on the subject of ownership" of the NSCIC platform. The Commissioner stated that this "will necessitate not only the assertion that HMGoG are the legal owners of the platform, but also the basis of that belief, as well as any evidence in support of that position".

The purpose of this Supplementary Witness Statement is to provide such information.

In answer to the Commissioner's request I can say the following:

The Bland Group has a wide commercial relationship with HMGoG. This includes an arrangement for the provision of reporting and security services by OSG Limited, a company in the Bland Group, at the various entry points into Gibraltar (the "Services"). That arrangement existed before I took office as Chief Secretary. To the best of my knowledge it has existed for around four to five years.

I have asked to be shown a copy of the written contract between HMGoG and OSG Limited pursuant to which the latter provides the Services to the former. I have been informed that no such contract exists and, to the best of my knowledge, I believe this to be true.

It appears to me to be relevant to start by saying that both parties agree that there is a dispute as to the ownership of the NSCIC platform. For instance, in an email dated as recently as Monday 2 March 2020 sent at 20:02 hrs by HMGoG's Financial Secretary to Mr Nicholas Gaggero of the Bland Group, the Financial Secretary stated as follows:

> "As you know at present there is a level of dispute between us as to ownership of the NSCIC system that has been developed for Government. I prefer not to go into the detail save to say that agreeing to the statement of work would effectively signify our agreement with the ownership of the Intellectual Property. This would have an impact not just on this module of work but by extension to the whole NCIS system".

Mr Gaggero replied almost immediately, at 20:35 hrs, as follows:

> "I understand. Let me take this offline and come back to you tomorrow with a proposal to overcome this issue".

That exchange originated in an email sent by Mr Gaggero to the Financial Secretary dated Thursday 20 February 2020 in which Mr Gaggero made a proposal for the provision by the Bland Group of a further service to HMGoG, namely, a mobile passport scanning application for Gibraltar's law enforcement agencies. Attached to Mr Gaggero's email was a draft Statement of Work which had a proposed clause on "Intellectual Property" which provided that "[t]he compiled final system as well as the source code will remain the intellectual property of Bland Group". It is this that the Financial Secretary contested, and which Mr Gaggero accepted as being contested, in their email exchange of Monday 2 March 2020.

I now tender in evidence "Exhibit DG/4" a copy of the said emails of Thursday 20 February 2020 and Monday 2 March 2020.

Two matters appear to me to be clear from the foregoing:

- there is no written contract between HMGoG and OSG/Bland Group that could have clarified the question of ownership of the NSCIC platform; and
- there is a very clear disagreement between the parties on the question of ownership.

Thus, although there has clearly been an arrangement between HMGoG and OSG/Bland Group whereby the latter has been providing the Services to the former, and even if one were to consider that that arrangement constitutes an implied or oral agreement between the parties, on which I do not express any view, the stark reality is that, as the exchange of emails of Monday 2 March 2020 between the Financial Secretary and Mr Nicholas Gaggero shows, both parties agree that there exists a dispute as to the ownership of the NCSIS platform.

Even though he was the principal civil servant involved in the operation of the Services, I have refrained from consulting Mr Caine Sanchez for the preparation of this Supplementary Witness Statement. However, all HMGoG officials I have consulted [who can we name here other than FS?] are unanimous in the view that they never had any doubt that HMGoG was indeed the owner of the NCSIS platform.

For instance, I have been informed and, to the best of my knowledge, I believe this to be true, that originally OSG Limited was asked to develop a limited CCTV system to monitor movements at the border which was required by HMGoG for the purposes of compiling data on queuing times at the border. This was for the purposes of an investigation being conducted by the European Commission on border delays applied by Spain. It was a basic system that merely captured data on flow at the border. That arrangement was subsequently extended to cover other entry points in Gibraltar. This led to an iterative process whereby the system was repeatedly expanded and redesigned and became what is in place today, a platform which considerably different and more sophisticated than the original frontier camera system. In particular, I have been informed and, to the best of my knowledge, I believe this to be true, that HMGoG was intrinsically involved in the redesign and development of the platform; that all key decisions in relation to the platform were taken by HMGoG; that the decisions concerning the addition of users of the platform were taken by HMGoG; that the cameras used for the collection of the data are all owned by HMGoG; that at all times HMGoG has had complete control over the data; that the data was being used by HMGoG, and that OSG knew fully well that the data was being used by HMGoG, for sharing with third parties including law enforcement agencies in Gibraltar and elsewhere, and not least the European Commission. Indeed, that was the very purpose for the original need of the platform.

I have further been informed and, to the best of my knowledge, I believe this to be true, that HMGoG pays OSG/Bland Group a sum of approximately [£66,000693.75] per month for the operation of the NCSIS platform. This appears to me to be a very considerable amount of money which, it seems to me, confirms that HMGoG was paying in consideration for, inter alia, full ownership of the NCSIS platform otherwise that sum appears to me to make very little sense.

Finally, I am clearly not privy to what arguments OSG/Bland Group have put forward to the Royal Gibraltar Police to allege ownership of the NCSIS platform, let alone the detail of that argument, the basis of their belief or any evidence that they have put forward to support their assertion. In light of what I truly believe to be the true position on that matter, as set out in this Supplementary Witness Statement, such assertions cannot be based on any written contract nor, indeed, on any written or oral evidence and HMGoG strongly contests such assertions.

Furthermore, I have been advised by the Government Law Offices that, in the absence of a written contract setting out the position on ownership in clear and unambiguous language, it is indeed very difficult for OSG/Bland Group to make such an assertion.

Thank you for your email. I am also in receipt of Darren's, and will reply to him separately, and of course copy you to that reply.

I can confirm that immediately on hearing of your concerns, as expressed to me in person on Friday 19 July, I gave instruction that Mr Tommy Cornelio should not be allowed access to Government premises or computers until further notice. To my knowledge, this exclusion has been adhered to. Wright Tech Media has been advised that Mr Cornelio much not have any such access in exercising any of their obligations in any contact that they may have with Government.

I will address other matters in my reply to Darren.

Subject: Tommy Cornelio

Dear Minister,

I write further to our recent exchange in connection with the direct or indirect provision of services by Tommy Cornelio to HMGoG.

By way of background, you are aware that a senior civil servant (Caine Sanchez) has been arrested by the RGP and interdicted by HMGoG on suspicion of misconduct. There is an ongoing criminal investigation connected to this arrest whereby a number of other individuals have also been arrested, one of whom is Tommy Cornelio.

On Wednesday 16 July 2019 I met with two RGP officers in connection with their investigation. The crux of our discussion revolved around whether I had instructed Caine Sanchez to prepare a report on the delivery of a service by a third party (OSG/Blands) and whether I had authorised Tommy Cornelio (ex-OSG/Blands employee) to be granted access to HMGoG systems in order to prepare this report, or otherwise. The answers to both of these questions was negative. I confirmed that I had met with Caine and others to discuss the issue with the delivery by OSG and agreed we would be outsourcing the report to an independent third party (probably a firm of accountants) and that I had not in any way whatsoever authorised Tommy Cornelio to have access to HMGoG systems to prepare the report, or otherwise.

I expanded on my replies in terms of HMGoG policy. Policy would dictate that a report of this nature should have been carried out by an independent third party for obvious reasons: namely so that it could be relied on by both HMGoG and Blands. Policy would also prevent someone like Tommy being granted access to HMGoG systems to prepare a report given that his impartiality would be compromised due to conflict of interest and his previous role with OSG.

It was brought to my attention early morning on Friday 19 July 2019 that HMGoG had concluded (or was about to conclude) a contract with Wright Tech Media. I was also informed that Wright Tech Media relied heavily on the provision of services by Tommy Cornelio them and that these services required Tommy Cornelio to have access to HMGoG systems as well as being present on HMGoG premises.

Notwithstanding my intense diary obligations, I met urgently with your Stephen Warr on Friday morning (with Liesl on the line) and voiced my concerns. Given HMGoG's interdiction of Caine Sanchez, I find it unfathomable that HMGoG would entertain receipt of any services directly or indirectly from one of those individuals arrested as part of the criminal investigation until that investigation is closed. This would be consistent with the decision to interdict Caine Sanchez. I also made it clear to Stephen that I would need to contact the RGP and clarify my statement given that my view of HMGoG policy had been compromised by whoever took the decision to enter into this contract. This is no longer a view I will be able to communicate as I am now less able to speak confidently for HMGoG policy on record.

The purpose of this email is for me to have a record of the events that transpired last week and our communication in respect of the same. I appreciate that I have already laboured these points in our discussions but I thought it prudent to have it on email for our respective records.

Albert

You will have seen my reply to Albert of a few minutes ago.
I note your grave concerns, and must reassure you that any impression of misconduct or irresponsibility on the part of either any public servant in any of my departments or, indeed, myself would be totally unfounded.
For such reassurance, I am informed that Mr Cornelio, who I only met for the first time several months ago, has not had any access whatsoever to Government computers or computer systems.
I must point out that at no time have I been formally or informally informed either of Mr Cornelio's criminal investigation, nor indeed of the detail of Mr Sanchez's interdiction, nor have I received any guidance on the matter. I have picked up pieces from the media, or from conversations, but never have I been informed of any facts, nor been given direction as to how to behave towards these individuals. I believe the same to be true for my Departments. Had I had such details, I would have ensured that the access that has now been denied, would have been denied previously.
My comments of course do not imply any guilt on Mr Cornelio who as we know, in law is innocent until otherwise proven in a Court of Law. However, while the case is live, I of course support, the necessary precautionary action taken by you as Chief Secretary both in the case of Mr Sanchez in the civil service context and of Mr Cornelio in being consistent with the latter.
I repeat my confirmation that Mr Cornelio has not had physical or digital access to Government since 19 July, and indeed as I mention above, no digital access at any time.

"Given HMGoG's interdiction of Caine Sanchez, I find it unfathomable that HMGoG would entertain receipt of any services directly or indirectly from one of those individuals arrested as part of the criminal investigation until that investigation is closed."

To avoid any confusion, none of the individuals under investigation are allowed access into any HMGoG building, let alone should be operating any computer housed in such a building, or indeed be remotely accessing data or software which remains directly or indirectly within the domain of HMGoG. I sincerely hope this is not the case given there is an ongoing criminal investigation happening, and, furthermore, that I issued the interdiction order corresponding to Caine Sanchez.

I seek further clarification on this matter.

One of the outcomes of the meeting was for me to provide you with the outstanding monthly invoices since Sep-18 and the discounts for the period. The last payment we received in relation to the NSCIS platform was for the full Aug-18 invoice on 17-Aug-2018 [redacted] These invoices have historically been approved for payment by Caine Sanchez.

I attach the complete invoices for the period Sep-18 to Dec-18 period. However, certain modules of the system have not been operating at 100% since Sep-18 and we are therefore happy to discount the invoices on specific modules as follows:

No.	Service Description	Total Module Value	Discount %	Sep-18 Discount Value	Oct-18 Discount Value	Nov-18 Discount Value	Dec-18 Discount Value
2	Interpol Document Centralization	[redacted]
3	BCA Passport Scanning and Schengen
5a	Frontier Queue Hotline
5d	ANPR Phase 1 & 2
7	Frontier Facial Recognition + Management

10	Cruise Terminal Facial Recognition + Management	[redacted]
13	GIB Airport Facial Recognition
16	APIS Maritime Licence Fee
18	Port ANPR Licence Fee x6
	Total

Total Invoice		[redacted]
Revised Invoice
	% Total Discount

The above represents a total discount over the 4 months of [redacted] We shall issue a credit note for this amount once we receive confirmation from your side.
The main issues Bland Group software team are currently working on to resolve relate to ANPR (number plate recognition) cameras at the Port/Frontier exit and the APIS maritime module.
Javi Redondo attended the last NSCIS meeting held with all law enforcement users and may be able to provide further background on the above.
If you need any further information on the invoice/services/discounts I am happy to discuss.

Dear Philip,

Yes, in terms of payments going forward, I think this is what I have already said in my summary.

Please send your invoices to the Chief Secretary (whom I have copied) for settlement going forward.

Kind regards

Albert

Dear Albert,

Thank you for your time in addressing this matter in a fair and reasonable manner.

Following on from our discussions on the financial aspects and based on the revised NSCIS settlement, attached please find the credit note fo[redacted] which covers the 29 month period from Sep-18 to Jan-21.

As from Feb-21 the NSCIS invoice will be revised to the agreed monthly total [redacted] as follows:

[redacted]

Should we continue to send this invoice to the Chief Secretary?

I also take this opportunity to attach the invoice in relation to the delivery of Mobile Passport Scanner application for [redacted] as per the agreed statement of work.

Please advise if anything further is required on this matter from my side.

Dear Nicholas,

I refer to the meeting that took place by Teams on Wednesday 27 January 2021.

As promised I have set out attach a brief history in terms of number between the amounts invoices, paid and your proposal in November 2020.

It encompasses the amounts we agreed to in terms of overall settlemen[redacted]o October 2020) together with the payments for the months of November, December a[redacted] month (excluding the mobile scanners contracted in late November 2020 which I recognise are se[redacted]. Please let me know if this accords your understanding of what we agreed. If this is so can I please leave it with Philip Navas to consider how he wants to deal with this – an additional invoice or a credit note etc etc. We will then proceed to settle.

I recognise that going forward we would expect to receive an invoice f[redacted] as per above a[redacted] for the scanners). Again please correct me if I am mistaken[redacted]

I trust this brings this matter to a satisfactory conclusion. I would then seek to find a proper contact point. At the same time I look forward to receipt of those statistics we said we would look into to ensure the system is being maximised to all its potential.

If you have any difficulty with the attached I am happy to get on a call to resolve.

Kind regards

AM1/71

Albert

Subject: Agreement to settle NCIS outstanding invoices
Attachments: NCIS settlement as agreed on 27 January 2021.pdf

Dear Nicholas,
I refer to the meeting that took place by Teams on Wednesday 27 January 2021.
As promised I have set out attach a brief history in terms of number between the amounts invoices, paid and your proposal in November 2020.
it encompasses the amounts we agreed to in terms of overall settlement (a further [redacted] to October 2020) together with the payments for the months of November, December and January [redacted] per month (excluding the mobile scanners contracted in late November 2020 which I recognise are separate). Please let me know if this accords your understanding of what we agreed. If this is so can I please leave it with Philip Navas to consider how he wants to deal with this – an additional invoice or a credit note etc etc. We will then proceed to settle.
I recognise that going forward we would expect to receive an invoice for [redacted] being [redacted] as per above and [redacted] for the scanners). Again please correct me if I am mistaken.
I trust this brings this matter to a satisfactory conclusion. I would then seek to find a proper contact point. At the same time I look forward to receipt of those statistics we said we would look into to ensure the system is being maximised to all its potential.
If you have any difficulty with the attached I am happy to get on a call to resolve.
Kind regards
Albert

Sorry to bother you but can you seek to settle this invoice and the previous two up to the amount we have usually been paying for this service.
When I meet with them I will then see how we do a retrospective catch up if we are content with the services we have received.
Please do let me know if you need to discuss.

Subject: NSCIS Invoice Dec-19

Dear Albert,
Firstly I would like to wish you all the best for the New Year ahead.

AM1/76

Secondly, attached please find the Dec-19 NSCIS Global invoice. As per the update to NSCIS users on 17th December, the new ANPR cameras have been fully launched and the system's effectiveness in capturing vehicle/motorcycle plates has improved significantly.
I believe we are now in a good position to reconvene and discuss the unpaid aspects of the NSCIS invoice dating back to October 2018 so that we can agree a position on the historical invoices plus clarify how best to proceed going forward. I was informed that the facial recognition was discussed during the last meeting with yourself and the CM. This will also be an area to discuss and clarify from an invoicing perspective.
Please advise if you will be able to meet up on the matter at some point during January.

Hi Albert,
Attached please find the Nov-19 NSCIS Global invoice.
The new ANPR cameras testing phase has now been completed. The results have shown a significant improvement both in quality of image and in capture rates to the extent that the system is now capturing motorcycle plates with much greater accuracy and consistency.
We are now in a position to remove the old cameras at the frontier and launch the new cameras into the live environment. The old cameras will be repurposed and used to replace the sub-optimal cameras at the Port. This phase will be completed by 17th December which means that as from this date the whole ANPR system will be operating effectively and with greater accuracy than ever before.
The users will be updated on progress at the next NSCIS working group meeting (Tuesday 17th December).

Subject: RE: NSCIS Invoices Apr-19 to Jun-19

Dear Albert,

Thanks for your swift response on the matter.

I refer to the amount as "pending resolution" since as you mentioned yourself, we have not gone through a scientific exercise to establish a final agreed position.

I fully understand your reservation of rights in relation to this amount. However until such time that we sit down and address the past issues in a reasonable manner, I will obviously not be in a position to write-off any amount.

I believe you are aware that regular meetings are taking place between our technical team and NSCIS system users. Within this environment system users are able to raise any system issues and they are also updated on the changes and enhancements being made to the system. This improved line of communication means that both parties are now able to clearly understand [redacted]

I believe that this clear understanding will allow us to address the historical amounts due in a precise manner once we are able to review.

Subject: RE: NSCIS Invoices Apr-19 & May-19

Dear Philip,

Noted I will deal with the two invoices outstanding for April and May 2019.

Please also note that I whilst I recognise these as not paid in whole or in part I reserve our rights fully in respect of the amounts you claim as outstanding from Sep 2018 to Mar 2019. In this regard I propose to only settle [redacted] for April and May 2019 as had been the position in previous months [redacted] we will be in a better position to quantify everything and reach a settlement.

I will nonetheless address your invoices shortly.

Dear Albert,

Thanks for your swift response on the matter.

I refer to the amount as "pending resolution" since as you mentioned yourself, we have not gone through a scientific exercise to establish a final agreed position.

I fully understand your reservation of rights in relation to this amount. However until such time that we sit down and address the past issues in a reasonable manner, I will obviously not be in a position to write-off any amount.

I believe you are aware that regular meetings are taking place between our technical team and NSCIS system users. Within this environment system users are able to raise any system issues and they are also updated on the changes and enhancements being made to the system. This improved line of communication means that both parties are now able to clearly understand [redacted]

I believe that this clear understanding will allow us to address the historical amounts due in a precise manner once we are able to review.

Subject: RE: NSCIS Invoices Apr-19 to Jun-19

Dear Philip,

I gave instruction for April and May, which is what I has at the time, to be settled last week. They must be somewhere within the system expect payment any day for these two.

I should comment that you talk about the balance as "pending resolution". The amount we have been paying so far is simply a pragmatic amount, and not a scientific one, to ensure something is paid [redacted] we should then sit down and discuss how we address the past in a reasonable manner.

I therefore have to reserve our rights fully in this regard as I have done previously.

Kind regards

Albert

Dear Albert,

I attach the Jun-19 NSCIS invoice together with the invoices for Apr-19 and May-19 that remain outstanding.

The following table shows the amount due as per the agreed [redacted] per month and the amount pending resolution:

Description	Total Invoice Amount	Amount to be settled	Pending Resolution
NSCIS Invoice - Apr-19	[redacted]
NSCIS Invoice - May-19
NSCIS Invoice - Jun-19

Hi Albert,

Thanks for your prompt response on the matter.

Your position in relation to the outstanding amounts and the propose[redacted]payments for the April and May 2019 is noted and understood.

Just to clarify, by "outstanding" I simply meant pending resolution.

Dear Philip,

Noted I will deal with the two invoices outstanding for April and May 2019.

Please also note that I whilst I recognise these as not paid in whole or in part I reserve our rights fully in respect of the amounts you claim as outstanding from Sep 2018 to Mar 2019. In this regard I propose to only settl[redacted] for April and May 2019 as had been the position in previous months [redacted] we will be in a better position to quantify everything and reach a settlement.

I will nonetheless address your invoices shortly.

Dear Sirs

36 North Limited –reg no. 117268

We should be very grateful if you could substitute the previously filed Particulars of Directors dated 25th June 2018 in respect of the above named Company, for the attached Particular of Directors of the same date.

The reason for the substitution is that in the previously filed Particulars of Directors:-

- Erroneously showed two individuals being appointed as directors instead of a corporate director.

Please debit the relevant fee from our account.

We trust the attached meets with your approval.

Dear Sirs

36 North Limited –reg no. 117268

We should be very grateful if you could substitute the previously filed Return of Allotments and Return of Change of Members dated 25th June 2018 in respect of the above named Company, for the attached Return of Allotment of the same date.

The reason for the substitution is that in the previously filed Return of Allotment:-

- The shareholders were originally intended to be representatives of the three initial investors to the company, these being represented by two corporate bodies with the third individual hold the shares directly. In anticipation of closing of the initial investment round the Company Secretary erroneously filed a Return of Change of Members for the transfer of the subscriber share and a Return of Allotments showing the three investors as holding their respective shares. It now transpires that closing of the investment round did not take place and that the shares should be held by a nominee shareholder until such time as they are transferred to the three investors.

Please debit the relevant fee from our account.

We trust the attached meets with your approval.

John Perez
CEO
Bland Limited

Dear John,

I am writing to provide you with my formal notice of resignation from Bland Limited. My last day will be August 10, 2018, one month from today.

This was not an easy decision to make, and I appreciate your support over the course of my employment. I truly value the experience, training, and knowledge I gained over the past 7 years. It has been a pleasure working with you and the team.

Please let me know how I can help during my notice period. I wish you all the best as the company continues to grow.

Sincerely,

Thomas Cornelio

Mr James Gaggero
Chairman
Bland Limited

Dear James,

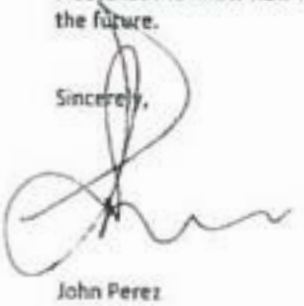
I am writing to provide you with my formal notice of resignation from Bland Limited. My last day will be September 09, 2018, two months as from today.

This was one of the hardest decisions I have had to make as I am entirely grateful to you and your family for having given me the opportunity to be a key integral part of Blands post my retirement from the army. I have over the last few years committed myself fully to reestablish Blands where it belongs.

I am delighted to leave the company in a good position and have no doubt that under your leadership it will continue for generations to come.

Please let me know how I can help during my notice period. I wish you and the company all the best for the future.

Sincerely,



John Perez

I am taking the liberty of sending the attached email to you. OSR Enterprises AG is a Swiss company - having its high tech in Israel - revolutionises the auto industry. It has been evaluated inter alia by Baker McKenzie and others, as is reflected by the herein under email. If you have a few minutes just to read the hereunder, and you find interest in it, I am enclosing more information. The company is interested in raising additioanl fund. I know that the number quoted by Delloit and Baker McKenzie is at the level you look at.

In 2016 , Deloitte,Touche carried-out a valuation of OSR of US$ 2.47 Billion followed by a valuation dated December 17 , 2017 of US$ 10.3 Billion conducted by the Head of the Valuations Department at Herzog, Fox & Neeman, one of Israel's leading law firms . These valuations have been vetted, signed and approved by Baker McKenzie's US Economic Group's - Global Valuation Services in accordance with the valuation standards and principles applicable in the U.S. (Will be made available to potential investors).

James, they need more funds. Can we help them?

With kind regards,

Zalli

OSR Enterprises AG is a Swiss-based privately owned company, founded in 2011, employing some 100 engineers at it's Swiss HQ and its main development center in Israel.

This company has developed the future "brain" of vehicles, a solution adapted to the next generation of vehicles in one small sized low-cost full turn key system, that allows the control and operation of everything ; remote control and speech control of the vehicle, a personalized user experience, artificial intelligence, entertainment and services system, phone, internet/wi-fi, and a cyber-secured autonomous car platform .

OSR has already completed the development of what giant companies such as Google and Apple have only defined as a future objective and a long-term vision for development (different than the systems they currently present). Based on this accomplishment, the company has set-out as its objective - the "conquest" of the market during the next coming two years, up to its IPO, and to maximize the technological advantage it currently enjoys.

The company integrates interface abilities to various and versatile sensors, combined with unique artificial intelligence – creating a platform that constitutes not only a device that technologically upgrades the vehicle, but a tool that is capable of gathering precise data on the driver and the passengers, up to the position of the pupils and the mood of the respective passengers , at the fraction of a second, whilst providing customized information such as advertisement and content .

In terms of the profit model, this is not only a one-time sale of units for vehicles, but also the management of the data generated , its sale ,for example, to advertising agencies, and selling content to users. The business model is closer to the business model of Apple who sells units systems and services integrated with Facebook's who sell information and advertising. Therefore – the company's current technological positioning, combined with the fact that this is still a pristine and an untouched market – forms a fertile basis for the creation of a new technology giant, like Apple, Google or Facebook.

As in the case of Apple, our system will also lead to the development of a whole community of applications and of sensors, which contrary to a mobile phone will enhance its power , and due to its integrated unique location in the vehicle will render it very difficult to replace with competing elements

The market, for which the company developed its unique product, is estimated to reach 19 trillion dollars by 2020

The company is planning an IPO on the NYSE and has engaged in sales activity, whilst pursuing its business development program and already holding advanced negotiations with some of the leading automotive manufacturers. In parallel OSR has entered into collaboration agreements with a number of technology giants.

So far,the company has been operating "under the radar", but will soon start various launch activities. Thus for example, OSR's Founder, Group CEO and Chairman , Advoc. Orit Shifman has been a guest speaker on an exclusive panel at the "Viva Tech" exhibition in Paris, at which Larry Schmidt of Google and Alibaba's Chairman have also spoken, and has also addressed a 3-speakers main panel together with two other prominent industry figures: the Head of Volkswagen"s R&D, and the Head of Here's business development, a consortium of Mercedes and other automotive companies. This can attest as a seal of approval to the company's positioning as a technological pioneer in the automotive industry.

Furthermore, Orit Shifman participated at the IAA Convention which took place in Frankfurt this past September as a Main Guest Speaker at its New Mobility World - Media Night, which was attended , among others , by the President of the German Association of the Automotive Industry.
Matthias Wissmann, by Steven Armstrong , Ford Group Vice President and President of EMEA , and senior representatives of Google and of Facebook's top managements.

To conclude her participation at this important convention Orit Shifman lead a panel entitled " Everything is connected , the Internet of Everything" together with Qualcomm Technologies CEO , Steve Mollenkopf , followed by a press conference which she hosted.

OSR has been approached by 80% of the world's leading car manufacturers as well as with major electric power groups with which it has signed agreements and with others with which it is holding discussions towards various formats of collaboration .

The company is close to concluding a $230 million capital investment with a leading financial North American group and is planning an IPO in 2018 in the US to be followed by additional public issues in other stock exchanges .

It is presently seeking a private placement in the form of a convertible loan agreement in an amount of $30 million for a period of 2 to 4 years with a ticket of 4.5% in tranches of $1 million . The investor will have the option to convert the loan to shares with a 30% discount according to the valuation of the upcoming strategic investment , or a 30% discount from the IPO price or that of an M&A or acquisition agreement.

Mr Ian McGrail
Commissioner of Police
Royal Gibraltar Police
New Mole House, Rosia Road
Gibraltar, GX11 1AA

18th December 2018

Dear Commissioner,

Further to my previous oral report to you, I write to formally bring to your attention and to make a complaint in relation to the acts of Thomas Cornelio ("Mr Cornelio") described in this letter and which we believe may constitute criminal offences.

A. Mr John Perez's and Mr Cornelio's employment with us

1. John Perez commenced employment with us as Chief Executive Officer on the 1st February 2010. Mr Cornelio commenced employment with us as Head of Software Development on the 19th November 2012. A copy of their contracts of employment with us (hereafter 'the Employment Contracts') are enclosed with this letter.

2. During the course of his employment, Mr Cornelio was involved with the development of the following IT software systems by us:

2.1 A modular, centralised IT software system for the collection, monitoring, background checking, and flagging of people and vehicle movements in and out of Gibraltar via land, sea and air. This system was first launched in December 2014 and was subsequently developed over the course of several years to become known as the National Security Central Intelligence System (the 'NSCIS Platform'). As you know, it collects sensitive personal information from members of the public upon entry to and exit from Gibraltar and is a key tool for law enforcement agencies in the protection of national security. The NSCIS Platform is provided by us to the HMGoG on the basis of an on-going software licence, for which we also provide continuing system support and maintenance. The NSCIS Platform has always been and remains our intellectual property;

2.2 An IT software system for use by the Department of Education to manage student and scholarship records (the 'DoE Platform'). The DoE Platform went live in April 2015 and was provided to HMGoG by way of sale, and for which we provide continuing system support and maintenance;

2.3 The development of an IT software system for use by the Department of Employment to manage the employment records of all persons in Gibraltar (the 'ETB Platform'). The ETB Platform went live in July 2016 and was provided to HMGoG by way of sale, and for which we provide continuing system support and maintenance;

2.4 The development of an IT software system for use by the Department of Social Security to manage HMGoG's benefits payments to entitled persons in Gibraltar (the 'DSS Platform'). The DSS Platform is still under production by us.

(collectively, the 'IT Systems Contracts').

2.5 The NSCIS Platform, DoE Platform, ETB Platform and DSS Platform are hereafter collectively referred to as 'the Platforms').

3. Pursuant to clause 3.8 of the Employment Contracts (and in any event by operation of law), all intellectual property rights in respect of all intellectual property made by Mr Cornelio and/or any other employee of Bland during their employment by us belong to and are vested in us upon creation and thereafter.

4. In relation to the NSCIS Platform and the DSS Platform and/or their development (including compilations of elements of the software), we own the copyright of the following, (among other things), namely, all and any:

4.1 functional, technical and other specifications;

4.2 flowcharts and graphs;

4.3 descriptions of the software;

4.4 the source code, including its revision history;

4.5 the object code;

4.6 all other documentation associated with the development of the software relating to all stages of development commencing with the initial broad idea;

4.7 all databases
(hereafter collectively, 'Our Intellectual Property').

5. Access to third party accounts

Mr Cornelio had the administrator access and control over the following third party accounts belonging to us and used by us in providing our solutions under the IT Systems Contracts:

[redacted]

The 3rd Party Accounts were created and managed by Mr Cornelio in the course of his employment with us and were and remain our sole property.

6. The NSCIS Platform and Wavetecx

6.1 The contract for the NSCIS Platform commenced under our security arm, Operational Support Group ('OSG'). In light of the growing sophistication of the NSCIS Platform, and the opportunities that existed for its commercial exploitation and use beyond the contract with HMGoG and indeed Gibraltar, we set up a separate division from which to develop, brand, market and commercially exploit the NSCIS Platform abroad ('Wavetecx').

6.2 Wavetecx was set up (in around January 2017) and headed by John Perez. Having gained an intimate understanding of the NSCIS Platform, Mr Cornelio assisted John Perez with Wavetecx in his capacity as our Head of Software Development.

6.3 Wavetecx's emails (the 'Wavetecx Emails') were run and managed on a separate server controlled by John Perez and/or Mr Cornelio in conjunction with him, instead of the UK based company we routinely outsourced to run and manage all of our other emails. As a result of this, we had severely limited, if any, visibility over their dealings in/with Wavetecx for and on our behalf. The Wavetecx Emails were at all times and remain our sole property.

7. ICODE Ltd and 36 North Ltd

7.1 A company called 36 North Ltd was incorporated on the 23rd April 2018, of which John Perez and Mr Cornelio were appointed as directors on the same date.

7.2 On the 16th May 2018, a company called ICODE Ltd was incorporated of which Mr Cornelio is the sole shareholder.

7.3 On the 22nd June 2018 John Perez, ICODE Ltd and a company called Astelon Ltd each acquired a 33% shareholding in 36 North Ltd.

7.4 On the 25th June 2018 an application was filed at Companies' House to replace John Perez and Mr Cornelio as directors of 36 North Ltd on the stated basis (that we do not accept as true) that the initial appointments had been filed in error. They were replaced by Cheam Directors Limited, a company operated by professional service providers to act as director of client companies.

7.5 On the 2nd July 2018, an application was filed at Companies' House to amend the shareholding of 36 North Ltd on the stated basis (that we do not accept as true) of an erroneous filing on the 22nd June 2018. John Perez, ICODE Ltd and Astelon Ltd were then removed as shareholders. The shares were then said to have been allotted to Line Holdings Limited, a nominee shareholding company operated by professional service providers in Gibraltar.

8. JOHN PEREZ AND MR CORNELIO'S TERMINATION OF THEIR EMPLOYMENT WITH US

8.1 On the 10th July 2018 both John Perez and Mr Cornelio handed in letters of resignation from their employment with us. John Perez's resignation was to take effect on the 9th September 2018 and Mr Cornelio's on the 9th August 2018 reflecting the different notice provisions in their respective contracts of employment.

8.2 On the 10th August 2018 Mr Cornelio's employment with us terminated and, on the same date he was appointed a director of ICODE Ltd, and ICODE Ltd and Astelon Ltd were each allotted a 50% shareholding in 36 North Ltd.

8.3 On the 10th August 2018 it was agreed between Mr Cornelio and us that he would continue maintaining the NSCIS Platform on our behalf, as a consultant, for a temporary period in order to avoid jeopardising national security.

8.4 Accordingly, and notwithstanding the termination of Mr Cornelio's employment with us, and pursuant to the agreement referred to in paragraph 8.3 above, he continued to have authorised access and control over the 3rd Party Accounts and other hardware and/or systems in relation to the NSCIS Platform for the sole purpose of maintaining the integrity and ongoing functionality of the NSCIS Platform on our behalf. That consultancy agreement endured from the 10th August 2018 to 31st August 2018 (when Mr Cornelio himself formally terminated it in writing).

8.5 To the extent that this letter complains of Mr Cornelio's unauthorised access to any of the above between the 10th-31st August 2018 , it refers to his use of the access he already had (and continued to have) pursuant to the agreement in paragraph 8.3 for illegitimate purposes for which he was not and he knew that he was not authorised by, and which was severely detrimental and intended to be severely detrimental to us.

8.6 John Perez's employment with us terminated on the 10th September 2018.

The following conduct forms the basis of our complaint to you:

with the modifications in paragraphs 9.1 and 9.2 above and thus raised an exception, causing it to fail and exit without sending any data to NSCIS Azure Server;

9.5 We believe that the aforesaid conduct by Mr Cornelio may amount to criminal offences by him (and anyone working in concert with him) contrary to:

9.5.1 Section 175 of the Data Protection Act 2004;

9.5.2 Section 128(2) of the Intellectual Property (Copyright and Related Rights) Act 2015;

9.5.3 Sections 362, 364, 365 and 366A of the Crimes Act 2011.

10. Deletion of the Wavetecx Emails

10.1 Between the 24th July and 27th July 2018, whilst still our employee (but during his notice of termination period), Mr Cornelio:

10.1.1 logged into our Wavetecx mail server for a purpose that was not legitimate in the context of his duties, and thus without authorisation from us;

10.1.2 exported all the data, including emails mail boxes and data files, from the following accounts:

10.1.3 deleted all the data, including emails, mailboxes and data files from the above accounts from our Wavetecx mail server.

10.1.4 In an email dated 31 August 2018 Mr Cornelio told us that he had done this for the purpose of "cutting costs by removing the paid subscription for dormant email accounts". This is not a serious or credible explanation for his unauthorised and unlawful conduct in this respect, and in any event it does not explain his exportation of the data.

10.2 We believe the aforesaid conduct by Mr Cornelio may amount to criminal offences by him (and anyone working in concert with him) contrary to :

10.2.1 Section 128(1)(c) of the Intellectual Property (Copyright and Related Rights) Act 2015;

11.4 He thereby caused significant disruption to the NSCIS Platform [redacted] with a view to damaging HMGoG's confidence in our ability to continue the future servicing of the NSCIS Platform and diverting the benefit of that contract to John Perez and/or Mr Cornelio and/or 36 North Ltd.

11.5 We believe that the aforesaid conduct may amount to criminal offences by him (and anyone working in concert with him) contrary to Sections 362, 364, 365 and 366A of the Crimes Act 2011.

Dear James
Many thanks for you email and very kind words.

Indeed it has been a tough decision to make but one which I think is for the best.

When you're next over in Gibraltar I'd be happy to have a face to face to contexualise everything as it would not be right to do so via these means.

Until then, I wish all the very best myself.

Kind regards
Ian

My dear Ian,

It has been my pleasure to have had the opportunity to spend time with you over the last two years and get to know you. I have been struck by your decency, honour, courage and commitment to the force that you led.

Although I was surprised to read the article that appeared in the Panorama last week, I assumed it was the price one has to pay for being in a high profile role in the public eye. I had no doubt the crisis would pass and that your many attributes would enable you to prevail.

Today's lead article in the Chronicle shocked me. I simply could not let the situation pass without reaching out to you to express my regret at your decision and my appreciation for your professional support, advice and willingness to be available in dealing with the matter that had deeply affected me and my team at Bland since July 2018

The Royal Gibraltar Police are losing an exemplary leader, but knowing you, I have no doubt you will have done all necessary to prepare the ground for your successor.

I realise there is more to this turn of events than meets the eye. As I am unaware of any the aspects behind your decision, I am forced to accept it is a fait accompli. I can hardly bring myself to believe this is what you wanted. So I am left with no option but to accept this sad outcome and to express my sincerest regrets and repeat my thanks for your steadfast support.

With my very best wishes

Yours ever

Surname: Gaggero	Forenames: James Peter George

Age of witness (if over 18 enter over 18): Over 18

This statement (consisting of 10 pages each signed by me) is true to the best of my knowledge and belief and I make it knowing that if it is tendered in evidence I shall be liable to prosecution if I have wilfully stated in it anything which I know to be false or do not believe to be true.

Signed .....

1. My name is James Gaggero, and I am chairman of the Bland Group of Companies.

BLAND

2. Bland Ltd (hereafter "Bland") traces its roots back to 1810 and is the company under which a number of trading entities or activities are organised. These include, Bland Travel, Bland DMC, The Calpe Lounge, Avis, OSG, CMC, Wavetecx and Gibair.

3. I was appointed Managing Director of Bland in 1987 and Chairman in 1997. Bland's board of directors is currently made up of myself (as Chairman) and Ian Mackie (a non-executive director). Although he is not a statutory director of the company, the finance director, Philip Navas attends meetings. I am currently also the Chief Executive Officer. The company has a senior management team comprised of six general managers.

4. Bland is part of the Bland Group, which is headquartered in the Chanel Islands, and of which I am also Chairman.

(NOTE: FILL IN PAGE OVERLEAF)

The contents of this document will be processed in strict compliance with the Royal Gibraltar Police's policy on Data Protection, which has been compiled in accordance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2004

5. John Perez commenced employment with Bland as Chief Executive Officer on the 1st March 2010. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 1 a copy of Mr Perez's employment contract showing his commencement date as 1st March 2010. He became known to me during his time as commanding officer of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment. Although it was clear that he had no business experience, it appeared to me at the time that he had many attributes that I considered to be useful in running an enterprise like Bland, namely, he was well-connected, energetic, driven, willing to learn and, importantly, available. Between the 1st February 2010 and 10th July 2018 (the date on which he resigned as CEO) I acted as a non-executive Chairman.

6. As CEO Mr Perez was responsible for running Bland Group's interests in the Western Mediterranean and oversaw our senior management team, who reported to him directly. Mr Perez had complete autonomy and latitude to run Bland Group interests in the Western Mediterranean including The Rock Hotel, Travellink and Viajes Med, subject to high-level matters, which required the approval of the Board. He was totally responsible for the day-to-day management of Bland and all general managers reported to him as the Chief Executive Officer.

7. Mr Perez reported directly to me. I reviewed monthly management activity reports and accounts. We were in regular communication and met from time to time to ensure that I was appraised of his activities and the progress he was making from one month to the next. He would also attend quarterly Board Meetings during which he would report on all activities under his charge and would be questioned on these. All budgets were approved by the board and this included wages and salaries, investment strategy and capital expenditure.

8. He was especially hands-on in the case of Wavetecx (on which, see paragraph 26 below) and appeared less inclined to share as much information about what he and the Head of Software Development were up to, especially during the final 12 months leading up to his departure. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 2 a copy of my email to Mr Perez dated 5th July 2018 in which I highlight missing information following a monthly report and ask him to provide this.

BLAND'S MOVE INTO SECURITY SECTOR AND SOFTWARE

9. In 2009, the opportunity arose to invest in a number of businesses in the security sector and in or around November 2009, Bland took the decision to move into this sector. When Mr Perez joined in February 2010, he was given the responsibility of bringing these plans to fruition. He was given free rein to recruit a team under him.

10. During this period, Bland acquired 3 companies in the security sector and merged them into a division now known as Operations Support Group ("OSG"). This was done for the purposes of offering end-to-end security solutions under one name.

Signed: Signature Witnessed By:

11. In April 2011 Mr Perez produced a plan of how Bland might develop its security footprint in order to dominate the local market and begin to expand overseas. This formed the blue print of Bland's continuing expansion in this sector.

12. Bland's initial involvement in the security sector was selling hardware such as CCTV and providing guard manning solutions to the business community and, subsequently, to agencies of Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar (hereafter "HMGoG").

13. Having acquired other companies and brought in Gareth Jones, a software developer, this quickly evolved to providing software solutions, including to HMGoG. This was carried out through OSG, then BGiTech and latterly Wavetecx. BGiTech was an internal name for the Bland division then responsible for developing software for government agencies.

THOMAS CORNELIO

14. When Gareth Jones indicated he wanted to move on it became critical to replace him with a software developer with high levels of skills. Thomas Cornelio was just such an individual. He was employed by Bland as IT Developer on the 19th November 2012, at the instigation of Mr Perez. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 3 a copy of Mr Cornelio's employment contract with Bland.

15. It did not take Mr Cornelio long to establish his mark and he quickly assumed more and more responsibilities as he delivered results. He received support from the central head office and especially from the CEO, who he reported to. He was trusted to prioritise his work according to the needs of the clients we served, principally HMGoG departments.

16. In due course Mr Cornelio had two software developers, Joey Benrimoj and Marius Zalkauskas, working directly for him that he was responsible for managing. He also had access to other service entities such as OSG to assist with projects, for example those requiring hardware installation.

17. He was very self-assured and was intolerant of his areas of responsibility being micro-managed. With the benefit of hindsight it is clear that Mr Cornelio resisted efforts to provide support and oversight of his activities. Mr Perez used the excuse that he was a mercurial character and free spirit to explain his difficulty in managing him.

18. At the time I had no reason not to trust Mr Cornelio and he therefore enjoyed very considerable latitude to act in the best interests of the company. He reported directly to Mr Perez and so my only day to day engagement with Mr Cornelio was to superficially discuss progress and understand if there were any problem areas that I might be able to support him with during my infrequent visits to Gibraltar.

THE SOFTWARE SYSTEM PLATFORMS

19. During the course of his employment, Mr Cornelio was the principal software developer involved with the development of the following IT software systems by Bland:

19.1. A centralised IT software system for the collection, monitoring, background checking, and flagging of people and vehicle movements in and out of Gibraltar via land, sea and air. This system was first launched in December 2014 and was subsequently developed, also principally by Mr Cornelio as an employee of Bland and on behalf of Bland, over the course of several years to become known as the National Security Central Intelligence System (the 'NSCIS Platform'). It collects sensitive personal information from members of the public upon entry to and exit from Gibraltar and is a key tool for law enforcement agencies in the protection of national security. The NSCIS Platform is provided by Bland to the HMGoG on the basis of an on-going software licence, for which Bland also provides continuing system support and maintenance. All Bland employees who were involved with this contract, including Mr Cornelio and Mr Perez, were required to sign and, did in fact sign, documents acknowledging they were bound by the Official Secrets Act. I now tender copies of the documents signed by Mr Cornelio and Mr Perez in evidence as Exhibit JG / 4;

19.2. An IT software system for use by the Department of Education to manage student and scholarship records (the 'DoE Platform'). The DoE Platform went live in April 2015 and was provided to HMGoG by way of sale, and for which Bland provides continuing system support and maintenance;

19.3. The development of an IT software system for use by the Department of Employment to manage the employment records of all persons in Gibraltar (the 'ETB Platform'). The ETB Platform went live in July 2016 and was provided to HMGoG by way of sale, and for which Bland provide continuing system support and maintenance;

19.4. The development of an IT software system for use by the Department of Social Security to manage HMGoG's benefits payments to entitled persons in Gibraltar (the 'DSS Platform'). The DSS Platform is still under production by Bland. (collectively, the 'IT Systems Contracts').

20. The NSCIS Platform, DoE Platform, ETB Platform and DSS Platform are hereafter collectively referred to as 'the Platforms').

21. Mr Perez dealt with all day to day affairs relating to, and regularly briefed and reported to me on the IT Systems Contracts, and I in turn would seek to have higher level oversight provided by my team of senior executives and advisors at the Bland Group in the UK. For example, one of the areas that caused me greatest concern was risk mitigation and it was decided that it was necessary to ensure that the work being carried out on the IT Systems Contracts for the Government should be governed by a written contract. Much time, effort and cost was expended on seeking professional advice to this end through the Bland Group's Legal Counsels in both Gibraltar and the UK, which resulted in a master agreement being created and tabled to the Administrative Secretary of HMGoG. This document was never signed, but this did not detract from the existence of valid contracts between Bland and the Government in respect of the IT Systems Contracts, on which Government made the due payments to Bland. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 5 a copy of the contract together with an email from Mr Perez to HmGoG in which he provides it to HMGoG.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS IN THE PLATFORMS

22. Initially, it was intended (as was communicated by Mr Perez to the Board and me) that all the Platforms would be developed based on the fact that the Intellectual Property for these resided with the company and indeed this is reflected in the draft written contract referred to above. However, in the end, the DoE Platform and the ETB Platform were sold outright to the Government.

23. But, the NSCIS Platform was not sold outright to the Government, and the intellectual property rights in it have always been and remains Bland's property. This is reflected in (i) the fact that the Government pay a licence fee to Bland for its use and (ii) the fact (as to which see paragraph 26 below) that Bland, including through Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio while they were employed by Bland, have sought to exploit the commercial opportunities for this Platform abroad, neither of which would be apposite if Bland did not own the intellectual property rights in the Platform. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 6 copies of several invoices issued by Bland to HMGoG which have been paid by HMGoG and which describe the charges in respect of the NSCIS Platform as a "Licence Fee".

24. Pursuant to clause 3.8 of both Mr Cornelio's and Mr Perez's employment contract with Bland (Exhibits JG/1 and JG/3 refer) (and, I am advised, in any event by operation of law), all intellectual property rights in respect of all intellectual property created or developed by Mr Cornelio and/or any other employee of Bland during their employment by Bland belong to and are vested in Bland upon creation and thereafter.

25. In relation to the NSCIS Platform and the DSS Platform and/or their development (including compilations of elements of the software), I am advised and believe that Bland owns the copyright of the following, (among other things), which also constitute Bland's trade secrets namely, all and any:

25.1. functional, technical and other specifications;
25.2. flowcharts and graphs;
25.3. descriptions of the software;
25.4. the source code, including its revision history;
25.5. the object code;
25.6. all other documentation associated with the development of the software relating to all stages of development commencing with the initial broad idea;

Signed: Signature Witnessed By:

25.7. all databases

(hereafter collectively, 'Bland's Intellectual Property').

THE NSCIS PLATFORM AND WAVETECX

26. The contract for the NSCIS Platform commenced under the name of OSG. However, in light of the growing sophistication of the NSCIS Platform, and the opportunities that existed for its commercial exploitation and use beyond the contract with HMGoG and indeed Gibraltar, Mr Perez advocated for the setting up of a separate division with Bland through which to develop, brand, market and commercially exploit the NSCIS Platform abroad.

27. As it was always expected that Bland's new investments in Gibraltar should create a new capability that would eventually lead to expansion overseas, Mr Perez's plan met the Board's requirements to establish a ring fence around the higher risk software creating enterprise and segregate this from the legacy businesses of Bland's traditional businesses in Gibraltar.

28. Accordingly, Wavetecx was set up (in around January 2017). This was overseen by Mr Perez in his role as CEO of Bland Ltd. Having gained an intimate understanding of the NSCIS Platform, Mr Cornelio headed Wavetecx in his capacity as Bland's Head of Software Development. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 7 a copy of an old Wavetecx brochure extolling the benefits of the NSCIS platform.

29. Based on information provided to me by management and other relevant employees of Bland and/or the books and records of Bland, I believe that between September 2017 and July 2018 Mr Perez together with other members of staff worked to develop the commercial exploitation abroad of the NSCIS Platform. To this end, they made various business trips in relation to the sale and marketing of the NSCIS system and other matters. These included trips to meet potential clients and trips to border security conferences in order to market the NSCIS system. A total of £39,514 was spent in the period with trips to Dubai, São Tomé and Príncipe, Bruges, Salzburg, Istanbul, Prague, Rome, Madrid and Southampton.

30. Based on information provided to me by management and other relevant employees of Bland, I believe that Mr Perez had identified and interacted with potential overseas customers for the NSCIS Platform, including Carnival Cruises, the Spanish National Police, the Falkland Islands Government, Inchcape Shipping, The Government of Sao Tome & Principe.

THE ESTABLISHMENT OF ICODE LTD & 36 NORTH LTD

31. On the 15th February 2018, the domain name "36north.io" was registered. The owner's identity on the WHOIS record was and remains concealed. The domain name "36north.gi" was registered on the 20th April 2018. Again, the owner's identity on the WHOIS record was and remains concealed. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 8 copies of the WHOIS records for 36north.io and 36north.gi.

Signed: Signature Witnessed By:

32. As appears from public records at the Companies Registry :

32.1. A company called 36 North Ltd was incorporated in Gibraltar on the 23rd April 2018, of which Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio were appointed as directors on the same date. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 9 a profile in respect of 36 North Ltd from Companies House

32.2. On the 16th May 2018, a company called ICODE Ltd was incorporated of which Mr Cornelio is the sole shareholder. I now tender a profile in respect of ICODE Ltd from Companies House in evidence as Exhibit JG / 10.

32.3. On the 22nd June 2018 Mr Perez, ICODE Ltd and a company called Astelon Ltd each acquired a 33% shareholding in 36 North Ltd. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 11 the return of allotment of shares in respect of 36 North Ltd from Companies House.

32.4. On the 25th June 2018 an application was filed at Companies' House to replace Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio as directors of 36 North Ltd on the stated basis that the initial appointments had been filed in error. They were replaced by Cheam Directors Limited, a company operated by professional service providers to act as director of client companies. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 12 a letter from Line Group to Companies House making the application.

32.5. On the 2nd July 2018, an application was filed at Companies' House to amend the shareholding of 36 North Ltd on the stated basis of an erroneous filing on the 22nd June 2018. Mr Perez, ICODE Ltd and Astelon Ltd were then removed as shareholders. The shares were then said to have been allotted to Line Holdings Limited, a nominee shareholding company operated by professional service providers in Gibraltar. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 13 a letter from Line Group to Companies House making the application.

33. I did not discover these developments until after Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio's resignation from Bland, as set out below.

THE RESIGNATION OF MR PEREZ AND MR CORNELIO FROM BLAND

34. On my arrival in Gibraltar on 9th July 2018 I found Mr Perez in the general office of Bland looking anxious and ill at ease. I formed this view based on his body language and demeanor, which on this occasion was very different from what I have always known it to be. I suggested that we go into his office. As I closed the door and before we had a chance to sit down his first words to me were "I am leaving". He also reported that he had just learnt that Mr Cornelio also planned to leave to do "his own thing".

35. During a subsequent meeting that followed on the 16th July, he briefed me at length on all the activities and pending matters relating to Bland in Gibraltar, Viajes Med in Spain and Travellink in Morocco throughout which I took copious notes. On reflection I was surprised that he failed to mention Wavetecx once, especially since I had written to him on the 5th July expressing surprise that his monthly report had given no sense of what was going on in this critically important division of Bland. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 14 a copy of my notes of my meeting with him on the 16th July.

Signed: Signature Witnessed By:

36. Mr Perez told me that he was too stressed to continue working as a Chief Executive of Bland. He explained that he had too much responsibility and was not coping with the pressure. He thought it was time to do "his own thing" for the benefit of his family, with which, he asserted, he was not spending enough time. He also advised that he wanted to establish a presence in the field of crypto currencies and block chain. Perhaps it is relevant to point out in this respect that at the time that Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio were establishing 36North in April 2018, Mr Perez authorised Mr Cornelio to spend £296 at Bland's expense on the purchase of books relating to Crypto Currencies notwithstanding Bland had no intention to move into this industry. Mr Perez was acting outside his authority in sanctioning this expenditure given it was for no legitimate purpose of Bland. Mr Cornelio took the books with him on his last day at Bland's office in an attempt to keep them. It was not until after repeated requests by Bland for him to do so that he eventually returned the books on the 15th October 2018. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 15 a copy of Bland's requests to Mr Cornelio.

37. During meetings with me on the 9th and 10th July Mr Cornelio explained to me that he wanted to do "his own thing" having suffered stress and ill-health in recent months. He said that he could not see the point of working so hard in order to carry 360 members of staff at Bland. He also told me that he wanted to establish a presence in the new world of crypto currencies and block chain.

38. On the 9th July 2018 both Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio handed in letters of resignation from their employment with Bland. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 16 and Exhibit JG / 17 respectively Mr Cornelio's and Mr Perez's letters of resignation. Mr Perez's resignation was to take effect on the 9th September 2018 and Mr Cornelio's on the 9th August 2018, reflecting the different notice provisions in their respective contracts of employment. I noted that both letters of resignation followed identical formats.

39. During the immediate aftermath of the resignations of Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio I met with Joey Benrimoj and Marius Zalkauskas, the two software developers working under Mr Cornelio at the time. I realized that Bland was facing a serious crisis and wanted to ensure that we could count on these two critically important employees. I attempted to bring them into our confidence and leave them in no doubt that they would enjoy bright and secure futures in Bland if they would remain with us. Separately during this period Mr Cornelio explained that he had no immediate intention to poach staff as he couldn't afford them but sometime later in the future he would not hesitate to do so.

40. Both Mr Benrimoj and Mr Zalkauskas resigned on 20th July. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 18 and Exhibit JG / 19 respectively their emails of resignation. On bringing the resignations of the two software developers to the notice of Mr Perez he wrote "I certainly did not expect this! I presume it could have happened at some point further down the line. I am devastated with all of this." I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 20 my email exchange with Mr Perez in this regard.

Signed: Signature Witnessed By:

41. Within days of Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio's resignations, I learned about the registration of the domain name for 36 North in February, the creation of 36 North Ltd in April, and about meetings and plans they had with potential or supposed investors and partners in their new venture: 36 North Limited. I also received feedback from members of staff and others about Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio's efforts to take over the business of Wavetecx.

42. I have recently been provided with a number of emails and attachments belonging to Mr Cornelio and which have been recovered by my staff from his Wavetecx email account. In one set of emails exchanged between Mr Perez (from a personal email address) and Mr Cornelio on the 20th June 2018, Mr Perez provided Mr Cornelio with 36 North Ltd business cards and email signatures naming Mr Perez as CEO of the company. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 21 this email exchange. In another set of emails exchanged on the 5th June 2018 and the 20th June 2018 (which I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 22), Mr Perez provided 'revised cash flows' in respect of 36 North Ltd to David Webber of Hassans and Mr Cornelio, respectively. These 36 North Limited cash flow projections, although appearing to be slightly different versions of the same document, show (amongst other things) a forecasted revenue in favour of 36 North Ltd which includes:

    42.1. all licensing fees and/or support services for each of the IT Systems Contracts that Bland currently receives from HMGOG; and 42.2. the onboarding of Carnival Cruise as a client as from January 2019. Inchcape Shipping is mentioned but does not have any projected revenue allocated to it for the time period covered by the forecast. Both of those entities were prospective customers of Bland.

    This evidence suggests that both Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio, while still employees of Bland, planned and intended what they later did, namely, to misappropriate and violate Bland's intellectual property and trade secrets, to attempt to divert the benefit of the IT Systems Contracts and to exploit Bland's intellectual property for their own benefit, all via 36 North Limited.

THE TERMINATION OF MR PEREZ'S AND MR CORNELIO'S EMPLOYMENT WITH BLAND

43. On the 10th August 2018 Mr Cornelio's employment with Bland terminated and, on the same date he was appointed a director of ICODE Ltd, and ICODE Ltd and Astelon Ltd each became 50% shareholding in 36 North Ltd. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 23 copies of the Companies' House records evidencing this.

44. On the 10th August 2018 it was agreed between Mr Cornelio and me that he would continue maintaining the NSCIS Platform on Bland's behalf, as a consultant, for a temporary period in order to avoid jeopardising national security, on a per diem rate based on the current rate of his salary at that time. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 24 my email exchange with Mr Cornelio in this regard.

Signed: Signature Witnessed By:

45. Accordingly, and notwithstanding the termination of Mr Cornelio's employment with Bland, and pursuant to the agreement referred to in paragraph 44 above, he continued to have authorised access and control over the NSCIS Platform's systems and hardware for the sole purpose of maintaining the integrity and ongoing functionality of the NSCIS Platform on Bland's behalf. That consultancy agreement endured from the 10th August 2018 to 31st August 2018 (when Mr Cornelio himself formally terminated it in writing). I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 25 Mr Cornelio's email terminating the consultancy arrangement.

46. To the extent that I complain of Mr Cornelio's unauthorised access to any of the 3RD Party Accounts between the 10th-31st August 2018, I refer to his use of the access he already had (and continued to have) pursuant to the agreement in paragraph 44 above for illegitimate purposes for which he was not and he knew that he was not authorised by Bland and which was severely detrimental to Bland and I believe were intended to be severely detrimental to Bland.

47. Mr Perez's employment with Bland terminated on the 10th September 2018 upon expiry of the period of notice given by him as required by his contract of employment.

DELETION OF THE WAVETECX EMAILS

48. In an email dated 31 August 2018 Mr Cornelio told Bland that he had deleted the wavetecx emails for the purpose of "cutting costs by removing the paid subscription for dormant email accounts". This explanation does not explain his exportation of the data to servers/accounts under his control. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 26 the email from Mr Cornelio in which he asserts this.

TEAM FOUNDATION SERVER / UNAUTHORISED ACCESS TO AND USE OF, AND MISAPPROPRIATION OF SOURCE CODE

49. Mr Cornelio failed to comply with our repeated instructions to return the full source code in respect of each of the Platforms. I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG / 27 email correspondence between Mr Cornelio and Jonathan Galliano relating to this.

50. On advising Mr Sanchez of Mr Cornelio's decision to tender his resignation from Bland on 9th July 2018, Mr Sanchez expressed concern as to who would manage the NSCIS Platform on Bland's behalf. Initially he seemed satisfied that Bland had agreed with Mr Cornelio to maintain the systems and Platform until an orderly handover to Bland's other employees had been achieved. Later, he insisted that Bland should hand control of the Platform to Mr Cornelio to the exclusion of Bland for the purpose of maintaining the software, whilst Bland should continue to provide hardware infrastructural support. Even though Mr Cornelio had handed in his resignation and would not be a Bland employee after 10 August.

51. I struggled to comprehend Mr Sanchez's stance at the time as it seriously undermined Bland's position and weakened the Govenerment's position by creating a single point of failure and I did not feel it reflected the nature of the contractual relationship between Bland and HMGoG. In particular, Bland's exclusion was irreconcilable with the fact that it is Bland and not Mr Cornelio that is contractually obliged to ensure the effective operation of the Platform and furthermore owned the Platform.

52. Nevertheless, given Mr Sanchez was the point of contact with HMGoG, and even though it looked as if our contract and property were being hijacked, we reluctantly concluded we had to comply with this request, but whilst making it plain that we were being undermined, creating a serious risk that Mr Cornelio might malliciously damage the system and that we would be creating a single point of failure. I stressed that we were not conceding our legal position and that we would be seeking to obtain clarification of the Government's position at a more senior, political level through the office of the Chief Minister.

53. Following Mr Sanchez's instructions, after Mr Cornelio terminated his consultancy agreement with Bland on the 31st August and until the Government's final decision as to the previous paragraph (on the 4th October) it appears that the NSCIS was no longer being provided with software support by anyone.

[redacted]

55. On 21st July I had been told by the Chief Minister to take no action until he returned from leave in August when he would meet with me. I informed Mr Sanchez that we could not intervene until cleared to do so by the Chief Minister.

56. On the 4th October, the Chief Minister informed me that, contrary to Mr Sanchez's stance as set out above, the Government's contract with Bland would continue and he issued clear instructions that Mr Cornelio hand over all access and control to Bland and that he cease accessing the NSCIS Platform with immediate effect. This decision was communicated via Mr Sanchez to Mr Cornelio, which he acknowledged by way of email (see attached "NSCIS"), which I now tender in evidence as exhibit JG / 28. From at least the 5th October, Mr Cornelio knew that he did not have either Bland's or HMGoG's authority to access any parts of the NSCIS Platform and in any event he stated in an email (see attached End of support") that he would "no longer support the NSCIS platform in any capacity.", which I now tender in evidence as exhibit JG / 29.

Signed: Signature Witnessed By:

[redacted]

59. As the technical team began gaining control it became apparent from their inspection of the source code that conduct that was possibly criminal behaviour had been perpetrated. I immediately made it their priority to lock down and ring fence the system as best they could whilst also doing what they could to solve the issues that arose. The seriousness of the matter caused me to decide that we should access independent experts in this field to advise us and I therefore contracted the top UK national cyber crime experts, PWC, to independently verify what the facts were, so that Bland could be as certain as possible of its ground before making any complaint to the Royal Gibraltar Police.

60. I believe that criminal offences have been committed and am willing to testify in court.

I am providing this statement further to the statement I provided on 27th August 2019.

In October 2018, due to issues which arose with the NSCIS Platform, I engaged the services of PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC), UK national cyber crime experts.

Representatives from PwC attended Cloister Building between 15th-19th October 2018 with further work completed remotely.

As a result, PwC provided an Investigation Report titled Project Bass dated 14th December 2018. I now tender this report in evidence as JG/30.

PwC later provided an updated Project Bass Report dated 23rd April 2019. I now tender this report in evidence as JG/31.

My name is James Gaggero and I am the Chairman of the Bland Group of Companies.

I am making this supplementary witness statement in addition to the witness statements I provided to police on the 27th August 2019 and 6th March 2020. I am providing this statement on the basis that John Perez has already referred to the below mentioned meetings when alleging unlawful behaviour by myself in a formal complaint to the Royal Gibraltar Police.

Following the resignation of John Perez and Thomas Cornelio from Bland Ltd in July 2018, John Perez and I agreed to hold meetings on a Private and Confidential basis and Without Prejudice. The attendees of these meetings were John Perez, Bland's Legal Attorney Guy Stagnetto QC and I. No minutes were taken during these meetings and the notes I made were provided to Guy Stagnetto QC at the conclusion of the meeting for destruction.

Prior to attending the first meeting, I was aware of activities by John Perez and Thomas Cornelio to suspect their collusion, pre-planning, manipulative behaviour and possible deceit. I wished to establish if John Perez was willing to be honest about what he and Thomas Cornelio were intent on undertaking. It was intended that this might then form the basis of further discussions to explore a workable plan for the way ahead.

The first meeting was held on Tuesday 21st August 2018 at 11:00 in the offices of TSN. During this meeting I asked John Perez a number of questions in relation to events leading up to the resignations of the two former employees. I gave him five separate opportunities to tell the truth. On each occasion John Perez chose to lie or deliberately deceive me. As a result I explained to him that we could not continue to work together in future because he had provided no basis on which I could trust him.

As the meeting concluded I challenged him about stealing the National Security Centralised Intelligence System (NSCIS) given that it was the Intellectual Property (IP) of Bland Limited. He replied by stating that it would be easy to circumvent the IP as all Thomas Cornelio would have to do is alter aspects of the source code. In response I explained to him that I had contracted Peter Caruana & Co and that Bland Limited would aim to protect its IP and trading interests.

At the end of the meeting I told John that he and Thomas Cornelio should make a realistic offer if they wanted to take over the IP and trading business of BGI Tech.

On Monday 27th August 2018, I received a message from John Perez via WhatsApp requesting a further meeting. I replied explaining that I would be happy to meet on a Without Prejudice basis to discuss sensible and realistic proposals that would provide the Bland Group with an appropriate remedy and avoid litigation. John replied by questioning the grounds on which litigation would be commenced. However, he agreed to meet the next day in order to try and settle the issues without the need for court proceedings.

The second meeting was held on Tuesday 28th August 2018 at 10:00 in the offices of TSN. During this meeting John Perez offered to purchase the IP rights to the NSCIS platform. However, he explained at length that he and Thomas Cornelio were paying themselves £300,000 and that they could only afford to purchase the IP rights for £300,000. I informed him that Bland would not consider selling it for less than £1,200,000.

This statement (consisting of 8 page(s) each signed by me) is true to the best of my knowledge and belief and I make it knowing that if it is tendered in evidence I shall be liable to prosecution if I have wilfully stated in it anything which I know to be false or do not believe to be true.

I am the above described person. I provide this statement as an additional to my previous statements dated 27th August 2019, 6th March 2020 and 20th August 2020.

In response to queries posed by the Royal Gibraltar Police dated 8th November 2020, I wish to state the following:

John Perez and Thomas Cornelio were offered shares in Wavetecx, not Bland. To my knowledge, nothing was agreed as John Perez consistently demonstrated reticence whenever invited to engage in the process of discussing the best way forward.

Bland was taken by surprise by the resignations of John Perez, Thomas Cornelio, Marius Zalkauskas and Joey Benrimoj and as a consequence, was left in a vulnerable position in so far as concerned its capacity to continue to provide operational and maintenance support to HMGoG in respect of the NSCIS Platform given that these persons were the employees who were most involved and familiar with it. I now believe this was John Perez and Thomas Cornelio's intention as part of their wider plans, but I did not know this at the time. Our immediate priority was to ensure that HMGoG was able to continue the effective operation of NSCIS Platform so that national security would not be impaired by any inability on Bland's part to service it. This is why we engaged Thomas Cornelio, its chief architect, as a consultant following the termination of his employment. In order to provide maximum support to HMGoG in this overriding objective we offered HMGoG the freedom to consider all potential options available to it, including the option to acquire the NSCIS Platform from us and thereafter make other arrangements for its support and maintenance, if it chose to do so. There were three options available to and discussed with HMGoG, and we were willing to go with whichever one HMGoG, as the customer, decided best met its needs. One option was that we would sell the platform to HMGoG who would then conduct ongoing maintenance and support "in house". Another was that we would sell the Platform to 36 North, who would then provide ongoing maintenance and support. The third option, which was our commercial preference, was that we would retain ownership of the Platform and continue to provide the ongoing maintenance and support as best we could. The Chief Minister decided upon the third option at our meeting on the 4th October 2018. We were always confident that, given enough time to recover operationally from the coordinated exodus, our remaining personnel, bolstered with additional recruits if required, would be able to continue to maintain and support the NSCIS Platform effectively. This is what in fact happened, and indeed it would have happened sooner if Thomas Cornelio had conducted a proper handover in good faith to our remaining personnel and had he not taken the detrimental steps against the Platform, the details of which you are already aware.

Bland advertised role vacancies for Software Developers on the Bland Group website in March 2018, before the resignation of Marius Zalkauskas and Joey Benrimoj. This posting remains on the website and has been unedited since its posting.

I did not agree for John Perez and Thomas Cornelio to manage the NSCIS and Bland be subcontracted for hardware maintenance during a telephone call with Caine Sanchez around 23-24th July 2018. I tender in evidence Exhibit JG/32, contemporaneous notes of meeting emailed to Bland senior executive team and the company's lawyer, Guy Stagnetto titled "Re: Resignation.eml".

I did not attend a meeting with Caine Sanchez and Thomas Cornelio on 25th July 2018. An email exchange between myself and Caine Sanchez did occur, however, the word "transition" was used in the context of a transition to whichever of the three options HMGoG chose out of those set out above. In no sense was the word used in the context of an agreed transition to 36 North or anyone else. There was no such agreement by Bland.

No agreement was reached for a transition of the maintenance of the NSCIS to Thomas Cornelio / 36 North.

I did not believe I would receive royalties / funds in relation to the NSCIS Platform if Thomas Cornelio / 36 North maintained it or even enter discussions with anybody regarding these matters.

I did not agree for John Perez and Thomas Cornelio to run the NSCIS system until ownership was clarified.

I do not know the reason why Caine Sanchez was excluded from meetings between the Chief Minister and myself.

Nothing was agreed during my meetings with the Chief Minister with regards to the maintenance of the NSCIS platform , until my meeting with him on the 27th September when he decided that the Government wanted Bland to continue maintaining the platform as hitherto.

Wavetecx was not to be discontinued following the resignation of John Perez and Thomas Cornelio.

I did not make a significant offer to Thomas Cornelio to remain with Bland and offer to fly him and his family to the Encombe Estate.

It was not agreed that 36 North would permanently take over the HMGoG software projects.

There was an agreement with Thomas Cornelio in relation to payment for the 'consultancy period'. I tender in evidence Exhibit JG/33, an email titled "Re: Meeting Minutes.eml" which is an email thread between myself and Thomas Cornelio discussing a continued conversation regarding issues encompassing NSCIS which lays out the terms of this agreement. I now tender in evidence Exhibit JG/34, an email titled "Re- Twitter.eml" which is an email thread between Jonathan Galliano, Thomas Cornelio and James Gaggero which discusses false comments made by Thomas Cornelio as well as which explains why no payment has been made as Thomas Cornelio refused to submit a fresh invoice or even accept payment on the basis of our agreement.

I attended a meeting on 19th September 2018 with Thomas Cornelio, Jonathan Galliano and Philip Navas where we discussed if Thomas Cornelio and John Perez had fallen out. I deduced this from an exchange in emails. I now tender this email exchange in evidence as Exhibit JG/35. No request was made to Thomas Cornelio to assist with running HMGoG systems.

Bland did not agree to the transition of the NSCIS Platform to 36 North.

The contractual agreement between Bland and Red Maple was that Infosec/Red Maple would provide support in securing locking down. Red Maple then developed the DSS platform and provides ongoing security advice to Bland through Dauntless.

Jonathan Galliano, John Paul Payas and Philip Navas did not receive significant pay rises following the arrests of Thomas Cornelio and John Perez on 10th May 2019. However, following the departure of the CEO and Head of Software Development in July 2018, I apportioned additional responsibilities to the three members of the Senior Leadership Team in Bland. The following increases were subsequently actioned: Jonathan Galliano – Salary increase by 14% 30th November 2018 John Paul Payas – Salary increased by 14% 30th April 2019 Philip Navas – Salary increased by 11% 30th April 2019.

Bland are not currently being paid the full amount invoiced to HMGoG for the NSCIS platform. Due to the alleged damage caused to the system by the outgoing Head of Software Development, Thomas Cornelio, HMGoG withheld part of the payment of those modules affected. This has resulted in a protracted negotiation to seek a mutually satisfactory solution to the short payment. HMGoG recently settled 36% of the shortfall and we expect to secure a final resolution in the coming weeks, which will then enable Bland to consider suing John Perez & Thomas Cornelio for the losses they have caused the company to suffer.

At the time that John Perez and Thomas Cornelio resigned, Wavetecx was a trading name/brand, as is BG Tech. Bland Ltd covers the entire period as the underlying entity contracted to deliver the services to HMGoG.

The IT department was not instructed to remove the Wavetecx website around this time, however, Wavetecx was no longer critical as a potential vehicle to reward the resigning executives so it was eventually disbanded, sometime later.

I was not made aware of "transition software" .

I was not aware of transition from NSCIS to Phoenix and Bland did not have knowledge of or give consent to a DTU increase which incurred cost to Bland.

I was not aware whether the potential Sao Tome & Principe opportunity was lost in March 2018.

I did not have knowledge of John Perez leaving prior to July 2018.

In May 2018 I travelled to Morocco with John Perez to discuss Travel Link. During this trip, John Perez and I did not discuss his future with Bland.

I was not aware if the potential Carnival Cruise Project collapsed in July 2018.

At the time John Perez resigned, Bland was recovering after years of underperformance.

I engaged in 2 lengthy conversations with John Perez in the days following his announcement that he wished to leave "to do his own thing". This included covering the possibility that we might wish to secure his services as a non-executive director of the Rock Hotel as well as other Group companies in Gibraltar and abroad. As soon as it became clear that Bland had been ambushed and that John Perez / Thomas Cornelio had been involved in a concerted, long in the making, plan to take Bland's tech businesses for themselves, all discussions about co-operation evaporated.

In a meeting with John Perez on 9th July 2018 where he informed me of his resignation, I did not inform him that I had no desire to continue to run HMGoG systems.

Bland has ongoing contracts with HMGoG regarding the NSCIS platform even though no written contract has been signed. Bland has agreed to provide and is providing certain services to HMGoG (in addition to licensing the use of the NSCIS platform), and HMGoG has agreed to and is paying for those services. The services agreed to be provided by Bland are Software License Fees/Hardware Maintenance Fees/ System Maintenance Fee/Hosting Fees/System Integration Fees/On Call Service Fees . The payments agreed by HMGoG to be made to Bland for those services are £[redacted] This is evidenced by the invoices issued by Bland to the HMGoG and paid by the latter subject to an amount, which has been withheld, due to service problems caused by the attacks on the platform by the outgoing executive and which has been partially resolved recently.

As the Master Software Development and Maintenance Agreement was never signed by HMGoG, an alternate agreement was initially proposed. Initially, it was the intention that the contract should be in writing and signed and a draft Master Service Agreement was drawn up and handed to HMGoG. This was never actually signed by the parties. As above, there is a contract between Bland and HMGoG whether or not it is in writing and/or signed.

While not the original intention, Bland later agreed that the DSS, ETB and Dept of Education platforms would belong to the Government. This is reflected in the fact that invoices for these platforms did not include a licensing fee payable to Bland by Government. This was a commercial decision by Bland based on the fact that these platforms had less ongoing commercial value to Bland. However, this was not the case of the NSCIS platform, as evidenced by the facts that (i) invoices to Government included a licensing fee payable by Government to Bland for use by Government of the Platforms and (ii) John Perez on behalf of Bland sought to commercially exploit the NSCIS platform to third parties such as the Government of San Tome and Principe and Carnival Cruises. This would not have been possible if the platform did not belong to Bland.

There are no plans for Bland and Red Maple to set up a joint venture company.

At the end of October 2020 I became aware that there was about to be a change of CEO at Red Maple, which would provide a route for Bland Group to purchase a minority shareholding in the up-and-coming company.

I am not aware of a company called Yitu, nor if they were brought over by Hassans to assist in removing Wavetecx from Bland as well as a joint venture with Wavetecx.

By early September 2018 I was being led to suspect that Thomas Cornelio and John Perez might be at odds with each other now that their heist appeared to be falling apart. Thomas Cornelio was either fishing for information or was genuinely trying to create blue water between himself and John Perez. An email exchange titled "Without prejudice and Confidential Meetings.eml" and marked as Exhibit JG/35 refers.

I believed that Caine Sanchez had disclosed information to John Perez because within hours of a meeting terminating at No 6 attended by, myself, 3 executives from Bland, the Chief Minister, his Personal Assistant and Caine Sanchez, John Perez replayed key points discussed at the meeting to Bland's lawyer and his onetime friend, Guy Stagnetto, who in turn warned me that the contents of the meeting were known to John Perez.

I now tender in evidence an audio file of a telephone conversation at 1836hrs on 8th October 2018 as Exhibit JG/36. My plan was to secure Caine Sanchez's support following the Chief Minister's directive that Thomas Cornelio be instructed to cooperate with an orderly hand over. Caine Sanchez attempted to conflate the issues we discussed with a false argument that I had conceded Bland's IP rights, which I strongly denied in a subsequent exchange of email between myself and Caine Sanchez which I now tender in evidence as Exhibit JG/37.

I also tender in evidence Exhibit JG/38, a pair of emails titled "End of Support.eml" and "FW-INV-0002.eml" relating to Thomas Cornelio's invoice for the 20 days he supported the NSCIS platform. We were shocked to see how deluded Thomas Cornelio appeared on charging Bland £48,685.28 for 20 days of work.

INQUIRY INTO THE RETIREMENT OF THE FORMER COMMISSIONER OF POLICE

EXHIBIT HJML1 TO THE WITNESS STATEMENT OF JAMES LEVY CBE KC
DATED 31 OCTOBER 2022

Statement of James Levy CBE QC

1. I am Haim Judah Michael Levy CBE QC.

2. I am the Senior Partner of Hassans International Law Firm ("Hassans"). I have been a lawyer for over 47 years and began working in this firm in 1972 with its founder, my uncle, Sir Joshua Hassan QC. I was appointed Queen's Counsel in 2002. In 2013 I was made Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire for services to the Community of Gibraltar and work in helping to grow and develop the economy of Gibraltar. In 2015 Parliament awarded me the Gibraltar Medallion of Honour for services to the economy of Gibraltar. I have been, for at least 15 years, and continue to be, the chairman of Gibraltar Community Care, Gibraltar's largest charity, and the longest serving president of the Managing Board of the Jewish Community of Gibraltar since its inception.

3. Contrary to what the RGP appear to suspect, I have not conspired with anybody to defraud anyone; nor have I exerted any improper influence on any public official; nor have I breached the Official Secrets Act.

4. On 12 May 2020, Detective Superintendent Paul Richardson and other officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police attended the offices of my firm, in Madison Building, Midtown, with search warrants. I was told that if I did not cooperate in granting access to the office premises and my home, the search warrants would be executed. I was astounded to learn that search warrants had been applied for and issued against me. When I raised this with Detective Superintendent Richardson, I was told that advice had been obtained from the highest level, which I understood to be the Director of Public Prosecutions. I cooperated with the RGP and granted access as requested to both my offices and home, as I would have if search warrants had not been obtained, subject to my professional duties and personal rights. Despite my strong objection to the legality of the warrants, I wish to record that both Detective Superintendent Richardson and Detective Inspector Wyan were at all times polite and courteous towards me.

5. Whilst at my offices, I was handed a document by Detective Superintendent Richardson entitled "Voluntary Attendance for Interview under Caution" and dated 12 May 2020, informing me of the background to the allegations and my alleged involvement. The document invited me to attend an interview under caution on Monday 18 May 2020 at 10am.

6. Following representations made by my legal representatives to the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Police about the unlawfulness of the search warrants I was subsequently invited to provide a written statement, albeit whilst still being considered a suspect by the RGP. Attached to one of the letters received from the Commissioner of Police was a document entitled "Voluntary Attendance for Interview under Caution" dated 12 May 2020. On the face of it this appeared to be the same document handed to me on 12 May, however, point 9 had been amended.

7. In order to prepare my written statement, Detective Superintendent Richardson sent my legal advisers a document by email, named: "Pre-Interview Disclosure". The document was marked "DRAFT", was undated and was also entitled "Voluntary Attendance for Interview under Caution". This document provided the background facts and details of my alleged involvement. I point out that none of the alleged facts in the document discloses any offence allegedly committed by me. The document also set out a list of specific questions which I answer below to the best of my recollection (given that the questions largely relate to events that occurred over two years ago) and subject to my professional duties.

8. Since the allegations against me have not been clearly specified for me to understand precisely, I have answered as best as I could. If the RGP need any further specific information, I would agree to provide this subject to any duty of privilege and confidentiality.

Questions posed by the RGP (in bold italics)

Hassans

His position, role, responsibilities, accountability (to whom?) Scope and limitation in engaging in new business and investing in new business by way of financing their ventures.

9. As mentioned above, I am the Senior Partner of Hassans. As Senior Partner, I chair partners' meetings and have general high-level oversight of Hassans and of the important matters that the firm deals with. I also deal with clients directly. Like all members of the firm I am accountable to the partnership. I also act as the initial point of contact for commercial transactions, bringing people and businesses together where I consider it to be in their best interests. By way of example, I was the person who brought the gaming industry as well as the insurance and other industries to Gibraltar.

10. Hassans' business ventures and investments are decided upon by a small group of partners, usually the Managing Partner (Javier Chincotta ("JC")), me and one or two other partners with some knowledge of the area that the venture or investment concerns.

11. Hassans are often approached by "start-ups" for investment in their ventures. Whether or not Hassans proceeds to invest in a particular business venture is a decision that is taken after careful consideration of all the relevant factors. There is no rigid structure for these decisions and each case is considered and decided individually and on its own merits.

12. Hassans has in fact supported and invested in numerous business ventures in the past, such as in construction companies, investment companies, insurance management companies, foreign trust companies, foreign property companies and even an individual who wanted to become, and successfully became, a football agent. This is not exclusive to Hassans. Other legal practices do this, both in Gibraltar and internationally, sometimes taking a stake in the company in lieu of fees.

36 North Ltd (36N)

His involvement with this entity from the beginning and including before its incorporation as a limited liability company.

How Hassans became involved in 36N

The nature of the business of 36N including any business plan if relevant.

The financing of 36N by Hassans and what level of return was expected from the investment.

13. To the best of my recollection, at some point towards the end of 2017 or in the first quarter of 2018 Hassans was approached by John Perez, a former Commanding Officer of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment ("JP") and Tommy Cornelio ("TC").

14. At the time JP and TC were employed by Bland Limited ("Blands") but wanted to leave the company and set up on their own. It was in respect of this new start up that they approached Hassans for investment.

15. There was an initial meeting with them to discuss their proposal, I think this was in the first quarter of 2018 but I cannot recall exactly when. There were also other meetings with them, but I cannot recall how many or when as all this occurred two years ago. From that stage I involved David Weber ("DW"), a consultant solicitor in Hassans and formerly a senior partner in the City firm Linklaters, as legal advisor in connection with the project.

16. I recall that the main thrust of the business pitch was that they had a number of opportunities both in Gibraltar and internationally involving software development and the provision of computer-based services.

17. It was explained to us that TC had a particular expertise in computers and software development, that JP had extensive business experience and that by using their skills they could develop many new business opportunities internationally in places such as Guinea Bissau, Sao Tome, Gabon and Angola and other countries. We were told that, among other things, they had in mind to develop a facial recognition programme for use by the cruise liner market. It was emphasised that the business would be based on software and programmes to be developed by TC and that JP would provide his business expertise to promote and market the business.

18. We were also told about another project concerning the setting up of the "Green Energy Cable" between Morocco and Gibraltar which was to provide electricity from Morocco to Gibraltar. JP had considerable experience in Morocco which he had gained during his former military career.

19. JP and TC explained that several computer programmes had been developed by TC for the Government of Gibraltar ("GoG"). They told us that any intellectual property rights for the programmes belonged to GoG. The programmes covered frontier management, employment and aviation for example. They said that they wanted to reach an agreement with Blands in relation to this area of work as it seemed clear to them that there would be no one with the required expertise and experience to maintain these systems once they left Blands.

20. JP and TC made it clear to us that after they left Blands they would develop new programmes which would not in any way infringe on anyone's intellectual property rights. They were confident that TC would be able to develop new programmes which would be profitable in Gibraltar and internationally. Whilst I understood the business concept and the commerciality of the proposal, I perceived that these were highly sophisticated programmes requiring specialist technical knowledge and skill which, given my very basic knowledge of IT, were way beyond my comprehension.

21. The business was portrayed as being very exciting, innovative and with the potential of international expansion. JP and TC had definitely decided to leave Blands and pursue their own business, with or without Hassans. They were determined not to be under James Gaggero's ("JG") control or influence. They wanted to be their own masters.

22. I was assured from the very beginning by JP and TC that after the termination of their employment they would not be prevented contractually or in any other way from conducting the business and competing with Blands. Consequently, I felt entirely reassured that there was no question of anyone's legal rights or obligations being breached in the setting up and operation of this new business.

23. I recall discussing the matter with JC and also other partners, but cannot recall when. We came to the view that this was an investment that we would be interested to participate in by providing a loan and taking shares.

24. In exchange for the loan JP and TC offered Hassans a third of the business. Hassans' participation was held through a company called Astelon Limited ("Astelon") owned by the partners of Hassans. I cannot recall when, but the details and terms of the investment were discussed and negotiated. I was not directly involved in these discussions, which were led by DW as legal advisor. I was involved occasionally at a high level when decisions had to be made. I see from the correspondence that the loan facility requested by JP and TC and provided by Astelon was up to £1,000,000. The loan was drawn down in stages and the sum of £400,000 had been drawn down by April 2019 shortly after which the facility was cancelled due to the failure of 36N to generate the anticipated level of income. In September 2019 revised cash flow forecasts were presented by JP and TC. On the basis of those forecasts it was decided that Astelon would make a further advance of £76,000. The total loan, which stands at £476,000, is to be repaid at the end of August 2020 or earlier if there is sufficient income from the business.

What was expected from Haim Levy as an associate of 36N

25. I am not and have never been an associate of 36N. Nothing was expected of me personally in relation to the management of 36N. I was not an officer of the company, nor did I have any day to day involvement in the business. As with other investments made by Hassans I would only be involved at a high level from a strategic point of view.

26. At all material times I was a representative and beneficiary of Astelon as shareholder and lender and all my dealings and involvement went no further than those expected of an investor in that capacity.

The corporate structure of 36N including its layered ownership

27. On 10 August 2018, when TC's employment with Bland terminated, JP was still under notice to Blands and was therefore contractually precluded from having an interest in the 36N business until his employment terminated at the latest on 10 September 2018 or earlier if released by Blands. It was therefore decided that between those two dates 50% of the shares in 36N would be issued to TC's company (Icode Limited) and the remaining 50% of the shares would be issued to Astelon. TC would be the sole director of 36N during this period and Icode Limited would be remunerated under a services agreement for providing TC's services to 36N. It was further agreed at that time that on 10 September 2018, or earlier if JP were released from his employment by Blands, the shares in 36N would be reorganised so that they were held in 1/3 equal shares by Icode Limited, Astelon and JP and at that time JP would be appointed an additional director of 36N and his services agreement with 36N would take effect. However, the reorganisation of the share capital of 36N had not happened as at 10 September 2018 and has not yet happened as far as I know, although Astelon still owns a 1/3 beneficial share of 36N.

Any KYC due diligence that was undertaken before participating in this business

28. Obtaining KYC due diligence is not something in which I would personally be involved. In any event, it is the firm's legal obligation to obtain this where required. I note from the correspondence that this was provided by JP and TC to DW in respect of the work that Hassans would have done for them as clients.

29. Additionally, JP, as a former Commanding Officer of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment, is very well known in Gibraltar, and TC is well known in the industry for his computer expertise. Moreover, they had both been the main persons involved in GoG work, not only for NSCIS but also for other software projects.

Astelon Ltd

The formation of this company and its purpose and ownership

30. Astelon was a shelf company. It was selected from a number of shelf companies for no particular reason. It is a single purpose vehicle ("SPV") whose purpose is to own shares in 36N for Hassans and to provide the financing from Hassans to 36N. An SPV for these purposes is an entirely normal and usual corporate set-up.

31. Astelon is beneficially owned by the partners from time to time of Hassans. This information was requested by Detective Sergeant Schembri from DW on 14 May 2019 and provided to him by email on the same day.

ICODE Ltd (1/3 shareholder in 36 North Ltd)

The business relationship with this company

32. The only relationship with Icode is that of Astelon as co-shareholder in 36N.

Any KYC due diligence conducted in connection with this company

33. I am informed by Line Group, who are Hassans' wholly owned fiduciary management company, that they did not incorporate Icode Ltd. I understand that Hassans obtained company documentation on Icode from TC as part of its normal AML process when acting as lawyers in a commercial transaction.

NSCIS platform

His understanding as to the ownership of the intellectual property of the platform given that the evidence suggests that it formed part of a 36N business plan. How was he satisfied that 36 North Ltd would be able to acquire the management of it given that Hassans invested in the company.

34. From the outset, I was told by JP and TC that the intellectual property of the NSCIS platform belonged to GoG. They were very clear about this, and that was my understanding throughout. I was told that GoG was free to use whatever contractor it wished to maintain and service the platform as there was no formal contract in existence between GoG and Blands. This information was essential to satisfy ourselves that the project would not give rise to any civil liability. We were satisfied with the information we were given that no civil liability would arise, particularly so since JG, chairman of the Bland Group, was negotiating with JP and TC for JG to acquire a substantial holding in 36N. In fact, I was told that initially he was suggesting to them that they could take over the maintenance of NSCIS platform without him seeking anything in return.

35. At the time JP and TC envisaged, and were confident, that the maintenance of NSCIS would at some point be given to 36N with the agreement of Blands and JG. Initially, JP and TC confirmed that JG had agreed for JP and TC to take over the maintenance of the NSCIS from Blands. However, I was subsequently told by JP and TC that JG's stance had changed, and that JG was asking for 50% of the shares in 36N in exchange for Blands' agreement to allow 36N to manage the Platform. I was subsequently informed by JP that JG had lowered his demand to 33% of 36N. At that stage I suggested to JP and to TC that they should settle with JG at that level and that we would be happy to step back from the business. In the end no agreement was reached but what is clear is that JG was not only aware of JP's and TC's business interests in this area, he was actively involved in negotiations with them to try and obtain a share of 36N.

His understanding as to how the platform was to be removed from Blands and transferred to 36N

36. This question is based on an incorrect premise, as the platform did not belong to Blands but to GoG. However, in any event, it was never my understanding that the platform was to be "removed" from Blands. My understanding from JP and TC was that GoG owned the platform and GoG was free to employ any contractor to maintain and service it as there was no formal contract between GoG and Blands. JP and TC envisaged that 36N would try to commercially compete for the NSCIS business by tendering for the management of the platform or (since I understood Blands obtained the management without a tender) making representations to GoG to show that they could provide a better, more reliable and more competitive service. That kind of competition is completely normal and lawful and Blands would have no recourse, if as a result, 36N won the ongoing business with GoG. Additionally, as I have already explained above, JP and TC were negotiating with JG for him to acquire a share in the new business.

Any knowledge that he had with regard to the malfunctioning of the platform and when he became aware of this

37. I am aware that after TC left Blands he was asked by JG to continue servicing the NSCIS platform because Blands did not have anyone with the required expertise to carry out this task. In effect, Blands was outsourcing the maintenance of the platform to TC.

38. I was made aware by TC on various occasions, after his departure from Blands and after he ceased his interim maintenance of the system for Blands, that the NSCIS system was not being properly maintained by Blands, due to the lack of suitably experienced personnel, [redacted]

Any knowledge that he may have with regard to the tampering with and/or sabotage of the NSCIS platform

39. I had no knowledge of, or reason to suspect, any tampering with and/or sabotage of the NSCSI system as alleged. The first time I recall becoming aware of the alleged tampering/sabotage was after JP and TC were arrested when I was informed by them of what was being alleged and they strongly denied that any tampering or sabotage had taken place.

40. I note from paragraph 12 of the Pre-Interview Disclosure document that it is alleged that I became aware that Digital Forensic experts were conducting an investigation. As far as I recall, I only became aware that Digital Forensic experts were conducting an investigation when JP and TC told me after they were arrested and released on police bail. I was never aware of any alleged plan to sabotage the NSCIS platform or any computer misuse offences, nor would I countenance such behaviour

An explanation of what he did once he became aware of the alleged criminality of John Perez and Thomas Cornelio with regard to the reputational damage that may occur to himself and Hassan by being associated with them and 36 North through ownership of shares in 36N

41. Soon after the arrest DW and I met with JP and TC to discuss what had happened. JP and TC strenuously denied the allegations of tampering and sabotage and were adamant that the allegations were false and maliciously driven.

42. I was not concerned with reputational damage to me or my firm as we had acted properly and in good faith at all times and I was satisfied with the explanations that were given to me by JP and TC as described in the previous paragraph. I consider the matter to be, if anything, a commercial dispute and certainly not a criminal matter.

Communications and meetings with the following persons with regards to 36N and/or NSCIS

NOTE: Mr Levy retained a copy of the data on his mobile phone before eventually handing it over to police on the 12th May 2020 and has access to his email accounts. For this reason is should be possible for Mr Levy to extract the relevant conversations/emails from his own devices and may choose to provide these to police to support his account.

The persons are:

Eddie Asquez (a former employee of Bland Ltd)

John Perez

Thomas Cornelio

43. I do not believe I have ever met or communicated with Eddie Asquez.

44. I met with JP and TC on a number of occasions to discuss the business venture. I would generally meet them together. As I have mentioned, I was not directly involved in the detailed negotiations and our meetings and communications were limited to discussing high level aspects of the business.

45. Naturally, I received a number of emails from TC and JP regarding 36N and NSCIS. Some of these were addressed to me directly and in others I was a cc recipient.

46. Following discussions between our deputy head of IT and DC Jason Oton of the RGP, the Hassans servers were interrogated using agreed keywords and date parameters. I am providing the RGP with a USB stick which includes the emails that were identified using those keywords and parameters, but not those emails that are protected by Legal Professional Privilege or which are clearly unrelated to this matter.

47. The emails show that I was in contact with JP and TC and that the matters discussed were the setting up of the business and what the business would actually be doing. As explained below nothing about our communications were dishonest or unlawful.

48. I also recall that there were other communications with JP and TC but cannot recall the details given the passage of time.

Caine Sanchez

49. I met Caine Sanchez ("CS") a number of years ago through his father in law, James Pecino, who has been an employee of Hassans for many years, and therefore know CS personally.

50. Given the work Hassans does for the GoG, me and my colleagues often deal with civil servants. I therefore have cause to communicate with CS on many other matters. Indeed, some clients of Hassans who would come to set up their businesses in Gibraltar would have contact with CS as he was the Principal Secretary of the Deputy Chief Minister. He would therefore attend our offices for meetings on various matters.

51. CS was the Government officer responsible for the NSCIS and tasked with ensuring, on behalf of GoG, that the system was being properly maintained.

52. I cannot recall any specific meeting with CS on this matter at the time, however I note from the email correspondence that a meeting with CS took place in April 2018 and a copy of the draft MOU in relation to 36N was sent to him by email. I recall that around that time CS was concerned that the NSCIS platform would not be properly managed after JP and TC left Blands. He believed that once JP and TC left Blands, Blands would have no expertise to reliably deliver the service and he was concerned that it could affect the whole security of Gibraltar. At no time did CS request any payment or other benefit from me and to the best of my knowledge he did not and does not have any direct or indirect interest in 36N.

53. I continue working with CS on other matters since he now works for Sir Joe Bossano, the Minister of Economic Development, whom I advise on a number of matters in his capacity as a Minister.

Whether the relationship was purely business or lawyer client based (all persons)

54. The relationship with JP and TC was primarily a business one, but they also asked me to provide them with high level legal advice from time to time.

55. As far as I was concerned CS's involvement in relation to 36N was purely in an official capacity as the Government officer responsible for NSCIS.

Sanchez-

explanation as to his business relationship with civil servant

56. I did not have a business relationship with CS.

When did he find out that Sanchez was arrested on suspicion of misconduct in public office and did he consider that Sanchez may have acted unethically and/or unlawfully in his dealings with Haim Levy

57. I found out that CS had been arrested very shortly after the fact, but cannot recall exactly when or by whom I was so informed.

58. I have had no business dealings with CS (other than those when he has acted on behalf of GoG) and have no reason to believe he has acted unethically and/or unlawfully at any time.

Any approach by Mr Levy to member of Government or the civil service in connection with 36N and or the NSCIS platform

59. If by "approach" it is suggested that there has been some impropriety, I have certainly not "approached" any member of the GoG or the civil service in connection with 36N and/or the NSCIS platform or at all. The nature of my contact with the GoG or the civil service in connection with 36N and the NSCIS platform is set out in this statement.

60. In fact, it seems clear that if anyone has used his influence successfully throughout this matter it is JG. I understand he had many meetings and conversations with the Chief Minister to try and ensure that Blands kept the business. Indeed, he successfully managed to keep the NSCIS business which I understand was not functioning for months, yet this, I further understand, did not prevent him from invoicing and charging huge sums of money for services not rendered. I assume the RGP is making the necessary investigations in this regard.

61. After reviewing my correspondence history, I see that in August 2018, I forwarded to the Chief Minister an email containing a draft email prepared by TC addressed to JG regarding the termination of the NSCIS maintenance service that TC had been providing after his departure from Blands. To put this in context, I was aware that the NSCIS platform was one in which the GoG had a direct interest, as owners of it, and I therefore discussed the Blands/36N issues with the Chief Minister on a few occasions.

62. The Chief Minister informed me that he had discussed this matter with JG also on a number of occasions and had tried to promote a settlement between him, JP and TC of the commercial dispute that was emerging between them. It was clear that JG was very concerned at losing his 2 key employees on whom he depended to enable Blands to continue to meet its contractual obligations.

63. In those conversations I suggested that the Chief Minister should continue to encourage JP, TC and JG to find a way to work together amicably in the interests of maintaining the NSCIS platform for the benefit of GoG as I had been informed that Blands did not have the expertise or capability to maintain it. I mentioned to the Chief Minister, and separately to JP and TC, that Hassans would be willing to give up all its shareholding in 36N if that would help reach an agreement between JP, TC and JG.

64. In relation to the maintenance issues regarding the platform that would arise after TC's departure from Blands, as mentioned above, I was aware that JG was negotiating a settlement agreement with JP and TC where JG was initially asking for a 50% stake in 36N. It was at that stage that I recall also informing JP and TC, in the presence of DW, that as far as Hassans was concerned we would be happy to step back from the investment, and that they should try to finalise an agreement with JG. JP and TC were adamant that they could not agree to that as they preferred not to work with JG and believed his demands were excessive.

65. By this time TC had already left Blands but had continued maintaining the NSCIS system on their behalf for the benefit of GoG and national security. TC did not want to continue providing this service on this informal basis and proposed to write to JG giving him notice of the termination of the service. TC sent me a draft of that letter for me to review.

66. It was against this backdrop of settlement talks, and the fact that I knew that the Chief Minister was also involved in trying to find a solution to the NSCIS operation issue that I forwarded the Chief Minister, by email, TC's draft email, as this was something which I thought he ought to be aware of.

Additional Comments

67. Having read the redacted information laid before the Magistrate in support of the application for the search warrants ("the Information") I find it even more incomprehensible why the police is investigating me at all. I am accused of conspiring with JP and TC to defraud Blands by "dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for [our] own benefit, via [our] company 36 North Limited" (see paragraph 42 of the Information). There appear to be 3 strands to the alleged conspiracy:

a. that I was discussing obtaining the NSCIS maintenance business with JP and TC during their employment with Blands.
b. that I had conversations with Government and Government officials about the business.
c. that I was aware of alleged computer misuse offences.

68. The RGP appear to have proceeded with this criminal investigation against me on the misguided view that only Blands was entitled to deliver maintenance to the NSCIS platform, and that any lawful attempt by any competitor to obtain that business amounts to a conspiracy to defraud. The RGP will know that it is fundamental to a charge of conspiracy that the agreement between the alleged conspirators must be to use unlawful means or to obtain an unlawful result. Using lawful means to obtain a lawful result and promoting co-operation between those with competing interests as I did in this case and have often done throughout my career, can never be a conspiracy to defraud.

69. In relation to the discussions regarding obtaining the NSCIS business during JP and TC's employment with Blands, even if you take the allegation at its highest, there can be no conspiracy or dishonesty merely by planning to set up a business that will compete with your employer after the employment terminates. It was certainly not a crime for JP and TC to plan a competing business. In any event as stated above JG negotiated with JP and TC to take a stake in 36N and was fully aware of what was going on.

70. Moreover, the Information suggests that the RGP consider that the mere act of JP and TC resigning from Blands was itself dishonest because Blands would be unable to maintain the NSCIS platform. There is no basis for this conclusion. It is for any employer to ensure that it retains its employees to be able to deliver its services. How it goes about it is a matter for the employer, but losing employees and by implication losing business is a fact and risk of any business. An employee is entitled to resign from their employment, upon giving any notice legally required, for any reason.

71. Furthermore, competing for the NSCIS business could not have been a conspiracy to defraud Blands when Blands, through its chairman JG, actively negotiated with 36N with regard to the NSCIS business and for a 50% stake in 36N. In other words, JG, the person complaining of being the victim of a conspiracy to defraud, was negotiating for a stake in the company that could be competing for the NSCIS business. He was negotiating with the very individuals he now accuses of conspiring against him, as a result of a failed negotiation. It will not be lost on the RGP that these allegations were made after JG failed to obtain the stake in 36N or to keep two key employees.

72. In relation to communications with Government and Government officials and specifically the allegation at paragraph 319 c. of the Information, that I used my influence with the Chief Minister to the advantage of 36N, if it is alleged that by speaking to Governments minister or officials I was attempting to win business for 36N, there would have been nothing unlawful in me doing so.

73. My communications with Government must also be put into context. In over 47 years of practice I have been the partner of a Chief Minister (Sir Joshua Hassan QC) whilst he was in office for 16 years. I was the main legal advisor to Sir Joe Bossano during his 8 years in office. I advised Sir Peter Caruana QC in his first term of office on a number of legal issues and I have been a partner of the present Chief Minister during his tenure of 9 years, whom I have also advised on various matters including important and confidential matters of state. I have also advised a number of successive Governors, the Foreign Office, a number of Attorneys General, a number of Chief Justices, local and overseas law enforcement agencies and leaders of industry, both in Gibraltar and internationally. I have therefore, regularly in my 47 years of practice been in almost constant communication with Government and Government officials at the most senior level.

74. In relation to the allegation that I had knowledge of the alleged computer misuse offences, paragraphs 99 and 100 of the Information, purport to relate to communications between TC, an unnamed person and myself about "apparent knowledge of the computer misuse offences". These paragraphs have been redacted and therefore I do not know why the RGP are alleging that I knew about the alleged computer misuse offences either at the time of their planning or at any time before JP and TC's arrest. It is impossible to understand how evidence of knowledge of an alleged crime after events can infer knowledge before the event. In other words, even if I had been told by JP and TC, which I deny, that there had been misuse of computers, that could not be used to infer that I knew about any such misuse when it was occurring or was about to occur

75. It appears that the RGP agree with me on this point because, despite the allegations in the Information, it has unsurprisingly been confirmed by the RGP to my legal representative Charles Bonfante, that there is no evidence that I was involved in or knew about the planning of the alleged sabotage to the NSCIS platform. I most certainly was not.

76. I have, in this statement, sought to address the facts from my knowledge and recollection, and from material at my disposal. I feel bound to remind the RGP that this investigation, as well as the draconian and wholly unnecessary step of seeking a search warrant on the basis that I could not be trusted, have, apart from the deep disappointment and offence caused to me, caused me and my family very considerable and lasting distress, which cannot simply be forgotten and cured with time. I therefore reserve all my rights in this respect.

77. I simply cannot comprehend how the RGP can genuinely consider that they have sufficient grounds to treat me as a suspect and I would expect that, having read this statement, they will reflect on and reconsider the enormity of what they appear to be alleging against me.

78. What is, however, clear to me is that the RGP has been overzealous in accommodating JG and allowed itself to be influenced by him in pursuing, what is essentially a commercially motivated complaint by him against former employees with whom he is aggrieved for leaving him and competing with his business through a company which he wanted to be part of.

Some practical points:

1/ According to LIne, the JV company has not been incorporated. Shall I get it done when the MOU is signed or have you already given instructions?

2/ Which Hassans company will be used as shareholder and lender?

3/ Pease could Anna let me have the contacts of Thomas Cornelio and John Perez so I can arrange KYC, consents to act etc once the MOU has been agreed?

Dear John,

I attach a draft MOU for the JV, subject to ongoing internal Hassans review.

I would be happy to discuss it with you in person or by phone or receive your comments by email whichever is more convenient for you.

Please forward a copy of the MOU to Thomas as I do not have his contact details.

If the JV company is already incorporated, please let me have copies of its corporate documents (certificate of incorporation, memorandum and articles of association, register of shareholders and directors etc).

Alternatively please let me know if you would like us to incorporate the company.

We need to put in place an engagement letter and go through the standard KYC process. I would appreciate if in the first instance you would provide copies of your and Thomas's passport and a copy utility bill for each of you.

I look forward to working with you and Thomas.

Dear David,

Thank you for your email.

Having reviewed the initial MOU prepared our notes are as follows:

1. We believe it would be in both John's and my own interest that our shares be assigned to a company incorporated for us. E.g. John will incorporate Company X and I will incorporate Company Y. Ideally should you agree that this is the best option we would like to instruct Hassan's Line Group to incorporate and manage these for us and advise applicable costs as well as provide guidance on tax where possible. I believe this setup would be in our interest especially when receiving dividends at the end of the year. Consultancy fees would be paid to our companies.
2. Consultancy fees should be guaranteed for 36 months and not 12 months. This security is in return for our 33.33% share offering to Hassan's although it is unlikely that such guarantees will be required. It it is indeed expected that the company will be self sufficient very soon after its incorporation.
3. It should be declared that in the unlikely event that the business proves not to be profitable, we would not be liable to pay back the loan.
4. 9(i) states that there is an intention to sell the company within 3 to 5 years. An IPO for a tech company such as ours may prove to be a very lucrative proposition however we would like a clause added that a majority or unanimous decision should be required for this. Note also this should be 9(c) and not 9(i).
5. 11(a) states that one party can force all other parties to sell, this i believe should be either a majority or unanimous decision.

The JV company 36 North has not yet been incorporated as we have waited for Hassan's Line Group to incorporate this on our behalf with the appropriate setup and shareholders in place.

I will forward John's and my passport and a copy of a utility bill each to you on a separate email.

We hope to have the MOU signed promptly and the SHA so that we can commence this new venture as soon as possible, we already have several contracts on hold awaiting for this JV to be formed.

John is currently attending a conference in the UK and will return to Gibraltar on Saturday. We are both available to sign the amended MOU and SHA as well as incorporate our individual companies on Sunday should you and James be available.

On another note, we are currently undecided on whether to rent out an office at WTC or perhaps Hassan's can offer some temporary accommodation until the Midtown development is ready and we can rent or ideally purchase an office there. Perhaps this is something you can guide us on.

Kind Regards

Noted and this can be discussed once the engagement is in place and KYC documents provided and our internal compliance approval obtained.

This security is in return for our 33.33% share offering to Hassan's although it is unlikely that such guarantees will be required. It it is indeed expected that the company will be self sufficient very soon after its incorporation.

   Noted that you require a 3 year consultancy term but please bear in mind there is no third party guarantor so ultimately, like the loan, the consultancy payments will depend on the company's performance.

3. It should be declared that in the unlikely event that the business proves not to be profitable, we would not be liable to pay back the loan.

   The lender understands and accepts that repayment of the loan will depend on cash flow. There can be no dividends prior to full repayment of the loan however.

An IPO for a tech company such as ours may prove to be a very lucrative proposition however we would like a clause added that a majority or unanimous decision should be required for this. Note also this should be 9(c) and not 9(i).

   This would not be normal. We should discuss your comment in the context of the pre-emption and drag and tag provisions proposed.

5. 11(a) states that one party can force all other parties to sell, this i believe should be either a majority or unanimous decision.

   To be discussed - see previous comment.

The JV company 36 North has not yet been incorporated as we have waited for Hassan's Line Group to incorporate this on our behalf with the appropriate setup and shareholders in place.

We can deal with this once our compliance/KYC process is completed.

I will forward John's and my passport and a copy of a utility bill each to you on a separate email.

We hope to have the MOU signed promptly and the SHA so that we can commence this new venture as soon as possible, we already have several contracts on hold awaiting for this JV to be formed.

John is currently attending a conference in the UK and will return to Gibraltar on Saturday. We are both available to sign the amended MOU and SHA as well as incorporate our individual companies on Sunday should you and James be available.

On another note, we are currently undecided on whether to rent out an office at WTC or perhaps Hassan's can offer some temporary accommodation until the Midtown development is ready and we can rent or ideally purchase an office there. Perhaps this is something you can guide us on.

To be discussed with James and Javier when we meet.

Kind Regards

Thomas Cornelio

Dear John,

I attach a draft MOU for the JV, subject to ongoing internal Hassans review.

I would be happy to discuss it with you in person or by phone or receive your comments by email whichever is more convenient for you.

Please forward a copy of the MOU to Thomas as I do not have his contact details.

If the JV company is already incorporated, please let me have copies of its corporate documents (certificate of incorporation, memorandum and articles of association, register of shareholders and directors etc).

Alternatively please let me know if you would like us to incorporate the company.

We need to put in place an engagement letter and go through the standard KYC process. I would appreciate if in the first instance you would provide copies of your and Thomas's passport and a copy utility bill for each of you.

I look forward to working with you and Thomas.

Dear David,

Thank you for your email.

Having reviewed the initial MOU prepared our notes are as follows:

1. We believe it would be in both John's and my own interest that our shares be assigned to a company incorporated for us. E.g. John will incorporate Company X and I will incorporate Company Y. Ideally should you agree that this is the best option we would like to instruct Hassan's Line Group to incorporate and manage these for us and advise applicable costs as well as provide guidance on tax where possible. I believe this setup would be in our interest especially when receiving dividends at the end of the year. Consultancy fees would be paid to our companies.
Noted and this can be discussed once the engagement is in place and KYC documents provided and our internal compliance approval obtained.

1. Consultancy fees should be guaranteed for 36 months and not 12 months. This security is in return for our 33.33% share offering to Hassan's although it is unlikely that such guarantees will be required. It it is indeed expected that the company will be self sufficient very soon after its incorporation.

Noted that you require a 3 year consultancy term but please bear in mind there is no third party guarantor so ultimately, like the loan, the consultancy payments will depend on the company's performance.

1. It should be declared that in the unlikely event that the business proves not to be profitable, we would not be liable to pay back the loan.
The lender understands and accepts that repayment of the loan will depend on cash flow. There can be no dividends prior to full repayment of the loan however.

1. 9(i) states that there is an intention to sell the company within 3 to 5 years. An IPO for a tech company such as ours may prove to be a very lucrative proposition however we would like a clause added that a majority or unanimous decision should be required for this. Note also this should be 9(c) and not 9(i).
This would not be normal. We should discuss your comment in the context of the pre-emption and drag and tag provisions proposed.

1. 11(a) states that one party can force all other parties to sell, this i believe should be either a majority or unanimous decision.
To be discussed - see previous comment.
The JV company 36 North has not yet been incorporated as we have waited for Hassan's Line Group to incorporate this on our behalf with the appropriate setup and shareholders in place.

We can deal with this once our compliance/KYC process is completed.

I will forward John's and my passport and a copy of a utility bill each to you on a separate email.

We hope to have the MOU signed promptly and the SHA so that we can commence this new venture as soon as possible, we already have several contracts on hold awaiting for this JV to be formed.

John is currently attending a conference in the UK and will return to Gibraltar<https://maps.google.com/?q=57/63+Line+Wall+Road%0D%0A+%0D%0A+Gibraltar&entry=gmail&source=g> on Saturday. We are both available to sign the amended MOU and SHA as well as incorporate our individual companies on Sunday should you and James be available.

On another note, we are currently undecided on whether to rent out an office at WTC or perhaps Hassan's can offer some temporary accommodation until the Midtown development is ready and we can rent or ideally purchase an office there. Perhaps this is something you can guide us on.

To be discussed with James and Javier when we meet.

Dear James

I met today with John Perez and Thomas Cornelio and formed an excellent impression of both of them. Key points:

1. We discussed their comments on the MOU and I think we have reached an landing on all except one point which they wanted to think more about.

2. The outstanding point is the 3 year guarantee of consultancy fees which they are seeking. It is clear that there isn't enough headroom in the ?1m loan amount to give them this security and pay the start-up costs and I suppose Hassans would have a problem allowing a drawdown to pay compensation once the company had effectively stopped trading. One solution would be for John and Thomas to be engaged by Hassans under three year contracts and to be seconded to the project company at a fee. I don't know if you would accept that kind of solution but it seems to me a good compromise and as they would have the security they want and Hassans would get value from being able to take the services of two IT high flyers into Hassans if the company is unsuccessful.

3. We discussed the loan structure and it seems that they are agreeable to there being a one year term which could be extended by agreement with equal monthly repayments starting after an initial period and with each payment being the lesser of cash flow or the scheduled repayment and with a bullet repayment at the end if required.

4. As regards share transfers we discussed that there would be a lock in period during which there would be no transfer of shares except with unanimous agreement – say 5 years if you agree – and that after that transfers of shares would be subject to pre-emption, drag and tag.

5. They would like tax advice on the setting up of intermediate holding companies for each of them and those companies would also hold the consultancy agreements. Should I ask Grahame Jackson or do you have an alternative preference?

6. The position with the current employer is obviously sensitive (according to John the new business would represent about 25% of the current employer's turnover) but they confirmed to me that:

    - There are no term contracts between the current employer and the main customer.
    - The notice periods under their contracts of employment are 2 months for John and 1 month for Thomas.
    - There are no non-compete covenants in their contracts of employment.

They will probably only give notice after the SHA is signed which should be within a couple of weeks after signing the MOU.

7. There is an existing company called 36 Degrees North Ltd (the caf? at the airport) but it has given a consent letter – I have asked the LG company admin team to raise this with the Registrar of Companies on a confidential basis.

8. I am working on the KYC and Line Group compliance submission forms and do not foresee any issues.

We left it that they would think about the 3 year guarantee point and I would be ready to finalise the MOU when you get back at the end of the week.

Please let me know if you have any comments. I do not yet have the details of the company that Hassans will use to hold the shares and make the loan.

With regard to your paragraph numbered 2, to give a guarantee for 3 years would mean that the company would make no profit for 3 years. There will be equal one–third shareholdings in 36 North Ltd as follows:

- new Gib company to be set up - owned by John Perez.
- new Gib company to be set up - owned by Thomas Cornelio
- single purpose company - owned by Hassans. James has chosen a company from the shelf list – Astelon Ltd – please reserve it if it is still available.

There will initially be two directors John Perez and Thomas but the Hassans shareholder will have the right to nominate a third director.

Strictly Confidential

Dear John and Tommy,

36 North Limited (the "Company")

I refer to the Shareholders Agreement related to the Company which is to be signed today.

The Company's business plan contemplates the Company breaking even within [●] to [●] months after today's date. However, like all new business ventures there is an element of risk. Accordingly, and to provide you with an element of security, in the event the Company ceases trading within a period (the "Relevant Period") of 3 years commencing on today's date, Hassans would by mutual agreement between us take you onto our staff as full time consultants for the balance of the Relevant Period in each case at an annual consultancy fee of £300,000 gross or offer you a suitable alternative post.

Yours sincerely

James Levy

For and on behalf of Hassans International Law Firm

In consideration of your agreeing to enter into the SHA, we agree as follows.

Dear David,

In order to facilitate approval from SMRCC and for them to classify the level of risk accordingly please find the below information describing the operations of the business together with our projected cash flow forecast attached detailing our revenue streams of which the Government of Gibraltar is currently our top contributor.

36 North Limited is predominantly a software engineering company, providing a wide range of solutions to governments and major international players. We are currently 100% reliant on work from the GOG however we are about to sign two significant international contracts, one with Carnival Maritime (based in Miami) and another with the government of Sao Tome. Both of these are for our border and security management artificial intelligence software. Our geographical scope is therefore currently limited to Gibraltar, USA & Sao Tome however we have expressions of interest from several other countries and we envisage working with them in the near future.

With respect to the sale of hardware, this will mainly be hardware to support our software systems. The company will not have a shop to sell its products to the general public, at least this is not the initial intention but we reserve the right to do so in future should such trade be determined to be of benefit to the company.

We are currently spearheading a GOG initiative to purchase renewable energy from Morocco in addition to developing wider trade opportunities post Brexit.

Consultancy work is also to be provided, we engage in providing international businesses with advice and direction in the market segments we operate.

Please note that even though we expect growth within the local market in the short and long term, our main effort will be to increase our international footprint where we believe we can be most profitable.

I hope the above answers most of your questions raised by your compliance team, should this not be the case please advise and we will be more than happy to elaborate further as required.

Dear John and Tommy,

I have had the following information request from Line Group in order to seek Compliance approval:

From compliance risk perspective we need to classify the risk involved and have a detailed analysis of the scope of activities in order to ascertain whether these are high/medium/low risk. Given the partners involvement in the venture, the application and ancillary documentation will need to be referred to SMRCC for approval. Therefore, we will need to understand the basis or essence of the business i.e. is this consultancy services, marketing, software, as well as its geographical scope. Are the activities to be limited to Gibraltar and a local market, or will the business be trading international, and if so who are the core clients and what countries will be involved? There is mention in the MOU of hardware sales, what hardware is to be sold, will the company have a physical presence here i.e.: a shop. We note that they will have offices and employees. Additionally, the company will also engage in energy trading. Grateful if you could expand on what this entails.

Grateful if you would provide a note replying to this request. Meanwhile I look forward to seeing Tommy as arranged at 4pm today.

Best regards

David

Dear David,

Attached please find our revised cash flow forecast as requested.

Please note that with regards to the loan facility we still believe that the £1m should be in place as initially agreed.

Will revert back shortly with our scope of works for the consultancy agreements.

Kind Regards

Tommy

Dear John and Tommy,

To follow up the points discussed at the meeting with Tommy on 13 June:

1. We discussed amending the repayment provisions of the loan agreement to require dedication to repayment of a specified portion of net cash flow – say 50% - to allow some funds to be retained in the company. You are to revert.

2. You are to provide an updated cash flow reflecting in particular the proposed repayment of the loan facility agreement.

3. You are to propose a more realistic loan facility amount. In view of the forecast cash flow, it would be excessive for Hassans to reserve a potential loan of £1m in its accounts.

4. You are to propose scopes of work for each of your consultancy agreements.

5. Line Group is working on getting the necessary risk assessment/compliance team sign off and will then structure 36N and the Hassans vehicle company. Line Group needs Javier's instructions prior to structuring the Hassans vehicle company which they will seek next week on Javier's return to the office.

6. Tommy proposed Carboni Jardim as auditors. I will check if James is content.

7. With regard to Tommy's suggestion about mediation, we agreed to retain court dispute resolution for the loan (as is normal) and to provide in the SHA for arbitration after a compulsory 21 day period for negotiation in good faith with a view to finding a solution.

8. John is to review the existing draft documents and let me know if he has any comments in addition to those which Tommy gave me.

I will update the agreements when I hear from you. Please let me know if there is anything else pending.

Best regards

David

Dear Javier,

The draft documents that I circulated on 8 June are still essentially the deal. I will circulate final versions early next week and the parties want to sign on Thursday 28 June so that JP and TC can give their notice to Bland.

The reason for this mail is a question that has arisen regarding the loan facility to be granted by Hassans. Originally a loan facility of £1m was agreed but when I reviewed the cash flows (see attached excel sheet) it became apparent that the company is unlikely to need such a large facility. I attach the latest cash flow forecast. It shows a loan of £150k being drawn down and being repaid out of 50% of surplus cash by February 2019. I have suggested that we lower the amount so that Hassans does not have to book such a large loan facility commitment but JP and TC are insisting on the original £1m facility being granted.

One concern that I have is the following. The 'deal' is that JP and TC each have a 3 year contract at £300k per annum. Obviously if the facility amount is too high, and the business does not take off as envisaged and the JV is aborted, the loan facility could end up being used to pay compensation for terminated consultancy contracts with no prospect of repayment.

I don't know if this is a concern for you but, if it is, I propose one of two alternative courses:

- We insist on lowering the amount of the facility to, say £500k.
- If as I expect that will not be accepted, we provide in the loan agreement that Hassans can cancel the facility if there is a material (which would have to be defined) underperformance on the expected cash flow forecast.

Please let know your views in your capacity as lender.

Best regards

David

Dear John and Tommy,

I attach the following draft documents for review and discussion:

Shareholders Agreement
Memorandum and Articles of the Company
Facility Agreement
Consultancy Agreement

The documents are subject to review and comment by James and Javier.

We will need to go through the documents page by page when we meet but at this stage I would like to highlight the following comments:

1. I have departed in one respect from the MOU. Instead of having decisions by simple majority with Hassans approval being required for certain "restricted matters", as contemplated by the MOU, I have provided that decisions would be by unanimity wand with the approval of Ascelon as shareholder being required before it nominates a board member. I think this is more straightforward and simpler than having to work out now exactly what decisions should be subject to a Hassans veto.

2. The consultancy agreement attached is for John, I propose we finalise it and then I will clone it for ICode Ltd (as it is a company, and will second Tommy's services to 36 North Ltd, that consultancy agreement will need some additional provisions).

3. I have left blank the amount of the loan facility – we originally understood it would be for up to £1m, but I see from your cash flow that the estimated requirement is somewhat lower.

4. I have adopted a "light" approach to the Shareholders Agreement and the Articles of Association by keeping the "bespoke" provisions regarding the board and the share rights in the Shareholders Agreement but including a special article (article 104A) in the Articles of Association which refers (obliquely) to the Shareholders Agreement. The alternative approach would be to create different classes of shares in the Articles of Association with the class rights specified. There are pros and cons to the suggested approach. On the pro side, it keeps the Articles of Association "light" and in relatively standard format and avoids the "bespoke" provisions being in the public domain – as the Articles of Association will be on public record. On the con side, a breach of the "bespoke" provisions would be enforceable only by an action for breach of contract (or in some circumstances by proceedings for an injunction) and it is less clear that it would be null and void as it would have been if detailed in the Articles of Association. We can discuss this point further when we meet and it may be that James and Javier will also have comments on the suggested approach.

Please let me know when you will be available to get together to discuss and finalise the documents.

Best regards

David

Dear John and Tommy,

To follow up the points discussed at the meeting with Tommy on 13 June:

1. We discussed amending the repayment provisions of the loan agreement to require dedication to repayment of a specified portion of net cash flow – say 50% - to allow some funds to be retained in the company. You are to revert.

2. You are to provide an updated cash flow reflecting in particular the proposed repayment of the loan facility agreement.

3. You are to propose a more realistic loan facility amount. In view of the forecast cash flow, it would be excessive for Hassans to reserve a potential loan of £1m in its accounts.

4. You are to propose scopes of work for each of your consultancy agreements.

5. Line Group is working on getting the necessary risk assessment/compliance team sign off and will then structure 36N and the Hassans vehicle company. Line Group needs Javier's instructions prior to structuring the Hassans vehicle company which they will seek next week on Javier's return to the office.

6. Tommy proposed Carboni Jardim as auditors. I will check if James is content.

7. With regard to Tommy's suggestion about mediation, we agreed to retain court dispute resolution for the loan (as is normal) and to provide in the SHA for arbitration after a compulsory 21 day period for negotiation in good faith with a view to finding a solution.

8. John is to review the existing draft documents and let me know if he has any comments in addition to those which Tommy gave me.

I will update the agreements when I hear from you. Please let me know if there is anything else pending.

Dear John and Tommy,

In further anticipation of closing on Thursday, I attach final drafts of the JV documents, comprising:

1. Shareholders Agreement (tracked against the last draft)
2. Loan Facility Agreement (tracked against the last draft)
3. Hassans comfort letter (tracked against the last draft)
4. Memorandum and Articles of Association (these are unchanged from the previous version)

The draft documents have been amended in line with the meeting which we had with Tommy on 4 June and the changes are shown by tracking. The main point which we left open at that meeting was the facility amount given that the cash flow forecast shows a much lower funding requirement than was expected. In recognition of your request to maintain the facility amount at that level the draft loan facility remains at the £1m level but the drawdown mechanics have been tightened to ensure that the lender is not required to fund into a situation where there is not a reasonable prospect of repayment.

At the time of writing I have not yet received the scope of work for John's consultancy agreement and would appreciate receiving it as soon as possible.

Please read the attached draft documents carefully and I would be happy to meet with you tomorrow or Wednesday if you wish to talk them through with you with a view to ensuring that we can go ahead and complete on Thursday as planned. If you would like to meet tomorrow or Wednesday please call so we can arrange a convenient time.

I should mention that the attached drafts are sent subject to any comments James may have and subject to Hassans management approval.

Dear John and Tommy,

In anticipation of closing, please find attached a mail from Line Group and various documents for signature. It would be helpful if before closing you are able to drop the documents into the office duly signed where shown.

I suggest we set up a time to meet for the closing – does 3pm on Thursday 28 June work for you?

I will circulate final draft agreements as far as possible ahead of the closing.

Good morning David

It would appear that our emails have crossed.

I note in your e-mail below that the new Articles of Association as now to be adopted. The most efficient way of adopting the new Articles is by shareholder resolution in lieu of an EGM. Attached please find draft of both the shareholder resolution and the special resolution for the adoption of the Articles. Kindly note that the special resolution is to be filed, in original form, at Companies House in order to effect the change. The shareholders resolution is to be entered into in lieu of holding a physical EGM and is to be signed by all the shareholders. The original is then filed with the Company books.

Please be advised that the special resolution carries a 30 day filing deadline.

Following our call, attached please also find the following documents:

1. Revised director first board resolution
2. Director consent letters
3. Share certificates
4. Engagement letters
5. Terms and conditions

Additionally, please note that the basic costs for the company will be as follows:

Standard Incorporation (one-off charge) – GBP600
Annual responsibility fee for the provision of registered office and company secretary - GBP 550
Annual statutory compliance fee – GBP 150.
Disbursements (charged at cost) - GBP 86 for the filing of the Annual Return & GBP 17.50 for the filing of the accounts.

Total: GBP1,403.50

Dear John and Tommy,

Thank you for coming in today to sign the agreements and many congratulations for the birth of the new venture.

As discussed, we have executed the agreements in escrow, meaning that they are to be held by me, undated, and will come into force and be dated only when you inform me that your notice periods from Bland Ltd have expired or you have been released from your employments.

The documents that are being held in escrow are:

1. Shareholders Agreement
2. Loan Facility Agreement
3. Two Consultancy Agreements
4. Hassans Letter.

In addition, Line Group are holding undated your signed consents to act as directors of 36 North Limited and the related resolutions. During the escrow period you are not directors and cannot bind the company. The company will remain inactive during this period and Line Group will provide a temporary corporate director from the Line Group of Companies.

You mentioned that you will be meeting James Gaggero on 8 or 9 July as soon as he returns to Gibraltar to give your notices. I hope the meeting goes well and will look forward to hearing from you afterwards.

Dear David,

I trust you are keeping well.

We have been through a very busy and tough period since our resignation in order to ensure everything is in place for our new venture. The transition it seems will be far more amicable than what I had initially envisaged.

Our office at WTC is now in place and all the required IT hardware has been purchased to ensure that the team and myself are able to work effectively.

My last day at Blands will be on the 10th August 2018. Would it be possible to meet up on this day or as soon as possible after this so that we can finalise all documents? This will allow me to register our bank account which is the last item outstanding on our agenda.

I trust you are keeping well.

We have been through a very busy and tough period since our resignation in order to ensure everything is in place for our new venture. The transition it seems will be far more amicable than what I had initially envisaged.

Our office at WTC is now in place and all the required IT hardware has been purchased to ensure that the team and myself are able to work effectively.

My last day at Blands will be on the 10th August 2018. Would it be possible to meet up on this day or as soon as possible after this so that we can finalise all documents? This will allow me to register our bank account which is the last item outstanding on our agenda.

Kind Regards

Moshe Levy

Dear David,

Thank you for taking my call.

We will need to find a way around this as we have already arranged with our clients (both local and internationally) to provide them with our services as from mid August.

Lets discuss further when you are available, i am sure there is a solution.

Kind Regards

Dear Cathy and Lee,

Tomas Cornelio's notice expires on 10 August and as from midnight 10-11 August (Friday night) the company needs to be live so it can take over certain Government IT systems seamlessly.

John Perez will still be under contract to his present employer at that time, so initially the company will have to be 50/50 owned by the Hassans SPV and Tommie and with Tommie as director. The adjustment to one third each with John Perez, and John's appointment as a director, would be made as soon as possible afterwards once John has been released and failing early release as from 8 September.

By copy to James and Javier I am asking them to confirm their agreement to the above. I also ask James to confirm who will be Hassans' representative pursuant to the JV agreement (assuming he still intends that the Hassans SPV will not exercise its right for the time being to appoint a director).

Please therefore prepare documentation in draft for the company to be handed over from Line Group management to the Hassans SPV and Tommie 50/50 and for Tommie to be appointed as a director in place of Line group.

I will not be in the office on 10 August so I am suggesting that we meet at 10-am with Tommie (i.e. you, me and Tommie) so the documents can be signed and subsequently dated 11 August.

Please confirm if you are available to meet at the time for the signing and I would meanwhile appreciate receiving the draft as soon as possible please.

Best regards

David

Dear John and Tommy,

Thank you for coming in today to sign the agreements and many congratulations for the birth of the new venture.

As discussed, we have executed the agreements in escrow, meaning that they are to be held by me, undated, and will come into force and be dated only when you inform me that your notice periods from Bland Ltd have expired or you have been released from your employments.

The documents that are being held in escrow are:

1. Shareholders Agreement
2. Loan Facility Agreement
3. Two Consultancy Agreements
4. Hassans Letter.

In addition, Line Group are holding undated your signed consents to act as directors of 36 North Limited and the related resolutions. During the escrow period you are not directors and cannot bind the company. The company will remain inactive during this period and Line Group will provide a temporary corporate director from the Line Group of Companies.

You mentioned that you will be meeting James Gaggero on 8 or 9 July as soon as he returns to Gibraltar to give your notices. I hope the meeting goes well and will look forward to hearing from you afterwards.

Dear Javier,

As you know the arrangement with John and Tommy includes a loan facility from Hassans' SPV (Astelon Ltd). The loan agreement has been signed in escrow and will come out of escrow as of first thing on 11 August.

Subject to the bank account being operational by that time, I understand they would like to draw down a disbursement of £150,000. Timing of the loan disbursement depends on how long after 11 August it will take to open the company's bank account but the indications are that it will be around 15 August. We will get a loan disbursement request signed on 9 August and will hold it undated until Tommy is appointed a director. John and Tommy indicated that assuming all goes as expected the company is unlikely to require more funding.

I will send you the drawdown notice when it is signed. Under the loan agreement the drawdown date is the first business day of the calendar month following the month in which the Drawdown Request is delivered to the Lender provided the Drawdown Request is delivered not later than 5 Business Days before the last day of the month.

Strictly Confidential

Dear John and Tommy,

36 North Limited (the "Company")

I refer to the Shareholders Agreement related to the Company which is to be signed today.

The Company's business plan contemplates the Company breaking even within [●] to [●] months after today's date. However, like all new business ventures there is an element of risk. Accordingly, and to provide you with an element of security, in the event the Company ceases trading within a period (the "Relevant Period") of 3 years commencing on today's date, Hassans would by mutual agreement between us take you onto our staff as full time consultants for the balance of the Relevant Period in each case at an annual consultancy fee of £300,000 gross or offer you a suitable alternative post.

Yours sincerely

James Levy

For and on behalf of Hassans International Law Firm

In consideration of your agreeing to enter into the SHA, we agree as follows.

Dear James,

As you are aware, I have been running and maintaining the NSCIS platform on behalf of Bland Limited as from 00:00 on 11th August 2018. I have done this in good faith in order to allow you time to resolve the issue with the Government and, of course, to ensure that Gibraltar's national security measures are not affected.

I have done my best to maintain the platform during these difficult times, especially in circumstances where our working relationship has broken down and whilst also setting up my own company. I have to date received no communication from either Bland Limited or the Government of Gibraltar with regards to a possible solution to the problems faced by Bland Limited.

Unfortunately, circumstances are such that it is not possible for me to continue working under the current conditions. Please let this email serve as official notice that as of 00:00 on 1st September 2018 I will no longer be supporting the NSCIS platform in any capacity. Please also note that I will shortly be invoicing Bland Limited in respect of my fees for the period 11 August 2018 to 31 August 2018.

Dear James,

As discussed please see my proposed email to Mr Gaggero below. Happy to discuss this offline with you.

Kind Regards

Dear James,

As you are aware, I have been running and maintaining the NSCIS platform on behalf of Bland Limited as from 00:00 on 11th August 2018. I have done this in good faith in order to allow you time to resolve the issue with the Government and, of course, to ensure that Gibraltar's national security measures are not affected.

I have done my best to maintain the platform during these difficult times, especially in circumstances where our working relationship has broken down and whilst also setting up my own company. I have to date received no communication from either Bland Limited or the Government of Gibraltar with regards to a possible solution to the problems faced by Bland Limited.

Unfortunately, circumstances are such that it is not possible for me to continue working under the current conditions. Please let this email serve as official notice that as of 00:00 on 1st September 2018 I will no longer be supporting the NSCIS platform in any capacity. Please also note that I will shortly be invoicing Bland Limited in respect of my fees for the period 11 August 2018 to 31 August 2018.

Kind Regards

Dear Tommy,

Thank you for your email.
I fully understand your disappointment that the issues we face have not been resolved by now.
I share your frustration.
Like you I find myself awaiting the outcome of HMGoG's decision as to how they wish to proceed. I can only imagine Brexit is consuming their available time.
On a more positive note the Peter Canessa has only just this afternoon confirmed that the CM is ready to meet me and a date has been set immediately following his return to Gib next week. More anon.

In the meantime I reiterate my appreciation for all you have done to ensure that the NSCIS platform has operated without a single discernible problem since you left the company. Thank you. I will make it plain to the CM the extent of your unfailing commitment during this period.

In return I will of course honour my commitment to you to settle your fees for carrying out these services. And will ensure prompt payment the moment you submit your invoice.

I am sorry you feel you are no longer able to support the platform with effect from 00:00 on the 1st September in any capacity. All the more so when one considers all that is at stake. Naturally I will communicate your decision to Caine Sanchez immediately and the CM when we meet next week.

Regarding your point that you have not heard from me recently: I can only apologise for this but I was led to believe you were away for two weeks. As the platform seemed to be running without problems I did not feel my intervention was required.

I know Bethan has communicated with you re your request under GDPR and that this matter is of course in hand.

Again with many thanks for all you have done to assist the Government and ourselves during this difficult period.

Kind regards

James

Dear Sirs

Termination of NSCIS, DSS, BCA, ETB & Education contracts ("the Contracts")

We refer to the above matter.

As you are aware, Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ("HMGOG") has been left without satisfactory support on the NSCIS, ETB & Education platforms since 10th August 2018 due to internal organisational issues at Bland Limited.

HMGOG is sensitive to Bland Limited's position, however, despite assurances that it would continue to perform its obligations pursuant to the Contracts, we understand that the following material breaches have occurred:

1. NSCIS Platform

(i) APIS Maritime data has not been populated since the 14th August;

(ii) Interpol checks have been offline since the 10th September;

(iii) Facial recognition entries for wanted individuals have not been appended to the system;

(iv) Gibraltar registered number plates are not been recognised correctly by the number plate recognition system;

(v) Frontier queue times not accurate as a result of Gibraltar registered plates not being detected properly;

(vi) Wanted vehicles have been allowed to enter/exit unchallenged since the alerts have not been issued;

(vii) Images for most vehicles at the Eastgate site are not showing on the system;

(viii) The motorcycle ANPR system is still pending installation despite this being paid some time ago; and

(ix) There is a growing number of requests made by law enforcement to upgrade system modules which requires urgent attention, no development has however taken place.

You will appreciate that the above represents a serious risk to Gibraltar's national security. To date, Bland Limited has not sought to rectify the position or provided a permanent solution. HMGOG takes issues of national security very seriously and this position cannot therefore be allowed to continue.

2. ETB, BCA & Education

The following agreed works for the ETB, BCA & Education projects have not been completed as agreed:

(i).....

Bland Limited's failure to complete the agreed works has resulted in HMGOG incurring significant costs in order to provide alternate facilities to the public.

Termination of Contracts

In the circumstances, Bland Limited has failed to perform its obligations under the Contracts. Please take this letter as notice that HMGOG hereby terminates the Contracts with immediate effect.

In addition, HMGOG also requests a refund for any sums paid towards the DSS project (specifics) within 14 days from the date hereof. Alternatively, please provide a proposal that would ensure the project is completed in a timely manner within the next 7 days.

Finally, we also understand that Bland Limited is claiming ownership of the NSCIS system code. As you are aware, HMGOG has paid approximately £500,000 for the design of the NSCIS platform and it was a condition of the NSCIS contract that ownership would be transferred to HMGOG upon payment. We therefore request that either the system code to be handed over in full or that these payments be refunded to HMGOG within 14 days of the date hereof.

HMGOG reserves all its rights and remedies in relation to the breaches of contract.

Yours faithfully

Subject: 36 North - Update to discuss with You

Dear James,

I had a call from John Perez this afternoon. He explained to me that you and he spoke about the situation at Blands and James G's attitude towards him and you and he agreed that temporarily John would not come into 36N as a director and shareholder until the situation with Blands is clearer. He told me he wants/needs to be active with customers on behalf of 36N and asked whether it would make sense to employ him in some other capacity (e.g. not as a director) at least for the short term so he could do so. We left it that I would get back to him after talking with you.

There follow my thoughts for discussion with you before I get back to John.

1. Liability. From the outset we were told by John and Tommy that 36N would not interefere with any of Blands' contracts as each job is a single contract. I do not to know to what extent, if at all, John solicited customers of Blands while still employed by Blands. If this did happen there could be a claim against John personally. If he did so on behalf of 36N, there could be a claim against 36N.

   If you are concerned about liability, we could have one of our litigators:
   - Meet John and Tommy and ascertain how much soliciting of Blands customers was done while they were Blands employees and, if so, whether it was done on behalf of 36N.
   - Evaluate whether on that basis there could be a claim against either/both of them personally and/or against 36N and if so what would be the quantum of liability.

2. Going forward. There are two immediate practical issues:
   - John wants/needs to be active straight away on behalf of 36N, e.g. pitching for new work.
   - He will need a mechanism for his remuneration having left Blands on 11 September.

   In my view, if John is going to be active with actual/potential customers on behalf of 36N and receive remuneration he might as well be a director/shareholder rather than an employee or consultant directly or indirectly via Tommy's company.

   So the choice is between:
   - Taking John fully on board now as a director and shareholder or
   - Deferring his start and meanwhile not having him work on behalf of 36, as if on gardening leave.

Can we discuss please? I said I would get back to John as soon as possible.

Best regards

David

Dear Jonathan,

As per my previous email Bland Limited has full access to all systems and third party credentials. Despite your veiled accusations there is nothing further for me to provide.

I note your insistence on the documentation but the fact is that wrongly or rightly this was not produced, nor was i requested to produce it during my time with the company.

Again I do not want any further involvement with these projects unless my time will be remunerated accordingly and outstanding invoices settled beforehand.

Dear Tommy,

My sole concern is in the handover of all the platforms, systems and services so that there is minimal impact to the end user, client and national security. To that effect the outstanding points you raise in your last paragraph regarding leave and outstanding invoices has been escalated internally and will be addressed during the course of next week.

Returning to the handover of credentials and documentation. Gsuite admin account credentials for the mail servers of nscis.eu and frontierqueue.gi have nothing to do with domain names and records. Methods and API credentials/tokens to external systems are in the source code otherwise third party services would not be working. What is yet to be handed over is access to the management portals / accounts of these third party services. An example in case is the Twitter feed where we have API credentials on the system but authorisations are failing and they can only be rectified by using the registered account to verify or correct the account status. Service providers such as MessageBird, the new Hotline service among others have both API tokens and also portals to manage the account themselves.

Regardless of what service or system you may perceive Bland Ltd may or may not have access to, the provision of all accounts and credentials forms part of an orderly and timely handover process. I trust you will cooperate with this request in the public interests and of course National Security.

As head of the Bland Ltd software development team documentation would have been something you would have had direct ownership of, oversight on and responsibility to maintain. How no documentation or records, statement of works, current tasks working on and new features in the pipeline can exist at all is difficult to comprehend.

Dear Jonathan,

I handed my notice to Blands on the 9th July 2018 after which I continued to fully support Blands up to the 31st August 2018, the latter period of which I have still not been remunerated for. It is noteworthy that during this two month period Blands made no attempt to familiarise itself with any of its software platforms or dictate how the handover process should be carried out. In fact, I quote Mr Gaggero's comment "It's the Government's problem" - you were also present when he said this. Despite this, I proceeded to handover the projects and complied with all requests made to hand over credentials. Blands has always had full access to all platforms notwithstanding your claims. This is evident from the fact that you were able to assign administrative rights to your NSCIS user account shortly after my departure. In any event, Blands was and is the account owner of all third party services and could simply have reset credentials or used other available methods to easily gain access and bypass me entirely. Instead, however, Blands has continuously attempted to mitigate the failure of services through conveniently alleging it did not have access to certain accounts.

For the avoidance of doubt, therefore, please find below credentials requested:

These software systems are administered by Blands and any issues should therefore be dealt with internally and not through recourse to me. I trust this is the end of the matter and look forward to hearing from Blands regarding my unpaid leave and outstanding invoice.

Dear Tommy,

There are no accusations and this is not a matter of goodwill but rather a process of handing over control of various systems which you have been ultimately in full control off.

To date Bland Ltd does not have on file or have received a complete list of credentials to all the systems and service providers used to support all these projects. This is a standard request and deliverable when handing over projects of this nature. I trust this list will therefore be forthcoming during the course of next week.

Your leave and outstanding invoice are personal matters to be taken directly with Bland Ltd and totally unrelated to the smooth transition and handover of full control of these projects. They are certainly not be used as leverage for goodwill on your part in what is a formal handover and direct instruction to handover full control. As mentioned in my earlier email I have already escalated your leave and invoice internally and you will hear more from Bland Ltd next week on this front.

Methods and API credentials/tokens to external systems are in the source code otherwise third party services would not be working. What is yet to be handed over is access to the management portals / accounts of these third party services. An example in case is the Twitter feed where we have API credentials on the system but authorisations are failing and they can only be rectified by using the registered account to verify or correct the account status. Service providers such as MessageBird, the new Hotline service among others have both API tokens and also portals to manage the account themselves.

7. Branding & Website
8. Any other business

Business Update

During the first two months of operation our efforts have mainly concentrated in assisting the Government in order to maintain and run its National Security platform as well as its ETB, Education & DSS projects.

As of the 5th October 2018 we were requested by the Government to stop all support offered to its various law enforcement agencies and departments. We have issued invoices for the works carried out, however so far payment has not been fourthcoming.

Despite the above we have actively been pursuing new contracts and working on our new Border Management solution which is now very close to competition. This solution has already been offered to the Government of Gibraltar as well as to two other countries and to Carnival Maritime Cruises.

Projects

SOFTWARE

1. HM GOG Border Management
2. Phoenix Border Management
3. Mobile Automated Number Plate Recognition Platform
4. Mobile Passport | ID | Travel Document Scanner
5. Sao Tome & Principe Phase 1 Border Management
6. Carnival Maritime Passenger Security Management System
7. DLT Exchange Trading Platform
8. DLT Mining
9. Social Media Data Mining
10. Department of Social Security Management Platform
11. Government Payment Gateway
12. DLT Carbon Trading Platform
13. Gibraltar Government – Innovative Lottery Platform
14. Gibraltar Mail – Locker Delivery Service
15. 199 Emergency Call Handler Platform
16. Gibraltar Business Cloud Based Payroll System
17. Insurance Compliance – Vehicle & Vessel Government Management System
18. Super Yacht Clearance Software
19. Equatorial Guinea – Border Management Platform

CONSULTANCY

1. Renewal energy cable project
2. Ferry – Gibraltar Morocco Trade Opportunities
3. Africa/Morocco Tobacco Export
4. Wastage Disposal Morocco
5. Energy China – Infrastructure & Development Projects Africa
6. Indigo Hotel Project
7. Gibraltar Capsule Experience
8. HeliPortugal – Transit & VIP Tours
9. Civil Contingency
10. Sales Support – Sky Sipience – Hovermast Capability
11. Phoenix Border Management System – British Independent Territories

Finances

We had hoped to be in a better financial position at this moment in time, however unfortunately contracts have not come our way as promptly as we had initially anticipated, our overall outlook remains very positive and we are actively pursuing a wide range of projects which have significant profit potential for us.

Both John Perez and myself are happy to decrease our salaries by 50% until such time that the business performs as forecasted.

Attached please find our current P&L account, cash summary and balance sheet.

Staff & Recruitment

36N has recruited two talented software engineers, both of whom commenced their employment on the 1st September 2018. John Perez also started his employment as our CEO on the 11th September 2018.

We shortly hope to be in a position to take on at least a further two developers in order to strengthen our position and be able to deliver projects in a timely manner. We will also need to establish a small technical team, initially recruiting a single technician to carry our daily onsite physical tasks.

Premises

Our current contract at World Trade Center expires in February 2019, we are inclined to vacate the office and move to a more permanent address.

Branding & Website

It is critical that we complete our branding exercise and have our coporate website up and running as soon as possible.

We have already commenced works and have purchased a suitable template for the design of our website. We are also considering purchasing the 36north.com domain at a cost of $5000 however there is no urgency for this.

Dear James,

I have reviewed the documents sent by Tommy today.

First, you have no legal obligation to make a drawdown, as the Loan Agreement's 'Material Adverse Change' condition to each drawdown has clearly been triggered by the loss of the GOG contract and the resulting negative cash flow. Whether to make the loan is therefore a question of whether you still believe in the company's prospects.

Secondly, the forecast assumes a dramatic rate of increase of revenue over the coming months – from zero in October to £1,500 in November and forecasted to increase to £207,075 in December and with a very large spike to £468,275 in April. Let me know if you would like me to ask John and Tommy to come in to discuss the basis of the forecasts.

Thirdly, the £150,000 drawdown requested is clearly much more than the Loan Facility Agreement provides. Under the Loan Facility Agreement, the borrower can request an amount equal to the forecast negative cash flow of the immediately following month. On Tommy's numbers I believe this would give rise to a November drawdown of £8,112. If in December the forecast negative cash flow is the same as now there would be a December drawdown of £41,749. If subsequent forecasts are unchanged there would be drawdowns in January of £8,530 and February of £1,335 and the loan which by February would have reached £209,726 (including the £150,000 lent in October) would be repaid in March and April 2019.

If you are minded to continue to support the company, I suggest:

1. We ask John and Tommy to come in to discuss the basis of the forecasts so we can see if they are robust.
2. If you are satisfied with the forecasts, I recommend the Material Adverse Change condition should be waived only on an individual monthly drawdown basis, consistent with the terms of the Loan Facility Agreement, so you can reconsider at any time in the light of monthly cash flow forecasts as required by the Loan Facility Agreement,
3. In compliance with the Loan Facility Agreement, instead of advancing £150,000 in November you make monthly advances equal to the forecast cash flow at the time of each monthly drawdown request, perhaps if you think fit with a small margin.

David

Note that I have deducted all revenue from GoG projects that we had anticipated to come over, we are now projecting for these to come back to us during the month of January. We are hopeful that these could come back earlier than this but it also remains a possibility that they may not come at all, at the moment it remains out of our control. We continue to have the full support of all key system stakeholders, a final decision on this is however currently still outstanding.

We are working tirelessly on other opportunities also to ensure that our forecast will remain positive should a worst case scenario materialize.

Dear James

This message received today from Tommy re salaries for November.

Hi David, we do have an issue to cover salaries this month. Do you believe the fund request will be actioned in time? Thanks

Regarding your question, the text of the Hassans letter states:

The Company's business plan contemplates the Company breaking even within 6 months after today's date. However, like all new business ventures there is an element of risk. Accordingly, and to provide you with an element of security, in the event the Company ceases trading within a period (the "Relevant Period") of 3 years commencing on today's date, Hassans would by mutual agreement between us take you onto our staff as full time consultants for the balance of the Relevant Period in each case at an annual consultancy fee of £300,000 gross or offer you a suitable alternative post.

Despite the 'by mutual agreement' qualification in the wording, in my view the letter does rise to a legal obligation, more likely enforceable by damages than by specific performance although the possibility of the latter cannot be ruled out.

I am of course at your disposal if you would discuss this mail or my mail below.

Morning David,

Attached please find our latest cash flow forecast for the next 12 months as well the following reports showing all our expenses and revenue in detail to date:

1. Profit & Loss

2. Cash Summary
3. Balance Sheet

Note that I have deducted all revenue from GoG projects that we had anticipated to come over, we are now projecting for these to come back to us during the month of January. We are hopeful that these could come back earlier than this but it also remains a possibility that they may not come at all, at the moment it remains out of our control. We continue to have the full support of all key system stakeholders, a final decision on this is however currently still outstanding.

We are working tirelessly on other opportunities also to ensure that our forecast will remain positive should a worst case scenario materialize.

Kind regards

Tommy

Dear David,

Attached please find our second loan funding request.

Please note that we are working tirelessly to ensure that no further requests will be required and to commence paying back the amount loaned so far which we will hopefully be able to settle relatively quickly.

As you are aware both John and myself have halved our salaries as from last month to ensure that the business is in a better financial position until the contracts we are pursuing come in.

Kind regards

Dear Tommy,

In our call today, I confirmed that James wishes to support the project notwithstanding the triggering of the 'Material Adverse Change' drawdown condition by the loss of the GOG contract and resulting negative cash flow.

We discussed the estimated cash flows in our call and settled on a funding requirement of £50,000 (taking account of the £25,000 which you indicated is in the bank) to cover the November and December 2018 deficits.

As indicated, the lender is willing to waive the 'Material Adverse Change' condition for the limited purpose of the present £50,000 drawdown and without prejudice to its right to re-assess whether to make further drawdowns if or when a further drawdown is requested.

If you are in agreement with the foregoing, please send us a signed drawdown request notice for £50,000.

Best regards

David

Dear David,

Thank you for your very clear email.

This is now our third month into the new venture and we are working around the clock to build up the business and I believe we have a lot to be excited about.

Note that we have not lost the Government national security contract, this is pending a decision from the CM and we have the full support of all stakeholders so we remain very confident that this will come. We are also currently marketing our platform internationally.

Kind regards

Tommy

Dear James,

In preparation for our meeting this afternoon I have prepared a board pack. Attached please find the following documents:

1. Meeting Agenda
2. Cash Flow Forecast (pdf & excel formats)
3. P&L Account
4. Cash Summary
5. Balance Sheet
6. Draw down Request
7. Environment Contract - Upper Rock Nature Reserve System

Please note that I have placed a significant amount of effort on the environment contract in recent days and I believe it is a comprehensive document based on a good legal agreement template document. It has been reviewed briefly by my wife and she is happy with it.

I look forward to our meeting later on today so that we can discuss the progress we have made and how we are preparing for a profitable 2019.

Kind regards

Agenda

1. Business update
2. Projects in development, on hold & business ideas.
3. Finances
4. Staff & Recruitment
5. Premises
6. Branding & Website
7. Any other business

Business Update

Our primary focus is currently with the complete overhaul of the Gibraltar Nature Reserve tourism product. An extensive contract has been prepared and can be found together with this board pack. Great effort has gone into this as it has great potential. The project requires a very significant investment in time with several cross platform software projects currently under development. Good progress has been made so far and an update is scheduled with Min Cortes for this afternoon.

We are currently catching up for lost time spent working on the national security, DSS, Education, BCA & Employment software, for which we received no renumeration for. However we remain quietly confident that these projects will come to us in the near future and boost our forecasted recurring revenue. All HMGOG heads of department continue to express their wishes that this projects are run by our team.

The overall aim is to ensure we have a significant international portfolio, a significant amount of effort is therefore going into ensuring that this is indeed the case.

Projects

SOFTWARE

In Development

1. Environment – Upper Rock Nature Reserve Ticket Management System & Environmental Portal

   The proposal was presented and endorced by Min Cortes and subsequently the CM. The system adds much needed control to the current cash/ticket system in place. It will generate very good revenue for the Government at no cost. We will earn 8.75% per ticket. Work for this project has already begun, with a live date of 1 Apr 19. The project is a very significant undertaking and requires a significant amount of hardware integration.

2. Phoenix Border Management – International (HMGOG, Sao Tome, Cameroon, Equatorial Guinea)

   We still remain confident that our Phoenix Border System will at some point be taken up by HMGOG, as the land border with Spain will be critical and all systems are currently vulnerable or not operational.

   Phoenix is now ready for operational deployment including the integration of mobile scanners and biometric hardware. Proposals have been sent to Cameroon, Equatorial Guinea and Tanzania. We are currently awaiting letters of Invitation in order to aquire visas. The first visit will be Equatorial Guinea 9 -14 Feb 19.

During a recent trip to Serbia, John briefed the National Security Advisor. Arrangements are being made to present to the Serbian and Montenegro Ministers responsible for Border Security.

A proposal bas been sent to the Deputy Premier of the British Virgin Islands (BVI) who has informed us that he will table our proposal with the Governor and the National Security Committee.

The following nations have also recently expressed Ian interest. Mauritania, Guinea Bissau and Gambia. Communication with the relevant administrations has started.

Pipeline

3. HMGOG Licensing Software

   Proposal has been submitted at a cost of £8k a month for a minimum period of 3 years. This project is designed to implement efficiency and increase revenue to the Ministry of Transport as the current system is currently manual and ineffective. A meeting with Min Balaban took place on the 14 Jan 19 in which he confirmed his support for the project and has applied for funding approval.

4. Mobile Automated Number Plate Recognition Platform
5. Mobile Passport | ID | Travel Document Scanner
6. DLT Exchange Trading Platform - Arbitrage
7. Social Media Data Mining
8. DLT Carbon Trading Platform
9. HMGOG Innovative Lottery Platform
10. Gibraltar Mail – Locker Delivery Service
11. 199 Emergency Call Handler Platform
12. Gibraltar Business Cloud Based Payroll System
13. Insurance Compliance – Vehicle & Vessel Government Management System
14. Civil Contingency & Disaster Management

    A proposal has been sent and approved by the Civil Contingency Minister. The module will cost £2K a month. Awaiting 2019/20 Goverment Budget approval. This is only the first of a series of modules.

15. Gibraltar Savings Bank
16. Phoenix Border Management System – British Independent Territories
17. GSLA Online Bookings
18. E-Visas Project
19. GHA WhatsApp Service
20. HMGOG Wireless Emergency Alert System
21. Gib Taxi Mobile | Online Booking Service

On Hold

1. HM GOG Border Management – National Security
2. Department of Social Security Management Platform
3. Government Payment Gateway
4. Education Student Management System
5. ERASMUS – HMGOG Employment Information Management System

6. Carnival Maritime Passenger Security Management System
7. Super Yacht Clearance Software

CONSULTANCY

1. Renewal energy cable project

   Masen Maroc has formally acknowledged their desire to provide Gibraltar with Renewable Energy. Two Chinese companies are willing to provide financing and carry out the surveys and subsequent works which are forecasted to cost in the region of £100M (Approximate guess). The terms of such a lending are still to be finalised as we seek clarity from the Government of Gibraltar as to how they wish to proceed. A long term business concept as part of an inward investment strategy needs to be discussed. A meeting with Minister Bossano is being arranged.

2. Kings Lines Oil & Fuel Depot (KLOFD)

   I recently met a group of business interlockers who represent a series of international Chinese energy and investment companies. They have recently delivered £2.5Bn of works in Serbia across various business sectors. Prior to our meeting they had conducted a thorough feasibility study of Gibraltar's economic potential. Bunkering and fuel storage is a key area of interest. Their intent is to provide fuel to the West which is currently deposited in Israel. KLOFD has previously been the subject of much interest with several extensive "fit for purpose" studies carried out in the process. I firmly believe, with the right investment and management, it can add growth to a GDP sector of our economy which is slightly strained at the moment. A without prejudice meeting has been arranged with CBF, who is interested, for the 30th Jan. The interlockers are now in possesion of all the necessary paperwork and engaged in a Q&A exercise.

3. Gibraltar Shopping Experience

   On the same note, the same business interlockers were keen to introduce the "mama shelter" concept to Gibraltar. The concept is centred on creating an urban environment experience. There are mama shelters in London, Paris, Prague, Rio, Los Angeles and Belgrade. The concept is centred on accommodation and restaurant facilities and modelled to cater for the business needs of the environment. In Belgrade it boasted all the top shopping brands which is also catered for in the model. There are no mama shelters in Spain or Morocco or a concentrated area of high street luxury brands to create a unique shopping experience. I do believe that a concept like this can work in Gibraltar, especially if the location is right. I have enquired about the old HMS Rooke site and the proposed Mariott Hotel location.

4. Ferry – Gibraltar Morocco Trade Opportunities
5. Wastage Disposal Morocco
6. Energy China – Infrastructure & Development Projects Africa
7. St Michael's Cave Experience

   This project has now been approved by Minister Cortes and has a proposed live date of 5 May 19. In partnership (50%) with Wright Tech, we are working with Projection Artworks a UK company to deliver a world class experience at St Michael's Cave using the latest projection mapping technologies. We still await the capital costs associated with the project, to complete our business case. The cave has a throughput just short of a million visitors a year. 36 North is expecting to generate around £500k a year from this project starting in May 2019.

8. Civil Contingency
9. Climate Finance

We are currently part of a working group consisting of Hassans and the Ministry of Environment. Our aim is to conceptually develop a niche market opportunity which is centred around blockchain from which we can trade carbon/energy related assets.

10. Moneycorp Coin Processing
11. Fin Tech Compliance

In partnership with the Albany Group we will be offering Gib companies on line KYC,EDD and CFT services. An initial meeting was held with GIB and a demo has been arranged for 1100hrs on Fri 25 Jan 19. We would like to offer this service to line Group and Abacus. It is also our intention to target the DLT industry. Introductions are welcomed.

12. Guinea Bissau

Mr Joao Bernando Vieira, the spokesperson of PAIGC and member of Politburo, will be visiting Gibraltar on 29 Jan for a demo of our Phoenix Border Management system. Mr Vieira is the nephew of the ex President of Guinea Bissau who served for a period of 25 years and is extremely well connected in West African region.

Finances

We had hoped to be in a better financial position at this moment in time, however we are now on the virge of signing several very lucrative contracts, with significant works already undertaken. We are also confident that initially forecasted projects will come to 36N in the not to distant future. This will result in a monthly recurring cash flow that is far higher than had been initially been anticipated.

Our cash flow forecast shows that even despite a rocky start, we should be in a strong position towards the end of 2019, with all loans paid back by November 2019 and with ~£400,000 in the bank available for dividends and R&D.

Both John Perez and myself continue to be on 50% reduced salaries and will continue to do so until the business performs as forecasted so as to prevent any further strain on the business during these initial stages.

Attached please find our current cash flow forecast, P&L account, cash summary and balance sheet.

A drawdown notice for £100,000 is also attached to this board pack. These funds will allow us to continue operating until our cash flow kicks in during April 2019.

Staff & Recruitment

Our two talented and highly skilled recruits continue to exceed our expectations and are extremely hard working. Any on site hardware installations have been sub contracted and this arrangement is working well for us thus far.

In order to deliver on our future project roadmap we will recruit at least one additional developer as from May 2019 when our revenue is forecasted to significantly increase.

Premises

Our current contract at World Trade Center expires in August 2019, we plan to move into larger offices as of September 2019.

Branding & Website

Our branding exercise and coporate website will be up and running as soon as we have finalised the software for the upper rock nature reserve which is scheduled for completion by the 1st April 2019.

Dear James

Please find attached final draft of the Letter Before Action for your review and comment. In particular, note the potential sensitivity regarding references to the CM's meeting with Gaggero.

I would like to issue the letter as soon as possible and would welcome your comments. Happy to discuss further.

Kind regards

Dear Sirs

Outstanding Invoice no. 0002 dated 30 August 2018

We refer to the above matter and write further to the previous correspondence between our Mr Thomas Cornelio and your Mr James Gaggero and Mr Philip Navas. We would emphasise that this letter is being sent to you in accordance with the Practice Direction on Pre-Action Conduct and Protocols ("the Pre-Action Protocol"). In particular, we would refer you to paragraphs 13 to 16 of the Pre-Action Protocol concerning the Court's powers to impose sanctions for failing to comply with its provisions.

Circumstances resulting in the Debt becoming payable

Following the end of Mr Cornelio's employment with Bland Limited, you requested on 10th August 2018 that Mr Cornelio continue to run and maintain all your software platforms with Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar ("HMGOG") on your behalf. This included:

1. Maintenance of Gibraltar's National Security Platform and cloud-based hardware and software services ("NSCIS Platform")
2. Maintenance of HMGOG Department of Employment software, ERASMUS
3. Maintenance of HMGOG Department of Education software
4. Maintenance of Borders and Coastguard Agency software
5. Maintenance and development of HMGOG Department of Social Security software

Collectively, "the HMGOG Projects"

On 10th August 2018, Mr Gaggero emailed Mr Cornelio and stated as follows:

> "On the basis that you are no longer an employee I agree that we will settle any additional hours you have to work to ensure the operational reliability of the NSCIS platform so that national security is not undermined... I will be happy to pay you a per diem rate based on your current salary to get us through to a final agreement, which I trust won't be long in coming."

Mr Cornelio did not accept the terms of Mr Gaggero's offer and instead proposed:

"I will wait for the outcome of your meeting with the CM on Monday. We can then review this. At what time is your meeting? Hopefully we will have a clear path forward after this meeting has taken place on whatever is decided."

As evident from the above correspondence, it was Mr Cornelio's intention to negotiate the terms of the agreement with you once Mr Gaggero had met with the Chief Minister and the parties had clarification on how and by whom the HMGOG Projects would be managed in future. Mr Gaggero, however, either did not meet with the Chief Minister or did not provide Mr Cornelio with the clarification he had sought and the negotiations did not progress further.

To ensure that the HMGOG Projects continued to run smoothly, and, in particular, so that Gibraltar's national security was not compromised, iCode Limited continued to run the HMGOG Projects on your behalf between 11th August 2018 and 31st August 2018 ("the Relevant Period") as requested. Work carried out during the Relevant Period included (but was not limited to):

1. NSCIS Platform

    a. Providing support to all law enforcement departments and users, including several meetings and 24-hour support offered via email and voice calls.
    b. Assisting law enforcement in critical and time-sensitive cases in order to identify wanted individuals.
    c. Management of all system modules and services.
    d. Extensive development and testing of new system work flows in order to patch significant issues affecting the automated number plate recognition system, including the manual processing of thousands of entries affected by the system outage.

2. Department of Employment – ERASMUS

    a. Handling queries raised by HMGOG Digital Services team.
    b. Providing daily support to departmental staff including on site meetings, and support over email and voice calls.
    c. Provision and delivery of urgently requested custom reports.
    d. Change of system workflows to accommodate staff requirements.
    e. Bespoke and time-consuming solutions in relation to urgent requests made for parliamentary proceedings.

3. Department of Education – Scholarship System

    a. Providing daily support to departmental staff, including several meetings and support provided over email and voice calls.
    b. Provision of custom reports.
    c. Development of urgent works requested in order to assist with new student awards for the year.

d. Bespoke solution for invoicing, student contracts, document processing, letter management, tax department integration and payment voucher management

4. Borders and Coastguard Agency

a. Handling queries and providing daily support to departmental staff, inclusive of on-site meetings and support provided via email and voice calls.
b. Providing support and assistance on various mobile passport scanner issues experienced by staff.
c. Technical assistance on site outage, in particular at the cruise terminal.
d. Hardware support at the land border for vehicle and pedestrian crossing.
e. Provision of support to out of hours requests for remote system management and accessibility.

5. Department of Social Security

a. Working with the senior team at the department inclusive of several on site meetings.
b. Provision of services for urgent requests made directly by the ministry.
c. Integration with the HMGOG Housing Department information management system.
d. Urgent works pursuant to government policy for the deduction of rent from the existing Personal Cash Account platform.

All new projects for iCode Limited were on hold during the Relevant Period as Mr Cornelio's time was spent running and maintaining the HMGOG Projects as set out above. You will appreciate that this represented a significant loss of earnings for iCode Limited at a crucial stage of its development.

On 30th August 2018, Mr Cornelio provided Mr Gaggero with notice that iCode Limited would no longer continue to support the HMGOG Projects in any capacity as of 00:00 on 1st September 2018. Mr Cornelio emphasised that he had not yet been informed of how HMGOG wanted the HMGOG Projects managed in future and that this uncertainty combined with the breakdown in the parties' working relationship meant that iCode Limited could no longer continue to run the HMGOG Projects on your behalf. Mr Cornelio stressed that iCode Limited expected to be fairly remunerated for the substantial services provided during the Relevant Period and informed Mr Gaggero that he would shortly be receiving an invoice in this regard.

Mr Gaggero responded on the same day as follows:

> "Like you I find myself awaiting the outcome of HMGoG's decision as to how they wish to proceed…On a more positive note the Peter Canessa has only just this afternoon confirmed that the CM is ready to meet me and a date has been set immediately following his return to Gib next week. More anon…
> …In the meantime I reiterate my appreciation for all you have done to ensure that the NSCIS platform has operated without a single discernible problem since you left the company. Thank you. I will make it plain to the CM the extent of your unfailing commitment during this period.
> In return I will of course honour my commitment to you to settle your fees for carrying out these services. And will ensure prompt payment the moment you submit your invoice... Again with many thanks for all you have done to assist the Government and ourselves during this difficult period."

It is evident from Mr Gaggero's email that at that stage he had not yet met the Chief Minister and/ or provided Mr Cornelio with the clarification he had sought in order to negotiate iCode Limited's fees for running the HMGOG Projects. It is also evident that Mr Gaggero was satisfied with the services rendered by iCode Limited during the Relevant Period and, as such, reiterated his commitment to ensure prompt payment of fees.

Following Mr Gaggero's assurances, iCode Limited sent Invoice 0002 on Thursday 30th August 2018 to both Mr Gaggero and Mr Navas in his capacity as Financial Controller. This invoice was calculated pursuant to Mr Cornelio's current salary and also includes fees for services provided out-of-hours and for Mr Cornelio's 24/7 availability for support and maintenance enquiries. The invoiced amount also takes into account the uncertain and time pressured arrangement between the parties, the risk and liability for iCode Limited in running and maintaining the HMGOG Projects, and iCode Limited's loss of earnings during the Relevant Period. It is iCode Limited's position that the invoiced amount is fair and proportionate in the circumstances.

On 31st August 2018, Mr Navas emailed Mr Cornelio and stated:

"...the invoice does not seem to reflect the agreed terms put forward by the Chairman in his email to you dated 10 August 2018 at 20:08:16 CEST.I would very much appreciate if the invoice can be reviewed, adjusted and re-sent based upon the terms clearly laid out in the aforementioned email communication."

Mr Cornelio subsequently replied:

"I am not aware of any agreed terms between myself and the chairman in respect of fees. On the email specified I can see that the chairman advised what he would be happy to pay, however this was obviously not agreed to.

The invoice has been reviewed, it takes into consideration the full responsibility, liability and work load taken on by continuing to work on and supporting all the eGov platforms (DSS, ETB, EDUCATION, BCA & NSCIS), furthermore it reflects the cost of having to put on hold working on projects for my new venture as a result of assisting Bland Limited during this difficult period of time.

I believe the invoice to be fair and proportionate."

Further correspondence between the parties ensued and Mr Gaggero subsequently informed Mr Cornelio that:

"The fact that you undertook to carry out the services provided (regarding NSCIS) on the basis of a clearly stated offer implies that you accepted my offer.

It is therefore not acceptable to unilaterally alter our agreement without bringing to my attention so much as a hint of your dissatisfaction during this period. Accordingly I am unwilling to settle your invoice as submitted.

I assure you I will honour my commitment to pay you on the basis laid out in my email of 10th August..."

Mr Cornelio responded as follows:

"You are fully aware that I never accepted your offer, in fact my suggestion was that we discuss this.

I am disappointed that despite the goodwill shown over the past three weeks you are once again refusing to pay for my time.

Since you have refused to pay the full invoice amount I am left with no alternative but to escalate the matter as appropriate."

Without prejudice to our contention that Mr Gaggero's offer was not accepted, it is noteworthy that at no point did he ask Mr Cornelio for information as to his current salary in order to affirm the terms of his offer or subsequently make payment pursuant to these terms. iCode Limited relies on this as further evidence that an agreement had not been concluded between the parties as Mr Gaggero was at all material times unaware of Mr Cornelio's current salary and the extent of your potential liability in fees to iCode Limited.

Payment of the Debt

iCode Limited sent invoice reminders to Mr Navas, on the following dates: 30th August 2018; 10th September 2018; 17th September 2018; 21st September 2018; 30th September 2018; 30th October 2018; 10th November 2018; 28th November 2018; 9th December 2018; 12th December 2018; 2nd January 2019; 7th January 2019; 8th January 2019; 9th January 2019; 13th January 2019; 16th January 2019; 18th January 2019; 21st January 2019; 24th January 2019; 7th February 2019; 11th February 2019; 18th February 2019. To date, you have refused to pay the Debt (or make any part payments towards payment of the Debt) and did not engage in any further correspondence save to say that iCode Limited should commence legal proceedings for recovery of the Debt.

In the circumstances, you are indebted in the sum of £48,685.28 plus interest from 1 September 2018 in the sum of £2,007.41 ("the Debt"). The Debt is payable immediately and does not include costs. Interest will continue to accrue at a daily rate of £11.67 per day calculated on an interest rate of 8% over the Bank of England base rate. An up to date Statement of Account is enclosed for ease of reference.

The Debt should be paid in full directly to iCode Limited pursuant to the payment details set out in Invoice No.002.

Relevant Documents

We enclose the following copy documents that are relevant to the Debt:

i. Correspondence between iCode Limited and Bland Limited;
ii. iCode Invoice No.002 dated 31st August 2018; and
iii. Up to date Statement of Account for the Debt.

Should you have any difficulty in identifying a document referred to in this letter please let us know.

Next Steps

An acknowledgment to this letter should be provided within 14 days and your full response should be provided no later than 21 days from the date hereof, namely by Tuesday 12th March 2019.

We reserve all our rights, including the right to commence legal proceedings against you (if necessary and appropriate without further notice to you) to obtain a Court judgment requiring you to pay the Debt plus interests and costs.

Yours faithfully

Dear Tommy

Thank you for your e-mail of the 19th February.

The letter before action is perfectly in order. My concern is that I do not think you should throw the first bomb on this matter. I would prefer to wait for a week or so to see if we can get clarification of Government's attitude towards you and 36 North Limited.

Happy to discuss the matter with you over the phone.

Kind regards

Privileged & Confidential

Dear James and David

Here is some background information and some immediate observations on the situation:

1. Shareholdings. Hassans through Astelon Ltd (a Hassans owned SPV) has a 50% shareholding in 36N Ltd, the remaining shares being held by TC.
   Under the SHA the shares were to be held 1/3 each between JP, TC and Astelon, but no shares have so far been issued to JP.

2. Directors. The sole director is TC, as JP has not yet been brought formally into 36N Ltd. Astelon has the right to nominate a director but has not yet exercised that right and meanwhile has the right to appoint an observer at board meetings.

3. Loan Facility. There was no payment for the acquisition of Asteleon's shareholding but Astelon granted 36N a a ?1m loan facility and has so far made loans totalling ?400,000 under it. While further advances might be requested under the loan facility, and they would have to be looked at on the merits at the time, the loan agreement contains both Material Adverse Change and Event of Default protections for the lender which would most likely allow Astelon to refuse to make further advances if there has been misbehaviour.

4. Civil actions against JP and TC. Representations were made by them to Hassans at the time of the formation of the JV in the form of a cash flow projection was produced by JP and TC for Hassans. That projection proved to be materially optimistic as key government orders were not forthcoming. Oral representations were made by JP and TC to JL and DHW during the negotiations that 36N would not use IP belonging to their former employer nor did the former employer have any term contracts with customers with which the new business might be claimed to be interfering. JP and TC confirmed that there were no post employment non-compete covenants.

Subject: Cash Flow Forecast
Attachments: 36 north cash flow - sept 19 to aug 20.pdf; 36 north cash flow - sept 19 to aug 20.xlsx

Dear David,

Please find attached the cash flow forecast for 36N for the period Sept 2019 - Oct 2020. When reviewing this please take the following into consideration:

1. STP set as £40k per month. Based on current tourist numbers, this may be closer to ~£60k per month.
2. Cave Experience set as £42k per month, based on current numbers it may be in the region of £61k per month.
3. JURA, due to a price increase by HMGOG in April 2020, this project will invoice at least £70k per month as from then. Note that in October we will receive payments for August, September and October. I have set this at £115k, however there is a very high chance this could in fact be well over, in the region of £180k depending on actual tourist numbers. For the financial year 20/21 JURA alone is expected to generate over £1m in revenue for us.

The forecast uses conservative estimates and shows 36N with a healthy £243k in the bank by month end August 2020 with the £476k loan fully paid. I would realistically expect an additional £500k in revenue based on my comments above which I have not included into the forecast, this would obviously further improve the cash flow.

Note that September is an expensive month as I need to make a one off £38k payment to the tax office as well as pay John and myself August's salary as we have not received any payment since June. This has all been modeled into the forecast for your review.

Please also note that our website is now live, I have provided this in several languages since our target market is international. You can review this at https://www.36north.io/

Happy to answer any questions you may have. I trust that you can appreciate that even despite the unfortunate events which have been unfairly brought upon us, we have still managed to pull through and secure three very significant contracts which has required monumental efforts. These accomplishments in themselves shows that if 36N is able to achieve this at the worst of times, it can no doubt achieve far more when there are better times to be had.

Kind regards

Tommy

Subject: Cash Flow

Dear James

Lesley has sent a mail with some minor comments on the loan agreement - no need for you to spend time on them I will address them.

I would appreciate your guidance on one point, however. Lesley asks about the costs of the supplemental loan agreement so it can be factored into the cash flow.

The cost of the supplemental loan agreement will be modest, but there is also the question of the cost of the original transaction which under the SHA was to be billed to 36N Ltd.

At the time we didn't bill our fees as it would only have increased the loan. My question is whether when the loan has been paid off you would expect some part of the cash flow to be used to pay the original transaction costs at the same time as 50% surplus cash flow is being used to pay the deficit in the executive salaries?

Please can I have a steer from you.

Best regards

David

Dear David

Thank you for your emails and the draft agreement provided.

Our comments on the draft agreement are as follows:

- Clause 1.2: should the definition not be "Final Repayment Date" and not "Final Maturity Date"? It appears to be defined as Final Repayment Date in the Facility Agreement and in Clause 3.1 of the draft.
- Clause 3.1: we would wish to add words to the effect of "...unless otherwise agreed by the parties in writing" at the end of the sentence.
- Clause 3.2: as envisaged in the Cash Flow Forecast, we would want to clarify that the first of such pre-payments is to commence within 15 days of 31 January 2020.
- Clause 5.5: whilst we are happy with the wording of the written consents, please note that John is still abroad and will begin travelling back Tuesday evening with little to no internet access. Whilst all other signed documents can be provided sooner, the earliest I can get John's signed consent letter to you will be Thursday/Friday this week. We hope that this will not delay matters.
- Clause 8: we would be grateful if you could clarify the extent of the costs referred to or provide an estimate so that this can be factored in.

I trust that the amendments are uncontroversial but please do not hesitate to contact me should you wish to discuss.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards

Lesley

Dear All,

Thank you Tommy for the cash flow. I have attached it to the loan agreement.

Lesley, I also added a paragraph at the end of the agreement on costs.

If you are content, please sign the loan agreement in two duplicates, initial each page (including the cash flow schedule). I would appreciate if Lesley could arrange to have the originals sent to Midtown marked for my attention along with the signed consents in the form set out in clause 5. I will then arrange signature by Astelon Ltd and disbursement of funds.

Best regards

David

Thank you for your e-mail.
I think it would be harsh on them to send them a bill at this point. I think we will have to wait for them to receive more income before billing.
Let's discuss.

Dear James,
You will recall Tommy mentioned that they expect to start payments in December. I propose we send an invoice for the legal fees to date so the amount can be recorded in the 36N accounts for the current year. Currently WIP and disbursements are:
36N: WIP £49,812 Disbursements £499. Total £50,311.
Astelon Ltd: WIP £34,250.
Total billable amount: £84,561.
Please let me know whether you are going to put any more time on either folio before I issue the invoice. You recorded 10 hours on 36N and 22 hours on Astelon.
Best regards
David

Subject: James Levy
Attachments: Scanned from a Xerox Multifunction Printer.pdf

Dear Attorney

I write on behalf of my firm's senior partner James Levy QC in relation to the attendance of RGP at his home and office addresses earlier today.

The officers who attended informed him that they were investigating the offence of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the dishonest obtaining of a maintenance contract relating to the NCSIS platform. They told him, in terrorem, that they were in possession of a search warrant (although they left with him a copy of a proforma relating to section 21 warrants of arrest, it is plain that the warrant which they claim to have had must have been a section 12 warrant), and told him that unless he cooperated, the warrant would be executed. As you would expect of a person of Mr Levy QC's stature and standing, he agreed to cooperate. He permitted them to enter his home address, and to search it, which they did. Despite threatening to execute the warrant, the police officers declined to provide him with a copy, even though they left the proforma. They seized an ipad, and then left to search his office. At Hassans' offices, they entered his personal office, and asked for his iphone and copies of documents. Again, Mr Levy QC agreed to cooperate, and provided his phone, with the sim card removed (so as to allow him to continue to work).

I am extremely concerned by the apparent gross abuse of power that this conduct amounts to, and that the RGP has seen fit to proceed in this manner. Although Mr Levy has asked me to confirm that the officers in attendance were personally courteous to him at all times, it is absolutely unconscionable that they should have threatened to execute a warrant in order to secure entry so that police search powers could be used. Moreover, it is completely inexplicable how the RGP could have thought that any warrant was proper, let alone that any court could have considered that the statutory pre-conditions for the issue of a warrant were met. The issue of a warrant was unnecessary, oppressive and highly distressing to Mr Levy and his family. It directly impugned Mr Levy's reputation and dignity as an officer of the court, the senior partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm and a highly respected member of the local community. Putting aside the ridiculous notion that he is suspected of having been involved in this serious criminal activity, it is not even clear that a production order under section 13 could have been properly obtained. How could it have even been properly suggested that entry to the premises would not be granted unless a warrant was produced, or that the purpose of a search would be frustrated or seriously prejudiced?

Mr Levy and my firm are, in addition, highly aggrieved at the fact that the RGP have taken Mr Levy's tablet and mobile telephone, which, as you will appreciate, contain a vast amount of privileged and irrelevant information to which the RGP is clearly not entitled as a matter of trite law. Although the RGP undertook to engage an independent counsel in the UK to examine the material for LPP, this completely fails to provide the necessary assurances that LPP material, or unrelated personal, private and privileged information, will be adequately protected. Not only was the material not 'blue-bagged' in his presence (presumably because the RGP intend to copy the device thereafter elsewhere) but the exercise appears to be intended to be carried out outside Gibraltar.

As you know, legal professional privilege is sacrosanct. The prohibition on the production of privileged material in the Criminal Procedure Act and under the general law are total and the firm's many clients are entitled to have the protection of their privileged and confidential affairs guaranteed in any disclosure process.

I am therefore writing to you in your capacity as guardian of the public interest to seek your urgent intervention with a view to ensuring that all the seized material is returned forthwith. Notwithstanding Mr Levy's open and sincere cooperation (which continues), the RGP were simply not entitled to take the material. To the extent that RGP wishes to obtain the material afresh, then consideration should be given by it to the making of a proper inter partes section 13/Schedule 1 production order application.

To that end, I would be grateful if you could give me the opportunity to urgently meet with a view to further discussing the above concerns with you and the RGP. I would venture to say that we are dealing with a serious abuse of law and power here.

Kind regards,

Lewis Baglietto

VOLUNTARY ATTENDANCE FOR POLICE INTERVIEW UNDER CAUTION

You are not obliged to say anything unless you wish to do so, but what you say may be put into writing and given in evidence.

The RGP are investigating offences against Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Computer Misuse) and Conspiracy to Defraud. This follows a complaint made in 2018.

In October 2018 Bland Limited uncovered evidence of computer misuse within the National Security Central Intelligence System ("NSCIS"). This system is an integral part of the national security of Gibraltar. The evidence suggests that without authority the NSCIS platform had been tampered with so that sensitive information would be diverted to unauthorised servers. In addition the performance of the platform was compromised by sabotage thereby undermining Gibraltar's national security.

A complaint was made to the Royal Gibraltar Police and in May 2019, John Perez, Thomas Cornelio, Edward Asquez (all former employees of Bland Limited) and Caine Sanchez (a senior civil servant) were arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to defraud Bland Limited of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract and for related offences pursuant to Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Computer Misuse).

Search warrants were executed at home and business addresses as a result of which numerous digital devices were seized. The evidence recovered has been forensically examined and affords reasonable grounds to suspect that you may have been involved in the said conspiracy, particularly in the planning and preparation stages and by improperly using your influence with a civil servant and others.

The evidence suggests that the conspiracy was to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, and to have it transferred to 36 North Limited. According to Companies House records you are a shareholder of this company by virtue of a company wholly owned by Hassans named Astelon Limited, which owns 33% of the shares in 36 North Limited. You thereby hold over 10% of the shareholding in 36 North Limited and stood to directly benefit from the revenue created by the transfer of the NSCIS maintenance contract.

Whilst the evidence so far indicates that you may have been involved in conspiring to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract, the RGP are keeping an open mind and have a duty to follow all reasonable lines of enquiry.

The topic areas which we seek to explore in formal interview under caution include (but are not limited to) the following:

1. Your role and responsibilities with regard to Hassans International Law Firm
2. 36 North Limited (incl. the company formation / financing / business)
3. Astelon Limited (incl. the company formation / business)
4. Icode Limited
5. Communication / relationship with Thomas Cornelio
6. Communication / relationship with John Perez
7. Communication / relationship with Caine Sanchez
8. The National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS)
9. Communication with the Chief Minister in relation to any of the above
10. Evidence gathered from the search of your residence and workplace
11. Any other area relevant to this investigation

You are hereby invited to attend a voluntary interview under caution at New Mole House police station at 1000Hrs on Monday the 18th May 2020.

In the event that you unable to attend at this time please contact Detective Inspector Wyan by email at mark.wyan@royalgibpolice.gi.

The content disclosed in this document has been provided in order to assist you in responding to the police enquiries, and instructing legal representation. This is an ongoing police investigation and the information provided herein must not be disclosed to any third party without authority of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

STATUTORY POWERS OF POLICE TO SEARCH PREMISES AND THE RIGHTS OF OCCUPIERS

THE OCCUPIER SHOULD KEEP THIS FORM IN A SAFE PLACE IN CASE IT IS NEEDED FOR FUTURE REFERENCE. THE STATUTORY POWERS TO SEARCH PREMISES AND OF THE RIGHTS OF OCCUPIERS ARE SUMMARISED BELOW

SUMMARY OF POWERS OF SEARCH UNDER THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE AND EVIDENCE ACT 2011

Statutory Powers: The following summaries are taken from the Sections shown.

1. Section 21 (Entry for purposes of arrest, etc): A Police Officer may enter and search any premises for the purpose of:
   a) Executing a warrant of arrest issued in connection with or arising out of criminal proceedings / or a warrant of commitment issued under Section 52 of the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980;
   b) Arresting a person for an indictable offence; or
   c) Arresting a person for an offence under Section 79 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Prohibition of uniforms in connection with political objects), Sections 532, 533, 539, 540 or 541 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Offences relating to trespass on property), Section 53(3) of the Traffic Act 2005 (Failure to stop when required to do so by a Police Officer in uniform), and Section 62 of the Traffic Act 2005 (Driving, or being in charge, when under the influence of drink or drugs);
   d) Arresting any juvenile who has been remanded or detained under this Act;
   e) Recapturing a person who is, or is deemed for any purpose to be, unlawfully at large while liable to be detained in a prison or other place of detention;
   f) Recapturing a person who is unlawfully at large and whom the officer is pursuing; or
   g) Preventing death or personal injury or serious damage to property.
2. Section 22(1) (Entry and Search after arrest – Inspector's PRIOR written authority required): A Police Officer may enter and search any premises occupied or controlled by a person under arrest for an indictable offence, if he has reasonable grounds for suspecting there is on the premises evidence, other than items subject to legal privilege, that relates to that offence or to some other indictable offence connected with or similar to that offence. Except as provided by Section 22(5) (below), no search may take place under this Section unless an officer of the rank of Inspector or above has given written authority.
3. Section 22(5) (Entry and Search after arrest – Inspector's prior authority not required but MUST be informed as soon as practicable after search): A Police Officer may conduct a search as shown in paragraph 2 above without obtaining the written authority of an Inspector or above where the arrested person has not yet been taken to the Police Station and his/her presence is necessary elsewhere for the effective investigation of the offence.
4. Section 54(2)(b) (Search upon arrest): Where a person has been arrested for an indictable offence at a place other than a Police Station, Police Officer shall have the power to enter and search any premises in which he was when arrested, or immediately before he was arrested, for evidence relating to that offence for which he has been arrested.
5. Reasonable Force: In the exercise of a power to search premises, Police may use reasonable force to enter the premises and carry out the search.
6. With Consent: A Police Officer may enter and search any premises with the written consent of a person entitled to grant entry to the premises.

SUMMARY OF POWERS OF SEIZURE UNDER THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE AND EVIDENCE ACT 2011

1. Where a Police Officer is searching premises under the powers conferred by Section 22, he may seize and retain evidence relating to the indictable offence for which the person is under arrest or evidence relating to another indictable offence connected with or similar to the indictable offence for which the person is under arrest.
2. Where a Police Officer is lawfully on premises, he may seize anything which he has reasonable grounds for believing:
   a) Has been obtained in consequence of an offence and that it is necessary to seize it in order to prevent it being concealed, lost, damaged, altered or destroyed; or
   b) Is evidence in relation to an offence which he is investigating, or any other, being concealed, lost, altered or destroyed.
3. Instead of seizing property, an officer may require that the holder of the property retains it. If the holder then disposes, alters or destroys it, he may be liable to civil or criminal proceedings (Para. 7.4 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
4. Normally, no item may be seized which is subject to legal privilege (as defined in Section 14) (Para. 7.2 of Code B – Codes of Practice). There are, however, some exceptions to this rule (e.g. when powers are exercised under Sections 29 to 40 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011).
5. An officer may photograph or copy, or have photographed or copied, any document which he has the power to seize (Para. 7.5 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
6. Where information is held on a computer, an officer may require it to be produced in a legible form so that it can be taken away (Para. 7.6 of Code B – Codes of Practice).

RIGHTS OF THE OCCUPIER / OWNER OF PROPERTY

1. General: Searches must be made at a reasonable hour unless this might frustrate the purpose of the search (Para. 6.2 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If any of your property is kept by the Police, you are entitled, on request, to be provided with a list or description of the property within a reasonable time (Para. 7.16 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If you wish, you, or your representative will be allowed supervised access to your property so that you can examine it or have it photographed or copied. Alternatively you may be provided with a photograph or copy. In either case, you are responsible for the costs. Access, etc, will not be allowed if the officer in charge of an investigation believes that this would prejudice the investigation of an offence or any criminal proceedings (Para. 7.17 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
2. Search Warrant: A copy of the warrant should, if practicable, be given to the occupier before the search begins (Para. 6.8 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If the occupier is not present, copies of the warrant and this Notice should be left in a prominent place (Para. 6.8 of Code B – Codes of Practice).
3. Search with Consent: Consent to a search must be given in writing (Para. 5.1 of Code B – Codes of Practice). Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para. 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice). Where consent is withdrawn before the search is completed, the search must stop (Para. 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice). If you reside in a lodging house or similar accommodation, your landlord can consent to your room (or rooms) being searched if you are unavailable at the time and the matter is urgent (Note for Guidance 5A to Code B – Codes of Practice).
4. Compensation for Damage: Compensation may be payable in appropriate cases for damage caused in entering and searching premises. An application for compensation may be made in writing to: The Commissioner of Police; Police Headquarters; New Mole House Police Station; Gibraltar.
5. Codes of Practice: A copy of the "Code of Practice for the Searching of Premises by Police Officers and the Seizure of Property found by Police Officers on Persons or Premises" – Code B, is available for you to consult at any Police Station. This Notice is a summary only of the main provisions of the Code, which should be consulted if you require further details (Para. 6.7(e) of Code B – Codes of Practice).

The contents of this document will be processed in strict compliance with the Royal Gibraltar Police's policy on Data Protection, which has been complied in accordance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2004.

Dear Attorney

I write on behalf of my firm's senior partner James Levy QC in relation to the attendance of RGP at his home and office addresses earlier today.

The officers who attended informed him that they were investigating the offence of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the dishonest obtaining of a maintenance contract relating to the NCSIS platform. They told him, in terrorem, that they were in possession of a search warrant (although they left with him a copy of a proforma relating to section 21 warrants of arrest, it is plain that the warrant which they claim to have had must have been a section 12 warrant), and told him that unless he cooperated, the warrant would be executed. As you would expect of a person of Mr Levy QC's stature and standing, he agreed to cooperate. He permitted them to enter his home address, and to search it, which they did. Despite threatening to execute the warrant, the police officers declined to provide him with a copy, even though they left the proforma. They seized an ipad, and then left to search his office. At Hassans' offices, they entered his personal office, and asked for his iphone and copies of documents. Again, Mr Levy QC agreed to cooperate, and provided his phone, with the sim card removed (so as to allow him to continue to work).

I am extremely concerned by the apparent gross abuse of power that this conduct amounts to, and that the RGP has seen fit to proceed in this manner. Although Mr Levy has asked me to confirm that the officers in attendance were personally courteous to him at all times, it is absolutely unconscionable that they should have threatened to execute a warrant in order to secure entry so that police search powers could be used. Moreover, it is completely inexplicable how the RGP could have thought that any warrant was proper, let alone that any court could have considered that the statutory pre-conditions for the issue of a warrant were met. The issue of a warrant was unnecessary, oppressive and highly distressing to Mr Levy and his family. It directly impugned Mr Levy's reputation and dignity as an officer of the court, the senior partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm and a highly respected member of the local community. Putting aside the ridiculous notion that he is suspected of having been involved in this serious criminal activity, it is not even clear that a production order under section 13 could have been properly obtained. How could it have even been properly suggested that entry to the premises would not be granted unless a warrant was produced, or that the purpose of a search would be frustrated or seriously prejudiced?

Mr Levy and my firm are, in addition, highly aggrieved at the fact that the RGP have taken Mr Levy's tablet and mobile telephone, which, as you will appreciate, contain a vast amount of privileged and irrelevant information to which the RGP is clearly not entitled as a matter of trite law. Although the RGP undertook to engage an independent counsel in the UK to examine the material for LPP, this completely fails to provide the necessary assurances that LPP material, or unrelated personal, private and privileged information, will be adequately protected. Not only was the material not 'blue-bagged' in his presence (presumably because the RGP intend to copy the device thereafter elsewhere) but the exercise appears to be intended to be carried out outside Gibraltar.

As you know, legal professional privilege is sacrosanct. The prohibition on the production of privileged material in the Criminal Procedure Act and under the general law are total and the firm's many clients are entitled to have the protection of their privileged and confidential affairs guaranteed in any disclosure process.

I am therefore writing to you in your capacity as guardian of the public interest to seek your urgent intervention with a view to ensuring that all the seized material is returned forthwith. Notwithstanding Mr Levy's open and sincere cooperation (which continues), the RGP were simply not entitled to take the material. To the extent that RGP wishes to obtain the material afresh, then consideration should be given by it to the making of a proper inter partes section 13/Schedule 1 production order application.

To that end, I would be grateful if you could give me the opportunity to urgently meet with a view to further discussing the above concerns with you and the RGP. I would venture to say that we are dealing with a serious abuse of law and power here.

Kind regards,

Lewis Baglietto

Dear Sir

Purported search warrant issued against James Levy QC in respect of [redacted] and Madison Building

I write on behalf of our senior partner James Levy QC.

As you know, on Tuesday 12th May 2020, , you and 2 other RGP Officers attended Mr Levy's offices and said that you had obtained a search warrant in respect of Mr Levy's involvement with 36 North Limited.

You stated that the warrant would be executed if Mr Levy did not cooperate in giving access to his home and office premises and to the documents being sought.

As would be expected of Mr Levy as an officer of the Court and a person of standing and integrity in the community, he agreed to co-operate and the RGP was permitted to enter his personal office and asked for his iphone and copies of documents. Again Mr Levy agreed to cooperate, providing his mini ipad and mobile phone with the SIM Card removed, as agreed by you (so as to allow him to continue to work). You then attended with Mr Levy to search his home and he has asked me to acknowledge that he was treated with courtesy throughout.

You will recall that during your visit, Mr Levy expressed his surprise and objection that you had seen it fit to apply for a warrant, when there could be no reasonable grounds to believe that his response to any request to enter his premises or be provided with documents, would be anything other than co-operative.

To this, the officers replied that they had obtained advice from the highest level which I understand to be a reference to the DPP.

Apart from the fact that it should have been plain to the RGP that a warrant was excessive, unjustified and unnecessary in the circumstances it should have been equally obvious, given the nature of the documents sought, that the documents would comprise Special Procedure Material.

As such, the only legal means of obtaining the documents (absent agreement) would be by obtaining a Production Order on notice to Mr Levy.

In the circumstances, any application for a warrant was highly irregular and contrary to law. I have made these points in the attached letter to the Attorney General.

Therefore and in order to enable Mr Levy to vindicate his legal rights, I ask you to provide, by noon tomorrow, copies of the following:

1. The Search Warrant;

2. The application for the Search Warrant;

3. Any written evidence filed in support of the application;

4. Any notes taken by the RGP of the hearing;

5. Any Order or Ruling made by the Stipendiary Magistrate;

6. Any instructions or briefing note issued by the RGP to the officers attending Mr Levy's home and offices;

7. The substance of the advice given to the RGP in relation to the merits of seeking the warrant.

In the meantime, as stated in our letter to the Attorney General, I request the immediate return today, of the material handed over to the RGP including any material copied or downloaded so far, as the retention, downloading and copying of such material is unlawful. To the extent that the RGP then wishes to obtain the material afresh, then consideration should be given by it to the making of a proper inter partes Section 13 / Schedule 1 Production Order application.

I look forward to hearing from you urgently and are copying this letter to the Attorney General, who has informed me that the Commissioner regrettably, refuses to meet with me as requested in my letter of last night.

Separately, in relation to Mr Levy's proposed voluntary interview on 18 May, I request prior disclosure of the matters proposed to be canvassed with Mr Levy during his interview, and of any documents intended to be put to him at the interview.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sir

Re: James Levy QC - Search Warrant issued on or about 11 May 2020

We are investigating the lawfulness of a search warrant purportedly issued by the Magistrates' Court against Mr Levy. It appears that it was obtained by Superintendent Paul Richardson or under his authority. The search warrant raises huge questions of abuse of law/ misfeasance in public office which is extremely worrying. We have already raised this matter with the Attorney-General and write to you to obtain:

1. A copy of the application with all supporting evidence.

2. A copy of the transcript or clerk's note of any hearing.

3. Any ruling by the Magistrate or other written or recorded document.

The Search warrant appears to have allowed a search of Mr Levy's home and offices, which on the facts presented by the Royal Gibraltar Police, raise real issues of Legal Professional Privilege and Special Procedure Material. It is not understood how a search warrant could have been lawfully sought and issued in the circumstances.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sir,

I have been forwarded a copy of your letter addressed to Detective Superintendent Paul Richardson dated 13 May 2020 the contents of which have been noted.

I have been fully briefed as to the conduct of the investigation and given the seriousness of the allegations made and the matters raised. I have seen fit to respond directly.

At the outset I must point out that the sequence of events are not as you have described and I do not agree with you that there were reasonable grounds to believe that Mr Levy would have simply handed over his devices and documents.

Notwithstanding the fact the police attended with a search warrant issued by the Magistrates Court, an attempt was made to try and deal with the matter by consent. This involved Mr Levy consulting with 'senior silk' in private and informing the officers that he would consent to handing over the items sought as long as the interests of his clients were protected. Once the means in which they would be achieved was clear Mr Levy signed the relevant form after reading it and consulting with Mr Chincotta. Accordingly the search warrant was not executed but rather Mr Levy chose to hand over his devices voluntarily, albeit after some time and after extensive consultation.

I do not agree with you that warrant was excessive, unjustified or unlawful and in my view the action taken was both legitimate and proportionate in the circumstances. I do not think it would serve any purpose to enter into a discussion on the use of Productions Orders as opposed to a Search Warrant.

In relation to the items that you have requested I have attached a copy of the search warrant to this email. I am unable at this time to comply with your request for a copy of the application for the search warrant or any other written evidence as this could potentially compromise an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed. The same applies to point 4 (any notes taken by the RGP of the hearing). The only order or ruling that I am aware of made by the Stipendiary Magistrate was the warrant itself. Although the DPP has been consulted on various non-operational issues concerning this investigation including the status of various parties he has not provided advice on the application of a search warrant which remains an operational matter.

Please rest assured that the RGP has not copied or downloaded any material so far and in fact the devices remain sealed and I have assumed safe custody of them. I remain convinced of the legality of our course of conduct but undertake to postpone their submission to be examined for seven days from the date of this letter in the event that you may wish to make any legal challenge to this decision.

I would also ask you to please note that it is not a question of me refusing to meet with you and the Attorney General, but rather I view it as inappropriate given the circumstances in which we find ourselves which I trust you understand.

I enclose a copy of a notice regarding voluntary attendance for police interview. This sets out the topic areas which we seek to explore in the formal police interview. I should point that we have not shared this document with any other party. It would be very helpful if Mr Levy brings any material with him that may support his account or provide it in advance of his attendance. Additionally, as would be normal practice counsel will be provided with a pre-interview briefing

Finally, as you will no doubt be aware, Mr Levy undertook to voluntarily extract the relevant emails and other documents from Hassans servers and provide these to police along with all files concerning Astelon Ltd and 36 North Ltd. Grateful if you advise when these will be supplied to assist with our investigation.

iii. That the material is likely to be of substantial value to the investigation in connection with which the application is made; and

iv. That the material is likely to be relevant evidence.

(b). Other methods of obtaining the material have not been tried because it appeared they were bound to fail;

(c). It is in the public interest, having regard:-

i. To the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained; and

ii. To the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it, that the material should be produced or that access to it should be given.

AND that of the further conditions mentioned in para 12(a)(ii) of Schedule 1 of the Act, namely:-

a). that it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant entry to the premises to which the application relates;

b). that it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises but it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material;

c). that the material contains information which;
i) is subject to a restriction or obligation such as is mentioned in section 15(2)(b) of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011; and
ii) is likely to be disclosed in breach of it if a warrant is not issued;

d). that the service of notice of an application for an order under paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 to the Act may seriously prejudice the investigation.

The further conditions at b & d, above apply.

The material to which this application relates is:-

1. Electronic devices (including but not limited to mobile telephones and computers,) capable of sending and receiving text messages, instant messages and/or electronic mail, owned and/or used by Haim Levy and any device capable of storing any of the aforementioned communications.

VOLUNTARY ATTENDANCE FOR POLICE INTERVIEW UNDER CAUTION

You are not obliged to say anything unless you wish to do so, but what you say may be put into writing and given in evidence.

The RGP are investigating offences against Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Computer Misuse) and Conspiracy to Defraud. This follows a complaint made in 2018.

In October 2018 Bland Limited uncovered evidence of computer misuse within the National Security Central Intelligence System ("NSCIS"). This system is an integral part of the national security of Gibraltar. The evidence suggests that without authority the NSCIS platform had been tampered with so that sensitive information would be diverted to unauthorised servers. In addition the performance of the platform was compromised by sabotage thereby undermining Gibraltar's national security.

A complaint was made to the Royal Gibraltar Police and in May 2019, John Perez, Thomas Cornelio, Edward Asquez (all former employees of Bland Limited) and Caine Sanchez (a senior civil servant) were arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to defraud Bland Limited of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract and for related offences pursuant to Part 15 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Computer Misuse).

Search warrants were executed at home and business addresses as a result of which numerous digital devices were seized. The evidence recovered has been forensically examined and affords reasonable grounds to suspect that you may have been involved in the said conspiracy, particularly in the planning and preparation stages and by improperly using your influence with a civil servant and others.

The evidence suggests that the conspiracy was to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, and to have it transferred to 36 North Limited. According to Companies House records you are a shareholder of this company by virtue of a company wholly owned by Hassans named Astelon Limited, which owns 33% of the shares in 36 North Limited. You thereby hold over 10% of the shareholding in 36 North Limited and stood to directly benefit from the revenue created by the transfer of the NSCIS maintenance contract.

Whilst the evidence so far indicates that you may have been involved in conspiring to dishonestly obtain the NSCIS maintenance contract, the RGP are keeping an open mind and have a duty to follow all reasonable lines of enquiry.

The topic areas which we seek to explore in formal interview under caution include (but are not limited to) the following:

1. Your role and responsibilities with regard to Hassans International Law Firm
2. 36 North Limited (incl. the company formation / financing / business)
3. Astelon Limited (incl. the company formation / business)
4. Icode Limited
5. Communication / relationship with Thomas Cornelio
6. Communication / relationship with John Perez
7. Communication / relationship with Caine Sanchez
8. The National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS)
9. Communication with any other person in relation to any of the above
10. Evidence gathered from the search of your residence and workplace
11. Any other area relevant to this investigation

You are hereby invited to attend a voluntary interview under caution at New Mole House police station at 1000Hrs on Monday the 18th May 2020.

In the event that you unable to attend at this time please contact Detective Inspector Wyan by email at mark.wyan@royalgibpolice.gi.

The content disclosed in this document has been provided in order to assist you in responding to the police enquiries, and instructing legal representation. This is an ongoing police investigation and the information provided herein must not be disclosed to any third party without authority of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

Dear Sir

H J M Levy Esq., CBE, QC.

I write further to your letter of the 13th May 2020 setting out particulars of an investigation carried out by you in respect of a set of search warrants issued by the Magistrates' Court. You seek from me a copy of the application with all supporting evidence; a copy of the transcript or clerk's notes of any hearing; and any ruling of the Magistrate or other written or recorded document.

I note that your letter of request has been served on the Royal Gibraltar Police. I can confirm that I have (after receiving your letter via email) received from the Royal Gibraltar Police an objection to the supply of the information requested in particular to the disclosure of the material upon which the Magistrate considered the application. I can confirm that the application for the search warrants were conducted in camera and not recorded. There is, however, a written note of the Magistrate's reasons on the grant of the application.

In accordance with Rule 5.7(6)(d) CrimPR, the Court must not permit the information requested to be supplied to you until the Royal Gibraltar Police has at least 14 days in which to file a notice of objection. Once this is received the Court will determine whether a hearing is required or not.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sir

H J M Levy Esq., CBE, QC.

I write further to a letter of the 13th May 2020 received by me via email from Lewis Baglietto QC and which you were copied.

I can confirm that I did receive and acknowledge an email from Superintendent Paul Richardson that same day objecting to the supply of the information requested in particular to the disclosure of the material upon which the Magistrate considered the application.

In accordance with Rule 5.7(6)(d) CrimPR, the Court must not permit the information requested to be supplied to Lewis Baglietto QC until the Royal Gibraltar Police has had at least 14 days in which to file a notice of objection with the Court setting out the following:

1. Whether the objection is to the supply of any part of the information requested, or only to the supply of a specified part, or parts, of it;
2. Whether the objection is to the supply of the information at any time, or only to its supply before a date or event specified by the Royal Gibraltar Police; and grounds for objection.

Once this is received the Court will determine whether a hearing is required or not.

Dear Attorney

Schedule 1 paragraph 12 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 search warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at [redacted]; and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building

We refer to our earlier correspondence with you in this matter, dated 12 May 2020, and to the Commissioner of Police's attached letter dated 14th May in reply to our letter to Superintendent Richardson dated 13th May, which we copied to you. We are copying this letter to the Commissioner of Police.

Introduction

We set out in outline below the reasons why there are very good grounds for believing that the warrants were improperly procured and wrongfully granted (in the course of an ex parte hearing), and why the RGP officers acted unlawfully in attending the premises and using the threat that they would execute the warrants to obtain from Mr Levy QC the material that they sought.

As we have stated in my earlier letter, it is extraordinary that the RGP should have thought it appropriate to resort to the draconian route of Schedule 1 paragraph 12 search warrants, and no less extraordinary that the Stipendiary Magistrate should have thought it right and appropriate to grant the two applications. There were serious and multiple breaches of the statutory requirements and wholesale departures from best practice. There can be little surprise that, as we believe is the case, the DPP advised the Commissioner against the making of these applications.

The issue of the warrants was unnecessary and oppressive, and the threat to use them highly distressing. Their issue directly impugned, as we have stated, Mr Levy's reputation and dignity as an officer of the court, the senior partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm and as a highly respected member of the local community.

It was also a gross abuse of power for RGP to have threatened the use of previously obtained search warrants to secure compelled and involuntary consent to enter the two premises and seize materials. Indeed, the very fact that Mr Levy QC was prepared to allow the officers entry (notwithstanding the non-execution of the warrants) belies RGP's unsupported assertion to the Magistrate that there were reasonable grounds for believing that "other methods of obtaining the material have not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail" (Schedule 1, paragraph 2(b)(ii)) and that there was a basis upon which he could be additionally satisfied that "(b) it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material" or "(d) service of notice of an application for an order under paragraph 4 may seriously prejudice the investigation" (Schedule 1, paragraphs 14(b) and (d)). Either the warrants were needed and justified, or they were not, and it is simply not correct for the Commissioner to state, as he does in his letter of 14th May 2020, that the items sought were handed over consensually, thereby rendering the RGP action 'legitimate and proportionate'.

The Commissioner has, so far, unlawfully refused to provide any detail of the basis upon which the applications for the warrants was made. Indeed, on 12 May 2020, following the events in question, the RGP provided Mr Levy QC with a misleading proforma which wrongly suggested that the search powers were being exercised under the section 21 "Entry for the purposes of arrest etc" power.

The Commissioner's refusal to provide a copy of the applications for the issue of the warrants that were made by his officers, or of any evidence adduced in support, or of any notes made by the RGP during the ex parte Magistrates' Court hearing, on the basis this could 'potentially undermine an ongoing investigation as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed' is perverse and wrong in law, and provides a further basis for a potential challenge.

There exists a stand-alone obligation on the ex parte applicant for a warrant, and on the court that granted it, to provide all relevant material adduced in support of the application: R(Energy Financing Team Ltd) v Bow Street Magistrates' Court [2005] EWHC 1626 (Admin) at para 27; R(Gittins) v Central Criminal Court [2011] EWHC 131 (Admin, at para 25(2); R(Faisaltex) v Crown Court at Preston [2008] EWHC 2832 (Admin) at para 35; R(S) v Chief Constable of the BTP [2013] EWHC 2189 at para 46.

The person who is seeking to challenge the grant of a warrant is entitled to know the basis upon which it was granted, and the case law simply does not provide, in the absence of a properly formulated application by the body that obtained the warrant for relevant information to be withheld on the basis that its disclosure would seriously prejudice the public interest: R (Haralambous) v Crown Court at St Albans & Anor [2018] UKSC 1, for refusal on any lesser basis.

In the absence of proper disclosure of the basis upon which the applications were made, it is not possible to be certain as to what transpired in the Magistrates' Court. The 'information' in support of both applications should have set out in writing, by direct reference to the particular facts of the investigation and the belief of the investigating officer(s), why the statutory requirements were met. They did not.

Instead, with the exception of a single reference in each information to the indictable offence said to be believed to have been committed, 'namely conspiracy to defraud' (which words are in a different font to the rest of the information), they are wholly silent, and contain only a bare rehearsal of the statutory criteria. In the absence of a record of what DS Clarke, the officer who made the applications, told the court orally, it is impossible to know what information, if any, the court was given any in support of the applications. It is also impossible to know if he properly discharged the plain duty upon him of making plain any information or material that weighed against the application.

Moreover, in the absence of any ruling (the Commissioner in his letter has confirmed that the Magistrate gave no ruling), the reasons for the grant of the warrants are completely unknown. It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that, rather than seeking authorisation to obtain material in relation to genuinely suspected offences, instead the police were on "a fishing expedition in the hope of finding some material upon which the charge can be hung": Williams v. Summerfield [1972] 2 QB 512, per Lord Widgery CJ at 518.

The illegality of the process, and the unlawfulness of the warrants, would appear to be clearly established on the following grounds.

Statutory provisions

In order for a warrant to have been properly issued pursuant to Paragraph 12 of Schedule 1, the Magistrate must have needed to be satisfied:

(a) that

(i) either set of access conditions is fulfilled; and

(ii) any of the further conditions set out in Paragraph 14 is also fulfilled;

OR

(b) that –

(i) the second set of access conditions is fulfilled; and

(ii) an Order under Paragraph 4 in relation to the material has not been complied with.

It is clear from the warrants that the police relied on the first set of access conditions, namely:

"2. The first set of access conditions is fulfilled if -

(a) that there are reasonable grounds for believing that-

(i) an indictable offence has been committed;

(ii) there is material which consists of special procedure material or also includes special procedure material and does not also include excluded material on premises specified in the application, or on premises occupied or controlled by a person specified in the application;

(iii) the material is likely to be of substantial value (whether by itself or together with other material) to the investigation in connection with which the application is made; and

(iv) the material is likely to be relevant evidence;

(b) other methods of obtaining the material have –

(i) been tried without success; or

(ii) not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail; and

(c) it is in the public interest, having regard to –

(i) the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained; and

(ii) the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it, that the material should be produced or that access to it should be given."

The further conditions set out in Paragraph 14 are as follows:

"14. The further conditions mentioned in Paragraph 12(a)(ii) are that –

(a) it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant entry to the premises;

(b) it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material;

(c) the material contains information which –

(i) is subject to a restriction or obligation such as is mentioned in section 15(2)(b); and

(ii) is likely to be disclosed in breach of it if a warrant is not issued;

(d) service of notice of an application for an order under paragraph 4 may seriously prejudice the investigation."

The informations stated that the requirements of Paragraphs 2 and 14(b) and (d) of Schedule 1 were fulfilled: "The further conditions at b & d above apply"

First set of Access conditions (Schedule 1, paragraph 2, and 12(a)(i))

First, in the absence of any information, it is not known on what basis the Stipendiary Magistrate had reasonable grounds for believing that an indictable offence had been committed (let alone in relation to Mr Levy QC, whose premises were the subject of the applications).

Paragraph 2 requires that the constable has reasonable grounds for believing the matters set out in paragraph 2(a). It is plain that a belief is more than a suspicion and that the need to have reasonable grounds for a belief imposes a higher threshold than the need to have reasonable grounds for a suspicion: R(S) (supra) at [61]; R (Eastenders Cash and Carry plc) v South Western Magistrates' Court [2011] 2 Cr App R 123. A mere assertion cannot suffice.

We do not know on what basis the court was persuaded that this requirement was met. In any event, it is a matter that the duty of candour, which rests upon an ex parte applicant (In re Stanford International Bank Limited and Another [2010] EWCA Civ 137; [2010] 3

W.L.R. 941 at para 191), absolutely demanded be brought to the attention of the Magistrate. It is far from clear that it was.

We also note the basis of RGP's apparent beliefs have altered since the warrants were obtained. In the note "Voluntary Attendance for Police Interview under Caution", a copy of which was given to Mr Levy QC on 12 May 2020, the RGP referred, at point 9 of the topic areas which they wished to explore in interview under caution, to 'Communication with the Chief Minister in relation to any of the above'. In the otherwise identical version provided under cover of the Commissioner's letter of 14 May 2020, that phrase has been removed.

Second, whilst it is plain from the warrants and from the informations in support, that the material sought consisted of or included Special Procedure Material, there appears to be no basis upon which the Magistrate could have had reasonable grounds for believing that there would be no "excluded material" on the premises.

As made clear in R(S) at [33] and [57], paragraph 2(a)(ii) is only fulfilled if the Court is satisfied with evidence that the items to be seized do not also contain "excluded material". As stated in R(S) at [57], a lawyer's mobile or laptop would certainly include 'special procedure material' and could possibly also comprise "excluded material". It is not clear on what basis DS Clarke satisfied the court that the devices would not contain "excluded material".

Third, the court had to be satisfied that the material sought would be of substantial value to the investigation and likely to be relevant evidence. Again, there is nothing to suggest that the police or court considered the balancing exercise which appraises, on the one hand, the benefit to the investigation of obtaining the information against, on the other hand, the seizure with the possibility that it would contain in it a mass of "excluded material" and/or material subject to LPP, which was not concerned with the investigation and the seizure of which might well cause considerable professional disruption: R(S) (supra). The court's attention should have been drawn to this point with an explanation as to why this balancing exercise should be resolved in favour of the police.

Taking into account that the investigation has, we understand, been ongoing for over 18 months, and that the other suspects have already been searched and questioned, it is not at all clear how this could have been demonstrated. Was it likely that material sought so belatedly would be of 'substantial value'? Seeking further evidence identical to what had already been obtained would not meet the statutory requirement.

Fourth, in relation to the requirements of paragraph 2(b), we note that the informations allege that other methods of obtaining the material had not been tried because it appeared that they were bound to fail. The court had to be satisfied of two things: that other methods of obtaining the material had not, in fact, been tried; and that DS Clarke believed any other method was bound to fail (R v CCBTP at [34]).

No basis upon which the court could have been so satisfied is provided in either information, and it is wholly implausible that any proper basis could have been advanced. The notion that Mr Levy QC, as an officer of the court and Queen's Counsel, would have refused a request is absurd and, of course, as noted above, the very fact that the police did obtain the material in the way they did (following the threat to execute the warrants and the clear misrepresentation that the warrants had been applied for on the advice of the DPP) supports this. As was noted in R(S), a practising solicitor against whom no allegation of dishonesty had previously been made would in the ordinary course of events be expected to comply with a request from the police to hand over a document or at least not to destroy material.

Fifth, the information also purports to deal with the unsubstantiated public interest requirements in 2(c) which we reserve our right to further comment once we have seen any further evidence in support. However, we note that the Magistrate in satisfying himself that the warrant was in the public interest would have had to have regard to two matters: 1. the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained; and 2. the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it.

Paragraphs 12(a)(ii)/14

The information states that the following further conditions in paragraph 12(a)(ii) of Schedule 1 apply (we take that to mean the conditions in paragraph 14 referred to in 12(a)(ii)), namely:

1. 14(b) - that it is practicable to communicate with a person entitled to grant entry to the premises, but it is not practicable to communicate with any person entitled to grant access to the material; and

2. 14(d) - that service of notice of an application for an Order under Paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 may seriously prejudice the investigation

First, in relation to 14(b), this is plainly untrue. If it was practicable to communicate with Mr Levy as the person entitled to grant entry to his office and home, it was obviously practicable to communicate with him to grant access to the material (as proved to be the case). That such a statement should have been made on oath is nothing short of reckless and misleading.

Second, in relation to 14(d), it is impossible to see how the police could have so believed, or that the Magistrate could have been satisfied. Not only is this serious allegation not substantiated, but there can have been no basis for the notion that service of notice on Mr Levy of an application for an order under paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 risked him prejudicing the investigation (for example, by perverting the course of justice, or destroying or dissipating evidence) pending the hearing of an inter partes application for a production order.

Indeed, there was every reason for believing precisely the contrary. First, Mr Levy QC is the Senior Partner of Gibraltar's largest law firm, a Queen's Counsel, an officer of the Court, and a man of good character. As events transpired, the police themselves could not have believed that he would seriously prejudice the investigation, because they declined to execute the warrants they obtained, and allowed Mr Levy to remove his phone and copy the data before handing it over to them. They also now appear to trust him to provide voluntarily the emails they sought but failed to obtain. Secondly, the investigation has been ongoing for over 18 months, and Hassans acted, initially, for other suspects. The police knew that Mr Levy was aware of the investigation. Had he really wanted to destroy evidence, this could have been done months ago.

Width

The warrants at particular "(1)" sought the seizure of "electronic devices (including but not limited to mobile telephones and computers) capable of sending and receiving text messages, instant messages and/or electronic mail, owned and/or used by Haim Levy and any device storing any of the aforementioned communications".

These apparently unlimited terms were grossly wide. They were without limit in terms of scope or date, and completely failed to state what the sought material had to relate to. The plainly erroneous and inexplicable reference to 'any of the aforementioned communications' (there being no such reference) simply reinforces the point.

It would have been quite impossible, within the four corners of the warrant, for a person executing it, or for the person whose premises are being searched, to be able to identify with any degree of certainty what the warrant authorised by way of seizure: McGrath v. Chief Constable of the Royal Ulster Constabulary [2001] 2 AC 731 at [18]; R (Energy Financing Team Ltd) v. Bow Street Magistrates' Court (supra), at [24] and [37]; Power-Hynes v. Norwich Magistrates' Court [2009] EWHC 1512 (Admin), at [19] and [22]; R (Van der Pijl) v. Kingston Crown Court [2012] EWHC 3745, at [52]-[67]; C v. Nottingham and Newark Magistrates' Court [2013] EWHC 3790, at [48] and [51]. Particular (2) is similarly unrestricted in date range.

It follows that the warrants were grossly deficient on their face. The seizure of the phone and tablet would also necessarily have led to the seizure of a vast amount of irrelevant (and LPP) material that could not, on any view, have had any connection to the investigation and/or was not capable of being seized. The RGP took no steps to sift out this material.

LPP

Not only were the warrants drafted in impermissibly wide terms, but they contained no clear wording taking LPP material outside that which was authorised to be seized (R(A) v. Central Criminal Court [2017] EWHC 70 (Admin), at [81] and [84]). Nor can such an exclusion be implied from the wording of the warrant (cf. Gittins v Central Criminal Court [2011] EWHC 131 (Admin), at [36]-[37]).

A warrant which purports to authorise the seizure of LPP is invalid. See Gittins (above), per Gross LJ at [36(2)]:

> "If on its true construction a warrant extends to material for which there are not reasonable grounds for believing that it does not consist of or include items subject to LPP then the warrant will be quashed, at least unless the offending passages can be severed. Such a warrant cannot be saved by precautions governing its execution on the day, such as, for example, the engagement of independent counsel."

It was obvious that the search warrants would lead to the seizure of LPP material. However, the reality was that no consideration was likely to have been given at all to LPP material when applying for and issuing these search warrants. They are therefore invalid.

Conclusion

On any challenge by way of judicial review, the warrants are overwhelmingly likely to be declared to be unlawful for all or any of the reasons set out above.

Hassans
International Law Firm

We therefore request once again, as we have already requested also in the letter to Superintendent Richardson, that Mr Levy's possessions be returned to him.

We also seek an acknowledgment from RGP that they acted unlawfully in seeking and obtaining these warrants, and in entering Mr Levy's addresses. In this regard, we must record that Mr Levy has serious concerns that the RPG acted illegally, and we reserve his rights in this regard. If, indeed, RGP acted in this way in opposition to advice that it had received to the effect that the applications were inappropriate and unlawful, then it can only be concluded that there has been a gross abuse of executive power. On any basis these events are liable to have led to a serious loss of confidence in the RGP.

We look forward to hearing from you as a matter of urgency.

Yours faithfully

Dear Mr Baglietto,

In your recent communications with us you have sought further information from the police prior to formal police interview.

This is not normal practice however as this is a very complex investigation and in order for you to properly advise your client we have drafted the attached additional pre-interview disclosure with a simplified time-line.

Kind regards.

DRAFT

VOLUNTARY ATTENDANCE FOR POLICE INTERVIEW UNDER CAUTION

Pre- Interview Disclosure

1. The following facts/topic areas are provided in order to allow you properly advise your client Haim Levy who has been requested to voluntarily attend New Mole House police station for a police interview at 1000Hrs on Monday 18th May 2020.

2. We are seeking an untainted account from your client and have considered what is appropriate to further disclose at your request prior to the formal police interview.

3. The background of the investigation was outlined in the document provided directly to Mr Levy on Tuesday 12th May 2020.

4. This is a complex and protracted investigation and the additional information provided below may assist you in properly advising your client.

5. BACKGROUND

6. The National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS) was developed over a period of time by Blands Ltd on behalf of HMGoG.

7. The evidence suggests that the departure of the following former employees of Bland Ltd was orchestrated and calculated to impede Bland Ltd in their ability to manage the NSCIS platform, those persons are: John Perez (the then CEO), Thomas Cornelio (senior software developer), and the remaining software developers. This occurred at the same time as the said individuals had set up in business together in the expectation of having the management contract of the NSCIS platform transferred to 36 North Ltd.

8. The evidence also suggests that a considerable number of computer misuse offences (in excess of 50) have been committed by Thomas Cornelio in connection with the NSCIS platform and that these offences interfered with the efficiency of the system, diverted sensitive personal data to servers associated with 36 North Ltd without authority and compromised the National Security of Gibraltar.

9. The evidence indicates that the computer misuse offences were committed to impede the efficient operation of Gibraltar's National Security platform to such an extent as to render it unreliable in the eyes of its users. These offences resulted in taking the NSCIS platform offline during which period Gibraltar's National Security was compromised. It is alleged that the purpose of this was to put 36 North Ltd in the best position to take over the lucrative contract.

10. The evidence further suggests that Thomas Cornelio and John Perez approached the heads of law enforcement bodies who used the platform and encouraged them to complain about the failings of the system to Caine Sanchez (a civil servant who was the NSCIS lead within the Gibraltar Civil Service).

11. The evidence suggests that Caine Sanchez has acted improperly by providing confidential and or commercially sensitive information to persons involved in these offences and sought to use his influence for the benefit of 36 North Ltd and against the interests of Bland Ltd.

12. Furthermore the evidence suggests that Haim Levy either in his own right or through corporate structures owned and or controlled by Hassans, entered into a business relationship with 36N and its members, including the provision of business advice and financing. The evidence further suggests that Haim Levy became aware of the fact that Digital Forensic experts were conducting an investigation and that Thomas Cornelio was worried that they may uncover evidence that he had tampered with the system. Furthermore that Haim Levy was requested by other persons subject to this investigation to use his influence with influential persons within the Government for the benefit of 36N. It appears that a business relationship existed with Caine Sanchez – a Civil Servant.

13. I must stress again that the police are keeping an open mind as to Mr Levy's involvement but remind you that at this stage there are reasonable ground to suspect him of involvement in a conspiracy to defraud Bland Ltd. There may of course be explanations that will change this view.

14. We are seeking an account from Mr Levy as to the following:

Hassans

1. His position, role, responsibilities, accountability (to whom?) Scope and limitation in engaging in new business and investing in new business by way of financing their ventures.

36 North Ltd (36N)

2. His involvement with this entity from the beginning and including before its incorporation as a limited liability company.
3. How Hassans became involved in 36
4. The nature of the business of 36N including any business plan if relevant.
5. The financing of 36N by Hassans and what level of return was expected from the investment.
6. What was expected from Haim Levy as an associate of 36N
7. The corporate structure of 36N including its layered ownership.

8. Any KYC due diligence that was undertaken before participating in this business.

Astelon Ltd

9. The formation of this company and its purpose and ownership.

ICODE Ltd (1/3 shareholder in 36 North Ltd)

10. The business relationship with this company
11. Any KYC due diligence conducted in connection with this company

NSCIS platform

12. His understanding as to the ownership of the intellectual property of the platform given that the evidence suggests that it formed part of a 36N business plan. How was he satisfied that 36 North Ltd would be able to acquire the management of it given that Hassans invested in the company.
13. His understanding as to how the platform was to be removed from Blands and transferred to 36N.
14. Any knowledge that he had with regard to the malfunctioning of the platform and when he became aware of this.
15. Any knowledge that he may have with regard to the tampering with and/or sabotage of the NSCIS platform.
16. An explanation of what he did once he became aware of the alleged criminality of John Perez and Thomas Cornelio with regard to the reputational damage that may occur to himself and Hassan by being associated with them and 36 North through ownership of shares in 36N.

Communications and meetings with the following persons with regards to 36N and/or NSCIS
NOTE: Mr Levy retained a copy of the data on his mobile phone before eventually handing it over to police on the 12th May 2020 and has access to his email accounts. For this reason is should be possible for Mr Levy to extract the relevant conversations/emails from his own devices and may choose to provide these to police to support his account.

17. The persons are:
    a. Eddie Asquez (a former employee of Bland Ltd)
    b. John Perez
    c. Thomas Cornelio
    d. Caine Sanchez

18. Whether the relationship was purely business or lawyer client based (all persons)

19. Sanchez-
    a. explanation as to his business relationship with civil servant

b. when did he find out that Sanchez was arrested on suspicion of misconduct in public office and did he consider that Sanchez may have acted unethically and/or unlawfully in his dealings with Haim Levy

20. Any approach by Mr Levy to member of Government or the civil service in connection with 36N and or the NSCIS platform.

To further assist you advising your client a simplified timeline has also been included.

Dear Attorney,

Further to your confirmation that the Commissioner would be content with a written statement from Mr Levy in lieu of proceeding with the RGP's proposed interview tomorrow, I confirm that Mr Levy will give a written statement.

We will be in touch shortly regarding the scope, realistic timetable and procedural safeguards in relation to such statement. I assume that we should liaise with Detective Superintendent Richardson with regard to such matters.

In the circumstances, Mr Levy will therefore not be attending for interview tomorrow.

I am copying this e-mail to the Commissioner for his information, and also to Charles Bonfante of my firm, who will be assisting in this matter.

Dear Mr. Baglietto

I refer to your email to the Attorney General of the 17th May 2020 concerning your client Mr. Levy and to which I was copied in.

I am aware that you have been provided with detailed further pre-interview disclosure at your request on Saturday 16th May 2020. This was done in order to allow you to properly advise your client in advance of the police interview which was originally planned. You may take the view that it would proper for Mr Levy to provide a written response to the police. This is acceptable to us. Once we receive the statement, we would then reconsider whether we would require further written particulars or the need to interview Mr Levy. As we have repeatedly said we are keeping an open mind. The scope of what is required has already been set out in detail in the pre-interview disclosure document referred to previously. As to the realistic timetable, we really need to have Mr Levy's account by Tuesday of next week (26th May). With regards to 'procedural safeguards' perhaps you could discuss this further with Detective Superintendent Richardson.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Charles,

Thank you for your email of today's date, the contents of which are noted. Please accept the pre-interview disclosure that I sent to Mr Baglietto on Sunday and marked 'draft' as the final version as the term 'draft' was not removed in error.

The Commissioner of Police had indicated that a response would be required by Tuesday 26th May 2020 as this will be a two full weeks after the RGP attended the offices of Hassans with a search warrant, which as you are aware was not in fact executed, as at that stage Mr Levy elected to provide the information that we sought voluntarily. When I left Hassans' premises on that day the Hassans IT expert was liaising with the RGP expert and we expected to have the relevant emails handed over in a matter of days. The reason for the need to deal with this issue expeditiously is because it has a significant impact on the conduct of this investigation with regards to other persons who remain on police bail. I have no issue with Mr Levy accessing his own material for the purpose of refreshing his memory and providing a copy of whatever he feels appropriate. I understand that Mr Levy does not use the computer in his office or use a computer in his home and so I presume that he would ask somebody to retrieve what he requires for him. If that is the case then that person should keep a record of what he he/she has been asked to retrieve and his/her actions.

Monday 25th May is a public holiday so I would ask that that you provide us on update on the status of Mr Levy's account by Friday 15th May 2020. We would then be in position to know how much longer is required and understand the reasons why. At that stage we may be in a position to allow a slightly longer period of time to complete the task.

Kind regards

Dear D/Supt Richardson,

I am assisting Mr Baglietto in this matter. The Commissioner has indicated to us that Mr Levy's statement is required by Tuesday 26 May. We must flag at this stage that although Mr Levy has begun the exercise, it will be impossible for him to review all the relevant correspondence (subject to the below) and draft a meaningful statement covering the many areas set out in the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document by that deadline. As you know, drafting a meaningful statement takes time and more so in a case such as this and covering events that transpired a considerable time ago. That said, as mentioned, Mr Levy has started to prepare his statement and will endeavour to have his statement completed as soon as possible. I therefore suggest that we provide you with an update on the status of the statement on Monday 25 May.

We note that the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document provided to us suggests that Mr Levy go through his correspondence in order to assist in the preparation of his statement. I will be grateful if you confirmed that you have no objection to Mr Levy refreshing his memory by reference to those materials as we do not wish his steps in this regard to be called into question at a later stage.

Please feel free to contact me directly on 54017157 should it assist in the liaison in this matter.

Dear Commissioner

Schedule 1 paragraph 12 Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 search warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at [redacted] and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building and proposed interview of James Levy QC

I refer to your letter dated 14th May, enclosing copies of the above search warrants and a copy of a notice regarding voluntary attendance for police interview, and to your email of 18th May 2020.

The points you refer to in your letter concerning the legality and propriety of the warrants as well as the manner in which Mr Levy was obliged to allow RGP access to his home address and to the seizure of the material are addressed in my letter to the Attorney General of 15th May 2020 which was copied to you. I, therefore, do not propose to repeat our response to those points here.

I note that you do not agree to provide us with the documents that we have requested from you relating to the RGP's application for the search warrants on the grounds that doing so may potentially prejudice the investigation "as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed". I have also been informed by the Clerk of the Magistrates' Court that the RGP has lodged an objection with the court against our application to the court under Crim PR 5.7 for the application for the warrants and other related material to be provided to us from the court record.

I would, however, urge you to re-consider your position, and the objection that you have lodged with the court. Mr Levy QC is entitled, as the person challenging the warrants, to disclosure of the information laid in support of the application for the warrants, and to know on what basis the application was made, including any further information or evidence given to the court: R (Energy Financing Team Ltd) v Bow Street Magistrates' Court; R(Gittins) v Central Criminal Court.

The only basis upon which disclosure may nevertheless be refused by the court under Crim PR 5.7(6) to (9) is if the relevant material is protected by public interest immunity because disclosure would cause substantial harm or serious prejudice to the public interest: R v Chief Constable ex parte Wiley; R (Haralambous) v Crown Court at St Albans; R(Terra Services Ltd) v NCA. The reason provided for refusing to provide the material, namely that the investigation would be 'prejudiced….as Mr Levy has yet to be interviewed' would fall far short of the necessary PII threshold to justify non-disclosure.

I also note from your letter that the DPP's advice was not sought on the application for search warrants. This is contrary to what Mr Levy was led to believe by Detective Superintendent Richardson, and contrary to what we understand was the position. We would be grateful for details of the extent to which the DPP was informed of the prospective warrant applications (on account, of course, of LPP, we do not seek details of any advice that he may have given).

I note your assurances that the RGP has not so far downloaded or copied any of the material taken from Mr Levy, and would not do so for 7 days from the date of your letter pending a legal challenge. I also understand from the Attorney General that you have given a further undertaking to the effect that that material would not be accessed until after the conclusion of the process under which Mr Levy is to provide a written statement. We are grateful to you for these assurances. We would ask, however, that you give a further assurance that the RGP thereafter refrains from examining the seized material without giving 21 days' notice, so that we may, if appropriate, seek legal relief in advance of the RGP gaining access. Such a further elapse of time would also allow a disclosure application, to which reference is made above, to be determined. We are plainly unable to reach a final view on the full extent of a challenge to the warrants without this information. The seized material cannot be examined until the court has ruled on the propriety and validity of your objection to disclosure, and we are given a reasonable period thereafter to consider our position in light of all or any of the information that is ordered to be disclosed.

Finally, we acknowledge, and are grateful for, your confirmation that Mr Levy is to provide a written statement. However, I note that your letter states that, following the provision of a written statement, the RGP will reconsider whether it would 'require further written particulars or the need to interview Mr Levy' (under caution). I am concerned about this. As you know, an interview under caution may only take place where there are grounds to suspect the interviewed person of the commission of an offence. Mr Levy, I presume, is not now so suspected (otherwise he would not have been offered the opportunity of instead providing a written statement), but were he to become so, and to be interviewed under caution, he would then have lost, in relation to the pre-existing statement, the procedural protections that the law allows for suspected persons, and the statement would be potentially admissible against him. I would be grateful if you would confirm that he will not be interviewed under caution at a later stage.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Lewis Baglietto

Dear Mr Baglietto,

Re - Mr James Levy QC

Thank you for your letter dated 20th May 2020, the contents of which are noted. Given some of the matters of law raised in your letter I have sought advice from the DPP.

I do not propose to repeat the RGP's position regarding the legality of the search warrant, suffice to say that our position remains that the warrant was properly and lawfully obtained.

You are correct to say that the RGP has objected to the disclosure of the documents used in support of the application of the warrant and that continues to be the RGP's fundamental position regarding full provision of all material. Notwithstanding this, I have instructed my officers to consider, if possible, making available a redacted version of those documents which may satisfy you regarding the basis upon which the application was made. Additionally, you have had made available to you substantial information in the pre-interview disclosure information. I hope that this combined will make the application to the Magistrate unnecessary. However, I must reiterate that any application for full disclosure of the documents will be resisted on the basis previously set out. Our view is that our objection is encapsulated within the Criminal Procedure Rules provisions identified by you in your letter.

As already explained, the DPP's advice was not sought in relation to whether a warrant should be applied for or how it would be executed. Such matters are operational in nature. The DPP's advice was however sought at various times in relation to status of all persons subject to the investigation. In this regard we remain convinced that the RGP's actions were lawful.

I note your request for further assurances from me regarding the examination etc of the material voluntarily provided by your client. In this regard, I can assure you that the material will not be examined without my giving you 7 days notice in advance of our intention to do so. This will give you ample opportunity to take whatever action you may deem necessary in the event that you are put on notice given that already 8 days since the items were handed over voluntarily.

Whilst on the matter of the material provided, I note that you have failed to respond to the point raised in earlier correspondence, namely that the material was provided voluntarily by your client and the warrant was not executed. On that basis I would be grateful if you would clarify the relevance of the challenge of the warrant. You will appreciate that this is an important issue for a number of reasons and clarity is required. Any suggestion that Mr Levy was coerced in to acting against his will and under threat of the execution of a warrant is strongly denied and will be apparent from any viewing of the Body Worn Video footage that was taken at the time.

Finally, for the avoidance of doubt, your client continues to be a suspect in this investigation. Your client has been given an opportunity to provide a prepared statement which may assist in the RGP's enquiries and clarify any involvement he may have had in the matter under investigation. Needless to say, the RGP must reserve the right to interview Mr Levy under caution at any time and it is a matter for you to advise your client on the effect of any statements he may or may not provide to the RGP. I must repeat that notwithstanding the above the RGP have an open mind and will review our position as and when evidence becomes available to us.

Yours sincerely

Dear Sirs

RE: Search Warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at [redacted] and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building.

We refer to your letter dated 15th May 2020 regarding the above captioned matter sent in response to a letter dated 13th May 2020 from Lewis Baglietto of Hassans.

We also refer to Det Supt Richardson's e-mail of 15th May 2020 setting out the basis of the objection to an application seeking disclosure of the following documents (as contained in your letter dated 13th May 2020):

1. The Search Warrant;
2. The application for the search Warrant;
3. Any written evidence filed in support of the application;
4. Any notes taken by the RGP of the hearing;
5. Any Order or Ruling made by the Stipendiary Magistrate;
6. Any instructions or briefing note issued by the RGP to the officers attending Mr Levy's home and offices; and
7. The substance of the advice given to the RGP in relation to the merits of seeking the warrant.

(together "The Documents")

We hereby give formal notice pursuant to Rule 5.7 Crim PR of our objection to the application and attach a notice of objection.

Please note that the objection is only in relation to item 3 above and to the extent particularised in the attached notice of objection. For the avoidance of doubt, items 4, 6 and 7 do not and have not ever existed.

NOTICE OF OBJECTION

PURSUANT TO RULE 5.7 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE RULES

In the matter of the search warrants granted on 7 May 2020 in respect of premises at [redacted] and Hassans International Law Firm Madison Building.

Further to the written application contained in a letter from Hassans dated 13th May 2020.

The matters required to be set out pursuant to 5.7(7) are as follows:

(a) The objection relates to parts only of the information requested. A redacted version of the material will be made available to both the Court and the Applicant together with, where possible, a summary of the redacted paragraphs to allow the applicant to understand the material properly without undermining the basis of the objection.

(b) The objection to the provision of parts of the information applies until such time as the RGP have concluded any enquiries into the involvement of Mr James Levy QC and, in particular, carried out any interviews it may require to conduct as a result.

(c) The objection to disclosure item 3 of The Documents is made on public interest immunity grounds, namely that it is not in the public interest to disclose the information as disclosure would seriously prejudice the investigation at this time and hence would cause harm to the public interest. Further details are contained in the e-mail of Det Supt Richardson's to 15th May 2020 setting out the basis of the objection to an application seeking disclosure of The Documents.

Dear Paul,

As envisaged Mr Levy's statement is not finalised. Mr Levy has been working on the document and has produced a draft which addresses the questions posed in the pre-interview disclosure document you provided, however, it still requires substantial work and review.

We estimate that an additional week will be required to complete the task. Given that this is a bank holiday weekend and that Mr Levy is unable to work on Saturdays or next Friday (which is a Jewish feast day) we are looking at Tuesday 2 June as the likely target date. Mr Levy will in any case continue working on the document and we propose to provide a further update on Wednesday 27 May. It may well be that the document is at a very advanced stage by then, if not complete.

Dear Charles,

Thank you for your email of today's date, the contents of which are noted. Please accept the pre-interview disclosure that I sent to Mr Baglietto on Sunday and marked 'draft' as the final version as the term 'draft' was not removed in error.

The Commissioner of Police had indicated that a response would be required by Tuesday 26th May 2020 as this will be a two full weeks after the RGP attended the offices of Hassans with a search warrant, which as you are aware was not in fact executed, as at that stage Mr Levy elected to provide the information that we sought voluntarily. When I left Hassans' premises on that day the Hassans IT expert was liaising with the RGP expert and we expected to have the relevant emails handed over in a matter of days. The reason for the need to deal with this issue expeditiously is because it has a significant impact on the conduct of this investigation with regards to other persons who remain on police bail. I have no issue with Mr Levy accessing his own material for the purpose of refreshing his memory and providing a copy of whatever he feels appropriate. I understand that Mr Levy does not use the computer in his office or use a computer in his home and so I presume that he would ask somebody to retrieve what he requires for him. If that is the case then that person should keep a record of what he he/she has been asked to retrieve and his/her actions.

Monday 25th May is a public holiday so I would ask that that you provide us on update on the status of Mr Levy's account by Friday 15th May 2020. We would then be in position to know how much longer is required and understand the reasons why. At that stage we may be in a position to allow a slightly longer period of time to complete the task.

Kind regards

Paul

Dear D/Supt Richardson,

I am assisting Mr Baglietto in this matter. The Commissioner has indicated to us that Mr Levy's statement is required by Tuesday 26 May. We must flag at this stage that although Mr Levy has begun the exercise, it will be impossible for him to review all the relevant correspondence (subject to the below) and draft a meaningful statement covering the many areas set out in the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document by that deadline. As you know, drafting a meaningful statement takes time and more so in a case such as this and covering events that transpired a considerable time ago. That said, as mentioned, Mr Levy has started to prepare his statement and will endeavour to have his statement completed as soon as possible. I therefore suggest that we provide you with an update on the status of the statement on Monday 25 May.

We note that the draft Pre-Interview Disclosure document provided to us suggests that Mr Levy go through his correspondence in order to assist in the preparation of his statement. I will be grateful if you confirmed that you have no objection to Mr Levy refreshing his memory by reference to those materials as we do not wish his steps in this regard to be called into question at a later stage.

Please feel free to contact me directly on 54017157 should it assist in the liaison in this matter.

Dear Sir

Re: Application for the supply of information and documents from records and/or case material pursuant to Crim PR 5.7

We refer to our letter of 13 May 2020 ("the Application") requesting the provision of information and documents from the Magistrates' Court records relating to two search warrants issued on " May 2020 concerning Mr James Levy QC ("the Warrants").

We also refer to the DPP's letter of 22 May 2020 and the attached Notice of Objection, signed by the DPP but "[f]or and on behalf of Her Majesty's Attorney General For Gibraltar". There are a number of points to be made about the purported Notice of Objection.

First, we would respectfully point out that neither the DPP nor the Attorney General would appear to have any standing to object to the provision of the information requested in the Application. CrimPR 5.7(6)(b) clearly states that the objection is to be filed by "the person who applied for the order or warrant", i.e. the RGP. If in fact the Notice of Objection is filed for and on behalf of the RGP it should be stated on the document, and we reserve our client's rights in this regard.

Second, we would also note in this regard that where, as here, it is the police who are seeking to withhold information on public interest grounds, the PII claim must be supported by evidence, in this case, from the Commissioner of Police, or a very senior officer personally authorised by him: R(Golfrate Property Management Ltd) v Southwark Crown Court [2014] 2 CR App R 12 at [17]. The Notice of Objection neither contains nor refers to such evidence and is therefore inadequate.

Hassans
International Law Firm

Third, we note from your letter of 15 May 2020 that you received from the RGP an objection to the Application. We also note from the DPP's letter that on 15 May 2020 Det Supt Richardson emailed you setting out the basis of the RGP objection. We assume that that email is the objection you refer to in your letter. We were not copied into that objection and request that we be provided with a copy, not least because, according to the Notice of Objection, it sets out the basis of the objection to our disclosure application.

We have recently received from the DPP a copy of the information supplied in support of the application for the Warrants, in redacted form. Once this has been fully considered, we intend to file detailed representations in order to assist the court in determining the Application. We would observe straightaway, however, that, given that the majority of the information in support for the application for the Warrants has in fact now been disclosed, it is difficult to understand why, or on what basis, the RGP initially maintained that none of the information could be disclosed.

Given the nature of the objection raised in the DPP's Notice of Objection, and assuming that these are the RGP's, it is our respectful view that the Application ought to be dealt with at a hearing, which, pursuant to CrimPR 5."(6)(c), should be held in private. In this regard, the parties would be assisted by directions providing for the submission of written representations by the parties, and for the fixing of a date convenient to them and to the court.

Finally, we note that the Notice of Objection only objects to the provision of "Item 3", namely "Any written evidence filed in support of the applications for the Warrants". No objection is raised in respect of the other information/documents requested in the Application. We would therefore be grateful if the remainder of the items/documents requested in the Application which exist, and which are in your possession, could be provided to us at your earliest convenience.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sirs

RE: Application for the supply of information and documents from records and/ or case material pursuant to Crim PR 5.7.

We write further to your letter of the 28 May 2020 addressed to the Clerk of the Magistrates Court.

Before responding to the matters raised in your letter, we are concerned by your firm's insistence on conducting litigation by way of correspondence to the Court. This is neither appropriate nor necessary, particularly where the procedure governing your client's application is clearly contained within the Crim PR and there is likely to be a case management directions hearing in due course. We consider the matters raised in your letter should be reserved for oral or written submissions to the Court.

Dealing now with the matters raised in your letter, we adopt your numbering and comment as follows:

1. As you are aware the Office of Criminal Prosecutions and litigation regularly provides prosecutorial related legal advice to all law enforcement agencies including the RGP as well as other public authorities and Government Departments. In the circumstances, it should come as no surprise that the RGP has instructed this office in relation to this matter. For the avoidance of any doubt, the notice of objection filed on the 22nd May 2020 (the "Notice of Objection") was filed on behalf of the RGP and signed by the Director of Public Prosecutions for and on behalf of the Attorney-General whom instructs the DPP pursuant to section 59(3) of the Gibraltar Constitution Order 2006.

2. We respectfully disagree with your assertion that the Notice of Objection is inadequate. Rule 5.7 plainly states that the objector must give notice of the objection not more than 14 days after service of the request and that it must set out its grounds of objection [see Rules 5.7 (6) (b); and 5.7 (7)]. The RGP have complied with this requirement and there is nothing in this Rule or otherwise that requires the filing of evidence by the RGP at this stage. Following the receipt of the Notice, the Court may determine the application with or without a hearing [see Rule 6.7 (6) (c)].

We anticipate the Court will want to hear arguments for and against the grant of your client's application and is likely to direct that evidence be filed and/or that representations be made by the parties in due course.

3. Please find enclosed a copy of Det Supt Richardson's email to the Clerk to which you refer in which he sets out the basis of the RGP's objection.

You should be pleased to note that we are in the process of finalising a further version of the RGP's application for the search warrant which slightly scales back the extent of the redactions made to the document which was provided to you on the 27th May 2020.

Yours faithfully

Subject: FW: Letter to Magistrates - 15-05-20

Good morning Mr Rocca,

Please refer to the attached letter addressed to the Magistrates' Court by Lewis Baglietto QC on behalf of James Levy QC.

Having considered the matter within the very limited time available the reasons that we wish to object to this application are as follows:

1. Any release of the information to Mr Levy before he is formally interviewed would seriously prejudice this criminal investigation and any other on which the police rely on the obtaining of a search warrant prior to an interview. This is scheduled for 1000hrs on Monday 18th May 2020. The Commissioner of Police has undertaken to Mr Baglietto in writing that he will not to break the seals on the exhibit bags containing those devices for a period of 7 days. This is in order to allow Mr Baglietto to challenge the decision made to examine the devices in question. It appears clear to me that the real intention in accessing the material laid before the Magistrate is to place Mr Levy at an unfair advantage in advance of his interview. In my view the arms of the prosecution and defence are already out of balance in Gibraltar as there is no right for a court to draw an inference in certain circumstances, this is not the case in the United Kingdom who chose to amend their law precisely to address this imbalance. To allow the defence access to material that clearly articulates the full basis on which a suspicion on of criminal activity is based before the police have an opportunity to put those facts to a suspect in a formal interview would in my view make a mockery of the legal system and thereby contrary to the interests of justice.

2) Any release of the said information may, in addition, further prejudice this criminal investigation given that a number of other suspects continue on police bail. It is the intention of the investigating team to interview these suspects at length in the near future. A release of the information used to obtain the search warrant would therefore be out of the control of the RGP. We are already aware that there has been communication between Mr Levy and Mr Fischel as Mr Levy said so whilst we were at his office earlier this week. The information used as the basis of the application was detailed and referred to exhibits on which the RGP will seek to rely in any future proceedings.

3) In any event, it is argued that the devices obtained from Mr Levy were not obtained under the powers conferred by the said search warrant. The devices were voluntarily handed over by Mr Levy without the need to execute the warrant. Any argument as to the lawfulness of the warrant is, in my view, irrelevant in the circumstances. Given that they were handed over, any decision regarding the lawfulness of the application is incapable of having any impact upon this matter.

Kind regards

Paul

Information supplied in support of application for search warrant: Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011, Schedule 1 – First set of access conditions

(Criminal Procedure Rules, rr.47.26 & 47.30; s.13 & paragraphs 2 & 12 of Schedule 1, Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011)

At Magistrates' Court on Thursday 7th May 2020.

Your Worship,

1. I am DS 130 Paul CLARKE of the Royal Gibraltar Police.
2. I am investigating offence of
    a. Conspiracy to Defraud contrary to Common Law.
3. My application has been approved by Detective Inspector Craig GOLDWIN

4. The overarching matter of this case is the compromise of the National Security of Gibraltar. This is due to actions performed by the subjects in relation to Computer Misuse by intentionally causing the NSCIS Platform to malfunction and agreements to commit fraud to achieve their objective.

5. This application applies to premises owned or controlled by Haim Levy namely his home address and the Offices of Hassans International Law Firm.

6. The information below has been obtained via various different sources of information and intelligence available to the Royal Gibraltar Police, and the circumstances of this case are as follows:

THE SUBJECTS

7. Haim LEVY CBE QC is a senior partner of law firm Hassans.
8. Caine SANCHEZ is a Senior Civil Servant employed by Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar. He is the Principal Secretary to the Deputy Chief Minister of Gibraltar. Sanchez is the Government of Gibraltar's lead for the NSCIS platform.

9. John PEREZ MBE held the position of Chief Executive Officer of Bland Ltd between the 1st February 2010 and 10th September 2018. He was responsible for running Bland Group's interests in the Western Mediterranean and oversaw the senior management team who reported directly to him.

10. Thomas 'Tommy' CORNELIO held the position of Head of Software Development with Bland Ltd between 19th November 2012 and 10th August 2018. Between 11th – 31st August 2018, he remained with Bland working under a consultancy agreement. Thomas Cornelio was the architect of the NSCIS Platform.

11. Edward ASQUEZ MBE held the position of Operations Director with Bland Ltd between 24th June 2010 and 30th September 2018. He was employed by John Perez as they served together in the Gibraltar Regiment. He was tasked with a number of projects and was the ISO for Bland.

12. [redacted]

THE COMPLAINANT

13. James GAGGERO is the Chairman of the Bland Group of Companies. He has held this position since 1997. Between 1987 – 1997, he was managing Director of the Bland Group of Companies. Bland has been in the Gaggero family for over 200 years.

14. HMGoG have laid a claim on the ownership of the NSCIS Platform. The ownership of the Platform is in dispute.

THE COMPANIES

15. Bland Limited ("Bland") is part of the Bland Group of companies which is registered in Gibraltar. Bland Limited trades under a number of entities including Bland Travel (a travel and transport business), Bland DMC (a travel business), The Calpe Lounge (an airport VIP lounges business), Avis (a car hire business), Operational Support Group ("OSG"), Wavetecx (a computer development business) and Gibair (an airport ground handling business).

16. 36 North Limited ("36 North") is a Gibraltar registered company incorporated on the 23rd April 2018. The company carries on business as a computer software and security systems developer. PEREZ and ICode Limited, together with Astelon Limited, are beneficial owners in the company (each having a 33% shareholding). Following their resignations from Bland Ltd, Cornelio and Perez went on to work on a full time basis at 36 North.

17. ICode Limited ("ICode") is a Gibraltar registered company beneficially owned by Cornelio and incorporated on the 16th May 2018 for the purpose of holding shares in 36 North.

18. Astelon Limited ("Astelon") is a Gibraltar registered company beneficially owned by Hassans International Law Firm and incorporated on the 29th March 2018 for the purpose of holding shares in 36 North. The company has a 33% shareholding in 36 North.

19. Hassans International Law Firm is a Gibraltar based international law firm. Haim Levy is a senior partner of Hassans.

THE NSCIS PLATFORM

20. The National Security Central Intelligence System ("the NSCIS platform") is a modular, centralised IT software system developed [redacted]

21. Thomas Cornelio, during the course of his employment with Bland, developed this system. The NSCIS Platform was first launched in December 2014 under the Frontier Management Project (FMP) and was subsequently developed over a number of years.

22. [redacted]. It is a key tool for law enforcement agencies in the protection of the National Security of Gibraltar.

23. Bland Limited state they own the NSCIS platform, the source code, object code and all database structures which form the platform. However this is contested by HMGoG.

24. The NSCIS platform is provided to HMGoG on the basis of an ongoing software license, for which HMGoG pay Bland a license fee. In addition, Bland provides continuing support and maintenance for the platform.

THIRD PARTY ACCOUNTS

25. Being the developer, Cornelio had an intimate knowledge of the NSCIS platform. [redacted]

d [redacted]

THE NSCIS PLATFORM AND WAVETECX

26. The contract for the NSCIS platform commenced under the Bland security company Operational Support Group ("OSG"). Bland later set up a separate company to develop, brand, market and commercially exploit the NSCIS platform abroad ("Wavetecx").

27. Wavetecx was set up around January 2017 and headed by Perez as CEO. He was assisted by Cornelio.

28. Cornelio managed Wavetecx on a day-to-day basis in his capacity as the Head of Software Development. Two Software Developers worked for Wavetecx – Joseph (Joey) Benrimoj and Marius Zalkaukas.

36 NORTH LIMITED

29. 36 North Limited is a private company limited by shares, with a registered office at 57/63 Line Wall Road, Gibraltar.

30. 36 North was incorporated on the 23rd April 2018. Whilst still employees of Bland, Perez and Cornelio were appointed directors of the company.

31. On the 22nd June 2018, Perez, ICode (beneficially owned by Cornelio) and Astelon Limited (beneficially owned by Hassans) each acquired a 33% shareholding in 36 North. Levy, having a 32% shareholding in Hassans, was therefore a 10% beneficial owner of 36 North [with the other partners each having a smaller share according to their respective interests in Hassans]. Perez and Cornelio were still employees of Bland.

32. There continued to be changes to the company formation during the proceeding months. However, the ultimate beneficial owners of 36 North remained as Perez, Cornelio and Hassans Law Firm [with Levy owning 10% beneficial share in the company owing to his 32% share in Hassans].

ALLEGATION

33. In October 2018, James GAGGERO engaged the assistance of Pricewaterhouse Cooper (PwC) and Red Maple (formerly Infosec Consulting) to regain control of the NSCIS Platform. Following the departure of Tommy Cornelio and John Perez, the platform malfunctioned. Gaggero reported this to the Commissioner of Police as he believed Tommy Cornelio and John Perez were responsible for this.

SEARCH WARRANTS AND ARRESTS

34. On 10th May 2019, the RGP executed search warrants at the home addresses of Cornelio, Perez, Asquez, and the offices of 36 North. A large number of electronic and documentary exhibits were seized.

35. Cornelio, Perez and Asquez were arrested during these search warrants.

36. On 14th May 2019, the RGP executed search warrants at the home address and office of Sanchez. A number of electronic and documentary exhibits were seized.

37. Sanchez was arrested the same day at Gibraltar Airport as he had been in London.

38. On 24th July 2019, the RGP executed search warrants at the home address and office of [redacted]. A number of electronic and documentary exhibits were seized.

39. [redacted] was not arrested at this time however he voluntary attended New Mole House Police Station.

40. Haim Levy has not yet been subject to Police Intervention.

BACKGROUND

41. Haim Levy is extremely influential in Gibraltar with very close connections to the Chief Minister and other HMGoG ministers. He is a senior partner of Hassans and has significant financial capabilities available to him.

CONSPIRACY TO DISHONESTLY OBTAIN THE NSCIS PLATFORM MAINTENANCE AGREEMENT

42. During the course of their employment with Bland, Perez and Cornelio, together with Levy, conspired to defraud Bland by dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for their own benefit, via their company 36 North Limited.

43. They were assisted in attempting to obtain the NSCIS platform contract by Sanchez and to a lesser degree, Chipol both of whom are Senior Government officials.

44. The evidence in support of this offence can be divided into the following:

    a. Planning / Preparation to Obtain the NSCIS Platform (agreement / dishonesty);
    b. Appropriation of business commenced by Bland (dishonesty);
    c. Pressure and Government Officials / Undermining Bland (dishonesty);

d. Computer Misuse Offences / Knowledge of Computer Misuse Offences (dishonesty); and
e. NSCIS Report for Caine Sanchez (dishonesty).

Planning / Preparation to Obtain the NSCIS Platform Maintenance Contract

45. [Para 45 – 47 deal with communications between Levy and Sanchez concerning Wavetecx, John Perez, James Gaggero and the National Security Platform and a deal to remove the company from Blands].

48. During the course of 2018 Cornelio, Perez and Levy planned to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract. This contract was the property of Bland and worth over £60,000 a month.

49. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, [redacted]. This [redacted] evidenced the intent of the suspects to obtain the contract for the benefit of their company, 36 North.

50. Between 23rd April 2018 and 22nd June 2018, the company 36 North Limited was incorporated, with Cornelio, Perez and Hassans each being 33% beneficial owners. It is believed the company was incorporated with the intent that it would obtain the benefit of the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

51. In an email exchange dated [redacted] and whilst still employed by Bland, Perez sent an email [redacted] The document showed a forecasted revenue in favour of 36 North which included the NSCIS platform (Global invoice) for £62,519 per month.

52. This evidence is consistent with an agreement between the suspects to appropriate the NSICS platform maintenance contract, the property of Bland.

53. In addition to preparing to take the NSCIS platform maintenance contract, Cornelio and Perez dishonestly planned to hinder the ability of Bland to carry out their contractual obligations.

54. As part of this preparation, the suspects engineered a situation whereby they, together with a number of software engineers, would resign from the company at the same time.

55. Without prior notification, on the 10th July 2018, Perez and Cornelio handed in their resignations from Bland. In accordance with their respective contracts, the resignation of Perez was to take effect on the 9th September 2018 and the resignation of Cornelio was to take effect from the 10th August 2018.

56. On the [redacted] both software engineers sent a text to Cornelio in which they presented draft resignations. On the [redacted] Cornelio wrote to the engineers, [redacted]

57. On the [redacted] Cornelio wrote [redacted]

58. On [redacted] the software developers resigned from their employment with Bland to join 36 North. The resulting loss of staff undermined the ability of Bland to fulfil their NSCIS contractual obligations following the departure of Perez and Cornelio from the company.

59. On the [redacted] Cornelio wrote to one of the developers regarding Gaggero attempting to retain Bland projects saying, [redacted] He wrote on [redacted]

60. These actions were consistent with an agreement to undermine Bland, by diminishing their IT capabilities [and thereby their ability to maintain the platform] and appropriate the NSCIS platform maintenance contract.

61. On the [redacted] Perez wrote to Levy, "Preparing for our departure [redacted] Everything else is now almost in place. John."

62. On the 30th August, and immediately prior to Cornelio terminating his consultancy, Levy wrote to Perez, "John I just rang you to tell you everything is under control. I've been working with Tommy on the relevant letters. I am very confident that we will bring this to a close in a successful manner very shortly. You can rest assured I will do my best to help you in every way. I have great Respect and admiration for your ability and hard work. Do not worry if there is an attack I will help you to defend and to counter-attack. You're a military man so I'm writing to you in military terms."

Appropriation of Business Commenced by Bland

63. During the course of their employment with Bland Cornelio and Perez were involved in a number of projects. These included:

    a. A proposal for the Carnival Corporation for a "Centralised Vessel Security Management System"; and
    b. A "Ministry of Defence and Public Security Border Management Proposal" for Sao Tome and Principe.

64. In an email sent from Perez to Cornelio, dated the 24th February 2018, (and whilst still employees of Bland) Perez attached a "Letter of Intent". This letter purported that 36 North already had existing international contracts including Carnival Cruises and Sao Tome and Principe. These were in fact contracts that were being negotiated on behalf of Bland.

65. In respect of Sao Tome, the proposal stated, "Contract about to be signed for 7 years. Contract worth 1.6m euros with a forecast 20% increase by year 3. Contract starts in Feb 18." Under the heading "Carnival Cruise Lines" is stated, "Currently negotiating an APIS maritime system with Carnival who dominates 70% of the Cruise liner industry. A pilot platform has already been designed and discussed with Carnival CEO. A visit by Carnival's Head of Security and International representative will be visiting us in Mar 2018. Negotiation ongoing. Contract worth £175k per year."

66. It is clear that Cornelio and Perez intended to dishonestly appropriate the business of Bland commenced by them as employees of Bland and obtain the benefits for 36 North.

67. On the 6th July 2018, Perez discussed one of these projects, namely Carnival Cruises, with Levy, despite not having resigned from Bland. He wrote, "James we have just finished with Carnival after a long day of negotiations. We have been successful and now moving to the pilot phase. Flying back tomorrow."

68. In respect of the Sao Tome and Principe agreement, Cornelio specifically ensured that any signature would take place after he had resigned from Bland when he stated on the 24th July 2018, "We can agree on timeline and agree a date to sign contract. After the 10th August"

69. Both Sao Tome and Principe and the Carnival Security Management System continued to appear on the Agenda for 36 North after both Perez and Cornelio had left Bland.

70. On the 7th September 2018, and in respect of Sao Tome, Perez wrote to Levy, "James this week we will be receiving a contract from São Tomé and Príncipe for review. The commercial elements of the contract have already been agreed in principle. We are also closing in on Equatorial Guinea."

Pressure on HM Government of Gibraltar

71. [Para 71 – 89 relate to communications between Cornelio and Levy and another regarding placing pressure on HMGoG to transfer the NSCIS maintenance contract to 36 North and related issues].

Computer Misuse Offences

90. In furtherance of the agreement to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract Cornelio committed numerous computer misuse offences. These offences were primarily designed to directly or indirectly disrupt the NSICS platform, and thereby bring into question the ability of Bland to maintain the said platform. As a direct consequence of his actions Cornelio compromised the national security of Gibraltar.

91. The Computer Misuse Offences are further detailed below.

NSCIS Report for Sanchez

92. On the 4th October 2018, Peter Canessa wrote to Caine Sanchez on behalf of the Chief Minister. In an email he wrote, "Further to my email below, and following further discussion with the CM, and to avoid any ambiguity, the instructions from the CM are that Bland Ltd is to be provided full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS platform ... Once the handover process is completed Tommy Cornelio nor any 3rd party are to have access to the platform."

93. On the 5th October 2018 Sanchez contacted Cornelio and passed on these instructions.

94. On the 9th October 2018 Cornelio sent an email to Sanchez (with James Gaggero copied in) in which he confirmed that he would no longer access the NSCIS platform as well as writing, "In fact, as you are aware, our provision of support ended on 31 August 2018 and neither iCode Limited nor Thomas Cornelio have ongoing responsibilities to support these platforms."

95. After the 31st August 2018, and subsequent to the instructions from the Chief Minister on the 4th October 2018, Cornelio was not authorised to access the NSCIS platform.

96. (para 96 & 97 refer to Cornelio and Sanchez accessing the NSCIS platform).
97.

98. On the 11th April 2019 Cornelio wrote to Levy, "We are going to have a field day on the national security report..just wait until you see it. For now I am reviewing every single module 1 by 1. [redacted] "

Knowledge of Computer Misuse Offences - Levy

99. [Para 99 & 100 relate to communication between Cornelio, Levy and another about apparent knowledge of the Computer Misuse Offences].

101. The evidence indicates that Levy discussed [redacted]

COMPUTER MISUSE OFFENCES

102. In furtherance of the agreement to obtain the NSCIS platform maintenance contract Cornelio committed numerous computer misuse offences. These offences were primarily designed to directly or indirectly disrupt the NSCIS platform, and thereby bring into question the ability of Bland to maintain the said platform. As a direct consequence of his actions Cornelio compromised the national security of Gibraltar. [redacted]

[redacted]

TERMINATION OF CONSULTANCY PERIOD

207. On the 1st September 2018 Cornelio terminated the consultancy period with Bland. In an email to James Gaggero, dated the 30th August 2018 he wrote, "Please let this email serve as official notice that as of 00:00 on 1st September 2018 I will no longer be supporting the NSCIS platform in any capacity."

208. On the 9th October 2018 Cornelio sent an email to Sanchez (with James Gaggero copied in) in which he wrote, "In fact, as you are aware, our provision of support ended on 31 August 2018 and neither iCode Limited nor Thomas Cornelio have ongoing responsibilities to support these platforms."

209. As of the 1st September 2018 Cornelio was no longer authorised by Bland to access the NSCIS platform.

210. However, Microsoft [redacted] revealed that Cornelio had logged on [redacted]

[redacted]

211. [Para 211 – 310 relate to 34 computer misuse and related offences committed by Thomas Cornelio].

NSCIS REPORT FOR SANCHEZ

311. On the 4th October 2018, Peter Canessa wrote to Caine Sanchez on behalf of the Chief Minister. In an email he wrote, "Further to my email below, and following further discussion with the CM, and to avoid any ambiguity, the instructions from the CM are that Bland Ltd is to be provided full control of the management, maintenance and support of the NSCIS platform … Once the handover process is completed Tommy Cornelio nor any 3rd party are to have access to the platform."

312. On the 5th October 2018 Sanchez contacted Cornelio and passed on these instructions.

313. On the 9th October 2018 Cornelio sent an email to Sanchez (cc. James Gaggero) in which he confirmed that he would no longer access the NSCIS platform as well as writing, "in fact, as you are aware, our provision of support ended on 31 August 2018 and neither iCode Limited nor Thomas Cornelio have ongoing responsibilities to support these platforms."

314. Post 31st August 2018, Cornelio was not authorised to access the NSCIS platform. This was re-enforced by the instructions from the Chief Minister on the 4th October 2018.

315. [Para 315 – 317 relate to computer misuse offences committed by Cornelio].

318. On the 11th April 2019 Cornelio wrote to Levy, "We are going to have a field day on the national security report..just wait until you see it. For now I am reviewing every single module 1 by 1. [redacted]."

LEVY'S INVOLVEMENT

319. The above paragraphs demonstrate Levy was involved in the plan to remove the NSCIS contract from Bland at an early stage;

a. Messages [redacted] show communication discussing moving the contract away from Bland [redacted]. (Paras 45 to 47)

b. Levy was instrumental in the creation of 36 North. Firstly, by being owning 32% of shares of Astelon Ltd, who in turn own 33% of shares of 36 North. (Paras 31 to 32) On behalf of Hassans, he injected a large sum of money into 36 North.

c. He was using his influence with the Chief Minister to the advantage of 36 North.

d. He was regularly contacting both Cornelio and Perez in relation to 36 North whilst they were still employed by Blands and following their resignations. (Paras 61 to 89).

e. Communications show he was aware of the Computer Misuse Offences committed by Cornelio. (Paras 99 to 100).

320. I now seek to recover –

1. Electronic devices (including but not limited to mobile telephones and computers,) capable of sending and receiving text messages, instant messages and/or electronic mail, owned and/or used by Haim Levy and any device capable of storing any of the aforementioned communications.

2. Any documentation relating to 36 North Limited, Astelon Limited and/or Icode Limited whether held digitally or otherwise.

I submit to your Worship that there are reasonable grounds for believing that:

321. Indictable offences have been committed;

Conspiracy to Defraud contrary to Common Law.

322. There is material that consists of special procedure material or includes special procedure material and does not also include excluded material on premises specified in the application.

Data has been created or acquired in the course of the business of Hassans International Law Firm, of which the subject is a senior partner. As a law firm, this data is held under an express or implied duty of confidence the company owes to their clients.

The material sought does not include any Excluded Material (i.e. it's not medical records or journalistic material or material held under secrecy imposed by a specific enactment such as the Official Secrets Act).

E.g. the material sought consists of communications between the subjects of this application. This would not be classified as legally privileged material. This material does not however consist of anything which could be regarded as Excluded material - i.e. medical records, records relating to counselling or welfare assistance, or journalistic material. The material sought is not, and does not contain any Legal Privilege Material however it is understood legally privileged material may be present on digital devices which will be seized. All digital devices will be reviewed by an appointed independent legal representative prior to the OIC being given access to any material.

The material sought does not contain any Legal Privilege material.

323. The material is likely to be of substantial value to the investigation and is likely to be relevant evidence.

a. The material will assist to prove or disprove the subject's involvement in the offences stated. The material sought will show to what level the subject was involved with 36 North.

b. This information is relevant because it will identify to the OIC if the suspected offence has been committed by the subject.

I also ask your Worship to consider the following points;

324. Other methods of obtaining the material have not been tried because it appeared they were bound to fail.

The material sought is held by a subject in this case and it is feared if notice was given to the subject to provide this material to the OIC, the subject would destroy, alter, deface or conceal the material sought.

325. It is in the public interest that access to the material sought should be given, having regard to the benefit likely to accrue to the investigation if the material is obtained and to the circumstances under which the person in possession of the material holds it.

a. The offence is of a serious nature and the material sought is likely to be valuable evidence that cannot be obtained from any other source.

b. If access to the material sought is obtained under the power of the warrant I apply for, any professional or ethical duties of confidentiality which may exist between the subject and Hassans and those persons or business to whom the material refers will be preserved.

326. Service of notice of an application for a Production Order or der under Para 4 Schedule 1 CPE Act may seriously prejudice the investigation.

A key subject in this case is the person I would serve a Production Order for the material sought. In the circumstances it is highly likely that they would destroy, alter, deface or conceal the material sought because it is evidence sought by the OIC which may prove their involvement in the offence.

327. For these reasons I ask your Worship to grant the search warrant(s) I apply for.

Dear Lewis,

Further to our brief telecon last week, does Tuesday or Wednesday at 2.00pm work for you? You could attend at the OCPL offices and I can show you the redacted portions as discussed and on the understanding that the information is not shared with any other person unless the court orders that those parts be provided to you.

Best regards,

Christian

Dear Charles,

I write further to our telephone conversation of the 1st June 2020 and your email yesterday.

To date we have provided Mr Levy with:

1. A written outline of the allegation made against him on the 12.5.20. This was in advance of a request to attend a voluntary police interview under caution on 18.5.20.
2. On the 16.5.20 (and at Lewis Baglietto's request) a comprehensive document detailing the areas that we would seek to put to Mr Levy in the formal police interview including a timeline.
3. On the 22.5.20 a redacted version of the information laid before the Stipendiary Magistrate in order to obtain the search warrants.
4. A further redacted version of the information laid before the Stipendiary Magistrate in order to obtain search warrants with some redactions removed (what remains redacted concerns specific communication involving Mr Levy, computer misuse offences, other persons subject to this investigation and times and dates).
5. In addition, and following consultation with the DPP, we have agreed to allow a viewing of the redacted sections of the information which related to computer misuse offences only on a counsel to counsel basis on the understanding that no copy of this is provided.

Our understanding is that Mr Levy has offered to provide an account explaining his involvement in this matter and for that reason we agreed to postpone the interview until the account was provided. As I have mentioned on many occasions we are keeping an open mind and it may be that once we have considered Mr Levy's account we would be in a position to reconsider his status as a person who at this stage needs to be interviewed under caution in order to comply with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 and Codes of Practice.

To provide more information at this stage would not in our view be appropriate. We have already clearly set out the areas that we would wish to consider in Mr Levy's account.
As with all police investigations we are seeking an untainted account and I would respectfully ask that we have Mr Levy's account without further delay.

Kind regards

Paul

Subject: RE: James Levy QC

Dear Paul

As I mentioned in our call yesterday Mr Levy's statement is at an advanced stage.

With regard to the allegation that Mr Levy had knowledge of the alleged computer misuse offences, I note, with thanks, your helpful indication that there is no evidence to suggest that Mr Levy was involved in any planning of the alleged sabotage to the NSCIS platform.

As I explained, we have reviewed the information laid before the magistrate in support of the application for the warrants ("the Information") and we cannot see that it discloses any grounds that can give rise to a reasonable suspicion that Mr Levy committed the offence of conspiracy to defraud. The offence of conspiracy to defraud must incorporate some unlawfulness, either in its objects or in it means (see Blackstones A5.64). Using lawful means to obtain a lawful result can never amount to a conspiracy to defraud.

Mr Levy is accused of conspiring with Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio to defraud Bland by "dishonestly appropriating the NSCIS platform maintenance contract for his own benefit, via their company 36 North Limited" (see paragraph 42 of the Information). The allegation against Mr Levy, as set out in the Information, is wholly predicated on discussions with Mr Perez and Mr Cornelio, whilst they were still employed by Bland, regarding the setting up of 36N and competing for the business of the maintenance of the NSCIS platform. This is not unlawful conduct.

Consequently, it is not understood on what basis Mr Levy is considered a suspect. It is essential that the basis on which he is considered a suspect, that is to say, the unlawful conduct that Mr Levy is alleged to have engaged in that would constitute the offence, is properly set out and understood so that it can be addressed directly in the statement. We would therefore be grateful if we were told precisely what unlawful acts on his part are suspected and what evidence or documents are causing the RGP particular concern so that Mr Levy can address these in his statement in order to avail himself of this opportunity to do so.

As ever,

Charles

Dear Mr Baglietto QC,

You will no doubt be aware that the police investigation involving 36 North Ltd has resulted in three persons being charged with conspiracy to defraud Bland Ltd and that they have now appeared before the Supreme Court of Gibraltar.

Following an extensive investigation we have concluded that Mr Levy is no longer considered a suspect in this matter. Given that Mr Levy has already provided a written submission further to questions posed by the investigating team, I should be grateful if you would consider editing Mr Levy's account with a view of it being included in the evidence in the form of a witness statement.

Finally, in the circumstances it is our intention to return the devices that were handed over to police voluntarily on the 12th May 2020. These items (which remain unexamined) may be collected from NMH during normal office hours or alternatively I could arrange for them to be dropped off to you.

Mark

VOLUNTARY ATTENDANCE FOR POLICE INTERVIEW UNDER CAUTION

Pre- Interview Disclosure

1. The following facts/topic areas are provided in order to allow you properly advise your client Haim Levy who has been requested to voluntarily attend New Mole House police station for a police interview at 1000Hrs on Monday 18th May 2020.

2. We are seeking an untainted account from your client and have considered what is appropriate to further disclose at your request prior to the formal police interview.

3. The background of the investigation was outlined in the document provided directly to Mr Levy on Tuesday 12th May 2020.

4. This is a complex and protracted investigation and the additional information provided below may assist you in properly advising your client.

5. BACKGROUND

6. The National Security Central Intelligence System (NSCIS) was developed over a period of time by Blands Ltd on behalf of HMGoG.

7. The evidence suggests that the departure of the following former employees of Bland Ltd was orchestrated and calculated to impede Bland Ltd in their ability to manage the NSCIS platform, those persons are: John Perez (the then CEO), Thomas Cornelio (senior software developer), and the remaining software developers. This occurred at the same time as the said individuals had set up in business together in the expectation of having the management contract of the NSCIS platform transferred to 36 North Ltd.

8. The evidence also suggests that a considerable number of computer misuse offences (in excess of 50) have been committed by Thomas Cornelio in connection with the NSCIS platform and that these offences interfered with the efficiency of the system, diverted sensitive personal data to servers associated with 36 North Ltd without authority and compromised the National Security of Gibraltar.

9. The evidence indicates that the computer misuse offences were committed to impede the efficient operation of Gibraltar's National Security platform to such an extent as to render it unreliable in the eyes of its users. These offences resulted in taking the NSCIS platform offline during which period Gibraltar's National Security was compromised. It is alleged that the purpose of this was to put 36 North Ltd in the best position to take over the lucrative contract.

10. The evidence further suggests that Thomas Cornelio and John Perez approached the heads of law enforcement bodies who used the platform and encouraged them to complain about the failings of the system to Caine Sanchez (a civil servant who was the NSCIS lead within the Gibraltar Civil Service).

11. The evidence suggests that Caine Sanchez has acted improperly by providing confidential and or commercially sensitive information to persons involved in these offences and sought to use his influence for the benefit of 36 North Ltd and against the interests of Bland Ltd.

12. Furthermore the evidence suggests that Haim Levy either in his own right or through corporate structures owned and or controlled by Hassans, entered into a business relationship with 36N and its members, including the provision of business advice and financing. The evidence further suggests that Haim Levy became aware of the fact that Digital Forensic experts were conducting an investigation and that Thomas Cornelio was worried that they may uncover evidence that he had tampered with the system. Furthermore that Haim Levy was requested by other persons subject to this investigation to use his influence with influential persons within the Government for the benefit of 36N. It appears that a business relationship existed with Caine Sanchez – a Civil Servant.

13. I must stress again that the police are keeping an open mind as to Mr Levy's involvement but remind you that at this stage there are reasonable ground to suspect him of involvement in a conspiracy to defraud Bland Ltd. There may of course be explanations that will change this view.

14. We are seeking an account from Mr Levy as to the following:

Hassans

1. His position, role, responsibilities, accountability (to whom?) Scope and limitation in engaging in new business and investing in new business by way of financing their ventures.

36 North Ltd (36N)

2. His involvement with this entity from the beginning and including before its incorporation as a limited liability company.
3. How Hassans became involved in 36
4. The nature of the business of 36N including any business plan if relevant.
5. The financing of 36N by Hassans and what level of return was expected from the investment.
6. What was expected from Haim Levy as an associate of 36N
7. The corporate structure of 36N including its layered ownership.

8. Any KYC due diligence that was undertaken before participating in this business.

Astelon Ltd

9. The formation of this company and its purpose and ownership.

ICODE Ltd (1/3 shareholder in 36 North Ltd)

10. The business relationship with this company
11. Any KYC due diligence conducted in connection with this company

NSCIS platform

12. His understanding as to the ownership of the intellectual property of the platform given that the evidence suggests that it formed part of a 36N business plan. How was he satisfied that 36 North Ltd would be able to acquire the management of it given that Hassans invested in the company.
13. His understanding as to how the platform was to be removed from Blands and transferred to 36N.
14. Any knowledge that he had with regard to the malfunctioning of the platform and when he became aware of this.
15. Any knowledge that he may have with regard to the tampering with and/or sabotage of the NSCIS platform.
16. An explanation of what he did once he became aware of the alleged criminality of John Perez and Thomas Cornelio with regard to the reputational damage that may occur to himself and Hassan by being associated with them and 36 North through ownership of shares in 36N.

Communications and meetings with the following persons with regards to 36N and/or NSCIS
NOTE: Mr Levy retained a copy of the data on his mobile phone before eventually handing it over to police on the 12th May 2020 and has access to his email accounts. For this reason is should be possible for Mr Levy to extract the relevant conversations/emails from his own devices and may choose to provide these to police to support his account.

17. The persons are:
    a. Eddie Asquez (a former employee of Bland Ltd)
    b. John Perez
    c. Thomas Cornelio
    d. Caine Sanchez

18. Whether the relationship was purely business or lawyer client based (all persons)

19. Sanchez-
    a. explanation as to his business relationship with civil servant

b. when did he find out that Sanchez was arrested on suspicion of misconduct in public office and did he consider that Sanchez may have acted unethically and/or unlawfully in his dealings with Haim Levy

20. Any approach by Mr Levy to member of Government or the civil service in connection with 36N and or the NSCIS platform.

To further assist you advising your client a simplified timeline has also been included.

Dear Mark,

Thank you for your email below and for taking my phone call earlier this week.

I am grateful for your confirmation that the RGP, following an extensive investigation, have concluded that Mr Levy is not a suspect in this matter.

In our call you said the next step was for Mr Levy to decide whether he would like to be a prosecution witness. Mr Levy respectfully declines your invitation to be a prosecution witness in this case. I understand from our call that this now brings Mr Levy's involvement with the RGP to an end. Please do let me know if this is not the case or if you wish to discuss anything further.

I can confirm that I was handed My Levy's property by DC Currer.

Time in custody

Have we treated you well?

Jurisdiction does not affect criminality – Personal actions

As comfortable as possible given the circumstances but serious matter – decision to arrest not taken lightly.

Many docs seized & ltd time to peruse.

25.4.A PWC technical error diversion of data.

1 of the diversion to 36N was on based on instruction.

Basically - whatever set of instructions data had to go to 36N regardless of instructions to the contrary.

Q 1st draft hurdles otherwise

↳ How long was data diverted for

Peter picked this us as asserted by PWC issues new report. - will be forwarded to us. "Stay harmless Agreement" has been signed.

JG's statement signed off.

Krishan + Ishwarkan drafted & cross referencing to JG's statement.

Should have All released this pm.

Patrick will call - + Claire direct.

All drafts only discovered about 36N 10 days after leaving.

4.10.19 JG had advised CM that partner involved at Hassans was JL in private.

We concluded that JL must be an honest man.
Our assumption was that he would have been coerced by J.P one day as a business partner.

Led by greed of an opportunity too good to let go.

JP. "common endeavour"
30 N is joint venture.

JP was definitively involved.
was telling everyone that JL was involved, entries for meetings.

Absolutely never mentioned this to me.
Never even hinted it to me

Only mention on JL was how good he was Perez came warts + all

Shadow gene pool
Quirky ways
Took enough to. Smooth
Hardworking - Brittle character.
Manipulative according to staff

57

My view – Toxic people no dealings w. him – never had contact.

Had w/o Prejudice Meetings (x2) in presence of Guy Cressa w. JP where intellectual property had been discussed and he suggested that all that had to be done is re-write some lines of code.

Carie Sanchez – DCM Private Secretary
In on this issue all way thru.
He had demanded to be present during a meeting w. CM
JG will be blunt & open.
CM directed everyone not to repeat anything.
– Meeting covered all w. ~~JP~~ CM & group

JG had raised issues & possibly releasing info. inadvertently to JP.
then became depressed – took days off case of constructive dismissal.
director Mahey deal to let him go.
(Sept (end Aug) left w. £60k gratuity
Then discovered in April 18 he had set up a company to work as JP was doing.

61

JP is the architect of the National Security framework – he knows everything about the risks he chose to cross the line for criminal & fiduciary benefit.

He knew what he was doing.

He knew better – he could have walked away at any time.

Tel call to DPP - Chris Rocca Centrex [redacted]

- Called Re concerns that MW (present at time of call) had Re Robert Fishel's email of the 6.11.19 suggesting he had met w. DPP & some discussion of case had happened which we were unaware of. ("I have mentioned this case ~~to~~ to the DPP, who I understand is more than willing to speak to yourself or Supt. Richardson in connection w. the progress of this matter.
- Confirmed that he had met RF in connection w. other matter & at end RF had asked whether CR new of this case. CR had replied only an overview of it & RF had pushed to see whether his chiefs - Perez, Cornelio, Asquez would be charged or released because he did not want them rebailed.
- CR had said if charged ok but saw not reason why could not be released & then charged at some point in the future but did not get involved in op. matters.
- I mentioned not comfortable w. releasing ~~to~~ 10 or on bail as still waiting for NCA stuff back from UK before deciding charge could be made & presentionally would appear poor for victim. The issue of reasons for bail were mentioned briefly & DPP advises no issue either way - ie bail extension or Release under investigation - it was a matter for us. Adding he was not comfortable w. RF's wording in his email (implying he had been copied in to ~~the~~ the email to us by RF (although this is not apparent from the email ~~header~~ header.

10:00 Team Meeting 8. Nov. 2019
DCI BF - INSP MW DS Paul Clarke.

- Updated on progress reports sub by MW on 14.10.19 my reply of 16/10.

Discussed number of issues not included in report of 14/10 or my reply of 16/10 w. 2nd report of . Expressed frustration at still not clear about extent of outstanding work particularly the digital forensics, with LOR & the output from Prev. interviews. I produced detailed list of summarised points that needed covering & MW offered to address these over the weekend w. DS Clarke assisting on Sunday. Bail or Released under investigation discussed. BF & I share view that Rebail is best option for JP + TC due to seriousness of offence & changes should be preferred in a period of months. Answer issues differs as he has been rebailed once already. Bail Act does not apply to GB but MW refers to UK Best practice nonetheless. [Special warnings + right to draw inference apply in UK but not here so not equal playing field in my view]. important to consider where we are w. regard to interviews - which were not included in MW's reports. For Review Monday Ends 1220. * Roisin needs access to the PC used to encrypt the data on site (in order to add more value to her work which is led to Project Bass Report & not in full.

PWC. PWC cannot supply 'expert' evidence as 'not on service they supply their clients' They can supply st. of fact for between 35-50 lk. (Top end expected). This would mean if supplied we would still need expert evidence to show independence. Discussed whether Jon. Galliano could evidence seizure + imaging of Blands Servers & explore whether Roisin (NCA) could enlarge on her original work to cater for DDOS attack (see *) ↑
MW to explore evidencing the seizure / imaging.
PC to explore further NCA assistance.

Charges over 50 now considered for TC however this would only be relying on John Galliano's (non independent evidence) & DPP (Met last Fri w. MW+PC) seeks reassurance of independent expert evidence.

Q. Evidence of fact / witness? nothing precludes giving evidence in law however NCA policy seems to vary from this.

Q. If not possible to use Roisin as expert then where do do they get their expert from.

→ If factual witness then need to determine which extra work needs doing?
this relates to connection strings to 36N & "time bomb" & Boolean variables.
Mainly relate to Port Severs which is work that Roisin is familiar with.

18.2.20 16⁰⁰ Meeting w. Insp. Wyan to discuss issues surrounding the conduct of Jaime Levy & whether this amounted to criminal conduct or 'sharp / (? unethical) business practice.

The issues – (i.e. the concern relating to conduct) were mapped out and categorised as to evidence of unethical / sharp business practice but which still demonstrates possible motive for committing a crime of conspiracy to defraud / corruption related offence or whether the conduct could be reasonably said to amount to criminal conduct (either of the two offences mentioned above).

The conduct was set out & categorised as described above. One possible offence was i/d – that of JL conspiring w. CS. TC + JO to defraud Blands of the maintenance contract for the NSCIS platform.

A brief summary of the evidence was listed to support the allegation & the suspicion defined after considering the available (thus far) evidence as

What has JL done which may be construed as evidence of Criminal Conduct &/or unethical behaviour +/or Sharp business practice?

1. JL is presumed to have brought the 36N business venture to Hassans as he has been in communication w. JP + EA as far back as Feb 2018 regarding their appropriation of the NSCIS platform. He has a personal interest in the venture as he is the majority shareholder (32%) of Line Holdings Ltd along w. the other partners of Hassans. Other partners w. significant shareholding include FB Recm @ ~~2.73%~~ 2.04% & AM Hafs @ 2.94%. (— the other partners' shareholding ranges from 2.52% → 0.68%. Line Holdings Ltd owns ~~75~~ of Asteion Ltd which has a 3,000 x £1 share capital. The remaining shareholders are JP @ 1,000 (originally Hassans held 500 in trust for JP thru Line Holdings Ltd) & 500 were held on JP's behalf by Icade Ltd Icade Ltd holds the remaining 1,000 shares. Icade is owned by IC in its entirety. As JL owns 32% of Line Holdings Ltd which owns 33% of Asteion - which in turn owns 100% of 36N ∴ JL owns 10.56% of 36N in addition 36N Ltd is directed by Cheam Directors Ltd which are believed to be owned by Hassans. Hassans are believed to have lost 36N £1M & ∴ have motive to ensure the venture works to safeguard their investment, JL has a controlling influence on 36N as shareholder (both in his own right and part of Hassans) + was involved in the set up from the beginning.

SHAREHOLDING

THE OBFUSCATION of ownership + directorship of → 36 North Ltd

3,000 × £1 shares

1/3 → 1000 shares owned by Astelon Ltd → owned by Line Holdings Ltd → owned by Partners of Hassans:
JL = 32%
FB + AM = 2·94%

1/3 → John Perez

1 code Ltd → 100 shares issued all taken by TC.

∴ JL owns 32% of Line Holdings Ltd which owns 100% of Astelon Ltd which holds 33% shares of 36N ∴ JL owns 32% of 33% of 36N or 10·56%.

The directors or 36. are Cheam Directors Ltd.

Shareholders = Line Group Ltd.

Civil Servant CS

dishonesty

(2). JL may have sought to use his personal influence relationship w. the CM to his own/36N's Advantage by applying Criminal? pressure & disclosing things to the CM ~~that ones~~ w. a view of the CM removing the Maintenance contract from Blands and awarding it to 36N. This would have been for the obvious benefit of himself as a shareholder of 10.56% - & for Hassans Partners collectively who own 33% of 36N, [and ~~indirectly~~ indirectly of the CM + FS who each own 2.94% of 36N]. The obfuscations of the ownership + directorship of 36N would seem to be deliberate in hiding who is behind a company that would benefit from public funds (in the event that 36N was successful in taking over the contract).

(3). JL Rec'd business proposals from a serving senior Civil Servant. (unethical / motive).

(4). JL was aware that 36N sought to take business from Blands (Carnival Cruises + STP) which they touted for at Blands expense & whilst employed by them. (unethical / motive)

(5). JL Did not challenge TC's accessing of NSCIS after he was no longer an employee of Blands +/or acting as a consultant (unethical / motive).

(6). JL Did not challenge TC's Report [redacted] NSCIS & appears to have been sent a copy of it. (unethical / motive).

The Evidence Supporting Conduct item 2 is:

S.O.E JL

Serial Notes.

~~10 JL was asked to give the CM 'a wudge' by CS on 10.8.18~~

See Attached Printouts.

We Suspect on reasonable grounds that JL has used his influence w. the CM, Gaia Sandez and possibly AM to persuade the CM to transfer the maintenance of NSCIS contract from Blands to BGN. A company which he owns a personal 10.56% stake interest in as well as being exposed by loan thru Hassans.

We therefore have reasonable grounds to Suspect that JL TC JP + CS ~~corrupted~~ conspired to defraud Blands of the NSCIS Maintenance contract.

There is a fine line between sharp business practice & unethical / criminal conduct. It is necessary to put questions to JL formally in interviews to determine where this conduct lies. ~~This sho~~

File note: At approx 19^15 26.2.20 I was returning from a walk when I met Eddie Asquez leaving my estate w. his dog. I was not certain if it was him even tho. we live in same estate. I asked him if he was E.A & when he replied that he was I introduced myself as a neighbour & SIO of Op. Dehli. I asked whether he had rec'd a request thru RF to give his version of events as we had been led to believe sometime ago that this was likely but that RF was was waiting for him (EA) to respond. EA replied that he had rec'd the request via RF & replied to him soon after stating that he wanted to give a full explanation as he had nothing to hide but RF had advised to wait until we investigated this complaint against JG & that they had sub. a substantial file showing that JG was the real culprit in this matter. I explained that we had responded to those allegations already & EA said he recalled that Insp Wyan had & that RF had written since to again. EA explained that this matter had had an affect on him & that he thinks of it at night when he goes to bed & in the a.m when he wakes up. I explained that I fully understood & that we were keen to exclude him from the enquiry if his explanation for the involvement that we were aware of held up. ATM we had no explanation from him. He explained that he fully understood & but needed to follow the advice of RF. I replied I agreed, RF must advise him in in his client's best interests, him and TC + JP. EA added that he was sure that the police would investigate the matter fully & understood they had a job to do... He had no rights so far.

Nothing related to the evidence was discussed which may be considered an interview. I had mentioned the only significant thing I understood we were seeking an explanation for was the drafting of the letter & JL which he absolutely knew about. I explained we could not discuss this o/s of a formal police interview. Shortly after we shook hands & left on our own separate ways.

At 1952 same date I called DI Myers & briefed him on this encounter.

Video conference call w. DPP chis Bucca & Insp. Mark Wynn.

Duration: 19' 20"

DPP had had long chat w. MZ & pretty much agreed that they were v. comfortable to run w. the case on the basis of the summary of evidence provided.
- No grounds at this stage to pull any prosecution.
- Acc would speak to CPS re public interest.

re: Conspiracy to defraud charges - there is sufficient evidence to lead a jury to a realistic prospect of conviction.

1551

re: J.L —. Reasonable grounds to question.
. would be a lingering doubt otherwise
. Obligation to interview under caution.

re: Computer Misuse Offences - always comfortable w. those offences.

- Need to drill down in the detail re: ownership of the platform to determine which charges should go ahead. — ? need to raise to lesser number (of charges).

- re: Chisti - Celebrity had knowledge that he knew [illegible] of [illegible] information
- discussed timeline as to why he had not been arrested (same as NDM for JL intervention)

? better for chiefs to testify for crown.

JL — Needs looking at — ownership may not be critical but may direct who is charged and on what — Agrees completely.
: let's drill down into this — Public Interest? not pulling — AG infull agreement

Spoke to Chris Rocca — DDD by what App. call Re: MW's position on application of Mag. Court Rules Re: Covid 19.
· Argument does not bite — intention of Rules is to allow Mag. Court to hold first appearance following arrest
· CPS advice Re: Social distancing. — (he had sight of).
· our position is we are in a position to change now if pushed & add further changes later if necessary however this would be messy & no rush needed to make final decision serves no purpose to rush now in Covid 19 state of play — still waiting for JL to be processed & VS ENQ — ? effect on outcomes uncertain.
Our position — Ready to change — Covid came along — Interview of SL needed — VS evidence delayed — Need

Sir,

These are my notes for the 30th April 2020.

30/4/20	Meeting at No 6 with Mr Grech. Lloyd Divencenzi, CoP, PR and MW. Discussion with Chief Sec regarding ownership of the NSCIS platform. Contract sent to him by Robert Fischel as they did not have the document before. Reiterates that HMGoG are asserting ownership. They cannot provide any written evidence of ownership. CoP requests a formal complaint in the form of a witness statement if they wish to be complainants. Chief Sec will begin internal disciplinary proceedings regarding CS if there is a police prosecution. CoP informs the Chief Sec that CS has been involved in corrupt practices. For his consideration of whether CS should be allowed to continue working or be interdicted.

From: (GLO) Zammit, Mark Clive [redacted]
Sent: 07 March 2021 16:28
To: (RGP) Saxby, Daniel (PC205)
Cc: (RGP) Richardson, Paul (OTM); (RGP) Wyan, Mark
Subject: R v Cornelio, Perez & Sanchez

Good afternoon

Following Friday's PCMH the Chief Justice has issued the following directions:

1. The Prosecution to file and serve initial disclosure by 4 June 2021.
2. Any application to dismiss the case by JP / TC to be filed by 25 June 2021.
3. The Defendants to file Skeleton Arguments no less than 21 days before the hearing date.
4. The Crown to file it Skeleton Arguments no less than 7 days before the hearing date.
5. Hearing date to be set down on or after 19 July 2021. Estimated duration of 2 days.
6. The Defendants are bailed to 19 July 2021 at 10am and bail would be extended in their absence if the hearing date is after the 19 July 2021.

The Judge has indicated that, subject to the applications to dismiss, the trial would possibly take place during Oct / Nov.

You will note at No.1 above the 4 June date which I understand CI Wyan will discuss further with you on Monday.

Dear Mr Chairman –
This is the first of 3 emails containing attachments of scanned documents appertaining to allegations made by Police Sergeant [redacted] Sergeant.
All these documents form part of a bundle which I have prepared in hard copy and which will be delivered to the GPA offices first thing on Wednesday 11th September.

For ease of reference, particularly for the digital copies, I have numbered the documents in the order you should read them with the first one being a letter from me to yourself. There is only one set of documents that I can send by email and that is the bundle of documentary exhibits – the file is simply too big and the email server won't l3et me send it. If you still want a digital version of this bundle in addition to the hard copy one I can do so by saving it to a USB drive – please advise.

I make myself available to answer any questions The Authority may have on this matter.

Yours faithfully
Ian

Dear Mr Chairman,

Re: Allegation made by Police Sergeant No 8 [redacted]

I refer to the above captioned matter which I understand the Assistant Commissioner, [redacted] brought to your notice in my absence whilst on annual leave. Incidentally, I advised Mr [redacted] to confer the matter with you in the interests of transparency.

PS [redacted] has made extremely serious allegations against a senior officer, chief inspector [redacted] In his apparent and vehement opinion, PS [redacted] alleges that the chief inspector has committed criminal offences. [redacted] The latter has been allocated to Supt [redacted] Divisional Commander of the Operations Division where both PS [redacted] and CI [redacted] are currently assigned to. I also understand that PS [redacted] himself has already communicated his allegations to The Authority, though I do not know the extent of detail he has provided.

In this letter I intend to explain a determination that I am making in respect of the alleged criminality and the rationale for making this determination. I am totally confident that my determination is the correct and proper one. In principle, there are no provisions for me to seek The Authority's sanction on the decision I have reached, however, given that PS [redacted] has also brought the matter to the Authority's notice I feel it is only proper that I engage with yourselves to demonstrate total transparency. Additionally, you will learn from the contents of this letter that not only are the allegations tremendously ill founded, but that unaware to PS [redacted] I am personally involved in the activity that he is claiming to be criminal behaviour. Consequently, for this latter reason I would ask that in the event of you having the slightest of concerns with my determination, that you consider referring the matter to HM Attorney General. In effect, I am asking you to invoke the spirit of Regulation 17(1) of the Police Complaints Regulations 2008 even though the circumstances of this case are not applicable. In fact, I would greatly welcome you referring the matter to the AG to state whether criminal proceedings should be instituted, or not. Given how this has the potential to spiral out of context, more so with the emotions being displayed by PS [redacted] I feel it is in the interests of all concerned that the AG is consulted.

On 05 08 2019, whilst on certified sick leave and acting of his own accord without reporting his presence and/or intentions to any supervisory officer, PS [redacted] attended Central Police Station at Casemates where he conducted an investigation into circumstances surrounding the cautioning of [redacted] on 09 07 2018 and [redacted] on 30 07 2019. Both these young men are sons of retired RGP officers. PS [redacted] arrived at the conclusion that CI [redacted] conduct in respect of these two cautions amounted to the very serious criminal offence of Misconduct in Public Office. The PS compiled a statement of his actions. He also tendered as exhibits pertinent screen shots of the cyclops platform and custody records, which he had researched and accessed.

On 29 08 2019 PS [redacted] left a bundle of papers at New Mole House reception for the attention of AC [redacted] This bundle contained a report where he makes the criminal allegation against CI [redacted] supported by the exhibits he gathered, together with a separate report concerning a [redacted] against the same senior officer. The full file of the papers submitted by the PS is appended to this report.

[redacted]

Determination

At this point, [redacted] I share exactly the same view in respect of the criminal allegation. In arriving at my determination I have given due consideration that the [redacted] is inextricably linked to the allegation.

I will now address the most serious of issues at stake, and that is, the allegation of criminality against CI [redacted] It is with extreme regret that I find myself having to explain that PS [redacted] allegations are totally ill-founded. At this time, I cannot deduce whether PS [redacted] thought process has been clouded by his current mental health state, whether he is being spiteful and expressing retribution against CI [redacted] or whether it is a question of sheer incompetence and inability to exercise reasonable sound judgement. Unfortunately, PS [redacted] seems to have convinced himself that offences have been committed by CI [redacted] without knowing the full facts of the circumstances surrounding the disposal of both of the cases in question.

I will attempt to be brief in my address to fully exonerate CI [redacted] from any wrongdoing whatsoever: In the case of the caution administered on [redacted] it was not CI [redacted] who decided this course of action. This case was discussed by myself with Supts [redacted] and AC [redacted] (then Supt) on whether it merited the subject receiving a caution. It was ultimately my decision, though supported by my colleagues, that a caution was an appropriate course of action. Both Supt Yeats and I made notes in our respective daybooks as follows;

> 09 07 2018 Supt [redacted] - "@0830 CoP re [redacted] Accept caution for MDMA. Weigh drugs and offer caution. NFA action on other wrapper. Spoke to [redacted] and gave instructions."
> 09 07 2018 CoP McGrail – "Discussion with [redacted] and [redacted] ref arrest of [redacted] for possession of a Class –A –small amount. Accepted part of the drugs found/recovered by PC Bassadone – not all. 1st time offender – very remorseful, extremely affected - out of character. Spoke with father, [redacted] who specifically asked that his son received no special treatment. Notwithstanding, situation merits caution which I authorise."

I attach copies of the above mentioned entries. This decision was made in accordance with the Force's Cautioning Policy, and in any event, the decision to caution was not made by C [redacted] He was merely instructed to administer the caution by Supt [redacted]

In the case of [redacted] I was briefed by CI [redacted] during an occasion I visited him at his office. Unfortunately, I cannot recall the date/time. CI [redacted] explained his intentions to caution [redacted] and provided his reasons. In his explanations, the CI mentioned the amount/weight/type of the drugs [redacted] had been arrested for and other factors, which are too sensitive to disclose in this report. However, I am happy to verbally explain what these were in extreme total confidence if required. CI [redacted] did not have to consult his intended course action with me. It is within his authority to determine this, he nonetheless felt it right to mention it to me in passing, merely because of the relationship the individual had with a retired police officer. What I can you assure is that the reasons applied to afford the caution fell well within the remit of Force policy. I agreed with his rationale and by doing so gave tacit approval for the caution to be afforded. The actual administering of [redacted] caution was carried out by a custody sergeant on instructions from CI [redacted]

When deciding whether to charge, the deciding officer needs to consider two things; that on the evidence available there is a likelihood of conviction and secondly, that it is in the public interest. In both cases, it is clear that the first test has been met. Equally, in both cases it is the public interest test that has steered the outcome to an out of court disposal, i.e. a caution.

In the case of Mr [redacted] and as I recorded in my day book, he accepted his guilt, he was remorseful and was a first time offender. All are circumstances contained in our Cautioning Policy as points to consider when deciding whether to administer a caution. In the case of Mr [redacted] the same applies, with the additional considerations, which weighed the public interest decision further away from prosecution to a caution. As I said, I am happy to elaborate in person.

It follows that unless PS [redacted] is suggesting that some of the circumstances described have been fabricated or are untrue [he does not in any of the material supplied], and known by either me of three of my senior officers, which is clearly not the case; or that law, procedure and policy have not been followed, which they have, then there is no circumstance in which wither either of these cautioning decisions can be challenged, let alone amount to conduct which could be construed as Misconduct in Public Office.

To further re-inforce my determination and the extent of which the Cautioning Policy is applied, I wish to bring to your notice statistics regarding cases for which offenders have received [criminal] cautions in the past 18 months. They number 221 in total (including Yome and [redacted]. These cautions include offences the likes for which [redacted] and [redacted] were cautioned for. Nothing out of the norm has been applied in their respective cases and there is an audit trail of the process in the cyclops system. Of the 221 criminal cautions recorded, one of them concerns a caution of a police officer (now no longer in service) for assault on his wife. I also attach for your information the list of these 221 cases, which were disposed of by way of caution. These figures do not include cautions afforded for traffic offences which by far exceed these figures.

For your reference, I include a copy of the Cautioning Policy. This policy was originally created in the early 2000's. I do believe that the AG at the time, Ricky Rhoda CBE QC, was consulted and agreed with its principles and purpose which you will read are self-explanatory.

It may well be the case that PS [redacted] does not agree with the decisions taken in these two cases and thinks that CI [redacted] has wanted to brush them under the carpet. Evidently, this is not the case as recognised and approved due process has been followed, therefore there cannot be a question of criminal liability. PS [redacted] could perhaps be right had the individuals concerned been released from arrest without facing any due process or without justification, but I reiterate certainly not against Mr. [redacted] One thing is to disagree with a management decision and another is to cast a serious wild allegation without knowing the full and true facts! I query why PS [redacted] is only limiting his concerns to these two cases and conveniently does not show interest in the many other cautions administered by other approved officers. It is evident that PS [redacted] is arriving at the erroneous conclusion that [redacted] and [redacted] have received some sort of preferential treatment and is frivolously using this in an attempt to taint CI [redacted] – all this arising from the management intervention alluded to earlier on. By default, the PS has concluded that simply because the individuals concerned are related to retired police officers, they are not entitled to exactly the same considerations and treatment that the other 219 cautioned persons have been afforded. I am hoping you will agree that PS [redacted] clear standpoint is a totally biased one designed to put CI [redacted] in a position that in my view he does not deserve to be in.

There are too many other erroneous assumptions contained in PS [redacted] allegation, some more serious than others. I feel, however, obliged to have to draw correction to one of the other serious assumptions described by the PS in his report; that [redacted] should have faced a charge of possession with intent to supply. He bases his argument solely on the weight of the drugs found suggesting this amount is inconsistent with personal use when it is actually not. You will learn, once you consult with the AG, that weight alone, particularly the weight in this case, is totally insufficient evidence to proffer the charge suggested by the PS – there has to supporting evidence of the intent to supply and in this case it was non-existent. I can only put this error of assumption on the part of the PS to his lack of experience in dealing with drugs cases and knowledge of case law.

For the reasons highlighted above, I cannot classify PS [redacted] allegation as a crime. It is my intention to write to the officer advising him that I have considered the documents he presented and that I have communicated my determination to The Authority for you consult with the AG. Out of prudency, I do not intend to disclose my determination to the PS just yet to allow The Authority/AG to formulate an opinion on it. I am confident that not only will the AG advise that under the circumstances as explained in this report, CI [redacted] is not criminally liable for any offence, he will also determine that no criminal offence is disclosed at all. I feel it is important this key

CAUTIONING POLICY

The aim of this document is to offer guidance on the cautioning of offenders, to ensure there is an effective method of dealing with a wide range of offenders and offences provided certain criteria is met. Properly used, cautioning is an effective form of disposal, and in appropriate circumstances can be applied to offenders irrespective of their age.

The overriding issue with regards the application of this policy is consistency, although it must be understood that there are no hard and fast rules dictating the circumstances in which a caution should be administered. It is very much a judgmental use of discretion and common sense which, when coupled with the proper use of the cautioning system, will provide equitable results.

This document will assist decision makers in considering the effectiveness of cautioning of an offender(s), or whether another course of action is a more appropriate means of disposal.

Whilst the aim of this document is for all decisions to caution or otherwise to be at the discretion of the police, it is recognised that there may be particular instances where the matter may be need to be referred, in the first instance, to a senior line manager, and where necessary, to HMGoG Government Law Office (GLO) Office of Criminal Prosecutions & Litigation for advice and final determination.

In order to assist in the decision making process, a 'caution checklist' and a 'gravity factor' table have been included in this document.

Offences considered appropriate for consideration under the cautioning system are also listed in this document.

CAUTIONING POLICY GUIDANCE DOCUMENT

The Royal Gibraltar Police recognise the value of cautioning offenders in appropriate circumstances as an alternative to prosecution, and as a means of diversion from the Criminal Justice System.

This Policy will be applied to all age groups; the types of offences eligible for consideration are also indicated in the document.

A monitoring system for the cautioning policy will be managed by Records Department. Monthly statistical data will show comparisons between prosecutions and cautioning trends.

INTRODUCTION

This document is not intended to replace the fixed penalty system or cautions for minor traffic offences[1].
The community attaches great importance to the misuse of drugs and the effect on the social fabric of society, and as a result, careful consideration needs to be given with regards the application of this policy to drugs-related offences. In order to ensure that this cautioning policy reflects the prevailing wishes of the community, there is a need to ensure the RGP maintains an effective working relationship with HM Government of Gibraltar's Drugs Strategy Co-coordinator/Head of Rehabilitation Services.

The guidelines set the standards for cautioning throughout the service, with its aims being:

- To deal quickly and efficiently with less serious offences
- To divert offenders from the criminal justice system
- To consider the effect of previous cautions on re-offending individuals and if need be to further consider the exercise of additional cautions.

It is possible that consideration of additional/further cautions could undermine public confidence in the police and the upholding of the law, and could also be deemed NOT to be in the best interests of an offender. Prosecution may ultimately be of benefit to all parties involved, although ultimately, each case should be considered on its own merits, having due regard to all the circumstances of the case.

In consultation with a senior line manager (Divisional Commander) a determination may be made to select the best-suited process for a re-offending individual.

[1] The additional case disposal involving 'handing over' procedure for military cases can no longer be applied post Criminal Procedure & Evidence Act 2011

Having established that an offence is one suitable for caution, the following must be considered:

- The Public Interest
- The victim

PUBLIC INTEREST

If the cautioning criterion is satisfied, the implications to the public interest should then be considered.

In considering the exercise of the cautioning system, due regard must be had on whether prosecution or caution best serves the public interest, with the seriousness of the offence and the interest of the victim amongst the factors to be considered.

The penalty likely to be imposed by a court must also be considered. By way of guidance, a less serious offence, which when considered with the offenders previous record and circumstances is likely to attract a conditional discharge, should normally be considered as suitable for caution.

The public interest requires that consideration ought to be given to an offender's age and physical and mental health. Whilst there is no obligation to administer a caution or infer to any person that they have an absolute right to be cautioned, these factors together with a common sense approach must be adopted in the context of the prevailing circumstances of the case.

THE VICTIM

The victim of an offence plays an important part in the exercise of the cautioning policy, and wherever possible, full consultation should take place, with a victim's views assisting in the decision making process. The significance of the harm or loss suffered by the victim, including any psychological effects or continuing threat from the offender should be considered together with their own personal circumstances.

Before a caution is administered, it is desirable that the victim should be contacted to establish:

- His or her view about the offence.
- The nature and extent of any harm or loss, and their significance relative to the victim's circumstances.
- Whether the offender has made any form of reparation or paid any compensation.

If a caution is being considered, (or is likely to be considered) its significance should be explained to the victim. It should however be noted that the discretion to caution is not dependent on the victim's views, but rests solely with the officer considering the case disposal.

In some cases where cautioning might otherwise be appropriate, prosecution may be required in order to protect the victim from further interference by the offender. The victim should be informed of the final decision.

GROUP OFFENCES

The experience and circumstances of offenders involved in group offences can vary greatly, as can their degree of involvement.

Although consistency and equitable resolution are important considerations in the decision to charge or caution, each offender should be considered separately, if the circumstances of the case allow. It may be the case that different methods of disposal are justified for each of the individuals concerned.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

Another factor common to circumstances in Gibraltar is that offenders may be related to officers involved in the case, are friends or are related to persons known to the officers. In order to ensure the probity of the cautioning policy, these instances must be brought to the attention of the Inspector responsible for a unit/department, who will refer any recommendation for caution to the Divisional Commander. In these instances, there may be a requirement to seek independent advice from HMGoG Office of Criminal Prosecutions & Litigation.

ASSISTANCE IN THE DECISION MAKING PROCESS

The decision to exercise a caution or to charge an offender must be made at the conclusion of the investigative process.

A caution must never be seen as a substitute for evidence gathering, and cautioning should only be considered where there is sufficient evidence to secure a realistic prospect of conviction. It may well be that such an overwhelming case relies on the defendant's own admission. Officers charged with considering case disposal by way of caution must first conclude that there is/would be sufficient evidence to prosecute.

The equitable use of the discretion to caution is very much a matter of common sense, and the following questions should be considered in every case:

- Whether the circumstances are such that the caution is likely to be effective
- Whether the caution is appropriate for the offence
- Whether the offender recognizes the gravity of his actions; and
- Whether the offender is aware of the implications of a caution being administered.

THE OFFENCE

This cautioning policy may be applied to all but the most serious of offences. In the main, the authority on whether case disposal can proceed by caution or otherwise rests at the rank of Inspector or above. All requests for cautions are passed to the Inspector, Specialist Operations for final approval. If he is unavailable, the final approval will be authorized by the Duty Inspector for that day. In cases where suitability is doubted an officer of at least the rank of Chief Inspector (usually CI Ops) will be consulted.

There will be instances when more than one offence is revealed, and it will be necessary to consider the circumstances of all the offences when deciding whether to charge or caution.

If a determination is made to caution for one offence, it would not normally be appropriate to prosecute the remaining offences arising from the same incident, e.g. traffic matters allied to an offence of taking a conveyance. If court proceedings are considered appropriate, then all associated matters must be resolved in a like manner.

In instances when multiple offences are being considered, the decision to exercise the discretion to caution or prosecute should be based on the most serious offence.

DRUG OFFENCES

The application of a caution for drug related offences is restricted to that of simple possession of drugs only. A decision to caution may only be taken after having considered the issues contained in the 'gravity' table e.g. if the possession is of a small quantity, and the gravity factor weighs in favour of possession for personal use, then a caution is appropriate.

Prosecution will normally be appropriate where offenders:

- Are found in unlawful possession of controlled drugs when arrested for other matters, for which they will be charged
- Are on bail for other offences
- Have a previous caution or conviction for drugs, or have previous criminal convictions of a nature that suggests a caution for drugs related offences would serve no useful purpose

Conversely, the fact the offender has no previous conviction for drugs related crime is not a bar to prosecution.

The Royal Gibraltar Police are as a matter of policy not in favour of the legalisation or decriminalisation of drugs, however, cautioning as described above remains an option for both adults and juveniles. Any social or judicial developments regarding the misuse of drugs, which may have a direct or indirect implication on this policy will be monitored in consultation with HMGoG Drugs Strategy Coordinator/Head of Rehabilitation Services and the applicable HM Government's strategy to combat drugs misuse.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The cautioning system is a complete and effective disposal of a case but should never be used purely as a matter of expediency.

If there is doubt on whether to caution or prosecute, the matter should be referred to the relevant Divisional Chief Inspector for advice, and if necessary, further advice sought from HMGoG GLO Office of Criminal Prosecution & Litigation.

It will not always be possible to exercise the discretion to caution soon after an incident. In particularly complex matters, whilst the discretion to caution is being considered, the offender should be bailed out for as short a period of time as possible.

Following the introduction of the Criminal Procedure & Evidence Act 2011, HM Forces personnel will be dealt with as any other offender whose case falls within the ambit of the cautioning system.

OTHER RELEVANT FACTORS

An essential element in the exercise of the discretion to caution (as indeed when prosecuting) is that the offender is capable of understanding the consequences of their actions and the route taken to resolve the issue. This understanding involves an offender admitting to an offence, understands the implications of a caution and is in a position to agree to be cautioned. In cases where an individual may not be capable of this understanding, it is necessary to consider seeking the assistance of other qualified personnel [eg Gibraltar Health Authority / Care Agency].

It could be that for mental health reasons, a caution may not be the appropriate method of disposal.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE CAUTION

The caution will be administered in formal surroundings by a police officer in uniform of at least the rank of Sergeant (usually the Custody Sergeant), however, there may be circumstances where the offence or other relevant factors determine that an officer of not less than the rank of Inspector should administer the caution. This determination should be made by an officer of the rank of Inspector (or above) who is considering whether case disposal is appropriate by way of caution.

Where a person is elderly, infirm, or otherwise vulnerable, a caution may be administered less formally, perhaps at the offender's home, and in the presence of a friend, relative or other appropriate adult. A juvenile must always be cautioned in the presence of a parent, guardian or other appropriate adult.

When administering a caution, the offender should always be made aware of the following:

(i) that their actions amount to a criminal offence; and

(ii) as a consequence they would normally appear before a court; and

(iii) if convicted, they would have a criminal record

The emphasis should then change to outlining the positive benefits of receiving a caution and therefore not entering the Criminal Justice System. The offender's attention should be drawn to:

(i) the effect a criminal conviction/record would have on their future prospects (this point is particularly important for juveniles and parents); and that

(ii) what happens to them in the future will be dictated entirely by their own actions.

When administering cautions for Drug offences, drug rehabilitation/abuse advice literature (which should be available at Custody Suite) should be handed over to the person receiving the caution.

After the caution has been administered, the offender should sign the certificate of caution form, which should be attached to the relevant case file. It is important that the officer administering the caution ensures the offender fully understands the contents of the Caution certificate/form.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

EVERY CASE IS UNIQUE. When embarking on the decision making process, the first consideration must always be the nature of the offence.

Once the offence has been considered against the gravity factor table, the appropriateness of a caution for the offender should be considered.

The question of whether an offender should be prosecuted or diverted from the criminal justice system should only occur once it has been determined that there is sufficient evidence to secure a realistic prospect of conviction.

Additionally, a caution can only be considered when:

- The individual admits the offence
- The individual (or in the case of a juvenile or vulnerable person, the parents or guardian) understands the significance of a caution and gives an informed consent to being cautioned.

CAUTION CHECKLIST

This form should be used where consideration is given to disposal of a case by way of a caution. Completed forms should be attached with the relevant case file.

It is imperative that all offences are fully investigated and the caution procedure is not used merely as a means to expedite the release of offenders from custody.

Dear Sergeant [redacted],

Your response to me suggesting that there is a total lack of transparency and accountability in the Royal Gibraltar Police is totally absurd, one which I take great offence of. The RGP is one of the most scrutinised institutions in Gibraltar and we will continue to be as such. Our determination of your allegation was submitted to the HM Attorney General by the Gibraltar Police Authority for further transparency, primarily to ensure that exactly these unbecoming and unwarranted insinuations you are now claiming, received independent oversight.

Furthermore, in your email to me on the 3rd of September 2019, you also questioned my integrity as a police officer when I was handling your complaint. Your response then, and today, regarding the RGP, is now demonstrating to me that you have no regard for the RGP, the command and any of the structures in place, including the Gibraltar Police Authority and HM Attorney General.

I am extremely disappointed in the choice of language and accusatory sense of judgement in your emails to me, which are an indication of a defiant character who cannot come to terms with a determination which does not suit you. In this regard, as the senior officer with responsibility for discipline and conduct in the RGP, I will be giving further consideration to your comments keeping all my options open.

Good evening Sir,

Thank you for your response, albeit you did not answer much, if any of my queries.

I look forward to hearing from Mr [redacted] in relation to my [redacted] although I do not hold much hope of a positive outcome, given the standard of the investigation into my criminal complaint.

It would seem, for now at least, the RGP are answerable to no one in Gibraltar and are free to conduct themselves as they please with no repercussions. I look forward to speaking with HMICFRS later this month and apprising them of the circumstances.

Best regards,

Thank you for your email. I hope you are well and recovering.

Yesterday I wrote to you an official letter and this was sent to your registered address at Eurotowers, the contents of which I thought was best served by letter than by email. Contained in that letter is the advice provided by Her Majesty's Attorney General, of which the contents are as follows:

I write in furtherance to the Commissioner's letter to you dated the 9th of September 2019.

I can confirm to you that the Gibraltar Police Authority, having consulted with HM Attorney General has responded to the Commissioner's determination in relation to your allegation of misconduct in public office against CI [redacted] In his response the Chairman of the Gibraltar Police Authority has stated, that no criminal liability can be attached to the actions of CI [redacted] and that no criminal offences are disclosed against anyone.

The complaint made by you will therefore not be recorded as a 'Crime' and will be instead filed as a 'No Crime' incident.

I am sorry to hear that your allegation of crime has caused you stress and anxiety, but in this case on the advice provided you are not regarded as a victim as you claim.

With regards to your [redacted] this has been passed on to Superintendent [redacted] who I know has already undertaken some work and intends contacting you to meet up to discuss this further. In actual fact he asked me only this week should he contact you, taking into consideration your current absence from work and my advice was to do so, but of course only in Gibraltar. So expect a call or text from him soon.

With best wishes

Subject: Update Request

Good afternoon Sir,

As you are aware, on Tuesday 27th August 2019, I submitted a case file including a [redacted] and criminal complaint against Chief Inspector [redacted]. I am writing to you in this instance requesting an update on both files.

On Thursday 12th September 2019, I received correspondence from Commissioner McGrail informing me that my criminal complaint had been referred to the Attorney General and GPA, however since then I have not received any further update on the status of the investigation. Regardless of whether I am a Police Officer or not, as a reporter of a crime I am entitled to victim support. Particularly when it has caused me to suffer significant stress and anxiety.

I have never been contacted by the investigating officers to confirm my version of events or to extract any potential further information which may assist the case. I may not wish to enter Gibraltar, but I am still contactable.

I would also like to know if key witnesses mentioned in the case have been asked to provide a statement and if they were provided to the AGs, along with all of the documentation I submitted?

Having read the GPF survey I am aware of at least one comment which further corroborates the criminal allegation stating, "Officers being asked to change weights in relation to drug charges because it's an ex-senior high ranking officer's family member." Have attempts been made by the investigating officers to speak with this officer? I was able to find out the identity of the commenting officer within an hour of reading the survey without breaching any data protection, I'm sure the officers investigating the case would be as successful.

In relation to my [redacted] the targeted 28 days to resolve have now passed, actually 36 days have passed, and I have received no update in relation to the document or explanation as to why the deadline has been extended. Even though the policy states the grievance can be progressed in my absence from work.

I would also refer to numerous comments made in yesterday's survey which highlight the Chief Inspector's conduct as a bully, and again, I know from the sources of the submitted comments that they referred to Mr [redacted] before being redacted. Is anything going to be done about this?

In a previous email I was challenged for questioning the integrity of the investigation, however it would seem from reading the comments on the survey that this was not without reason. It is abundantly clear from the survey that the vast majority of officers in the RGP do not have faith that senior management will support them or impartially & comprehensively investigate senior officers.

Thus, I would ask you plainly Sir, and with respect, are the RGP finally going to challenge and reprimand an officer who is a widely known bully and operates with corrupt practices, or are the RGP going to continue to protect this officer and endorse his behaviour?

Regards,

[redacted]

Dear colleagues,

Please see letter from RGP and subsequent emails from PS [redacted] below. You will see that, essentially, it is a complaint from one officer against another - a [redacted] and a 'criminal complaint'. I have asked for the documentation he mentions. Having said this, if it is a criminal complaint, this is not for PCB as he is not a member of the public.

The criminal complaint is being assessed and clearly, we shall ensure that due process is followed. As soon as I obtain a report from the Commissioner and the documentation, I shall have to call a meeting at short notice to discuss this further and decide whether we need to take advice and so on. At present, no action is required and the Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner are dealing with this.

Kind regards,

Joey

Message:: Dear Sir / Madam,

My name is [redacted] and I am a serving Police Sergeant with the Royal Gibraltar Police. I respectfully request that this email be forwarded on to Dr Joseph Britto, Gibraltar Police Authority Chairman.

I am aware that on Wednesday 7th August 2019, Dr Britto received correspondence from Assistant Commissioner of Police [redacted], in relation to my absence from work and subsequent [redacted]

It is my concern that this was not an accurate and fair reflection of the circumstances as it did not take into consideration my version of events, and solely relied upon the account provided by Chief Inspector [redacted].

On the morning of Tuesday 27th August 2019, I submitted a [redacted] file as well as a criminal complaint against Mr [redacted] or the offences of Misconduct in Public Office and Per [redacted] Course of Justice. The said criminal [redacted]laint is corroborated by 27 documentary exhibits tendered in evidence.

In view of transparency, if the RGP have not already provided copies of these documents, I would request that Dr Britto contact the RGP and request them.

The documents enclosed in the file submitted to the RGP that Dr Britto should receive in his copy are as follows;

Dear Elka,

For the time being, please forward the contents of my email to the Chairman of the Police Authority for his information. Assistance Commissioner [redacted] is already dealing with my criminal complaint, and I would expect that he has already informed the PCB of this.

I am aware that correspondence was passed to Dr Britto by RGP senior management stating that they had concerns over my professional competency and commitment to the RGP, and that I desired to submit a [redacted] claim against my line managers for having addressed my poor performance.

[redacted]

I believe the contents of the report submitted to Dr Britto on 7th August to be misrepresented and I would seek that Dr Britto requests copies of the files I submitted to the RGP in order that transparency is restored, and that both accounts are considered.

Dear colleagues,

Our last meeting refers.

By way of update:

I have obtained clarification legal advice from the AG's office - the internal criminal claim made against PS [redacted] Chief Inspector (by PS [redacted] has no basis. If you recall this is in connection with the cautioning of individuals and the AG finds that the RGP's Cautioning Policy was applied at all times and there is absolutely no evidence of any wrong doing.

I am the above mentioned person.

I have complete 4 year's service with the Royal Gibraltar Police and 6 years service with Police Scotland. This statement is in relation to a complaint against Chief Inspector [redacted] of the Royal Gibraltar Police for the offences of Misconduct in Public Office and Perverting the Course of Justice.

About 0700 hours, Tuesday 30th of July 2019, I arrived at New Mole House Police Station to commence my duties as Custody Sergeant.

At this time, I was informed by the nightshift Custody Sergeant that there was a copy of a Police Caution docket within the custody tray for a Mr [redacted] and that Chief Inspector [redacted] would be dealing with it personally later in the afternoon, but that the Bail Return was not on the Cyclops Custody whiteboard as per the normal procedure for a defendant surrendering to their bail with a specified time. I was further informed that [redacted] had keys to collect from Police and that they were reported to be within the Traffic compound. I then signed the Custody Handover book making note of the [redacted] entry, and continued with my duties as Custody Sergeant.

Later in the morning, the aforementioned Caution docket for [redacted] was removed from Custody and I believe taken to Mr [redacted] office by PS [redacted]

About 1345 hours, same date, I completed my entry to the handover book and shortly afterwards PS [redacted] arrived in the Custody suite to relieve me from my duties as he prepared to commence duty at 1400 hours. I then went over the handover with PS [redacted] and at this time informed him that [redacted] would be attending NMH later in the afternoon to be Cautioned on authorisation of Mr [redacted] At this, PS [redacted] expressed his shock to me that [redacted] was receiving a Police Caution as he knew the details of [redacted] arrest, being that he was in possession of a significant amount of Cannabis, namely 75 grams. Prior to this I did not know the reason for the Caution and had not read the Caution Certificate before it was removed from the Custody suite.

About 1350 hours, same date, whilst still in the process of handing over to PS [redacted] Mr [redacted] entered the Custody suite and at this time I asked the Chief Inspector where the Caution docket for [redacted] was as I was completing the handover with the late shift Custody Sergeant. Mr [redacted] then responded to me by asking why I was asking for it, to which I stated that PS [redacted] would require it for [redacted] attendance to Custody if he were surrendering to his Bail. Mr [redacted] then stated to me that he would be dealing with it, before engaging with PS [redacted] in Spanish in both my presence and the presence of the late shift Jailer PC [redacted] and then leaving the Custody suite. I then asked PC [redacted] what Mr [redacted] has said in Spanish and he informed me that a translation to English equated to "I'm dealing with it, then I will give it to you and you put it at the top, the bottom, the middle or wherever."

Having worked with PS [redacted] for some time now, I know him to be a diligent and committed Custody Sergeant who many officers, including myself, will go to for advice regarding Custody matters, and at this time it was my opinion that PS [redacted] was concerned by his aforementioned conversation with Mr [redacted]

It should be noted that all of the aforementioned will be recorded on the Custody CCTV system which has microphones for sound.

About 2000 hours, Friday 2nd August 2019, I attended at Central Police Station, Casemates Square, in order to review the Custody record for [redacted] I had been concerned that if the information I had received was in fact correct, that [redacted] who I know to be the son of an ex-police officer Ex PC [redacted] may have received a Police Caution unjustifiably and without reasonable excuse. It was also my concern that as I handed this over to the late shift Custody Sergeant, that if any wrong doing had taken place then I would not be complicit.

Upon reviewing the Custody Record and relevant Crime entry relating to [redacted] I observed that he had in fact been released with a Police Caution for Possession of a Controlled Class B Drug contrary to Section 506(2) of the Crimes Act 2011 and the Custody Record disposed of with the comment "DP afforded a caution for the offence of possession of a controlled drug class B, Authority for Caution granted by Chief Inspector [redacted] Caution copy scanned into documents."

The contents of this document will be processed in strict compliance with the Royal Gibraltar Police's policy on Data Protection, which has been compiled in accordance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2004

I then left Central Police Station and returned home where I agonised over my findings before confiding in other fellow Police Officers over the next few days, who informed me that they were aware this was not the first time Mr [redacted] had conducted himself in this manner, and had previously abused his authority to authorise a Police Caution fo[redacted] the son of the retired Police Commissioner under questionable circumstances.

About 2200 hours, Monday 5th August 2019, I made the conscious decision to investigate this further as per the Police Powers invested in me by the Government of Gibraltar as I believed a criminal act may have taken place and attended at Central Police Station, where I reviewed the circumstances of the arrests of both [redacted] and [redacted]

About 2225 hours, same date, I accessed the Custody module of the Police Cyclops system and opened [redacted] ecord, file number CU/19/1263/C. At this time I confirmed a number of points which gave me cause for concern. Namely that;

- [redacted] had been arrested for Possession of a Controlled drug for having possession of 75 grams of Cannabis (the weight of which was weighed in the presence of [redacted].
- The necessity for arrest at this time was recorded as to Allow the prompt and effective investigation, and the detention reason to Obtain evidence by questioning (s58(2)(b) CP&E), and Secure and Preserve Evidence (s58(2)(a) CP&E).
- [redacted] was arrested near to Eastern Beach, at 1850 hours, 28/07/2019, on what would reasonably be expected to have been a busy location at the time.
- I noted on the Custody Record that PS [redacted] recorded that there was no evidence of Alcohol, however there was evidence of Drugs.

- I noted on the Custody Record that PS [redacted] recorded that on the Medical/Risk Assessment Care and Treatment of Detained persons tab under question "i. Do you have any Drug or Alcohol dependencies?" that [redacted] responded that he had an addiction. This was evidenced by PS [redacted] as "Addicted to something but won't disclose what it is."
- I noted that at the time of arrest the amount of drugs found were thought to be serious enough that a Search Warrant was carried out at the residence of [redacted] and that [redacted] was present for this search.
- [redacted] was interviewed at 2201 hours by PC [redacted]
- I noted that [redacted] was bailed out in the sum of £250.00 to appear at New Mole House Police Station at 2300 hours on Saturday 19th October 2019.
- I noted that at 1544 hours, Tuesday 30th July 2019, eleven weeks and 4 days early, [redacted] surrendered to his bail and a short time later was interviewed by PC [redacted] at 1553 hours.
- No consideration appears to have been given to applying the charge of Possession of a Controlled Drug with Intent to Supply.
- I noted that at 1627 hours, same date, the Custody Record was Disposed of with the comment "DP afforded a caution for the offence of possession of a controlled drug class B, Authority granted by Chief Inspector [redacted]. Caution copy scanned into documents."
- I then investigated the Crime entry in relation to [redacted] CR/19/5229/Q and confirmed its contents to be consistent with the Custody Record.

- I then investigated the Occurrence Book entry in relation to [redacted] OB/19/13100/X and confirmed its contents to be consistent with the Custody Record.

The aforementioned was documented, which I now tender in evidence as;

I then acted on information received from colleagues and investigated the circumstances of [redacted] arrest on 30/06/2018. Firstly I reviewed the Custody entry, CU/18/618/K, on the Cyclops system. Upon doing so I observed a number of anomalies, which are outlined below;

- [redacted] was arrested at 2345 hours, 30/06/2018, at Wellington Front for the offence of Possession of a Controlled Class A Drug contrary to Section 506(2) of the Crimes Act 2011
- [redacted] was then conveyed to NMH Police Station where he arrived at 0005 hours, 01/07/2018, and his detention was authorised by now retired PS [redacted] at 0134 hours, same date.
- The necessity for arrest being noted to Allow the prompt and effective investigation and detention reason to Obtain evidence by questioning (s58(2)(b) CP&E).
- At this time, it was recorded by PS [redacted] that [redacted] exhibited evidence of both Alcohol and Drugs.
- About 0138 hours, same date, the drugs found in the possession of [redacted] were weighed within the Custody suite in the presence of [redacted] the result of which was 0.9 grams.
- [redacted] was then taken for interview before being bailed out to return to NMH Police Station at 1200 hours on 14/08/2019.

The contents of this document will be processed in strict compliance with the Royal Gibraltar Police's policy on Data Protection, which has been compiled in accordance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2004

- The Occurrence Book entry, OB/18/7453/J, states that when [redacted] was arrested he was asked if the white powder found by police was Cocaine, to which he nodded his head.
- About 1620 hours, Monday 9th July 2018, five weeks and one day early, [redacted] returned from his bail and was booked in by Chief Inspector [redacted].
- About 1621 hours, same date, [redacted] was cautioned by Chief Inspector [redacted] for the offence of Possession of a Controlled drug, namely MDMA weighing 0.2 grams. Contrary to the Custody Record and Crime Report, which read 0.9 grams.
- Chief Inspector [redacted] then updated and disposed of the Cyclops Custody Record with the entry "Cautioned by myself."

The aforementioned was documented, which I now tender in evidence as;

I thereafter compiled the aforementioned in a case file with exhibits and a report which I now tender in evidence as;

Subject: MISCONDUCT IN PUBLIC OFFICE & PERVERTING THE COURSE OF JUSTICE

Sir,

As part described in document 1, it has come to my attention that Chief Inspector [redacted] acting in Public Office has willfully neglected to perform his duty and willfully misconducted himself, to such a degree as to amount to an abuse of the public's trust, without reasonable excuse or justification. CI [redacted] has committed this offence on at least two occasions and evidence of both is attached to this document.

About 1850 hours, Sunday 28th July 2019, [redacted] near to the MVT Test Centre, Eastern Beach, Gibraltar, was arrested by PC 68 [redacted] for Possession of a Controlled Class B Drug contrary to Section 506(2) of the Crimes Act 2011. [redacted] was thereafter conveyed to New Mole House Police Station where he arrived at 1915 hours, and his detention was authorized by PS [redacted] at 1947 hours. The necessity for arrest at this time was recorded as to Allow the prompt and effective investigation, and the detention reason to Obtain evidence by questioning (s58(2)(b) CP&E), and Secure and Preserve Evidence (s58(2)(a) CP&E).
The drugs found in [redacted] possession were weighed in the presence of [redacted] in custody and found to weigh 75 grams of Cannabis.

Whilst processing [redacted] it was noted by PS [redacted] on the Medical/Risk Assessment Care and Treatment of Detained Persons tab of the Custody Record that there was no evidence of Alcohol however there was evidence of Drugs. It was further noted by PS [redacted] on question "i. Do you have any Drug or Alcohol dependencies?" that [redacted] responded that he had an addiction. This was evidenced by PS [redacted] as "Addicted to something but won't disclose what it is."

About 2018 hours, same date, a Search Warrant was executed at [redacted] residence, it is believed due to the amount of drugs found in [redacted] possession, and he was taken to his residence to be present for this search from custody before returning to his cell at 2110 hours. [redacted] was then interviewed at 2201 hours by PC BASSADONE.

About 2316 hours, same date, [redacted] was bailed out in the sum of £250.00 to appear at New Mole House Police Station at 2300 hours on Saturday 19th October 2019.

About 1544 hours, Tuesday 30th July 2019, [redacted] surrendered to his bail and a short time later was interviewed by PC [redacted] at 1553 hours.

About 1627 hours, same date, the Custody Record was Disposed of with the comment "DP afforded a caution for the offence of possession of a controlled drug class B, Authority granted by Chief Inspector [redacted]. Caution copy scanned into documents."

Cannabis Resin has a street value of approximately £30 per quarter ounce (7 grams), as [redacted] was in possession of over two and a half ounces, more than ten times this amount (75 grams), the street value of the drugs would be in excess of £300. With this quantity of drugs being stored in his motorcycle at the time and place where it was located, given how busy the location was with potential customers, it would be reasonable to infer that [redacted] was in Possession of a Controlled drug with Intent to Supply.

The aforementioned, together with the fact [redacted] presented himself before the Custody Sergeant under the influence of drugs, stated he had an addiction and likely a habitual drug user, gives absolutely no reasonable excuse or justification to be authorised a Police Caution.

The Ministry of Justice provides guidelines that;
"A simple caution must not be given if the decision-maker considers that it is in the public interest for the offender to be prosecuted."

In this instance it was in the public interest for [redacted] to be prosecuted for this offence and the reason he was not prosecuted is believed to be because he is the son of retired Police Officer ex-PC [redacted].

This is not the first time Chief Inspector [redacted] has conducted himself in this manner.

About 2345 hours, Saturday 30th June 2018, [redacted] at Wellington Front, Gibraltar, was arrested by PC BASSADONE for the offence of Possession of a Controlled Class A Drug contrary to Section 506(2) of the Crimes Act 2011. [redacted] was then conveyed to NMH Police Station where he arrived at 0005 hours, 01/07/2018, and his detention was authorised by now retired PS [redacted] at 0134 hours, same date. The necessity for arrest being noted to Allow the prompt and effective investigation and detention reason to Obtain evidence by questioning (s58(2)(b) CP&E). At this time, it was recorded by PS [redacted] that [redacted] exhibited evidence of both Alcohol and Drugs.

About 0138 hours, same date, the drugs found in the possession of [redacted] were weighed within the Custody suite in the presence of [redacted], the result of which was 0.9 grams. [redacted] was then taken for interview before being bailed out to return to NMH Police Station at 1200 hours on 14/08/2018.

About 1620 hours, Monday 9th July 2018, [redacted] returned from his bail and was booked in by Chief Inspector [redacted].

About 1621 hours, same date, [redacted] was cautioned by Chief Inspector [redacted] for the offence of Possession of a Controlled drug, namely MDMA weighing 0.2 grams. Contrary to the Custody Record and Crime Report, which read 0.9 grams. Chief Inspector [redacted] then updated and disposed of the Cyclops Custody Record with the entry "Cautioned by myself."

In this instance not only is CI [redacted] in Misconduct in Public Office, but he has also knowingly committed the offence of Perverting the Course of Justice.

As defined by the Crown Prosecution Service;

The offence of Perverting the Course of Justice is committed when an accused:

- does an act or series of acts;
- which has or have a tendency to pervert; and
- which is or are intended to pervert;
- the course of public justice.

The offence is contrary to common law and triable only on indictment. It carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment and/or a fine. The course of justice must be in existence at the time of the act(s). The course of justice starts when:

- an event has occurred, from which it can reasonably be expected that an investigation will follow;
- investigations which could/might bring proceedings have actually started; or
- proceedings have started or are about to start.

Guidance in respect of Charging Practice for Public Justice Offences is further detailed by CPS as;

The following factors will be relevant to all public justice offences when assessing the relative seriousness of the conduct and which offence, when there is an option, should be charged. Consider whether the conduct:

- was spontaneous and unplanned or deliberate and elaborately planned;
- was momentary and irresolute or prolonged and determined;
- was motivated by misplaced loyalty to a relative/friend or was part of a concerted effort to avoid, pervert, or defeat justice;
- whether the activities of the defendant drew in others;
- was intended to result in trivial or 'serious harm' to the administration of justice;
- actually resulted in trivial or 'serious harm' to the administration of justice.

Examples of 'serious harm' include conduct which:

- enables a potential defendant in a serious case to evade arrest or commit further offences;
- causes an accused to be granted bail when he might otherwise not have;

- avoids a police investigation for disqualified driving or other serious offences;
- misleads a court;
- puts another person in real jeopardy of arrest/prosecution or results in the arrest/prosecution of another person;
- avoids a mandatory penalty such as disqualification
- results in the police losing the opportunity to obtain important evidence in a case.

Mr [redacted] has authorised a Police Caution after the disposal, tampering and fabrication of evidence by altering and falsifying evidence so that the Caution issued read 0.2 grams instead of 0.9 grams. In context this is the equivalent of the street value for the drugs initially costing in the region of £50 to the street value equating to zero. It should further be noted that the Occurrence Book entry OB/18/6453/J dated 01/07/2018, submitted at 0132 hours, states that at the time of police seizing the powder, [redacted] was asked under caution if it was Cocaine found in his possession (not MDMA), to which he is stated to have nodded in agreement.

It is also not force policy to Caution for Possession of a Controlled Class A Drug contrary to Section 506(2) of the Crimes Act 2011, and Mr [redacted] acted in Misconduct in this case by not proceeding to prosecute [redacted] It is further believed that once again Mr [redacted] motive for not proceeding to prosecute [redacted] is that he was a retired Police Commissioners son.

It is in the public interest that in both cases outlined above, both persons should have been prosecuted for their respective offences. Notwithstanding this, members of the public in Gibraltar are prosecuted on a daily basis for incidents of possessing controlled drugs with circumstances and amounts of drugs less than described above. These have been immoral and corrupt acts by Mr [redacted] and he has aided in two offenders evading appropriate justice, when everyday people of Gibraltar have not had the same opportunity.

The community of Gibraltar trusts the Royal Gibraltar Police to maintain public order and safety, enforce the law, prevent and detect crime, investigate criminal activities, and bring forth offenders to justice. Mr [redacted] has breached the trust of the public through his Misconduct and in turn jeopardised the reputation of the RGP and all of the hard-working officers associated with the organisation.

Police Officers of lower ranks than Mr [redacted] have been interdicted and investigated for far less serious offences in comparison to the aforementioned, and it is expected that if the RGP is committed to eradicating and expelling any corruption within its ranks that the same actions be taken in respect of a Chief Inspector.

The Police (Discipline) Regulations 1991 outline a number of regulations which have been breached in this case, namely;

- Discreditable Conduct
- Neglect of Duty
- Falsehood or Prevarication
- Corrupt or Improper Practice

- Abuse of Authority
- Criminal Conduct

It does not seem appropriate, facts considered, that Mr [redacted] only be dealt with by way of Police disciplinary procedures for his conduct and should also answer for his actions before a court.

Attached to this report is my statement in relation to the matter, whereby I have tendered 27 documentary files in evidence. The exhibits themselves are also included along with an Exhibit List.

Sir,

I start by denying the allegation that PS 8 [redacted] has wrongly accused me of. In my 27 years service, I have never had my integrity questioned by anyone this way. For me it is disheartening that a young and relatively inexperienced sergeant has decided to question a decision from a senior officer without knowing the full particulars and my rationale behind my decision process. Not only has he questioned me, but also the RGP. He has made a criminal allegation against me regarding a serious offence.

What surprises me even further is that he was not the custody sergeant in any of the cases, he did not process them, interview or caution any of the two subjects. He was not the OiC either, so I can safely assume the fact that he has been fed these two instances by someone else. In addition, I have asked myself, why now? Again I can safely assume that it is to add weight to the wrongful [redacted]ne has also lodged against me.

Another issue is that he is on CSL with stress and unfit to come to work, but yet he has the time, the right mental state of mind to come to the station after hours and trawl the databases to extract information in an attempt to substantiate his ill-founded allegation and find anything against me.Taking into consideration his present medical diagnosis, is he in a position to conduct such an investigation?

On another note, If he was investigating this I would agree that access would be legitimate but if he isn't, does he have the right to access this information legitimately for his own personal means? I would intend to say no.

What is very clear to me is that he is being vindictive towards me and without justification. His [redacted] holds no water and this allegation lacks foundation. It is a shame that despite having an open door policy he has not wanted to seek clarity in respect of my decision process. First of all, that I would not have been required or obliged to give to him an explanation but secondly, I would have done so for transparency issues. I am not one to hide.

I recognize the value of cautioning offenders in appropriate circumstances as an alternative to prosecution, and as a means of diversion from the Criminal Justice System. I have dealt with many, many cautions throughout my career. I have personally administered cautions as a Sergeant, as an Inspector and now in my current rank. Nowadays in my present post as Chief Inspector Operations for Response Teams I am often consulted by both sergeants and inspectors. This is nothing new, when a case presents a peculiar issue or something out the norm I am consulted straight away, after all, I am responsible for monitoring and assuring quality. When considering drug offences for small quantities for personal use regarding 'A' class drugs, this lies with the authority of a C.I. or above.

The majority of the cases are dealt with through the approval of the existing permanent Response Team Inspectors. In many of them, I am not consulted or am I in the know that the caution is being administered. In many other instances I have interjected and provided a steer for caution but in any event, something that may well have occurred without my intervention.

Prior cyclops, these cautions would have come out in the OB, the daily reports. Now they are not and we only learn of them if one accesses the crime or custody entry.

Arrest and caution of [redacted]

The subject was arrested on the 30th of June 2018 for possession of a controlled drug [one wrapper weighing 0.2g] that was subsequently tested and gave a positive reaction to MDMA. The DP admitted it was his and was bailed out.

This offence fell within the cautioning criteria and on this occasion I interjected shortly after the arrest and facilitated the caution. The DP had no previous convictions. As mentioned prior, I have intervened in many other cases and this was simply another case. In any event, this would have landed on my desk.

I personally recalled him from bail and administered the caution on the 9th of July 2018.

Arrest and caution of [redacted]

The subject was arrested on the 28th of July 2019 for possession of approximately 75g [two pieces] of cannabis resin. The DP at the time did not make a clear admission and was bailed out.

Again this offence fell within the cautioning criteria. It is right to say that the amount is not the ordinary amount found on consumers but the weight did not represent an obstacle for me as we [RGP] have cautioned for larger amounts. The DP had no previous convictions.

I did not intervene in this one until I was contacted by the DP's father, [redacted] sr, an ex police officer. The latter has provided information in the past and has always proved reliable. He asked me to consider administering a caution to his son who would make a clear admission at a later date. He reiterated that he had provided information in the past and would certainly continue to do so. I will not comment in cases provided. The amount this sort of fine would attract would be in the region of £300 to £500 for a first time offender and when weighed up against a possible detection of a supplier, it was a clear to me that this was a win win for us. In any event, there was nothing untoward to suggest that this offence would not have been dealt with as a caution when looked into by a RT Inspector. I would have certainly been consulted due to the weight of the drug, either way I would have had some involvement.

I decided to intervene and administer the caution myself. Unfortunately on the day in question I was unable to do so and so I left instructions for this to take place.

I would like to add that in both cases, there was consultation with other senior officers but I took the lead and facilitated them.

It is a real shame, or maybe a lack of being just, that the sergeant has not dug up more cautions that I have facilitated or administered. If he is saying I have abused my position because these two latest subjects came from a police background, maybe he should have compared the ratios for my previous cautions. I can assure you, I have cautioned or facilitated these to a much larger ratio of non police background offenders than those with police backgrounds. Following from this then, do those with a police background not merit cautions? Food for thought.

As I mentioned before, this is a clear case of victimization. Had these cautions been administered by any other senior officer would he have lodged this accusation? I don't think so, this is just what I asked him to do on a particular task [evidenced in the [redacted]], put more meat on the bone. He is trying to throw anything at me to cloud the real issue at hand. This sergeant has a problem of being challenged and asked to account for himself.

At the writing of this report, I have just been contacted by a sergeant seeking my views to caution two persons for a small amount of MDMA. I specifically asked him if they had a police background as this is relevant to this report, his answer was no. I will be meeting the sergeant to discuss the details of the arrest and see if they merit the caution.

Rest assured this will not end here. He likes getting his way and when he doesn't he will challenge those in authority.

I respectfully request that seeing that you will be seeking advice from the Director of Public Prosecution you enquire on my behalf of what recourse I may have. I am contemplating legal action as this is a clearly vindictive towards me and I do not take lightly the accusation made by this young and inexperienced sergeant. I can't accept this and in my humble opinion neither should RGP management.

I am at your disposal should you require anything else.

Dear Sir

RE: ALLEGATIONS MADE BY POLICE SERGEANT No. 8 [redacted]

I refer you to the above-described matter. I have now had an opportunity to peruse the documents forwarded to me by yourself and consider whether these support the allegations made by PS [redacted] against Chief Inspector [redacted] Both officers are members of the Royal Gibraltar Police.

Background

PS [redacted] submitted a report on 9 August 2019 to Superintendent [redacted] and Assistant Commissioner [redacted], alleging that on two separate occasions CI [redacted] committed the offence of "Misconduct in a Public Office" when applying a caution in respect of two individuals for the offence of possession of drugs. These two individuals, [redacted] and [redacted] are the sons of retired police officers. PS [redacted] alleges that CI [redacted] abused his authority and discretion when deciding to caution rather than charge these two for the offences committed.

In reviewing the decision to caution rather than to charge Mr [redacted] and Mr [redacted] I have taken into account the following documents:

1. Report submitted by PS [redacted] to Assistance Commissioner [redacted] and Superintendent [redacted].
2. Witness Statement of PS [redacted]
3. List of Exhibits by PS [redacted]
4. Grievance submitted by PS [redacted]
5. Report by CI [redacted]
6. Email thread between CI [redacted] Inspector [redacted] and Inspector [redacted]
7. Extracts from Superintendent [redacted] and Commissioner of Police Daybook

8. Caution by Police for years 2018/19 and April-September 2019

9. Royal Gibraltar Police Cautioning Policy

Mr [redacted] was arrested on 28 July 2019 for possession of 70g of Cannabis Resin. It appears that other than the fact that 70g is a larger amount than is usually found on a consumer, there appears to be nothing else to suggest that Mr [redacted] was involved in supplying drugs. No scales, list or other drugs paraphernalia was found. Furthermore, Mr [redacted] came well within the cautioning criteria as set out in the Royal Gibraltar Police Cautioning Policy. He had no previous convictions and he admitted the offence. The quantity itself, although not small, is not an amount which on its own would allow one to infer that it must have been intended to supply. Furthermore, if convicted, it is unlikely to have attracted a significant sentence.

In light of the above, I am of the opinion that the decision to caution Mr [redacted] cannot be seen as unreasonable or indeed an abuse of the discretion to caution. As such, CI [redacted] actions cannot, to a criminal standard, be described as "misconduct in a public office".

It is also of note that CI [redacted] decision was referred to senior management before it was executed, who endorsed his actions.

In the matter of Mr [redacted] it is clear from the correspondence that the decision itself was taken by the Commissioner of Police. Consequently, the allegations against CI [redacted] that his decision to caution Mr [redacted] constituted the offence of "misconduct in a public office" fails at its first hurdle. Mr [redacted] was arrested on 30 June 2018 for possession of MDMA, a Class A drug. Again, other than the drugs, nothing else was found in his possession and there is no suggestion he was involved in the supply of drugs.

As before, the decision itself falls within the parameters as set out by the Royal Gibraltar Police Cautioning Policy. This allows for a caution to be administered even for a Class A drug. To note, Mr [redacted] had no previous convictions, and admitted the offence. The amount was small and unlikely to attract a significant sentence. The decision to caution is not an abuse of the discretion to caution a Defendant, and so cannot attract a charge of "misconduct in a public office".

Should you wish to discuss the above any further please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours faithfully,

Michael Llamas QC

Dear Commissioner,

Re: Allegations against CI [redacted] by PS [redacted]

I have sought legal advice from HMGoG's Attorney General on this matter given the seriousness of the allegations directed against CI [redacted]

I am happy to confirm that none of the actions taken by CI [redacted] as described in PS [redacted] submissions, can be construed as 'Misconduct in Public Office', given that CI [redacted] acted in accordance with the RGP's current Cautioning Policy.

I can also confirm that the advice I have obtained also serves to affirms that no crime has been committed either by CI [redacted] or anybody else within the RGP, in relation to the cautioning of the individuals mentioned in the allegations.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you require any further information or clarification.

Item	Discussion and Decisions	Action
Declarations of Interest	There was nothing to report on this matter.
1. Item 1 – Approval of minutes of the meeting of 5th December 2019.	The minutes of the meeting held on 5th December were approved.	Sec
2. Item 2 – Matters arising from the minutes of meeting of the 5th December 2019.	Item 3.3 – Community Engagement The Ch informed the meeting that a total of 3004 survey responses had been received this year, compared to a total of 2960 responses received the previous year. The staff had distributed surveys by hand to Westside School, Bayside School and the College of further education. The responses are now in the process of being analysed. Once analysed, the Ch would liaise with Supt Ullger in order to reinforce what the Authority feels is of importance into the policing plan. The Ch asked the members to delve into their focus groups and see whether there were any specific observations or stances that should be included in the Policing Plan. RF mentioned that community policing is an issue that always seems to surface. As a result of this, the Ch suggested meeting with CI Nolan Romero.	Ch All members Elka to call CI Nolan Romero and seek his views, initially.

3. Item 3 – Sub-committees' Reports.	1. Policing Plan/Annual Report The Ch mentioned that the CoP should write a more elaborate introduction on the PP by putting everything into context in order to avoid people from having to dive straight in to 'dry' statistics. The Ch informed the meeting that the Policing Plan is a subset of the overall 3 year plan. The policing year is equal to the financial year. 2. Police Complaints Board FC read his report to the meeting. It was as follows: In 2019, a total of 24 complaints were received. Most were based on abuse of authority on part of the police officers. Of these 24, 8 complaints were not sustained, one was sustained, 3 were withdrawn, and 4 were subjudice. Currently, there are 8 ongoing cases of which two have requested for a review. One of them has been submitted back to the investigating team for review to see if what the complainant provides as new evidence has any bearing on their decision. One complaint is currently on hold as there is a criminal investigation carried out by the police. In 2020, there are currently 3 ongoing complaints on abuse of authority. One of the complaints was made over 3 years ago. However it has been decided to take on the complaint due to an error on part of the staff when writing out his email address. This complainant proved to be aggressive with the staff. As a result of the above, the staff is liaising with CI Perez and is now in the process of installing panic buttons in the office. 3. Community Engagement It was agreed that changes to the survey should be implemented for next year, specifically on the type of questions being asked. NC and RF volunteered to suggest changes and then circulate to all members for their views and comments. Views on the current website were also sought from members given Chair not happy with the present one.	Sec NC & RF

	4. Financial Control EL presented the figures for December 2019. EL mentioned that there were little differences in the accounts which were over budget compared to those of the month before. The largest over budget spend was in overtime. This was as a result of additional operational matters such as ad hoc emergencies and organised events such as the GMF and GFA. JA asked whether the RGP were compensated for these organised events and EL confirmed that they were but that the income would be posted by Treasury into another head. JA wanted to know why the income was not married to the expense and shown in this report and EG replied that that would require the RGP to have a devolved budget which was a step too far for GOG. Other smaller accounts which were also over budget were briefly discussed but EL explained that they were the same accounts that were over budget the previous month. EL mentioned that HMIC had taken two years to submit the invoice from the last inspection held in 2015. Consequently, funds for the inspection held in 2019 would be added into the GPA's budget for 2020/2021. Next financial year's estimates to include funding for HMIC 5. HR/Training/Professional Standards. Nothing to report on this matter. 6. Legislation/GPA Procedures Legislation Nothing to report on this matter.
5. Item 5 – Any other Business	Panorama The Ch informed the meeting that the Panorama had submitted questions to the secretary asking the ins and outs of the GPA. The Authority speculated that Panorama's source is the GPA's website which hasn't been updated in a while. The Authority agreed not to reply to their questions.	Ch

	Meeting with GPF & CoP The Ch gave an overview of the situation between the GPF and the RGP. He mentioned that he had asked the GPF for a policy based on the dignity at work, however the GPA would have to be the appellant body. The Ch suggested that the Authority should advise the CoP to seek guidance on how federations in the UK function. He also suggested advising the CoP to take a step back on the proposed disciplinary action against the GPF. However, the Authority will listen to his views on the matter at the meeting at 10:30 a.m.

The CoP joined the meeting and explained the situation between the GPF and the RGP. The meeting ended with the CoP agreeing to go down the route of mediation and review.

MINUTES OF MEETING OF THE GIBRALTAR POLICE AUTHORITY HELD ON THURSDAY 27th FEBRUARY 2020 at 09:30 a.m.

Present:	Dr Joey Britto (Ch) Mr Ernest Gomez (EG) Ms Claire Pizarello (CP) Miss Rebecca Figueras (RF) Ms Nadine Collado (NC) Mr Frank Carreras (FC)	Chairman
In attendance:	Ms Elka Hanglin (Sec)	Secretary
Apologies:	Mr Darren Grech (DG) Mr Julio Alcantara (JA) Mr Edgar Lavarello (EL) Mr Nick Pyle (NP)

Item	Discussion and Decisions	Action
Declarations of Interest	RF declared that her partner was applying for the RGP. RF would not be in a position to comment on any documents circulated in relation to his application or volunteer to be part of the recruitment board.
1. Item 1 – Approval of minutes of the meeting of 6th February 2019.	The minutes of the meeting held on 6th February were approved.	Sec
2. Item 2 – Matters arising from the minutes of meeting of the 6th February 2019.	Matters arising were discussed under Item 3 – Sub-committee Reports.
3. Item 3 – Sub-committees' Reports.	1. Policing Plan/Annual Report The Ch informed the meeting that he had received the first draft of the policing plan from AC Richard Ullger. AC Ullger had informed the Ch that the policing plan was not too different from the previous year, except that the RGP are now using a new risk assessment methodology as used in the UK. The Ch informed the meeting that the CoP and the AC had both received the survey results at the same time as the Authority.

	The Ch will ensure that the main trends emerging from the public consultation survey are reflected in the Plan. The Ch will circulate once finalised.	Ch
	2. Police Complaints Board
	The Ch informed the meeting that he had communicated to the CoP that every person going to the RGP to make a complaint were being redirected to the PCB, regardless of the nature of the complaint. It was noted that there is no current protocol outlining a 'threshold' as to the type of complaints that should be directed at the PCB and which ones should really be addressed directly by the RGP. The Ch informed the meeting that he had checked the Policing College website for information on how policing works in the UK – UK forces tend to deal with complaints of a more minor nature themselves – it was noted that the PCB seem to deal with ALL complaints against police officers. The Ch informed the meeting that a high percentage of the public believe that the Authority is part of the RGP. Even the GPA logo closely resembles that of the RGP. FC informed the meeting that he and the Ch had met with senior command of the RGP to discuss a number of issues and concerns arising from a number of complaints which could subsequently affect the results of the PCB's investigations. FC referred to one complaint where the incriminated officer refused to give a statement. However, there is provision in the law to allow an officer not to give a report. The CoP had informed FC at the meeting that if a similar incidence were to occur in the future, the PCB should side with the complainant. However, FC did not think it was fair to do that. FC mentioned that findings of the board are now being questioned by a lot of the complainants. This has happened on two occasions. The latest complainant was informed that his complaint in relation to his assault was time barred and thus could not be investigated. However, the PCB did investigate why it had taken the RGP so long to investigate the assault. FC would draft a letter informing the complainant that his complaint in relation to his assault does not come under the remit of the PCB and his complaint should be directed to the RGP. It was agreed that complaints where the PCB feel can be resolved face to face will be directed to the RGP. FC reported that there were 8 ongoing cases from 2019 and 3 ongoing cases in 2020. One complaint was withdrawn by the complainant.	FC

	3. Community Engagement The Ch, NC and RF met on Monday to review the questions on the current public consultation survey. The Ch tabled the reviewed survey and mentioned that many of the questions were repeated and meaningless. Questions were amended to reflect more of what the police does on a day to day basis. Data will consequently be more relevant to policing. The Sec would circulate the reviewed changes to all members. The Ch informed the meeting that he had seen the revised RGP website and stated that it was excellent and contained a lot of information for the community. The Ch informed GPA that he was working on minor changes to the wording of the ACT to ensure a) that the reality of what the GPA actually does is better reflected and b) that the evolution of the RGP, in terms of its responsibilities towards 'community engagement' are also better reflected. The Ch mentioned, as an example, that whereas the Act expects the GPA to keep the public informed of policing issues, it was actually the RGP that is currently doing this. He also pointed out that this approach made more sense. Chief Insp Nolan Romero joined at the request of the GPA to assist in gaining a better understanding of the work that the RGP does within the wider community and to inform the GPA about the means by which the RGP interacts with the community. This proved to be a very useful and informative exercise. The GPA then discussed (with CI Romero) different ways and means to ensure that the general public is kept informed about the good work the RGP does in this respect. 4. Financial Control Nothing to report. 5. HR/Training/Professional Standards. Nothing to report. 6. Legislation/GPA Procedures Nothing to report.	Sec Sec

5. Item 5 – Any other Business	Recent Press article(s) Recent press 'coverage' of the GPA and RGP was discussed. GPA would continue to monitor but it was, again, decided that it was best not to respond.
6. Item 6 – Confirmation of next meeting	The next meeting will take place on Thursday 9th April 2020 at 9:30a.m.	Sec

Dear Sirs,

Re: Inquiry into the Retirement of the Former Commissioner of Police ("the Inquiry") – Mr Francis Carreras

We are grateful for the witness statement provided to the Inquiry by your client, Mr Frank Carreras, in response to the Inquiry's request for evidence from several past and present members of the Gibraltar Police Authority dated 23 September 2022. We repeat the information set out in that letter as to the Inquiry's remit and evidence gathering powers.

According to paragraph 1 of Mr Carreras's statement, it was made in his capacity as a member of the Gibraltar Police Authority. However, as he notes in paragraph 10, Mr Carreras also held the role of Chairman of the Police Complaints Board ("PCB") during the relevant period. It appears that he remains in this role.[1]

We therefore request that Mr Carreras provides:

1. A further statement under oath addressing the following questions:

    a. In paragraph 10, Mr Carreras describes receiving complaints from two individuals about Mr McGrail's handling of the Airport Incident. Were these complaints and/or the outcome that "the PCB did not find that Mr McGrail had abused his authority" communicated to anyone outside the Police Complaints Board, including but not limited to Mr Nick Pyle, Mr Michael Llamas or Mr Fabian Picardo?

[1] http://www.gpa.gi/police-complaints-board.html

b. In paragraph 21, Mr Carreras states that he is "not aware of any allegations or complaints made in respect of bullying and/or intimidation by Mr McGrail". Please confirm whether this statement is intended to refer to complaints made to the GPA, or whether it is also Mr Carreras's evidence that no complaints of this nature were made to the Police Complaints Board.

c. Were any further complaints received by the Police Complaints Board in respect of Mr McGrail's involvement in any of the following matters, as defined in the Inquiry's Provisional List of Issues:[2]

   i. The Assault Investigation;
   ii. The Incident at Sea;
   iii. The HMIC Report;
   iv. The Conspiracy Investigation and/or Search Warrants;
   v. The Federation Complaints; or
   vi. The Alcaidesa Claims.

d. If yes, were any of these complaints and/or the outcome of any investigation communicated to anyone outside the Police Complaints Board, including but not limited to Mr Nick Pyle, Mr Michael Llamas or Mr Fabian Picardo?

2. Any documents or communications (including but not limited to electronic communications such as emails, word documents, PDFs and SMS, WhatsApp or other instant messages) in your possession or control relevant to the matters in paragraph 1 above. Please note that all electronic documents are to be provided in their native format with the original metadata preserved.

Please provide us with the requested statement and documents by 2 March 2023 ('the Deadline') We would be willing to consider reasonable requests for additional time, if so required.

In the meantime, if you have any queries or concerns please do not hesitate to contact us.

Yours faithfully

TRIAY.

STATUTORY POWERS OF POLICE TO SEARCH PREMISES AND THE RIGHTS OF OCCUPIERS

THE OCCUPIER SHOULD KEEP THIS FORM IN A SAFE PLACE IN CASE IT IS NEEDED FOR FUTURE REFERENCE. THE STATUTORY POWERS TO SEARCH PREMISES AND OF THE RIGHTS OF OCCUPIERS ARE SUMMARISED BELOW

SUMMARY OF POWERS OF SEARCH UNDER THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE AND EVIDENCE ACT 2011

Statutory Powers: The following summaries are taken from the Sections shown

1. Section 21 (Entry for purposes of arrest, etc): A Police Officer may enter and search any premises for the purpose of
   a) Executing a warrant of arrest issued in connection with or arising out of criminal proceedings / or a warrant of commitment issued under Section 53 of the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980;
   b) Arresting a person for an indictable offence; or
   c) Arresting a person for an offence under Section 79 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Prohibition of uniforms in connection with political objects), Sections 332, 333, 339, 340 or 341 of the Crimes Act 2011 (Offences relating to trespass on property), Section 53(3) of the Traffic Act 2011 (Failure to stop when required to do so by a Police Officer in uniform), and Section 62 of the Traffic Act 2011 (Driving, or being in charge, when under the influence of drink or drugs);
   d) Arresting any juvenile who has been remanded or detained under this Act;
   e) Recapturing a person who is or is deemed for any purpose to be, unlawfully at large while liable to be detained in a prison or other place of detention;
   f) Recapturing a person who is unlawfully at large and whom the officer is pursuing; or
   g) Preventing death or personal injury or serious damage to property.
2. Section 22(1) (Entry and Search after arrest – Inspector's PRIOR written authority required): A Police Officer may enter and search any premises occupied or controlled by a person under arrest for an indictable offence, if he has reasonable grounds for suspecting there is on the premises evidence, other than items subject to legal privilege, that relates to that offence or to some other indictable offence connected with or similar to that offence. Except as provided by Section 22(5) (below), no search may take place under the Section unless an officer of the rank of Inspector or above has given written authority.
3. Section 22(3) (Entry and Search after arrest – Inspector's prior authority not required but MUST be authorised as soon as practicable after search): A Police Officer may conduct a search as shown in paragraph 2 above without obtaining the written authority of an Inspector if above where the arrested person has not yet been taken to the Police Station and he/she considers it necessary elsewhere for the effective investigation of the offence.
4. Section 94(2)(b) (Search upon arrest): Where a person has been arrested for an indictable offence at a place other than a Police Station, Police Officer shall have the power to enter and search any premises in which he was when arrested, or immediately before he was arrested, for evidence relating to the offence for which he has been arrested.
5. Reasonable Force: In the exercise of a power to search premises, Police may use reasonable force to enter the premises and carry out the search.
6. With Consent: A Police Officer may enter and search any premises with the written consent of a person entitled to grant entry to the premises.

SUMMARY OF POWERS OF SEIZURE UNDER THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE AND EVIDENCE ACT 2011

1. Where a Police Officer is searching premises under the powers conferred by Section 22, he may seize and retain evidence relating to the indictable offence for which the person is under arrest or evidence relating to another indictable offence connected with or similar to the indictable offence by which the person is under arrest.
2. Where a Police Officer is lawfully on premises, he may seize anything which he has reasonable grounds for believing
   a) Has been obtained in consequence of an offence and that it is necessary to seize it in order to prevent it being concealed, lost, damaged, altered or destroyed; or
   b) Is evidence in relation to an offence which he is investigating, or any other, being concealed, lost, altered or destroyed.
3. Instead of seizing property, an officer may require that the holder of the property retains it. If the holder then disposes, alters or destroys it, he may be liable to civil or criminal proceedings (Para. 7.4 of Code B - Codes of Practice).
4. Normally, no item may be seized which is subject to legal privilege (as defined in Section 14) (Para. 7.2 of Code B - Codes of Practice). There are however some exceptions to this rule (e.g. when powers are exercised under Sections 23 to 40 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011).
5. An officer may photograph or copy, or have photographed or copied, any document which he has the power to seize (Para. 7.8 of Code B - Codes of Practice).
6. Where information is held on a computer, an officer may require it to be produced in a legible form so that it can be taken away (Para. 7.6 of Code B - Codes of Practice).

RIGHTS OF THE OCCUPIER / OWNER OF PROPERTY

1. General: Searches must be made at a reasonable hour unless the might frustrate the purpose of the search (Para. 6.2 of Code B - Codes of Practice). If any of your property is kept by the Police, you are entitled, on request, to be provided with a list or description of the property within a reasonable time (Para. 7.10 of Code B - Codes of Practice). If you wish, you, or your representative will be allowed supervised access to your property so that you can examine it or have it photographed or copied. Alternatively you may be provided with a photograph or copy in other cases you are responsible for the costs. Access, etc. will not be allowed if the officer in charge of an investigation believes that this would prejudice the investigation of an offence or any criminal proceedings (Para. 7.11 of Code B - Codes of Practice).
2. Search Warrant: A copy of the warrant should, if practicable, be given to the occupier before the search begins (Para. 5.8 of Code B - Codes of Practice). If the occupier is not present, copies of the warrant and the items should be left in a prominent place (Para. 5.8 of Code B - Codes of Practice).
3. Search with Consent: Consent to a search must be given in writing (Para. 5.1 of Code B - Codes of Practice). Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para. 5.3 of Code B - Codes of Practice). Where consent is withdrawn before the search is completed, the search must stop (Para. 5.3 of Code B - Codes of Practice). If you reside in a lodging house or similar accommodation, your landlord can consent to your room (or rooms) being searched if you are unavailable at the time and the matter is urgent (Note for Guidance 5A to Code B - Codes of Practice).
4. Compensation for Damage: Compensation may be payable in appropriate cases for damage caused in entering and searching premises. An application for compensation may be made in writing to: The Commissioner of Police, Police Headquarters, New Mole House Police Station, Gibraltar.
5. Codes of Practice: A copy of the "Code of Practice for the Searching of Premises by Police Officers and the Seizure of Property found by Police Officers on Persons or Premises" - Code B, is available for you to consult at any Police Station. This Notice is a summary only of the main provisions of the Code, which should be consulted if you require further details (Para. 1.1(a) of Code B - Codes of Practice).

The contents of this document will be processed in strict compliance with the Royal Gibraltar Police's policy on Data Protection, which has been amended in accordance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2004.

Police Complaints Board, Complaint against an RGP Officer(s)

[redacted]

Details:

Name: Sgt Scott John O'Malley, Royal Air Force Police, Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU)

[redacted]

Who:

Police Officer details:
Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail, RGP – Applied for warrant and was senior investigator.
Detective Chief Inspector, Wayne Tunbridge, RGP – Executed the warrant on the day in question.

Where:

JPSU offices, Gunwharf, HM Naval Base

[redacted]

When:

1 Mar 17, 1400 – 1540

What:

Who was involved?
Sgt Scott O'Malley
MAA Claire Bell
FS Al Macdonald
Cpl Leanne Buehling

What:

DCI Tunbridge acted outside the remit of the warrant that was served on JPSU by seizing my personal devices from my home address, neither I or my home address were specified on the warrant, I did not consent verbally or in writing to this, he breached both the human rights act (Article 8) in relation to the above named people involved and also Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice. I also believe I was unlawfully detained for a period of time at JPSU and also within my own house whilst my personal items were being seized.

Witnesses:

Sgt Rebecca Kinsey, Nurse, PRMC.
[redacted] wife of Sgt Scott O'Malley · [redacted] daughter of Sgt and Mrs O'Malley.

Damage/injury:

No damage, no physical injury. Emotional injury: [redacted]

Précis of events:

On 1 Mar 17 it is my belief that the RGP clearly acted outside the extent of a Warrant that was served upon my place of work, taking personnel either to their private motor vehicles, private home addresses or private living Accommodation to make various seizures of Private Mobile phones and other articles. It is my belief that the RGP had no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and unlawfully and illegally entered private premises and vehicles to seize such items.

The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf, and upon Sqn Ldr Chris Collins whom was not present at the scene. – it does not extend to the RGP escorting Mrs Bell to a private motor vehicle to seize an article, it did not extend to RGP escorting Mr McDonald to his private motor vehicle, in order to seize his private mobile phone, it did not extend to the RGP escorting me to my family home at [redacted] and entering those premises, to seize my private mobile phone and it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her private living accommodation at Devils Tower Camp, entering those premises and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of our liberty and of our free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached the human rights of all of us citing this complaint under Article 5/7/8 of European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) and Article 7/8, Human Rights Act (HRA) 1998. I was never under arrest however; personal mobile phones were seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy.

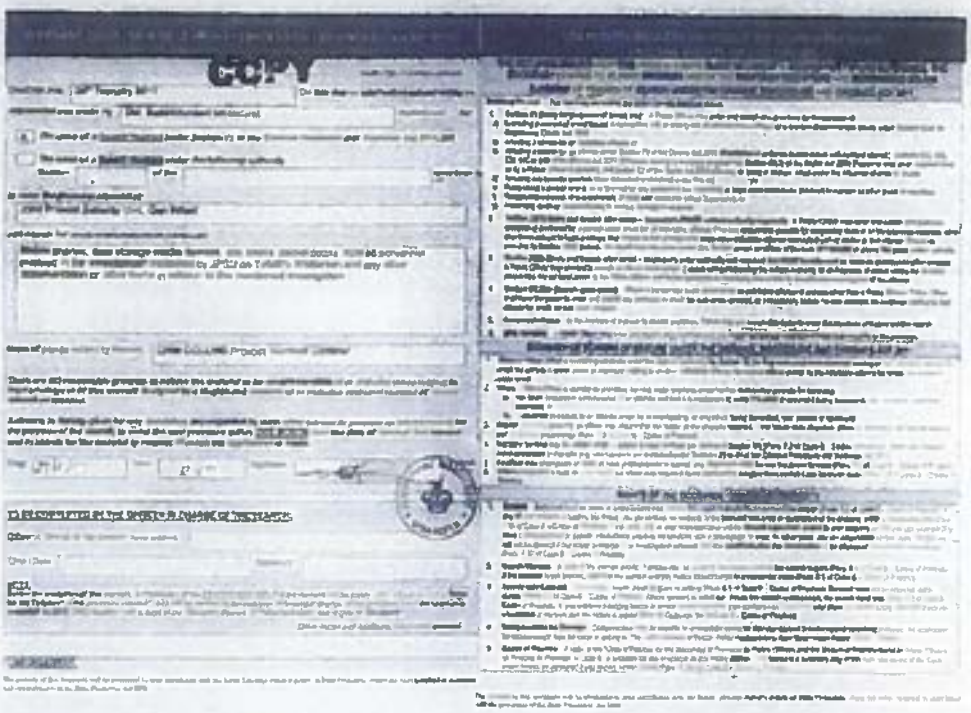
Finally, to end, we would like to complain about the unprofessional way the search was actually conducted. The RGP did not wear any PPE, not even the minimum of a pair of gloves were worn, no photographs were taken of the articles prior to them being seized and more disturbingly, no information was ever sought regarding the occupants of a private home addresses which included my wife and [redacted] daughter. No justification was ever given on what articles were seized or not seized. No Explanation was ever given to us regarding the powers used to seize or retain such articles.

Below is an accurate précis of the events that occurred on 1 Mar 17 and a copy of the warrant served.

At approximately 1340 on 21 Mar 17, Mrs Claire Bell received a T/C from DCI Wayne Tunbridge who stated she was required to attend the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) at Her Majesty's Naval Base Gibraltar, she was instructed to round up her team and that he had a Warrant to conduct a search of JPSU and that he would explain further upon her arrival. He said he would not enter until her arrival.

At 1400, upon request of the RGP, I escorted the RGP into JPSU offices. DCI W Tunbridge, RGP spoke to me when they were interrupted by another RGP officer who stated "has the Warrant been served?" to which DI Tunbridge stated "yes".

The warrant was applied for by Det Sup McGrail on 24 Feb 17 and signed by the magistrate on 27 Feb 17 at 1220. The name of the person subject to the warrant was Chris COLLINS Provost Marshal Gibraltar. It stated the warrant was to enter the premises situated at "Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf" and search for "Mobile Phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson and any other documentation or other items in relation to this mentioned investigation" I expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and expressed concerns about having to surrender my personal mobile device.



At 1405 Mrs Claire Bell, liaised with DCI Tunbridge. Again the Warrant was served on her she stated her disbelief and "you are just about to serve a warrant on another policing agency, can you at least speak with Deputy Provost Marshall (Navy) (DPM (N))?" DCI Tunbridge stated that a decision had come from higher and that he was serving the Warrant and that DPM (N) needed to speak with the Commissioner not him. Mrs Claire Bell signed and was given the copy of the warrant.

Both Mrs Bell and I continued to express concerns to DCI Tunbridge. He stated that the decision had come from higher up and was only acting on orders. He stated that he had no choice but to carry out the warrant. This statement did not seem very genuine.

At 1417, Mrs Bell was escorted out of JPSU offices to a vehicle which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of her Service Police Notebook. No warrant was produced to enter the vehicle. Mrs Bell was then escorted back into the JPSU building and at 1425; her private personal mobile device was seized, which contained personal information. Mrs Bell handed her mobile device over under duress and without consent either written or verbal. Mrs Bell expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and about having to surrender her personal mobile device, when she questioned the police officer at the time "why they are taking her personal phone" he replied "because they needed it".

At 1419, Mr A McDonald was escorted out of JPSU to his vehicle, which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of his personal mobile device, containing personal information. No warrant was produced to enter the vehicle. On completion of the search of Mr Macdonald's office he requested if he could leave as he had arranged to go in to Town with his wife. This request was denied by RGP who stated that they would rather remain until the search of JPSU was completed. Mr McDonald was not in arrest and his liberty was denied.

At 1515, I again spoke with DCI Tunbridge challenging the requirement to seize his personal phone, as I was not in arrest, I again expressed my concerns and the property they were demanding were at my home address [redacted]

DCI, Tunbridge stated that I would be escorted to his home address by an RGP officer and I was to hand them over there. At 1516, I departed JPSU in company with an RGP officer to produce my mobile phones. At 1538, I entered my home address, the RGP officer entered behind me uninvited and in front of my worried and distraught wife, [redacted] daughter, [redacted] upon request and in fear of being arrested I handed over under duress and without consent either written or verbal over, my mobile devices, duty mobile phone and service police notebook. The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show me his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking my property, he did not tell me what offence was being investigated or what part he believed I played in it, he did not explain what would happen to my property and did not give me a receipt for the property. I subsequently returned to JPSU. I was not in arrest at any time however during the course of their actions that day I believe that I had been unlawfully detained, against my will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1600, Miss L Buehling was escorted out of JPSU and escorted by RGP to her living accommodating at Devil Tower Camp, (DTC) in order to surrender her personnel mobile device, which contained personal date. Miss Buehling expressed her concerns at the time even stating "she did not want to hand over her personal phone" but she was informed by RGP that "she had to". She handed over her phone without consent either written or verbally and under duress. Miss Buehling subsequently returned to JPSU. Miss Buehling was not in arrest.

I make my complaint on two primary grounds but with each amounting to various breaches namely:

1. The RGP have no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and have unlawfully and illegally entered private premises by which to seize such articles. The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitles them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf – it does not extend to the RGP escorting me to my SFA at Europa Point entering those premises and it did not extend to the RGP escorting Cpl Buehling to her SLA at DTC and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of liberty and of their free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

2. More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached the human rights of JPSU staff under Article7/8 of ECHR and Article 7/8, HRA 1998. MAA Bell, FSgt Macdonald, Cpl Buehling and I were not arrested however personal mobile phones were seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails etc. I would like this matter to be investigated and receive advice on under what legislation the RGP can interrogate my phone and the admissibility of any material obtained by such an intrusive interrogation of personal data.

There is a delay in this complaint which is due to having been promised an independent review of the whole investigation. I have recently been informed will now not take place, the request of my Chain of Command to wait due to on-going legislation with GoG and MOD that could be impacted by this complaint and the perceived threat of low-level on-going harassment from the RGP for the remainder of my time here in Gibraltar, which thankfully is now coming to an end. I still wish this complaint to be pursued for my own sanity, health and wellbeing and also to get closure for what has been a very difficult and stressful two and a half years.

Finally, we have heard that the investigation is not formally closed, the Chief of Police has threatened to reopen the case at any time and that I may have been part of this wider investigation to that end, in line with the Subject Access Request, I wish to know what information the RGP hold on me.

I give my consent for you to pass the information contained on the letter to the professional standards department of the RGP on connection with the investigation of this complaint.

Police Complaints Board, Complaint against an RGP Officer(s)

[redacted]

Details:

Name: Mrs C L Bell. Royal Navy Police

[redacted]

Who:

Police Officer details:
Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail, RGP – Applied for warrant and was senior investigator.
Detective Chief Inspector, Wayne Tunbridge, RGP – Executed the warrant on the day in question.

Where:

JPSU offices, Gunwharf, HM Naval Base
Private Motor Vehicle (PMV) (Mr Macdonald).

When:

1 Mar 17, 1400 – 1540

What:

Who was involved?
Mrs Claire Bell
Mr Scott O'Malley
Mr Al Macdonald
Mrs Leanne Buehling

What:

DCI Tunbridge acted outside the remit of the warrant that was served on JPSU by seizing articles namely my Service Police Notebook from a PMV belonging which belonged to Mr Macdonald, neither I or the PMV were specified on the warrant, I did not consent verbally or in writing to this, DCI Tunbridge breached both the human rights act (Article 8) in relation to the above named people involved and also Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice by seizing my private mobile telephone. I also believe I was unlawfully detained for a period of time at JPSU whilst my personal mobile telephone was being seized.

Witnesses:

Mr Scott O'Malley
Mr Al Macdonald
Miss Leanne Buehling

Damage/injury:

No damage (unsure if my personal mobile telephone has been interrogated by the RGP), no physical injury. Emotional injury: [redacted]

Précis of events:

On 1 Mar 17 it is my belief that the RGP clearly acted outside the extent of a Warrant that was served upon my place of work, taking personnel either to their private motor vehicles, private home addresses or private living Accommodation to make various seizures of Private Mobile phones and other articles. It is my belief that the RGP had no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and unlawfully and illegally entered private premises and vehicles to seize such items.

The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf, it did not extend to, the RGP escorting myself to a Private Motor Vehicle (PMV) to seize my private mobile telephone, it did not extend to RGP escorting Mr McDonald to his PMV, in order to seize his private mobile phone, it did not extend to the RGP escorting Mr O'Malley to his family home at [redacted] and entering those premises, to seize his private mobile phone and it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her private living accommodation at Devils Tower Camp, entering those premises and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of our liberty and of our free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached the human rights of all of us citing this complaint under Article7/8 of European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) and Article 7/8, Human Rights Act (HRA) 1998. I was never under arrest however; my personal mobile telephone was seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy.

Finally, to end, I would like to complain about the unprofessional way the search was actually conducted. The RGP did not wear any PPE, not even the minimum of a pair of gloves were worn, no photographs were taken of the articles prior to them being seized and more disturbingly, no information was ever sought regarding the occupants of a private home addresses which included Mr O'Malley's wife and [redacted] daughter. No justification was ever given on what articles were seized or not seized. No Explanation was ever given to us regarding the powers used to seize or retain such articles.

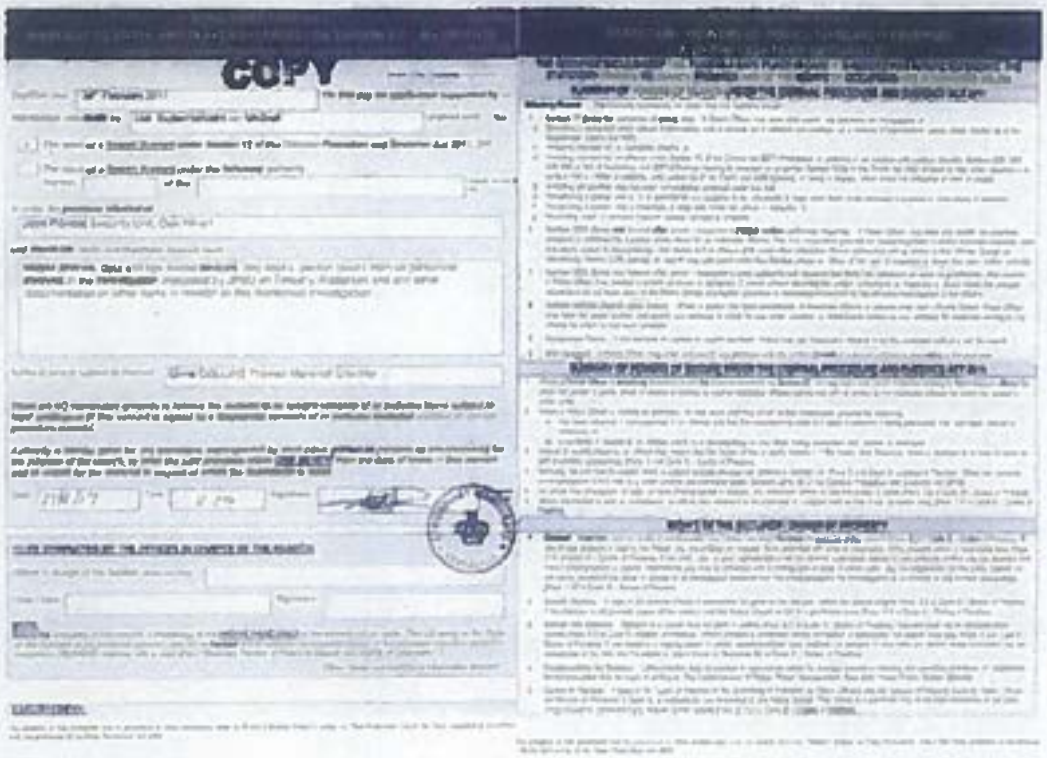
Below is an accurate précis of the events that occurred on 1 Mar 17 and a copy of the warrant served.

At approximately 1340 on 1 Mar 17, I received a telephone call from DCI Wayne Tunbridge who stated I was required to attend the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) at Her Majesty's Naval Base Gibraltar, I was instructed to round up my team and that he had a Warrant to conduct a search of JPSU and that he would explain further upon her arrival. He said he would not enter until my arrival. I left my house immediately leaving my wife in a very distressful state as she did know what may happen to me.

At 1400, upon request of the RGP, Mr O'Malley escorted the RGP into JPSU offices. DCI W Tunbridge, RGP spoke to him when they were interrupted by another RGP officer who stated, "has the Warrant been served?" to which DCI Tunbridge stated "yes".

The warrant was applied for by Det Sup McGrail on 24 Feb 17 and signed by the magistrate on 27 Feb 17 at 1220. The name of the person subject to the warrant was Chris COLLINS Provost Marshal Gibraltar. It stated the warrant was to enter the premises situated at "Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf" and search for "Mobile Phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson and any other documentation or other items in relation to this mentioned investigation"

Mr O'Malley expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and expressed concerns about having to surrender his personal mobile device.



At 1405, I liaised with DCI Tunbridge. the Warrant was served on me, in disbelief I stated, "you are just about to serve a warrant on another policing agency, can you at least speak with Deputy Provost Marshall (Navy) (DPM (N))?" DCI Tunbridge stated that a decision had come from higher and that he was serving the Warrant and that DPM (N) needed to speak with the Commissioner not him. I signed the warrant and was subsequently given a copy of the warrant.

Both myself and Mr O'Malley continued to express concerns to DCI Tunbridge regarding the seizure of our private mobile telephones. He stated that the decision had come from higher up and was only acting on orders. He stated that he had no choice but to carry out the warrant. This statement did not seem very genuine.

DCI Tunbridge stated to me "in a few days we will be laughing about this over a few beers", I replied to DCI Tunbridge "we will never laugh about this, nor will we ever have a beer together"

At 1417, I was escorted out of JPSU offices to a vehicle which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of my Service Police Notebook. No warrant was produced to enter the PMV. I was then escorted back into the JPSU building and at 1425, my private personal mobile telephone was seized, which contained personal information and the device was my only way of communicating to my family back in the UK. In fear of being arrested, I handed my mobile telephone over to the police officer, under duress and without consent either written or verbal. I expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and about having to surrender my personal mobile device, when I questioned the police officer at the time "why they are taking my personal phone" he replied, "because they needed it".

The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show me his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking my property, he did not tell me what offence was being investigated or what part he believed I played in it, he did not explain what would happen to my property and did not give me a receipt for my personal property. I was not in arrest at any time however during course of the day I do believe that I had been unlawfully detained against my will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1419, Mr A McDonald was escorted out of JPSU to his vehicle, which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of his personal mobile device, containing personal information. No warrant was produced to enter the vehicle. On completion of the search of Mr Macdonald's office he requested if he could leave as he had arranged to go in to Town with his wife. This request was denied by RGP who stated he had to remain until the search of JPSU was completed. Mr McDonald was not in arrest and his liberty was denied.

At 1515, Mr O'Malley again spoke with DCI Tunbridge challenging the requirement to seize his personal phone, as he was not in arrest, he again expressed his concerns and the property they were demanding were at his home address [redacted]

DCI, Tunbridge stated that he would be escorted to his home address by an RGP officer and he was to hand them over there. At 1516, he departed JPSU in company with an RGP officer to produce his mobile phones. At 1538, Mr O'Malley entered his Service Family Accomodation (SFA) the RGP officer entered behind him, uninvited and in front of his very worried and distraught wife, [redacted] and [redacted] daughter, [redacted] in fear of being arrested, under duress and without consent either written or verbal he handed over his mobile devices, duty mobile phone and service police notebook. The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show him his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking his property, he did not tell him what offence was being investigated or what part he believed Mr O'Malley played in it, he did not explain what would happen to his property and did not give him a receipt for the property. Mr O'Malley subsequently returned to JPSU. He was not in arrest at any time however during the course of that day I believe that he had been unlawfully detained, against his will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1600, Miss L Buehling was escorted out of JPSU and escorted by RGP to her Service Living Accommodating (SLA) at Devil Tower Camp, (DTC) to surrender her personnel mobile device, which contained personal date. Miss Buehling expressed her concerns at the time even stating, "she did not want to hand over her personal phone" but she was informed by RGP that "she had to". She handed over her phone without consent either written or verbally and under duress. Miss Buehling subsequently returned to JPSU. Miss Buehling was not in arrest.

I make my complaint on two primary grounds but with each amounting to various breaches namely:

1. The RGP have no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and have unlawfully and illegally entered PMV and private premises by which to seize such articles. The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf – it did not extend to the RGP escorting me to a PMV, escorting Mr O'Malley to the SFA at Europa Point entering those premises and making seizures, it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her SLA at DTC and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of liberty and of theirs and my own free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

2. More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached my human rights under Article7/8 of ECHR and Article 7/8, HRA 1998. Mr O'Malley, Mr Macdonald, Miss Buehling and I were not arrested however personal mobile phones were seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails etc. I would like this matter to be investigated and receive advice on under what legislation the RGP can interrogate my phone and the admissibility of any material obtained by such an intrusive interrogation of personal data.

There has been a delay in submitting my complaint, due to being informed by GoG and the MOD that and independent enquiry would take place, which would have highlighted the unlawful actions of the RGP and the unlawful treatment of MOD personnel. However, that enquiry has not taken place and is not taken place. There is also a delay in submitting this complaint due to the fear and threat of low-level harassment from the RGP, whilst I was still in Gibraltar. Now I am safely back in the UK away from the RGP who I view as having acted unlawfully, unethically and unscrupulously in this instance, I wish to submit my complaint.

Finally, I have been informed that the now Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail at a recent conference stated that the investigation could be re-opened at any time "he wishes". I am seriously concerned with this comment. I had in the past been informed that I may have been part of the wider investigation, which may have resulted in my arrest, to that end in line with the Subject Access Request, I wish to know what information the RGP hold on me.

I give my consent for you to pass the information contained on the letter to the professional standards department of the RGP in connection with the investigation of this complaint.

Mr Frank Carreras OBE
Police Complaints Board
25B Casemates Square
Gibraltar

Dear Mr Carreras,

RE:- Complaint made by Mr Scott O'Malley and Ms Claire Bell

I have been requested by yourself to provide information in response to a complaint received by the Police Complaints Board from the two above mentioned persons.

I understand that your request is pursuant to Regulation 9(1) of the Police Complaints Regulations 2006 and the information I am imparting will then be considered by you to determine whether a formal investigation is required under Regulation 12(1).

I further understand that the complainants have named Supt Tunbridge and myself in their respective submissions as the officers responsible for the alleged breaches of professional standards. In this report and accompanying appendices I will endeavor to provide you with as much assistance possible to aid your decision making process.

CONTEXT

The submissions by Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley are borne out from the infamous incident of the 8th February 2017 when the RGP made a key intervention to prevent a military aircraft from departing RAF Gibraltar with a suspected offender and evidence on board. I feel it is important to make this the starting point in my response to the complaints as it provides context to all the events that unfolded post to the said intervention and this includes the contact RGP officers had with the complainants. In this regard I append my report (Appendix – A) of the incident dated 10th February 2017 addressed to the Commissioner of Police and a covering report by the then Commissioner Mr Edward Yome. Both these reports were shared by Mr Yome with His Excellency the Governor and Chief Minister.

At the time of this incident I held the rank of Detective Superintendent and was the Divisional Commander of the Crime and Protective Services Division which is basically the detective division. Supt Wayne Tunbridge was my deputy and held the rank of Detective Chief Inspector.

It is also important at this stage to highlight that I have not had any personal dealings or contact with Ms Bell on this matter other than her being present at a meeting in the Attorney General's office on 22nd February 2017 which was attended by the Provost Marshall (Navy) Cmndr Jack Hawkins and his deputy. She offered no input at this meeting and there was no need for me to engage with her either – she merely sat in.

As far as Mr O'Malley is concerned, the only contact I have had with him was on the 8th February 2017 as described in my report (Appendix- A page 10, 4th paragraph down and page 11, 3rd paragraph down). This contact was very brief, courteous and professional. My understanding is that Mr O'Malley has made absolutely no reference to this encounter and therefore it is not subject of his complaint.

I have not had any further contact whatsoever with Ms Bell or Mr O'Malley.

EVENTS OF THE 1ST March 2017

Several meetings were held to discuss the behaviours and potential criminal liabilities between 4th and 8th February 2017 of Colonel Frank Green the Chief-of-Staff for British Forces Gibraltar, Squadron Leader Chris Collins RAF Police and head of Gibraltar Joint Provost Security Unit and Wing Commander Liz Hutchinson Station Commander for RAF Gibraltar. An executive decision was taken that the three had to face due process for possible criminal offences. Consequently, plans were initiated to (i) secure evidence to support our suspicions that they had attempted and conspired to pervert the course of justice and had also obstructed police in the execution of our duty and (ii) to arrest the said three military officials and pursue a criminal investigation under the code name Operation 'Apache'. Supt Tunbridge was appointed Senior Investigating Officer (SIO) for this operation.

In brief, a plan was devised which entailed searching the offices of Colonel Green at The Tower, the premises of the Joint Provost Security Unit (JPSU) under the control of Squadron leader Collins at Gun Wharf and the offices of Wing Commander Hutchinson at RAF Gibraltar as indeed the western hangar. The arrest of these officials was also factored in to the plan. Members of the Crime and Protective Services Division were split up in to three groups each headed by a senior ranking police officer. Ch Insp Perez (then an inspector) and his team were assigned to deal with Wing Commander Hutchinson and RAF Gibraltar, Supt Tunbridge and his team were detailed to the JPSU and I led a team that was to tackle The Tower.

Given the high profile exposure the matter had previously attracted and was likely to attract once we carried out further executive action, I took it upon myself to lay the information before the stipendiary magistrate and apply for search warrants for the premises referred to above. That I obtained all four warrants under my name did not mean that personally I had to be present at the searches or execute the warrants myself. Once signed by the relevant authority, a search warrant can be executed by any constable even if they are not the one named on the warrant.

The strike was planned to occur simultaneously on 1st March once we had established that Squadron Leader Collins was airborne on a return flight from the UK to Gibraltar. A simultaneous strike is a recognized police tactic when tackling more than one location which are subject of the same operation. The purpose of this is obvious; to try and ensure the rounding up of suspects and evidence and mitigate risk of the disposal or attempted disposal of evidence or indeed the absconding of suspects or the warning of each other of the police action.

There is no requirement for me to offer explanations on the actions carried out by Ch Insp Perez's team at RAF Gibraltar as these are not subject of any complaint. I will therefore focus on the actions that both Supt Tunbridge and I carried out.

You will straight away realize that I had no dealings with the complainants as alluded to earlier in this report. However, I will be explaining my actions on the day which will disclose a very similar situation to the one my colleague Supt Tunbridge faced at JPSU Gunwharf. Unlike the latter, my actions have not given cause for a complaint from the persons I dealt with at The Tower.

At 1325Hrs on 1st March 2019, whilst maintaining open communications with the two other strike teams I gave the go-ahead to proceed to enter the premises covered by the search warrants. In my case, once inside The Tower courtyard I detailed some officers to cover the offices of the Chief-of-Staff Colonel Green (the office subject of the warrant) whilst I made my presence known at the office of the Commander British Forces (CBF), Commodore Mike Walliker. With him in the office at the time was the Command Secretary Mr Richard Johnson. Though both these gentlemen knew who I was I nonetheless identified myself with my warrant card and explained that I was acting in the execution of my duty as a police officer within The Tower. I proceeded to explain the reasons why I was there with a team of RGP officers. I also explained to them what my intentions were and showed CBF the search warrant for Colonel Green's office.

Together with CBF we walked over to Colonel Green's office where upon entry and explaining to the Colonel the reasons for the RGP's presence there, I arrested Colonel Green on suspicion of (i) attempting to pervert the course of justice, (ii) conspiracy to pervert the course of justice and (iii) obstructing police. I showed him the search warrant for his office which was then executed by my team.

During the course of the search I was made aware of certain documentation which had been circulated by the Command Secretary to the persons subject of the investigation. In essence, the Command Secretary was requesting 'duty reports' from these military officials to explain their respective accounts of the events of the 8th February. Clearly, this information was of relevance to the investigation and therefore it prompted me to speak to the Command Secretary and ask him whether he was willing to share with me the responses these senior military officials had provided to him. His response was that he would need to consult with London (MoD) before considering my request. Anticipating a negative response to my request I duly acknowledged his response but told him that I would be seeking another search warrant from the stipendiary magistrate for his office to seize the information sought. I stepped out of CBF's office and detailed an officer to remain outside the Command Secretary's office to control and restrict access to this office whilst I made a call to the courts. I was encountering difficulties in reaching the stipendiary magistrate and during the course of my attempts, I was approached by the Command Secretary who informed me that he had consulted with London and was happy to volunteer the information I was seeking. Consequently, a member of my team accompanied the Command Secretary to his office where he proceeded to hand over the data requested.

I draw significance to this procedure because of the similarity of the actions carried out with Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley which are now subject of a complaint. My actions at The Tower were legitimate; I only had a search warrant for Colonel Green's office – a need arose where I required data from another office not covered by the warrant – had the Command Secretary not volunteered the data, I would have required a search warrant for his office to seize the data – the fact that he agreed to voluntarily hand over the data precluded the need to obtain a warrant. It was not deemed to be a search by my team but rather a voluntary handing over of the data by the Command Secretary. You will no doubt appreciate the correlation to the circumstances of the complaint by Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley. Incidentally, the Command Secretary has not raised any issues whatsoever concerning the procedure I have explained.

Turning to the intervention by Supt Tunbridge and his team at JPSU Gun Wharf, I would ask you to refer to Mr Tunbridge's report which is filed in this bundle as Appendix – B. I do not intend rehearsing the contents of his report save to say that the allegations contained are refuted. Supt Tunbridge further explains how his team acted within the law.

Moreover, I would ask that in making your determination on whether RGP officers breached professional standards and code of ethics as alleged by Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley, you consider that both these persons are fully trained up [services] police officers who held supervisory/managerial positions in JPSU. As police officers they very well know what powers we possess and the rights of those we deal with in investigations. I find it incomprehensible that two seasoned police officers would not challenge on the spot any activity which was illegitimate and an abuse of police powers.

Our interest in both Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley as with the other members of the JPSU was to understand their involvement in the circumstances surrounding Sgt Watterson's detention. Until that point we had not found anything to suggest either were suspects in the investigation but we still needed to delve further and we relied on their co-operation. It is my submission to you that this co-operation was forthcoming and that the RGP officers acted in very much the same way that I did with the Command Secretary at The Tower. It was no doubt a very uncomfortable experience for Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley as indeed it was for the RGP. In her complaint Ms Bell vents her annoyance expressing disbelief that we were serving a warrant on another policing agency. It could be safely inferred that she was suggesting our actions were improper. What she fails to understand is that the warrant was signed by a judge and therefore any suggestion that there was improper practice is actually undermining of the authority of the issuing judge – I reckon she needs to realize this. However, my officers acted with a lot of tact and respect. These two persons could have very simply exercised their right to question/challenge our actions, refuse to co-operate and decline to hand over their personal mobile phones. This would have been a very prudent and proper response by a police officer who felt he/she were being treated unlawfully as they allege. Had they presented a challenge it would have been respected and it would have obliged us to obtain a search warrant. There was no expression of a challenge and neither was there any indications that they felt as they described in their submission to the PCB. The officers attending to them report that they were co-operative.

AFTERMATH

It is very regrettable that they feel so hard done by the actions carried out by the RGP officers acting in the execution of their duty. I also query the motives of why they are now airing these grievances. I say so because apologies were in fact received from the MoD's Rear Admiral Radakin, then Chief of Joint Forces Command in UK, now promoted to Admiral and First Sea Lord of the Royal Navy. This apology indeed accepted the MOD's (JPSU) ill-informed jurisdictional posture. There was an acceptance that all the activity conducted by JPSU staff (which includes the complainants) was ultra vires given that the UK Armed Forces Act 2006 which they claimed gave them jurisdiction to operate did not actually extend to Gibraltar. Further apologies were received from Colonel Green, Squadron Leader Collins (Ms Bell's and Mr O'Malley's boss) and Wing Commander Hutchinson. I attach all these apologies as Appendix –C. In none of these apologies is there the slightest of suggestions or inclinations of any abuse of position from the RGP. One would have thought that Ms Bell and Mr O'Malley would have raised their complaints to their superiors who, in turn, being the responsible organization that the MOD is, would have made the necessary representations to the Commissioner of Police, Government of Gibraltar or

HE the Governor – no such representations have been made or are expected to made simply because all the RGP activity was vindicated as lawful and correct.

I would now like to comment on the penultimate paragraphs contained in both written complaints: That the complainants have been informed (source unknown) that I am supposed to have stated that the investigation could be re-opened at any time I wished. I categorically do not associate myself with any commentary of this sort and I would ask you to query from where this originates from as I would personally want to challenge it as a mistake at best or lie at worst.

Finally, I also attach a letter dated 5th September 2017 (Appendix – D) from the previous Chairman of the Gibraltar Police Authority, Mr John Goncalvez to the Chief Minister of the Government of Gibraltar following an [independent] assessment of the actions carried out by the RGP in what was termed as the Watterson enquiry. One can argue that the 3rd paragraph of this letter when read together with the four letters of apology earlier referred to wraps up what in essence was a correct and justified operation undertaken by the RGP.

I trust that the information contained in this report and accompanying appendices will assist you in making a determination on whether the matter warrants a formal investigation or not. Please do not hesitate to revert if you require any further information.

Yours

Ian McGrail

RE: RAF Sergeant WATTERSON 13th February 2017

Dear Sirs

Please see attached report submitted by Superintendent McGrail in relation to RAF Sergeant WATTERSON.

This clearly was a sad disappointing day for Law Enforcement in Gibraltar and more so for relations between Gibraltar Forces Command and the RGP.

I do not wish to repeat what is already contained in this report which is quite detailed, but just to echo some of the points which I personally dealt with.

From the outset I wanted a pragmatic and sensible approach notwithstanding I had firm footing on jurisdiction and Gibraltar law. I even went as far as involving the AGs chambers at an early stage to provide legal advice by asking Ricky Rhoda to personally speak to GFC but again to no avail.

To me this was a complete disregard and lack of respect to our Attorney General.

Add insult to injury the matter deteriorated very rapidly when clearly senior MOD officers were being deceitful and evasive to the point that we had no alternative but to obtain a Chief Justice's warrant to make these officials see the gravity of the situation and see sense.

Armed with this warrant I informed the Chief of Staff and later Commander British Forces that I was being pushed against the wall to a place that I would not rather be, and as the last resort, we would now be in a position to execute this warrant on another Law Enforcement body (RNPM) something which I was very reluctant to do. I believe I showed great restraint in holding back from doing this.

A conversation with Commander Jack Hawkins (Chief of RNP- UK) then revealed and confirmed that the evidence was on the aircraft and I then instructed for this aircraft to be held back from departing. CBF then saw sense in de-escalating everything and I believe instructed for the aircraft to return to the stand and for Watterson and the evidence to be disembarked. I was then given his reassurance that the computer devices would be handed over to the RGP. After this was done I allowed for the aircraft to depart.

Even then I proposed that we should join up in taking this forward and for the RNPM officers to assist in the retrieval of evidence and to assist with the Forensics. Finally they acceded and we are now working together.

INVESTORS IN PEOPLE

As I said it was a disappointing day and not one to gloat about but clearly we must not find ourselves in such circumstances ever again why I have proposed a meeting on the 22nd February of all stakeholders. The Attorney General has welcomed such a meeting which he will chair at his offices at No.6.

I strongly believe that MOD senior officials did not behave appropriately and had they used some practical common sense, we could have averted this situation. More worryingly they showed lack of respect by challenging the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Police both Constitutional posts.

I am willing to discuss this further should you so wish.

Kind regards

OFFICIAL SENSITIVE

10th February 2017

Commissioner of Police;

Sir,

RE:- Investigation in to RAF Sgt WATTERSON

This report provides COP with the chronological sequence of events as I have them and with as much a detailed account as I know it to be regarding the above captioned matter. Enquiries are continuing to elicit further information with regards to both the investigation in to Sgt WATTERSON and to the issues that arose once the RGP took an interest in the matter. I would therefore ask you to understand that this paper may not contain all the answers to questions you may have after absorbing the contents herein. On occasions during this report I have also commented on my prima facie observations on matters arising, obviously from a professional local application.

In the early hours of 4th February 2017, an email was received at RGP Command & Despatch from colleagues in the GDP advising that the JPSU had the previous day (3rd Feb 2017) effected the arrest of a serviceman, Sgt WATTERSON, in Gibraltar, on suspicion that this man was in possession of indecent imagery of children. His residence at [redacted] had been searched by JPSU and computers and data storage devices had been seized. That Sgt WATTERSON had since been released from his arrest and had undergone a psychiatric assessment which determined that he was at high risk of self harm. At that point no further details were available to the GDP.[1]

This information was forwarded by CAD to our Public Protection Unit for their information. Coincidentally, Det/Insp Enriles, o.i.c of the PPU, happened to be the RGP duty officer that morning and on reading the communication sought further details from GDP Sgt Hosken who unfortunately was unable to help any further as they [the GDP] had no additional information to share.

Consequently, Det/Insp Enriles contacted the JPSU Master-at-Arms Claire BELL who informed of the following; that Timothy WATTERSON moved to Gibraltar [redacted] That they had received information from their Force Intel Bureau in UK via the National Crime Agency/Leicestershire Police that an IP address in the UK had uploaded an indecent Cat B image of a prepubescent female exposing herself. This image had been uploaded during the course of June 2015 to an IP address allocated to WATTERSON at his previous posting address in Leicestershire, UK. MA BELL

[1] It is believed GDP only communicated the matter to RGP in the context of the WATTERSON's risk of self harm.

OFFICIAL SENSITIVE

further informed that as a result of this information they had arrested him on suspicion of possession of indecent images and seized various data storage devices in the residence.[2] The authority to arrest was provided to Det/Insp Enriles as Sec 42 & 67 of the Armed Forces Offences Act 2006 UK that she claimed extended them jurisdiction in Gibraltar. No reference to Gibraltar law was made. I also understand that the authority to search WATTERSON's residence was Sections 79 & 80 Chapter 4 of JSP 830 (I believe these to be their version of our codes of practice). WATTERSON was detained by JPSU at their premises.[3]

JPSU procedures are actually based on the UK's Police and Criminal Evidence Act (PACE) so when he was processed by the services police he elected the right to free and independent legal advice – there being no such duty solicitor scheme in Gibraltar the MA explained they would have to fly out one from the UK! Due to this untidy situation the JPSU were compelled to release WATTERSON from his arrest and he was informed that he may be seen at a later date. The devices seized from the search of the residence were retained with the intention of subjecting them to forensic analysis.[4]

MA BELL further explained that post to his release from arrest WATTERSON had also been also psychiatrically assessed by MOD (Gibraltar) medical personnel and this revealed that he might be a risk to himself. Because of this development JPSU appointed him a 24/7 'chaperone' for his own safety and instructed that he was not to return to the matrimonial home.[5] In the meantime, MOD social services SSAFA would be conducting assessment of [redacted] No reference was made of any intended actions with Mrs WATTERSON.

Det/Insp ENRILES expressed his concerns to MA BELL that these type of investigations required the sharing of information at far an earlier stage given the potential local implications. Neither did we have any photograph of the subject to assist us in the identification and generating awareness of him. Although provisionally housed at Devil's Tower Camp, he was still free to roam about Gibraltar as long as the chaperone remained with him. To this Det/Insp Enriles highlighted that notwithstanding the measures in place these could be deemed insufficient and may not necessarily prevent an act of self harm or an attempt on his life, or even prevent him from committing further offences. Det/Insp ENRILES added that even though WATTERSON had not been in our jurisdiction for long he had still had opportunities to interact with members of the public/children and therefore there was a need to properly risk assess him. MA BELL agreed with the Det/Insp and arranged to share WATTERSON's photograph for the purpose of creating awareness for RGP personnel.

[2] On the facts available, the action taken by JPSU in pre-emptively arresting Watterson at such an early stage is not regarded in the RGP, or indeed by UK civilian police as best practice and procedure.

[3] JPSU premises are not regarded in Gibraltar law as a designated police station for the detention of persons under arrest. Neither can the JPSU grant and or impose bail conditions post to an arrest.

[4] This begs the question of whether in effect the search and seizure of the devices from the residence and their continued detention retains any legitimacy. I say so because no search warrants were issued for this process & therefore it could potentially be regarded as a tactical short circuit of proper procedures which in turn could be calculated to be an abuse of powers. i.e. Police cannot go about arresting individuals and search their properties without a warrant, then release the person from arrest and retain the exhibits found for further investigation. I may be wrong but it certainly looks a very odd and I dare say unprofessional unethical practice, if not an illegal one.

[5] I am presuming that the power to impose these control measures is provided by military law.

As is common and proper practice in these types of cases, on Monday 6th February, Det/Insp ENRILES, began to make arrangements [redacted] and for the purpose of information sharing. Equally, considerations were given to convene a Multi-Agency Public Protection Arrangement (MAPPA) strategy meeting to discuss Sgt WATTERSON as a person of interest in the context of sex offender management.[5] Very surprisingly, at 1730Hrs on 6/2/17 the position of SSAFA was that no strategy meeting would take place involving Gibraltar authorities and more worryingly still, that Gibraltar Social Services should not have been in the know of the matter.

On Tuesday 7th February 2017, I contacted Provost Marshall (PM) Chris COLLINS and very briefly expressed my concerns on how the matter was being handled. I arranged for him to meet with Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE and Det/Insp ENRILES @1100Hrs at Bleak House.[7] This meeting was attended by PM COLLINS and MA BELL. They provided a brief along the lines of what MA BELL had provided to Det/INSP ENRILES at the weekend.

Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE then raised the following question; why had the RGP not been notified by JPSU of this on-going investigation? PM COLLINS stated that the suspect was a serving member of the military stationed in Gibraltar and residing in MOD property. That the offence being investigated occurred in the UK and under the Armed Forces Act 2006 they had the legal powers to assert jurisdiction in the manner they had whereas the RGP did not have any locus. Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE accepted that the RGP had no authority over a UK investigation. However, he explained that it was erroneous to suggest that the RGP had no jurisdiction on crimes that may have occurred or were occurring anywhere in Gibraltar including within the MOD estate. It was precisely this that we were concerned about. If the JPSU suspected the computer devices seized from WATTERSON's house were believed to contain indecent imagery of children, then even if these may have been uploaded in the UK, they were now in the jurisdiction of Gibraltar and in breach of Gibraltar Law. We further expressed concern that WATTERSON (or anyone else in the household) may have accessed or been involved with other child sexual exploitation data or activity whilst here in Gibraltar in addition to whatever he was suspected to have accessed in the UK. PM COLLINS did not accept this position and maintained that the JPSU had full jurisdiction of the case.

Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE respectfully asked PM COLLINS to hand over the exhibits seized from the residence to the RGP but the latter re-asserted his position that he would retain them under the authority vested by the Armed Forces Act 2006 UK which he claimed extended to Gibraltar. PM COLLINS further revealed that if when examined in the UK, the devices contained any incriminating evidence, they would fly WATTERSON back to the UK to answer to any potential charges.[8] This meeting ended at 1200Hrs and Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE advised PM COLLINS that he would be referring the matter up to RGP senior management and that further contact would be made with him later.

[5] Deemed to be best practice in these types of criminal investigations.

[7] Ironically DCI Tunbridge and DI ENRILES were attending a training session arranged by Social Services on child protection and safeguarding which was also being attended by SSAFA. The main theme running through this training session being that of multi agency partnership work and information sharing.

[8] This was the first occasion the RGP requested to take over the [local] angle of the investigation from JPSU on the back of there being reasonable suspicions that offences may have been commited in Gibraltar.

I was then briefed by Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE on JPSU's entrenched posture. Whilst I was 100% absolutely certain of the RGP's position on this[9], I asked Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE to consult with the Office of Criminal Prosecutions and Litigation to seek their views on what the position was when two authorities were claiming jurisdiction over a matter. Consequently, senior counsel Ricky RHODA CBE QC confirmed the RGP's position also expressing concern that if the RGP were claiming jurisdiction on the basis of there possibly being offences disclosed locally, that a [coerced] repatriation[10] of WATTERSON by the MOD to potentially face charges in the UK could be deemed to be unlawful - that the proper way to do this was via established judicial processes i.e. European Arrest Warrant.

At 1254Hrs Det Ch/Insp Tunbridge and Det/Insp ENRILES again held a telecon with PM COLLINS explaining that our legal services had confirmed the RGP's position regarding primacy and the fact that local legislation would be applicable over the Armed Forces Act 2006.[11] PM COLLINS reiterated his position viz the UK's Armed Forces Act 2006 adding his legal advisors had confirmed otherwise and therefore he would not be relinquishing conduct of the investigation, basically disregarding local legislation and our standpoint.[12] It was also disclosed by PM COLLINS that arrangements were already made to despatch the exhibits to the UK on Wednesday 8th February 2017 to submit them to forensic analysis. Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE told PM COLLINS that he would contact him soonest.

Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE reverted to me with this and we discussed what in my view was a very reasonable proposal which would satisfy the RGP and JPSU needs. In essence this was that in recognising there was a UK investigation taking place and in order not to affect this, we could conduct a parallel examination of the devices seized. This could be achieved by the RGP Hi-Tech Crime Unit officer mirroring the devices seized so that he could examine these 'working copies' to determine if there was evidence to support the reasonable grounds we had that there were offences disclosed in Gibraltar. That the JPSU could also have these devices examined in the UK in furtherance of their own investigation of offences taking place there. We run this proposal past Mr RHODA with a view of de-conflicting the matter in the most pragmatic way, though it must be said that there was no obligation on our part to be as flexible as we were being with the suggested proposal – in other words, we could assert full jurisdiction on the basis that we suspected an offence had been committed in our jurisdiction. However, the proposal recognised and respected the JPSU's interest with regards to the UK investigation. It was being done in the spirit of good relations and mutual respect between agencies.

At 1508Hrs Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE and Det/Insp ENRILES held yet another telecon with PM COLLINS and discussed the said proposal explaining how we acknowledged his investigation and how our suggestion would not hinder it. The reasons why we reasonably suspected that offences had been committed in Gibraltar were re-stated. Unfortunately, PM COLLINS refused this course of action stating it could damage the integrity of the exhibits and would be detrimental to the investigation.[13] PM COLLINS' alternative was for the forensic analysis to be conducted in the UK and if anything relating to Gibraltar were uncovered he would take legal advice on whether to release this evidence to the RGP.[14] Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE further attempted to make PM COLLINS comprehend that the question of jurisdiction was very clear and technically, if need be, the RGP could retrieve the said devices from JPSU's possession, something which we did not want to do hence our continued discussions. PM COLLINS' position did not change[15].

[12] Second occasion that our request to assume the lead in the local investigation had been denied by JPSU

I was kept briefed by Det Ch/Insp Tunbridge of the lack of progress and in turn I briefed COP where we agreed that the position of the RGP was as we were articulating it from the outset. We agreed that I would seek a meeting with Chief of Staff Col GREEN to pursue the matter with a view of arriving at the most pragmatic solution to the status quo.

Consequently, at 1630Hrs I attended The Tower at HM Naval Base and met with Col Green. PM COLLINS was also present. I projected the RGP's desire to de-conflict the matter in the most conventional of ways to be expected from both MOD and us. There were valuable lessons to be learnt from the whole experience and no doubt we should, as senior personnel, provide the clarity necessary so that our respective practitioners were able to work in the best possible [technical] environment. I referred to the need for better understanding of each other's roles and responsibilities and how establishing a set protocols or memorandum of understanding would perhaps address the dilemmas we were facing. We were nonetheless still left with un-doing the issues on this particular case. I highlighted how in investigations of sex offences and particularly where there were children involved the best practice dictated sharing of information.[16] In this case it was seemingly lacking as many of the key stake holders who could bring information to be shared were not even aware of JPSU's investigation.

I went over all the circumstances already related to earlier in the report. I then explained that the situation was seemingly escalating to the extent where the MOD's entrenched position did not fare well for relations with the RGP and by default the wider community in Gibraltar. I was taken quite aback when PM COLLINS stated that his mandate was very clear; that he had to look after the interests of the troops and the UK investigation. I acknowledged what he was saying but I explained that actually my mandate extended further than his – that when it came to criminal investigations, I had to look after the interests of Gibraltar PLC and that included everyone in the territory inclusive of MOD personnel.

[13] Clearly an expression of mistrust towards the RGP displayed by PM COLLINS who also constantly stated that he had to ensure the investigation abided to UK standards implying the RGP's standards were not sufficient. The Home Office standards were constantly repeated by him in this context.

[14] This suggestion basically undermines the RGP's ability to conduct enquiries of potential offences occurring in the jurisdiction. Having the appropriate resources to conduct the examinations locally, it would be wholly unethical that we would have to rely on another agency to search for the evidence and then live in the hope that it could be released back to the RGP.

[15] The third occasion JPSU were refusing to oblige to our requests.

[16] The Bichard Inquiry report into the Soham murders identified one of the main shortfalls to be failure to share information effectively. This inquiry revolutionized processes for the UK police and social services and which the RGP have stringently put in place. Similary, the Rotherham Child Sexual Exploitation scandal - an independent inquiry by Prof Alexis Jay published in Aug 2014 condemned the failure of the authorities in Rotherham to act effectively against the abuse or even, in some cases, to acknowledge that it was taking place.

I expressed dissatisfaction on how the JPSU were handling the matter and how the overall risks attached to this case were not being properly addressed. I described how the RGP operate to best practice and procedures on these type of investigations – that we had a forensic computer expert, dedicated risk managers and all the supporting infrastructure for such an investigation which evidently the MOD did not have in Gibraltar as had been proven with the inability to proceed with the interviewing of WATTERSON and provide free/independent legal advice, their inability to impose grant/impose bail conditions or even custody facilities[17]. Whilst I was assured that WATTERSON was being 'properly managed', I was not reassured that he may have already committed further offences whilst in Gibraltar. I also enquired as to [redacted] The focus was solely on WATTERSON and it was mentioned that they already had evidence against him of having committed an offence in the UK. This caused me to suspect that there was probably more to the case than what met the eye. PM COLLINS' response was that he was under no obligation to discuss his investigation strategies with me. In turn, this further enhanced suspicions that offences had been committed in Gibraltar as otherwise why would the JPSU seize computers and other devices if they did not believe them to contain incriminating material. All these concerns I shared with Col Green and PM COLLINS adding that I was duty bound to investigate WATTERSON locally – I could simply not leave such a serious matter walk under my nose in the jurisdiction of Gibraltar. I explained how in the past the RGP had assumed the lead and conduct of serious criminal investigations within the MOD estate ranging from serious assaults on MOD [children] dependants where the assailant was a serviceman to the sudden death of senior MOD official as only two examples. I referred to these matters simply to highlight our argument from the outset that the RGP had primacy in the jurisdiction.[18]

I conveyed my concerns to the two gentlemen that there were too many factors in terms of possible local victims, possible crimes committed here, public perception of the RGP and the legal position on jurisdiction amongst others that compelled the RGP to have a say on the matter. I did, however, state that there was still room to work the matter together to oblige to both agency's needs. Col GREEN asked me what actions the RGP would take if indeed incriminating material were found in any of the devices seized to which I explained that there would certainly be an intervention on our part to probe in to the matter further. This was totally mis-construed by Col GREEN who argued that going in "guns blazing" would compromise the UK investigation. This argument fazed me as Col GREEN was being critical of a potential action the RGP could consider, but not necessarily carry out, when in fact the JPSU's intervention had already precisely done what he was advocating should not be done.

The proposal to run a parallel investigation was flatly discarded by PM COLLINS who said he had top cover from his superiors in the UK that he was on solid footing to retain conduct of the investigation. He argued that my proposal would put in jeopardy the integrity of the exhibits seized as the examinations he would subject them to comply with Home Office Standards and as the RGP was not a Home Office force there would be a conflict. He added that there was nothing in military protocols that obliged him to consider what I was proposing. In what was a clear moment of forceful assertion of his stance, PM COLLINS told Col GREEN that the solution to the matter was to put WATTERSON on a plane to the UK at the earliest opportunity. I interjected stating that if he was contemplating this course of action it would certainly bring about a considerable and detrimental strain to MOD/RGP/GOG relations. I equally mentioned that the RGP could actually be driven to impose executive action over the JPSU but that I stressed my intentions were not to go down that route but rather to resolve the issues by discussion amongst us senior law enforcement officials in order to prevent any further escalation which could jeopardise relations. I informed them both that I would be reporting up COP on this meeting.

[17] These are issues that should have been given the important consideration they merit before effecting the arrest.
[18] Fourth occasion that the RGP requested to take over the conduct of the investigation.

Sir, I can assure you I tried every possible influencing and negotiating tactic I could think of to resolve the impasse but unfortunately they did not shift from their stance. Before concluding the meeting at 1800Hrs I asked PM COLLINS to refer the arguments I had posed on behalf of the RGP to his superiors in UK so that at least they could have a balanced and more objective understanding of the whole matter. I asked PM COLLINS to do this as a matter of urgency and before any decision was taken to fly out the exhibits and/or WATTERSON. He assured me he would do so. We agreed that he would revert to me once his superiors had taken a view.

I then returned to NMH where I briefed COP on the unfortunate non-progress and on the concerns I had that PM COLLINS and Col GREEN were contemplating actions which would totally bypass the RGP's position on the matter. That evening/night I am aware COP tried unsuccessfully on numerous times to contact CBF who was out of the jurisdiction.

Not having heard from PM COLLINS on what his superiors in UK had to say, at 2130Hrs I phoned him but there was no response. At 2134Hrs I phoned him again and I received no response. Whilst waiting hopefully for a return call from him I conducted some research on the applicability of the UK's Armed Forces Act 2006 in Gibraltar and to my understanding found that it was not applicable.[19] I also looked up service police protocols and what they had to say on the matter and I was not surprised to read that there were provisions stating that local legislation might impose similar jurisdictional arrangements to those PM COLLINS was claiming.[20] Then again, irrespective of whether the Armed Forces Act 2006 is not applicable to Gibraltar and whether service police protocols have seemingly not been abided by, I would like to restate the fact that the RGP has primacy over the matter as enshrined in Gibraltar law.

The matter was now becoming time critical as the plans by MOD (Gibraltar) to fly out the exhibits and possibly WATTERSON were proceeding. I was encountering problems in contacting PM COLLINS and so was COP in reaching CBF. We agreed to a number of actions as follows;

- RGP SB to check passenger manifests to see if WATTERSON was booked on a flight departing Gibraltar Airport.
- Cover crucial areas to prevent WATTERSON from being whisked away.
- Make the necessary arrangements to retrieve exhibits seized from the residence if the JPSU did not change their position. This would be done by applying for a search warrant at the courts.

At 2212Hrs PM COLLINGS returned my call and I shared with him my understanding and interpretation of both the Armed Forces Act 2006/2016 and the service police protocols. Unfortunately again my discussions and arguments as referred to in the preceding paragraph practically fell in deaf ears.[21] He reaffirmed that his position had not changed and that his plans to fly out the exhibits the next day were still on track. I asked him whether it was also intended to fly WATTERSON out and he replied by saying he was not at liberty to discuss his investigation strategies with me. I told him that CoP was trying to contact CBF and had left numerous messages for his calls to be returned but that he had not been successful in reaching him. I further told him that it would only be proper that he stalled his plans until CoP and CBF spoke. In response to this PM COLLINS told me that CoP should call Col GREEN, but that in any case he was not answerable to the Command in Gibraltar but rather to the Provost Marshall (Navy) in the UK. I asked him whether he had received any response from his superiors on what had agreed at the meeting in The Tower. He said that his superiors would probably get back to him the following morning but that at present his intentions remained unchanged.

Still concerned that JPSU would continue to entirely disregard our claims we discussed our tactical options and COP sanctioned that we should proceed to retrieve the exhibits. The intention was to meet up with PM COLLINS once again and ask for the exhibits to be handed over and to only resort to executing the warrant if there was non-compliance on his part. COP also sanctioned any other action falling out from any non-compliance after the warrant had been executed.[22] Consequently, Det/Insp ENRILES and Det/Con HOWARD left NMH to apply for a warrant from the Stipendiary Magistrate to search the JPSU premises at Gun Wharf.

At 2243Hrs I again contacted PM COLLINS asking him to meet with me. The plan was to offer the opportunity once again for the exhibits to be handed over and then, if this was not forthcoming, to proceed and execute the warrant. However, he said that he would not meet at such late hour. We arranged that I would go down to his offices early the next day.

At 2330Hrs, I was informed by Det/Insp ENRILES that the Stipendiary Magistrate had not granted the warrant on the basis that he felt there was insufficient suspicion to believe that the computer devices seized from WATTERSON contained incriminating data of offences committed in Gibraltar.[23] This clearly caused for a re-think of our options which included making a fresh application for the warrant in the morning. I then stood down the team for the night.

At 0845Hrs on Wednesday 8th February 2017, I attended the Office of Prosecutions and Criminal Litigation to seek legal support to make the MOD accept that the RGP had primacy in the matter. Mr RHODA's view was that we should try and avoid taking executive action against the JPSU and pursue discussions to reach a pragmatic solution, however, if these failed he agreed and accepted that we were then left with no option other than to either succumb to the JPSU's posture or indeed proceed with a fresh application for a search warrant and seize the property in question. Understandably so, Mr RHODA was puzzled as to why the situation had reached the levels it had within the MOD. During the course of the morning Senior Counsel RHODA spoke with (i) the Acting Governor, Mr Nick PYLE and (ii) Col GREEN in yet a further attempt to convince them to accede to the RGP's requests. He also tried contacting the Command Secretary but he was not contactable.

I am aware that both Mr PYLE and Col GREEN asked Mr RHODA to request the RGP to defer any intended action as both were seeking legal advice from the FCO and UK military respectively as to [23] Though respecting the Magistrates views for the non-granting of the search warrant, we believed he may have erred in his decision.

whether the RGP had primacy in the matter. When Mr RHODA relayed this to me I expressed resentment as essentially we were being asked to be subservient to UK legal advice when the local position was already well affirmed. I then returned to NMH and reported these latest discussions to COP who then gave me instructions to re-apply for another search warrant to the Chief Justice. I proceeded to do this and having spoken to the Registrar of the Supreme the matter was listed for 1500Hrs that same day.

Throughout the day I sought updates on possible intelligence relating to WATTERSON flying out and SB confirmed that he was not booked on any commercial flight departing from Gibraltar Airport. I still asked SB to remain vigilant at the airport in the event that JPSU staff were spotted attempting to take out the exhibits on a commercial flight.

At around 1400Hrs, it was brought to my notice that a military aircraft had just landed at RAF Gibraltar on an approximate 1-hour stop over. This straight away caused me to suspect that the exhibits and/or WATTERSON could be put on this RAF plane taken out of Gibraltar. I relayed this to COP who asked for contingencies to be put in place to prevent the aircraft from departing if our suspicions were confirmed.[24] You can appreciate how time critical the situation was getting with on the one hand the application for the warrant being heard at 1500Hrs which coincided with the possible departure of the military flight.

I also learnt that the Acting Governor would see both CoP and Col GREEN at The Convent after a separate [firearms capability] meeting which was being attended by both. The matter would again be discussed. It was COP's intentions at this meeting to seek assurances from Col GREEN that the aircraft would be carrying the exhibits. As it happened Col GREEN did not attend the said meeting.

At approximately 1430Hrs Insp PERERA was instructed to position himself in a marked police car by the south barrier opposite GDP post and await instructions. His position was by the very start of the pedestrian and bicycle lane next to the police post. At about 1514Hrs and unable to discuss the matter with Col GREEN and Acting Governor you directed that we contact PM COLLINS to seek the assurances. Det Ch/Insp Tunbridge tried contacting him to no avail as his mobile phone was switched off. We contacted the JPSU offices requesting to speak to PM COLLINS and RAF Sgt O'Malley stated that he was at a meeting with Col GREEN and was unavailable. We explained how imperative it was that we spoke to PM COLLINS as this was in relation to the on-going WATTERSON matter. Sgt O'Malley undertook to contact PM COLLINS for us.

At approximately 1520Hrs, at the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice, heard my application for the warrant to search for the property seized from WATTERSON's residence by the JPSU. Det/Insp ENRILES, Senior Counsel RHODA and Crown Counsel ZAMMIT supported my application. I took to the witness stand and under oath relayed my information and reasonable suspicions and how time critical the situation was, explaining that we also suspected the property we were looking for could well be on board a military aircraft that was about to depart. Det/Insp ENRILES also had to take the stand as the CJ wanted to know on what basis the Stipendiary had declined the granting of the warrant the previous day. At the end of the application, the CJ granted me the warrant but not before underscoring that it was not a good day for law enforcement when one agency had to take executive action against another law enforcement agency in this fashion. I had to concur with the CJ on this.

As I left the Supreme Court at 1540Hrs, I learnt that the military aircraft was starting it engines but was still at its stand - the barriers to the stop traffic across the airfield were down. I also learnt that the GDP officer at the south barrier had been instructed to request Inspector PERERA to move away from his position as his presence interfered with air movements. The GDP officer was informed that we had an operation on-going and we were exercising our duties in the said operation. Insp PERERA referred the GDP officer to contact his superiors. Supt ULLGER also received information from Air Traffic Control that all flights would be diverted because of our presence, including commercial flights.

Throughout this time Det Ch/Insp TUNBRIDGE was continuously trying to raise PM COLLINS to no avail. Sgt O'Malley also confirmed that he had not been able to contact PM COLLINS either. Sgt O'Malley was asked whether he could confirm if the exhibits in question had been transported on to the military aircraft that was shortly scheduled to depart to which he stated that he was not in a position to respond to that question but acknowledged the importance of the request. Our suspicions that the exhibits were on board the aircraft were growing by the second.

At the airfield, GDP were being instructed by ATC to insist that Insp PERERA moved from his position or alternatively, if he was not going to move, to hand over the keys to the patrol car as otherwise the military aircraft would not be able to take off. They were informed again that there was a police operation in place and he would not move from his position or indeed hand over the keys to the patrol car. Insp PERERA noted the arrival at the location of Stn Cmdr Liz HUTCHINSON.

At approximately 1545Hrs I arrived at JPSU HQ in Gun Wharf together with other officers. I identified myself to staff and asked for PM COLLINS. Sgt O'Malley informed us that PM COLLINS was not there but that he would call him and tell him we were at his office. A few minutes later, Sgt O'Malley told me that PM COLLINS was on his way to the office to meet us.

At about 1551Hrs, the military aircraft was seen to slowly move from its stand towards the boundary of the RAF apron. Simultaneous to this Insp PERERA noted a MOD sweeper vehicle yellow in colour driven by a civilian driver known to be either [redacted] drive towards the RGP patrol car and manoeuvre to block the patrol car which at the time was static. This caused Insp PERERA to circumvent the MOD vehicle so that the RGP vehicle was not blocked in. Insp PERERA then slowly moved up the cycle lane northbound to the middle of the runway. The RGP had it blue lights on. Seconds later Inspector PERERA moved further northwards and stopped the patrol car by the north barrier.

At approximately 1555Hrs a GDP dog section patrol car driven by GDP PC Diani with RAF Stn Cmdr Liz HUTCHINSON in the front passenger seat drove up to Insp PERERA's position. Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON told Insp PERERA that she knew what the RGP was doing and that she was "fed up of these silly games", adding that we were preventing a military aircraft from taking off and also endangering the said aircraft. Insp PERERA retorted that if the military aircraft remained by the apron where it currently was, no one would be endangered adding that if she knew what the police operation was about she should understand that we were exercising our duties in respect of this operation. Insp PERERA who at the time was on speaker phone with Ch Insp FINLAYSON and Supt ULLGER passed on his phone to Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON as Supt ULLGER wanted to speak with her.

Supt ULLGER informed Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON that there was an on going police investigation whereby it was strongly suspected that there were items on the aircraft which were linked to the investigation and that we wanted to retrieve them. She was also told that we were desperately trying to contact Col GREEN but had been unable to locate him. Supt ULLGER asked her to please check the manifest to establish whether such items (computers and mobile phones) were on board. She agreed to revert to Supt ULLGER once she had checked the manifest.

At 1559Hrs Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON called Supt ULLGER and stated that she had the manifest before her and that there was no computer equipment or phones logged in it. She was told that it was suspected that also on-board the aircraft was the serviceman subject of the investigation together with the exhibits appertaining to the case. She was informed that we had a warrant issued by the Chief Justice to retrieve these items which were in the possession of JPSU and that if she had any information she should be disclosing this to him. She was warned of the possible consequences of not co-operating with the requests. To this she stated that she would get back to Supt ULLGER. By responding as she did she was clearly revealing that she was withholding information. However, her word was taken at face value given the responsible post she holds and so the RGP patrol car with Insp PERERA was stood down and moved away from the airfield. Shortly after the aircraft returned to its stand within the apron.

At around 1615Hrs, whilst awaiting the arrival of PM COLLINS at the JPSU HQ at Gun Wharf I was asked by Sgt O'MALLEY to speak to Cmdr Jack Hawkins, PM COLLIN's line manager in the UK. The whole issue of whose jurisdiction over the matter was discussed with each of us arguing our respective positions. Cmdr Hawkins could not understand why we were taking such an interest in this case when the original offence had been disclosed in the UK. I repeated the RGP's position in the same way as it had been promulgated to PM COLLINS and Col GREEN. I also explained that in the absence of the JPSU co-operating with the RGP we had had to resort to securing a warrant from the Supreme Court of Gibraltar to retrieve the exhibits. Unsatisfied with what I saying Cmdr HAWKINS said he wanted to speak to the Chief Justice or a more senior police officer than me. PM COLLINS arrived at JPSU HQ at approximately 1625Hrs (40 minutes after I had arrived at the JPSU premises) whilst I was on the phone to his line manager.

PM COLLINS did not make himself available to me and I exercised great restraint in not asserting my authority under the circumstances and execute the warrant. Believe it or not I was still hopeful that PM COLLINS or his superiors would see sense and appreciate the levels this had reached. It was not to be and when I eventually was able to speak to PM COLLINS I expressed how unprofessional he had been in shunning me in the way he had. I accepted that this was an awkward for situation both of us but we had to be professional and resolve it without further conflict. I informed him that I would rather not execute the warrant and that we could still work the matter out favourably for both. PM COLLINS continued in his rigid way that he was at no liberty to discuss the matter with me. He kept receiving phone calls which he took in private. During one of these breaks in our conversation, I received reliable information that it was very likely that both the exhibits and WATTERSON were in fact on board the aircraft. This I relayed to my colleagues dealing with the airport side of the operation.

At 1629Hrs Supt ULLGER again called up Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON asking for any update to their last conversation. She insisted that she could not see anything in the manifest to suggest computers were on board. Supt ULLGER told her to stop being selective with words as she perfectly knew what he was on about i.e. that we were seeking out property/exhibits relating to the WATTERSON investigation. She was warned yet again to which she nervously replied that she would call Supt ULLGER back.

At 1650Hrs Supt ULLGER again called Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON and this time told her we had information that someone had disembarked from the aircraft with items. She was asked to confirm this and she replied that no-one or any cargo had been come off the aircraft. Supt ULLGER expressed his deep dissatisfaction at the misleading responses she was providing, informing her that RGP officers with eyeball on the aircraft had seen this happen. She again stated that she would revert to the Supt. She was reminded about the existence of the warrant and the fact that she could potentially be obstructing police in the execution of our duties. By this stage and by the tone of her voice Supt ULLGER made out that Stn Cmdr was clearly nervous and somewhat confused.

At 1659Hrs, Supt ULLGER called Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON and told her that the traffic barriers had been down for an inordinate amount of time causing major disruption on all our roads. There was also a potential for public disorder amongst thousands of disgruntled pedestrians and motorists who had been held up for over two and a half hours. He requested that traffic was allowed to circulate forthwith. She stated that pedestrians would be released immediately but when pressed to release vehicular traffic too she said she was working on it.

A RGP patrol car was again despatched to the airfield. Insp PAYAS who was in this patrol car positioned it in the same spot as Insp PERERA had initially positioned himself. He was again approached by a GDP officer who asked him to move the patrol car out of from the airfield or hand over the keys. This was denied on the same basis as earlier. The yellow MOD road sweeper again drove towards the RGP patrol car to block its position and causing Insp PAYAS to evade this manoeuvre. The driver of the sweeper vehicle, Ms MUSCAT was spoken to and advised to desist in her actions as she was rendering herself liable to arrest for obstructing police. She obliged and moved her works vehicle to the area of the western hangar.

At this juncture COP informed me that on conversations with Cmdr Hawkins the latter had pleaded to COP to allow the aircraft to depart as the evidence was required in the UK to pursue the investigation against WATTERSON. This then uncovered the truth which confirmed that the evidence and WATTERSON were on the flight although the three senior MOD officials were saying different, clearly to deceive us.

Around this time, I enquired from PM COLLINS whether the exhibits we wanted to seize were in the building and he replied in the negative. I went to on to inform him that I practically knewthat both WATTERSON and the exhibits were on board the aircraft and that we would proceed to retrieve them. He made no remark to this but I noted he suddenly became very pale and uneasy. I became concerned that he had become unwell but he reassured me he was ok. He took one further private call and after that call his behaviour completely changed. He mellowed to suggest that we should explore the running of a parallel investigation and that he would be making available the exhibits for the RGP to examine. I informed him that this course of action was the one I had suggested initially but had not met with his approval. I added that all the conflict and tensions experienced during the past few days could have been well averted.

The warrant issued by the Chief Justice was not executed in the end. At approximately 1745Hrs I was notified by COP that he had received assurances from the CBF that the exhibits would be handed over to the RGP in due course. Consequently, I returned to NMH where we held a de-brief and I arranged for an investigation team to liaise with JPSU to proceed with the investigation. The RGP vehicle positioned by the south barrier had also been recalled to NMH at 1745Hrs.

Final observations

You will no doubt have grasped how the escalation of tension was not down to lack of will or desire on our part to resolve the issues in a 'grown up' manner. In fact, as alluded to throughout the chronology of events, we made numerous requests for the handing over of the conduct of the [local] investigation. Sadly, we were taken to the limits only to finally achieve what we are perfectly entitled to. I take the following most salient moments as key to how the matter escalated to the levels they did with I dare say a clear devious intent on the part of the senior military officials we were dealing with;

- The poor judgement by JPSU of not sharing with the Gibraltar authorities the fact that they had a potential sex offender(s) in the jurisdiction and where it was reasonably suspected that offences may have been committed locally.
- The lack of supporting legal/tactical/logistical infrastructure for the JPSU to conduct enquiries in a territory where they claim to have jurisdiction and which in essence can lead to abuses of process.
- The lack of clarity on the part MOD's part as to who has primacy in Gibraltar.
- The local interpretation that the Armed Forces Act 2006 & 2016 are not applicable in Gibraltar; meaning the actions carried out JPSU could be construed as ultra vires.
- The intent by Col GREEN and PM COLLINS to disregard the authority of the RGP to assert jurisdiction over the local aspect of the investigation and undermine this authority further by making arrangements to sneak out the exhibits and WATTERSON when it was perfectly clear that the RGP had a [big] claim on the matter.
- The seemingly devious conspiracy employed by Col GREEN, PM COLLINS and Stn Cmdr HUTCHINSON to ensure the RGP could not discharge their lawful duty and create a situation to exert pressure on the RGP to relent in our efforts. This includes (i) the instructions issued to civilian MOD drivers to block the path of two RGP patrol cars who were legitimately engaged in a police operation, (ii) the misleading and obstructive attitude displayed by the Stn Cmdr regarding the exhibits and person on board the aircraft (iii) the unhelpful attitudes and stances displayed by Col GREEN and PM COLLINS throughout, (iv) the traffic chaos and potential public order situation created due to the very long time the traffic barriers were closed when there was no need for this.

Finally, you may have a different view to me on this but, Sir, I submit to you that there has certainly been a serious breach of trust and confidence by, in my view, the three senior military officials referred to in this report. It will be awkward to say the least to re-establish this trust and confidence wherever and whenever our respective roles coincide in the future.

COP has requested a meeting between the under mentioned parties to be held at the office of Her Majesty's Attorney General for Gibraltar Michael LLAMAS QC at 1130Hrs on Wednesday 22nd February 2017 to discuss issues to prevent a repetition on of events described in this report.

25th October 2019

To: Commissioner of Police

Attn: Frank Carreras OBE - PCB

Subject: OP APACHE – Complaint made to the PCB by Scott O'Malley and Claire Bell

Background to the matter in question:

In February 2017, I held the position of Detective Chief Inspector of the Crime & Protective Services Division. Detective Superintendent McGrail (now COP) was my direct line manager. In respect of Op Apache, I was the designated Senior Investigating Officer (SIO).

The events leading up to the commencement of Operation Apache & the incidents of the 8th February 2017 are described in full in the Commissioner's report submitted on this matter and I would respectfully ask you to refer to his report.

On receiving the initial information reference Watterson on the 4th February 2017, over the subsequent days, I had (together with Insp Enriles) a number of meetings and telephone conversations with the JPSU to attempt to deal with the matter appropriately, but to no avail. Consequently, on the 8th February 2017, the incident at the runway and South Dispersal transpired, whereby Watterson was attempted to be flown out of Gibraltar to the UK, together with exhibits that the JPSU had seized.

On the 8th February 2017, on receiving information that Watterson was to be removed from Gibraltar, together with the arrival of a military aircraft at the South Dispersal, prior to the incident at the runway, I spoke with Sergeant O'Malley over the telephone. The calls were as follows:

1. At 1519hrs - I telephoned the JPSU on call mobile and requested to speak with Provost Marshall Collins (as his mobile was switched off). JPSU Sergeant O'Malley stated that Collins was in a meeting with the Chief of Staff and was unavailable. I explained to him that it was imperative that contact was made, as this was in relation to the ongoing Watterson matter, to which the Sergeant took my contact number and confirmed he would call back ASAP.

2. At 1531hrs – As I had not received a call back, I again telephoned the JPSU on call mobile and again requested to speak with Collins. Sergeant O'Malley confirmed that he had had no luck. I asked him if he could confirm if the exhibits in question were still in Gibraltar and if they had been transported to the Military aircraft, which had just landed at North Front, to which he answered that he was unable to answer that, but understood the importance of my request. Again, he stated that he would attempt to contact Collins.

It was very clear that we were making no headway with the JPSU; we believed that this was all a ploy to enable the JPSU to continue with their planned manoeuvre to gain the advantage and be able to remove Watterson from Gibraltar. What must not be forgotten is that the JPSU were using these tactics, at the same time as senior Military personnel in Gibraltar informed the RGP that neither Watterson nor the exhibits were on the military aircraft. Therefore, with a search warrant (though not executed) together with other officers I entered the JPSU building and awaited the arrival of Collins.

In reality, both Watterson and the exhibits were in fact on the said aircraft, whereby they were subsequently removed and handed over to the RGP.

As per my Policy File Entry No.8 (pages 2689-2691), dated the 24th February 2017, in respect of the incident at RAF Gibraltar on the 8th February 2017 and to further our investigation the decision was made to (after consultation with the OCPL) apply for Search Warrants, under Section 19 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011 for the following offences:

1. Attempting to pervert the cause of Justice, contrary to Common Law
2. Conspiracy to pervert the cause of Justice, contrary to Common Law

There would be four Search Warrants applied for, in respect of the following premises and named persons:

1. Room 26, The Tower, HM Naval Base, in the name of Col Frank Green
2. Joint Provost Security Unit (JPSU), Gun Wharf, in the name of Provost Marshall Chris Collins
3. RAF Station HQ, Mouchotte Building, Spitfire Way, RAF Gibraltar, in the name of Wing Commander Liz Hutchinson
4. Air Movements Office, Western Hanger, RAF Gibraltar, in the name of Wing Commander Liz Hutchinson

In relation to the Search Warrant at the JPSU, the aim of the search was to seize, "mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson and any other documentation or other items in relation to this mentioned investigation".

As per my Policy File entry No.8, page 2690, I state that, "the reason for obtaining these said search warrants is that we have during the course of the investigation (Op Apache) suspected that the subjects named in the warrants conspired with others to pervert / obstruct RGP investigating officers (namely their actions of the 8/2/17) from accessing material pertinent to the enquiry, in the full knowledge that the RGP were exercising their lawful duties and the material in question was required to pursue the investigation. The course of public justice could thus not be fulfilled, with the extent of their actions culminating with a concerted attempt by all 3 named persons to take the exhibits in question out of Gibraltar, by flying them on a military plane back to the UK".

In order to ascertain / investigate the extent of the believed conspiracy within the JPSU, we required "mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU". This meant that we required these items from all the staff members within the JPSU and not just the Provost Marshall. The JPSU is a very small department, with limited personnel, so it was correct to believe that all its members would have been heavily involved in an investigation of this type and the transfer of Watterson and the exhibits to RAF Gibraltar and onwards to the UK.

The Stipendiary Magistrate, Mr Pitto authorized the said warrants on the 27th February 2017.

On Wednesday the 1st March 2017, the decision was made to execute the said search warrants. The four search warrants would be executed simultaneously and I would lead the team to the JPSU building. Prior to 1350hrs, same date, I telephoned JPSU's Master of Arms Claire Bell and requested that she and her JPSU officers attend their office immediately, as I was in possession of a search warrant for their offices. At about 1353hrs, together with other RGP Detectives in plain clothes and a uniformed SOCO officer under my command entered the JPSU building for the purpose of executing the said search warrant. Sergeant Scott O'Malley of the JPSU allowed the RGP access into the said building, where I identified myself (though he already knew who I was from previous meetings) and my officers and the reasons for our presence was explained to him, he was shown the search warrant and explained the items that we would be seizing. In addition, present within the said building were other JPSU staff members, namely:

1. Allan MacDonald
2. Matthew Hempstead

Shortly after, and because of my request, Claire Bell arrived at the JPSU building, as so did Leanne Buehling. As I had already done so with Sergeant O'Malley, I explained to her the reasons for our presence, showed her the said search warrant and highlighted the items we would be seizing. As can be seen on the said search warrant / Search Register on Page 1, section 1, Claire Bell signs as

"Yes" the relevant section stating, "Was the owner/occupier handed a copy of Warrant/Authority AND of his Rights/Entitlements". Claire BELL had all the facts and reasons handed to her and explained. At the time, Provost Marshal Collins, the head of the JPSU was not in the building, as he was travelling at the time back from the UK and would be landing at the Gibraltar Airport later that afternoon. Meaning that Claire Bell, as Master at Arms was the senior officer of the JPSU present at that time.

At this time, Bell and O'Malley did raise concerns over the validity of the said search warrant and the seizing of pocket books, mobiles from all JPSU staff and referring to the fact that they were also Police. I explained that the reasoning behind this was covered in the search warrant and was all part of the suspected conspiracy.

During the course of the search, Sergeant O'Malley stated that he had his pocket book and mobiles at his residence. He was not under arrest, so we had no power to seize the said items. We were also not in possession of a search warrant for his residence. However, I asked him if he would voluntarily hand them over to Police, to which he answered in the affirmative. At no time did I or any of my officers' present, cause any intentional duress to any of the JPSU personnel present. There were no threats of arrest, no threats of violence, any constraints or any other action implied or used to coerce any of the JPSU personnel in doing something against their will or better judgement. This was also the case in respect of Bell and Buehling and their voluntary handing over of their items.

As a result, at about 1525hrs, Sergeant O'Malley left the JPSU building accompanied by only DC 127 Garcia-White and they went straight to his residence to recover the said items, as per the Search log, page 3A. DC Garcia-White (in plain clothes) entered the said residence with O'Malley and they were inside for no longer than 5 minutes, as O'Malley went straight for the items requested. No search of the residence was conducted as only the items requested were required. O'Malley's wife and child were in the house at the time, but friendly conversation between them all transpired during the said 5 minutes. At no time during this time did O'Malley inform the officer of his concerns about voluntarily handing over the items to Police. DC Garcia-White was present when we first entered the JPSU offices, whereby I informed the JPSU staff present that the persons with me were all RGP officers.

Subsequently, as per the Search log, page 4B the following items were voluntarily handed over by O'Malley from within his residence, at [redacted] between 1538hrs and 1544hrs:

1. Exhibit Book Entry No.24 – 1 x Black in colour Samsung mobile phone – LMGW/Telephone/1
2. Exhibit Book Entry No.25 – 1 x Black in colour Nokia 635 mobile phone and cable – LMGW/Telephone/2

3. Exhibit Book Entry No.26 – 1 x Note 3 Samsung mobile phone, 1 x Black phone case & 1 x white cable – LMGW/Telephone/3
4. Exhibit Book Entry No.27 – 1 x Pocketbook of Sergeant O'Malley – LMGW/DOC/5

At 1545hrs, I left the JPSU building, leaving DS 11 Goldwin and DS 10 Bautista in charge. At this stage, Sergeant O'Malley and DC Garcia-White had not returned to the JPSU building. I then made my way to the Gibraltar Airport awaiting the arrival of Provost Marshall Collins. On arresting Collins, I transferred him to NMH and I did not return to the JPSU building. I was not informed of any concerns or issues raised by any of the JPSU staff during the period that I was not there. The search terminated at 1631hrs, with no arrests made.

In the Exhibit Book, appertaining to the search at the JPSU building, entry numbers 3, 4, 10 & 11 show the exhibits handed over by O'Malley. These were recorded on a standard exhibits form with set headers referring to who seized and where items were seized. The relevant entries state that all four exhibits were seized (set header) from 19 West Walk, Europa Point and that the items were seized (set header) by, "DC 127 Garcia White (handed over by Sgt Scott O'Malley)".

Within the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act 2011, Codes of Practice, Code B refers to the Codes of practice for searches of premises by Police officers and the seizure of property found by police officers on persons or premises. For the purposes of this Code, 'premises' as defined in this Act section 2, includes any vehicle, vessel, aircraft or hovercraft any stall, tent or moveable structure (including an offshore installation) and any other place whatever, whether or not occupied as land.

The pertinent section for this matter is Code B5 - Search with consent, which states:

"B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).

B5.2. Before seeking consent the officer in charge of the search must state the purpose of the proposed search and its extent. This information must be as specific as possible, particularly regarding the articles or persons being sought and the parts of the premises to be searched. The person concerned must be clearly informed he or she is not obliged to consent and anything seized may be produced in evidence. If at the time the person is not suspected of an offence, the officer must say this when stating the purpose of the search".

B5.3. An officer cannot enter and search or continue to search premises under paragraph B5.1 if consent is given under duress or withdrawn before the search is completed".

Both Sergeant O'Malley and Master at Arms Bell are senior members of the JPSU locally and work under the ethos and rules of UK PACE. They fully knew that they were not under arrest, what my limitations were and its implications. They both volunteered consent for the said items to be handed over and did not do so under any form of duress nor did they withdraw their consent at any stage. If they had not given their consent, the handing over of their items would not have occurred. The search at the JPSU building would have continued, and further search warrants to be able to search other identified locations would have had to been obtained. However, this was not required, as with their consent the searches were carried out.

The following are the Notes for Guidance for Code B for this section and state the following:

5A. In a lodging house or similar accommodation, every reasonable effort should be made to obtain the consent of the tenant, lodger or occupier. A search should not be made solely on the basis of the landlord's consent unless the tenant, lodger or occupier is unavailable and the matter is urgent.

5B. If the intention is to search premises under the authority of a warrant or a power of entry and search without warrant, and the occupier of the premises co-operates in accordance with paragraph B6.4, there is no need to obtain written consent.

In respect of section B6.4 (Entry without consent), the Searching of premises - general considerations, it states:

B6.4. The officer in charge of the search must first try to communicate with the occupier, or any other person entitled to grant access to the premises, explain the authority under which entry is sought and ask the occupier to allow entry, unless–

(a) The search premises are unoccupied;
(b) The occupier and any other person entitled to grant access are absent;
(c) There are reasonable grounds for believing that alerting the occupier or any other person entitled to grant access would frustrate the object of the search or endanger officers or other people".

Both Bell and O'Malley refer to Paragraph 5.3 of Code B of the Codes of Practice and that their permission was only given under duress. I categorically deny that any form of duress was directed to Bell, O'Malley or any other member of the JPSU by myself or any of my officers present.

Bell alleges that during the search warrant I said "in a few days we will be laughing about this over a few beers", to which she replied to me "we will never laugh about this, nor will we ever have a beer together". I was involved with this matter from the very outset. Not only was I the SIO for this operation, I was also the senior line manager in charge of our Public Protection Unit, incorporating our Safeguarding team. In addition, I was the chair for the Gibraltar Public Protection Panel, managing Gibraltar's registered sex offenders, through our Designated Risk Managers. I was fully aware of the seriousness of the allegations against Watterson, the risk this created, its implications and consequences for the local community. But, also how wrongly the JPSU had "policed" the Watterson matter, contrary to local MAPPA policy.

I would like to point out that during the days leading up to the 8th February 2017, I had gone to numerous meetings with both Collins and Bell, with senior Military personnel based in Gibraltar, received / read correspondence from very senior UK based military personnel, with the Attorney General, with the OCPL and senior RGP officers. As a result, I was more than fully aware of the serious implications and possible consequences this operation could create for HMGOG, the RGP and MOD future cooperation. I was physically at the runway on the 8th February 2017 and saw firsthand the impact our actions had on public confidence and subsequently evidenced via the international press. Her comments suggest that I was not taking the matter seriously and making jest out of it all. For the reasons I have stated above, I would not have made a comment of this type and I did not make this comment.

From the outset the JPSU staff acted totally outside of their local remit and without absolutely any appropriate authority when arresting Watterson, searching his residence and seizing exhibits and were actively involved in the attempted removal of Watterson by air. There was a clear display of unprofessional behaviour and a disregard and contempt of RGP authority and powers and Gibraltar PLC legislation.

It is important to remember that the JPSU's senior officer locally and two other individuals out of the top three military personnel in Gibraltar were in fact arrested for the offences stated above, whereas the RGP's actions were justified and backed with a search warrant legally obtained and with the support of the Attorney General and the OCPL.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further details or any clarification.

8 March 2017

Dear Commissioner,

I am writing on behalf of Joint Forces Command – the organisation that commands and is responsible for the UK's permanent joint overseas bases – in respect of the ongoing investigations surrounding events on the 8th February, which unfolded in Gibraltar, in particular around Gibraltar International Airport.

There are a number of points that it seems appropriate to reflect to you. It is hoped these reflections are helpful to you on several accounts:

(1) first to acknowledge the role, advice and direction that Joint Forces Command provided to Commander British Forces Gibraltar on the legal issues impacting on the events of 8th February;

(2) secondly, to recognise and support the individuals involved and who are presently under your arrest and whose actions under your investigations were under the auspices of Joint Forces Command in the fulfilment of their duties. In doing so, it is understood these individuals' actions may have clashed with the responsibilities that your officers properly sought to fulfil; and

(3) finally, to reassure you about the seriousness with which Joint Forces Command views the allegations that have been made, the eagerness to try and satisfactorily settle – to everyone's satisfaction – the concerns with which the Royal Gibraltar Police are understandably investigating, and our genuine enthusiasm – if possible – to use these events as a platform to grow an even better understanding between our respective organisations and to build an even stronger and mutually respectful and beneficial future together.

Taking these points in turn:

Joint Forces Command regrets the events that took place in Gibraltar on the 8th February. This includes the events at Gibraltar International Airport and the dispute as to jurisdiction that led to the confusion by British Forces Gibraltar over the appropriate handling of the individual suspected of downloading indecent material whilst in the United Kingdom; and the detailed management of this particular case. It was the view of Joint Forces Command that the case was to be subject to exclusive Service Police jurisdiction – which turned out not to be correct. This was on the basis that Joint Forces Command was unaware of any potential offences that had been committed by the alleged suspect whilst in Gibraltar or of your suspicions in this respect.

It is acknowledged that in responding to your desire to explore potential illegal activities by the suspect, Joint Forces Command and subsequently British Forces Gibraltar did not immediately recognise the jurisdictional legal primacy in this case for you to investigate, and if necessary, prosecute the individual were he to be found to have committed a similar or other offence in Gibraltar. I want to reassure you that subsequent additional advice, including at a senior legal level in the Ministry of Defence, recognises the legal primacy point in this case. Joint Forces Command now, therefore, fully understands and respects your legal primacy in this case as the law currently stands today.

We are aware that Her Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has prioritised the drafting of legislation and an MoU that will clearly spell out our respective, complementary jurisdictional roles. It would also be highly desirable for agreement to be reached between our respective agencies setting out the practical application of jurisdiction for the period between now and the enactment of such legislation.

In the course of the events that unfolded on the 8th February, it is considered very important by Joint Forces Command that you should understand that at all material times our people acted in good faith and to implement the direction and guidance provided by Joint Forces Command and Provost Marshal (Navy). They were not on a "frolic of their own" in any sense and were therefore not consciously seeking to deny your officers jurisdiction, or disrespect your officers' lawful instructions. They were acting entirely in keeping with the instructions they were receiving, albeit, with the benefit of hindsight, in a manner which did not assist in resolving matters as expeditiously as all would have preferred.

I think it is important for you to be made aware that there was a decision, as part of the Joint Forces Command application of our duty of care to our personnel, to return the suspect to the United Kingdom for the individual's own welfare. Again, this decision was based on the view that jurisdiction to deal with the offence in question remained exclusively with Forces law enforcement agencies – which turned out not to be correct. It was in pursuance of this requirement and judgement that more appropriate care would be afforded the suspect in the United Kingdom, that British Forces Gibraltar personnel were instructed to facilitate the opportunity of a military aircraft to both return the individual to the United Kingdom and to transport potentially incriminating evidence for forensic examination. I should clarify that, fundamentally, this was because the facilities at RAF Brize Norton were considered more appropriate for looking after the individual than those of British Forces Gibraltar; and, ordinarily, the capability for Service Police investigations overseas which require electronic and communications forensic analysis is held in the United Kingdom. It is in seeking to implement this approach that, unfortunately, personnel from British Forces Gibraltar had what were clearly unfortunate altercations with officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police who were acting in the lawful execution of their duties. I cannot emphasise to you how much we regret, with the benefit of hindsight and the later legal advice we have received, that we were not better able to cooperate with those of your officers in question. These altercations should not have happened and any active disagreement as to jurisdiction should, in any event, have been handled in the more dignified and usual manner for issues of this type. I must express to you in particular our genuine regret to hear accusations that British Forces Gibraltar personnel behaved disrespectfully towards officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police and that they were inconsiderate of the requirements under which your officers were seeking to undertake their lawful activities and investigations. That is not in the nature of the relationship we have long enjoyed between our organisations.

It is hoped, sincerely, that these events can be used to assist us all in a clearer understanding of the Royal Gibraltar Police's jurisdiction in respect of criminal matters and British Forces Gibraltar's application of service law; and that – looking ahead – there are considerable opportunities to enable our respective law enforcement agencies and leadership to work even more closely together. There are numerous significant opportunities to enable this: the routine business of service people in Gibraltar; the joint policing that is usually put in place for the arrival and duration of Royal Navy warships and submarines; and the ambition that we all have to draw further on various Gibraltar Parliament statutes anticipated to be enacted later this year and which will provide a stronger and clearer platform for continued co-operation and enhanced security measures and resilience for Gibraltar.

It is hoped that this contextual information is of assistance in providing an appropriate and accurate background for many of the actions that Service Personnel took in the course of their duties in respect of the events and associated interactions that flowed from the 8th February incident.

Joint Forces Command assures you that there was not and never envisaged any intention to attempt to fetter the Royal Gibraltar Police's jurisdiction. That it appeared otherwise is deeply regretted. It is sincerely hoped that our future interactions are on a more positive basis and that we collectively work together to enhance the security of the United Kingdom and Gibraltar.

Yours sincerely,

Tony Radakin

Dear Commissioner,

Re: Watterson

I write further to the events of 7-8 February 2017 in respect of the investigation by the RGP into the above captioned member of Her Majesty's Forces stationed in Gibraltar.

As you know, on those days I was in contact with officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) as events unfolded in relation to your ongoing investigation into the above-captioned.

I have had sight of a letter that the Chief of Staff Joint Forces Command, Rear Admiral Tony Radakin, has sent to you dated 8 March 2017.

I note that the communication from Rear Admiral Radakin serves to clarify the position of the Ministry of Defence as to jurisdiction in respect of the above captioned. The letter also makes clear that, at all times, I was acting in the fulfilment of my duties as directed by my superiors, and on the advice from Joint Forces Command and Provost Marshal (Navy).

It now transpires that the advice on jurisdiction, which formed the basis for my directed actions, was not correct. I clearly did not know this at the time of the events and was, indeed, led to believe the opposite.

I would welcome the opportunity to come to see you for a face-to-face meeting as a further step towards the reconciliation we all seek and the restoration of the excellent relationship I have always enjoyed with the RGP.

Yours Sincerely

Re: Watterson

I write further to the events of 7-8 February 2017 in respect of the investigation by the RGP into the above captioned member of Her Majesty's Forces stationed in Gibraltar.

As you know, on those days I was in contact with officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) at JPSU Gun Wharf as events unfolded in relation to your ongoing investigation into the above-captioned.

I have had sight of a letter that the Chief of Staff Joint Forces Command, Rear Admiral Tony Radakin, has sent to you dated 8 March 2017.

I note that the communication from Rear Admiral Radakin serves to clarify the position of the Ministry of Defence as to jurisdiction in respect of the above captioned. It now transpires that the advice on jurisdiction, which formed the basis for my directed actions, was not correct. I clearly did not know this at the time of the events and was, indeed, led to believe the opposite.

In light of the above, it will be evident to you that my actions on the dates in question at JPSU Gun Wharf were at all times taken in the good faith belief that my superiors were directing me to act in keeping with the law.

In particular, it was evidently not my intention to obstruct any officer of the RGP in the lawful performance of their duties, nor to obstruct their investigation, even less to have attempted to pervert, or to conspire to pervert, the course of justice. Nothing could have been further from my mind. Indeed, as a member myself of Her Majesty's Armed Forces, I am entirely committed to the observance of the law and of the rule of law. If any of my actions are seen by you as even remotely giving that impression, I sincerely and unreservedly apologise.

You will therefore not be surprised to know that I thoroughly regret the events that took place and wholeheartedly apologise if any of my actions are or were seen by you or your officers as any conscious desire or intent by me to obstruct any investigation by the RGP or to disrespect the RGP. I deeply regret that my actions may have led to this perception. I would wish to reiterate that I was acting in support and in furtherance of the MoD's understanding of its legal position and I was at all times seeking to fulfil my obligations as a directed member of a disciplined, uniformed, body with integrity and honesty.

It goes without saying that I fully respect the RGP and have worked well with them as an equal partner agency before the events of the past weeks. I sincerely hope that JPSU generally, and myself personally, will be able to return to the previously prevailing normality in which we both contribute towards the policing and security of Gibraltar, to the mutual benefit of this whole community and the United Kingdom. With the benefit of hindsight, if such an event occurred again I would seek to ensure a more constructive dialogue at an earlier stage and would certainly not act as I did on this disagreeable occasion.

I would welcome the opportunity to come to see you for a face-to-face meeting as a further step towards the reconciliation we all seek and the restoration of the excellent relationship I have always enjoyed with the RGP.

Dear Chief Minister,

Re.: Wanerson Inquiry

I refer to your request to the Gibraltar Police Authority ("GPA") to enquire from the Royal Gibraltar Police ("RGP") into the events that transpired on and around 8th February 2017 relating to Sergeant Wanerson (the "Wanerson Incident").

We have reviewed the relevant reports prepared by the RGP in respect of the Wanerson Incident, and have further discussed and raised questions relating to the effectiveness and probity of policing in Gibraltar by the RGP in connection therewith. In particular, we have interviewed the Commissioner of Police and his most senior ranking officers in relation to the Wanerson Incident, being careful to understand the thought processes and considerations of the RGP officers involved in the Wanerson Incident, including but not limited to (i) whether the consequences of the actions and restraint of the relevant RGP officers throughout the Wanerson Incident were considered and deliberated; (ii) whether the actions of, and restraint shown by, the relevant RGP officers throughout the Wanerson Incident were necessary and proportional; and (iii) whether with the benefit of hindsight any actions could or should have been taken differently by the RGP.

The GPA has come to the firm conclusion that the actions of and the restraint shown by the relevant RGP officers during the Wanerson Incident were considered, deliberated, entirely proportional and highly commendable. As such, we do not doubt the effectiveness and probity of the policing demonstrated by the RGP in respect of the Waterton Incident. We would take the liberty of adding, though it may not be our place to do so, that the actions of certain MOD personnel in respect of the Waterton Incident deserve censure and that you should consider whether a full inquiry ought to be undertaken by a body independent of the RGP and the MOD so that lessons may be learnt from this incident.

I remain at your disposal should you wish to discuss this matter further.

Police Complaints Board, Complaint against an RGP Officer(s)

[redacted]

Details:

Name: Mrs C L Bell, Royal Navy Police

[redacted]

Who:

Police Officer details:
Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail, RGP – Applied for warrant and was senior investigator.
Detective Chief Inspector, Wayne Tunbridge, RGP – Executed the warrant on the day in question.

Where:

JPSU offices, Gunwharf, HM Naval Base
Private Motor Vehicle (PMV) (Mr Macdonald).

When:

1 Mar 17, 1400 – 1540

What:

Who was involved?
Mrs Claire Bell
Mr Scott O'Malley
Mr Al Macdonald
Mrs Leanne Buehling

What:

DCI Tunbridge acted outside the remit of the warrant that was served on JPSU by seizing articles namely my Service Police Notebook from a PMV belonging which belonged to Mr Macdonald, neither I or the PMV were specified on the warrant, I did not consent verbally or in writing to this, DCI Tunbridge breached both the human rights act (Article 8) in relation to the above named people involved and also Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice by seizing my private mobile telephone. I also believe I was unlawfully detained for a period of time at JPSU whilst my personal mobile telephone was being seized.

Witnesses:

Mr Scott O'Malley
Mr Al Macdonald
Miss Leanne Buehling

Damage/injury:

No damage (unsure if my personal mobile telephone has been interrogated by the RGP), no physical injury. Emotional injury: [redacted]

Précis of events:

On 1 Mar 17 it is my belief that the RGP clearly acted outside the extent of a Warrant that was served upon my place of work, taking personnel either to their private motor vehicles, private home addresses or private living Accommodation to make various seizures of Private Mobile phones and other articles. It is my belief that the RGP had no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and unlawfully and illegally entered private premises and vehicles to seize such items.

The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf, it did not extend to, the RGP escorting myself to a Private Motor Vehicle (PMV) to seize my private mobile telephone, it did not extend to RGP escorting Mr McDonald to his PMV, in order to seize his private mobile phone, it did not extend to the RGP escorting Mr O'Malley to his family home at [redacted] and entering those premises, to seize his private mobile phone and it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her private living accommodation at Devils Tower Camp, entering those premises and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of our liberty and of our free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached the human rights of all of us citing this complaint under Article7/8 of European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) and Article 7/8, Human Rights Act (HRA) 1998. I was never under arrest however; my personal mobile telephone was seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy.

Finally, to end, I would like to complain about the unprofessional way the search was actually conducted. The RGP did not wear any PPE, not even the minimum of a pair of gloves were worn, no photographs were taken of the articles prior to them being seized and more disturbingly, no information was ever sought regarding the occupants of a private home addresses which included Mr O'Malley's wife and [redacted] daughter. No justification was ever given on what articles were seized or not seized. No Explanation was ever given to us regarding the powers used to seize or retain such articles.

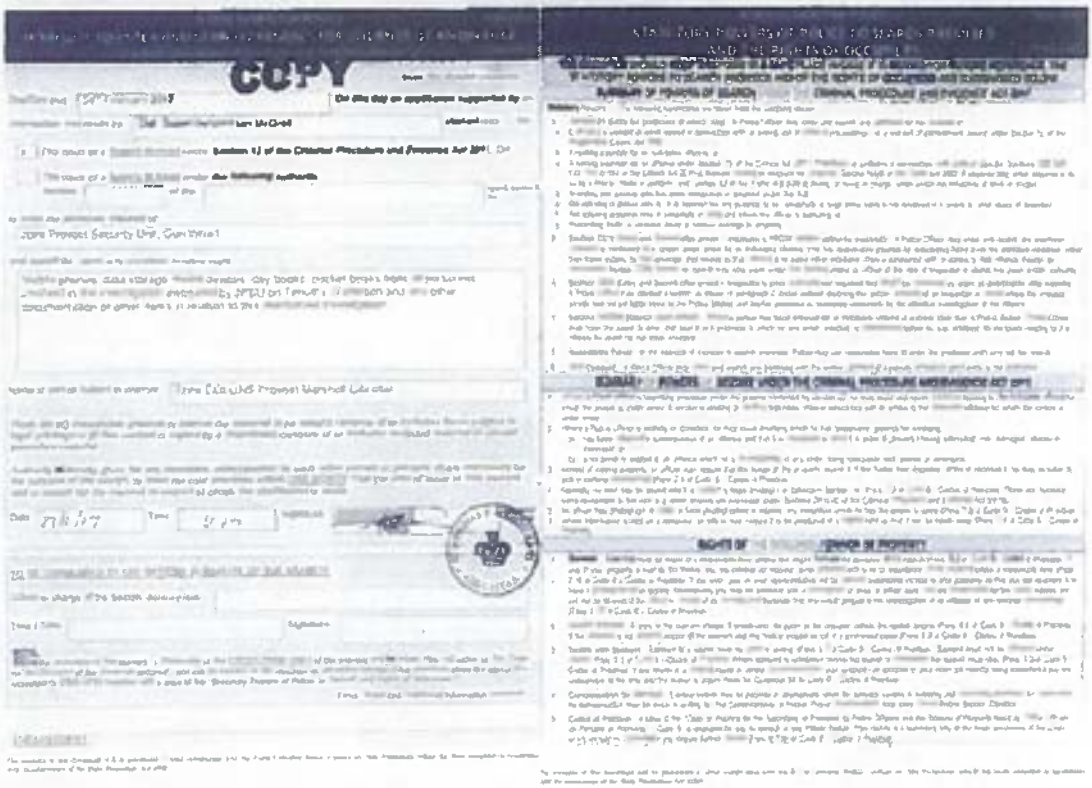
Below is an accurate précis of the events that occurred on 1 Mar 17 and a copy of the warrant served.

At approximately 1340 on 1 Mar 17, I received a telephone call from DCI Wayne Tunbridge who stated I was required to attend the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) at Her Majesty's Naval Base Gibraltar, I was instructed to round up my team and that he had a Warrant to conduct a search of JPSU and that he would explain further upon her arrival. He said he would not enter until my arrival. I left my house immediately leaving my wife in a very distressful state as she did know what may happen to me.

At 1400, upon request of the RGP, Mr O'Malley escorted the RGP into JPSU offices. DCI W Tunbridge, RGP spoke to him when they were interrupted by another RGP officer who stated, "has the Warrant been served?" to which DCI Tunbridge stated "yes".

The warrant was applied for by Det Sup McGrail on 24 Feb 17 and signed by the magistrate on 27 Feb 17 at 1220. The name of the person subject to the warrant was Chris COLLINS Provost Marshal Gibraltar. It stated the warrant was to enter the premises situated at "Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf" and search for "Mobile Phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books from all personnel involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson and any other documentation or other items in relation to this mentioned investigation"

Mr O'Malley expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and expressed concerns about having to surrender his personal mobile device.



At 1405, I liaised with DCI Tunbridge. the Warrant was served on me, in disbelief I stated, "you are just about to serve a warrant on another policing agency, can you at least speak with Deputy Provost Marshall (Navy) (DPM (N))?" DCI Tunbridge stated that a decision had come from higher and that he was serving the Warrant and that DPM (N) needed to speak with the Commissioner not him. I signed the warrant and was subsequently given a copy of the warrant.

Both myself and Mr O'Malley continued to express concerns to DCI Tunbridge regarding the seizure of our private mobile telephones. He stated that the decision had come from higher up and was only acting on orders. He stated that he had no choice but to carry out the warrant. This statement did not seem very genuine.

DCI Tunbridge stated to me "in a few days we will be laughing about this over a few beers", I replied to DCI Tunbridge "we will never laugh about this, nor will we ever have a beer together"

At 1417, I was escorted out of JPSU offices to a vehicle which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of my Service Police Notebook. No warrant was produced to enter the PMV. I was then escorted back into the JPSU building and at 1425, my private personal mobile telephone was seized, which contained personal information and the device was my only way of communicating to my family back in the UK. In fear of being arrested, I handed my mobile telephone over to the police officer, under duress and without consent either written or verbal. I expressed at the time serious concerns about the legality and necessity of the warrant and about having to surrender my personal mobile device, when I questioned the police officer at the time "why they are taking my personal phone" he replied, "because they needed it".

The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show me his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking my property, he did not tell me what offence was being investigated or what part he believed I played in it, he did not explain what would happen to my property and did not give me a receipt for my personal property. I was not in arrest at any time however during course of the day I do believe that I had been unlawfully detained against my will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1419, Mr A McDonald was escorted out of JPSU to his vehicle, which was parked outside JPSU, where they took possession of his personal mobile device, containing personal information. No warrant was produced to enter the vehicle. On completion of the search of Mr Macdonald's office he requested if he could leave as he had arranged to go in to Town with his wife. This request was denied by RGP who stated he had to remain until the search of JPSU was completed. Mr McDonald was not in arrest and his liberty was denied.

At 1515, Mr O'Malley again spoke with DCI Tunbridge challenging the requirement to seize his personal phone, as he was not in arrest, he again expressed his concerns and the property they were demanding were at his home address [redacted]

DCI, Tunbridge stated that he would be escorted to his home address by an RGP officer and he was to hand them over there. At 1516, he departed JPSU in company with an RGP officer to produce his mobile phones. At 1538, Mr O'Malley entered his Service Family Accomodation (SFA) the RGP officer entered behind him, uninvited and in front of his very worried and distraught wife, [redacted] and [redacted] daughter, [redacted] in fear of being arrested, under duress and without consent either written or verbal he handed over his mobile devices, duty mobile phone and service police notebook. The RGP officer did not identify himself, he did not show him his warrant card, he did not state the grounds for taking his property, he did not tell him what offence was being investigated or what part he believed Mr O'Malley played in it, he did not explain what would happen to his property and did not give him a receipt for the property. Mr O'Malley subsequently returned to JPSU. He was not in arrest at any time however during the course of that day I believe that he had been unlawfully detained, against his will at least between the hours of 1400 and 1540 on Wed 1 Mar 17.

At 1600, Miss L Buehling was escorted out of JPSU and escorted by RGP to her Service Living Accommodating (SLA) at Devil Tower Camp, (DTC) to surrender her personnel mobile device, which contained personal date. Miss Buehling expressed her concerns at the time even stating, "she did not want to hand over her personal phone" but she was informed by RGP that "she had to". She handed over her phone without consent either written or verbally and under duress. Miss Buehling subsequently returned to JPSU. Miss Buehling was not in arrest.

I make my complaint on two primary grounds but with each amounting to various breaches namely:

1. The RGP have no lawful authority to seize private mobile phones and have unlawfully and illegally entered PMV and private premises by which to seize such articles. The RGP were acting under a warrant that legally entitled them to enter premises situated at Joint Provost Security Unit, Gun Wharf – it did not extend to the RGP escorting me to a PMV, escorting Mr O'Malley to the SFA at Europa Point entering those premises and making seizures, it did not extend to the RGP escorting Miss Buehling to her SLA at DTC and seizing her private mobile phone. I also contend that such an escort in these circumstances amounts to an infringement of liberty and of theirs and my own free movement and could be considered as an unlawful 'detention' under such circumstances.

2. More broadly under civil terms RGP officers have breached my human rights under Article7/8 of ECHR and Article 7/8, HRA 1998. Mr O'Malley, Mr Macdonald, Miss Buehling and I were not arrested however personal mobile phones were seized thereby breaching any rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails etc. I would like this matter to be investigated and receive advice on under what legislation the RGP can interrogate my phone and the admissibility of any material obtained by such an intrusive interrogation of personal data.

There has been a delay in submitting my complaint, due to being informed by GoG and the MOD that and independent enquiry would take place, which would have highlighted the unlawful actions of the RGP and the unlawful treatment of MOD personnel. However, that enquiry has not taken place and is not taken place. There is also a delay in submitting this complaint due to the fear and threat of low-level harassment from the RGP, whilst I was still in Gibraltar. Now I am safely back in the UK away from the RGP who I view as having acted unlawfully, unethically and unscrupulously in this instance, I wish to submit my complaint.

Finally, I have been informed that the now Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail at a recent conference stated that the investigation could be re-opened at any time "he wishes". I am seriously concerned with this comment. I had in the past been informed that I may have been part of the wider investigation, which may have resulted in my arrest, to that end in line with the Subject Access Request, I wish to know what information the RGP hold on me.

I give my consent for you to pass the information contained on the letter to the professional standards department of the RGP in connection with the investigation of this complaint.

In the matter of the Police Act, 2006

And

In the matter of the complaint by Claire Bell against the Royal Gibraltar Police

A complaint has been lodged by Mrs Claire Bell (the complainant) against the Royal Gibraltar Police ("RGP") alleging that Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail and Detective Chief Inspector Wayne Tunbridge acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) and that the RGP carried out the search in a very unprofessional manner.

A sub-committee of the Police Complaints Board was constituted to investigate the complaints. Pursuant to regulation 3(3) of the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008, the Board has the power to regulate its own proceedings, to consider and investigate complaints.

The complaint was presented to the members of the sub-committee who have investigated the complaint.

The sub-committee has read the report submitted by the complainant who alleges that on 1 March 2017, the RGP acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the JPSU by escorting her to her motor vehicle which was parked outside the JPSU and taking possession of her Service Police Notebook. The complainant further alleges that she handed over her mobile phone under duress and without her written or verbal consent. The complainant contends that the search warrant entitled the RGP to enter and search the JPSU but it did not extend to her vehicle or to the residence of other JPSU personnel. The complainant further alleges that RGP officers breached her rights under the European Convention on Human Rights and under the Human Rights Act 1998. She claims that because she was not arrested and having her personal mobile phone and the Service Police Notebook seized, this action breached her rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails.

The sub-committee also notes the complainant's concern regarding a statement made by Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail in a recent conference that "he could re-open the investigation at any time, if he so wished." However, when asked, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail categorically denied having made such a statement.

The sub-committee has also read the report and supporting documents submitted by the RGP outlining the said events according to police records. It has taken note of the fact that at the time when the search warrant was executed, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail held the position of Detective Superintendent and Superintendent Tumbridge held the position of Detective Chief Inspector. The sub-committee also notes that the aim of the search warrant was to seize mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books and all other material in the possession of those individuals involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson.

The sub-committee notes from the report submitted by Superintendent Tumbridge that on 1 March 2017, he executed the search warrant and that he identified himself and his men to Mr Scott O'Malley who allowed them access into the JPSU building. Superintendent Tumbridge claims that he served the complainant with the search warrant and explained to her the reason for his presence and informed her of the items he would be seizing. It is also noted that the warrant was signed by the complainant and later the RGP provided her with a copy.

Notwithstanding the above and the fact that the warrant allowed for the seizure of certain items, it is noted that the complainant expressed her concern over the legality and necessity of the search warrant and the surrendering of the Service Police Notebook and mobile phone. Superintendent Tumbridge claims that he explained to the complainant that the reason for seizing the material was covered in the search warrant and it was all part of the suspected conspiracy.

The sub-committee also notes that Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail was the officer who applied to the Court for the issue of a warrant to enter and search the said premises and understands that he did not physically partake in the search of the JPSU or the complainant's motor vehicle.

In his report, Superintendent Tumbridge explains that the items seized were handed over by the complainant and other JPSU personnel to the RGP voluntarily and that at no time did he or any of his men cause any intentional duress to the complainant or to any other JPSU personnel. He further claims that there were no threats of arrest, no threats of violence, any constraints or any other action implied or used to coerce the complainant in doing something against her will or better judgment. This is in conflict with the statement made by the complainant in that the items were taken without her oral or written consent. Superintendent Tumbridge acknowledges that the complainant was not under arrest and therefore he had no power to seize the items. He further confirms that he was not in possession of a warrant to search the complainant's vehicle.

In arriving at its decision, the sub-committee has considered all the reports, statements and evidence submitted by Mrs Claire Bell, the Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail, Superintendent Tumbridge and has also taken note of the advice provided by Counsel.

The sub-committee finds that:

The RGP were legally entitled to enter and carry out a search of the JPSU and seize the equipment authorise under the warrant;

The warrant did not extend to the complainant's motor vehicle or to the residence of the other JPSU personnel and therefore the RGP were not legally entitled to enter and search the said premises and motor vehicle without the prior permission of the complainant in the case of her motor vehicle and the other JPSU personnel in respect of their respective residence (this is acknowledged by the RGP in their report). However, there are conflicting statements from both the complainant and the RGP in relation to the seizure of the equipment from the complainant's vehicle. The complainant alleges that she did not grant permission to the RGP to escort her to her vehicle and seize the material sought. She further alleges that such an escort amounted to an infringement of her liberty and free movement and could be considered as an unlawful detention. It is alleged by the RGP that the complainant and all JPSU personnel handed over all material voluntarily.

On the basis of the above and considering all the evidence presented, the sub-committee has come to the conclusion that there is insufficient evidence to find, on a balance of probabilities, that the RGP acted unlawfully and illegally when entering the residence of the JPSU personnel and the complainant's vehicle to obtain the equipment sought and that the action of the RGP did not breach any human rights afforded of the complainant and other JPSU staff under the European Convention on Human Rights and the Human Rights Act 1998.

The Police Complaints Board has considered the findings of the sub-committee and finds that the RGP did not act unprofessionally in the execution of their duties and, therefore, the complaint has not been sustained. The complaint made against the Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail and Superintendent Wayne Tumbridge is, therefore, dismissed.

In the matter of the Police Act, 2006

And

In the matter of the complaint by Scott John O'Malley against the Royal Gibraltar Police

A complaint has been lodged by Mr Scott John O'Malley (the complainant) against the Royal Gibraltar Police ("RGP") alleging that Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail and Detective Chief Inspector Wayne Tunbridge acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the Joint Provost and Security Unit (JPSU) and that the RGP carried out the search in a very unprofessional manner.

A sub-committee of the Police Complaints Board was constituted to investigate the complaints. Pursuant to regulation 3(3) of the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008, the Board has the power to regulate its own proceedings, to consider and investigate complaints.

The complaint was presented to the members of the sub-committee who have investigated the complaint and have established that:

The complainant alleges that on 1 March 2017, the RGP acted outside the remit of a search warrant served on the JPSU by escorting him to his family home at Europa Point, entering the said premises and seizing his mobile phones and other material without his written or verbal consent. The complainant contends that the search warrant legally entitled the RGP to enter and search the JPSU but it did not extend to his home. The complainant further alleges that the RGP officers breached his rights under the European Convention on Human Rights and under the Human Rights Act 1998. He claims that because he was not arrested and having his personal mobile phones seized, this action breached his rights to privacy, correspondence, letters, telephone calls and emails.

The sub-committee also notes the complainant's concern regarding a statement made by Commissioner of Police, Ian McGrail in a recent conference that "he could re-open the investigation at any time, if he so wished." However, when asked, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail categorically denied having made such a statement.

The sub-committee has also read the report and supporting documents submitted by the RGP outlining the said events according to police records. It has taken note of the fact that at the time when the search warrant was executed, Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail held the position of Detective Superintendent and Superintendent Tumbridge held the position of Detective Chief Inspector. The sub-committee also notes that the aim of the search warrant was to seize mobile phones, data storage media devices, day books, pocket books and all other material in the possession of those individuals involved in the investigation instigated by JPSU on Timothy Watterson.

The sub-committee notes from the report submitted by Superintendent Tumbridge that on 1 March 2017, he executed the search warrant and that he identified himself and his men to the complainant who allowed them access into the JPSU building. Superintendent Tumbridge claims that he showed the complainant the search warrant and explained to him the reason for his presence and informed him of the items he would be seizing.

Notwithstanding the above and the fact that the warrant allowed for the seizure of certain items, it is noted that the complainant expressed his concern over the legality and necessity of the search warrant and the surrendering of his pocket books and mobile phones.

The sub-committee also notes that the Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail was the officer who applied to the Court for the issue of the warrant to enter and search the JPSU and understands that he did not physically take part in the search of the said premises or the complainant's residence.

In his report, Superintendent Tumbridge explains that the complainant notified him that he had his pocket book and mobile phones in his residence and when asked, he confirmed that he was willing to hand them over voluntarily. This is in conflict with the statement made by the complainant that the items were taken without his consent. Superintendent Tumbridge acknowledges that the complainant was not under arrest and therefore he had no power to seize the items. He further confirms that he was not in possession of a warrant to search the complainant's residence.

It is claimed by Superintendent Tumbridge that at no time did he or any of his men cause any intentional duress to the complainant or to any other JPSU personnel. He further claims that there were no threats of arrest, no threats of violence, any constraints or any other action implied or used to coerce the complainant in doing something against his will or better judgment.

The sub-committee also notes from the report submitted by Superintendent Tumbridge that the complainant was accompanied to his residence by DC 127 Garcia-White and upon entering the said premises, the complainant handed over to DC 127 Garcia-White a black coloured Samsung mobile phone, a black coloured Nokia 635 mobile phone and cable, a Note 3 Samsung mobile phone with a black case and cable and a pocket book belonging to the complainant. It is claimed that at no time did DC 127 Garcia-White carry out a search of the said residence and that at no time did the complainant inform DC 127 Garcia-White of his concerns about voluntarily handing over these items.

In arriving at its decision, the sub-committee has considered all the reports, statements and evidence submitted by Mr Scott John O'Malley, the Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail, Superintendent Tumbridge and has also taken note of the advice provided by Counsel.

The sub-committee finds that:

The RGP were legally entitled to enter and carry out a search of the JPSU and seize the equipment authorise under the warrant.

The warrant did not extend to the residence of the complainant and therefore the RGP were not legally entitled to search the said premises without the complainant's permission (this is acknowledged by the RGP in their report). However, there are conflicting statements from both the complainant and the RGP in relation to the seizure of the equipment from the complainant's residence. The complainant alleges that he did not grant permission to the RGP to escort him to his residence, enter the said premises and seize the equipment sought. He further alleges that such an escort amounted to an infringement of his liberty and free movement and could be considered as an unlawful detention. Superintendent Tumbridge alleges that when the complainant informed him that he had his pocket book and mobiles in his residence, he asked him whether he would voluntarily hand them over to the RGP to which he replied in the affirmative.

On the basis of the above and considering all the evidence presented, the sub-committee has come to the conclusion that there is insufficient evidence to find, on a balance of probabilities, that the RGP acted unlawfully and illegally when accompanying the complainant and entering his residence to obtain the equipment sought and that the actions of the RGP did not breach any human rights afforded to the complainant and other JPSU staff under the European Convention on Human Rights or the Human Rights Act 1998.

The Police Complaints Board has considered the findings of the sub-committee and finds that the RGP did not act unprofessionally in the execution of their duties and, therefore, the complaint has not been sustained. The complaint made against the Commissioner of Police Ian McGrail and Superintendent Wayne Tumbridge is, therefore, dismissed.

Good afternoon,

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 I am entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority review the decision of the Police Complaints Board.

'I consider that the decision or recommendation of the Board was manifestly wrong or perverse and that no reasonable Board properly considering the complaint could have come to that decision or recommendation.'

I maintain that I have been the victim of inappropriate conduct by RGP police officers.

I hope that amongst other things the result of my complaint is intended to be of help to the RGP in identifying and addressing areas of police performance.

Having read the response of the board I wish a review as I disagree with the original findings for the following reasons.

1. Firstly, and in addition to my original complaint, it should be noted that the focus of the RGP investigation should have always and only centred on Sgt Timothy Watterson, NOT members of JSPSU. Watterson was a member of HM Forces and British citizen, who committed a crime in the UK prior to arriving in Gibraltar. Whilst a great deal was made of the Armed Force Act amendment, 2016, removing jurisdiction from the service police, the NATO Statement of Force Agreement (SOFA) dated 19 Jun 51, is and always was in force. This states in Article VII
    a. Subject to the provisions of this Article,
    b. the military authorities of the sending State shall have the right to exercise within the receiving State all criminal and disciplinary jurisdiction conferred on them by the law of the sending State over all persons subject to the military law of that State;
    c. the authorities of the receiving State shall have jurisdiction over the members of a force or civilian component and their dependents with respect to offences committed within the territory of the receiving State and punishable by the law of that State.
2. This should have allowed members of HM Forces military police to investigate the alleged offences carried out by Sgt Watterson. In regard to primacy and jurisdiction, early co-operation between RGP and JSPSU could have jointly, quickly and satisfactory resolved the alleged crimes carried out by Watterson. Instead RGP took over the investigation, they did not find any evidence of offences, they allowed a suspected paedophile back on to the streets of Gibraltar and caused a delay of over 16 weeks. A subsequent UK military investigation proved his guilt, resulting in a custodial sentence of 2 years 9 months.
3. How many other RGP investigations have allowed 'guilty' suspects back on the streets of Gibraltar, either civilian or military?
4. On reflection I now believe that the allegations and actions by RGP against JSPSU and members of HM Forces in Gibraltar we politically motivated and lead to an unnecessary, malicious investigation, into not only myself but all my colleagues whom were affected by this investigation.
5. I would like to see the strategy and decision log for the investigation that shows the reasons, grounds and necessary criteria for the arrests, searches and subsequent seizures of devices, for what were extremely serious allegations. I would also like to see the original warrant, what it contained and why it was refused the first time, the codes state 'B3.8. If a search warrant application is refused, a further application may not be made for those premises unless supported by additional grounds' what were the additional grounds? The codes also state 'Unless sub-paragraph B6.4(c) applies, if the premises are occupied the officer, subject to paragraph B2.9, must, before the search begins– (a) identify himself or herself, show his or her warrant card (if not in uniform) and state the purpose of and grounds for the search;' This did not happen at Gunwharf nor at [redacted]

6. Your report is dated 29 May 20, why did it take until 12 Jun 20 for me to receive this report? My original complaint dates from an incident on 1 Mar 17, and my complaint was submitted on 19 Aug 19, over 10 months ago.
7. It was stated that I gave consent to hand over my note book, mobile phone and electronic devices and that I gave consent to allow DC 127 Garcia-White into my property. I did not, I wish to make this extremely clear, at no time did I give permission verbally or in writing, I would like to know where the written evidence to the contrary is recorded and if so see a copy of the written record?
8. Form SEA2 – Warrant to enter and search premises for evidence of an offence, details JSPSU, Gun Warf, and Chris COLLINS, Provost Marshall Gibraltar. It does not state [redacted] and it does not name me, it does not specify my personal electronic items.
9. I want to see the written copy of the warrant allowing my items to be seized and my premises to be entered.
10. If, as DI Tunbridge states, I gave consent, provide me with a copy of the relevant pages of his police notebook showing what I agreed to, where I gave my written consent and where I signed.
11. Form SEA5 – Statutory powers of police to search premises and the rights of occupiers, (attached) states a copy of the warrant should, if practicable be given to the occupier before the search begins (Para 6.8 of code B – Codes of practise). This did not happen.

12. Search with consent: Consent of search must be given in writing (Para 5.1 of Code B – Codes of practice). Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice). I did not give my consent in writing and I was under duress.
13. I want to see a copy of my written consent in the search register. The codes state 'B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).'
14. As already explained in my original complaint any inferred co-operation was under duress from RGP officers. Ian McGrail stated to me in a meeting a few days prior, that he has previously arrested other police officers (although he did not explain what for), implying that he may arrest me. At the time of this incident, RGP officers had already arrested the Chief of Staff, the Station Commander and Provost Marshall Gibraltar. They were arrested for conspiracy to pervert the course of justice, I believe that this could carry a life sentence in prison if found guilty? I was most definitely under duress and did not want to be arrested next!
15. The implication from your report is that Ian McGrail, DI Tunbridge and DC Garcia White are being completely honest and due the fact our statements differ I must be lying? I do not accept this. I have provided written evidence to back up my concerns and complaint. Where is the documentary evidence from the RGP to prove I gave my consent, to prove they acted lawfully in their actions and did not breach my human rights?
16. DI Tunbridge stated I was under no obligation to hand over my personal items, he never said or explained this at the time, what would have happened had I not handed them over? I expect I would have been arrested, surely you can understand my thought processes and the duress from internal and external factors that affected my decisions?
17. Whilst I agree that I did physically hand over these items, I stated my reluctance to DI Tunbridge and DC Garcia-White several times at the time, this was met with negative response. Where were my response recorded? Have you checked their police pocket books?
18. In the report DI Tunbridge stated that 'at no time did he or any of his men did not cause any intentional duress to the complainant' he is therefore implying that he recognised I was under duress whether intentional or not.
19. Having been dealt with by the RGP, in line with the guidance provided in the Freedom of Information Act 2018, I am now formally requesting copies of all reports and associated documents pertaining to me, including but not limited to:
    a. RGP Pocket books
    b. RGP Reports
    c. RGP Risk assessments
    d. RGP Intelligence reports
    e. RGP Surveillance logs

f. RGP Evidence labels
g. RGP Property logs (showing how my property was held, who had access to my property and what was done with it, in regard to data protection) I also wish to see a copy of the final report showing that I am not a person of interest or suspect in any RGP investigation.

20. Have copies of my personal data been made?
21. What is being done to secure that data?
22. How and when I can apply to have it destroyed?
23. If no such copy exists, then why were my items seized in the first place?
24. This whole episode has now dragged on for over three years, what was the outcome of the investigation? I believe the investigation has been suspended, if not closed with no one involved facing any charges, I believe I have been used by the RGP and more widely the government of Gibraltar as a pawn to score political points in an investigation whereby RGP allowed a paedophile back on to the streets. Thankfully, HM Forces Police investigated him thoroughly and he was found in possession of over 30,000 indecent images of children and sentence to 2 years 9 months in prison. He should have been the focus of the RGP not my colleagues and me!
25. Even now, the thought of returning to Gibraltar sends a shiver down my spine, this whole experience has ruined the memories of what should have been an enjoyable tour in a beautiful country.

Finally, as a minimum I would like the GPA to confirm that the RGP accept that the way that they acted against me was inappropriate for the circumstances, that I did nothing wrong, that calling my professionalism in to question was in itself unprofessional, and in hindsight highly inaccurate, I want an apology for their actions at the time and their treatment of JSPSU and me subsequently, (they even mistook me for Mr Collins when I went to New Mole House to try and recover my seized items[1]), lastly and importantly I wish to be compensated for the time wasted and distress caused.

Regards,

Scott

Dear Mr O'Malley,

YOUR COMPLAINT AGAINST THE ROYAL GIBRALTAR POLICE

I enclose with this email a copy of the Ruling of the Police Complaints Board in the matter of your complaint against the Royal Gibraltar Police.

The purpose of an investigation by the Police Complaints Board is to determine whether a member of the public has been the victim of inappropriate conduct by a police officer and whether a complaint should be upheld fully or in part, or not upheld. The investigation of a complaint and its outcome as determined by the PCB is also intended to be of help to the RGP in identifying and addressing areas of police performance that require revisiting. A PCB report may not be used as evidence in any legal proceedings or in any Court of Law.

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 you are entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority should review the decision of the Police Complaints Board provided that your reason for requesting a review meets the criteria laid down in Regulation 15(2) to 15(5) of the aforementioned Regulations. A copy of the relevant sub-regulations is enclosed with this email. If you wish to request that the Authority should review your case, you should address your request to The Secretary,Gibraltar Police Authority, Unit 25B

Casemates Square, Gibraltar. A request for a review needs to be made within 28 days of receipt of this letter containing the ruling of the Police Complaints Board.

Yours sincerely

Good Afternoon,

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 I am entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority review the decision of the Police Complaints Board.

'I consider that the decision or recommendation of the Board was manifestly wrong or perverse and that no reasonable Board properly considering the complaint could have come to that decision or recommendation.'

Having read the response of the board, the board agreed that the search warrant did not extend to my Private Motor Vehicle and therefore RGP were not legally entitled to enter and search and seize my property, however the board concluded there was insufficient evidence to find on the balance of probabilities that the RGP acted unlawfully and illegally when entering my PMV and seizing my personal mobile telephone. The decision is based on "conflicting statements".

If, as DI Tunbridge states, I gave consent, for my PMV to be searched and my personal mobile phone to be seized please can you confirm the board was provided with a copy of the relevant pages of the police notebook showing what I agreed to, a copy of the documents where I gave my written consent and where I signed. (Search with consent: Consent of search must be given in writing (Para 5.1 of Code B – Codes of practice). A police officer acting lawfully and in accordance with RGP codes of practice would have some record of my signature where I am giving written or verbal consent.

Can you confirm that it has been evidenced to the board of my written consent in the search register. The codes state 'B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).'

Can you please confirm the board was provided with a copy of the strategy and decision log for the investigation that shows the reasons, grounds and necessary criteria for the arrests, searches and subsequent seizures of devices.

Can you please confirm the board viewed a copy of the original search warrant that was applied for and refused, were the board furnished with the reasons why it was originally refused and IAW codes what were the additional grounds provided in order to get the second search warrant approved. (codes state 'B3.8. If a search warrant application is refused, a further application may not be made for those premises unless supported by additional grounds)

If the board did view all the aforementioned documents can I please have a copy.

Let me make this very clear, I never verbally gave consent for my PMV to be searched and I never gave consent in writing. I disputed the legality of the search and the seizure from the outset to Wayne Tunbridge and other officers present. I complained immediately to my CoC about the unlawful search, search and treatment by the RGP (which I have kept an email record of). My private mobile phone was handed over under duress, I opened my vehicle up for the RGP to search under duress. Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice)

The ordinary dictionary meaning of duress taken from oxford languages. "Threats, violence, constraints or other actions used to coerce someone into doing something against their will or better judgement"

I was frightened of Wayne Tunbridge and the power he had, I was so frightened of the prospect of being arrested by RGP, I had already heard that they had arrested my immediate line manager, my station commander and my chief of staff. A few days previous to this incident I had attended a meeting with Wayne Tunbridge, he was very angry that we had made an arrest of a serviceman, he was angry and shouted in a very threatening manner that "I hadn't heard the last of this" and "things will go higher". So having first-hand knowledge of his threatening behaviour, coupled with the fact that Mr O'Malley had also informed me that in a meeting he had attended with Ian McGrail a few days prior, Ian Mcgrail had stated "he had previously arrested other police officers", implying to Mr O'Malley, he could arrest him. Because of the behaviour of the these 2 RGP high ranking officers, I had no other option than to hand over my personal mobile phone under duress and let the RGP enter my PMV under duress.

Wayne Tunbridge has stated I was under no obligation to hand over my personal items, he never said or explained this at the time. Was the board provided with any evidence that he stated this to me. If so can I please be provided with this. I assure you If he had stated this to me do you think I would have handed over my personal mobile phone, of course I would not have. I stated my reluctance numerous times and the only response was we need your phone.

I have tried not to be drawn into the investigation regarding Sgt Timothy Watterson, or the "The RUNWAY incident", but I feel the treatment of myself and my other colleges was a direct result from the arrest of Watterson which angered both Wayne Tunbridge and Ian Mcgrail. Not only have I endured this unlawful treatment and behaviour by the RGP, but as a resident of Gibraltar I was gravely concerned that the RGP retained items that they were unable to forensically exploit because they did not have the correct skills or equipment to do so. As soon as the Service Police recommenced their forensic exploitation in the UK, as was intended, 40000+ images were recovered evidentially. The RGP interference delayed this sexual predator being brought to justice for at least 16 weeks. RGP releasing a sexual predator back into the Gibraltar community was absolutely frightening. Thankfully, the actions of the Service Police resulted in Watterson being convicted of sexual offences and being awarded a custodial sentence. It is my belief Wayne Tunbridge and Ian McGrail lost focus of a sexual predator in Gibraltar because they were so angry that Service Police had made the original arrest.

And now having endured all of this from the RGP, I receive the Independent Boards decision which in summary has determined there is insufficient evidence to find the RGP acted unlawfully. You have excepted that Ian McGrail and Wayne Tunbridge are being completely honest and due to the fact our statements differ I must be lying? The board is questioning my integrity without evidence to the contrary or you have not provided me with such evidence.

The facts are that RGP cannot provide you with any documented evidence that stated I provided written or verbal consent, to search my PMV and Seize my Personal Mobile phone. I have provided you with details regarding why I felt I was under duress. I think you may have to question Wayne Tunbridge integrity and ask yourself "do you think if a high ranking police officer told me, Scott O'Malley and Leanne Beuhling that we were under no obligation to hand over our personalised items, that we would have" of course we wouldn't have. I certainly would not have.

I contend it is incumbent on the board to view the paperwork referred to above wherein I signed as consenting to the process described. This paperwork is mandatory in RGP/Gibraltar codes of practice and as I never signed any such undertaking, I submit you have not reached an appropriate threshold to find against my complaint giving the failings to act in accordance with said codes of practice are absolute.

Please accept this email as my formal application to appeal the decision.

Kind regards

Claire Bell

Dear

I write to you in respect of your request to review a decision by the Police Complaints Board (PCB).

I should point out this matter did not qualify for an appeal, given that you have not provided new evidence and the GPA certainly does not accept that the decision of the PCB could, in any way, be construed as 'perverse'.

In any case, we have reviewed the case with the PCB chair and find that I cannot find fault in the way your complaint has been dealt with.

I also take this opportunity to add that this is the extent of the action that the Authority is able to take under the circumstances and the pertinent regulations.

Subject: PCB Ruling

Good afternoon,

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 I am entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority review the decision of the Police Complaints Board.

'I consider that the decision or recommendation of the Board was manifestly wrong or perverse and that no reasonable Board properly considering the complaint could have come to that decision or recommendation.'

I maintain that I have been the victim of inappropriate conduct by RGP police officers.

I hope that amongst other things the result of my complaint is intended to be of help to the RGP in identifying and addressing areas of police performance.

Having read the response of the board I wish a review as I disagree with the original findings for the following reasons.

1. Firstly, and in addition to my original complaint, it should be noted that the focus of the RGP investigation should have always and only centred on Sgt Timothy Watterson, NOT members of JSPSU. Watterson was a member of HM Forces and British citizen, who committed a crime in the UK prior to arriving in Gibraltar. Whilst a great deal was made of the Armed Force Act amendment, 2016, removing jurisdiction from the service police, the NATO Statement of Force Agreement (SOFA) dated 19 Jun 51, is and always was in force. This states in Article VII
    a. Subject to the provisions of this Article,
    b. the military authorities of the sending State shall have the right to exercise within the receiving State all criminal and disciplinary jurisdiction conferred on them by the law of the sending State over all persons subject to the military law of that State;
    c. the authorities of the receiving State shall have jurisdiction over the members of a force or civilian component and their dependents with respect to offences committed within the territory of the receiving State and punishable by the law of that State.
2. This should have allowed members of HM Forces military police to investigate the alleged offences carried out by Sgt Watterson. In regard to primacy and jurisdiction, early co-operation between RGP and JSPSU could have jointly, quickly and satisfactory resolved the alleged crimes carried out by Watterson. Instead RGP took over the investigation, they did not find any evidence of offences, they allowed a suspected paedophile back on to the streets of Gibraltar and caused a delay of over 16 weeks. A subsequent UK military investigation proved his guilt, resulting in a custodial sentence of 2 years 9 months.

3. How many other RGP investigations have allowed 'guilty' suspects back on the streets of Gibraltar, either civilian or military?
4. On reflection I now believe that the allegations and actions by RGP against JSPSU and members of HM Forces in Gibraltar we politically motivated and lead to an unnecessary, malicious investigation, into not only myself but all my colleagues whom were affected by this investigation.
5. I would like to see the strategy and decision log for the investigation that shows the reasons, grounds and necessary criteria for the arrests, searches and subsequent seizures of devices, for what were extremely serious allegations. I would also like to see the original warrant, what it contained and why it was refused the first time, the codes state 'B3.8. If a search warrant application is refused, a further application may not be made for those premises unless supported by additional grounds' what were the additional grounds? The codes also state 'Unless sub-paragraph B6.4(c) applies, if the premises are occupied the officer, subject to paragraph B2.9, must, before the search begins– (a) identify himself or herself, show his or her warrant card (if not in uniform) and state the purpose of and grounds for the search;' This did not happen at Gunwharf nor at [redacted]
6. Your report is dated 29 May 20, why did it take until 12 Jun 20 for me to receive this report? My original complaint dates from an incident on 1 Mar 17, and my complaint was submitted on 19 Aug 19, over 10 months ago.
7. It was stated that I gave consent to hand over my note book, mobile phone and electronic devices and that I gave consent to allow DC 127 Garcia-White into my property. I did not, I wish to make this extremely clear, at no time did I give permission verbally or in writing, I would like to know where the written evidence to the contrary is recorded and if so see a copy of the written record?
8. Form SEA2 – Warrant to enter and search premises for evidence of an offence, details JSPSU, Gun Warf, and Chris COLLINS, Provost Marshall Gibraltar. It does not state [redacted] and it does not name me, it does not specify my personal electronic items.
9. I want to see the written copy of the warrant allowing my items to be seized and my premises to be entered.
10. If, as DI Tunbridge states, I gave consent, provide me with a copy of the relevant pages of his police notebook showing what I agreed to, where I gave my written consent and where I signed.
11. Form SEA5 – Statutory powers of police to search premises and the rights of occupiers, (attached) states a copy of the warrant should, if practicable be given to the occupier before the search begins (Para 6.8 of code B – Codes of practise). This did not happen.

12. Search with consent: Consent of search must be given in writing (Para 5.1 of Code B – Codes of practice). Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice). I did not give my consent in writing and I was under duress.
13. I want to see a copy of my written consent in the search register. The codes state 'B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).'
14. As already explained in my original complaint any inferred co-operation was under duress from RGP officers. Ian McGrail stated to me in a meeting a few days prior, that he has previously arrested other police officers (although he did not explain what for), implying that he may arrest me. At the time of this incident, RGP officers had already arrested the Chief of Staff, the Station Commander and Provost Marshall Gibraltar. They were arrested for conspiracy to pervert the course of justice, I believe that this could carry a life sentence in prison if found guilty? I was most definitely under duress and did not want to be arrested next!
15. The implication from your report is that Ian McGrail, DI Tunbridge and DC Garcia White are being completely honest and due the fact our statements differ I must be lying? I do not accept this. I have provided written evidence to back up my concerns and complaint. Where is the documentary evidence from the RGP to prove I gave my consent, to prove they acted lawfully in their actions and did not breach my human rights?
16. DI Tunbridge stated I was under no obligation to hand over my personal items, he never said or explained this at the time, what would have happened had I not handed them over? I expect I would have been arrested, surely you can understand my thought processes and the duress from internal and external factors that affected my decisions?

17. Whilst I agree that I did physically hand over these items, I stated my reluctance to DI Tunbridge and DC Garcia-White several times at the time, this was met with negative response. Where were my response recorded? Have you checked their police pocket books?
18. In the report DI Tunbridge stated that 'at no time did he or any of his men did not cause any intentional duress to the complainant' he is therefore implying that he recognised I was under duress whether intentional or not.
19. Having been dealt with by the RGP, in line with the guidance provided in the Freedom of Information Act 2018, I am now formally requesting copies of all reports and associated documents pertaining to me, including but not limited to:
    a. RGP Pocket books
    b. RGP Reports
    c. RGP Risk assessments
    d. RGP Intelligence reports
    e. RGP Surveillance logs
    f. RGP Evidence labels
    g. RGP Property logs (showing how my property was held, who had access to my property and what was done with it, in regard to data protection) I also wish to see a copy of the final report showing that I am not a person of interest or suspect in any RGP investigation.
20. Have copies of my personal data been made?
21. What is being done to secure that data?
22. How and when I can apply to have it destroyed?
23. If no such copy exists, then why were my items seized in the first place?
24. This whole episode has now dragged on for over three years, what was the outcome of the investigation? I believe the investigation has been suspended, if not closed with no one involved facing any charges, I believe I have been used by the RGP and more widely the government of Gibraltar as a pawn to score political points in an investigation whereby RGP allowed a paedophile back on to the streets. Thankfully, HM Forces Police investigated him thoroughly and he was found in possession of over 30,000 indecent images of children and sentence to 2 years 9 months in prison. He should have been the focus of the RGP not my colleagues and me!
25. Even now, the thought of returning to Gibraltar sends a shiver down my spine, this whole experience has ruined the memories of what should have been an enjoyable tour in a beautiful country.

Finally, as a minimum I would like the GPA to confirm that the RGP accept that the way that they acted against me was inappropriate for the circumstances, that I did nothing wrong, that calling my professionalism in to question was in itself unprofessional, and in hindsight highly inaccurate, I want an apology for their actions at the time and their treatment of JSPSU and me subsequently, (they even mistook me for Mr Collins when I went to New Mole House to try and recover my seized items[1]), lastly and importantly I wish to be compensated for the time wasted and distress caused.

Regards,

Scott

[1]My personal items were handed to colleagues not to me, I was not invited to check or sign for them.

Subject: PCB Ruling

Dear Mr O'Malley,

YOUR COMPLAINT AGAINST THE ROYAL GIBRALTAR POLICE

I enclose with this email a copy of the Ruling of the Police Complaints Board in the matter of your complaint against the Royal Gibraltar Police.

The purpose of an investigation by the Police Complaints Board is to determine whether a member of the public has been the victim of inappropriate conduct by a police officer and whether a complaint should be upheld fully or in part, or not upheld. The investigation of a complaint and its outcome as determined by the PCB is also intended to be of help to the RGP in identifying and addressing areas of police performance that require revisiting. A PCB report may not be used as evidence in any legal proceedings or in any Court of Law.

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 you are entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority should review the decision of the Police Complaints Board provided that your reason for requesting a review meets the criteria laid down in Regulation 15(2) to 15(5) of the aforementioned Regulations. A copy of the relevant sub-regulations is enclosed with this email. If you wish to request that the Authority should review your case, you should address your request to The Secretary,Gibraltar Police Authority, Unit 25B Casemates Square, Gibraltar. A request for a review needs to be made within 28 days of receipt of this letter containing the ruling of the Police Complaints Board.

Yours sincerely

Dear Ms Bell,

I write to you in respect of your request to review a decision by the Police Complaints Board (PCB).

I should point out this matter did not qualify for an appeal, given that you have not provided new evidence and the GPA certainly does not accept that the decision of the PCB could, in any way, be construed as 'perverse'.

In any case, we have reviewed the case with the PCB chair and find that I cannot find fault in the way your complaint has been dealt with.

I also take this opportunity to add that this is the extent of the action that the Authority is able to take under the circumstances and the pertinent regulations.

Kind regards

Subject: PCB Ruling

(GPA) Secretary [redacted]

Good Afternoon,

Under the Police Complaints Regulations, 2008 I am entitled to request that the Gibraltar Police Authority review the decision of the Police Complaints Board.

'I consider that the decision or recommendation of the Board was manifestly wrong or perverse and that no reasonable Board properly considering the complaint could have come to that decision or recommendation.'

Having read the response of the board, the board agreed that the search warrant did not extend to my Private Motor Vehicle and therefore RGP were not legally entitled to enter and search and seize my property, however the board concluded there was insufficient evidence to find on the balance of probabilities that the RGP acted unlawfully and illegally when entering my PMV and seizing my personal mobile telephone. The decision is based on "conflicting statements".

If, as DI Tunbridge states, I gave consent, for my PMV to be searched and my personal mobile phone to be seized please can you confirm the board was provided with a copy of the relevant pages of the police notebook showing what I agreed to, a copy of the documents where I gave my written consent and where I signed. (Search with consent: Consent of search must be given in writing (Para 5.1 of Code B – Codes of practice). A police officer acting lawfully and in accordance with RGP codes of practice would have some record of my signature where I am giving written or verbal consent.

Can you confirm that it has been evidenced to the board of my written consent in the search register. The codes state 'B5.1. Subject to paragraph B5.3, if it is proposed to search premises with the consent of a person entitled to grant entry, the consent must, if practicable, be documented in the Search Register. The officer must make any necessary enquiries to be satisfied the person is in a position to give such consent (see Notes 5A and B).'

Can you please confirm the board was provided with a copy of the strategy and decision log for the investigation that shows the reasons, grounds and necessary criteria for the arrests, searches and subsequent seizures of devices.

Can you please confirm the board viewed a copy of the original search warrant that was applied for and refused, were the board furnished with the reasons why it was originally refused and IAW codes what were the additional grounds provided in order to get the second search warrant approved. (codes state 'B3.8. If a search warrant application is refused, a further application may not be made for those premises unless supported by additional grounds)

If the board did view all the aforementioned documents can I please have a copy.

Let me make this very clear, I never verbally gave consent for my PMV to be searched and I never gave consent in writing. I disputed the legality of the search and the seizure from the outset to Wayne Tunbridge and other officers present. I complained immediately to my CoC about the unlawful search, search and treatment by the RGP (which I have kept an email record of). My private mobile phone was handed over under duress, I opened my vehicle up for the RGP to search under duress. Consent must not be obtained under duress (Para 5.3 of Code B – Codes of Practice)

The ordinary dictionary meaning of duress taken from oxford languages. "Threats, violence, constraints or other actions used to coerce someone into doing something against their will or better judgement"

I was frightened of Wayne Tunbridge and the power he had, I was so frightened of the prospect of being arrested by RGP, I had already heard that they had arrested my immediate line manager, my station commander and my chief of staff. A few days previous to this incident I had attended a meeting with Wayne Tunbridge, he was very angry that we had made an arrest of a serviceman, he was angry and shouted in a very threatening manner that "I hadn't heard the last of this" and "things will go higher". So having first-hand knowledge of his threatening behaviour, coupled with the fact that Mr O'Malley had also informed me that in a meeting he had attended with Ian McGrail a few days prior, Ian Mcgrail had stated "he had previously arrested other police officers", implying to Mr O'Malley, he could arrest him. Because of the behaviour of the these 2 RGP high ranking officers, I had no other option than to hand over my personal mobile phone under duress and let the RGP enter my PMV under duress.

Wayne Tunbridge has stated I was under no obligation to hand over my personal items, he never said or explained this at the time. Was the board provided with any evidence that he stated this to me. If so can I please be provided with this. I assure you If he had stated this to me do you think I would have handed over my personal mobile phone, of course I would not have. I stated my reluctance numerous times and the only response was we need your phone.

I have tried not to be drawn into the investigation regarding Sgt Timothy Watterson, or the "The RUNWAY incident", but I feel the treatment of myself and my other colleges was a direct result from the arrest of Watterson which angered both Wayne Tunbridge and Ian Mcgrail. Not only have I endured this unlawful treatment and behaviour by the RGP, but as a resident of Gibraltar I was gravely concerned that the RGP retained items that they were unable to forensically exploit because they did not have the correct skills or equipment to do so. As soon as the Service Police recommenced their forensic exploitation in the UK, as was intended, 40000+ images were recovered evidentially. The RGP interference delayed this sexual predator being brought to justice for at least 16 weeks. RGP releasing a sexual predator back into the Gibraltar community was absolutely frightening. Thankfully, the actions of the Service Police resulted in Watterson being convicted of sexual offences and being awarded a custodial sentence. It is my belief Wayne Tunbridge and Ian McGrail lost focus of a sexual predator in Gibraltar because they were so angry that Service Police had made the original arrest.

And now having endured all of this from the RGP, I receive the Independent Boards decision which in summary has determined there is insufficient evidence to find the RGP acted unlawfully. You have excepted that Ian McGrail and Wayne Tunbridge are being completely honest and due to the fact our statements differ I must be lying? The board is questioning my integrity without evidence to the contrary or you have not provided me with such evidence.

The facts are that RGP cannot provide you with any documented evidence that stated I provided written or verbal consent, to search my PMV and Seize my Personal Mobile phone. I have provided you with details regarding why I felt I was under duress. I think you may have to question Wayne Tunbridge integrity and ask yourself "do you think if a high ranking police officer told me, Scott O'Malley and Leanne Beuhling that we were under no obligation to hand over our personalised items, that we would have" of course we wouldn't have. I certainly would not have.

I contend it is incumbent on the board to view the paperwork referred to above wherein I signed as consenting to the process described. This paperwork is mandatory in RGP/Gibraltar codes of practice and as I never signed any such undertaking, I submit you have not reached an appropriate threshold to find against my complaint giving the failings to act in accordance with said codes of practice are absolute.

Please accept this email as my formal application to appeal the decision.

Kind regards

Claire Bell

Dear Commissioner

Re: Watterson

I write further to the events of 7-8 February 2017 in respect of the investigation by the RGP into the above captioned member of Her Majesty's Forces stationed in Gibraltar.

As you know, on those days I was in contact with officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police (RGP) at JPSU Gun Wharf as events unfolded in relation to your ongoing investigation into the above-captioned.

I have had sight of a letter that the Chief of Staff Joint Forces Command, Rear Admiral Tony Radakin, has sent to you dated 8 March 2017.

I note that the communication from Rear Admiral Radakin serves to clarify the position of the Ministry of Defence as to jurisdiction in respect of the above captioned. The letter also makes clear that, at all times, I was acting in the fulfilment of my duties as directed by my superiors, and on the advice from Joint Forces Command and Provost Marshal (Navy).

It now transpires that the advice on jurisdiction, which formed the basis for my directed actions, was not correct. I clearly did not know this at the time of the events and was, indeed, led to believe the opposite.

In light of the above, it will be evident to you that my actions on the dates in question at JPSU Gun Wharf were at all times taken in the good faith belief that my superiors were directing me to act in keeping with the law.

In particular, it was evidently not my intention to obstruct any officer of the RGP in the lawful performance of their duties, nor to obstruct their investigation, even less to have attempted to pervert, or to conspire to pervert, the course of justice. Nothing could have been further from my mind. Indeed, as a member myself of Her Majesty's Armed Forces, I am entirely committed to the observance of the law and of the rule of law. If any of my actions are seen by you as even remotely giving that impression, I sincerely and unreservedly apologise.

You will therefore not be surprised to know that I thoroughly regret the events that took place and wholeheartedly apologise if any of my actions are or were seen by you or your officers as any conscious desire or intent by me to obstruct any investigation by the RGP or to disrespect the RGP. I deeply regret that my actions may have led to this perception. I would wish to reiterate that I was acting in support and in furtherance of the MoD's understanding of its legal position and I was at all times seeking to fulfil my obligations as a directed member of a disciplined, uniformed, body with integrity and honesty.

It goes without saying that I fully respect the RGP and have worked well with them as an equal partner agency before the events of the past weeks. I sincerely hope that JPSU generally, and myself personally, will be able to return to the previously prevailing normality in which we both contribute towards the policing and security of Gibraltar, to the mutual benefit of this whole community and the United Kingdom. With the benefit of hindsight, if such an event occurred again I would seek to ensure a more constructive dialogue at an earlier stage and would certainly not act as I did on this disagreeable occasion.

I would welcome the opportunity to come to see you for a face-to-face meeting as a further step towards the reconciliation we all seek and the restoration of the excellent relationship I have always enjoyed with the RGP.

Yours Sincerely

Chris Collins

Occupation: VTS Manager, Port Authority.

This statement (consisting of 4 page(s) each signed by me) is true to the best of my knowledge and belief and I make it knowing that if it is tendered in evidence I shall be liable to prosecution if I have wilfully stated in it anything which I know to be false or do not believe to be true.

Dated the 29th day of April 2020

Signed: P. Mandleberg.

I am the above described person and I make this statement in relation to the collision at sea in the early hours of the 8th of March 2020 and is in addition to my statement dated the 11th March 2020

I was asked by the Police to view the Thermal Camera Footage (Exhibit MG/WHSS/VIDEO/1B refers). I was asked if I could identify two vessels in the background of the footage "RGP Chase Part 1". I viewed the footage at my offices in the Port Authority VTS centre at Lathbury Port Office. As the footage was playing I observed at the bottom of the thermal footage there is a Azimuth reading which is present and indicates the direction the camera is pointing. I enquired with Windmill Hill Signal Station (WHSS) as to the location of the camera and worked out the bearing line indicated by the azimuth. They informed me that the camera was the one located in the area Devils Tower

Camp and the airfield on the eastern side of Gibraltar. The Azimuth readings go from 0 (0 indicating true north) to 6400 which would equate to 360 degrees. Therefore to work the degrees I would divide 6400 by 360 and this would give me the value of 1 degree which works out to be approximately 17.7. You then take the total azimuth reading and divide it by 17.7 which would give you an approximate degree angle. The approximate degree angle will allow me to find the bearing of the vessel. I would like to add that this is not an exact measurement as there can be room for error. However I was assisted by the VTS replay footage which allowed me to understand what was being shown on the Thermal footage. Upon seeing the footage as the pursuit is ongoing both vessels pass in front of a larger vessel in the background. The 1st larger vessel has an azimuth reading which is approximately 0508.5. this was at 18:39 minutes during the footage "RGP Chase part 1". I was able to work out the bearing line and with the help of the VTS playback determine the position the camera was viewing and thus estimate which vessel was being viewed by the thermal camera.

It is strongly suspected that the vessel in question is the cable laying vessel TELIRI (IMO 9105869). From the thermal footage you can observe two heat signatures which I would suspect to be coming from the funnels of the vessel. I would also say that the overall shape of the vessel matches photographs of the vessel available through open source searches. I have copied one of these images which I now tender in evidence as Exhibit PM/Teliri/1. I also now tender in evidence exhibit PM/Thermal-Image/1 which is an image which appears to show the two heat signatures coming from the two funnels of the vessel. Furthermore I would also like to tender into evidence Exhibit PM/VTS/1 which is a close up screen shot of the VTS system at a time recorded of 0341hrs on the 8th of March 2020. This shows the direction of the bow of the vessel which is very similar to the one seen in the thermal footage.

As the chase continues, they pass in front of a second large ship. The 2nd larger vessel has an azimuth reading which is approximately 0903.4. this was at 22:23 minutes during the footage "RGP Chase part 1".I was able to work out the bearing line and with the help of the VTS playback determine the position the camera was viewing and thus estimate which vessel was being viewed by the thermal camera

It is strongly suspected that the vessel in question is the crude oil tanker Seaways Rosalyn (IMO 9234666). From the thermal footage you can observe the outline of the ships tower structure and the wide flying bridges. I would also say that the overall shape of the vessel matches photographs of the vessel available through open source searches. I have copied one of these images which I now tender in evidence as Exhibit PM/RosalynSeaways/1. I also now tender in evidence exhibit PM/Thermal-Image/2 for comparison purposes.

Furthermore I would also like to tender into evidence Exhibit PM/VTS/2 which is a close up screen shot of the VTS system at a time recorded of 0341hrs on the 8th of March 2020. This shows the direction of the bow of the vessel which is very similar to the image seen in the thermal footage.

At this point the recording ends in "RGP Chase Part 1".

On a later date I was asked to go through the footage "RGP Chase Part 2" and again try to identify the larger ships in the footage.

At the beginning of the footage, you can see there is a large vessel located at 1038Az Again by working out the conversion units between Azimuth and degrees and the playback facility on the VTS System I have been able to identify this vessel as the Seaways Rosalyn.

At 01:27minutes during the video the footage comes across another vessel located at 1149.9Az I worked out from the Azimuth reading that the vessel was located at approximately 69 degrees and with the assistance of the VTS playback system I was able to ascertain the vessel along that angle was the bulk carrier Lady Saliha. I now tender into evidence exhibit PM/VTS/3 which shows a screen shot of the VTS system at 0337hrs on the 8th of March 2020 and two screen shots of the vessel which I observed in the thermal footage and the relevant Azimuth reading of each vessel. I would also like to tender in evidence as Exhibit PM/LadySaliha/1 which is a photo of the vessel retrieved from open source searches.

At 02:29 minutes during the footage it appears the collision between the two vessels occurs The azimuth reading at this point is 1099 5, I have converted the Azimuth reading into a degree reading and using the VTS playback system, I have drawn a line out with this degree angle. The line will only show an approximate angle at which the collision occurred and not the distance from the camera as the zoom factor is unknown. I have prepared a document which shows a copy of the image from the thermal footage on the left hand side and two screen shots from the VTS system, the right hand side screen shot is a zoomed in version of the image on the left. Both these images have the aforementioned line showing the approximate angle of the collision. I now tender this in evidence as Exhibit PM/VTS/4.

Signed: P. Mandleberg Signature Witnessed by:

The contents of this document will be processed in strict compliance with the Royal Gibraltar Police's policy on Data Protection, which has been compiled in accordance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2004

At about 40:26 in the video the camera moves to observe a vessel transiting the area, this vessel appears to have a reading of approximately 1668.1 Azimuth, using the VTS playback system and converting the azimuth reading to a degree angle I have been able to identify the vessel and the Mistress, a local service launch owned by shipping company Tarik Limited. I now tender in evidence Exhibit PM/VTS/5 which is a document which is shows a screen shot from the thermal footage showing the vessel "Mistress" and a screen shot from the VTS playback system illustrating the location and course of the Mistress vessel.

At 55:14minutes on the thermal footage, the customs vessel HMC Seeker is seen to arrive and come alongside the Sir John Chapple and the suspect Rhib. The approximate azimuth reading where this takes place is 1291.6Az. Again using the playback feature I have been able to prepare a document which shows a copy of the VTS image and a screen shot of the thermal image, I now tender this in evidence as Exhibit PM/VTS/6.

I then continued with my other duties

Personnel assigned to the collision at sea incident (Op Kram)

(Identified from data disclosed)

	Officer	Role assigned
1	CoP Ian McGrail	Gold command – overall in charge
2	Supt Paul Richardson	Deputy commander
3	Det Ch Insp John Field	Provisional Senior Investigating Officer
4	Insp Sean Perera	Coroner's Officer
5	Insp Paul Chipolina	Liaison with Spanish law enforcement / media officer
6	Insp Tom Tunbridge	Operations administration / HR/ logistics
7	Det/Sgt Mark Garratt^	CID Officer detailed to establish location of incident
8	Det/Sgt Sam Cottam	CID Officer detailed to establish location of incident
9	DC Stephen Palmer*	Crime Scene Manager (Co-ordinated the forensic evidence gathering from the several scenes)
10	DC Joseph Victory	Crime Scene Investigator
11	DC Manuel Vilerio	CID Officer detailed to conduct several enquiries
12	DC John Victor	CID Officer detailed to conduct several enquiries
13	DC Kyle Golledge	CID officer detailed to conduct several enquiries
14	DC Elias Rahmouni	CID officer detailed to conduct several enquiries
15	PC Natalie Pasano	Family Liaison Officer
16	Ch Insp Nolan Romero	Post Incident Procedure Manager
17	Insp Alex Enriles	Professional Standards
18	PS Maurice Morello	GPF / Welfare
19	Insp Albert Fernandez	GPF / officer in charge of RGP's Marine Section
20	PS Stuart Manfred	Professional Standards

^ I would expect that more detectives from the Crime Division would have assisted in the investigation but I have not been able to identify any others from the documents disclosed.

Because of the nature of the investigation involving multiple scenes (3 x vessels – RGP interceptor, suspect RHIB and HMC patrol vessel) I would expect in all likelihood that messers Palmer and Victory would have been assisted by two other crime scene investigators but I cannot see them named anywhere in the documents disclosed. I believe the RGP had 5 crime scene investigators at the time and at least two more would have partaken in this investigation.*

Many of the above mentioned officers continued to support the independent team from the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS) who assumed conduct of the investigation. This assistance was effective during the time the MPS team were in Gibraltar and remained in place after they left until the investigation was concluded.

Dear all, Ian,

Needless to say, I have been fully appraised during my time as CM of the progress of this matter. I have supported the actions taken by successive Commissioners in respect of dealing with the aftermath of this matter (but not the actions challenged in Spain). I have no issue with the manner in which past and current CoPs have answered questions on this.

Reality check - we all know what is really behind this type of negative reporting.

Very best wishes - and my fulsome support,

Fabian

Dear YE, CM, MoJ, AG and Mr Chairman,

You may have already read the continued rhetoric from Panorama, this time hitting out on the Alcaidesa incident of circa 10 years ago. They are claiming the RGP has mislead and covered up the matter of two officers appearing before a Spanish Court in connection with this matter.

For the record, my responses to Panorama have been truthful – the officers concerned hold no criminal record in Spain. The type of sanction they received was cancelled after 6 months from 15th November 2018 when they appeared before the court and in accordance with Spanish law. I am in the process of finding out whether the sanctions are simply regarded as spent or completely wiped off the records. In either case, our officers can safely say that they do not have any criminal record in Spain.

GBC and the Chronicle have also been asking questions of the back of the Panorama report and our response has been the same one we gave Panorama.

Regards
Ian

Subject: OFFICIAL - Alcaidesa incident

Dear all –
Just a quick line to advise you that the prosecution case in Spain arising from the executive action taken in Alcaidesa in the wake of the Cellini armed robbery has concluded. Two serving officers, an ex-officer and two local men appeared before a judge in Algeciras where the case was disposed of via a somewhat administrative method with the 5 defendants accepting pre-determined fines rather than proceeding to a full blown hearing. These fines were dished out as follows;-

Ch Insp [redacted] and Ch Insp [redacted] who faced a charge of civil trespass (no equivalent Gibraltar offence to compare with) were fined 450Euros each.
[redacted] (father in law to Nickey Vinales, proprietor of the residence in Alcaidesa) , who faced a charge of civil trespass was fined 450Euros.
Ex PC [redacted] and [redacted] faced charges of criminal trespass (equivalent of burglary – trespass with intent to steal) were fined 900Euros and 1800Euros respectively.

Total fines amount to 4050Euros

All these convictions will remain on record for a period of 6 months after which they will be regarded as spent. As far as the serving officers are concerned, they were dealt with via the discipline process way back when the incident happened. Therefore, the latest outcome from the Spanish court brings total closer to the matter requiring no further actions locally.

Ian

Subject: OFFICIAL - Alcaidesa incident

Dear all –
Just a quick line to advise you that the prosecution case in Spain arising from the executive action taken in Alcaidesa in the wake of the Cellini armed robbery has concluded. Two serving officers, an ex-officer and two local men appeared before a judge in Algeciras where the case was disposed of via a somewhat administrative method with the 5 defendants accepting pre-determined fines rather than proceeding to a full blown hearing. These fines were dished out as follows;-
Ch Insp [redacted] and Ch Insp [redacted] who faced a charge of civil trespass (no equivalent Gibraltar offence to compare with) were fined 450Euros each.
[redacted] (father in law to Nickey Vinales, proprietor of the residence in Alcaidesa) , who faced a charge of civil trespass was fined 450Euros
Ex PC [redacted] and [redacted] faced charges of criminal trespass (equivalent of burglary – trespass with intent to steal) were fined 900Euros and 1800Euros respectively.
Total fines amount to 4050Euros
All these convictions will remain on record for a period of 6 months after which they will be regarded as spent. As far as the serving officers are concerned, they were dealt with via the discipline process way back when the incident happened. Therefore, the latest outcome from the Spanish court brings total closer to the matter requiring no further actions locally.

Ian

Subject:	OFFICIAL - SENSITIVE - Meeting with GC Algeciras

Dear All –
This morning I paid a courtesy call on the GC senior command in Algeciras. Accompanying me was Supt Ullger and DS Alman (SB). The basis of the meeting was to introduce myself as the new incoming CoP.
Present at the meeting were the following;-

Jesus Narciso Nunez Calvo – Coronel Jefe de Comandancia
Fernando Lopez-Rey Quintero – Teniente Coronel – Jefe de Operaciones
Jeronimo Pacheco Polo – Comandante – Jefe de Policia Judicial e Informacion Joaquin Franco Ruiz – Capitan – Schengen Liaison Officers – Jefe de la Unidad Organica de Policia Judicial

We later also met with Alejandro Gamero Rios, Comandante Jefe de Personal y Apoyo.

Nunez Calvo welcomed the RGP contingent and provided a very detailed and contextual account of what he termed to be the areas of most concern to the GC and the Spanish state which could be addressed by mutual co-operation. He was very up to date with the ongoing endeavours to formalise co-operation agreements and even alluded to the agreement signed by the UK and Spanish Governments back in 2000 which he was aware was currently being reviewed. Though cordial in demeanour, Nunez was upfront with very 'Madrid central government' language consistently describing Gibraltar as a colony and the term bi-lateral discussions on law enforcement matters between Spain and UK featuring prominently in his very well rehearsed address to us. He highlighted the following areas where he felt that mutual co-operation was essential –(i) counter terrorism, (ii) organised crime – anti money laundering, (iii) illegal migration & human trafficking and (iv) tobacco smuggling.

He clearly towed the Spanish State line that Gibraltar is a hive for money laundering yet he was unable to qualify, when challenged, whether he had any specific information we could action upon. He was advocating to embellish and formally recognising the status of liaison officers on both jurisdictions so that mutual co-operation could be progressed – and what he means by this is similar to the way other nations enjoy the status of police liaison officers in each others' jurisdictions. Nunez was all for joint operations to tackle organised criminality but that he needed internal ministry cover. On counter terrorism we were both on completely the same page and I do not envisage any issues at all in this space. He expressed some concern at the challenges both Spain and Gibraltar would be facing (and to an extent they are already facing) in terms of the Straits of Gibraltar being exploited as an illegal migration route - he only saw the situation worsening. He left tobacco smuggling for last and was very critical of the situation and was requesting Gibraltar law enforcement agencies to be more robust in this area.

@ CM-MoJ
I was able to discuss the ongoing prosecution of the two RGP officers and three other Gibraltarians dating back to 2010, unfortunately and infamously remembered as the Alcaidesa incident. They expressed surprise that the matter was still active and would have expected it to have been archived. They have undertaken to enquire from the Fiscalia the reasons why this case has not been archived. Hopefully I will receive some further information by the end of this week but given the interest Panorama is expressing in the matter I ask whether you are satisfied with the responses we have provided. Unfortunately we cannot throw any more light on the matter. However, I remain alive to the potential [political] damage this intended article by Panorama could bring about.

Dear Ian,

As you mentioned a meeting with the GC Colonel tomorrow, I suggested to CM that we should ask Panorama to hold the story for 24 hours in case there were overnight developments. CM agreed with the idea but Panorama say that they plan to run the story tomorrow regardless. If there is a further development, they will then update their story on Thursday. CM therefore suggests that you send your answers to Panorama today – at least you will get your side of the story covered. He is content with all your suggested answers.

Stuart

Dear MoJ and CM
I refer to the below email from Panorama who are asking about the pending case before the courts in Spain dating back to 2010 – the Alcaidesa incident.

We are working with the Spanish lawyers behind the scenes to bring about the best outcome for all concerned (the 2 serving officers, Mr Nicky [redacted], his father in law Mr [redacted] and Ex-PC [redacted]. Incidentally, I have also scheduled meeting with the GC Colonel in Algeciras tomorrow morning and was going to sound out his position on the matter then. However, we are basically of the view that any write up which Panorama will come up with will do no favours to the accused given that they have already suggested the case has serious political implications - from this I take that this is the spin they are intending to give their story. The last we would want on this is for it to be politicised. It is indeed a shame if they go down this road, more so in light of the recent less hostile stance expressed by Spain towards Gibraltar. Notwithstanding, I have added [in red] the potential replies we are considering to push out but would seek your views beforehand. We note that Panorama are seeking responses from No 6, The Convent and GPA. The proposed responses are short and factual but we can all anticipate an 'attack' of some sort give their reporting style.

Happy to discuss the matter further if you feel it necessary.

Ian

Can you confirm that RGP officers (at least two) including one ex-officer as recently as last week, appeared in a Spanish court in San Roque and charged with Spanish (criminal) offences in relation to an incident that goes back to 2010.
The RGP confirms that two of its officers are still undergoing legal proceedings in relation to the incident referred to.
or
Whilst it is true to say that two serving RGP officers attended the San Roque courts last week this was for a procedural matter where they were served with certain documentation.

Can you also confirm if the said case has now been passed to the 'Juzgado Provisional in Algeciras'
This also confirmed
or
The RGP is aware the matter has been passed to Algeciras.

Can you confirm the nature of the charges these officers are answering to the Spanish court(s)?
The RGP officers are facing legal proceedings in respect one count of trespass or
That remains to be finally determined though it is our understanding they are relatively minor.

Exactly how many serving and non-serving officers are involved?
As per 1st question
or
The RGP can confirm that two serving officers are alleged to have committed offences in Spain

What kind of legal representation are the officers receiving or is available to them?
The officers have a Spanish lawyer representing them and have had so from the outset.

What steps have been taken (if any) by the authorities in Gibraltar at the highest level to ensure the welfare and rights of the officers concerned have been upheld at all times and not abused, considering this case/incident occurred 8 years ago?
The matter is being closely followed by officials in Gibraltar. The officers have been afforded the necessary support. As the matter is sub-judice we would not wish to comment any further.
or
As we have previously answered, the officers are in receipt of the necessary legal representation. This encompasses a watching brief on the respect for their rights. The RGP's welfare procedures have and remain in place for the officers concerned

*As you can appreciate this issue is not only of important public interest but also has serious political implications and why we would appreciate a prompt reply.

Subject – Inspector/Chief Inspectors letter to GPF

Date: 07/02/2020

Dear Mr Fernandez,

Thank you for your letter received on 4th February 2020.

Let me put you at ease that the Gibraltar Police Federation did not endorse the Panorama article when it reposted this on Facebook. The point of our post was to highlight how independent the GPF was when their Chairman and Secretary were being investigated when acting in their capacity as convenors.

We spoke at the Board meeting about the wording that was used in the caption to introduce the Facebook post which we agreed could have been worded differently. It was also agreed to share with other Board members any post that could be controversial, before uploading to Facebook. This however does not mean that we will not be challenging the organisation when necessary.

The Panorama article makes mention of HE, HMGoG and the GPA. The GPF does not agree with any of the comments made against the above. In fact, a couple of days later we had a meeting which had already been scheduled with the GPA. The Panorama article was not on the agenda but I thought it appropriate to bring the matter up and reinforce the fact that we did not endorse the comments of the Panorama. Our relationship with the GPA is very good, and they are 100% supportive of the GPF.

Our relationship with HMGoG is also very good, who I can confirm are 100% behind the GPF.

I must reinforce again that the GPF did not at any point approach the Panorama newspaper. It was the organisation that fed the information to the Panorama and as a result the article was published.

You make mention in your letter to "airing dirty laundry" in public and keeping things "in house". Unfortunately, sometimes matters have to be made public, in order to get results. The GPF survey that has been shared with the media for the past two years is a clear example of this. As a result of this going public, and external pressures, we are finally seeing some of the issues raised by our members in the survey being dealt with.

The fact that we have aired this matter in the media has also given us the unexpected support of the three local trade unions which I have never seen before in my policing career.

Their may be a perception between members that the relationship between the GPF and Command is not good and things are not progressing. This is not true and I can inform you that we are working closely with Command on issues such as morale, bullying, the grievance procedure, wellbeing, and the conditions of service, which needs to be revamped completely.

You did not mention in your letter, but we did discuss in the Board meeting that the Inspector/ Chief Inspectors felt they were being "forgotten" and "not backed up". This cannot be further from the truth. It is difficult to keep all members happy but both myself and the Secretary strive to work for all members not only for the Constable and Sergeants rank.

If there are any Inspectors that wish to speak to me directly, you can inform them that they can call me 24/7, I am always open to any suggestions that might improve the way that we do our business.

For sake of clarity, I would like to inform the Inspectors/ Chief Inspectors that in my nearly 21 years of service, I have never been disciplined. In my term as Chairman, I have received a written warning for an exchange of emails with senior command in relation to the Gift fund and two reg 9 notices, the last one after the latest Facebook post.

The Secretary also has an unblemished discipline record in his years as a police officer. During his term as Secretary, he has also received a written warning and has been served with two reg 9 notices.

When you meet up at a later date and discuss the matter with the Inspectors / Chief Inspector I would be grateful to know what the general feeling is amongst them in relation to this.

Yours sincerely

Thank you @Euro_COP for your continued support.

In fact, yesterday, the GPF Board, @RGPolice Commisioner of Police @CoPlanMcGrail, @ACRichardUllger and Command Team, had a very productive meeting regarding their future working relationship and how this could be achieved.

The new Chairman of the Royal Gibraltar Police Federation, Maurice Morello, has said that he is prioritising combating top-down bullying within the force, something a recent survey has highlighted as a big problem.

Nigel Dennis Head of Office and Spokesperson for EuroCOP said:

"It is always extremely disappointing to observe when employer, employee representatives are reported as being hostile and fractious.

"There is a real risk of a breakdown in employee relations as is the case within the Royal Gibraltar Police relating to allegations of alleged institutional bullying.

"The debate which has recently been widely publicised in the Gibraltar media

Subject: FW: OFFICIAL - Terms of Reference for review

Gents – many thanks for this morning's contribution to the subject matter. I am happy that we have agreed to the common terms of reference for the review. For the record these are as follows:-

"To provide independent support to the RGP Commissioner of Police and Gibraltar Police Federation (GPF) by examining and advising on the differing standpoints between the GPF and RGP of the current [Federation] model and make recommendations to afford clarification on roles of the parties to ensure a better understanding of each of their respective positions in terms of their working relationship and responsibilities"

We also mentioned that before we proceed to engage the review team that there consensus between us in accepting the outcomes and any recommendations arising from the review as binding - we agreed this.

We further agreed on the desired composition of the review team as follows;-

A UK PFEW National Board representative
A UK PFEW Regional Board Chair or Secretary
A senior police officer ACC rank or above
A senior police officer of either the States of Jersey of Police, Guernsey Police of Isle of Man Police (to bring the small island context to the review team).

Finally, we agreed that I would email HMI Matt Parr and seek his assistance in putting together the members of the said review team.

Wishing you all a good weekend

Dear Mr Chairman
Many thanks for sharing the GPF's proposed TORs for the review.

Below please find mine. I have included two versions for discussion tomorrow. You will note that the final version will bear very similar resemblance to both our proposals.

Version 1
"To provide independent support to the RGP Commissioner of Police and Gibraltar Police Federation (GPF) by examining and advising on the differing standpoints between the GPF and RGP of the current [Federation] model and make recommendations to afford clarification on roles of the parties to ensure a better understanding of each of their respective positions in terms of their working relationship."

Reasonable questions to ask from the review team in my view are also the following;

- The [GPF] model operated - is this like the UK National Board or more like a UK Branch Board?
- Which is the most appropriate model to apply when read with the extant regulations and the Gibraltar jurisdictional context (size of force, membership of the GPF etc) ?
- The extent the GPF should be independent from the RGP. Eg Any limitations? Governance arrangements? Communicating with Trade Unions etc
- The status of the two full time post holders of Chair and Sec viz their positions in the organisation & GPF. Eg Should they be the same as the other 6 GPF Board members or be treated differently viz code of ethics and standards of professional behaviour?
- Opinion on the ToC's as you ask in your proposal.

I look forward to a constructive meeting tomorrow.

Sir,

After consulting with the Board the following TOR have been identified:

1. Clarity on the independence of GPF
2. Discipline [acting in the capacity as convenors] which also encompasses how and if Board members can be disciplined when GPF makes a "controversial" decision as a Board
3. Deployment of convenors by SMT
4. Outreach to Media
5. Events

The Convenors TOC'S [as supplied] is what we essentially wish to achieve.

I refer to our meeting of 13th February where we agreed to arrange for an independent review to clarify our differing standpoints which we accepted were contributing to a deteriorating relationship between the command team and yourselves. In this regard I suggest that we exchange ideas of what the terms of this review should entail before proceeding any further.

Dear Ian,

I hope you are well. I apologise for the delay in communicating with you.

At no point did I agree with you that your pension would be exempt from income tax. In this respect, I refer to your email of 11 May 2021 at 10.05, where, in fairness to you, you noted that it was your understanding that your pension would not accrue tax payments and not that we had reached such agreement.

I therefore consider the matter closed.

With best wishes,

Darren

Dear Giselle -
Many thanks. However, the response is surprising given that I have been in correspondence with the Chief Secretary since May 2021 and he had repeatedly assured me that my matter was close to being resolved, only to write back recently saying that the matter was now closed which I understand to mean that I will not have my personal tax status amended.

It is absolutely right that every interaction including meetings should be disclosed to the Inquiry because I have nothing to hide and I would expect for the Chief Secretary to be in the same position.

The record shows that the Chief Secretary was well disposed to accepting the change to my tax status as we both agreed in June 2020, so I can only imagine that somebody has put pressure on him to change his position. The Chief Secretary is the Government's top civil servant & is required to act independently of political influence. I will therefore be passing this sorry state of affairs to my legal team for use as they consider best and also bring it to the Inquiry's attention without delay.

I am sorry that it has come to this because I had held the Chief Secretary in high esteem personally but perhaps he might reconsider his position. I also reserve all my rights

Kind regards
Ian

Dear Giselle -
My email below of 2nd November 2022 refers.

Could you please advise me whether you have been able to fix a date/time for the meeting I have requested with Mr Grech.

Kind regards
Ian

Subject: Request for meeting with Ch Sec

Good morning –
I phoned the Chief Sec's personal secretary a few moments ago on 20051752 seeking an appointment to meet with the Chief Sec, Mr Darren Grech.

I have been asked to email this address to request this meeting and provide a brief explanation of why I am seeking the meeting.

I have been in communication with Mr Grech since May 2021 regarding a personal matter related to my income tax and social insurance status post to my retirement from public service in June 2020. Mr Grech is fully up to speed with my case. I emailed him on Saturday 8th October 2022 informing him that I would be contacting his office to arrange for this meeting.

I look forward to receiving a time/date to attend.

Best wishes
Ian McGrail
